THE PREFACE.

THE Bible is in reality the only book abſolutely neceſſary for man to know, as it abounds with precepts to conduct him happily through this world, and to eternal felicity, in the next: and therefore, the ſtudy of the Holy Scriptures is a matter of eſſential duty, and ought to be the care and concern of every Chriſtian: they declare ſalvation unto all men, and ſhew glad tidings of the kingdom of heaven; or, as a noble writer elegantly obſerves of Chriſtianity, they give to virtue its ſweeteſt hopes, to impenitent vice its greateſt fears, and to true penitence its beſt conſolations; they are given by inſpiration of God, and are profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for inſtruction in righteouſneſs; that ſuch as deſire to ſerve God truly, may be perfect, thoroughly furniſhed unto all good works: they contain an account of the beginning of the world, and afford us a proſpect to the end of it. Moſes begins his hiſtory with this important truth, which is the foundation of all religion, viz. that God created the heaven and the earth. He then proceeds to give an account of the original formation of man, the inſtitution of the ſabbath, the ſtate of innocence, the fall of Adam, and the promiſe of the Meſſiah. Afterwards he relates the hiſtory of the propagation of mankind, the general wickedneſs of the world, the univerſal deluge, the confuſion of tongues, and thereupon, the plantation of families, and the origin of kingdoms: all which is comprehended in a ſmall compaſs; but a more particular account is given of Abraham and his family, in whoſe ſeed all the nations of the earth were to be bleſſed.

The moral writings of the Old Teſtament, ſuch as the books of Job, Proverbs, and Eccleſiaſtes, inſtruct us in all the ways of virtue, and give us rules for the direction and good government of our lives. The book of Pſalms is a rich ſtorehouſe of all kinds of devotion, and able to furniſh every pious Chriſtian with holy meditations ſuitable to his preſent circumſtances, conſiſting of the moſt affectionate interceſſions, and the moſt exalted ſtrains of thankſgiving: it was undoubtedly deſigned by God for the perpetual uſe of the church, being both a pattern and a treaſure of devotion, at once to enlighten our minds, to warm our affections, and teach us to pray, and praiſe God with the ſpirit, and with the underſtanding alſo.

The prophets were meſſengers ſent from God, to ſupply the intermediate ſpace between Moſes and Chriſt; they expoſed themſelves to infinite hazards and difficulties in the execution of their office; they taught doctrines conformable to the divine nature, and the ſtricteſt virtue; they foretold events, which none but God could know; performed works, which none but God could perform; and gave all imaginable evidence of the truth of their commiſſion, and ſealed it frequently with the teſtimony of their blood.

Their writings abound with the nobleſt deſcriptions, the ſublimeſt repreſentations of the Deity: they expreſs an ardent zeal for the honour of God, a glorious deteſtation of vice and impiety, and a laudable concern for the intereſts of virtue and religion: they exhort men not to lay too much ſtreſs upon the practical obſervance of the ceremonial law, but to fulfil the righteouſneſs chiefly intended by it, of walking not after the fleſh, but after the ſpirit. They foretel the moſt extraordinary events, moſt of which have been remarkably fulfilled, and are at this time fulfilling in the world:—which is a plain proof that they were inſpired by that all-wiſe Being, who alone can look into future contingencies. But the chief intention of God in ſending them was, to foretel the coming of HIM, who was the author of a better and more glorious diſpenſation: a diſpenſation which exceeds all the moral ſyſtems of the ancient philoſophers, even of the ſtoics themſelves, as much as the brightneſs of the ſun ſurpaſſes the glimmering of the ſtars. It teaches us the true method of approaching God, namely, with pure hearts, and chaſte deſires: it recommends that admirable virtue of humility, which ſweetens the tempers of men, and renders them courteous and obliging: it lays down the beſt rules for the peace and quiet of mankind; for overlooking one another's faults; for patient ſuffering of offences; for loving our enemies, and imitating God in all manner of goodneſs. Chriſtianity, in ſhort, is that ſyſtem, where true benevolence is carried to the nobleſt pitch. It teaches us to do unto others, as we ourſelves would be done unto; to be ready to render good for evil, and to overcome evil with good: it inclines us to labour for the good of others, becauſe God has been merciful to us; to forgive others, becauſe God has forgiven us; to conſider the meaneſt Chriſtian under the endearing character of a brother, as equally related to our God and our Redeemer, and born to the ſame expectations with ourſelves; to be gentle, and eaſy to be intreated; to weep with them that weep; to rejoice with them that rejoice; to ſhew reverence to ſuperiors, kindneſs and humanity to equals and inferiors, and juſtice to all.

Such is that amiable religion which Chriſt has revealed to mankind; ſo noble are thoſe precepts; ſo benevolent thoſe principles; ſo intereſting thoſe truths which are contained in the Bible: the ſtudy, therefore, of that ſacred volume is a duty that ſhould engage the attention of every perſon who is willing to pleaſe his Creator, and ſave his own ſoul. We muſt lay up the words of this book in our heart, and in our ſoul; we muſt teach them to our children, ſpeaking of them when we ſit in our houſes, and when we walk by the way, when we lie down, and when we riſe up.

Many difficulties will probably attend the ſtudy of the Holy Scriptures, owing to their having been written in a language, whoſe genius is very different from that of our own; owing to frequent alluſions to the cuſtoms and manners of the ancient inhabitants of the Eaſt, which are long ſince diſuſed; and owing ſometimes perhaps to errors in the tranſlation. A ſolicitude to remove theſe difficulties; to aſcertain the true meaning of ſeveral obſcure paſſages; to correct the errors of the preſent tranſlation; to open this fountain of living water, and direct its currents for the general good, has furniſhed me with abundant reaſon for offering the following work to the public, which contains an extract of the quinteſſence of all the beſt notes of the beſt commentators on the Bible. Beſides availing myſelf of their learned labours, I ſhall add ſuch obſervations of my own as have occurred to me in the courſe of my miniſtry.—If theſe my labours ſhould be ſo fortunate as to turn one ſinner from the error of his way, to ſave one ſoul from death eternal, I ſhall think all my pains amply recompenſed; I ſhall be glad, and rejoice, and give honour unto God, and praiſe his name for ever and ever.

To the Rev. Mr. FAWKES, on his Complete FAMILY BIBLE.

By a Gentleman of CAMBRIDGE.

THRICE happy Bard! whom late the Nine inſpir'd;
And all, but envious Critics, have admir'd:
Whoſe Pen diffus'd through each enchanting Theme
The pureſt Waters of Caſtalia's Stream.
In eaſy Numbers have we ſeen thee rove
With gay * Anacreon through the Fields of Love:
Have ſeen thy grateful Muſe ſincerely mourn,
And pay her Tribute at * Aurelius' Urn.
A Breaſt like thine each fair Perfection warms
Aurelius' Goodneſs, and thy * Laura's Charms.
Now to thy Hand a nobler Taſk is given,
Angelic Taſk! to lead the Soul to Heaven.
Thy manly Senſe the Mind of Error draws
To one ſupreme and univerſal Cauſe.
Explain'd by thee ev'n Virtue's ſelf inſpires
Thoughts more ſublime, and more ſeraphic Fires.
Truth too, like Virtue, puts new Radiance on,
And ſhines, in Brightneſs, like the noon-tide Sun.
Proceed to perfect thy exalted Plan,
'And vindicate the Ways of God to Man:'
So ſhall thoſe Crowns of Glory grace thy Brows,
Which Saints contend for, and which God beſtows.

The MUSES to the Rev. Mr. FAWKES, on the Publication of his Complete FAMILY BIBLE.

ENraptur'd have we ſeen thy Genius rove
Through the ſweet Maze of our poetic Grove,
And as we heard thy ſoft melodious Lay,
Prepar'd thy Garland of eternal Bay.
This ſhalt thou wear—but firſt thy Plan purſue,
And give our Truths divine to publick View.
Pure from the ſacred Fount we pour along
The deep, unalterable Tide of Song.
From thence alone our cleareſt Water flows:
There our firſt Stream of Inſpiration roſe.
There Truth diffuſes her immortal Ray,
With conſtant Charms embelliſhing the Lay.
Without her golden intermingled Flame,
The Torch of Poetry is but a Name:

It's languid glow-worm Beam wants Strength to burn,
And ſinks extinguiſh'd in its brittle Urn.
Proceed, my Son! and on thy Brow ſhall ſhine
Our Wreath unfading, wove by Hands divine;
The Wreath which unpolluted ſhall remain,
And which dull Envy ſhall deſpair to gain.

To the Rev. Mr. FAWKES, on the Publication of his Complete FAMILY BIBLE.

BLEST is the Man! and worthy of our Praiſe,
Who joins not Sinners in their wicked Ways;
Who ſquanders not his Time in Plays and Balls,
Nor in the Sport that for Repentance calls:
But deems the Word of God his chief Delight,
His Taſk by Day, and fav'rite Song by Night;
His Spring of Solace, in Affliction's Rage;
His Guide in Youth, and Staff in wither'd Age.
He, like a Scribe, in heav'nly Science bold,
Pours from his Treaſure Things both new and old;
Reſcues the Text from each illuſive Gloſs,
And gives us ſterling Gold for monkiſh Droſs;
Clears the obſcure, exhibits the ſublime,
Sets each Tranſaction right in Point of Time;
Collates the Copies, from the beſt compiles,
And ſeeming Contradictions reconciles;
Turns huge and pond'rous Volumes o'er for Notes,
The moſt enlighten'd and judicious quotes:
Like a ſkill'd Chymiſt he extracts the ſoul,
And from looſe Parts gives one conſiſtent whole.
This Character, ſagacious Bard, is thine!
See! diff'ring Chriſtians in thy Praiſes join;
Twin'd with the Word, thy Name a Life may boaſt,
When Homer's in the Wreck of Time is loſt.

To the Rev. Mr. FAWKES, on his BIBLE.

HAIL ſacred Book! where Heaven's own Hands engage,
To pour perpetual Bliſs on every Age;
Where ſoars aloft the genuine Song ſupreme,
Where Juſtice bends to Mercy's milder Beam!

When

When Time ſhall tear the Fraud from earthly Things,
When faithleſs Wealth ſhall flit on Tyrian Wings;
When all the Ardours of th' Aonian Breeze
Appear the Gewgaws of an Infant's eaſe;
When all Ambition's Av'rice ſnatch'd away
Seems but the Trapping of one tawdry Day:
Religion's Labours ſhall eternal ſtand,
The ſole ſure Bulwark of the righteous Land.
Still Truth ſhall ſhew in each triumphant Line,
The rending Pathos of the Pen divine.
And ſhall not he, who, when all earth rebels,
God's awful Grandeur to the Tyrant tells;
Who ſees with Sorrow wand'ring cares increaſe,
And points the Trav'ller to the Path of Peace;
Proceed, the Fav'rite of the Good and Wiſe,
And ſcatter far the Copies of the Skies.

JOHN CARR.

To the Rev. Mr. FAWKES, on his Progreſs in his Complete FAMILY BIBLE.

AS, when the Huſbandman his Crop ſurveys
Full ripen'd by the Sun's autumnal Rays,
High beats his Heart with exquiſite delight,
And his Eye dances at the golden ſight;
With equal Rapture glows my ſwelling Soul
To ſee thee reaching Revelation's Goal.
Accept this little Tribute to thy Praiſe,
If Praiſe can flow from rude unletter'd Lays.
What! tho' my Verſe lethargically flows,
While Metre only reſcues it from Proſe;
The want of Genius and of Art excuſe,
And let my Friendſhip triumph o'er the Muſe.

W. WOTY.

To the Rev. Mr. FAWKES, Author of the Complete FAMILY BIBLE.

'TIS hard to praiſe, yet harder to refrain:
To pleaſe ourſelves, we oft give others Pain.
While the warm Heart is earneſt to commend,
Our Zeal is apt to ſully, or offend;
Like him, who, with unuſual Rapture fir'd,
Soil'd, by his Touch, the Picture he admir'd.
Tho' Bards of higher Rank reſound thy Praiſe,
Indulge the well-meant Incenſe of my Lays,
On thy tranſcendent Worth to graft my own,
Like Shrubs which court the Shade of Lebanon.

What

What tho', unequal to the Height, he flies,
Like the proud Falcon, to ſuperior Skies;
Yet not rejected was the Widow's Mite,
Nor diſeſteem'd the lowly Shunamite.
Unnumber'd Comments have the Church perplex'd,
And venal Scribes have but obſcur'd the Text,
Who like the Gnomon to the Sun diſplay'd,
Point their dull Meaning out by duller Shade;
Inſtead of giving, intercept the Light,
And raiſe, like Fens a Miſt before the Sight.
Fertile in Leaves, but barren in the Fruit,
They clog the Soil, and hurt the Hebrew-Root.
While, like the flying Horſe, in painted Air,
They never quit their wooden Hemiſphere.
What, finer far than Ariadne's Clue,
Guides thee thro' Mazes intricate and new?
While we admire the Graces of thy Song,
We more admire 'tis ſo conciſe and ſtrong;
For heavy, leaden Volumes we behold
The ſacred Writ, epitomiz'd in Gold,
And like a Roſe of Diamonds, rich and bright,
Plain in their Neatneſs, ſet in native Light.
To treat divinely ſo divine a Theme,
Say, haſt thou lately bath'd in Jordan's Stream?
Who has unlock'd to thee the ſacred Store
Of Learning's Treaſure, and of Wiſdom's Lore?
What Maſter-key admits thee to the Springs
Whence Moſes dictates, and whence David ſings?
In what ſeraphic Viſion haſt thou ſeen
That Temple, ſo admir'd by Sheba's Queen?
By Heav'n unaided could'ſt thou ever ſhow
The hidden Sources, whence thoſe Waters flow?
Impoſſible!—Without ſome Aid Divine,
Thou could'ſt ſo fully, yet ſo clearly ſhine!
So, when the Moon, mild Regent of the Night,
Conſpicuous ſhines in full-orb'd Beauty bright,
The Luſtre we aſcribe not to her Rays,
But to the Sun's more elevated Blaze.
Reſcu'd by Thee, the ſacred Muſe no more
Laments the ruſty Manacles ſhe wore,
Thy juſter Senſe each doubtful Paſſage clears,
And ev'ry Part in Symmetry appears.
So, when Suſannah bore an injur'd Name,
And falſe Aſperſions vilify'd her Fame,
While wav'ring Judgment, undetermin'd hung,
Dubious to fix upon the right, or wrong,
To vindicate her Virtue, Daniel roſe,
Stood forth her Champion, and abaſh'd her Foes.

THE FIRST BOOK OF MOSES,

CALLED

GENESIS.

THE ARGUMENT.

The first five books of the Bible were written by MOSES, and are called the PENTATEUCH, or Five-fold Volume, because originally all five made but one book. This first book is emphatically entitled GENESIS, that is, GENERATION, because it contains the history of the generation of the whole world, from the creation of Adam down to the death of Joseph; and comprehends an history of about 2369 years; that is, from the Creation to the Flood 1656; from the Flood to the Death of Joseph 713; in all 2369.

CHAP. I.

1 The creation of heaven and earth, &c. 26 Of man in the image of God. 29 The appointment of food.

IN the beginning God created the heaven and the earth.

2 And the earth was without form, and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep: and the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters.

3 And God said, Let there be light: and there was light.

4 And God saw the light, that it was good: and God divided the light from the darkness.

5 And God called the light Day, and the darkness he called Night: and the evening and the morning were the first day.

Notes on the first Chapter.

Ver. 1 In the beginning.] The world is not eternal, as Aristotle and several philosophers asserted, but had a beginning.

God created the heaven and the earth.] He who is eternal produced out of nothing the heaven and the earth, that is, as, the best interpreters understand it, not the solar system only, but the whole universe.

2 And the earth was without form, and void.] The earth was a confused, indigested heap, without beasts, or trees, or herbs; a chaos, wherein the elements of things lay blended together in confusion.

And darkness was upon the face of the deep.] Nothing was visible for want of light, which lay buried, as all other things did, in the vast, confused heap of matter: nothing was visible but to him with whom the darkness and light are both alike.

And the spirit of God moved, &c.] That is, the infinite wisdom and power of God exerted their influence in disposing and reducing the chaos into form and order. The word we here translate moved, literally signifies brooded, as a hen does upon her eggs. There are two passages in Milton, which will elucidate this verse:

——— " Thou with mighty wings outspread,
" Dove-like sat'st brooding on the vast abyss,
" And madst it pregnant." B. i. ver. 20.

——— " On the watry calm
" His brooding wings the Spirit of God outspread,
" And vital virtue infus'd, and vital warmth
" Throughout the fluid mass." B. vii. ver. 234.

3 And God said, Let there be light, &c.] Longinus, one of the best judges of writing among the antients, has admired the sublimity of this expression. What can give us a nobler idea of the power of God, than thus to conceive light starting into existence at his word! He spake and it was done. And as the sentiment is sublime, so it is beautifully and justly expressed. The expression is quick as thought, and shows the instantaneous transition from the command to the execution. The original is shorter than our translation: Be light, and light was; Fiat lux, & lux fuit.

4 And God saw the light, &c.] Here the Creator is represented, as making a pause to survey the work that he had made; he beheld the light with complacency, and pronounced it good, fit for all the purposes for which he had designed it.

God divided the light, &c.] Distinguished time by light and darkness, and appointed that they should constantly succeed each other.

5 The evening and the morning, &c.] In the Hebrew language, evening

6 ¶ And God ſaid, Let there be a firmament in the midſt of the waters, and let it divide the waters from the waters.

7 And God made the firmament; and divided the waters which were under the firmament, from the waters which were above the firmament: and it was ſo.

8 And God called the firmament Heaven: and the evening and the morning were the ſecond day.

9 ¶ And God ſaid, Let the waters under the heaven be gathered together unto one place, and let the dry land appear: and it was ſo.

10 And God called the dry land Earth; and the gathering together of the waters called he Seas: and God ſaw that it was good.

11 And God ſaid, Let the earth bring forth graſs, the herb yielding ſeed, and the fruit-tree yielding fruit after his kind, whoſe ſeed is in itſelf, upon the earth: and it was ſo.

12 And the earth brought forth graſs, and herb yielding ſeed after his kind, and the tree yielding fruit, whoſe ſeed was in itſelf, after his kind: and God ſaw that it was good.

13 And the evening and the morning were the third day.

14 ¶ And God ſaid, Let there be lights in the firmament of the heaven, to divide the day from the night: and let them be for ſigns, and for ſeaſons, and for days, and years.

15 And let them be for lights in the firmament of the heaven, to give light upon the earth: and it was ſo.

16 And God made two great lights; the greater light to rule the day, and the leſſer light to rule the night: he made the ſtars alſo.

17 And God ſet them in the firmament of the heaven, to give light upon the earth;

18 And to rule over the day, and over the evening and morning ſignify a whole day; the evening is probably put firſt, becauſe darkneſs was prior in time to light.

6 Let there be a firmament.] The Hebrew word ſignifies an EXPANSION, by which we underſtand our atmoſphere.

In the midſt of the waters.] That is, to divide the clouds, which in ſcripture language are frequently called waters, from the waters of the ocean, floods, and rivers.

9 Let the waters, &c.] It was the work of the Almighty on the third day to make a ſeparation between the water and the earth, by raiſing the earth above the waters which had covered its ſurface, and by preparing ſuch cavities in it, as would be ſufficient reſervoirs for the ſuperfluous waves. Some ſuppoſe this to have been effected by means of an earthquake, which would raiſe the mountains, and form receptacles for the water: others maintain, that the earth, by reaſon of its columns being of different denſity when its ſurface was firſt formed, would ſettle into the abyſs in different degrees, according to the law of ſpecific gravity, and thereby become diſtinguiſhed into ſeas and lakes, mountains and vallies. Be that as it will, the miracle is ſtill the ſame, ſince all ſecond cauſes act only by the direction of the firſt.

11 Let the earth bring forth graſs, &c.] The dry land, being left by the retreat of the waters, now became fit for the production of vegetables, which was the ſecond part of the third day's work. The vegetable tribes are ranged under three general heads: 1. Graſs, which ſprings up annually without ſowing. 2. Herbs yielding ſeed, which comprehends all ſorts of corn, and whatever is ſown. 3. Trees yielding fruit, Heb. of fruits, that is, either capable of bearing fruit, or whoſe boughs were actually loaded with fruit. See ch. iii. 6. Whence it has been inferred, that the world was made in the autumnal ſeaſon, meaning with regard to the regions of paradiſe; which is ſtill more probable from the Jews and moſt antient nations beginning the year about the autumnal equinox.

Yielding ſeed.] God not only made all plants and vegetables at firſt, but by communicating to them a virtue of propagating their ſpecies, eſtabliſhed the courſe of nature in the vegetable kingdom, which was to continue to all generations; it being found by microſcopical experiments, that the ſeeds of plants are no other than the entire bodies of thoſe plants in miniature; and that every one of them contains the ſame parts and members with the complete bodies themſelves when grown to maturity. The nature of ſeeds will ever be found inexplicable by the laws of matter and motion; it is therefore but juſt and philoſophical to conclude them to be the immediate work of God, eſpecially ſince it is confirmed by experience, that no herb nor plant can be raiſed without ſeed, by any formative power reſiding in the ſoil.

14 Let there be lights.] The word here uſed is different from that in ver. 3, and ſignifies luminous bodies.

And for days and years.] The beneficent Deity appointed the ſun, by his diurnal courſe, to divide our time into the agreeable viciſſitudes of day and night, the one for labour, the other for reſt; and in his annual revolution to viſit the ſeveral regions of the globe by turns, in order to produce in every climate a delightful variety of ſeaſons ſtill ſucceeding one another in a perpetual round; by the gradual approach of his heat ripening the fruits of the earth to perfect maturity; and then as gradually retiring, that the earth may have time to reſt and recruit her ſtrength againſt his next return.

God made two great lights.] Let it be here obſerved once for all, that the ſcripture in phyſical matters, ſpeaks according to the appearance of things, and not in the language of philoſophy: for it is well known that neither the moon, nor any of the planets, are luminous bodies, but borrow all their light from the ſun. That glorious orb is the parent of day, and the palace of light. From thence the morning ſtar gilds her horn; from thence the planetary globes are crowned with luſtre; and from thence the moon borrows all her radiance, to enliven the nocturnal gloom, and line with ſilver the raven-coloured mantle of night.

He made the ſtars alſo.] In the Hebrew it is only the ſtars alſo: ſo that the words might be better rendered thus: God made the greater light to rule the day, and the leſſer light, together with the ſtars, to rule the night; agreeably to Pſalm cxxxvi. ver. 9.

17 And God ſet them, &c.] By the repetition of this ſo often, Moſes intended to fix in the people's minds this notion, that though the heavenly bodies be very glorious, yet they are but creatures made by God, and ſet or appointed by his order to give us light; and therefore that he alone is to be worſhipped, not they.

night, and to divide the light from the darkneſs: and God ſaw that it was good.

19 And the evening and the morning were the fourth day.

20 And God ſaid, Let the waters bring forth abundantly the moving creature that hath life, and fowl that may fly above the earth in the open firmament of heaven.

21 And God created great whales, and every living creature that moveth, which the waters brought forth abundantly after their kind: and every winged fowl after his kind: and God ſaw that it was good.

22 And God bleſſed them, ſaying, Be fruitful, and multiply, and fill the waters in the ſeas, and let fowl multiply in the earth.

23 And the evening and the morning were the fifth day.

24 ¶ And God ſaid, Let the earth bring forth the living creature after his kind, cattle,

Let us here make a pauſe, and take a tranſient view of the operations of the Almighty, recorded in the few preceding verſes; namely, the creation of the heaven and the earth. Aſtronomers tell us, that the mean diſtance of the ſun from the earth is no leſs than eighty-one millions of miles, and yet we are every day ſenſible of its light and heat; and though the rays of light move through ſo prodigious a ſpace in about ſeven minutes and a half, their amazing velocity does not prejudice the tender eye: That our earth, which we conſider as an immenſe globe, would appear, to a ſpectator in the ſun, no bigger than a ſmall ſtar: That the ſun is a ball of fiery matter, whoſe bulk is above a million times greater than that of the earth: That the moon, whoſe beneficial influences we ſo much admire, is at the diſtance of 240,000 miles from the earth: That the reſt of the planets, whoſe magnitude confounds our limited conceptions, obſerve the laws at firſt given them by their great Creator, who ſpake them into being. When we conſider theſe, and a thouſand other particulars that might be added, we may well cry out with the inſpired apoſtle, O the depth of the riches both of the wiſdom and the knowledge of God! and with him confeſs, that it is God who upholdeth all things by the word of his power; and that the heavens declare the glory of God, and the firmament ſheweth his handy work. But this ſolar ſyſtem, which we have juſt mentioned, is only a ſmall part of the creation. Every ſtar, which decorates the empyrean arch, is equal to our ſun in luſtre and magnitude; and, in all probability, like it, the center of a planetary ſyſtem, irradiating a retinue of worlds with its beams, though their immenſe diſtance renders them inviſible to our ſight. Immenſe indeed! for according to the moſt favourable calculations, a cannon-ball, flying with the ſame velocity as when it firſt iſſued from the mouth of the piece, would not reach the neareſt of thoſe luminous orbs in leſs than ſeven thouſand years. Can the human imagination form any idea of ſo prodigious a diſtance! How ſhall we then be loſt in aſtoniſhment, when we conſider that there is at leaſt the ſame immeaſurable ſpace between each of thoſe brilliant globes; and that though the teleſcope diſcovers an amazing number, before hid from our ſight, yet in ſome ſpots they appear ſo blended together, as not to be numbered; and many are, doubtleſs, ſo far immerſed in ether, as not to be rendered viſible by the utmoſt ſtretch of human art. "Could you, ſays Mr. Hervey, ſoar beyond the moon, and "paſs through all the planetary choir: could you wing your "way to the higheſt apparent ſtar, and take your ſtand on one "of thoſe loftieſt pinnacles of heaven; you would there ſee other "ſkies expanded; another ſun diſtributing his inexhauſtible "beams by day; other ſtars that gild the horrors of alternate "night: and other, perhaps nobler, ſyſtems eſtabliſhed; eſtabliſh-"ed in unknown profuſion through the boundleſs dimenſions of "ſpace.—Nor does the dominion of the univerſal Sovereign "terminate there. Even at the end of this vaſt tour, you "would find yourſelf advanced no farther than the ſuburbs of "creation; arrived only at the frontiers of the great Jehovah's "kingdom."

Surely when we meditate on theſe ſubjects, we muſt conceive the nobleſt ideas of the divine power and wiſdom; and, at the ſame time entertain the meaneſt opinion of the pride of puny mortals, who make ſuch a buſtle for a ſmall corner of this globe, which, if annihilated, could not be miſſed by an eye capable of ſurveying the whole creation. But if we farther conſider how many millions of worlds are contained in the limits of creation, each poſſibly inhabited by rational creatures, and who perhaps never offended their Creator, as we thoughtleſs mortals always have, and ſtill continue to do; and yet that this omnipotent Being ſhould vouchſafe to make us his peculiar care, and ſend his only begotten ſon into this world to die for our ſins, merely to reconcile us to himſelf, and ſatisfy his juſtice for our offences, we muſt ſurely be aſtoniſhed and confounded, and cry out with the pſalmiſt, When I conſider the heavens, the work of thy fingers, the moon and the ſtars, which thou haſt ordained, what is man that thou art mindful of him? or the ſon of man that thou viſiteſt him?

20 And God ſaid, Let the waters, &c.] When God had prepared and commodiouſly furniſhed the earth for the reception of its future inhabitants, he proceeded to the formation of the animal world, beginning with the moſt ignoble ſort, namely, fiſh and fowl; and ſo advancing in a regular proceſs to more illuſtrious diſplays of his power and goodneſs. The words in our tranſlation of this verſe imply, that the fowls, as well as the fiſhes, were produced out of the water; but it is expreſsly ſaid, chap. ii. ver. 19. And out of the ground the Lord God formed every beaſt of the field, and every fowl of the air. The true ſenſe of the text is this, and the verſe ſhould have been thus tranſlated: And God ſaid, let the waters bring forth abundantly the moving creatures that have life, and let the fowl fly above the earth, in the open firmament of heaven.

24 And God ſaid, Let the earth, &c.] It has been a controverted point, whether the plants and animals were immediately created in an adult and perfect ſtate, or in the ordinary courſe of nature ſprung from ſeed: but ſuch controverſies are not worth attending to, ſince it is abſurd to ſuppoſe, that God, in the firſt formation of things, proceeded by the ſame methods which he obſerves in order to ſupport and propagate the ſeveral ſpecies: it is evident, that the infinite wiſdom of the Almighty is equally diſplayed both ways, and what we call the courſe of nature is full as miraculous as the inſtantaneous production of things by the word of the ſupreme; for who but God communicated to the earth ſuch a prolific generating virtue? By whom was matter ſo ordered and diſpoſed, that in the ſpace of ſix days the whole creation ſhould be finiſhed? The atheiſt's only refuge here is in the fancy of what is called equivocal or ſpontaneous generation; which ſuppoſes the earth itſelf, by the mere influence of the ſun, to produce inſects, and conſequently other animals. But this abſurd doctrine is now fully exploded, it being found by numberleſs experiments, that thoſe inſects, which were ignorantly believed to be ſpontaneous, accidental productions, did really ſpring from ſeeds or eggs in the ordinary way of generation.

25 And God made the beaſt of the earth after his kind, and cattle after their kind, and every thing that creepeth upon the earth after his kind: and God ſaw that it was good.

26 ¶ And God ſaid, Let us make man in our image, after our likeneſs: and let them have dominion over the fiſh of the ſea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth.

27 So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him: male and female created he them.

28 And God bleſſed them, and God ſaid unto them, Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenifh the earth, and ſubdue it: and have dominion over the fiſh of the ſea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth.

29 ¶ And God ſaid, Behold, I have given you every herb bearing ſeed, which is upon the face of all the earth, and every tree, in the which is the fruit of a tree yielding ſeed: to you it ſhall be for meat.

30 And to every beaſt of the earth, and to every fowl of the air, and to every thing that

26 Let us make man, &c.] The world being now, like a noble palace, ready furniſhed with all conveniencies, the air pure and fit for reſpiration, the waters above and below regularly diſpoſed; the earth diverſified with mountains, rivers, and verdant plains, adorned with plants, trees, and flowers; the lamps of heaven lighted up to gild the various landſkips of nature; and all the elements ſtocked with animals; God proceeded to make a more noble creature, endued with reaſon, contemplative, capable of adoring the Creator in his works, and who was to be the lord of all. His pre-eminence, above the whole creation beſides, is ſtrongly marked by the ſolemn manner with which the Deity ſets about his formation. He doth not ſay of him, as he did of the reſt, Let the waters, or let the earth bring him forth; but he adviſes, as it were, and conſults about his production: Let us make man. Not to ſignify any deliberation within himſelf, or any difficulty in the work; but to repreſent to us the dignity of man, and that he was made a far more noble creature than any upon earth; made with admirable wiſdom and great prudence; and that a greater power and ſkill was employed in producing a creature of ſuch beauty and majeſty. He was to conſiſt of two parts; a body, like other terreſtrial creatures, and a ſoul, peculiar to himſelf. All creatures are, in one ſenſe, images of the Deity, being formed after the ideas of the Divine Mind, and ſtamped with ſignatures of his wiſdom, power, and goodneſs; but man is ſo in a peculiar ſenſe. He is endued with reaſon, which is a ray of the Eternal Wiſdom; he is made partaker of a ſpiritual and immortal nature; and he has the honour to be conformed to his Creator in moral perfection. Some traces of this image are ſtill diſcernible upon the mind of man, eſpecially in that benevolence and compaſſion which every man feels in ſome degree, and which exerts itſelf ſtrongly in thoſe who make it their ſtudy to tread the paths of virtue; in that conſcience, or ſenſe of right or wrong, which tends directly to reſtrain men from doing miſchief to one another, and prompts them to do all the good actions in their power. It is this principle, implanted in the human breaſt, that makes every man a law to himſelf. There is, indeed, a conſiderable taſk left for us to do, upon our own heart and temper: we muſt cultivate aſſiduouſly, improve perpetually, and heighten conſtantly, this virtue and moral goodneſs: we muſt exerciſe it in a ſteady uniform manner; for if ſuch culture be wanting, the mind will be vitiated, and the dictates of this faithful monitor diſregarded. But neither the perverſeneſs of men, nor the malignity of devils, will ever be able totally to deface the image of God on the ſoul. And let it be here remembered, that however men may deviate from the noble end of their being, yet there is no principle in human nature but what is good in itſelf. That ſelf-love, which is ſo ſtrongly implanted in every man, is in itſelf a right affection, and ſhews the proviſion which God hath made for the preſervation of the individual. In a word, all the affections God has implanted in our breaſts, either reſpect private or public good: even envy itſelf aims at a lawful end, namely, equality or ſuperiority; and, conſequently, to do miſchief is not the end of envy, but the means it too often makes uſe of to attain its end. Hence it is, that Solomon pronounces every man, notwithſtanding the fall, upright as he comes into the world. But, at the ſame time that we contemplate our divine original, and the many eminent gifts we have received, above all other creatures, let us remember, that we are made of the duſt of the ground: a leſſon which muſt ſurely mortify our pride, and cannot fail of teaching us humility.

27 So God created man in his own image.] This is repeated to remind us of our dignity, and ſhould excite us to live ſuitably to our divine original.

Male and female created he them.] From this paſſage we learn that Adam and Eve were both created on the ſame day, though the particulars of Eve's creation are only mentioned in the ſecond chapter.

28 And God bleſſed them.] What an amiable idea of the Deity is here exhibited! The benevolent Parent of the univerſe bleſſes his children at their firſt coming into the world: an inconteſtable proof, that he takes pleaſure in our happineſs, and is deſirous that we ſhould rejoice in our being: and it is by virtue of this bleſſing that the human race has been preſerved from generation to generation.

And have dominion, &c.] What further ſhows the benevolence of the Creator to man is, that he did not only make him in his own image, and enlighten him with a ray of heavenly wiſdom, but he declared him lord alſo of the whole creation; ſurely then he ought to imitate his Almighty Parent in the exerciſe of this delegated power. How abſurd muſt it appear for man, who boaſts himſelf heaven's vicegerent, to abuſe his maſter's bounty, and govern, like a tyrant, with a rod of iron?

29 Every herb, and every tree—to you it ſhall be for meat.] It is generally thought that the firſt ages of the world confined themſelves ſtrictly within the limits of this rule, and abſtained wholly from eating fleſh till after the flood, when God expreſsly gave them every living thing for meat, as well as the herbs. The wonderful fertility of the ſoil originally, gives us reaſon to conjecture, that the antediluvian vegetables were more juicy and nouriſhing, not only than fleſh, but than they have ever been ſince.

30 And to every beaſt every green herb for meat, &c.] This care of Providence for the brute creation, ſhould check that pride of the human heart, which leads us ignorantly to imagine, that God has made all his creatures entirely for our pleaſure.

'Tis

creepeth upon the earth, wherein there is life, I have given every green herb for meat: and it was so.

31 And God saw every thing that he had made, and behold, it was very good. And the evening and the morning were the sixth day.

CHAP. II.

1 The first sabbath. 8 The garden of Eden. 16 The tree of knowledge. 19, 20 The creatures named. 21 Woman made, and marriage instituted.

THUS the heavens and the earth were finished, and all the host of them.

2 And on the seventh day God ended his work which he had made: and he rested on the seventh day from all his work which he had made.

3 And God blessed the seventh day, and sanctified it; because that in it he had rested from all his work, which God created and made.

4 ¶ These are the generations of the heavens and of the earth, when they were created; in the day that the Lord God made the earth and the heavens.

It is true, indeed, man is the only rational inhabitant of this sublunary world; but then it is as true, that God has made all creatures to be happy in themselves as well as useful to each other. The poet justly argues:

> Has God, thou fool! work'd solely for thy good,
> Thy joy, thy pastime, thy attire, thy food?
> Who for thy table feeds the wanton fawn,
> For him as kindly spread the flow'ry lawn.
> Is it for thee the linnet pours his throat?
> Loves of his own, and raptures, swell the note.
> Is thine alone the seed that strews the plain?
> The birds of heaven shall vindicate their grain.
> Pope Eth. Epist. 3. 27.

The formation of man was the last act of creation; after which the Almighty took a general survey of his works, and observing such harmony risen from principles so jarring and repugnant, and so beautiful a variety and composition of things from a mere mass of confusion and disorder, was pleased with them, and pronounced them very good: a sufficient reason that man should do the same. Indeed, our dissatisfaction flows from our ignorance. Were it possible for us to form a true idea of the glorious plan of the universe, we should then be convinced that the whole was perfectly good, and, with our Creator, rejoice in his works.

Thus have we taken a view of the creation of the world, as recorded by Moses; and shall only add, that this history of the origin of things, delivered by that prophet to the children of Israel, was known among all the descendants of Noah, as is sufficiently evident from the most antient accounts of the creation among the Phœnicians, Chaldæans, and Egyptians, which were preserved and taught in their mysteries, and agreed in substance with the Mosaic account. For how was it possible that the history of the creation should be preserved, and related in almost the same manner, in the most antient mysteries of Chaldæa, Phœnicia, and Egypt, as Moses has related it, unless derived from the same source? Can we think that a notion should so universally prevail, that the matter of the visible world was originally a dark and confused mixture, or chaos; that a spiritual and divine wind from God, or the Supreme Mind, acted upon it, and by degrees brought the mass into order; that light issued out of the chaos before the sun and moon were made, or shined in their orbs; and that after the formation of the elements, should succeed the trees and herbs of the earth, the several kinds of brute animals, fishes, fowls, and other living creatures; and last of all, man and woman: can we, I say, suppose that all the above nations should relate the same works in the same order and succession as Moses has done in his history, unless they all had them from the first inhabitants of the earth after the flood, namely, Noah and his sons?

It is, indeed, no wonder that this history, in which the one Supreme Mind, or God, was taught to be the creator of all things, should be mixed with fable, after idolatry prevailed in the world. And therefore, after the worship of the sun, moon, stars and planets, supposed to be inhabited by celestial dæmons and deified heroes, was almost universally received, the Chaldæan, Phœnician, and Egyptian priests and philosophers taught the people, that these were the first, eternal, and supreme gods: but their secret doctrine, taught in their mysteries, was, that one Supreme Mind, or God, filled the whole universe with his presence, power, and providence, and both formed and governed it: and that the celestial luminaries, or gods residing in them, were the subordinate ministers of the Divine Providence in the several parts of the world; and symbolically represented the properties, perfections, and power of the supreme Deity. So that they acknowledged the Supreme Mind or God to be all in all; referred all the subordinate deities to him, as supreme head; and resolved their power and ministerial government of the world into him, as the fountain of all being, power, and perfection.

Ver. 1 And all the host of them.] That is, all creatures in heaven and in earth; which are called host or army, because of their vast variety and excellent order.

2 God ended his work.] Or rather, had ended, (as it may be translated) for he did not work on the seventh day, but as it follows, he rested on the seventh day, which expression implies not any weariness in God, but is spoken after the manner of men; for the Creator of the ends of the earth fainteth not, neither is weary, Isai. xl. 28. We are therefore to understand by this expression no more than this, that God having finished the heavens and the earth, and all the host of them, on the seventh day ceased from his works of creation.

3 And God blessed the seventh day, &c.] God appointed the seventh day, from the very beginning of the world, to be observed in memory of its creation, as a day of solemn thanksgiving and public joy. It has been a question, whether any sabbath was observed before the promulgation of the law by Moses: but the most judicious commentators agree, that Adam and Eve constantly observed the seventh day, and dedicated it more peculiarly to the service of the Almighty; and that the first sabbath, which Philo calls the birthday of the world, was celebrated in paradise itself: which pious custom being transmitted from our first parents to their posterity, became in time so general, that the same Philo calls it the universal festival; though among many nations the reason of the institution was soon forgotten.

5 And every plant of the field before it was in the earth, and every herb of the field before it grew: for the Lord God had not caused it to rain upon the earth, and there was not a man to till the ground.

6 But there went up a mist from the earth, and watered the whole face of the ground.

7 And the Lord God formed man of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living soul.

8 ¶ And the Lord God planted a garden eastward in Eden; and there he put the man whom he had formed.

9 And out of the ground made the Lord God to grow every tree that is pleasant to the sight, and good for food: the tree of life also in the midst of the garden, and the tree of knowledge of good and evil.

10 And a river went out of Eden to water the garden; and from thence it was parted, and became into four heads.

gotten. Several divines go farther, and suppose, that even in heaven itself there are certain times for more solemn devotion, when all the exalted music of the celestial choirs is united in the praises of their eternal king, according to that beautiful expression in Job, When the morning-stars sang together, and all the sons of God shouted for joy.

5 Every plant before it was in the earth.] That is, before it was propagated, as now, by being planted or sown.

Had not caused it to rain—and there was not a man, &c.] These two reasons show, that plants were not produced in the ordinary way of generation.

7 God formed man of the dust.] Moses here mentions a circumstance before omitted, viz. the formation of man out of the dust or slime of the earth, whence the apostle calls him the earthy man. This consideration serves to humble all human pride; for, though our souls are related to the angelical beings, yet our bodies may justly call corruption their father, and the worm their mother and their sister.

The breath of life.] The soul, which after the dissolution of the body shall return to God who gave it.

8 God planted a garden.] Or rather had planted, before he made man: it is probable this garden was prepared on the third day, when the earth was adorned with the vegetable creation.

And there he put the man.] Hence it is inferred that man was created out of paradise.

Eastward in Eden] Eastward, in respect of Judæa, in Eden, so called from its pleasure, about the situation of which the learned are greatly divided.

9 The tree of life.] The antient fathers, and others, think it was so called, because it had a virtue not only to repair the animal spirits, but also to maintain them, and all the organs of the body, without decay, till man should have been fit to be translated into another world. That there was such a vivific virtue in this tree is intimated, chap 3. ver. 22. Lest he put forth his hand, and take of the tree of life, and eat, and live for ever.

The tree of knowledge of good and evil.] So called, as bishop Patrick supposes, because God intended by this tree to prove Adam and Eve, whether they would be good or bad. Some think it was set before man as a sign, or caveat, that he was not to aspire after more wisdom than became him, nor take upon him to decide for himself what was good or evil, right or wrong, independently upon his Maker. Others think it was so called afterwards, because by eating of it, he knew from miserable experience, the difference between obeying and disobeying God's commandments. These two trees will for ever remain constant monitors to man, that his happiness and misery were in his own hand, and depended wholly upon his obedience to his Maker.

10 And a river went out of Eden.] The word Eden, in Hebrew, signifies pleasure; and thence several versions, and among the rest the vulgate, have rendered it the place or garden of pleasure. But it is sufficiently evident, from several passages of Scripture, that it is the proper name of a country; for Cain is said to have dwelt in the land of Nod, on the east of Eden, (chap. iv. 16.) It has, however, exercised the sagacity of the commentators, to determine the spot where Eden was situated. The learned Heidegger, Le Clerc, Pere Abram, and Pere Hardouin, place Paradise near Damascus in Syria, about the springs of Jordan. But this is destitute of all the marks specified in the Mosaical description, which ought always to be the principal test in this enquiry. Sanson, the late Mr. Hadrian Reland, and Calmet, place Eden in Armenia, between the springs or heads of the Tigris, the Euphrates, the Araxes, and the Phasis: but this scheme is not much better supported than the first, modern travellers having discovered, that the Phasis does not rise in the mountains of Armenia, as the ancients pretended, but at a great distance from the Tigris and Euphrates, in Mount Caucasus.

But there still remains a third opinion to be considered, and this is indeed supported by all the passages of Scripture where Eden is mentioned. According to this, the terrestrial paradise was situated upon the united stream of the Dijlat, or Hiddekel, and Frat, called by the Arabs, Shat al Arab, that is, the river of the Arabs, which begins two days journey above Basrah, and about five leagues below divides again into two two or three channels, which discharge themselves into the Persian gulph. The Shat al Arab is therefore the river passing out of Eden, and which divides into four heads, or different branches, and makes four rivers; two below the Pison and Gihon, and two above the Euphrates and Hiddekel. This opinion was first started by Calvin, and is, with some little variation, followed by Stephanus Morinus, Bochart, and Huetius, bishop of Avranches. See Universal History, 8vo. edit.

We cannot help observing here, that most of the emblematical representations of heaven in the New Testament, are borrowed from the Mosaic description of the primæval seat of innocence and felicity. Hence it is often called Paradise; and in the description which St. John (Rev. chap. xxi. 18, 19, 20. and chap. xxii. 1, 2.) has given us of the new Jerusalem, the city is said to be of pure gold, the foundation of the gates to be garnished with all manner of precious stones, and the twelve gates to be of twelve pearls; plainly alluding to the gold, the bdellium and the onyx stones, in this description of Paradise. In like manner the water of life, proceeding out of the throne of God, and the tree of life in the midst of the street, and on either side the river, as plainly allude to the river of Paradise, and the tree of life in the midst of the garden of Eden. We also find the prophets often borrowing their ideas of happiness from the same source. Thus, in the figurative description of Tyre, (Ezek. xxviii. 13.) most of the images are paradisaical. Thou hast been in Eden, the garden of God; every precious stone was thy covering, the sardius, topaz, and the diamond; the beryl, the onyx, and the jasper; the sapphire, the emerald, and the carbuncle, and gold, &c.

11 The name of the firſt is Piſon: that is it which compaſſeth the whole land of Havilah, where there is gold.

12 And the gold of that land is good: there is bdellium and the onyx-ſtone.

13 And the name of the ſecond river is Gihon: the ſame is it that compaſſeth the whole land of Ethiopia.

14 And the name of the third river is Hiddekel: that is it which goeth toward the eaſt of Aſſyria. And the fourth river is Euphrates.

15 And the Lord God took the man, and put him into the garden of Eden, to dreſs it, and to keep it.

16 And the Lord God commanded the man ſaying, Of every tree of the garden thou mayeſt freely eat:

17 But of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, thou ſhalt not eat of it: for in the day that thou eateſt thereof, thou ſhalt ſurely die.

18 ¶ And the Lord God ſaid, It is not good that the man ſhould be alone: I will make him an help-meet for him.

19 And out of the ground the Lord God formed every beaſt of the field, and every fowl of the air, and brought them unto Adam to ſee what he would call them: and whatſoever Adam called every living creature, that was the name thereof.

20 And Adam gave names to all cattle, and to the fowl of the air, and to every beaſt of the field: but for Adam there was not found an help-meet for him.

21 And the Lord God cauſed a deep ſleep to fall upon Adam, and he ſlept: and he took one of his ribs, and cloſed up the fleſh inſtead thereof.

11 The name of the firſt is Piſon, &c.] By Piſon, according to Huetius, muſt be underſtood the weſtern ſtream that aroſe from the parting of the Euphrates and Tigris; and by Havilah the eaſtern tract of Arabia, lying near the bottom of the Perſian gulph.

Where there is gold, &c.] The gold of Arabia was remarkably excellent; and dug up in great plenty.

12 There is bdellium alſo, and the onyx-ſtone.] Bdellium is a tranſparent odoriferous gum.—Arabia abounded with precious ſtones of all ſorts, as appears from Ezek. chap. xxvii. 22.

13 Gihon.] No traces of this name remain, but it is ſuppoſed to be the eaſtern ſtream that aroſe from the parting of the Euphrates and Tigris.

14 The name of the third river is Hiddekel.] This river is undoubtedly the Tigris.

Which goeth towards the eaſt of Aſſyria.] That is, it runs along the frontiers of Aſſyria, viz. the province of Adiabere, whereof Nineve was the capital.

16 Of every tree of the garden thou mayeſt freely eat.] A very liberal conceſſion, and worthy of that Divine Author, whoſe mercies are over all his works.

17 But of the tree of knowledge, &c.] With this ſmall reſtraint, which the Divine Wiſdom thought proper to lay upon Adam, as a token of his ſubjection, and a teſt of his obedience, God left him to the enjoyment of this Paradiſe. A prohibition ſurely of little conſequence, when the garden abounded with every thing his ſoul could deſire: and if we grant, that this was a poiſonous plant, as there is great reaſon to think it was, the all-gracious Creator, by this prohibition, only forewarned man, as he valued his life, not to eat thereof, however fair and tempting it might appear to the eye. In this happy place was he to employ his mind as well as exerciſe his body; to contemplate the amazing works of God; to ſubmit himſelf wholly to the Divine Conduct; to conform all his actions to the Divine Will, and to live in a conſtant dependence on the Divine Goodneſs. Here he was to ſpend his days in the continual exerciſes of prayer and thankſgiving. Here were thouſands of objects to entertain his intellectual faculties, to call forth his reaſon and employ it: but that wherein the ultimate perfection of his life was doubtleſs to conſiſt, was the union of his ſoul with the Supreme Good, with that infinite and eternal Being, which alone can conſtitute the happineſs of man. This was the deſigned felicity of our firſt parents: neither they nor their poſterity were to be liable to ſorrow or miſery of any kind, but to enjoy a conſtant and never-failing happineſs; and after innumerable ages and ſucceſſions, were, in their courſes, to be tranſlated from an earthly to a heavenly Paradiſe.

18 It is not good that man ſhould be alone.] Man is a ſocial being, and ſo deſirous of fellowſhip, that he pines and grows ſick of life, when deſtitute of companions to ſhare his joys. Cicero carries this ſocial deſire ſo far as to ſay, a man would have no pleaſure in diſcovering all the beauties of the univerſe, even in heaven itſelf, unleſs he had a partner, to whom he might communicate his joy.

I will make him an help-meet for him.] That is, I will make him a creature like him, or as the Septuagint has it, his other ſelf; one like him in nature, and knit to him in love, in whoſe ſociety he may rejoice, and in whoſe amiable perfections he may find his wants and exigencies ſupplied.

19 Out of the ground, &c.] This expreſſion here ſignifies the terraqueous globe, comprehending land and water.

Brought them to Adam.] Either by the miniſtry of angels, or by ſome ſecret inſtinct, diſpoſed them to come of themſelves. We muſt not ſuppoſe that all the birds and animals appeared before Adam on one and the ſame day: though this tranſaction is related in few words, it appears to have been a work of ſome conſiderable time; and probably the names of creatures were found out by degrees, as they were occaſionally obſerved, or as our firſt parents had opportunity to converſe about them.

21 And the Lord cauſed a deep ſleep, &c.] To render him inſenſible of the pain he muſt otherwiſe have ſuffered in the operation.—We have already obſerved, chap. i. ver. 27, that Eve was made on the ſame day with Adam, but the particulars of her formation are mentioned here to introduce the ſubſequent account of the inſtitution of marriage, and to ſhow its foundation in the law of God, and the original eſtabliſhment of nature.

One of his ribs, &c.] The word ſignifies, the ſide in general, and ſo the Septuagint all along tranſlate it: the forming of Eve out of a part ſo near the heart, was to teach man that he ought to cleave to his wife with the greateſt tenderneſs and affection; and 22 And the rib, which the Lord God had taken from man, made he a woman, and brought her unto the man.

23 And Adam ſaid, This is now bone of my bones, and fleſh of my fleſh: ſhe ſhall be called Woman, becauſe ſhe was taken out of man.

24 Therefore ſhall a man leave his father and his mother, and ſhall cleave unto his wife: and they ſhall be one fleſh.

25 And they were both naked, the man and his wife, and were not aſhamed.

CHAP. III.

1 The ſerpent deceiveth Eve. 6 Man's fall. 15 The promiſed ſeed. 16 Man's puniſhment. 22 and loſs of Paradiſe.

NOW the ſerpent was more ſubtil than any beaſt of the field which the Lord God had made: and he ſaid unto the woman, Yea, hath God ſaid, Ye ſhall not eat of every tree of the garden?

and thereby recommends marriage as founded in nature, and as the re-union of man and woman.

23 And Adam ſaid, This is now, &c.] That is, now at length I have found the companion whom I ſought for in vain among the the creatures.

——— ——— I muſt confeſs to find
In all things elſe delight indeed, but ſuch
As us'd or not, works in the mind no change,
Nor vehement deſire; theſe delicacies
I mean of taſte, ſight, ſmell, herbs, fruits, and flowers,
Walks, and the melody of birds; but here
Far otherwiſe, tranſported I behold, Tranſported touch ——— Par. Loſt. b. 8. v. 523.

She ſhall be called woman.] She ſhall partake of my name as ſhe does of my nature; being himſelf called Iſch, the Hebrew word for man, he called her Iſcha, becauſe ſhe was taken from his ſide.

24 Therefore ſhall a man leave his father, &c.] That is, the nuptial-tie ſhall be ſtronger between the huſband and wife, than that of nature between a child and its parent. They ſhall even be one fleſh, or joined together in intire and inſeparable love, never to be divided but by death. And ſurely, if any condition in this world can yield perfect happineſs, it is that of two friends and lovers uniting their hearts and intereſts for life.

O happy they! the happieſt of their kind!
Whom gentle ſtars unite, and in one fate
Their hearts, their fortunes, and their beings blend.
'Tis not the coarſer tie of human laws,
Unnatural oft, and foreign to the mind,
That binds their peace; but harmony itſelf
Attuning all their paſſions into love;
Where friendſhip full exerts her ſofteſt power,
Perfect eſteem, enliven'd by deſire
Ineffable, and ſympathy of ſoul;
Thought meeting thought, and will preventing will,
With boundleſs confidence. Thomſon's Spring.

We muſt not here paſs over an objection raiſed by the free-thinkers of our age, againſt the truth of the Moſaic account of the origin of mankind, which makes mankind to have been propagated from one pair; namely, the difference of colour between the whites and blacks, which they pretend is an unanſwerable reaſon againſt their all coming originally from the ſame ſtock. But a little reflection will be ſufficient to remove this difficulty, notwithſtanding the confidence with which they propoſe it. Experience has abundantly demonſtrated, that the bodies of men differ according to the climate they inhabit, and their greater or leſſer diſtance from the ſun; we may therefore juſtly conclude, that the firſt colony which ſettled in a very hot country, received a great change in their complection, proportionable to the heat of the climate, and became very tawny, gradually inclining to blackneſs as the ſun was more intenſe upon them. Hence, in a generation or two, that high degree of tawnineſs might become natural, and perhaps the pride of the natives. The men might begin to value themſelves upon this complection, and the women to love them the better for it: and we well know what influence the fancy and imagination of the mother has upon the fruit of her womb. Hence the children thus produced, muſt every birth approach nearer to an abſolute blackneſs; and as their tender bodies came to be expoſed naked (as the manner of theſe countries is) to the violent heat of the ſun, their ſkin muſt needs be ſcorched in an extraordinary manner, and perhaps, its very texture altered, and thence contract a blackneſs far ſuperior to that of their parents. By ſuch degrees, it is not improbable, but that perſons of the faireſt complection, when removed into a very hot climate, may, in a few generations, become perfect negroes. Univerſal Hiſt. vol. I.

25 And they were both naked.] St. Chryſoſtom and others have thought, that the bodies of Adam and Eve were arrayed with a luminous garment, ſo glorious and beautiful, that they needed no covering of artificial robes. And in this, ſome will have the Divine Image partly to conſiſt; for as the ſoul of man was pure and upright, and in that reſpect reſembled his Creator, ſo his body likewiſe was arrayed with light after the ſimilitude of Him, who is ſaid in Scripture to dwell in light, and to cloath himſelf with light as with a garment.

And were not aſhamed.] They had done nothing criminal or indecent, and therefore ——

Then was not guilty ſhame, diſhoneſt ſhame
Of nature's works ——— ——— ———
So paſs'd they naked on, nor ſhun'd the ſight
Of God or angel, for they thought no ill:
So hand in hand they paſs'd, the loveliеſt pair
That ever ſince in love's embraces met.
Par. Loſt, b. 4. v. 319.

Notes on the Third Chapter.

1 Now the ſerpent was more ſubtil.] The word ſubtil does not here ſo much denote the craft and inſidiouſneſs of this creature, as its gentle, familiar, and inſinuating nature. That the ſerpent before the fall was mild and gentle, and more familiar with man than any other animal; that it did not creep upon the ground, but went with its head and breaſt reared up, and advanced; that by frequently approaching our firſt parents, and playing and ſporting before them, it had gained their good liking and eſteem, is not only the ſentiment of Jews and Chriſtians, but what ſeems likewiſe to have ſome foundation in Scripture: for when God ſays, he would put enmity between the ſerpent and the woman, and between his ſeed and her

2 And the woman ſaid unto the ſerpent, We may eat of the fruit of the trees of the garden:

3 But of the fruit of the tree which is in the midſt of the garden, God hath ſaid, Ye ſhall not eat of it, neither ſhall ye touch it, leſt ye die.

4 And the ſerpent ſaid unto the woman, Ye ſhall not ſurely die.

5 For God doth know, that in the day ye eat thereof, then your eyes ſhall be opened; and ye ſhall be as Gods, knowing good and evil.

6 And when the woman ſaw that the tree was good for food, and that it was pleaſant to the eyes, and a tree to be deſired to make one wiſe; ſhe took of the fruit thereof, and did eat, and gave alſo unto her huſband with her, and he did eat.

7 And the eyes of them both were opened, and they knew that they were naked: and they ſewed fig-leaves together, and made themſelves aprons.

her ſeed, he ſeems to imply, that ſome ſort of kindneſs and intimacy ſubſiſted between them before. And hence we ſee the reaſon why the devil ſhould aſſume the form of a ſerpent, rather than that of any other creature. What ſort of ſerpent this was, we are not told in Scripture. Perhaps there is none now like it in all reſpects, being greatly degraded by the curſe of the Almighty. Probably it was of the kind of thoſe winged ſerpents, which are ſtill found in the eaſtern and ſouthern parts of the world, ſtiled fiery flying ſerpents, called ſeraphim; and termed fiery, not merely from their inflammatory venom, but becauſe they appeared ſhining like fire when they flew in the air. And from hence thoſe lofty angels, who were frequently employed by God to deliver his will to mankind, were called Seraphs, or Seraphim. The devil is therefore thought to have made uſe of this kind of ſerpent, that he might reſemble one of theſe angels of light.

Yea, hath God ſaid.] The particle yea is generally uſed as an addition to ſomething ſpoken before; and therefore looks more like the concluſion than the beginning of a diſcourſe, as the Jews themſelves have obſerved. This is therefore a confirmation of the above opinion, that the ſerpent, before he accoſted the woman, had transformed himſelf into the form of a ſeraphim, or angel of light, in order to paſs for one of the heavenly court, who came to congratulate our firſt parents on their happineſs in Paradiſe; and, not ſatisfied with what he had heard in heaven, was deſirous of knowing from the woman's own mouth, what particular command they had received with regard to the tree of knowledge. Upon this ſuppoſition the very abruptneſs of the ſpeech becomes exceeding natural, yea, or the words may be rendered, is it true indeed, that God hath ſaid ye ſhall not eat, &c. It muſt, however, be remembered, that Moſes relates only that part of the diſcourſe whereby the tempter accompliſhed his wicked deſign.—We ſee, in this ſhort narrative, the dangers of being expoſed to temptation, eſpecially when it comes, as it did to Eve, dreſſed up with all poſſible allurements. Curioſity of trying the pleaſures of ſenſe, the deſire of being our own maſters, and chuſing for ourſelves, together with the charming appearance of ſin, and our own ignorance and inexperience of its conſequences, are generally the firſt means of our being corrupted; notwithſtanding the good maxims and principles we have received from our parents and inſtructors.

4 And he ſaid unto the woman.] 'Tis generally thought that the devil ſpoke out of the ſerpent.—If it be aſked, why Eve was not afraid to hear a ſerpent ſpeak? Joſephus and others alledge, that all animals were endued with ſpeech and reaſon before the fall.—But other interpreters more plauſibly obſerve, that it is agreeable to the oriental ſtile, and to that of Moſes in particular, to give voice and ſpeech to all the parts of nature, and therefore underſtand him to mean here, that the ſerpent, by his actions, conveyed the ſame ideas to the mind of Eve, as words of the ſame import would have done. For example, ſhe ſeeing the ſerpent eat of the forbidden fruit without receiving any damage, thence concluded that the fruit was innocent, and was induced, by his example, to make trial of it.

6 When ſhe ſaw, &c.] She gazed upon the tempting fruit till her appetite was inflamed; its beautiful hue made her fancy it to be a moſt delicious food; and having now heard of its wonderful virtue, ſhe expected that her mind would be no leſs gratified than her palate, by an encreaſe of knowledge and wiſdom: all which is expreſſed in theſe words, good for food, pleaſant to the eyes, to be deſired to make one wiſe: upon this ſhe ſtretched forth her preſumptuous hand, took of the baleful fruit, and eat her own deſtruction.

——— She pluck'd, ſhe eat;
Earth felt the wound, and Nature from her ſeat,
Sighing thro' all her works, gave ſigns of woe,
That all was loſt.
——— He ſcrupled not to eat
Againſt his better knowledge——
Earth trembled from her entrails, as again
In pangs, and Nature gave a ſecond groan:
Sky lowr'd, and muttering thunder ſome ſad drops
Wept at compleating of the mortal ſin
Original.—— Paradiſe Loſt, b. 9.

Adam, by yielding to this temptation, accompliſhed the ſin that brought death and all our woes into the world. Hence we are able to ſolve that great difficulty which has ſo long puzzled the reaſon of mankind, viz. how moral and natural evil came into the world. Moral evil, we ſee, ſprung from man's abuſe of his natural liberty; and from the ſequel it will appear, that all natural evil is only a conſequence of the other.

7 And the eyes of them both were opened, &c.] In a far other ſenſe than that which the tempter had made them believe; their eyes were opened, but alas! only to behold their own folly and impiety: they now perceived their own nakedneſs, and the wretched degradation of their nature. By the expreſſion, they knew that they were naked, ſome interpreters underſtand their being ſtripped of that robe of glory, with which God had adorned their bodies, as a badge of their innocence, dominion, bliſs, and immortality. But the term nakedneſs is often uſed in Scripture to ſignify the turpitude of vice; and this ſeems the true import of it here; for after Adam had himſelf an apron to cover his body, he told his Maker that he was naked; that is, he was convinced that he was diveſted of his purity and innocence, that image of God, which was the true ornament of his nature. But the following words imply, that they were now ſenſible of the nakedneſs of their bodies, and accordingly ſewed fig-leaves together, and made themſelves aprons. Hence ſome imagine, that immediately upon the fall of man, the whole face of nature was changed, the air became inclement, and a cold ſhiver-

8 And they heard the voice of the Lord God walking in the garden in the cool of the day: and Adam and his wife hid themſelves from the preſence of the Lord God amongſt the trees of the garden.

9 And the Lord God called unto Adam, and ſaid unto him, Where art thou?

10 And he ſaid, I heard thy voice in the garden: and I was afraid, becauſe I was naked; and I hid myſelf.

11 And he ſaid, Who told thee that thou waſt naked? Haſt thou eaten of the tree whereof I commanded thee, that thou ſhouldeſt not eat?

12 And the man ſaid, The woman, whom thou gaveſt to be with me, ſhe gave me of the tree, and I did eat.

13 And the Lord God ſaid unto the woman, What is this that thou haſt done? And the woman ſaid, The ſerpent beguiled me, and I did eat.

14 And the Lord God ſaid unto the ſerpent, Becauſe thou haſt done this, thou art curſed above all cattle, and above every beaſt of the field: upon thy belly ſhalt thou go, and duſt ſhalt thou eat all the days of thy life.

15 And I will put enmity between thee and the woman, and between thy ſeed and her ſeed: it ſhall bruiſe thy head, and thou ſhalt bruiſe his heel.

16 Unto the woman he ſaid, I will greatly multiply thy ſorrow and thy conception; in ing ſeized their limbs, which made them feel their bodies to be naked, and ſtand in need of covering.

And they ſewed fig-leaves together.] They twiſted the young twigs of the fig-tree, with the leaves on them, which are very broad in the eaſtern countries. Le Clerc underſtands it, They wove a bower or ſhelter of the twigs of the fig-tree, wherein to hide themſelves in their guilty ſtate; for the ſame word that we tranſlate aprons, ſometimes ſignifies huts or ſylvan ſcenes.

8 And they heard the voice, &c.] The ſound of the majeſtic preſence, or glory of the Lord, approaching nearer and nearer to the place where they were.

In the cool of the day.] Heb. in the wind of the day, that is, towards the cool of the evening, as ſome underſtand it, when the gentle breezes riſe. But as this ſenſe is founded on the abſurd notion of their having fallen on the afternoon of the ſame day whereon they were created, ſome commentators underſtand it rather of the morning, when they awoke to a ſenſe of their guilt; and to this the Hebrew expreſſion, the wind of the day, agrees: for the morning likewiſe is fanned with cooling breezes; and then, as the poets ſpeak, the new-born day begins to breathe: hence, in the Song of Solomon, the morning is thus deſcribed, Until the day breathe, and the ſhadows flee away.

They hid themſelves, &c.] See the fatal change which ſin had occaſioned! While our firſt parents continued in a ſtate of innocence, they no ſooner heard the voice of the Lord coming towards them, than they ran to meet him, and with humble joy welcomed his gracious viſits; but now God was become a terror to them, and they a terror to themſelves. Their own conſciences painted their tranſgreſſions in the blackeſt colours; and as they had then no hopes of a future mediator, there remained nothing for them, but a certain fearful looking for of judgment, and fiery indignation, ready to devour them. It was therefore no wonder, that on their hearing the ſound of God's majeſtic preſence drawing nearer and nearer to them, they ſhould hide themſelves in the thickeſt and cloſeſt coverts of the groves to conceal themſelves from his ſight, not conſidering that all places and things are open to his all-ſeeing eye; and that darkneſs is to him even as the noon-day.

9 Where art thou?] Not that the Almighty needed to be informed, but to awaken the guilty offender to a ſenſe and confeſſion of his crime.

10 I was afraid, becauſe I was naked.] He does not ſay, I made myſelf an apron to cover myſelf becauſe I was naked; but, I was afraid, and hid myſelf, becauſe I was naked: which plainly ſhows the meaning of the expreſſion to be as we have explained it, ver. 7. that he was conſcious of guilt, and therefore dreaded the preſence of his Maker.

12, 13 And the man ſaid, the woman—and the woman ſaid, &c.] Here we ſee how natural it is for mankind to excuſe and palliate their guilt, by laying that load upon others with which they ought to charge themſelves.---Had our firſt parents been ingenuous, they would have confeſſed the ſource of their diſobedience to have been in themſelves only; for God made the mind of man free, and incapable of being compelled to act by any external force whatever: he may indeed be betrayed into evil, under the appearance of good; yet not even that, if he be ſufficiently upon his guard, but forced he cannot be; therefore ſays St. James, Every man is tempted, when he is drawn away of his own luſt and enticed, chap. i. 14.

14 And the Lord God ſaid unto the ſerpent, &c.] God, after convincing our firſt parents of the greatneſs of their tranſgreſſion, proceeds to pronounce the juſt ſentence of condemnation upon the ſerpent and them. But if we would underſtand the true ſenſe of the paſſage relating to the ſerpent, we muſt take off the veil, and conſider the ſpiritual meaning concealed under thoſe enigmatical expreſſions. For it muſt be remembered, that the earlieſt method of inſtructing mankind in moral and divine truths, was by alluſions and metaphors drawn from ſenſible objects. In this ſenſe the puniſhment relates to the devil, who had abuſed the woman under the figure of a ſerpent. And accordingly God declared, that as he and his aſſociates had been degraded from their primitive ſtate of happineſs, ſo this new inſtance of his malice, whereby he had introduced ſin and diſorder into the works of God in this lower world, ſhould in the end recoil upon himſelf, heap on him a double puniſhment, and plunge him deeper in wickedneſs and diſgrace; and that from the ſeed of the woman ſhould riſe a Saviour, which ſhould redeem loſt mankind, and trample under foot the kingdom of ſin and death. The laſt part of the ſentence was remarkably fulfilled in the perſon of our adorable Redeemer, who for this purpoſe was manifeſted, that he might deſtroy the works of the devil. And will be ſtill more remarkably fulfilled at the ſecond coming of Chriſt, when ſin and death ſhall be totally aboliſhed, and mankind reinſtated in the everlaſting poſſeſſion of a Paradiſe, far more glorious than that which they loſt.

15 I will put enmity.] Dr. Sherlock has ſufficiently proved that the words, it ſhall bruiſe thy head, refer to our Redeemer, who in the fulneſs of time was to triumph over Satan, and deſtroy the works of the devil.

16 And unto the woman he ſaid, &c.] Next to the ſerpent the woman, ſorrow thou ſhalt bring forth children: and thy deſire ſhall be to thy huſband, and he ſhall rule over thee.

17 And unto Adam he ſaid, Becauſe thou haſt hearkened unto the voice of thy wife, and haſt eaten of the tree of which I commanded thee, ſaying, Thou ſhalt not eat of it: curſed is the ground for thy ſake; in ſorrow ſhalt thou eat of it all the days of thy life.

18 Thorns alſo and thiſtles ſhall it bring forth to thee: and thou ſhalt eat the herb of the field.

19 In the ſweat of thy face ſhalt thou eat bread, till thou return unto the ground; for out of it waſt thou taken; for duſt thou art, and unto duſt ſhalt thou return.

20 And Adam called his wife's name Eve, becauſe ſhe was the mother of all living.

21 Unto Adam alſo and to his wife did the Lord God make coats of ſkins, and clothed them.

22 ¶ And the Lord God ſaid, Behold, the man is become as one of us, to know good and evil. And now leſt he put forth his hand, and take alſo of the tree of life, and eat, and live for ever;

23 Therefore the Lord God ſent him forth from the garden of Eden, to till the ground, from whence he was taken.

24 So he drove out the man: and he placed at the eaſt of the garden of Eden, cherubims, and a flaming ſword, which turned every way, to keep the way of the tree of life.

CHAP. IV.

1 The birth of Cain and Abel. 8 The murder of Abel. 11 The curſe of Cain. 19 Lamech and his two wives.

AND Adam knew Eve his wife: and ſhe conceived and bare Cain, and ſaid, I have gotten a man from the Lord.

2 And ſhe again bare his brother Abel. And Abel was a keeper of ſheep, but Cain was a tiller of the ground.

3 And in proceſs of time it came to paſs that Cain brought of the fruit of the ground an offering unto the Lord.

woman, who was next in order, becauſe ſhe was firſt in the tranſgreſſion, received her ſentence; which was ſorrow in conception, pain in child-birth, and conſtant ſubjection to her huſband's will.

17 And unto Adam he ſaid, &c.] The puniſhment of Adam conſiſted in a life of perpetual toil and ſlavery. In this the wiſdom, goodneſs, and juſtice of God is very conſpicuous; for by decreeing, that toil and drudgery ſhould be the conſequence of departing from an eaſy and rational obedience, the earth, which there was now a neceſſity for his leaving ſoon, would become leſs deſirable to him: and thoſe paſſions and appetites which had been the cauſe of his deſtruction, ſubdued by hard labour and continual toil. Thus, upon the whole, we have much more reaſon to admire the goodneſs of God, who out of evil brings forth good, than to repine at the ſeverity of his juſtice.

20 And Adam called his wife's name Eve, &c.] She was firſt called Iſcha, woman; but now, in gratitude to his Maker, who in his wrath for their offence had remembered mercy, he called her Eve, the mother of life, as the whole race of mankind was to ſpring from her.

21 God made them coats of ſkins.] That is, God taught them to make themſelves garments, by the ſecret influence of his providence. It may be aſked how they came by theſe ſkins of beaſts: ſome think that they were the ſkins of the beaſts which they offered in ſacrifice to God, who inſtituted that ceremony of religion immediately after the fall, the better to repreſent to our firſt parents their guilt, and that the promiſed ſeed ſhould redeem their poſterity by ſhedding his blood; though the ſenſe will be eaſy, if we make the ſkins not the covering, but the thing covered; meaning that God taught them to make coats for their ſkins, or to cover their ſkins: for the word ſignifies cutis, as well as pellis, as in Exod. xxii. 27. and is ſo underſtood here by the Chaldee paraphraſe, fecit veſtimenta honoris ſuper cutem carnis ſuæ.

22 Behold the man is become as one of us, &c.] Moſt commentators underſtand this as a ſarcaſtical or ironical expreſſion, to reprove the folly and arrogance of our firſt parents, in thinking to increaſe their knowledge, without the permiſſion of their Maker.

And now leſt, &c.] This is an elliptick kind of ſpeech; Let us turn him out (or ſome ſuch words being underſtood) leſt he put forth his hand, &c. The true import of the expreſſion is, that our firſt parents having already experienced how vain it was to aſpire after that knowledge which God judged improper for man, ſo to convince them that their life depended intirely on the Divine Power, and not upon ſecond cauſes, God was pleaſed to remove them from the tree of life.

23 To till the ground from whence he was taken.] He was ſent back to the place where he was firſt formed, there to till the earth whence he took his original.---Thus we ſee, as was before obſerved, Adam was not created in Eden, but on a neighbouring mountain.

24 So he drove out the man.] The word in the original, which we tranſlate drove, implies divorced; and therefore the true import is, that God put him away from his preſence, as a prince baniſhes his rebellious ſubjects.

And he placed in the eaſt of Eden cherubims and a flaming ſword, &c.] God placed at the entrance of Eden a guard of angels, ſome of which aſſumed bodies of fire, which moving in the air, ſeemed to flaſh on every ſide, and reſembled the vibrations of a flaming ſword.

Notes on the Fourth Chapter.

Ver. 1. I have gotten a man from the Lord.] That is, the promiſed Meſſiah, which ſhe imagined would have been her firſt-born: the name Cain ſignifies acquiſition. Little ſuſpecting that, inſtead of a deliverer, ſhe had brought forth a murderer, who would involve her in ſorrow and wretchedneſs.

2 His brother Abel.] The word Abel ſignifies vanity, and according

4 And Abel, he alſo brought of the firſtlings of his flock, and of the fat thereof. And the Lord had reſpect unto Abel and to his offering:

5 But unto Cain, and to his offering, he had not reſpect. And Cain was very wroth, and his countenance fell.

6 And the Lord ſaid unto Cain, Why art thou wroth? and why is thy countenance fallen?

7 If thou doeſt well, ſhalt thou not be accepted? and if thou doeſt not well, ſin lieth at the door. And unto thee ſhall be his deſire, and thou ſhalt rule over him.

8 And Cain talked with Abel his brother: and it came to paſs when they were in the field, that Cain roſe up againſt Abel his brother, and ſlew him.

9 ¶ And the Lord ſaid unto Cain, Where is Abel thy brother? And he ſaid, I know not: am I my brother's keeper?

10 And he ſaid, What haſt thou done? the voice of thy brother's blood crieth unto me from the ground.

11 And now art thou curſed from the earth, which hath opened her mouth to receive thy brother's blood from thy hand.

12 When thou tilleſt the ground, it ſhall not henceforth yield unto thee her ſtrength. A fugitive and a vagabond ſhalt thou be in the earth.

13 And Cain ſaid unto the Lord, My puniſhment is greater than I can bear.

14 Behold, thou haſt driven me out this day from the face of the earth: and from thy face ſhall I be hid, and I ſhall be a fugitive and a vagabond in the earth, and it ſhall come to paſs, that every one that findeth me, ſhall ſlay me.

15 And the Lord ſaid unto him, Therefore whoſoever ſlayeth Cain, vengeance ſhall be taken on him ſeven-fold. And the Lord ſet a mark upon Cain, leſt any finding him, ſhould kill him.

16 ¶ And Cain went out from the preſence of the Lord, and dwelt in the land of Nod, on the eaſt of Eden.

cording to ſome, was given him as an intimation of the little eſteem his mother had for him in compariſon of her firſt-born.

4, 5 And God had reſpect unto Abel, and to his offering---but unto Cain, &c.] The foundation of the diſtinction which the Almighty made between them, conſiſted in the eſſential difference of their moral characters. The one was ſincere and upright, the other falſe and diſhoneſt. The writer to the Hebrews directs us to the true ground of the diſtinction, By faith Abel offered a more excellent ſacrifice than Cain: that is, he preſented his offering with pious love, humility and gratitude to God, founded on a lively faith of the divine preſence, and ſenſe of the divine goodneſs: but Cain not accompanying his ſacrifice with ſincerity of heart, found no acceptance with his Creator.

And Cain was very wroth.] He viewed his brother with a jealous or envious eye, and even conceived the baſe deſign of deſtroying him. Some think Cain was jealous of Abel, leſt he ſhould ſupplant him in the promiſe of being the ſeed of the woman that ſhould bruiſe the ſerpent's head.

And his countenance fell.] He did not merely look dejected through grief, but wore a ſullen gloomy aſpect, like thoſe who meditate revenge.

6 And the Lord ſaid unto Cain.] Cain is hereby informed, that the conduct of God was altogether impartial, and that he himſelf might have merited that favour which was ſhown to Abel.

7 If thou doeſt well, &c.] This paſſage refutes the arguments of thoſe who maintain the doctrine of fatality, or abſolute predeſtination.

Unto thee ſhall be his deſire.] That is, he is ſtill thy younger brother, and ſhall be ſubject unto thee.

8 And Cain talked with Abel his brother, &c.] In the original it is, Cain ſaid to Abel, where there ſeems to be a deficiency. The LXX and Samaritan verſion ſupply this defect, by adding, Let us go into the fields. Be this as it may, the true import is, that Cain ſpoke to his brother in a friendly manner, and, with diſſembled love, enticed him to walk with him into the fields; and after drawing him to ſome diſtance from his father's tents, fell upon him and ſlew him.

9 Am I my brother's keeper?] Was he committed, like a little child, to my care, to look after him? Rage made him rude, even to his Maker.

10 The voice of thy brother's blood crieth.] In the Hebrew it is bloods, in the plural number; becauſe, ſay the Jewiſh doctors, by killing Abel he killed the poſterity which were in his loins. The giving a voice to blood is a noble metaphorical expreſſion, and ſtrongly marks the enormity of the heinous ſin of murder.

12 A fugitive, &c.] The LXX render it, Thou ſhalt go about groaning and trembling; that is, full of anguiſh in thy mind, and with a continual ſhaking in thy body.

13 My puniſhment, &c.] Or, as the words may be rendered, My ſin is too great to be forgiven; and ſo Le Clerc and others have rendered it. But ſome Hebrew expoſitors take it by way of interrogation; Is my iniquity too great to be forgiven?

15 And the Lord ſet a mark upon Cain.] Various have been the opinions with regard to the mark which God ſet upon Cain. Some ſay, the Almighty ſtigmatized him in the forehead with a letter of his name. Others, that he looked frightfully; that his head ſhook continually, or that he had a trembling in his whole body; that his face was blaſted with lightning from the Shecinah, or Divine Preſence. But if we conſider, that the word, which we render a mark, ſignifies alſo a ſign, the ſenſe of the paſſage may be rendered thus, God appointed to Cain a ſign or token, to aſſure him, that no one ſhould kill him. It muſt here be remembered, that the world was now 128 or 130 years old, and abounded with people, deſcended from the ſons and daughters of Adam, mentioned chap. v. 4. Mr. Whiſton, by a moderate computation, ſhews, that the number of mankind, in the 130th year of the world, amounted to upwards of four thouſand.

16 And Cain went out, &c.] That is, was driven, by the force of the ſentence pronounced by his Maker, from the Divine Glory or Shecinah, which he never after enjoyed.

And

17 And Cain knew his wife, and ſhe conceived and bare Enoch; and he builded a city, and called the name of the city, after the name of his ſon, Enoch.

18 And unto Enoch was born Irad: and Irad begat Mahujael; and Mahujael begat Methuſael; and Methuſael begat Lamech.

19 ¶ And Lamech took unto him two wives: the name of the one was Adah, and the name of the other Zillah.

20 And Adah bare Jabel: he was the father of ſuch as dwell in tents, and of ſuch as have cattle.

21 And his brother's name was Jubal: he was the father of all ſuch as handle the harp and organ.

22 And Zillah, ſhe alſo bare Tubal-cain, an inſtructor of every artificer in braſs and iron: and the ſiſter of Tubal-cain was Naamah.

23 And Lamech ſaid unto his wives, Adah and Zillah, Hear my voice, ye wives of Lamech, hearken unto my ſpeech: for I have ſlain a man to my wounding, and a young man to my hurt.

24 If Cain ſhall be avenged ſeven-fold, truly Lamech ſeventy and ſeven-fold.

25 ¶ And Adam knew his wife again, and ſhe bare a ſon, and called his name Seth: for God, ſaid ſhe, hath appointed me another ſeed inſtead of Abel, whom Cain ſlew.

26 And to Seth, to him alſo there was born a ſon; and he called his name Enos: then began men to call upon the name of the Lord.

CHAP. V.

1 The genealogy, age, and death of the patriarchs from Adam unto Noah. 24 The godlineſs and tranſlation of Enoch.

THIS is the book of the generations of Adam: in the day that God created man, in the likeneſs of God made he him:

2 Male and female created he them; and bleſſed them, and called their name Adam, in the day when they were created.

3 ¶ And Adam lived an hundred and thirty years, and begat a ſon in his own likeneſs, after his image; and called his name Seth.

And dwelt in the land of Nod.] In the land of vagabonds, a name given to the land where he was baniſhed to, from his long wandering up and down in it like a vagabond.

17 Cain knew his wife.] Cain muſt have married one of his ſiſters, which was then lawful, becauſe abſolutely neceſſary. But that reaſon having ceaſed, and conſiderations of a public nature rendering marriage with ſuch near relations utterly inconvenient, ſuch connections are juſtly prohibited by the laws of God and man.

And built a city.] Not till he had a numerous progeny to people it, and conſequently in his old age.

23 And Lamech ſaid unto his wives, &c.] This paſſage has greatly perplexed the commentators, both with regard to the ſenſe and occaſion of it. Some imagine it to be a kind of hymn compoſed by Lamech, and that Moſes preſerved it as a ſpecimen of his poetry, wherein, puffed up with the muſical inventions of his ſon Jubal, he boaſts before his wives what mighty feats he would perform; and accordingly they render the words in the following manner: "Let a man but lift his hand to wound "me; yea, ſhould a man much younger than myſelf, but offer "to hurt me, I would immediately deſtroy him. If God ſet "ſuch a great value upon my great anceſtor Cain, as to threaten "ſeven-fold vengeance on any one who ſhould put him to "death, ſurely Lamech, who is a much greater man, ſhall be "avenged ſeventy and ſeven-fold."

Mr. Shuckford gives a very different turn to this famous ſpeech. He ſuppoſes that the deſcendants of Cain had lived a long time in fear of the family of Adam, leſt they ſhould attempt to avenge on them the death of Abel; and that Lamech, in order to convince his wives of the unreaſonableneſs of thoſe fears, argued with them in the following manner: "Why ſhould we "make our lives uneaſy with thoſe groundleſs ſuſpicions? We "have not killed a man, nor offered any injury to our brethren "of the other family. Cain, indeed, our anceſtor, killed Abel; "but God was pleaſed ſo far to forgive his ſin, as to threaten "to take ſeven-fold vengeance on any one that ſhould kill him: "if ſo, ſurely they muſt expect a much greater puniſhment who "ſhall preſume to kill any of us: if Cain ſhall be avenged "ſeven-fold, ſurely Lamech, or any of his innocent family, "ſeventy and ſeven-fold." Accordingly he reads the words interrogatively; "Have I ſlain a man to my wounding, or a "young man to my hurt?" That is, I have not killed a man that I ſhould be wounded, nor a young man that I ſhould be hurt. This interpretation is agreeable both to the Chaldea paraphraſe and the Arabic verſion.

26 Then began men to call upon the name of the Lord.] This paſſage has been variouſly rendered. Some think it implied, that men began now to call more frequently on the name of the Lord, and to reſort to the places ſet apart for religious duties. Some will have the true meaning to be, that men now began to call themſelves by the name of God; that is, they now began, in an impious manner, to aſſume his titles and uſurp divine honours. Others believe, that the following is the true ſenſe of the paſſage: "Then began men [i. e. the children of Seth] to "ſeparate themſelves from the corrupt poſterity of Cain, and "dedicate themſelves to the ſervice of God."

Notes on the Fifth Chapter.

Ver. 1. This is the book.] That is, the catalogue.

2 Called their name Adam.] The common name to both ſexes, like homo in Latin.

3 An hundred and thirty years.] This was his age when Seth was born; but we cannot from hence infer, that he had no children but Cain and Abel till now.

In his own likeneſs.] More particularly reſembling him than his other ſons, not only in his outward features, but alſo in wiſdom and goodneſs.

Called his name Seth.] He gives an account of thoſe deſcended

4 And the days of Adam, after he had begotten Seth, were eight hundred years: and he begat ſons and daughters.

5 And all the days that Adam lived, were nine hundred and thirty years: and he died.

6 ¶ And Seth lived an hundred and five years, and begat Enos.

7 And Seth lived after he begat Enos eight hundred and ſeven years, and begat ſons and daughters.

8 And all the days of Seth were nine hundred and twelve years: and he died.

9 ¶ And Enos lived ninety years, and begat Cainan.

10 And Enos lived after he begat Cainan eight hundred and fifteen years, and begat ſons and daughters.

11 And all the days of Enos were nine hundred and five years: and he died.

12 ¶ And Cainan lived ſeventy years, and begat Mahalaleel.

13 And Cainan lived after he begat Mahalaleel eight hundred and forty years, and begat ſons and daughters.

14 And all the days of Cainan were nine hundred and ten years: and he died.

15 ¶ And Mahalaleel lived ſixty and five years, and begat Jared.

16 And Mahalaleel lived after he begat Jared eight hundred and thirty years, and begat ſons and daughters.

17 And all the days of Mahalaleel were eight hundred ninety and five years: and he died.

18 ¶ And Jared lived an hundred ſixty and two years, and he begat Enoch.

19 And Jared lived after he begat Enoch eight hundred years, and begat ſons and daughters.

20 And all the days of Jared were nine hundred ſixty and two years: and he died.

21 ¶ And Enoch lived ſixty and five years, and begat Methuſelah.

22 And Enoch walked with God after he begat Methuſelah three hundred years, and begat ſons and daughters.

23 And all the days of Enoch were three hundred ſixty and five years.

24 And Enoch walked with God, and he was not; for God took him.

25 ¶ And Methuſelah lived an hundred eighty and ſeven years, and begat Lamech.

26 And Methuſelah lived after he begat Lamech ſeven hundred eighty and two years, and begat ſons and daughters.

27 And all the days of Methuſelah were nine hundred ſixty and nine years: and he died.

28 ¶ And Lamech lived an hundred eighty and two years, and begat a ſon.

29 And he called his name Noah, ſaying, from Seth alone, not of the poſterity of Cain, becauſe in Seth the poſterity of Adam were preſerved, when all the children of Cain periſhed in the deluge.

4 And he begat ſons and daughters.] After the birth of Seth he begat more children (as probably he had done many before) whoſe names are not here recorded; becauſe we muſt remember, that Moſes ſets down only that race of men from whom Noah, and Abraham, and the Meſſiah were derived.

5 Lived nine hundred and thirty years.] Adam, having ſeen a numerous poſterity iſſue from his loins, after a life of 930 years, paid that natural debt to which he had, by his diſobedience, ſubjected himſelf and them. The prodigious age of the antediluvians has induced ſome commentators to ſuſpect, that the years mentioned by Moſes were only lunar, conſiſting each of about thirty days, imagining that it was impoſſible for the human frame to have ſubſiſted for ſo long a period. But this is abſurd to the laſt degree; for Methuſelah himſelf, according to this computation, would have lived little more than 80 years; and ſome of the perſons mentioned in this chapter muſt have had children at ſix years of age. The years therefore mentioned by Moſes were ſolar years, conſiſting of 365 days. The natural cauſes of this primæval longevity cannot be determined; but doubtleſs the principal effect muſt be aſcribed to the efficiency of the Divine will, and was wiſely ordered by Providence, that the world might be ſooner peopled, knowledge and religion ſooner propagated, and arts and ſciences ſooner brought to perfection. Let thoſe curious enquirers, who queſtion the truth of every fact which they are not able to explain, aſſign the reaſon and explain the cauſe, why ſeveral irrational beings outlive the ſons of men, why the oaks of the foreſt ſtand through ages, while the human body, which is of much more value, ſeldom exceeds the period of threeſcore years and ten.

21 Begat Methuſelah.] Who lived to the very year of the deluge; whence it is conjectured that Enoch, being a prophet (ſee Jude, ver. 14.) and foreſeeing the deſtruction that was coming upon the earth immediately after the death of this ſon, gave him the name of Methuſelah, which imports, He dies, and the emiſſion, viz. of waters, enſues. See Bochart. Phaleg.

22 Enoch walked with God.] That is, he was ſtedfaſt in a religious courſe of life; he perſevered in obeying the commands of his Creator to the end of his days. It may likewiſe intimate, that he was admitted to a happy intercourſe with God, with whom he walked, and familiarly converſed, which agrees with his character as a prophet.

24 And he was not, for God took him.] He was not any longer among men in this world: he was tranſlated into heaven without dying. By this extraordinary event God was pleaſed to comfort virtuous men in that early age, with the ſure and certain hope of a better life, and joys unſpeakable in the kingdom of heaven.

29 He called his name Noah.] Which ſignifies reſt or refreſh-

30 And Lamech lived after he begat Noah five hundred ninety and five years, and begat ſons and daughters.

31 And all the days of Lamech were ſeven hundred ſeventy and ſeven years: and he died.

32 And Noah was five hundred years old: and Noah begat Shem, Ham, and Japheth.

3 And the Lord ſaid, My ſpirit ſhall not always ſtrive with man, for that he alſo is fleſh: yet his days ſhall be an hundred and twenty years.

4 There were giants in the earth in thoſe days; and alſo after that, when the ſons of God came in unto the daughters of men, and they bare children to them: the ſame became mighty men, which were of old, men of renown.

ment, and was given by Lamech to his ſon, becauſe he was to be a comfort and relief in their laborious employments, and ſo the Hebrew interpreters expound it. If we refer the laſt words of the verſe, the ground which the Lord hath curſed, to the deluge, which Enoch had foretold (ſee Jude, ver. 14.) then Noah may be called their comforter, as he was to be the reſtorer of the deſolated world.

32 Noah was five hundred years old, &c.] He had probably many children before that age, but theſe only are mentioned, becauſe they bear a part in the following hiſtory. Though Japhet is generally put laſt, yet he was the eldeſt of the three brothers, ſee chap. ix. 24. and chap. x. 21.

Notes on the Sixth Chapter.

Ver. 1. Men began to multiply.] Men may be limited to the children of Cain, who now began to be very numerous. If we conſider how long the antediluvians generally lived, that they had children as early, and left off as late in proportion as in the preſent age, the number of inhabitants before the flood will appear to be immenſe. Several learned men have proved, from very moderate calculations, that there were at leaſt one hundred thouſand millions of ſouls, that is, near twenty times as many as the number of its preſent inhabitants.

And daughters were born, &c.] That is, in great numbers.

2 The ſons of God, &c.] Theſe words are differently interpreted.—This phraſe in the New Teſtament ſignifies the ſons of virtue and piety; but here the word Elohim, which we tranſlate God, may either ſignify the judges and magiſtrates, who are God's vicegerents, or the princes and great men who are alſo called gods, Pſalm lxxxii. 1, and 6. And then the meaning is, Theſe great perſons were taken with the beauty of the daughters of men, that is, of the meaner ſort, and took by force not only the virgins, but the wives of whom they pleaſed. Some commentators by the ſons of God underſtand the children of Seth, who had ſeparated themſelves from the reſt of mankind, and dedicated their days to the ſervice of their Maker, and were called the children of God, becauſe they lived on the holy mountain, and joined with the angels in rehearſing the praiſes of their great Creator. The eaſtern Chriſtians add, that they lived entirely on the fruits of the earth, abſtained from all injuſtice, and that their common oath was by the blood of Abel, for which they cried to God for vengeance on the ſons of men.

The daughters of men, &c.] That is, the daughters of Cain, who were abandoned to all kinds of vice. Thus the ſenſe of the verſe will be, that the children of Seth contracted an alliance with the daughters of Cain, and joined in the univerſal corruption of mankind.

3 My ſpirit ſhall not always ſtrive with man.] That is, I will not ſuffer my laws and admonitions to be any longer trampled upon. God always conſiders men as moral agents, and therefore he makes uſe of every method that has any tendency to convert a rational being from the evil of his way. This the Scripture elegantly calls drawing them with the cords of a man, with the bands of love, Hoſ. xi. 4.—Theſe are the ſtrivings of his ſpirit, exerting itſelf in continual endeavours to reclaim mankind from their extreme folly and perverſeneſs. And when all his efforts prove ineffectual, he then proceeds to puniſh them.

His days ſhall be an hundred and twenty years.] Though the wickedneſs of man is great, I will allow him one hundred and twenty years to repent in: during which time the world was not without a preacher of righteouſneſs; conſequently the Almighty forewarned Noah of the terrible cataſtrophe of the earth, by the deluge, one hundred and twenty years before it happened. And had not that ſtupid race of mortals been ſo far immerſed in ſin, as to be inſenſible of their danger, they might have prevented that terrible judgment which afterwards overwhelmed them: but they deſpiſed all the gentle warnings of their Maker, and turned the doctrine of repentance preached by Noah into ridicule.

4 There were giants, &c.] Tyrants who filled the world with rapine, murders, and all manner of wickedneſs. They were alſo diſtinguiſhed by their gigantic bulk and ſtature.

6 And God repented.] This expreſſion muſt not be underſtood in the literal ſenſe, for God is not the ſon of man that he ſhould repent; but is a figurative expreſſion, and adapted to our apprehenſions. The meaning therefore is, that as all the ſons of men were corrupt, and turned a deaf ear to his preacher, the whom I have created, from the face of the earth, both man and beaſt, and the creeping thing, and the fowls of the air: for it repenteth me that I have made them.

8 But Noah found grace in the eyes of the Lord.

9 ¶ Theſe are the generations of Noah: Noah was a juſt man, and perfect in his generations, and Noah walked with God.

10 And Noah begat three ſons, Shem, Ham, and Japheth.

11 The earth alſo was corrupt before God; and the earth was filled with violence.

12 And God looked upon the earth, and behold, it was corrupt: for all fleſh had corrupted his way upon the earth.

13 And God ſaid unto Noah, The end of all fleſh is come before me; for the earth is filled with violence through them: and behold, I will deſtroy them with the earth.

14 ¶ Make thee an ark of gopher wood: rooms ſhalt thou make in the ark, and ſhalt pitch it within and without with pitch.

15 And this is the faſhion which thou ſhalt make it of: The length of the ark ſhall be three hundred cubits, the breadth of it fifty cubits, and the height of it thirty cubits.

16 A window ſhalt thou make to the ark, and in a cubit ſhalt thou finiſh it above; and the door of the ark ſhalt thou ſet in the ſide thereof: with lower, ſecond, and third ſtories ſhalt thou make it.

17 And behold I, even I, do bring a flood of waters upon the earth, to deſtroy all fleſh, wherein is the breath of life, from under heaven: and every thing that is in the earth ſhall die.

18 But with thee will I eſtabliſh my covenant: and thou ſhalt come into the ark; thou, and thy ſons, and thy wife, and thy ſons wives with thee.

19 And of every living thing of all fleſh, two of every ſort ſhalt thou bring into the ark, to keep them alive with thee: they ſhall be male and female.

20 Of fowls after their kind, and of cattle after their kind, of every creeping thing of the earth after his kind: two of every ſort ſhall come unto thee, to keep them alive.

21 And take thou unto thee of all food that is eaten, and thou ſhalt gather it to thee; and it ſhall be for food for thee, and for them.

22 Thus did Noah; according to all that God commanded him, ſo did he.

CHAP. VII.

1 Noah with his family, &c. enter into the ark.
17 The beginning, increaſe, and continuance of the flood.

AND the Lord ſaid unto Noah, Come thou, and all thy houſe into the ark: for thee have I ſeen righteous before me in this generation.

2 Of every clean beaſt thou ſhalt take to thee by ſevens, the male and his female: and of beaſts that are not clean by two, the male and his female.

Almighty was determined to deſtroy man whom he had created. Some of our modern contemners of religion have aſſerted, that the deſtroying of the beaſts, together with mankind, was an act of injuſtice: but ſuch would do well to remember, that this was only recalling that temporary breath which God himſelf had given them. And as the recalling it at that time ſerved to render this example of divine ſeverity againſt ſin the more ſignal and tremendous to future ages, we may venture to affirm, anſwered the purpoſes of God's moral government, even better than if he had ſaved them by a miracle from the common wreck.

13 The end of all fleſh, &c.] I am determined to make an end of, that is, to deſtroy all mankind.

With the earth.] Or as it is in the margin, from the earth.

14 An ark of gopher-wood.] A broad-bottomed veſſel, like a cheſt, to float upon the waters. Gopher-wood is ſuppoſed to have been the cypreſs-tree, which abounded in the plains where Noah built the ark.

15 The length of the ark three hundred cubits, &c.] The common cubit, which was formerly ſuppoſed equal to eighteen of our inches, is now allowed to contain almoſt twenty-two inches; according to which meaſure the ark muſt have been about 547 Engliſh feet long, 91 broad, and 54 high. See Univerſal Hiſt. vol. I.—So that it was large enough for the purpoſes intended; namely, that of ſaving a remnant of all creatures on the face of the earth.

16 In a cubit ſhalt thou finiſh it above.] That is, with a ſhelving roof raiſed a cubit in the middle.

17 Deſtroy all fleſh.] This plainly proves the deluge was univerſal.

19 Two of every ſort.] That is, of unclean beaſts.

Notes on the Seventh Chapter.

Ver. 2. Of every clean beaſt.] Some are of opinion, that though with reſpect to men's food, the diſtinction of clean and unclean was not known before the law, yet with reſpect to ſacrifice it was; for the rite of ſacrifice being inſtituted before the flood, this difference alſo of beaſts was before it. Others imagine Adam had directions from God for this, as alſo for ſacrificing, which directions he tranſmitted down to his poſterity.

By ſevens.] That is, ſeven pair, as appears by the addition of male and female.

11 In

3 Of fowls alſo of the air by ſevens, the male and the female; to keep ſeed alive upon the face of all the earth.

4 For yet ſeven days, and I will cauſe it to rain upon the earth forty days and forty nights: and every living ſubſtance that I have made, will I deſtroy from off the face of the earth.

5 And Noah did according unto all that the LORD commanded him.

6 And Noah was ſix hundred years old, when the flood of waters was upon the earth.

7 And Noah went in, and his ſons, and his wife, and his ſons wives with him into the ark, becauſe of the waters of the flood.

8 Of clean beaſts, and of beaſts that are not clean, and of fowls, and of every thing that creepeth upon the earth,

9 There went in two and two unto Noah into the ark, the male and the female, as God had commanded Noah.

10 And it came to paſs after ſeven days, that the waters of the flood were upon the earth.

11 In the ſix hundredth year of Noah's life, in the ſecond month, the ſeventeeth day of the month, the ſame day were all the fountains of the great deep broken up, and the windows of heaven were opened.

12 And the rain was upon the earth forty days, and forty nights.

13 In the ſelf-ſame day entered Noah, and Shem, and Ham, and Japheth, the ſons of Noah, and Noah's wife, and the three wives of his ſons with them, into the ark:

14 They, and every beaſt after his kind, and all the cattle after their kind, and every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth after his kind, and every fowl after his kind, every bird of every ſort:

15 And they went in unto Noah into the ark; two and two of all fleſh, wherein is the breath of life.

16 And they that went in, went in male and female of all fleſh, as God had commanded him: and the LORD ſhut him in.

17 ¶ And the flood was forty days upon the earth: and the waters increaſed, and bare up the ark, and it was lift up above the earth.

18 And the waters prevailed, and were increaſed greatly upon the earth: and the ark went upon the face of the waters.

19 And the waters prevailed exceedingly upon the earth: and all the high hills that were under the whole heaven, were covered.

20 Fifteen cubits upward did the waters prevail; and the mountains were covered.

21 And all fleſh died that moved upon the earth, both of fowl, and of cattle, and of beaſt, and of every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth, and every man:

22 All in whoſe noſtrils was the breath of life, of all that was in the dry-land, died.

23 And every living ſubſtance was deſtroyed, which was upon the face of the ground; both man, and cattle, and the creeping things, and the fowl of the heaven; and they were deſtroyed from the earth: and Noah only remained alive, and they that were with him in the ark.

24 And the waters prevailed upon the earth an hundred and fifty days.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The waters aſſwage. 18 Noah goeth forth of the ark, 20 buildeth an altar, and offereth ſacrifice. 21 God's promiſe to curſe the earth no more.

11 In the ſecond month.] That is, in October; for anciently, before the Iſraelites came out of Egypt, the year began about the middle of September.

The ſeventeenth day.] About the beginning of our November.

The fountains of the great deep.] By the great deep ſome underſtand the ocean; but others with more reaſon, the ſubterraneous abyſs or vaſt collection of waters in the bowels of the earth. So, by breaking up the fountains of the great deep, we muſt underſtand, either the burſting of the waters, lodged in the bowels of the earth, through the ſurface of the ground, or the ſea riſing in prodigious waves, and overflowing the earth.

And the windows of heaven, &c.] Or, it may be rendered, The cataracts of heaven.—Thus the deluge was owing to two cauſes, the breaking up of the fountains of the great deep, and opening the windows of heaven. Though ſome philoſophers have not been able to conceive how the deluge was effected by natural cauſes, we apprehend we may, not unphiloſophically, reſolve it into the Divine Power, which might on this occaſion ſo far controul (no greater a miracle than that of continuing) the uſual courſe of nature, as to effect its purpoſe.

17 And the flood was forty days, &c.] That is, forty days without intermiſſion.

19 And all the high hills were covered.] Which plainly proves the deluge to have been univerſal; for the waters prevailed fifteen cubits, or twenty-two foot and a half above the higheſt mountains.

24 The waters prevailed an hundred and fifty days.] Whatever ſhort intermiſſions there might be, yet the rain continued 150 days.

AND God remembered Noah, and every living thing, and all the cattle that was with him in the ark: and God made a wind to pass over the earth, and the waters assuaged.

2 The fountains also of the deep, and the windows of heaven were stopped, and the rain from heaven was restrained;

3 And the waters returned from off the earth continually: and after the end of the hundred and fifty days the waters were abated:

4 And the ark rested in the seventh month, on the seventeeth day of the month, upon the mountains of Ararat.

5 And the waters decreased continually until the tenth month: in the tenth month, on the first day of the month, were the tops of the mountains seen.

6 And it came to pass at the end of forty days, that Noah opened the window of the ark which he had made:

7 And he sent forth a raven, which went forth to and fro, until the waters were dried up from off the earth.

8 Also he sent forth a dove from him, to see if the waters were abated from off the face of the ground;

Notes on the Eighth Chapter.

Ver. 1. God remembered, &c.] That is, God took compassion upon Noah; he remembered the poor remains of his creation, now floating on the enormous billows of an ocean without a shore: he therefore caused a drying north wind to pass over the earth, he restrained the fountains of the great deep, and closed the windows of heaven.

4 And the ark rested in the seventh month.] Of the year, not of the flood. That is, in the beginning of May, when the summer was coming on apace, and the heat of the sun would help to carry off the waters, and warm the earth which had been chilled by the flood. Thus we see that the benevolent Creator was always mindful of the creatures of his hand; he not only abated the waters of the flood, and commanded the seas to retire to their ancient bounds; but did this at a time when the sun was advancing to the northern tropic, and consequently his prolific rays exerted their greatest influence on the country where the ark rested.

Upon the mountains of Ararat.] There have been various opinions with regard to the true situation of the mountain where the ark rested; but the most consonant to reason is that which places it towards the middle of Armenia, near the river Araxes or Aras, above 280 miles distant from Al-Judi, to the north-east. Jerom seems to have been the first, who hath given us any account of this tradition. "Ararat," says he, "is a champaign "country, incredibly fertile, through which the Araxes flows "at the foot of mount Taurus, which extends so far; so that "by the mountains of Ararat, whereon the ark rested, we are "not to understand the mountains of Armenia in general, but "the highest mountains of Taurus, which overlook the plains "of Ararat." Since his time, its situation in this place has been remarked by several other writers; and all the travellers into those parts mention no other mount of Ararat than what the Armenians called Masis. It stands about twelve leagues to the south-east of Erivan, a small city in the Upper Armenia. This mountain is encompassed by several little hills; on the tops of which are found many ruins, thought to have been the buildings of the first men, who feared for a time to descend into the plains. It stands by itself in form of a sugar-loaf, in the midst of a very extensive plain, and separated from the other mountains of Armenia, which make a long chain. It consists of two hills, of which the lesser is more sharp and pointed; but the larger, which is that of the ark, lies north-east of it, and rears its head far above the neighbouring mountains. The Armenians have a tradition, that on the summit of this mountain there is still a considerable part of the ark remaining, though it is impossible to get to the top of it. Universal Hist.

But it may not be amiss to answer one objection which has been made to the preceding account; namely, That the face of the earth, before the deluge, was smooth, regular, and uniform, without mountains, and without a sea; and that the rocks and hills which now appear were formed by the violent concussions which happened, and are indeed nothing else but the ruins and fragments of the old world. But this objection is removed by the testimony of Divine Wisdom, who, in declaring her own pre-existence, says, I was set up from everlasting, from the beginning, or ever the earth was; when there was no depth, I was brought forth; when there were no fountains abounding with water; before the mountains were settled. It is a groundless imagination to ascribe the origin of mountains, and other lofty eminences, to a certain disruption of the earth, at the time of the deluge; when God, from the very beginning of things, designed them for the most excellent purposes: for besides the awful appearance they make, and thence fill the mind with just notions of God's tremendous majesty, which a smooth surface will not do, they yield food for several animals formed by nature to live upon them, and supply us from their surface with many wholesome plants. But these are but a small part of their use. By condensing the vapours they become the reservoirs of fountains and rivers, from whence the very plains and valleys derive their fertility. Nay, we may appeal to the very sense of mankind, whether a land, diversified with hills and valleys is not more pleasant and beautiful, than an uniform flat, which pleases the eye only when viewed from the top of a hill; for what was the Tempe of Thessaly, so celebrated by the ancients for its pleasantness, but a valley, divided by a river, and terminated by hills? Are not all the descriptions of poets embellished with such ideas, when they are desirous of painting places superlatively delightful? But if we consider farther, the riches that are reposited in these eminences, the gold, and precious stones, the coal, the lead, the tin, and other valuable minerals that are dug out of the bowels of the mountains, all useful in their kind, and fitted for the accommodation of human life, we shall be apt to think with Moses, that Blessed of the Lord is any land, for the chief things of the ancient mountains, and for the precious things of the lasting hills.

5 In the tenth month were the tops, &c.] This shows that the mountain on which the ark rested was the highest, at least in those parts, because it settled there above two months before the tops of the other mountains were seen.---But sure the ark, considering how heavy laden it was, might settle there, while the top of that mountain was covered with water, which, it is possible, might not appear much before the rest.

6 At the end of forty days.] So long after the tops of the mountains appeared, that is, on the eleventh day of the eleventh month; which is about the end of July.

7 A raven, which went to and fro.] In the Hebrew it is, In going forth and returning; that is, it fluttered backward and forward, went often from the ark and as often returned---Noah knew 9 But the dove found no reſt for the ſole of her foot, and ſhe returned unto him into the ark: for the waters were on the face of the whole earth: then he put forth his hand, and took her, and pulled her in unto him into the ark.

10 And he ſtayed yet other ſeven days; and again he ſent forth the dove out of the ark:

11 And the dove came into him in the evening; and lo, in her mouth was an olive-leaf pluckt off: ſo Noah knew that the waters were abated from off the earth.

12 And he ſtayed yet other ſeven days; and ſent forth the dove; which returned not again unto him any more.

13 And it came to paſs in the ſix hundredth and firſt year, in the firſt month, the firſt day of the month, the waters were dried up from off the earth: and Noah removed the covering of the ark, and looked, and behold, the face of the ground was dry.

14 And in the ſecond month, on the ſeven and tweentieth day of the month, was the earth dried.

15 And God ſpake unto Noah, ſaying,

16 Go forth of the ark; thou, and thy wife, and thy ſons, and thy ſons wives with thee.

17 Bring forth with thee every living thing that is with thee, of all fleſh; both of fowl, and of cattle, and of every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth; that they may breed abundantly in the earth, and be fruitful, and multiply upon the earth.

18 ¶ And Noah went forth, and his ſons, and his wife, and his ſons wives with him:

19 Every beaſt, every creeping thing, and every fowl, and whatſoever creepeth upon the earth, after their kinds, went forth out of the ark.

20 ¶ And Noah builded an altar unto the LORD; and took of every clean beaſt, and of every clean fowl, and offered burnt-offerings on the altar.

21 ¶ And the LORD ſmelled a ſweet ſavour; and the LORD ſaid in his heart, I will not again curſe the ground any more for man's ſake; for the imagination of man's heart is evil from his youth; neither will I again ſmite any more every thing living, as I have done.

22 While the earth remaineth, ſeed-time and harveſt, and cold and heat, and ſummer and winter, and day and night ſhall not ceaſe.

knew that if the earth was dry, the ſmell of dead carcaſes would tempt it to fly far from the ark.

13 In the ſixth hundredth and firſt year.] That is, of Noah's life---The flood began on the 17th day of the 2d month, and ended the 27th day of the ſame month of the ſubſequent year: thus it laſted a complete ſolar year.

16 Go forth out of the ark.] Though Noah ſaw the earth was habitable, yet he waited for God's order to go out of the ark, as he had for his entering into it.

21 The Lord ſmelled a ſweet ſavour.] In condeſcenſion to our weakneſs, the Scripture frequently makes uſe of figurative ways of ſpeaking; thus the expreſſion before us ſignifies, that this ſacrifice of thankſgiving was as grateful to God as ſweet odours are to us.

Said in his heart.] He determined or reſolved in himſelf.

For the imagination of man's heart.] Notwithſtanding all the follies and vices I foreſee mankind will be guilty of, I will never again deſtroy the earth and its inhabitants by another flood. In this place perhaps it may not be improper to anſwer ſome objections which have been raiſed againſt the Moſaic account of the deluge by thoſe who are ready to catch at every thing that has the leaſt tendency to diſcredit the Holy Scriptures---The firſt objection is againſt the univerſality of the deluge; "For, ſay they, if the only deſign of the deluge was to deſtroy mankind, there was no neceſſity for carrying the waters beyond the bounds that were then inhabited." But the perſons who make this objection, ſeem to forget that the number of mankind, before the flood, was vaſtly ſuperior to that of the preſent inhabitants of the earth. This will evidently appear, if we conſider the prodigious length of the lives of the antediluvians, many of whom had children in the five hundredth year of their lives. Every place muſt therefore be inhabited; and as none was to eſcape the avenging hand of an incenſed God, there was a neceſſity that every place ſhould be overflowed by the deluge. But there is ſtill a ſtronger argument for the univerſality of the flood: Moſes tells us, that the waters prevailed fifteen cubits above the higheſt mountains; let the mountains themſelves be appealed to for the truth of this aſſertion. Examine the higheſt eminences of the earth, and they all, with one accord, produce the ſpoils of the ocean, depoſited upon them on that occaſion; the ſhells and ſkeletons of ſea-fiſh, and ſea-monſters of all kinds. The Alps, the Appennines, the Pyrenees, the Andes, Atlas, and Ararat; every mountain of every region under heaven, from Japan to Mexico, all conſpire, in one uniform, univerſal proof, that they all had the ſea ſpread over their higheſt ſummits. All which are a perfect demonſtration, that Moſes's account of the deluge is inconteſtibly true. And, indeed, unleſs this devaſtation was general, we can hardly conceive what neceſſity there was for any ark at all. Noah and his family might have retired into ſome neighbouring country, as Lot and his family ſaved themſelves by withdrawing from Sodom, when that city was to be deſtroyed. The beaſts might have ſaved themſelves by flight; or, if not, others might have been procured from places where this deſolation did not reach: and as for the birds, they might eaſily have preſerved themſelves by winging their way to countries not overflown, and there have procured ſubſiſtance, till the waters had returned to their ancient bounds.

The next objection is, where to find a ſufficient quantity of water to render the deluge univerſal. To this ſeveral ſolutions have been given, which the reader may find in the firſt volume of the Univerſal Hiſtory: but, ſurely, that Almighty Being, who firſt called this earth out of its primeval chaos, could eaſily find 1 God bleſſeth Noah. 4 Blood and murder are forbidden. 8 God's covenant, 13 ſignified by the rainbow. 21 Noah is drunken, 25 curſeth Canaan, 29 and dieth.

AND God bleſſed Noah, and his ſons: and ſaid unto them, Be fruitful, and multiply, and repleniſh the earth.

2 And the fear of you and the dread of you ſhall be upon every beaſt of the earth, and upon every fowl of the air, upon all that moveth upon the earth, and upon all the fiſhes of the ſea; into your hand are they delivered.

3 Every moving thing that liveth ſhall be meat for you; even as the green herb have I given you all things.

4 ¶ But fleſh with the life thereof, which is the blood thereof, ſhall ye not eat.

5 And ſurely your blood of your lives will I require: at the hand of every beaſt will I require it; and at the hand of man, at the hand of every man's brother, will I require the life of man:

6 Whoſo ſheddeth man's blood, by man ſhall his blood be ſhed: for in the image of God made he man.

7 And you, be ye fruitful and multiply; bring forth abundantly in the earth, and multiply therein.

8 ¶ And God ſpake unto Noah, and to his ſons with him, ſaying,

9 And I, behold, I eſtabliſh my covenant with you, and with your ſeed after you;

10 And with every living creature that is with you; of the fowl, of the cattle, and of every beaſt of the earth with you; from all that go out of the ark, to every beaſt of the earth.

11 And I will eſtabliſh my covenant with you; neither ſhall all fleſh be cut off any more by the waters of a flood: neither ſhall there any more be a flood to deſtroy the earth.

12 And God ſaid, This is the token of the covenant which I make between me and you, and every living creature that is with you, for perpetual generations:

13 ¶ I do ſet my bow in the cloud; and it ſhall be for a token of a covenant between me and the earth.

find a ſufficient quantity of water for this cataſtrophe, though it may be difficult to account for it by natural cauſes. The whole earth bears witneſs, that this was done; and therefore, whether it was brought about by the ordinary courſe of nature, or the peculiar act of Divine Power, is nothing to the purpoſe: the fact is abundantly eſtabliſhed, and therefore it is needleſs to ſearch after the natural cauſes by which it was performed.

Notes on the Ninth Chapter.

Ver. 3 Every moving thing, &c.] This appears to be the firſt grant to mankind of the uſe of animal food; and the reaſon for it was (as is generally imagined) becauſe the fruits of the earth being leſs nutritive than before the flood, and at the ſame time the bodies of men weaker, a more nouriſhing food was neceſſary.

4 But fleſh with the life thereof, &c.] The ſenſe of this paſſage ſeems to be, that they ſhould not eat the blood of any creature, blood being to the animal life what oil is to the lamp. The text itſelf, in the ſucceeding verſe, gives a ſubſtantial reaſon for this precept; namely, to create in the human breaſt an abhorrence of ſhedding the blood of man, by declaring it unlawful to taſte even the blood of beaſts.

5 And ſurely.] Rather, For ſurely, as in the LXX, making it a reaſon for the former prohibition.

6 Whoſo ſheddeth man's blood, &c.] Murder is a crime ſo horribly atrocious, that human nature ſhudders at the very thoughts of it. We cannot therefore ſufficiently admire the goodneſs of God, in giving a poſitive command againſt ſo horrid an act; and ordering, that thoſe who ſhould ſo far abandon their nature as to be guilty of it, ſhould be puniſhed with death. And ſurely, the murderer can never hope to eſcape the juſtice of his Maker; for though he may commit the heinous crime when the world below is buried in night and ſilence, yet the eye of Omniſcience beholds the act, and will certainly diſcover it. The darkneſs is no darkneſs with him, but the night is as clear as the day.

13 I do ſet my bow in the clouds.] It being well known, that the rainbow is produced by the refraction of the ſun's light in drops of falling rain, and never appears but when it rains in the ſunſhine. Homer is thought to have had a notion, that the rainbow was at firſt ſet in the clouds to be a ſign unto men: Εν νεφει ϛηριξε τερας μεροπων ανθρωπων. Il. xi. ver. 28.

Jove's wondrous bow, of three celeſtial dies,
Plac'd as a ſign to man amidſt the ſkies. Pope.

It was certainly the ſign of God's covenant with man, and we ought to conſider it as an illuſtrious ſymbol of the Divine Mercy and Goodneſs, to confirm our belief and confidence in God. Look upon the rainbow, ſays the ſon of Sirach, and praiſe him that made it; very beautiful it is in the brightneſs thereof: it compaſſeth the heaven about with a glorious circle, and the hands of the Moſt High have bended it. It is a bow of no hoſtile intention; a bow painted in variegated colours, on the diſburdened cloud. How vaſt is the extent, how delicate the texture of that ſhadowy arch! Elegant its form, and rich its tinctures; but more delightful its ſacred ſignificancy: while the violet and the roſe bluſh in its beautiful aſpect, the olive-branch ſmiles in its gracious import. It writes, in radiant dies, what the angels ſung in harmonious ſtrains, Peace on earth, and good-will towards men. It is the ſtamp of inſurance for the continual welfare of this preſent world, and a comfortable token of a better ſtate and happier kingdom: a kingdom, where a rainbow is repreſented as ſurrounding the throne, (Rev. iv. 3.) to intimate, that ſtorms

14 And it ſhall come to paſs, when I bring a cloud over the earth, that the bow ſhall be ſeen in the cloud:

15 And I will remember my covenant, which is between me and you, and every living creature of all fleſh; and the waters ſhall no more become a flood to deſtroy all fleſh.

16 And the bow ſhall be in the cloud; and I will look upon it, that I may remember the everlaſting covenant between God and every living creature of all fleſh that is upon the earth.

17 And God ſaid unto Noah, This is the token of the covenant, which I have eſtabliſhed between me and all fleſh that is upon the earth.

18 And the ſons of Noah that went forth of the ark, were Shem, and Ham, and Japheth: and Ham is the father of Canaan.

19 Theſe are the three ſons of Noah: and of them was the whole earth overſpread.

20 And Noah began to be an huſbandman, and he planted a vineyard:

21 ¶ And he drank of the wine, and was drunken, and he was uncovered within his tent.

22 And Ham, the father of Canaan, ſaw the nakedneſs of his father, and told his two brethren without.

23 And Shem and Japheth took a garment, and laid it upon both their ſhoulders, and went backward, and covered the nakedneſs of their father; and their faces were backward, and they ſaw not their father's nakedneſs.

24 And Noah awoke from his wine, and knew what his younger ſon had done unto him.

25 ¶ And he ſaid, Curſed be Canaan; a ſervant of ſervants ſhall he be unto his brethren.

26 And he ſaid, Bleſſed be the LORD God of Shem; and Canaan ſhall be his ſervant.

27 God ſhall enlarge Japheth, and he ſhall dwell in the tents of Shem; and Canaan ſhall be his ſervant.

28 And Noah lived after the flood three hundred and fifty years.

29 ¶ And all the days of Noah were nine hundred and fifty years: and he died.

ſhall beat no more; but an eternal and unbounded ſpring of joy and felicity bloom for ever.

16 I will look upon it that I may remember, &c.] This is ſpoken after the manner of men, the more to confirm their belief, that God would fulfil his word.

20 Noah began to be an huſbandman.] The word which we tranſlate began, ſignifies alſo continued; ſo the ſenſe will be, Noah continued to be an huſbandman; that is, returned to the ſame employment which he had followed before the flood.

21 And he drank of the wine, &c.] Being old and weak he was eaſily overpowered: we may obſerve however, that the word which we render drunken, does not neceſſarily imply a great degree of intoxication, only that he was fluſtered or heated by the liquor.

22 And Ham, the father of Canaan, ſaw the nakedneſs, &c.] Interpreters are divided with regard to the crime of Ham; but that which ſeems moſt conſonant to reaſon is, that, ſeeing the nakedneſs of his aged father, he made him the ſubject of his wanton mirth and raillery. An ingenious profeſſor of the oriental languages abroad is of opinion, that Ham's crime conſiſted in committing inceſt with his father's wife; for he obſerves, that the ſcripture phraſe to ſee or uncover his father's nakedneſs, ſignifies to lie with his father's wife. He ſuppoſes, that Ham took the opportunity of his father's drunkenneſs to execute his wicked deſign; that his brethren, having ſurpriſed him in the act, threw their garments over him and his accomplice, and then went and gave an account to their father of all they had ſeen: that Noah, highly enraged at this baſe action, ordered that Canaan, the iſſue of that inceſtuous commerce, ſhould be wholly deprived of the inheritance. Bayle's Dict. art. Cham.

25 And he ſaid, curſed be Canaan, &c.] Theſe words may be underſtood as a prophecy, which Noah then uttered, in order to mortify his wicked ſon, by foretelling that his violation of filial duty would be retaliated upon him in the wretchedneſs and degeneracy of his children, particularly of Canaan's race. Nor will this appear at all forced, when it is conſidered, that the words in the original are only curſed Canaan; as much as to ſay, Ah wretched, ill-fated Canaan! a ſervant of ſervants ſhall he be unto his brethren.

26 Bleſſed be the Lord God of Shem.] The happineſs that was to reſult to the whole world from the poſterity of Shem, ſo filled the prophetic mind of Noah, that, inſtead of bleſſing him, he breaks out in a rapture of praiſe to God, in whom he was bleſſed. He foreſaw, that from the family of Shem the Meſſias would ariſe, according to the fleſh; and that the covenant that ſhould reſtore man to himſelf, and to his Maker, ſhould be conveyed through his poſterity. And ſurely, when this good old patriarch ſaw, with the eyes of faith, the ſun of righteouſneſs ariſe with healing in his wings; the immaculate lamb ſlain from the foundation of the world, whoſe blood was to waſh away the ſins of mankind, he might well be tranſported beyond the bounds of an ordinary bleſſing, and break out in that rapturous expreſſion, Bleſſed be the Lord God of Shem!

27 God ſhall enlarge Japheth.] That is, God ſhall enlarge the bounds of the countries poſſeſſed by the children of Japheth. A prediction which was fully accompliſhed; for not only Europe, but the Leſſer Aſia, Media, part of Armenia, Iberia, Albania, and the vaſt regions towards the North, anciently inhabited by the Scythians, but now by the Tartars, fell to the ſhare of his poſterity.

He ſhall dwell in the tents of Shem.] This prediction was verified when the Medes and Babylonians ſubdued the Aſſyrian empire,

NOW these are the generations of the sons of Noah; Shem, Ham, and Japheth: and unto them were sons born after the flood.

2 ¶ The sons of Japheth; Gomer, and Magog, and Madai, and Javan, and Tubal, and Meshech, and Tiras.

3 And the sons of Gomer; Ashkenaz, and Riphath, and Togarmah.

4 And the sons of Javan; Elishah, and Tarshish, Kittim, and Dodanim.

5 By these were the isles of the Gentiles divided in their lands, every one after his tongue, after their families, in their nations.

6 ¶ And the sons of Ham; Cush, and Mizraim, and Phut, and Canaan.

7 And the sons of Cush; Seba, and Havilah, and Sabtah, and Raamah, and Sabtecha: and the sons of Raamah; Sheba, and Dedan.

8 ¶ And Cush begat Nimrod: he began to be a mighty one in the earth.

9 He was a mighty hunter before the LORD: wherefore it is said, Even as Nimrod the mighty hunter before the LORD.

10 And the beginning of his kingdom was Babel, and Erech, and Accad, and Calneh, in the land of Shinar.

11 Out of that land went forth Ashur, and builded Nineveh, and the city Rehoboth, and Calah, 12 And Resen between Nineveh and Calah: the same is a great city.

13 And Mizraim begat Ludim, and Anamim, and Lehabim, and Naphtuhim, 14 And Pathrusim, and Casluhim (out of whom came Philistim) and Caphtorim.

15 And Canaan begat Sidon his first-born, and Heth,

16 And the Jebusite, and the Emorite, and the Girgasite,

17 And the Hivite, and the Arkite, and the Sinite,

18 And the Aryadite, and the Zemarite, and the Hamathite: and afterward were the families of the Canaanites spread abroad.

19 And the border of the Canaanites was from Sidon, as thou comest to Gerar, unto Gaza; as thou goest unto Sodom and Gomorrah, and Admah, and Zeboim, even unto Lasha.

20 These are the sons of Ham, after their families, after their tongues, in their countries and in their nations.

21 ¶ Unto Shem also the father of all the children of Eber, the brother of Japheth the elder, even to him were children born.

22 The children of Shem; Elam, and Ashur, and Arphaxad, and Lud, and Aram.

23 And the children of Aram; Uz, and Hul, and Gether, and Mash.

24 And Arphaxad begat Salah; and Salah begat Eber.

25 And unto Eber were born two sons: the name of the one was Peleg; for in his days was the earth divided; and his brother's name was Joktan.

26 And Joktan begat Almodad, and Sheleph, and Hazarmaveth, and Jerah, 27 And Hadoram, and Uzal, and Diklah,

28 And Obal, and Abimael, and Sheba,

29 And Ophir, and Havilah, and Jobab: all these were the sons of Joktan.

30 And their dwelling was from Mesha, as thou goest unto Sephar, a mount of the east.

Notes on the Tenth Chapter.

Ver. 5 Isles of the Gentiles, &c.] The term isles in this text extends to such countries as were divided from the land of Canaan by the seas---Isle in Scripture frequently signifies a whole country or province.

8 Nimrod began to be mighty, &c.] That is, he was the first great warrior and conqueror.

9 A mighty hunter.] Or rather, mighty in hunting. He taught the people to chase and destroy the wild beasts. The exercise of hunting was highly esteemed, and won him the hearts of mankind; because by this means he delivered them from those savage beasts that alarmed their fears, and to whose cruelty, as they dwelt in tents but weakly defended, they were frequently exposed. The transition was easy to raise himself from the state in which he was considered as the friend of mankind, to the sovereign authority. He seems to have been a great tyrant, his very name signifying a rebel, an apostate. He founded the Babylonish empire, whence the prophet Micah (chap. v. 6.) calls it the land of Nimrod.

10 The beginning of his kingdom was Babel.] This expression denotes, either that Babylon was the first city built by him, or the capital city of his kingdom.

21 Shem the father of all the children of Eber.] That is, the father of the Hebrew nation. Numb. xxiv. 24.

25 Peleg, for in his days was the earth divided.] Abram was descended from this son of Eber. His name was called Peleg, which implies division, because about the time of his birth the great families, after their tongues, in their lands after their nations.

32 These are the families of the sons of Noah, after their generations, in their nations: and by these were the nations divided in the earth after the flood.

AND the whole earth was of one language, and of one speech.

2 And it came to pass as they journeyed from the east, that they found a plain in the land of Shinar, and they dwelt there.

3 ¶ And they said one to another, Go to, let us make brick, and burn them throughly. And they had brick for stone, and slime had they for morter.

4 And they said, Go to, let us build us a city, and a tower, whose top may reach unto heaven; and let us make us a name, lest we be scattered abroad upon the face of the whole earth.

5 ¶ And the LORD came down to see the city and the tower, which the children of men builded.

6 And the LORD said, Behold, the people is one, and they have all one language; and this they begin to do: and now nothing will be restrained from them, which they have imagined to do.

7 Go to, let us go down, and there confound their language, that they may not understand one another's speech.

8 So the LORD scattered them abroad from thence upon the face of all the earth: and they left off to build the city.

9 Therefore is the name of it called Babel; because the LORD did there confound the language of all the earth: and from thence did the LORD scatter them abroad upon the face of all the earth.

10 ¶ These are the generations of Shem: Shem was an hundred years old, and begat Arphaxad two years after the flood:

great dispersion of mankind, related in the succeeding chapter, happened.

Notes on the Eleventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 The whole earth was of one language.] Which is thought to be the same that Adam spoke, from whom it might easily be communicated to Methusaleh, and from him to his grandson Noah, who propagated among all his posterity till this time. There is great reason to think it was the Hebrew language, and that a considerable part of it still remains in the Bible; for Shem the son of Noah was for some time contemporary with Abraham, in whose family the same language which they both spoke continued at least till the day of Moses.

2 They journeyed from the East.] When they were grown very numerous, and wanted room, they descended from the mountainous country into the plains, and some of them went westwardly into the land of Shinar, which comprehends the country of Eden, supposed to be the happy seat of Adam in his state of innocence.

3 They said, Go to.] They encouraged one another to set about the work.

Slime for morter.] Bitumen, a kind of liquid, whereof there is great plenty in Assyria.

4 Whose top may reach to heaven.] That is, an exceeding high tower, whose summit may pierce the clouds.

Let us make us a name, &c.] Let us render our name famous among future generations by some monument that may command their admiration. Thus we see ambition animated them to undertake the laborious task: they had no sooner determined where to settle, but they resolved to make the place remarkable to all ages, to build a tower which should be the wonder of the world, and preserve their names to the end of time.

5 The Lord came down.] He observed their works, and knew the intentions of their hearts.

7 Let us go down and confound their language.] We have here an account of a transaction which has greatly perplexed the heathen philosophers, namely, how mankind came to speak such a multiplicity of languages: for it is natural to suppose, that though there would have been different dialects in different parts of the world, yet the nature and construction would have been still the same; whereas experience has abundantly convinced us, that many languages are essentially different from one another. But the sacred historian has cleared up this difficulty, by shewing us that it was effected by the same Almighty Power, which taught our first parents to speak one tongue in the beginning, and, in after-ages, inspired the apostles of our blessed Redeemer with the gift of many.

8 And they left off to build the city, &c.] Some of the Jewish doctors say, God overturned the tower by a terrible tempest, or burnt it by a fire from heaven. Thus we see how easily Almighty Power can in an instant frustrate the most ambitious projects of men. This structure however long remained a monument of human vanity, and the omnipotence of that Being who spake the universe out of nothing. Herodotus tells us it was a furlong in length, and as much in breadth; and Strabo determines the height to have been a furlong, that is, the eighth part of a mile, or 660 feet; which is itself prodigious; for thereby it appears to have exceeded the greatest of the Egyptian pyramids in height 179 feet, though it fell short of it at the basis by 33 feet---It consisted of eight square towers one above another, gradually decreasing in breadth; which with the winding ascent from the bottom to top, on the outside, gave it the resemblance of a pyramid, as Strabo calls it. This ascent was so very broad that it afforded room for horses and carriages

28 And Haran died before his father Terah, in the land of his nativity, in Ur of the Chaldees.

29 And Abram and Nahor took them wives: the name of Abram's wife was Sarai; and the name of Nahor's wife, Milcah, the daughter of Haran, the father of Milcah, and the father of Iſcah.

30 But Sarai was barren; ſhe had no child.

31 And Terah took Abram his ſon, and Lot the ſon of Haran his ſon's ſon, and Sarai his daughter-in-law, his ſon Abram's wife; and they went forth with them from Ur of the Chaldees, to go into the land of Canaan; and they came unto Haran, and dwelt there.

32 And the days of Terah were two hundred and five years: and Terah died in Haran.

to paſs by each other, and even to turn. See Univerſal Hiſtory.

But this magnificent tower, which ſeemed to menace the ſtars, is now brought down to the ground, even to the duſt, ſo that the place thereof can be ſeen no more, or if by chance found out by ſome inquiſitive traveller, the whole appears only a confuſed heap of rubbiſh, according to the words of God to the prophet Jeremiah, I will roll thee down from the rocks, and will make thee a burnt mountain; and they ſhall not take of thee a ſtone for a corner, nor a ſtone for foundations; but thou ſhalt be deſolate for ever, ſaith the Lord. Jer. li. 25, 26.

28 Ur of the Chaldees.] This city is thought to have been built by Aſhur, the ſon of Shem, becauſe Iſaiah, ſpeaking of the Chaldeans, ſaith, This city was not, till the Aſſyrian founded it. xxiii. 13. Ur in Hebrew denotes light or fire; and was ſo called, either from the Chaldeans, who firſt ſtudied aſtronomy, and obſerved the motions of the heavenly bodies, or from fire, the ſymbol of the ſun, which was worſhipped in that city.

Notes on the Twelfth Chapter.

Ver. 1 The Lord had ſaid unto Abram.] In what manner God revealed himſelf to Abram the ſacred hiſtorian has not told us; probably by a voice from the Shechinah, or ſymbol of the Divine Preſence; for St. Stephen expreſsly ſays, The God of glory appeared unto him, before he dwelt in Charran. Acts vii. 2.

3 And in thee ſhall all the families of the earth be bleſſed.] That is, ſhall be made happy in thee. St. Paul juſtly explains the words by applying them to a perſon deſcended from Abram, whom

5 And Abram took Sarai his wife, and Lot his brother's ſon, and all their ſubſtance that they had gathered, and the ſouls that they had gotten in Haran; and they went forth to go into the land of Canaan; and into the land of Canaan they came.

6 And Abram paſſed through the land unto the place of Sichem, unto the plain of Moreh. And the Canaanite was then in the land.

7 ¶ And the LORD appeared unto Abram, and ſaid, Unto thy ſeed will I give this land: and there builded he an altar unto the LORD, who appeared unto him.

8 And he removed from thence unto a mountain on the eaſt of Beth-el, and pitched his tent, having Beth-el on the weſt, and Hai on the eaſt: and there he builded an altar unto the LORD, and called upon the name of the LORD.

9 And Abram journeyed, going on ſtill toward the ſouth.

10 And there was a famine in the land: and Abram went down into Egypt to ſojourn there; for the famine was grievous in the land.

11 And it came to paſs, when he was come near to enter into Egypt, that he ſaid unto Sarai his wife, Behold now, I know that thou art a fair woman to look upon:

12 Therefore it ſhall come to paſs, when the Egyptians ſhall ſee thee, that they ſhall ſay, This is his wife: and they will kill me, but they will ſave thee alive.

13 Say, I pray thee, thou art my ſiſter: that it may be well with me for thy ſake; and my ſoul ſhall live becauſe of thee.

14 And it came to paſs, that when Abram was come into Egypt, the Egyptians beheld the woman, that ſhe was very fair.

15 The princes alſo of Pharaoh ſaw her, and commended her before Pharaoh: and the woman was taken into Pharaoh's houſe.

16 And he entreated Abram well for her ſake: and he had ſheep, and oxen, and he-aſſes, and men-ſervants, and maid-ſervants, and ſhe-aſſes, and camels.

17 And the LORD plagued Pharaoh and his houſe, with great plagues, becauſe of Sarai Abram's wife.

18 And Pharaoh called Abram, and ſaid, What is this that thou haſt done unto me? why didſt thou not tell me that ſhe was thy wife?

19 Why ſaidſt thou, She is my ſiſter? ſo I might have taken her to me to wife: now therefore, behold thy wife, take her, and go thy way.

20 And Pharaoh commanded his men concerning him: and they ſent him away, and his wife, and all that he had.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Abram and Lot return out of Egypt. 7 By diſagreement they part aſunder. 14 God's promiſe renewed to Abram.

AND Abram went up out of Egypt, he, and his wife, and all that he had, and Lot with him, into the ſouth.

whom God deſigned to make a bleſſing, or the author of happineſs to mankind in general; and this deſcendant can be no other than our Bleſſed Redeemer, who according to the fleſh was deſcended from Abram, and ſent by God to bleſs all the kindreds of the earth, by turning away every one from his iniquities.

6 The plain of Moreh.] The LXX render it the oak of Moreh: probably there was a grove of oaks in this plain, and one of them remarkably large.

The Canaanite was then in the land.] Theſe words ſignify, that the Canaanites had already invaded this country before Abram came thither; which was an argument of his great faith, that he would venture among ſuch rough and fierce people, who had no kindneſs for the poſterity of Shem.

7 Unto thy ſeed will I give this land.] His obedience is immediately rewarded: as he had left his own country and his father's houſe, God promiſes to give his poſterity a better and a larger country, even the whole land of Canaan.

8 He removed into a mountain.] Mountains in ancient times were choſen by pious men as proper theatres of devotion, by their heighth ſeeming to elevate the mind above all low and ſordid views, and point the affections towards heaven.

13 Say thou art my ſiſter.] This was a real truth, ſhe having the ſame father, though a different mother from himſelf. See chap. xx. ver. 12. Therefore Abram is too ſeverely cenſured by ſome of the antient fathers on this account--He was however guilty of prevarication, of a puſillanimous concealment of the truth, which, inſtead of preventing, endangered his wife's chaſtity. From this paſſage we learn a moral, namely, that the brighteſt examples have their blemiſhes, and muſt be imitated with caution, ſince even Abram, the father of the faithful, was guilty of occaſional diſtruſt of the Divine Providence.

14 She was very fair.] Sarai muſt have been at leaſt ſixty-five, for ſhe was only ten years younger than Abram, who was now ſeventy-five: but we are to conſider, that as in thoſe days they were longer lived, ſo their charms were more durable.

15 Pharaoh.] A common name appropriated to the Egyptian kings, as Cæſar among the Romans.

Notes on the Thirteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Abram went out of Egypt.] The famine being now abated, Abram returned to the ſouthern parts of Canaan.

2 And Abram was very rich in cattle, in ſilver, and in gold.

3 And he went on his journeys from the ſouth, even to Beth-el, unto the place where his tent had been at the beginning, between Beth-el and Hai;

4 Unto the place of the altar, which he had made there at the firſt: and there Abram called on the name of the LORD.

5 And Lot alſo which went with Abram, had flocks, and herds, and tents.

6 And the land was not able to bear them, that they might dwell together: for their ſubſtance was great, ſo that they could not dwell together.

7 ¶ And there was a ſtrife between the herdmen of Abram's cattle, and the herdmen of Lot's cattle: and the Canaanite, and the Perizzite dwelled then in the land.

8 And Abram ſaid unto Lot, Let there be no ſtrife, I pray thee, between me and thee, and between my herdmen and thy herdmen: for we be brethren.

9 Is not the whole land before thee? ſeparate thy ſelf, I pray thee, from me: if thou wilt take the left hand, then I will go to the right; or if thou depart to the right hand, then I will go to the left.

10 And Lot lifted up his eyes, and beheld all the plain of Jordan, that it was well watered every where, before the LORD deſtroyed Sodom and Gomorrah, even as the garden of the LORD, like the land of Egypt, as thou comeſt unto Zoar.

11 Then Lot choſe him all the plain of Jordan; and Lot journeyed eaſt: and they ſeparated themſelves the one from the other.

12 Abram dwelled in the land of Canaan, and Lot dwelled in the cities of the plain, and pitched his tent toward Sodom.

13 But the men of Sodom were wicked, and ſinners before the LORD exceedingly.

14 ¶ And the LORD ſaid unto Abram, after that Lot was ſeparated from him, Lift up now thine eyes, and look from the place where thou art, north-ward, and ſouth-ward, and eaſt-ward, and weſt-ward:

15 For all the land which thou ſeeſt, to thee will I give it, and to thy ſeed for ever.

16 And I will make thy ſeed as the duſt of the earth: ſo that if a man can number the duſt of the earth, then ſhall thy ſeed alſo be numbered.

17 Ariſe, walk through the land, in the length of it, and in the breadth of it: for I will give it unto thee.

18 Then Abram removed his tent, and came and dwelt in the plain of Mamre, which is in Hebron, and built there an altar unto the LORD.

2 Very rich.] By the bounty of Pharaoh; or, according to Joſephus, by the rewards he received for teaching the Egyptians the knowledge of the ſtars.

4 Called on the name of the Lord.] He praiſed God for the bleſſings he had received, and committed himſelf and his family to his future protection.

6 The land was not able to bear them.] The neighbouring fields did not afford ſufficient paſturage for their numerous flocks and herds.

8 And Abram ſaid unto Lot, Let there be no ſtrife, I pray thee, &c.] How ready is Abram to avoid all kinds of animoſities! He ſaw, with concern, the growing diſpute, and to prevent any miſunderſtanding between him and Lot, propoſes a friendly ſeparation; ſhewing himſelf at once to be a wiſe and good man; for ſuch are always the readieſt to yield, and moſt inclined to peace. Nor does he propoſe even this friendly ſeparation, without adding an endearing reaſon, for we be brethren: that is, we are members of that grand community whereof God is the common father. There is room enough, though not here, yet in other parts of the country; take thy choice therefore, if thou wilt take the left hand, then I will go to the right, &c. Admirable condeſcenſion in this venerable patriarch! He does not deſire Lot to leave the country, but pitch his tent at ſome convenient diſtance from him, that they might have room for the flocks, and in caſe of being attacked by the inhabitants, be near enough to aſſiſt each other.

10 As thou comeſt to Zoar.] This paſſage has greatly perplexed the commentators, Zoar not being in the land of Egypt, but at a prodigious diſtance from it. But if we inſert the former part of the ſentence, even as the garden of the Lord, like the land of Egypt, in a parentheſis, the difficulty will be removed; for then the meaning of the verſe will amount to this: That before the Lord deſtroyed Sodom and Gomorrah, the plain of Jordan was like a delightful garden, well watered every where, as thou goeſt to Zoar; that is, even to the utmoſt ſkirts of the plain, which is Zoar. But if, with the Syriac verſion, we read Zoan, the ancient ſeat of the kings of Egypt, which ſtood in the ſouth part of it, in a country well watered, the true import of the paſſage will be this: "That the plain of Jordan, before the Lord deſtroyed "Sodom and Gomorrah, was well watered every where; yea, "the plain was ſo well watered, that it was like the garden of "Eden, or the land of Egypt, and particularly as thou goeſt "to Zoan."

18 Dwelt in the plain of Mamre.] Having by the command of God ſurveyed the whole land of Canaan, he ſettled in the plain, or as the LXX render it, παρὰ τὴν δρῦν, by the oak of Mamre; for the word we render plain, ſometimes ſignifies an oak. See chap. xii. 6.

Which is Hebron.] Rather, which is by or near Hebron.

Notes

CHAP. XIV.

1 The battle of the kings. 12 Lot taken, 14 is reſcued by Abram. 18 Melchizedek bleſſeth Abram, 20 who giveth him tithes.

AND it came to paſs in the days of Amraphel king of Shinar, Arioch king of Ellaſar, Chedorlaomer king of Elam, and Tidal king of nations;

2 That theſe made war with Bera king of Sodom, and with Birſha king of Gomorrah, Shinab king of Admah, and Shemeber king of Zeboiim, and the king of Bela, which is Zoar.

3 All theſe were joined together in the vale of Siddim, which is the ſalt ſea.

4 Twelve years they ſerved Chedorlaomer, and in the thirteenth year they rebelled.

5 And in the fourteenth year came Chedorlaomer, and the kings that were with him, and ſmote the Rephaims in Aſhteroth Karnaim, and the Zuzims in Ham, and the Emims in Shaveh Kiriathaim,

6 And the Horites in their mount Seir, unto El-paran, which is by the wilderneſs.

7 And they returned, and came to Enmiſhpat, which is Kadeſh, and ſmote all the country of the Amalekites, and alſo the Amorites, that dwelt in Hazezon-tamar.

8 And there went out the king of Sodom, and the king of Gomorrah, and the king of Admah, and the king of Zeboiim, and the king of Bela (the ſame is Zoar;) and they joined battle with them in the vale of Siddim;

9 With Chedorlaomer the king of Elam, and with Tidal king of nations, and Amraphel king of Shinar, and Arioch king of Ellaſar; four kings with five.

10 And the vale of Siddim was full of ſlime-pits; and the kings of Sodom and Gomorrah fled, and fell there: and they that remained fled to the mountain.

11 And they took all the goods of Sodom and Gomorrah, and all their victuals, and went their way.

12 ¶ And they took Lot, Abram's brother's ſon (who dwelt in Sodom) and his goods, and departed.

13 And there came one that had eſcaped, and told Abram the Hebrew; for he dwelt in the plain of Mamre the Amorite, brother of Eſhcol, and brother of Aner: and theſe were confederate with Abram.

14 And when Abram heard that his brother was taken captive, he armed his trained ſervants, born in his own houſe, three hundred and eighteen, and purſued them unto Dan.

15 And he divided himſelf againſt them, he and his ſervants by night, and ſmote them, and purſued them unto Hobah, which is on the left hand of Damaſcus.

16 And he brought back all the goods, and alſo brought again his brother Lot, and his goods, and the women alſo, and the people.

17 And the king of Sodom went out to meet him (after his return from the ſlaughter of Chedorlaomer and of the kings that were with him) at the valley of Saveh, which is the king's dale.

18 ¶ And Melchizedek king of Salem brought forth bread and wine: and he was the prieſt of the moſt high God.

Notes on the Fourteenth Chapter.

It is not improbably conjectured, that the Aſſyrian empire had at this time extended itſelf over the adjacent countries, and brought the little nations and petty princes of Aſia under ſubjection, and among the reſt, the kings of Sodom and Gomorrah, and of the other three nations mentioned, ver. 2, and 5.

Shinar.] That is, Babylon.

Elam.] It is generally agreed, that by Elam is meant Perſia.

3 The vale of Siddim, &c.] That is, theſe five cities ſtood in that valley, which ſince their overthrow is become a ſea, or large receptacle of waters, called, from the great quantity of ſalt or bitumen wherewith it was impregnated, the ſalt-ſea.

10 Full of ſlime-pits.] Pits, or wells of bitumen, with which the country abounded.

13 Abram the Hebrew.] Heber ſignifies, on the other ſide, and accordingly the LXX tranſlate it, the ſtranger from beyond the river: an appellation which they ſuppoſe was given by the Canaanites to Abram and his family, from their coming from the other ſide of the Euphrates.

18 Melchizedek.] Who this extraordinary perſon was, has been a ſubject of great diſpute, & adhuc ſub judice lis eſt. Some think it was Shem, who was indeed alive at that time; but it is not likely that he ſhould reign over the children of Ham: beſides, Abram's tithes were paid to one who was of a different family, (Heb. chap. vii. 6.) conſequently Melchizedek could not be Shem. Some of the fathers took him for the ſon of God, who appeared to Abram in the form of a man: but how could the ſon of God be a type of himſelf, as the apoſtle plainly tells us Melchizedek was a type of Chriſt? Heb. vii. 3. Others ſuppoſe him to be Ham. Thus much is probable, that he was one of the princes of Canaan, who, on account of his ſingular virtue and piety, was called Melchizedek, that is, king of righteouſneſs.

King of Salem.] By Salem moſt commentators underſtand Jeruſalem, which is called Salem in ſcripture. In Salem alſo is his tabernacle,

19 And he bleſſed him, and ſaid, Bleſſed be Abram of the moſt high God, poſſeſſor of heaven and earth:

20 ¶ And bleſſed be the moſt high God, which hath delivered thine enemies into thy hand. And he gave him tithes of all.

21 And the king of Sodom ſaid unto Abram, Give me the perſons, and take the goods to thy ſelf.

22 And Abram ſaid to the king of Sodom, I have lift up mine hand unto the LORD, the moſt high God, the poſſeſſor of heaven and earth,

23 That I will not take from a thread even to a ſhoe-latchet, and that I will not take any thing that is thine, leſt thou ſhouldeſt ſay, I have made Abram rich:

24 Save only that which the young men have eaten, and the portion of the men which went with me, Aner, Eſhcol, and Mamre; let them take their portion.

CHAP. XV.

1 Abram is encouraged. 4 A ſon is promiſed. 6 He is juſtified by faith. 7 Canaan is promiſed again.

AFTER theſe things the word of the LORD came unto Abram in a viſion, ſaying, Fear not, Abram: I am thy ſhield, and thy exceeding great reward.

2 And Abram ſaid, Lord GOD, what wilt thou give me, ſeeing I go childleſs, and the ſteward of my houſe is this Eliezer of Damaſcus?

3 And Abram ſaid, Behold, to me thou haſt given no ſeed: and lo, one born in my houſe is mine heir.

4 ¶ And behold, the word of the LORD came unto him, ſaying, This ſhall not be thine heir; but he that ſhall come forth out of thy own bowels ſhall be thine heir.

5 And he brought him forth abroad, and ſaid, Look now toward heaven, and tell the ſtars, if thou be able to number them: and he ſaid unto him, So ſhall thy ſeed be.

6 ¶ And he believed in the LORD; and he counted it to him for righteouſneſs.

7 And he ſaid unto him, I am the LORD that brought thee out of Ur of the Chaldees, to give thee this land to inherit it.

8 And he ſaid, Lord GOD, whereby ſhall I know that I ſhall inherit it?

9 And he ſaid unto him, Take me an heifer of three years old, and a ſhe-goat of three years old, and a ram of three years old, and a turtle-dove, and a young pigeon.

10 And he took unto him all theſe, and divided them in the midſt, and laid each piece one againſt another: but the birds divided he not.

tabernacle, and his dwelling place in Zion, Pſalm lxxvi. 2. But St. Jerom, Bochart, and others, think it was a place ſituated near Jordan, perhaps the Salim mentioned by St. John, chap. iii. 25.

19 He was the prieſt of the moſt high God.] It was uſual in antient times for the ſame perſon that ſwayed the ſceptre to ſerve alſo at the altar.

20 And he gave him tithes of all.] That is, Abram (as it is explained, Heb. vii. 2.) gave Melchizedek, as the prieſt of God, the tenth of all the ſpoil that he had taken in battle, according to the pious cuſtom of thoſe times, Gen. xxviii. 22.

23 From a thread even to a ſhoe-latchet.] That is, from the fillet that ties the head, to the latchet that binds the ſhoe; a proverbial way of ſpeaking, which the next words explain.

Notes on the Fifteenth Chapter.

1 Fear not, Abram.] Abram was probably under ſome dread of the Aſſyrians returning to renew the war; and, as is natural to the mind under dejection, this might lead him to conſider his uncomfortable ſituation in a ſtrange land; to relieve him under theſe melancholy reflections, he hears a voice from heaven aſſuring him of the divine protection: I, ſays the Almighty, am thy ſhield and great reward; I will defend thee from every danger; my favour ſhall ſupply all thy wants---Thus we ſee, God's providence continues to watch over all his faithful ſervants who ſincerely truſt in him.

2 What wilt thou give me.] What are all the riches of the earth to me, if I muſt die childleſs, and leave all my inheritance to a ſervant?

4 This ſhall not be thine heir.] It ſeems as if Abram did not rightly underſtand the promiſe that was made him, becauſe he adds, lo, one born in my houſe is mine heir: but now the promiſe is renewed in ſo explicit a manner, that it was impoſſible for him to miſunderſtand it.

6 He believed in the Lord, &c.] However improbable it appeared, according to the courſe of nature, that he ſhould have a child when his wife was ſo far advanced in years, and had been ſo long barren, yet relying on the divine veracity and power, he was fully perſuaded that God would bring it to paſs: and therefore God, who knows the heart, was pleaſed with this act of pious dependence in his ſervant, and accordingly eſteemed him a truly righteous and good man.

9 An heifer---a ſhe-goat---a ram---a turtle-dove, and a young pigeon.] Theſe were the creatures, and theſe alone, which were appointed to be offered in ſacrifice to God by the law of Moſes.

10 Divided them in the midſt.] This was a ſolemn ceremony uſed among ſeveral nations when they entered into covenant with each other---The victim was divided, and the parts laid aſunder oppoſite to each other, and then both parties walked between them; ſignifying thereby, that the party who broke the covenant, ſhould in like manner be cut aſunder---This paſſage

11 And when the fowls came down upon the carcaſes, Abram drove them away.

12 And when the ſun was going down, a deep ſleep fell upon Abram; and lo, an horror of great darkneſs fell upon him.

13 And he ſaid unto Abram, Know of a ſurety that thy ſeed ſhall be a ſtranger in a land that is not their's, and ſhall ſerve them, and they ſhall afflict them four hundred years:

14 And alſo that nation whom they ſhall ſerve, will I judge: and afterward ſhall they come out with great ſubſtance:

15 And thou ſhalt go to thy fathers in peace; thou ſhalt be buried in a good old age:

16 But in the fourth generation they ſhall come hither again: for the iniquity of the Amorites is not yet full.

17 And it came to paſs, that when the ſun went down and it was dark, behold, a ſmoking furnace, and a burning lamp that paſſed between thoſe pieces.

18 In that ſame day the LORD made a covenant with Abram, ſaying, Unto thy ſeed have I given this land, from the river of Egypt unto the great river the river Euphrates:

19 The Kenites, and the Kenizzites, and the Kadmonites,

20 And the Hittites, and the Perizzites, and the Rephaims,

21 And the Amorites, and the Canaanites, and the Girgaſhites, and the Jebuſites.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Sarai giveth Hagar to Abram, 6 who flying from her miſtreſs, 9 is ſent back by an angel. 15 Iſhmael is born.

NOW Sarai Abram's wife bare him no children: and ſhe had an hand-maid, an Egyptian, whoſe name was Hagar.

2 And Sarai ſaid unto Abram, Behold now, the LORD hath reſtrained me from bearing: I pray thee go in unto my maid; it may be that I may obtain children by her: and Abram hearkened to the voice of Sarai.

3 And Sarai Abram's wife took Hagar her maid the Egyptian, after Abram had dwelt ten years in the land of Canaan, and gave her to her huſband Abram to be his wife.

4 And he went in unto Hagar, and ſhe conceived: and when ſhe ſaw that ſhe had conceived, her miſtreſs was deſpiſed in her eyes.

5 And Sarai ſaid unto Abram, My wrong be upon thee: I have given my maid into thy boſom, and when ſhe ſaw that ſhe had conceived, I was deſpiſed in her eyes: the LORD judge between me and thee.

6 ¶ But Abram ſaid unto Sarai, Behold, thy maid is in thy hand; do to her as it pleaſeth thee. And when Sarai dealt hardly with her, ſhe fled from her face.

ſage ſhows how antient a ceremony this was; and that it was retained in after-ages, we learn from Jeremiah, chap. xxxiv. 18, 19.

12 An horror of great darkneſs.] An extreme conſternation ſeized his mind, or ſuch an horror as ſeizes thoſe who are ſtruck with ſome extraordinary appearance in the dark---Eliphaz in the book of Job gives us an awful deſcription of this kind: In thoughts from the viſions of the night, when deep ſleep falleth on men, fear came upon me, and trembling, which made all my bones to ſhake. Then a ſpirit paſſed before my face, the hair of my fleſh ſtood up, Job iv. 13, 14, 15.

13 Four hundred years.] Theſe years are to be reckoned from the birth of Iſaac, who was the ſeed to whom the promiſe was made: for from the birth of Iſaac to that of Jacob was 60 years, thence to the birth of Joſeph 90; thence to Joſeph's death 110; thence to the birth of Moſes 60; and in the 80th year of Moſes's life, the children of Iſrael came out of Egypt: theſe ſums added together give 400 years, the time limited by this viſion.

15 Thou ſhalt go to thy fathers in peace.] Thou ſhalt ſee none of the fore-named calamities, but die in peaceful circumſtances, and full of years.

16 In the fourth generation.] The fourth from the going down of Jacob into Egypt. Aaron and Moſes were the fourth deſcent from Levi.

The iniquity, &c.] From this paſſage we ſee, that God will not extirpate a nation, till they have filled up the meaſure of their iniquity; till his long-ſuffering and patience is worn out, and all the offered terms of mercy and pardon are rejected.

17 A ſmoking furnace and a burning lamp.] That is, the Shechinah, or divine glory appeared in great ſplendor, and paſſed between the pieces, in token that God entered into covenant with Abram and his poſterity.

18 The river of Egypt.] Not the Nile, for the Iſraelites never enjoyed all the land of Egypt on this ſide the Nile, but it is ſome river which runs near the borders of Egypt, perhaps that called Sihor before Egypt, (Joſhua xiii. 3.) which ran not far from Gaza.

Notes on the Sixteenth Chapter.

Ver. 2 Go in unto my maid.] Sarai had waited ten years in expectation of the performance of God's promiſe; and now judging from the courſe of nature, that Abram's iſſue muſt proceed from ſome other woman and not from her, ſhe prevailed with him to take her hand-maid Hagar for his ſecondary wife: being ſatisfied that if the maid ſhould conceive by her huſband, the 7 And the angel of the LORD found her by a fountain of water in the wilderneſs, by the fountain in the way to Shur.

8 And he ſaid, Hagar, Sarai's maid, whence cameſt thou? and whither wilt thou go? And ſhe ſaid, I flee from the face of my miſtreſs Sarai.

9 ¶ And the angel of the LORD ſaid unto her, Return to thy miſtreſs, and ſubmit thy ſelf under her hands.

10 And the angel of the LORD ſaid unto her, I will multiply thy ſeed exceedingly, that it ſhall not be numbered for multitude.

11 And the angel of the LORD ſaid unto her, Behold thou art with child, and ſhalt bear a ſon, and ſhalt call his name Iſhmael; becauſe the LORD hath heard thy affliction.

12 And he will be a wild man; his hand will be againſt every man, and every man's hand againſt him: and he ſhall dwell in the preſence of all his brethren.

13 And ſhe called the name of the LORD that ſpake unto her, Thou God ſeeſt me: for ſhe ſaid, Have I alſo here looked after him that ſeeth me?

14 Wherefore the well was called Beer-lahai-roi; behold, it is between Kadeſh and Bered.

15 ¶ And Hagar bore Abram a ſon: and Abram called his ſon's name, which Hagar bare, Iſhmael.

16 And Abram was fourſcore and ſix years old, when Hagar bare Iſhmael to Abram.

CHAP. XVII.

1 The covenant is renewed. 5 Abram's name changed. 10 Circumciſion is inſtituted. 16 Iſaac is promiſed.

AND when Abram was ninety years old and nine, the LORD appeared to Abram, and ſaid unto him, I am the Almighty God; walk before me, and be thou perfect.

2 And I will make my covenant between me and thee, and will multiply thee exceedingly.

3 And Abram fell on his face: and God talked with him, ſaying,

4 As for me, behold, my covenant is with thee, and thou ſhalt be a father of many nations.

child would be reputed her's; which appears to have been the law of thoſe times, chap. xxx. ver. 3, as it was afterwards a law of Moſes; Exod. xxi. 4.

7 In the way to Shur.] In the way leading to Egypt, her own country.

12 A wild man.] In the original it is a wild aſs-man, i. e. a man reſembling the wild aſs of Arabia, a creature remarkable for his wildneſs. Who hath ſent out the wild aſs free? Or who hath looſed the bands of the wild aſs? Whoſe houſe I have made the wilderneſs, and the barren land his dwellings. He ſcorneth the multitude of the city, neither regardeth he the crying of the driver. The range of the mountains is his paſture, and he ſearcheth after every green thing, Job, chap. xxxix. 5, 6, 7, 8. Like this creature, Iſhmael was to be of a rambling unſettled nature, affecting to live in the mountains of a deſert part of the world, eſtranged from ſociety, and delighting in the woods, and in the hunting of wild beaſts. And this prediction was fully accompliſhed in Iſhmael, who inhabited the wilderneſs of Paran, and lived by his bow, Gen. xxi. 20.

His hand ſhall be againſt every man.] That is, he ſhall be untractable, and of a rough diſpoſition, apt to infeſt his neighbours, and conſequently provoking his neighbours to infeſt him: and this is ſtill the true character of the Arabians, or deſcendants of Iſhmael, who now poſſeſs the mountainous parts of Arabia, and live in the ſame manner as they did in the days of Iſhmael their father.

He ſhall dwell in the preſence of all his brethren.] That is, his poſterity ſhall become ſo numerous and powerful, that they ſhall poſſeſs a very ſpacious country, and extend their borders to the territories of their brethren, or thoſe deſcended from Abram; nor ſhall they be diſpoſſeſſed of their country by any monarch of the earth. This prophecy has been literally fulfilled; for the country poſſeſſed by the children of Iſhmael, joined on the eaſt to that inhabited by the poſterity of Abram by Keturah, and on the north and weſt by the promiſed land. Nor have the children of Iſhmael ever been conquered, but retain their independency to this very day. See Univerſal Hiſtory, vol. xx. p. 196.

13 She called, &c.] In the original the ſenſe of this paſſage is plain, and may be thus tranſlated; She called the name of Jehovah that ſpake unto her, Thou art the God of viſion: for ſhe ſaid, what! do I alſo ſee after the viſion? In order to underſtand the meaning of the interrogation, do I alſo ſee after the viſion, it muſt be obſerved, that the inhabitants of theſe early ages were fully perſuaded, that all ſuch appearances were attended either with death, or a total deprivation of ſight. It was therefore natural for Hagar, after beholding this heavenly viſion, and finding her ſight unimpaired, to break out in a kind of rapture, and aſk herſelf that pertinent queſtion, do I ſee after the viſion? The patriarch Jacob makes nearly the ſame reflection on a ſimilar occaſion: I have ſeen God face to face, and my life is preſerved, Gen. xxxii. 30.

14 The well was called Beer-lahai-roi.] That is, the well of the living viſion.

Notes on the Seventeenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 I am the Almighty God.] Or all-ſufficient; and therefore able to fulfil the promiſe I am about to make thee.

4 Thou ſhalt be a father of many nations.] This promiſe, if we conſider it in its literal ſenſe, was fully completed; for Arabia, Idumea, and Canaan, were peopled by the deſcendants of Iſaac and Iſhmael; beſides which, many tribes ſprung from his children by Keturah. In a ſpiritual ſenſe, Abram may truly be called

5 ¶ Neither ſhall thy name any more be called Abram: but thy name ſhall be Abraham; for a father of many nations have I made thee.

6 And I will make thee exceeding fruitful, and will make nations of thee; and kings ſhall come out of thee.

7 And I will eſtabliſh my covenant between me and thee, and thy ſeed after thee, in their generations, for an everlaſting covenant; to be a God unto thee, and to thy ſeed after thee.

8 And I will give unto thee, and to thy ſeed after thee, the land wherein thou art a ſtranger, all the land of Canaan, for an everlaſting poſſeſſion; and I will be their God.

9 And God ſaid unto Abraham, Thou ſhalt keep my covenant therefore, thou, and thy ſeed after thee, in their generations.

10 ¶ This is my covenant, which ye ſhall keep between me and you, and thy ſeed after thee; every man-child among you ſhall be circumciſed.

11 And ye ſhall circumciſe the fleſh of your fore-ſkin; and it ſhall be a token of the covenant betwixt me and you.

12 And he that is eight days old ſhall be circumciſed among you, every man-child in your generations; he that is born in the houſe, or bought with money of any ſtranger, which is not of thy ſeed.

13 He that is born in thy houſe, and he that is bought with thy money, muſt needs be circumciſed: and my covenant ſhall be in your fleſh for an everlaſting covenant.

14 And the uncircumciſed man-child, whoſe fleſh of his fore-ſkin is not circumciſed, that ſoul ſhall be cut off from his people: he hath broken my covenant.

15 And God ſaid unto Abraham, As for Sarai thy wife, thou ſhalt not call her name Sarai, but Sarah ſhall her name be.

16 ¶ And I will bleſs her, and give thee a ſon alſo of her: yea, I will bleſs her, and ſhe ſhall be a mother of nations; kings of people ſhall be of her.

17 Then Abraham fell upon his face, and laughed, and ſaid in his heart, Shall a child be born unto him that is an hundred years old? and ſhall Sarah, that is ninety years old, bear?

18 And Abraham ſaid unto God, O that Iſhmael might live before thee!

19 And God ſaid, Sarah thy wife ſhall bear thee a ſon indeed; and thou ſhalt call his name Iſaac: and I will eſtabliſh my covenant with him for an everlaſting covenant, and with his ſeed after him.

20 And as for Iſhmael, I have heard thee: Behold, I have bleſſed him, and will make him fruitful, and will multiply him exceedingly: twelve princes ſhall he beget, and I will make him a great nation.

called the father of all religious men in every nation and kingdom on the whole earth.

5 Neither ſhall thy name be called Abram, &c.] Abram is commonly interpreted, mighty father, and Abraham, the mighty father of a multitude; for it was the cuſtom of the Orientals to change the names of perſons upon any ſingular events.

8 And I will be their God.] That is, thy ſeed ſhall be favoured with manifeſtations of my preſence, be under my peculiar protection, and enjoy the greateſt temporal proſperity, provided they keep my precepts, and walk in my ſtatutes. But this paſſage, conſidered in a ſpiritual ſenſe, has a much higher import; it implies that happy intercourſe with God which pious minds enjoy in the exerciſe of virtue and religion; that peculiar care which providence takes of good men, in making all events conducive to their happineſs, and finally, thoſe unſpeakable and immortal joys which conſiſt in that nearer and fuller intercourſe they are to have with God himſelf in heaven, which the ſcripture calls, ſeeing God, and being for ever with him.

10 This is my covenant, &c.] This is the ſign or token of my covenant; as the paſchal lamb, which was a memorial of the paſſover, is called the paſſover of the Lord.

11 It ſhall be a token of the covenant.] Circumciſion was a mark of their obligation to ſtudy that purity of mind, that ſanctity of manners, that real holineſs of heart and life, which alone render men of all ſects and denominations acceptable in the ſight of God; and without which no profeſſion of religion, no modes of worſhip are of any ſignification.

14 That ſoul ſhall be cut off from his people.] That is, if when he came to the age of thirteen years he did not cauſe it to be done. Some think it refers to the parents for neglect of performing the ceremony, and thus it is underſtood in the Syriac verſion---There is likewiſe a difficulty in the expreſſion, cut off: ſome think that death is implied by it, others a ſeparation from the ſeed of Abraham. In a ſpiritual ſenſe it implies, that all impure ſouls, whom the apoſtle calls uncircumciſed in their hearts are thereby cut off, or excluded from the favour of God, from thoſe pure and intellectual enjoyments which belong only to virtuous upright minds, the ſervants and choſen ſons of God; and unleſs they repent, will be excluded from the ſociety of the bleſſed.

15 Thou ſhalt not call her name Sarai, &c.] The word Sarai, in Hebrew, ſignifies princeſs, and Sarah princeſs of multitudes.

16 Give thee a ſon alſo of her.] By the fulfilling of this promiſe of God to Abraham, we ſee how the divine manifeſtations brighten and clear up as they advance nearer to their completion.

17 And Abraham---laughed.] This laugh proceeded from a ſudden

21 But my covenant will I eſtabliſh with Iſaac, which Sarah ſhall bear unto thee at this ſet time in the next year.

22 And he left of talking with him, and God went up from Abraham.

23 And Abraham took Iſhmael his ſon, and all that were born in his houſe, and all that were bought with his money, every male among the men of Abraham's houſe; and circumciſed the fleſh of their fore-ſkin, in the ſelf-ſame day, as God had ſaid unto him.

24 And Abraham was ninety years old and nine, when he was circumciſed in the fleſh of his fore-ſkin.

25 And Iſhmael his ſon was thirteen years old, when he was circumciſed in the fleſh of his fore-ſkin.

26 In the ſelf-ſame day was Abraham circumciſed, and Iſhmael his ſon.

27 And all the men of his houſe, born in the houſe, and bought with money of the ſtranger, were circumciſed with him.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Abraham entertaineth three angels. 9 Sarah's laughter. 17 Sodom's deſtruction revealed to Abraham. 23 His interceſſion.

AND the LORD appeared unto him in the plains of Mamre: and he ſat in the tent-door in the heat of the day;

2 And he lift up his eyes and looked, and lo, three men ſtood by him: and when he ſaw them, he ran to meet them from the tent-door, and bowed himſelf toward the ground,

3 And ſaid, My Lord, if now I have found favour in thy ſight, paſs not away, I pray thee, from thy ſervant:

4 Let a little water, I pray you, be fetched, and waſh your feet, and reſt yourſelves under the tree:

5 And I will fetch a morſel of bread, and comfort ye your hearts; after that ye ſhall paſs on: for therefore are ye come to your ſervant. And they ſaid, So do as thou haſt ſaid.

6 And Abraham haſtened into the tent unto Sarah, and ſaid, Make ready quickly three meaſures of fine meal, knead it, and make cakes upon the hearth.

7 And Abraham ran unto the herd, and fetcht a calf tender and good, and gave it unto a young man: and he haſted to dreſs it.

8 And he took butter, and milk, and the calf which he had dreſſed, and ſet it before them; and he ſtood by them under the tree, and they did eat.

9 ¶ And they ſaid unto him, Where is Sarah thy wife? and he ſaid, Behold in the tent.

10 And he ſaid, I will certainly return unto thee according to the time of life; and lo, Sarah thy wife ſhall have a ſon. And Sarah heard it in the tent-door, which was behind him.

11 Now Abraham and Sarah were old, and well ſtricken in age: and it ceaſed to be with Sarah after the manner of women.

ſudden tranſport of joy, and was purely an expreſſion of admiration.

22 God went up.] Probably the divine appearance aſcended in ſome reſplendent cloud.

23 In the ſelf-ſame day.] Abraham exhibits an inſtance of his faith and piety by an immediate obedience to the divine command, notwithſtanding the operation muſt have been painful and dangerous to a perſon of his age.

Notes on the Eighteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 He ſat in the tent-door.] Here is a beautiful picture of the antient hoſpitality of the eaſt: a venerable father waits at the door of his tent to invite ſtrangers, as they paſſed by, to refreſh themſelves during the heat of the day. Thus Homer deſcribes the hoſpitable Axylus. Iliad, b. 6.

Faſt by the road his ever-open door
Oblig'd the wealthy, and reliev'd the poor. Pope.

4 A little water—waſh your feet.] This a great refreſhment, in thoſe hot countries, to the weary traveller, and a polite ceremony obſerved before eating, when men wore only ſandals.

6 Three meaſures.] A meaſure, according to Cumberland, is the third part of an ephah, computed to weigh about twelve or thirteen pounds; ſo that the quantity of bread prepared muſt have been upwards of thirty-ſix pounds, which with the calf that was dreſſed, was a very plentiful entertainment: but we muſt conſider, that the inhabitants of thoſe antient times lived laborious lives, and enjoyed perfect health, therefore we need not wonder at their extraordinary appetite and good digeſtion: beſides, the overplus might ſerve to ſupply Abraham's numerous family; or, poſſibly the benevolent patriarch might intend to furniſh his gueſts with a viaticum for the reſt of their journey, according to the manners of ancient times.

8 They did eat.] Or ſeemed to eat.

10 I will return to thee according to the time of life.] Either at this ſame time of the following year, as the Syriac verſion has it;

12 Therefore Sarah laughed within herſelf, ſaying, After I am waxed old, ſhall I have pleaſure, my lord being old alſo?

13 And the LORD ſaid unto Abraham, Wherefore did Sarah laugh, ſaying, Shall I of a ſurety bear a child, which am old?

14 Is any thing too hard for the LORD? At the time appointed will I return unto thee, according to the time of life, and Sarah ſhall have a ſon.

15 Then Sarah denied, ſaying, I laughed not; for ſhe was afraid. And he ſaid, Nay, but thou didſt laugh.

16 And the men roſe up from thence, and looked toward Sodom: And Abraham went with them to bring them on the way.

17 ¶ And the LORD ſaid, Shall I hide from Abraham that thing which I do;

18 Seeing that Abraham ſhall ſurely become a great and mighty nation, and all the nations of the earth ſhall be bleſſed in him?

19 For I know him, that he will command his children, and his houſhold after him, and they ſhall keep the way of the LORD, to do juſtice and judgement; that the LORD may bring upon Abraham that which he hath ſpoken of him.

20 And the LORD ſaid, Becauſe the cry of Sodom and Gomorrah is great, and becauſe their ſin is very grievous;

21 I will go down now, and ſee whether they have done altogether according to the cry of it, which is come unto me; and if not, I will know.

22 And the men turned their faces from thence, and went toward Sodom: but Abraham ſtood yet before the LORD.

23 ¶ And Abraham drew near, and ſaid, Wilt thou alſo deſtroy the righteous with the wicked?

24 Peradventure there be fifty righteous within the city: wilt thou alſo deſtroy, and not ſpare the place for the fifty righteous that are therein?

25 That be far from thee to do after this manner, to ſlay the righteous with the wicked, and that the righteous ſhould be as the wicked: that be far from thee: ſhall not the Judge of all the earth do right?

26 And the LORD ſaid, If I find in Sodom fifty righteous within the city, then I will ſpare all the place for their ſakes.

27 And Abraham anſwered and ſaid, Behold now, I have taken upon me to ſpeak unto the LORD, which am but duſt and aſhes:

28 Peradventure there ſhall lack five of the fifty righteous: wilt thou deſtroy all the city for lack of five? And he ſaid, If I find there forty and five, I will not deſtroy it.

29 And he ſpake unto him yet again, and ſaid, Peradventure there ſhall be forty found there. And he ſaid, I will not do it for forty's ſake.

30 And he ſaid unto him, Oh let not the LORD be angry, and I will ſpeak: Peradventure there ſhall thirty be found there. And he ſaid, I will not do it, if I find thirty there.

31 And he ſaid, Behold now, I have taken upon me to ſpeak unto the LORD: Peradventure there ſhall be twenty found there. And he ſaid, I will not deſtroy it for twenty's ſake.

it; or, as others, according to the time of perfecting the child's life in the womb, that is, within the ſpace of nine months.

20 The cry of Sodom.] Their flagrant crimes called aloud to heaven for vengeance.

21 I will go down now and ſee, &c.] The great judge of all the earth has here condeſcended to teach ſinful mortals a leſſon of the laſt importance to the good of ſociety, namely, always to proportion the puniſhment to the crime. But we muſt not underſtand the words in a literal ſenſe, the omniſcient Being was fully apprized of all the crimes committed in Sodom; for he is about our path and about our bed, and ſpieth out all our ways; it is a figurative expreſſion, accommodated to our capacities.

22 Stood yet before the Lord.] Not before any of the three angels, as ſome interpret it, for they were gone towards Sodom, but before the Divine Majeſty.

25 Shall not the judge of all the earth do right?] It does by no means follow from hence, that God ought always to make a viſible diſtinction between good and bad men, with regard to temporal rewards and puniſhments; or that the virtuous ought never to be involved in the ſame calamities with the wicked. The contrary of this is plain from daily experience, and confirmed by the obſervation of the wiſeſt of men, There is one event to the righteous and to the wicked, Eccl. ix. 2. In extraordinary caſes, indeed, ſuch as this before us, the Almighty, for the more ſignal vindication of his providence, in the infancy of the world, might think fit miraculouſly to interpoſe for the deliverance of righteous Lot, as he had done before with regard to Noah; but in the ordinary courſe of providence, there is a promiſcuous diſtribution of proſperity and adverſity, and that no way inconſiſtent with this general truth, that the judge of all the earth does always right. For with regard to theſe external things, which we call the gifts of fortune, or the goods of this life, they are either bleſſings or curſes to men, according to the uſe they make of them; and therefore it was fit they ſhould be promiſcuouſly diſtributed. But then the good man reaps the peculiar fruits of virtue and religion, which is ſuch a teſtimony of 32 And he ſaid, Oh let not the LORD be angry, and I will ſpeak yet but this once: Peradventure ten ſhall be found there. And he ſaid, I will not deſtroy it for ten's ſake.

33 And the LORD went his way, as ſoon as he had left communing with Abraham: and Abraham returned unto his place.

CHAP. XIX.

1 Lot entertaineth two angels. 24 Sodom and Gomorrah deſtroyed. 26 Lot's wife puniſhed. 31 His inceſt.

AND there came two angels to Sodom at even; and Lot ſat in the gate of Sodom: and Lot ſeeing them, roſe up to meet them; and he bowed himſelf with his face toward the ground;

2 And he ſaid, Behold now, my lords, turn in, I pray you, into your ſervant's houſe, and tarry all night, and waſh your feet, and ye ſhall riſe up early, and go on your ways. And they ſaid, Nay; but we will abide in the ſtreet all night.

3 And he preſſed upon them greatly; and they turned in unto him, and entered into his houſe: and he made them a feaſt, and did bake unleavened bread, and they did eat.

4 But before they lay down, the men of the city, even the men of Sodom, compaſſed the houſe round, both old and young, all the people from every quarter:

5 And they called unto Lot, and ſaid unto him, Where are the men which came in to thee this night? bring them out unto us, that we may know them.

6 And Lot went out at the door unto them, and ſhut the door after him,

7 And ſaid, I pray you, brethren, do not ſo wickedly.

8 Behold now, I have two daughters which have not known man; let me, I pray you, bring them out unto you, and do ye to them as is good in your eyes: only unto theſe men do nothing: for therefore came they under the ſhadow of my roof.

9 And they ſaid, Stand back. And they ſaid again, This one fellow came in to ſojourn, and he will needs be a judge: now will we deal worſe with thee, than with them. And they preſſed ſore upon the man, even Lot, and came near to break the door.

10 But the men put forth their hand, and pulled Lot into the houſe to them, and ſhut to the door.

11 And they ſmote the men that were at the door of the houſe with blindneſs, both ſmall and great: ſo that they wearied themſelves to find the door.

12 And the men ſaid unto Lot, Haſt thou here any beſides? ſon in law, and thy ſons, and thy daughters, and whatſoever thou haſt in the city, bring them out of this place:

13 For we will deſtroy this place: becauſe the cry of them is waxen great before the face of the LORD; and the LORD hath ſent us to deſtroy it.

14 And Lot went out, and ſpake unto his ſons in law, which married his daughters, and ſaid, Up, get ye out of this place; for the LORD will deſtroy this city: but he ſeemed as one that mocked unto his ſons in law.

15 And when the morning aroſe, then the angels haſtened Lot, ſaying, Ariſe, take thy wife, and thy two daughters, which are here; leſt thou be conſumed in the iniquity of the city.

Providence in his favour, as renders his lot, even in this life, much happier than that of his wicked neighbour. And if there are peculiar inſtances to be found, where good men are more unhappy than the moſt vicious, theſe ſeeming irregularities will be ſufficiently accounted for in a future life, when the judge of all the earth will bring forth his righteouſneſs as the light, and his judgment as the noon-day.

Notes on the Nineteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Lot ſat in the gate.] To invite ſtrangers to his houſe, or to tranſact ſome public or private buſineſs, as was the cuſtom of thoſe early days.

4 Both old and young.] A moſt ſhocking inſtance of an univerſal depravation of manners!

5 Bring them out unto us, that we may know them.] The men of Sodom were ſo wicked, that even the laws of hoſpitality, held ſacred among all the oriental nations, were no ſecurity in that city. Their unnatural luſts had ſuch predominance over them, that they attempted to commit the moſt heinous of crimes upon the perſons of ſtrangers; a ſufficient demonſtration that the whole city was deluged with impiety, when ſuch ſhocking abuſes were practiſed openly, and without reſtraint.

8 Behold now, I have two daughters.] An inſtance how ſacred the laws of hoſpitality were eſteemed, when Lot had rather expoſe his daughters to the luſts of theſe moſt reprobate men, than ſuffer his gueſts to be injured—Perhaps he went too far; but the great perturbation of his mind might make him ſpeak unadviſedly.

Lot and his two Daughters going out of Sodom.

Gen: XIX, 15 to 30.

16 And while he lingered, the men laid hold upon his hand, and upon the hand of his wife, and upon the hand of his two daughters; the LORD being merciful unto him: and they brought him forth, and set him without the city.

17 And it came to pass, when they had brought them forth abroad, that he said, Escape for thy life; look not behind thee, neither stay thou in all the plain: escape to the mountain, lest thou be consumed.

18 And Lot said unto them, Oh not so, my Lord:

19 Behold now, thy servant hath found grace in thy sight, and thou hast magnified thy mercy, which thou hast shewed unto me in saving my life: and I cannot escape to the mountain, lest some evil take me, and I die.

20 Behold now, this city is near to flee unto, and it is a little one: oh let me escape thither, (is it not a little one?) and my soul shall live.

21 And he said unto him, See, I have accepted thee concerning this thing also, that I will not overthrow this city, for the which thou hast spoken.

22 Haste thee, escape thither; for I cannot do any thing till thou be come thither: therefore the name of the city was called Zoar.

23 The sun was risen upon the earth when Lot entered into Zoar.

24 ¶ Then the LORD rained upon Sodom and upon Gomorrah brimstone and fire from the LORD out of heaven:

25 And he overthrew those cities, and all the plain, and all the inhabitants of the cities, and that which grew upon the ground.

26 ¶ But his wife looked back from behind him, and she became a pillar of salt.

27 And Abraham gat up early in the morning to the place where he stood before the LORD:

28 And he looked toward Sodom and Gomorrah, and toward all the land of the plain, and beheld, and lo, the smoke of the country went up as the smoke of a furnace.

29 And it came to pass, when God destroyed the cities of the plain, that God remembered Abraham, and sent Lot out of the midst of the overthrow, when he overthrew the cities in which Lot dwelt.

30 And Lot went up out of Zoar, and dwelt in the mountain, and his two daughters with him; for he feared to dwell in Zoar: and he dwelt in a cave, he and his two daughters.

31 ¶ And the first-born said unto the younger, Our father is old, and there is not a man in the earth to come in unto us after the manner of all the earth:

32 Come, let us make our father drink wine, and we will lie with him, that we may preserve seed of our father.

33 And they made their father drink wine that night: and the first-born went in, and lay with her father; and he perceived not when she lay down, nor when she arose.

34 And it came to pass on the morrow, that the first-born said unto the younger, Behold, I lay yesternight with my father: let us make him drink wine this night also; and go thou in, and lie with him, that we may preserve seed of our father.

35 And they made their father drink wine that night also: and the younger arose, and lay with him; and he perceived not when she lay down, nor when she arose.

19 I cannot escape to the mountain.] Seeing the destruction begun, he was afraid he could not reach the mountain.

22 Called Zoar.] One of the five cities in the plain where Sodom stood: the four cities which were destroyed were Sodom, Gomorrah, Admah, and Zeboiim: Zoar was saved at Lot's intercession; a wonderful instance of the divine clemency, which in the midst of wrath remembereth mercy.

24 The Lord rained, &c.] The repetition of the word Lord in this verse is an idiom of scripture-language; Jehovah rained from Jehovah, that is, from himself, from the place of his peculiar presence.

25 He overthrew those cities.] The storm of thunder and lightening, or of liquid fire, which overthrew those cities, is thought to have been attended with a dreadful earthquake, because the adjacent country was turned into the lake, now called the Salt, or Dead-Sea.

26 His wife looked back, &c.] Out of anxiety for the place of her nativity she turned back to see what became of the city and her kindred—It is probable she returned part of the way back, in order to have saved some of her goods, and that in returning she was over-taken with the storm of thunder and lightning---For our Saviour, foretelling the destruction of Jerusalem, after having admonished his disciples not to return back, (Luke xvii. 31.) immediately adds, Remember Lot's wife; thereby intimating that she had returned back---By a pillar of salt, is probably meant a lasting monument; as a perpetual covenant is called, a covenant of salt, Numb. xviii. 19.

31 There is not a man, &c.] That is, all our kindred and acquaintance are destroyed, and there is not a free man besides our father remaining in all the country. It is natural to suppose that the daughters of Lot, having long seen the unbounded licentiousness that reigned in Sodom, had no great horror for the crime of incest;

36 Thus were both the daughters of Lot with child by their father.

37 And the first-born bare a son, and called his name Moab: the same is the father of the Moabites unto this day.

38 And the younger, she also bare a son, and called his name Ben-ammi: the same is the father of the children of Ammon unto this day.

CHAP. XX.

1 Abraham denieth his wife, and loseth her. 14 Abimelech restoreth her.

AND Abraham journeyed from thence toward the south country, and dwelled between Kadesh and Shur, and sojourned in Gerar.

2 And Abraham said of Sarah his wife, She is my sister: and Abimelech king of Gerar sent, and took Sarah.

3 But God came to Abimelech in a dream by night, and said to him, Behold, thou art but a dead man, for the woman which thou hast taken: for she is a man's wife.

4 But Abimelech had not come near her: and he said, LORD, wilt thou slay also a righteous nation?

5 Said he not unto me, She is my sister? and she, even she herself said, He is my brother: in the integrity of my heart, and innocency of my hands have I done this.

6 And God said unto him in a dream, Yea, I know that thou didst this in the integrity of thy heart; for I also with-held thee from sinning against me: therefore suffered I thee not to touch her.

7 Now therefore restore the man his wife; for he is a prophet, and he shall pray for thee, and thou shalt live: and if thou restore her not, know thou that thou shalt surely die, thou, and all that are thine.

8 Therefore Abimelech rose early in the morning, and called all his servants, and told all these things in their ears: and the men were sore afraid.

9 Then Abimelech called Abraham, and said unto him, What hast thou done unto us? and what have I offended thee, that thou hast brought on me and on my kingdom a great sin? thou hast done deeds unto me that ought not to be done.

10 And Abimelech said unto Abraham, What sawest thou, that thou hast done this thing?

11 And Abraham said, Because I thought, Surely the fear of God is not in this place: and they will slay me for my wife's sake.

12 And yet indeed she is my sister; she is the daughter of my father, but not the daughter of my mother: and she became my wife.

13 And it came to pass, when God caused me to wander from my father's house, that I said unto her, This is thy kindness which thou shalt shew unto me; at every place whither we shall come, say of me, He is my brother.

14 ¶ And Abimelech took sheep, and oxen, and men-servants, and women-servants, and gave them unto Abraham, and restored him Sarah his wife.

incest; but hoped by this method, which to them seemed the only one, to have a chance for bringing into the world the promised seed, which was to break the serpent's head.

37 Moab.] In Hebrew, signifies from my father.

38 Ben-ammi.] That is, the son of my people.

Notes on the Twentieth Chapter.

Ver. 2 She is my sister.] Le Clerc is of opinion, that this fact is recorded out of the order of time, and that it must have happened several years before; it being hardly supposeable that a woman of ninety could, even in that age of the world, retain so much beauty as to make young men fall in love with her. To which it may be added, that she must now have been with child, and therefore it is not likely she would chuse to incur infamy by concealing her marriage in that condition.

Abimelech.] A name common to the kings of Palestine; the word signifies, my father is king.

AND the Lord viſited Sarah as he had ſaid, and the Lord did unto Sarah as he had ſpoken.

2 ¶ For Sarah conceived, and bare Abraham a ſon in his old age, at the ſet time of which God had ſpoken to him.

3 And Abraham called the name of his ſon that was born unto him, whom Sarah bare to him, Iſaac.

4 And Abraham circumciſed his ſon Iſaac being eight days old, as God had commanded him.

5 And Abraham was an hundred years old, when his ſon Iſaac was born unto him.

6 And Sarah ſaid, God hath made me to laugh, ſo that all that hear will laugh with me.

7 And ſhe ſaid, Who would have ſaid unto Abraham, that Sarah ſhould have given children ſuck? for I have born him a ſon in his old age.

8 And the child grew, and was weaned: and Abraham made a great feaſt the ſame day that Iſaac was weaned.

10 Wherefore ſhe ſaid unto Abraham, Caſt out this bond-woman, and her ſon: for the ſon of this bond-woman ſhall not be heir with my ſon, even with Iſaac.

11 And the thing was very grievous in Abraham's ſight, becauſe of his ſon.

12 And God ſaid unto Abraham, Let it not be grievous in thy ſight, becauſe of the lad, and becauſe of thy bond-woman; in all that Sarah hath ſaid unto thee, hearken unto her voice: for in Iſaac ſhall thy ſeed be called.

13 And alſo of the ſon of the bond-woman will I make a nation, becauſe he is thy ſeed.

14 And Abraham roſe up early in the morning, and took bread, and a bottle of water, and gave it unto Hagar, (putting it on her ſhoulder,) and the child, and ſent her away: and ſhe departed, and wandered in the wilderneſs of Beer-ſheba.

Notes on the Twenty-firſt Chapter.

Ver. 6 God hath made me to laugh.] That is, to rejoice exceedingly.

9 Saw the ſon of Hagar---mocking.] The meaning is, Sarah had obſerved Iſhmael inſulting and vexing her ſon Iſaac.

11 And the thing was grievous in Abraham's ſight.] Abraham was humane and compaſſionate; an indulgent huſband, and likewiſe a tender-hearted father; fond of Iſhmael, and willing to oblige his wife: here therefore ariſes the ſtruggle between his conjugal and parental affection.

14 And Abraham roſe up early in the morning, &c.] Let us examine the circumſtances of this tranſaction, in order to remove the opprobrium that has been thrown upon it by the contemners of religion. In order to which, it will be neceſſary to obſerve, that though Iſhmael is called a child in our tranſlation, yet he was really fifteen or ſixteen years old; for he was thirteen when he was circumciſed, which was before Sarah had conceived; and if we ſuppoſe, that Iſaac was two years old when he was weaned, Iſhmael muſt be near ſixteen at the time when Abraham ſent him away. Another obſervation is alſo neceſſary, namely, that by bread and water, is meant all kinds of proviſion neceſſary for their journey, till they arrived at the place intended. Theſe obſervations being premiſed, let us return to Hagar and Iſhmael, who had now retired from Abraham's tent. It was no difficult thing for any perſon to find a livelihood in this early age of the world; thoſe who had flocks, found ground enough to ſpare in every country to maintain them; and creatures were ſo numerous, that a perſon who had no flocks, might, in the wilderneſs and uncultivated places, kill enough of all ſorts for his maintenance, without injuring any body: and accordingly we find, that Iſhmael choſe to reſide in the wilderneſs, where he became an archer. Nor muſt we imagine, that this wilderneſs was quite an uninhabited deſert; for there were houſes, and even cities or villages ſcattered up and down in it; but being a mountainous tract, and on that account leſs inhabited than other parts of the country, it was called a wilderneſs. And it appears from the ſequel, that Hagar met with no great difficulty in providing for herſelf and her ſon. Nor did Iſhmael fare any worſe than was 17 And God heard the voice of the lad; and the angel of God called to Hagar out of heaven, and ſaid unto her, What aileth thee, Hagar? fear not; for God hath heard the voice of the lad where he is.

18 Ariſe, lift up the lad, and hold him in thine hand; for I will make him a great nation.

19 And God opened her eyes, and ſhe ſaw a well of water; and ſhe went, and filled the bottle with water, and gave the lad drink.

20 And God was with the lad; and he grew, and dwelt in the wilderneſs, and became an archer.

21 And he dwelt in the wilderneſs of Paran: and his mother took him a wife out of the land of Egypt.

22 ¶ And it came to paſs at that time, that Abimelech, and Phichol the chief captain of his hoſt ſpake unto Abraham, ſaying, God is with thee in all that thou doeſt:

23 Now therefore ſwear unto me here by God, that thou wilt not deal falſly with me, nor with my ſon, nor with my ſon's ſon: but according to the kindneſs that I have done unto thee, thou ſhalt do unto me, and to the land wherein thou haſt ſojourned.

24 And Abraham ſaid, I will ſwear.

25 And Abraham reproved Abimelech becauſe of a well of water, which Abimelech's ſervants had violently taken away.

26 And Abimelech ſaid, I wot not who hath done this thing: neither didſt thou tell me, neither yet heard I of it, but to day.

27 And Abraham took ſheep and oxen, and gave them unto Abimelech; and both of them made a covenant.

28 And Abraham ſet ſeven ew-lambs of the flock by themſelves.

29 And Abimelech ſaid unto Abraham, What mean theſe ſeven ew-lambs, which thou haſt ſet by themſelves?

30 And he ſaid, For theſe ſeven ew-lambs ſhalt thou take of my hand, that they may be a witneſs unto me, that I have digged this well.

31 Wherefore he called that place Beer-ſheba: becauſe there they ſware both of them.

32 Thus they made a covenant at Beer-ſheba: then Abimelech roſe up, and Phichol the chief captain of his hoſt, and they returned into the land of the Philiſtines.

33 And Abraham planted a grove in Beer-ſheba, and called there on the name of the LORD, the everlaſting God.

34 And Abraham ſojourned in the Philiſtines land many days.

common for the younger ſons to do in thoſe days, when they were diſmiſſed, in order to ſettle in different parts of the world. Jacob was diſmiſſed in the ſame manner from Iſaac, without ſervants or attendants. Nay, he had ſo little reaſon to expect any great favour from his relations, to whom he was repairing, that we find him praying earneſtly to God, that he would vouchſafe to direct him in the way that he was to go, and to give him bread to eat and raiment to put on. All the proviſions therefore made by parents for their younger ſons in thoſe days, was the ſending them abroad to acquire an independent ſettlement.

19 God opened her eyes.] He cauſed her to ſee a well, which ſhe had not before taken notice of, by reaſon of her diſcompoſure of mind---It may likewiſe be here obſerved, that the Arabians uſed to cover the mouths of their wells with ſand or earth, leaving only ſome mark whereby they themſelves might know them.

22 And Abraham reproved Abimelech, &c.] In order to underſtand the reaſon for Abraham's reproving Abimelech on account of a well of water, it muſt be remembered, that in thoſe hot and dry countries, a well of water was an ineſtimable treaſure, and the digging it a work of prodigious labour; both from the rockineſs of the ſoil, and the great depth it was neceſſary to dig before they could find a ſpring.

33 Abraham planted a grove.] For the worſhip of God: for, beſides that groves are proper places for retirement, the ſilence and natural gloom which reign in thoſe bowery retirements, diſpoſe the mind to be ſerious and contemplative: hence they were choſen by the pious fathers of antiquity as their temples, and ſolemn theatres of devotion.

Notes on the Twenty-ſecond Chapter.

Ver. 1 God did tempt Abraham.] That is, he gave him an opportunity of exhibiting to men of all ages a glorious proof of his faith in the divine power and veracity, that he might make him happy in a diſtinguiſhing reward.

2 Take now thy ſon, thine only ſon Iſaac, whom thou loveſt.] The words

3 ¶ And Abraham roſe up early in the morning, and ſaddled his aſs, and took two of his young men with him, and Iſaac his ſon; and clave the wood for the burnt-offering, and roſe up, and went unto the place of which God had told him.

4 Then on the third day Abraham lift up his eyes, and ſaw the place afar off.

5 And Abraham ſaid unto his young men, Abide ye here with the aſs; and I and the lad will go yonder and worſhip, and come again to you.

6 And Abraham took the wood of the burnt-offering, and laid it upon Iſaac his ſon: and he took the fire in his hand, and a knife: and they went both of them together.

7 And Iſaac ſpake unto Abraham his father, and ſaid, My father: and he ſaid, Here am I, my ſon. And he ſaid, Behold the fire and the wood: but where is the lamb for a burnt-offering?

8 And Abraham ſaid, My ſon, God will provide himſelf a lamb for a burnt-offering: ſo they went both of them together.

9 And they came to the place which God had told him of; and Abraham built an altar there, and laid the wood in order; and bound Iſaac his ſon, and laid him on the altar upon the wood.

10 And Abraham ſtretched forth his hand, and took the knife to ſlay his ſon.

11 And the angel of the LORD called unto him out of heaven, and ſaid, Abraham, Abraham: and he ſaid, Here am I.

12 ¶ And he ſaid, Lay not thine hand upon the lad, neither do thou any thing unto him:

words in the original run thus; Take now thy ſon, thine only ſon, whom thou loveſt, even Iſaac: this arrangement of the words makes the ſenſe far more beautiful: how elegantly every character riſes higher and higher, in order to make ſtronger impreſſions on the mind of the holy patriarch.

Into the land of Moriah.] The word Moriah ſignifies God manifeſted, and was ſo called from God's appearing there to Abraham. It was on this very mountain that the temple of Solomon was built, (ſee 2 Chron. chap. iii. 1.) and on one part of it, namely, mount Calvary, our bleſſed Saviour offered himſelf a ſacrifice to attone for the ſins of all mankind. He who cloaths himſelf with light as with a garment, and walks upon the wings of the wind, was graciouſly pleaſed to wear the wretched robe of mortality, and ſuffer a cruel and ignominious death upon the croſs: which ſacrifice was prefigured by this intentional offering of Iſaac.

And offer him there for a burnt-offering.] A material objection has been ſtarted here, which it will be neceſſary to remove; namely, how Abraham could be ſatisfied that this command was from God, when it appears inconſiſtent with the very nature of God, and ſubverſive of morality. Now it muſt be granted, that Abraham was perfectly well acquainted with the manner of God's appearing to him, and communicating his will. It was in obedience to the command of God, thus ſignified to him, that he had left his own country and kindred, and retired into a ſtrange land. He was alſo informed by the ſame way of extraordinary revelation, that he ſhould have a ſon by Sarah his wife, though he was an hundred years old, and ſhe ninety, and had been barren all her days; ſo that Abraham could be no ſtranger to revelations of this kind, and conſequently muſt know that they came from God. And being convinced of this, he muſt alſo be fully ſatisfied, that a Being of infinite wiſdom and goodneſs could give no command, that would ultimately terminate in calamity upon innocence and obedience; and therefore, when a command of an intricate and myſterious nature was given him, what had he to do but to obey? He well knew that this very ſon, whom God now demanded, was given him in an extraordinary manner; and why might he not be taken away in a manner as extraordinary? He alſo knew, that both himſelf and his ſon were at God's diſpoſal, who was ſupreme Lord of both, and who, as he had a right to demand Iſaac's life, had likewiſe a right to chuſe his inſtrument. And when he was taken away, he ſtill knew, that God could again reſtore him in a manner more extraordinary; whence St. Paul's reflection is a lively comment on the principles of Abraham's obedience on this occaſion. By faith, Abraham offered up Iſaac; (that is, intentionally) accounting that God was able to raiſe him up even from the dead, Heb. ix. 17, &c. And, indeed, Abraham had no other poſſible way of reconciling God's promiſe of giving him a numerous poſterity by Iſaac, and this command to offer him for a burnt-offering: for if it implied a total deſtruction of Iſaac's life, God would have falſified his promiſe. Now if we view the caſe in this light, we ſhall be convinced, that its horror was greatly alleviated in the parent's eye; for though he underſtood the order from God to be a command to put his ſon to death, yet he firmly believed this death was not laſting and perpetual; but a death that was to be immediately aboliſhed, and ſucceeded by a reſurrection to a long and proſperous life; a reſurrection that would have given the father a pleaſure equal to the pain of having deprived his ſon of life, heightened the dignity of his own character, and greatly increaſed the fame of his piety and virtue; a reſurrection that muſt have filled the breaſt of his ſon with a joy unſpeakable and full of glory, and rendered his name venerable and ſacred among all the generations of the earth.

6 Abraham took the wood---and laid it upon Iſaac.] This is a figure of Chriſt, who carried his own croſs. Hence likewiſe it appears, that Iſaac was full grown; it is generally thought he was upwards of thirty years of age.

7 And Iſaac ſaid, My father---Behold, &c.] So affecting an expreſſion from the mouth of a beloved ſon, could not fail of waking in Abraham's boſom all the tenderneſs of a parent: and the calmneſs with which the patriarch anſwers it, ſtrongly marks the firmneſs of his reſolution; My ſon, God will provide himſelf a lamb for a burnt-offering.

9 And bound his ſon Iſaac.] No doubt but Abraham had now acquainted him with the will of God, and perſuaded him to ſubmit to it willingly; for otherwiſe he was ſtrong enough to have reſiſted the feeble efforts of his aged father, who was now 125 years of age. Herein he prefigured Chriſt the more exactly, who laid down his life of himſelf.

12 Lay not thine hand upon the lad.] Abraham, fully perſuaded in his own mind that the command was from God, and that the Sovereign of the univerſe had a right to employ him or any other perſon as his inſtrument, in taking away a life that he had given, for now I know that thou feareſt God, ſeeing thou haſt not with-held thy ſon, thine only ſon from me.

13 And Abraham lifted up his eyes, and looked, and behold, behind him a ram caught in a thicket by his horns: and Abraham went and took the ram, and offered him up for a burnt-offering in the ſtead of his ſon.

14 And Abraham called the name of that place Jehovah-jireh: as it is ſaid to this day, In the mount of the LORD it ſhall be ſeen.

15 ¶ And the angel of the Lord called unto Abraham out of heaven the ſecond time,

16 And ſaid, By my ſelf have I ſworn, ſaith the LORD, for becauſe thou haſt done this thing, and haſt not with-held thy ſon, thine only ſon:

17 That in bleſſing I will bleſs thee, and in multiplying I will multiply thy ſeed as the ſtars of the heaven, and as the ſand which is upon the ſea-ſhore: and thy ſeed ſhall poſſeſs the gate of his enemies;

18 And in thy ſeed ſhall all the nations of the earth be bleſſed; becauſe thou haſt obeyed my voice.

19 So Abraham returned unto his young men, and they roſe up, and went together to Beer-ſheba; and Abraham dwelt at Beer-ſheba.

20 ¶ And it came to paſs after theſe things, that it was told Abraham, ſaying, Behold, Milcah ſhe hath alſo born children unto thy brother Nahor;

21 Huz his firſt born, and Buz his brother, and Kemuel the father of Aram, 22 And Cheſed, and Hazo, and Pildaſh, and Jidlaph, and Bethuel.

23 And Bethuel begat Rebekah: theſe eight Milcah did bear to Nahor, Abraham's brother.

24 And his concubine, whoſe name was Reumah, ſhe bare alſo Tebah, and Gaham, and Thahaſh, and Maachah.

5 And the children of Heth anſwered Abraham, ſaying unto him, given, was abſolutely determined to comply with the order, and leave the conſequences to Providence; when the Almighty, who only intended to give his ſervant an opportunity of diſplaying, to future ages, a glorious example of abſolute obedience and reſignation to the Divine Will, was pleaſed to interpoſe, before he ſtruck the fatal blow; and thus, to the inexpreſſible joy of Abraham, unravelled this intricate plot in the drama of Providence. And hence we ſee, that this inſtance could give no ſanction to that abominable cuſtom, afterwards introduced, of offering human ſacrifices; for God, by countermanding his own order, plainly declared, that no future pretences to a Divine Command, no profeſſions of faith in the true God, no zeal for the honour of religion, could ever juſtify ſuch ſacrifices, or recommend them to the Divine Acceptance: for it is plain from hence, that God had rather diſpenſe with the illuſtration of his own attributes and perfections, than diſplay them by ſuch methods as might have the leaſt tendency to increaſe the miſery and deſtruction of mankind.

Now I know, &c.] That is, I have both proved and approved thee.

In the mount of the Lord it ſhall be ſeen.] Rather, In the mount of the Lord it ſhall be provided: that is, in the greateſt difficulties, when all human aſſiſtance is vain, God will make a ſuitable proviſion for the deliverance and ſupport of thoſe who put their truſt in him.

20 And it came to paſs, &c.] By the following genealogy, we ſee whence Rebekah, the wife of Iſaac, was deſcended.

Notes on the Twenty-third Chapter.

Ver. 2 To mourn—and to weep.] The firſt relates to private ſorrow, the other to public mourning.

3 And Abraham ſtood up, &c.] By this it ſeems that Abraham expreſſed his mourning as he ſat upon the ground, according to the cuſtom of after-ages. See Job, chap. ii.

4 Give me a poſſeſſion of a burying-place.] It ſeems to have been a common opinion, in the firſt ages of the world, that it was ignominious to be buried in ground belonging to another; for we find every family of note had a ſepulchre of their own. The moſt antient and natural way of diſpoſing of the dead is that of interring; thus the body returns to the earth from whence it was taken.

6 Thou art a mighty prince.] Heb. A prince of God, that is, a prince of diſtinguiſhed greatneſs, worth, and dignity.

Notes on the Twenty-fourth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Abraham was old.] He was now 140 years of age, for he was 100 when Iſaac was born, and Iſaac was 40 when he married Rebekah.

2 Put thy hand under my thigh.] A common form of ſwearing among the Hebrews, and all the Orientals.

4 But go unto my country.] To Meſopotamia, the place of his nativity.

5 Muſt I bring thy ſon again?] The meaning is; If the woman of my kindred, and which ſpake unto me, and that ſware unto me, ſaying, Unto thy ſeed will I give this land; he ſhall ſend his angel before thee, and thou ſhalt take a wife unto my ſon from thence.

8 And if the woman will not be willing to follow thee, then thou ſhalt be clear from this my oath: only bring not my ſon thither again.

9 And the ſervant put his hand under the thigh of Abraham his maſter, and ſware to him concerning that matter.

10 And the ſervant took ten camels, of the camels of his maſter, and departed; (for all the goods of his maſter were in his hand:) and he aroſe, and went to Meſopotamia, unto the city of Nahor.

11 And he made his camels to kneel down without the city by a well of water, at the time of the evening, even the time that women go out to draw water.

12 And he ſaid, O LORD God of my maſter Abraham, I pray thee ſend me good ſpeed this day, and ſhew kindneſs unto my maſter Abraham.

13 Behold, I ſtand here by the well of water; and the daughters of the men of the city come out to draw water:

15 And it came to paſs before he had done ſpeaking, that behold, Rebekah came out, who was born to Bethuel, ſon of Milcah, the wife of Nahor, Abraham's brother, with her pitcher upon her ſhoulder.

16 And the damſel was very fair to look upon; a virgin; neither had any man known her: and ſhe went down to the well, and filled her pitcher, and came up.

17 And the ſervant ran to meet her, and ſaid, Let me (I pray thee) drink a little water of thy pitcher.

18 And ſhe ſaid, Drink, my lord: and ſhe haſted, and let down her pitcher upon her hand, and gave him drink.

19 And when ſhe had done giving him drink, ſhe ſaid, I will draw water for thy camels alſo, until they have done drinking.

20 And ſhe haſted, and emptied her pitcher into the trough, and ran again unto the well to draw water, and drew for all his camels.

21 And the man wondering at her, held his peace, to wit, Whether the LORD had made his journey proſperous or not.

22 And it came to paſs as the camels had done drinking, that the man took a golden ear-ring, of half a ſhekel weight, and two bracelets for her hands, of ten ſhekels weight of gold;

23 And ſaid, Whoſe daughter art thou? tell me, I pray thee: is there room in thy father's houſe for us to lodge in?

24 And ſhe ſaid unto him, I am the daughter of Bethuel the ſon of Milcah, which ſhe bare unto Nahor.

25 She ſaid moreover unto him, We have both ſtraw and provender enough, and room to lodge in.

26 And the man bowed down his head, and worſhipped the LORD.

27 And he ſaid, Bleſſed be the LORD God of my maſter Abraham, who hath not left deſtitute my maſter of his mercy and his truth: I being in the way, the LORD led me to the houſe of my maſter's brethren.

28 And the damſel ran, and told them of her mother's houſe theſe things.

name was Laban: and Laban ran out unto the man, unto the well.

30 And it came to pass when he saw the ear-ring and bracelets upon his sister's hands, and when he heard the words of Rebekah his sister, saying, Thus spake the man unto me; that he came unto the man; and behold, he stood by the camels at the well.

31 And he said, Come in, thou blessed of the LORD, wherefore standest thou without? for I have prepared the house, and room for the camels.

32 And the man came into the house: and he ungirded his camels, and gave straw and provender for the camels, and water to wash his feet, and the men's feet that were with him.

33 And there was set meat before him to eat: but he said, I will not eat until I have told mine errand. And he said, Speak on.

34 And he said, I am Abraham's servant.

35 And the LORD hath blessed my master greatly, and he is become great: and he hath given him flocks, and herds, and silver, and gold, and men-servants, and maid-servants, and camels, and asses.

36 And Sarah my master's wife bare a son to my master when she was old: and unto him hath he given all that he hath.

37 And my master made me swear, saying, Thou shalt not take a wife to my son of the daughters of the Canaanites, in whose land I dwell:

38 But thou shalt go unto my father's house, and to my kindred, and take a wife unto my son.

39 And I said unto my master, Peradventure the woman will not follow me.

40 And he said unto me, The LORD before whom I walk, will send his angel with thee, and prosper thy way: and thou shalt take a wife for my son of my kindred, and of my father's house.

41 Then shalt thou be clear from this my oath, when thou comest to my kindred; and if they give not thee one, thou shalt be clear from my oath.

42 And I came this day unto the well, and said, O LORD God of my master Abraham, if now thou dost prosper my way which I go:

43 Behold, I stand by the well of water; and it shall come to pass, that when the virgin cometh forth to draw water, and I say to her, Give me, I pray thee, a little water of thy pitcher to drink;

44 And she say to me, Both drink thou, and I will also draw for thy camels: let the same be the woman whom the LORD hath appointed out for my master's son.

45 And before I had done speaking in mine heart, behold, Rebekah came forth with her pitcher on her shoulder; and she went down unto the well, and drew water: and I said unto her, Let me drink, I pray thee.

46 And she made haste, and let down her pitcher from her shoulder, and said, Drink, and I will give thy camels drink also: so I drank, and she made the camels drink also.

47 And I asked her, and said, Whose daughter art thou? and she said, The daughter of Bethuel, Nahor's son, whom Milcah bare unto him: and I put the ear-ring upon her face, and the bracelets upon her hands.

48 And I bowed down my head, and worshipped the LORD, and blessed the LORD God of my master Abraham, which had led me in the right way to take my master's brother's daughter unto his son.

49 And now if ye will deal kindly and truly with my master, tell me: and if not, tell me; that I may turn to the right hand, or to the left.

50 Then Laban and Bethuel answered, and said, The thing proceedeth from the LORD: we cannot speak unto thee bad or good.

31 Come in, thou blessed of the Lord.] An elegant picture of eastern hospitality! for we cannot express more esteem for a person than to call him the favourite of God; or wish him greater happiness than the friendship of the Almighty.

32, 33 And he ungirded his camels---gave straw---and meat, &c.] Le Clerc observes, that Laban entertains his guest before he knows any thing of his errand---This is a true characteristic of antient politeness: thus, in the sixth Iliad, the king of Lycia entertains Bellerophon nine days before he asks him a single question about his business---

There Lycia's monarch paid him honours due;
Nine days he feasted, and nine bulls he slew:
But when the tenth bright morning orient glow'd,

49 That I may turn to the right-hand, or to, &c.] A proverbial expression, signifying, That I may take some other course.

51 Behold, Rebekah is before thee, take her, and go, and let her be thy master's son's wife, as the LORD hath spoken.

52 And it came to pass that when Abraham's servant heard their words, he worshipped the LORD, bowing himself to the earth.

53 And the servant brought forth jewels of silver, and jewels of gold, and raiment, and gave them to Rebekah: he gave also to her brother and to her mother precious things.

54 And they did eat and drink, he and the men that were with him, and tarried all night; and they rose up in the morning, and he said, Send me away unto my master.

55 And her brother and her mother said, Let the damsel abide with us a few days, at the least ten; after that she shall go.

56 And he said unto them, Hinder me not, seeing the LORD hath prospered my way: send me away that I may go to my master.

57 And they said, We will call the damsel, and enquire at her mouth.

58 ¶ And they called Rebekah, and said unto her, Wilt thou go with this man? and she said, I will go.

59 And they sent away Rebekah their sister, and her nurse, and Abraham's servant, and his men.

60 And they blessed Rebekah, and said unto her, Thou art our sister, be thou the mother of thousands of millions, and let thy seed possess the gate of those which hate them.

61 And Rebekah arose, and her damsels, and they rode upon the camels, and followed the man: and the servant took Rebekah, and went his way.

62 ¶ And Isaac came from the way of the well Lahai-roi; for he dwelt in the south-country.

63 And Isaac went out to meditate in the field at the even-tide: and he lift up his eyes, and saw, and behold, the camels were coming.

64 And Rebekah lift up her eyes, and when she saw Isaac, she lighted off the camel.

65 For she had said unto the servant, What man is this that walketh in the field to meet us? and the servant had said, It is my master: therefore she took a veil and covered herself.

66 And the servant told Isaac all things that he had done.

67 And Isaac brought her into his mother Sarah's tent, and took Rebekah, and she became his wife; and he loved her: and Isaac was comforted after his mother's death.

CHAP. XXV.

1 The sons of Abraham by Keturah. 7 His age and death. 24 The birth of Esau and Jacob. 29 Esau selleth his birth-right.

THEN again Abraham took a wife, and her name was Keturah.

2 And she bare him Zimran, and Jokshan, and Medan, and Midian, and Ishbak, and Shuah.

3 And Jokshan begat Sheba, and Dedan. And the sons of Dedan were Asshurim, and Letushim, and Leummim.

4 And the sons of Midian; Ephah, and Epher, and Hanoch, and Abidah, and Eldaah: all these were the children of Keturah.

5 And Abraham gave all that he had unto Isaac.

6 But unto the sons of the concubines which Abraham had, Abraham gave gifts, and sent them away from Isaac his son, (while he yet lived,) east-ward, unto the east country.

7 ¶ And these are the days of the years of Abraham's life which he lived; an hundred threescore and fifteen years.

8 Then Abraham gave up the ghost, and died in a good old age; an old man, and full of years; and was gathered to his people.

63 Went forth to meditate.] Went forth to take his serious evening walk. The attitude in which Isaac is drawn is very beautiful: such solitude, to use Milton's words, is often best society, and short retirement urges sweet return.

65 She took a veil and covered herself.] It was a custom among the women of the East to wear veils when they went abroad: but this action of Rebekah's seems done in conformity to the custom of all brides, who covered themselves with the nuptial veil, when they were first introduced to their husbands.

Notes on the Twenty-fifth Chapter.

Ver. 2 And she bare him, &c.] When Abraham was now 140 years old, God renewed his youthful vigour, whereby he was enabled to become the father of a numerous progeny by another wife.

8 Abraham gave up the ghost---full of years.] How calm is the good

9 And his ſons Iſaac and Iſhmael buried him in the cave of Machpelah, in the field of Ephron the ſon of Zohar the Hittite, which is before Mamre;

10 The field which Abraham purchaſed of the ſons of Heth: there was Abraham buried, and Sarah his wife.

11 And it came to paſs after the death of Abraham, that God bleſſed his ſon Iſaac; and Iſaac dwelt by the well Lahai-roi.

12 Now theſe are the generations of Iſhmael Abraham's ſon, whom Hagar the Egyptian, Sarah's handmaid, bare unto Abraham:

13 And theſe are the names of the ſons of Iſhmael, by their names, according to their generations: the firſt-born of Iſhmael, Nebajoth; and Kedar, and Adbeel, and Mibſam,

14 And Miſhma, and Dumah, and Maſſa,

15 Hadar, and Tema, Jetur, Naphiſh, and Kedemah:

16 Theſe are the ſons of Iſhmael, and theſe are their names, by their towns, and by their caſtles; twelve princes according to their nations.

17 And theſe are the years of the life of Iſhmael, an hundred and thirty and ſeven years: and he gave up the ghoſt and died, and was gathered unto his people.

18 And they dwelt from Havilah unto Shur, that is before Egypt, as thou goeſt towards Aſſyria: and he died in the preſence of all his brethren.

19 And theſe are the generations of Iſaac Abraham's ſon: Abraham begat Iſaac:

20 And Iſaac was forty years old when he took Rebekah to wife, the daughter of Bethuel the Syrian of Padan-aram, the ſiſter to Laban the Syrian.

21 And Iſaac intreated the LORD for his wife, becauſe ſhe was barren: and the LORD was intreated of him, and Rebekah his wife conceived.

22 And the children ſtruggled together within her; and ſhe ſaid, If it be ſo, why am I thus? And ſhe went to enquire of the LORD.

23 And the LORD ſaid unto her, Two nations are in thy womb, and two manner of people ſhall be ſeparated from thy bowels: and the one people ſhall be ſtronger than the other people; and the elder ſhall ſerve the younger.

24 ¶ And when her days to be delivered were fulfilled, behold, there were twins in her womb.

25 And the firſt came out red, all over like an hairy garment: and they called his name Eſau.

26 And after that came his brother out, and his hand took hold on Eſau's heel; and his name was called Jacob: and Iſaac was threeſcore years old when ſhe bare them.

27 And the boys grew: and Eſau was a cunning hunter, a man of the field; and Jacob was a plain man dwelling in tents.

28 And Iſaac loved Eſau, becauſe he did eat of his veniſon: but Rebekah loved Jacob.

29 ¶ And Jacob ſod pottage: and Eſau came from the field, and he was faint:

30 And Eſau ſaid to Jacob, Feed me, I good old man's evening of life! In what a pleaſing ſerenity does his ſun go down! He retires full of days, as a ſhock of corn, ripe with age, and laden with plenty, cometh in, in his ſeaſon. The expreſſion, full of years, is a metaphor taken from an entertainment, where the gueſts, after they have fared plentifully, riſe from table fully ſatisfied---Cur non, ut plenus vitæ conviva, recedis? Lucret. b. 3. or as Mr. Pope more beautifully expreſſes it;

From nature's temperate feaſt roſe ſatisfy'd,

Was gathered to his people.] Moſt commentators underſtand this of his ſoul, which, on the diſſolution of his body, joined thoſe of his pious anceſtors in the realms of happineſs: but Dr. Warburton conſiders it as a Hebrew idiom, importing to be reduced to one common lot or condition.

18 He died in the preſence of all his brethren.] The Hebrew is, he fell, and may ſignify his lot fell; that is, he dwelt in the preſence of all his brethren. See chap. xvi. 12.

22 If it be ſo, why am I thus?] If I muſt ſuffer ſuch excruciating pains, why did I conceive?

She went to enquire of the Lord.] She had recourſe to ſome prophet.

23 Two nations, &c.] That is, the founders of two nations, namely, the Iſraelites and the Idumeans.

The elder ſhall ſerve the younger.] That is, the poſterity of the elder ſhall in time be ſubdued by the younger: a prophecy which was fulfilled in the days of David, who ſubdued the Idumeans or Edomites.

25 Red all over, like a hairy garment.] Either he was wholly covered with red hair, or the colour of his fleſh was ruddy, like a garment of red hair: hence his name from Eſchau, a hair-cloth: and Jacob from Hekeb, the heel.

27 A plain man.] That is, of a mild and gentle nature, delighting in the ſoft arts of peace, and the innocent pleaſures of a paſtoral life.

29 Sod pottage.] Or ſeethed, from the verb ſeeth, to boil.

30 Feed me with that ſame red pottage.] It is in the Hebrew only pray thee, with that ſame red pottage; for I am faint: therefore was his name called Edom.

31 And Jacob ſaid, Sell me this day thy birth-right.

32 And Eſau ſaid, Behold, I am at the point to die: and what profit ſhall this birth-right do to me?

33 And Jacob ſaid, Swear to me this day; and he ſware unto him: and he ſold his birth-right unto Jacob.

34 Then Jacob gave Eſau bread and pottage of lentiles; and he did eat and drink, and roſe up, and went his way: thus Eſau deſpiſed his birth-right.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 Iſaac goeth to Gerar. 2 God bleſſeth him. 26 Abimelech's covenant with him. 34 Eſau's wives.

AND there was a famine in the land, beſides the firſt famine that was in the days of Abraham. And Iſaac went unto Abimelech king of the Philiſtines unto Gerar.

2 ¶ And the LORD appeared unto him, and ſaid, Go not down into Egypt: dwell in the land which I ſhall tell thee of:

3 Sojourn in this land, and I will be with thee, and will bleſs thee: for unto thee, and unto thy ſeed I will give all theſe countries, and I will perform the oath which I ſware unto Abraham thy father:

4 And I will make thy ſeed to multiply as the ſtars of heaven, and will give unto thy ſeed all theſe countries: and in thy ſeed ſhall all the nations of the earth be bleſſed:

5 Becauſe that Abraham obeyed my voice, and kept my charge, my commandments, my ſtatutes, and my laws.

6 And Iſaac dwelt in Gerar.

7 And the men of the place aſked him of his wife; and he ſaid, She is my ſiſter: for he feared to ſay, She is my wife; leſt, ſaid he, the men of the place ſhould kill me for Rebekah; becauſe ſhe was fair to look upon.

8 And it came to paſs when he had been there a long time, that Abimelech king of the Philiſtines looked out at a window, and ſaw, and behold, Iſaac was ſporting with Rebekah his wife.

9 And Abimelech called Iſaac, and ſaid, Behold, of a ſurety ſhe is thy wife: and how ſaidſt thou, She is my ſiſter? And Iſaac ſaid unto him, Becauſe I ſaid, Leſt I die for her.

10 And Abimelech ſaid, What is this thou haſt done unto us? one of the people might lightly have lien with thy wife, and thou ſhouldeſt have brought guiltineſs upon us.

11 And Abimelech charged all his people ſaying, He that toucheth this man or his wife, ſhall ſurely be put to death.

12 Then Iſaac ſowed in that land, and received in the ſame year an hundred-fold: and the LORD bleſſed him.

13 And the man waxed great, and went forward, and grew until he became very great:

14 For he had poſſeſſion of flocks, and poſſeſſion of herds, and great ſtore of ſervants: and the Philiſtines envied him.

15 For all the wells which his father's ſervants had digged in the days of Abraham his father, the Philiſtines had ſtopped them, and filled them with earth.

only with that red, that ſame red; the repetition paints his extreme faintneſs, and the impatience of his appetite.

31 Sell me thy birth-right.] It is thought, that whoever enjoyed the birth-right had a title to the land of Canaan, which included the bleſſing promiſed to the peculiar ſeed of Abraham, from whom the Meſſiah was to deſcend. This much is evident, that fathers, in thoſe early days, conferred a bleſſing on their firſt-born, which was conceived to extend to their poſterity, according to the words of the ſon of Sirach. The bleſſing of the father eſtabliſheth the houſes of children, but the curſe of the mother rooteth out foundations, Eccluſ. iii. 9. Doubtleſs it ſhewed a profane, diſſolute mind in Eſau, to be thus regardleſs of his future dignity, unmindful of his poſterity, and, for a mean bribe, to give up his right to a father's dying benediction.

32 I am at the point to die.] We have here a true picture of a profane ſenſualiſt, who, for a fordid momentary gratification, will give up the unſpeakable joys of futurity.

Notes on the Twenty-ſixth Chapter.

Ver. 2 Go not down into Egypt.] As Iſaac ſeems to have been of an indolent diſpoſition, he might have choſen to have fixed his reſidence in that fruitful country: and therefore for this, or other reaſons, was directed by God not to go into Egypt.

3 The oath.] See chap. xxii. 17.

7 She is my ſiſter.] Here Iſaac imitated the weakneſs of his father, and made uſe of a prevarication, when he ought to have told the truth.

12 Received an hundred-fold.] Though Iſaac's encreaſe is aſcribed to the particular providence of God; yet this by no means excludes the efficacy of natural cauſes: his own induſtry, and 16 And Abimelech ſaid unto Iſaac, Go from us: for thou art much mightier than we.

17 And Iſaac departed thence, and pitched his tent in the valley of Gerar, and dwelt there.

18 And Iſaac digged again the wells of water, which they had digged in the days of Abraham his father; for the Philiſtines had ſtopped them after the death of Abraham: and he called their names after the names by which his father had called them.

19 And Iſaac's ſervants digged in the valley, and found there a well of ſpringing water.

20 And the herdmen of Gerar did ſtrive with Iſaac's herdmen, ſaying, The water is ours: and he called the name of the well Eſek; becauſe they ſtrove with him.

21 And they digged another well, and ſtrove for that alſo: and he called the name of it Sitnah.

22 And he removed from thence, and digged another well; and for that they ſtrove not: and he called the name of it Rehoboth; and he ſaid, For now the LORD hath made room for us, and we ſhall be fruitful in the land.

23 And he went up from thence to Beer-ſheba.

24 And the LORD appeared unto him the ſame night, and ſaid, I am the God of Abraham thy father: fear not, for I am with thee, and will bleſs thee, and multiply thy ſeed for my ſervant Abraham's ſake.

25 And he builded an altar there, and called upon the name of the LORD, and pitched his tent there: and there Iſaac's ſervants digged a well.

26 ¶ Then Abimelech went to him from Gerar, and Ahuzzath one of his friends, and Phichol the chief captain of his army.

27 And Iſaac ſaid unto them, Wherefore come ye to me, ſeeing ye hate me, and have ſent me away from you?

28 And they ſaid, We ſaw certainly that the LORD was with thee: and we ſaid, Let there be now an oath betwixt us, even betwixt us and thee, and let us make a covenant with thee;

29 That thou wilt do us no hurt, as we have not touched thee, and as we have done unto thee nothing but good, and have ſent thee away in peace: thou art now the bleſſed of the LORD.

30 And he made them a feaſt, and they did eat and drink.

31 And they roſe up betimes in the morning, and ſware one to another: and Iſaac ſent them away, and they departed from him in peace.

32 And it came to paſs the ſame day, that Iſaac's ſervants came and told him concerning the well which they had digged, and ſaid unto him, We have found water.

33 And he called it Shebah: therefore the name of the city is Beer-ſheba unto this day.

34 ¶ And Eſau was forty years old when he took to wife Judith the daughter of Beeri the Hittite, and Baſhemath the daughter of Elon the Hittite:

35 Which were a grief of mind unto Iſaac and Rebekah.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Iſaac ſendeth Eſau for veniſon. 6 Jacob, inſtructed by Rebekah, obtaineth the bleſſing. 41 Eſau threatening him, 42 is prevented.

AND it came to paſs, that when Iſaac was old and his eyes were dim, ſo that he could not ſee, he called Eſau his eldeſt ſon, and ſaid unto him, My ſon: and he ſaid unto him, Behold, here am I.

2 And he ſaid, Behold now, I am old, I know not the day of my death:

16 Thou art mightier than we.] It might better be rendered, thou art made mighty by us; a proof that envy was the motive which induced Abimelech to act thus ungenerouſly.

19 Of ſpringing water.] Heb. of living water, a perennial ſpring; to diſtinguiſh it from rain-water, which they ſaved in ciſterns.

35 They were a grief.] Heb. bitterneſs of ſoul, that is extremely grievous to the parents, eſpecially to Rebekah, who is ſaid, chap. xxvii. and xlvi. To have been weary of her life on their account.

Notes on the Twenty-ſeventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 Iſaac was old.] He was 137 years old, and lived above 40 years after. See chap. xxxv. 28, 29.

3 Now therefore take, I pray thee, thy weapons, thy quiver and thy bow, and go out to the field, and take me some veniſon;

4 And make me ſavoury meat, ſuch as I love, and bring it to me, that I may eat; that my ſoul may bleſs thee before I die.

5 And Rebekah heard when Iſaac ſpake to Eſau his ſon: and Eſau went to the field to hunt for veniſon, and to bring it.

6 ¶ And Rebekah ſpake unto Jacob her ſon, ſaying, Behold, I heard thy father ſpeak unto Eſau thy brother, ſaying,

7 Bring me veniſon, and make me ſavoury meat, that I may eat, and bleſs thee before the LORD before my death.

8 Now therefore, my ſon, obey my voice, according to that which I command thee.

9 Go now to the flock, and fetch me from thence two good kids of the goats; and I will make them ſavoury meat for thy father ſuch as he loveth:

10 And thou ſhalt bring it to thy father, that he may eat, and that he may bleſs thee before his death.

11 And Jacob ſaid to Rebekah his mother, Behold, Eſau my brother is a hairy man, and I am a ſmooth man:

12 My father peradventure will feel me, and I ſhall ſeem to him as a deceiver; and I ſhall bring a curſe upon me, and not a bleſſing.

13 And his mother ſaid unto him, Upon me be thy curſe, my ſon: only obey my voice, and go fetch me them.

14 And he went, and fetched, and brought them to his mother: and his mother made ſavoury meat, ſuch as his father loved.

15 And Rebekah took goodly raiment of her eldeſt ſon Eſau, which were with her in the houſe, and put them upon Jacob her younger ſon.

16 And ſhe put the ſkins of the kids of the goats upon his hands, and upon the ſmooth of his neck.

17 And ſhe gave the ſavoury meat, and the bread, which ſhe had prepared, into the hand of her ſon Jacob.

18 And he came unto his father, and ſaid, My father: and he ſaid, Here am I; who art thou, my ſon?

19 And Jacob ſaid unto his father, I am Eſau thy firſt-born; I have done according as thou badeſt me: ariſe, I pray thee, ſit and eat of my veniſon, that thy ſoul may bleſs me.

20 And Iſaac ſaid unto his ſon, How is it that thou haſt found it ſo quickly, my ſon? and he ſaid, Becauſe the LORD thy God brought it to me.

21 And Iſaac ſaid unto Jacob, Come near, I pray thee, that I may feel thee, my ſon, whether thou be my very ſon Eſau or not.

22 And Jacob went near unto Iſaac his father, and he felt him; and ſaid, The voice is Jacob's voice, but the hands are the hands of Eſau.

23 And he diſcerned him not, becauſe his hands were hairy, as his brother Eſau's hands: ſo he bleſſed him.

24 And he ſaid, Art thou my very ſon Eſau? And he ſaid, I am.

25 And he ſaid, Bring it near to me, and I will eat of my ſon's veniſon, that my ſoul may bleſs thee: and he brought it near to him, and he did eat: and he brought him wine, and he drank.

26 And his father Iſaac ſaid unto him, Come near now, and kiſs me, my ſon.

27 And he came near, and kiſſed him:

13 Upon me be thy curſe.] Rebekah ſeems to have been well aſſured, that Jacob had a juſt title to the firſt bleſſing, which Eſau had ſold with his birth-right, and which God had deſigned for Jacob from the beginning; whence ſhe thought it her duty to deceive Iſaac into an action which he ought to have done deſignedly, and therefore takes the whole curſe upon herſelf, provided Iſaac ſhould diſcover the fallacy. But though the above circumſtances tend to alleviate the guilt of the action, yet they are far from being ſufficient to juſtify the whole conduct either of Jacob or his mother; the former having increaſed his crime by affirming himſelf to be Eſau, which was an abſolute falſhood. We ſhould therefore here reflect on the weakneſs of human nature, which cannot always ſtand upright; and, at the ſame time, admire the impartiality of the Sacred Writings, in which the very blemiſhes and tranſgreſſions of thoſe who make the greateſt figure therein are not ſuppreſſed, but recorded for our inſtruction.

21 Come near that I may feel thee.] Iſaac ſtill entertained a doubt that this was not his ſon Eſau; and therefore deſires his ſon to approach his couch, that he might feel him, being perſuaded that he ſhould by that means fully ſatisfy himſelf, whether he was his very ſon Eſau or not.

27 He ſmelled the ſmell of his raiment, &c.] From hence we may infer, that the Orientals perfumed their garments with the odoriferous ſcent of flowers, which the country of Arabia was famous and he ſmelled the ſmell of his raiment, and bleſſed him, and ſaid, See, the ſmell of my ſon is as the ſmell of a field, which the LORD hath bleſſed:

28 Therefore God give thee of the dew of heaven, and the fatneſs of the earth, and plenty of corn and wine:

29 Let people ſerve thee, and nations bow down to thee; be lord over thy brethren, and let thy mother's ſons bow down to thee: curſed be every one that curſeth thee, and bleſſed be he that bleſſeth thee.

30 And it came to paſs, as ſoon as Iſaac had made an end of bleſſing Jacob, and Jacob was yet ſcarce gone out from the preſence of Iſaac his father, that Eſau his brother came in from his hunting.

31 And he alſo had made ſavoury meat, and brought it unto his father; and ſaid unto his father, Let my father ariſe, and eat of his ſon's veniſon, that thy ſoul may bleſs me.

32 And Iſaac his father ſaid unto him, Who art thou? and he ſaid, I am thy ſon, thy firſt-born Eſau.

33 And Iſaac trembled very exceedingly, and ſaid, Who? where is he that hath taken veniſon, and brought it me, and I have eaten of all before thou cameſt, and have bleſſed him? yea, and he ſhall be bleſſed.

34 And when Eſau heard the words of his father, he cried with a great and exceeding bitter cry, and ſaid unto his father, Bleſs me, even me alſo, O my father.

35 And he ſaid, Thy brother came with ſubtilty, and hath taken away thy bleſſing.

36 And he ſaid, Is not he rightly named Jacob? for he hath ſupplanted me theſe two times: he took away my birth-right; and behold, now he hath taken away my bleſſing: and he ſaid, Haſt thou not reſerved a bleſſing for me?

37 And Iſaac anſwered and ſaid unto Eſau, Behold, I have made him thy lord, and all his brethren have I given to him for ſervants; and with corn and wine have I ſuſtained him: and what ſhall I do now unto thee, my ſon?

38 And Eſau ſaid unto his father, Haſt thou but one bleſſing, my father? bleſs me, even me alſo, O my father. And Eſau lift up his voice, and wept.

39 And Iſaac his father anſwered, and ſaid unto him, Behold, thy dwelling ſhall be the fatneſs of the earth, and of the dew of heaven from above:

40 And by thy ſword ſhalt thou live, and ſhalt ſerve thy brother: and it ſhall come to paſs when thou ſhalt have the dominion, that thou ſhalt break his yoke from off thy neck.

famous for producing; whoſe fragrance had ſuch an influence on the ſpirits of Iſaac, that he breaks out in a kind of rapture, See, the ſmell of my ſon is as the ſmell of a field which the Lord hath bleſſed.

28 God give thee of the dew of heaven.] This bleſſing is very remarkable, and delivered in all the elegance of oriental expreſſion, God give thee of the dew of heaven; a wiſh of the greateſt importance in thoſe hot countries, where the morning and evening dews were abſolutely neceſſary to refreſh the earth, and produce that plenty for which the country was ſo famous.

The fatneſs of the earth.] That is, all the bleſſings which a fruitful country can produce. This prophetic prayer was remarkably anſwered, by God's ſettling the Iſraelites in the land of Canaan, a land flowing with milk and honey.

29 Let people ſerve thee.] The former part of the bleſſing related to wealth, and this to dominion.

33 Iſaac trembled very exceedingly.] The Hebrew ſtrongly expreſſes his anxiety and conſternation, he trembled with a great trembling greatly.

Who? where is he?] A broken ſpeech, ſtrongly marking the perturbation of his mind.

Yea, and he ſhall be bleſſed.] Iſaac was firmly perſuaded, that the benedictions which dying parents devoutly poured forth in behalf of their children, were ratified in heaven, and never to be reverſed. And hence, though he could not approve the unjuſt means uſed by Jacob to procure this bleſſing; yet, inſtead of endeavouring to render abortive what he had done, he is aſtoniſhed at the myſterious conduct of Providence, which had employed his tongue as an inſtrument to pronounce its own decree, and therefore reverently acquieſces in the divine determination, Yea, and he ſhall be bleſſed.

39 Behold thy dwelling ſhall be the fatneſs of the earth.] Theſe words ſhould have been rendered, Behold thy dwelling ſhall be remote from the fatneſs of the earth; and therefore the true ſenſe of the prophecy will be, that Eſau ſhould inhabit a barren country, but maintain himſelf in plenty by his ſword. That this is the true meaning appears from what the prophet Malachi ſays of him, I hated Eſau and laid his mountains and his heritage waſte, chap. i. 3. And, indeed, Idumea was always reckoned a barren country, and rarely refreſhed with ſeaſonable ſhowers.

40 When thou ſhalt have the dominion, &c.] That is, when thou ſhalt become great and powerful, then thou ſhalt free thyſelf from thy brother's yoke, and be maſter of thine own land; which the poſterity of Eſau did in the days of Joram, 2 Kings, viii. 22. 2 Chron. xxi. 8.

It may not here be improper to conſider in what ſenſe Jacob's bleſſing was ſuperior to that of his brother: and this ſuperiority principally conſiſted in conveying to Jacob the ſpecial bleſſing given by God to Abraham; namely, that all the nations of the earth ſhould be bleſſed through the Meſſiah, the great captain of our ſalvation, who was, in the fullneſs of time, to deſcend from his race, according to the fleſh. Well might the prophet Iſaiah, when he foreſaw this ſun of righteouſneſs cloathed in the garments of mortality to deliver man, break forth in this exalted 41 ¶ And Esau hated Jacob, because of the blessing wherewith his father blessed him: and Esau said in his heart, The days of mourning for my father are at hand, then will I slay my brother Jacob.

42 ¶ And these words of Esau her elder son were told to Rebekah: and she sent and called Jacob her younger son, and said unto him, Behold, thy brother Esau, as touching thee, doth comfort himself, purposing to kill thee.

43 Now therefore, my son, obey my voice: and arise, flee thou to Laban my brother, to Haran:

44 And tarry with him a few days, until thy brother's fury turn away;

45 Until thy brother's anger turn away from thee, and he forget that which thou hast done to him: then I will send, and fetch thee from thence: why should I be deprived also of you both in one day?

46 And Rebekah said to Isaac, I am weary of my life, because of the daughters of Heth: if Jacob take a wife of the daughters of Heth, such as these which are of the daughters of the land, what good shall my life do me?

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 Jacob is blessed, and sent to Padan-aram. 10 His vision. 18 The stone of Beth-el. 20 Jacob's vow.

AND Isaac called Jacob, and blessed him, and charged him, and said unto him, Thou shalt not take a wife of the daughters of Canaan.

2 Arise, go to Padan-aram, to the house of Bethuel, thy mother's father; and take thee a wife from thence of the daughters of Laban thy mother's brother.

3 And God Almighty bless thee, and make thee fruitful, and multiply thee, that thou mayest be a multitude of people:

4 And give thee the blessing of Abraham, to thee, and to thy seed with thee; that thou mayest inherit the land wherein thou art a stranger, which God gave unto Abraham.

5 And Isaac sent away Jacob: and he went to Padan-aram unto Laban, son of Bethuel the Syrian, the brother of Rebekah, Jacob's and Esau's mother.

6 When Esau saw that Isaac had blessed Jacob, and sent him away to Padan-aram, to take him a wife from thence; and that as he blessed him, he gave him a charge, saying, Thou shalt not take a wife of the daughters of Canaan;

7 And that Jacob obeyed his father, and his mother, and was gone to Padan-aram;

8 And Esau seeing that the daughters of Canaan pleased not Isaac his father;

9 Then went Esau unto Ishmael, and took unto the wives which he had, Mahalath the daughter of Ishmael Abraham's son, the sister of Nebajoth, to be his wife.

10 ¶ And Jacob went out from Beer-sheba, and went toward Haran.

11 And he lighted upon a certain place, and tarried there all night, because the sun was set: and he took of the stones of that place, and put them for his pillows, and lay down in that place to sleep.

12 And he dreamed, and behold, a ladder strain: Sing, O heavens, and be joyful, O earth, and break forth into singing, O mountains; for the Lord hath comforted his people, chap. xlix. 13.

41 The days of mourning for my father, &c.] In this, however, he was mistaken, for Isaac lived at least forty years longer; for he was now an hundred, being sixty at the birth of Esau, chap. xxv. 26.—who was past forty when he married, chap. xxvi. 34, and Isaac was an hundred and eighty when he died, ch. xxxv. 28.

45 Why should I be deprived of you both, &c.] If Esau had killed Jacob, he would either have been punished with death, or he must have fled from justice, and been an exile, as Cain was: in either case she would have been deprived of them both.

Notes on the Twenty-eighth Chapter.

Ver. 3 God Almighty bless thee.] Here Isaac confirms the blessing which he had already given to Jacob, and more fully settles the land of promise upon him, and makes him the father of the promised seed.

9 He went unto Ishmael.] That is, to his country, for Ishmael had been dead several years before.

Mahalath, the daughter of Ishmael.] He married this daughter of Ishmael to please his father, who could not be reconciled to the daughters of Canaan.

10 Jacob went out.] Unattended, that he might better conceal his departure from his brother, but not without provisions, for we read he had oil, ver. 18.

11 Upon a certain place.] A convenient place to lodge in, being probably shaded with almond-trees, for it was called Luz, which signifies an almond. Here he singled out one stone from the rest, which served him for a pillow, having first probably covered it over with leaves or herbs and part of his garment.

12 Behold a ladder.] There is something very noble and sublime

ſet up on the earth, and the top of it reached to heaven: and behold, the angels of God aſcending and deſcending on it.

13 And behold the LORD ſtood above it, and ſaid, I am the LORD God of Abraham thy father, and the God of Iſaac: the land whereon thou lieſt, to thee will I give it, and to thy ſeed:

14 And thy ſeed ſhall be as the duſt of the earth, and thou ſhalt ſpread abroad to the weſt, and to the eaſt, and to the north, and to the ſouth: and in thee and in thy ſeed ſhall all the families of the earth be bleſſed.

15 And behold, I am with thee, and will keep thee in all places whither thou goeſt, and will bring thee again into this land: for I will not leave thee, until I have done that which I have ſpoken to thee of.

16 And Jacob awaked out of his ſleep, and he ſaid, Surely the LORD is in this place; and I knew it not.

17 And he was afraid, and ſaid, How dreadful is this place! this is none other but the houſe of God, and this is the gate of heaven.

18 ¶ And Jacob roſe up early in the morning, and took the ſtone that he had put for his pillows, and ſet it up for a pillar, and poured oil upon the top of it.

19 And he called the name of that place Beth-el: but the name of that city was called Luz at the firſt.

20 ¶ And Jacob vowed a vow, ſaying, If God will be with me, and will keep me in this way that I go, and will give me bread to eat, and raiment to put on;

21 So that I come again to my father's houſe in peace: then ſhall the LORD be my God:

22 And this ſtone, which I have ſet for a pillar, ſhall be God's houſe: and of all that thou ſhalt give me, I will ſurely give the tenth unto thee.

lime in this repreſentation: the ladder, which reacheth from earth to heaven, is a proper image of the providence of God, whoſe care extends to all things in heaven and in earth. The angels are repreſented aſcending and deſcending on this myſterious ladder, becauſe theſe miniſtring ſpirits are always active in the execution of the wiſe deſigns of Providence, and appointed the ſpecial guardians of the juſt: they aſcend to receive, and deſcend to execute the commands of God. And laſtly, by the repreſentation of the Divine Majeſty appearing above the ladder, is meant, that though the conduct of Providence is often above the reach of human comprehenſion, yet the whole is directed by Infinite Wiſdom and Goodneſs; and though in this vale of miſery we can ſee only a few lower ſteps of the ladder, neareſt to the earth, yet it hath a top that reacheth unto heaven; and were it poſſible for us to trace the chain of cauſes and effects to their ſource, we ſhould ſee them gradually aſcend higher and higher, till they terminate at length in the Supreme Being, the firſt and proper cauſe of all, who preſides over, and directs the complicated ſcheme of Providence, from the creation of the world to the conſummation of all things, when it ſhall expire in flames. The application made of this emblematical repreſentation by God himſelf ſufficiently ſhews, that this is the proper explication of the viſion. I am with thee, and will keep thee in all places whither thou goeſt, and will bring thee again unto this land; for I will not leave thee until I have done that which I have ſpoken to thee of. And could any thing have been a more ſeaſonable relief to Jacob, or filled his heart with greater joy, than the pleaſing aſſurance, that though he was an exile from his native country, and wandering alone over the ſolitary waſtes, yet he was ſtill in the preſence of his Maker, whoſe powerful arm would conſtantly protect him from all dangers, and under whoſe wings he ſhould be abſolutely ſafe.

13 To thee will I give it, &c.] It might perhaps better be rendered, To thee, even to thy ſeed will I give it; for the land of Canaan did not become the property of his poſterity till the days of Joſhua.

14 And in thy ſeed, &c.] See chap. xii. 3.

16 Surely the Lord is in this place.] Surely the Deity vouchſafes in a peculiar manner to reſide here.

18 Took the ſtone and ſet it up.] To preſerve the memory of this heavenly viſion---This ſtone was held in great veneration by the Jews in future times, and tranſlated to Jeruſalem. If vulgar tradition ſays true, this is the ſtone on which the inauguration of the kings of Scotland was performed, in which the people placed a kind of fatality, and had engraved on it this diſtich:

Ni fallat fatum, Scoti, quocunque locatum
Invenient lapidem, regnare tenentur ibidem.
Or fate's deceiv'd, or heav'n decrees in vain;
Or where they find this ſtone, the Scots ſhall reign.

It was brought out of Spain into Ireland, afterwards out of Ireland into Argyleſhire, and Edward I. cauſed it to be conveyed to Weſtminſter. See Rapin.

Poured oil upon it.] To conſecrate it as a monument of God's diſtinguiſhed favour to him: hence the antiquity of the ceremony of conſecration by oil.

19 Beth-el.] That is, a houſe of God.

22 This ſtone ſhall be God's houſe.] Not that he intended to erect any building in that place, but only that he would come and worſhip there: for in thoſe early times they adored God under

THEN Jacob went on his journey, and came into the land of the people of the east.

2 And he looked, and behold, a well in the field, and lo, there were three flocks of sheep lying by it; for out of that well they watered the flocks: and a great stone was upon the well's mouth.

3 And thither were all the flocks gathered: and they rolled the stone from the well's mouth, and watered the sheep, and put the stone again upon the well's mouth in his place.

4 And Jacob said unto them, My brethren, whence be ye? And they said, Of Haran are we.

5 And he said unto them, Know ye Laban the son of Nahor? And they said, We know him.

6 And he said unto them, Is he well? And they said, He is well: and behold, Rachel his daughter cometh with the sheep.

7 And he said, Lo, it is yet high day, neither is it time that the cattle should be gathered together: water ye the sheep, and go and feed them.

8 And they said, We cannot, until all the flocks be gathered together, and till they roll the stone from the well's mouth; then we water the sheep.

9 And while he yet spake with them, Rachel came with her father's sheep: for she kept them.

10 And it came to pass, when Jacob saw Rachel the daughter of Laban his mother's brother, and the sheep of Laban his mother's brother; that Jacob went near, and rolled the stone from the well's mouth, and watered the flock of Laban his mother's brother.

11 And Jacob kissed Rachel, and lifted up his voice, and wept.

12 And Jacob told Rachel that he was her father's brother, and that he was Rebekah's son: and she ran and told her father.

13 ¶ And it came to pass, when Laban heard the tidings of Jacob his sister's son, that he ran to meet him, and embraced him, and kissed him, and brought him to his house. And he told Laban all these things.

14 And Laban said to him, Surely thou art my bone and my flesh. And he abode with him the space of a month.

15 And Laban said unto Jacob, Because thou art my brother, shouldest thou therefore serve me for nought? tell me, what shall thy wages be?

16 And Laban had two daughters: the name of the elder was Leah, and the name of the younger was Rachel:

17 Leah was tender-eyed; but Rachel was beautiful and well-favoured.

18 ¶ And Jacob loved Rachel; and said, I will serve thee seven years for Rachel thy younger daughter.

19 And Laban said, It is better that I give her to thee, than that I should give her to another man: abide with me.

20 And Jacob served seven years for Rachel; and they seemed unto him but a few days, for the love he had to her.

21 And Jacob said unto Laban, Give me my wife (for my days are fulfilled) that I may go in unto her.

22 And Laban gathered together all the men of the place, and made a feast.

23 ¶ And it came to pass in the evening, that he took Leah his daughter, and brought her to him; and he went in unto her.

24 And Laban gave unto his daughter Leah, Zilpah his maid, for an handmaid.

8 We cannot, &c.] The well being common to all the inhabitants of the place, they could not in equity disturb the water, till all the flocks were gathered together.

9 For she kept them.] A pastoral life was very honourable in those primitive times: thus Jacob, Moses, and David were shepherds. The scholiast on the Odyss. xiii. 222. remarks, that the sons of kings were keepers of flocks.

Notes on the Thirtieth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Rachel envied her ſiſter.] Barrenneſs was always conſidered as a curſe; but Rachel had another motive, namely, the deſire of fulfilling the promiſe to Abraham, that his ſeed ſhould be as the ſtars of heaven, and that in him, i. e. in one of his deſcendants, all nations of the earth ſhould be bleſſed.

Give me children, or elſe I die.] We have here a lively picture of human folly in general. If children are to parents, like a flowery chaplet, whoſe beauties bloſſom with ornament, and whoſe odours breathe delight, death, or ſome unforeſeen misfortune, may find means to entwine themſelves with the lovely wreath. Whenever our ſouls eagerly long after any inferior acquiſition, it may be truly ſaid in the words of our Divine Maſter, Ye know not what ye aſk. Does Providence withold the thing we long for? It denies in mercy, and only witholds the occaſion of our miſery, if not the inſtrument of our ruin. With a ſickly appetite we often loath what is wholeſome, and linger after our bane. Where the imagination dreams of unmingled ſweets, there experience frequently finds the bitterneſs of woe.

3 She ſhall bear upon my knees.] She ſhall bring me a child, which I may dandle upon my knees.

6 Dan.] That is, judging, to which Jacob alludes, chap. 49—16.

8 And Rachel ſaid, With great wreſtlings have I wreſtled with my ſiſter, and I have prevailed: and ſhe called his name Naphtali.

9 When Leah ſaw that ſhe had left bearing, ſhe took Zilpah her maid, and gave her Jacob to wife.

10 And Zilpah Leah's maid bare Jacob a ſon.

11 And Leah ſaid, A troop cometh: and ſhe called his name Gad.

12 And Zilpah Leah's maid bare Jacob a ſecond ſon.

13 And Leah ſaid, Happy am I, for the daughters will call me bleſſed: and ſhe called his name Aſher.

14 And Reuben went in the days of wheat-harveſt, and found mandrakes in the field, and brought them unto his mother Leah. Then Rachel ſaid to Leah, Give me, I pray thee, of thy ſon's mandrakes.

15 And ſhe ſaid unto her, Is it a ſmall matter that thou haſt taken my huſband? and wouldeſt thou take away my ſon's mandrakes alſo? And Rachel ſaid, Therefore he ſhall lie with thee to-night for thy ſon's mandrakes.

16 And Jacob came out of the field in the evening, and Leah went out to meet him, and ſaid, Thou muſt come in unto me; for ſurely I have hired thee with my ſon's mandrakes. And he lay with her that night.

17 And God hearkened unto Leah, and ſhe conceived, and bare Jacob the fifth ſon.

18 And Leah ſaid, God hath given me my hire, becauſe I have given my maiden to my huſband: and ſhe called his name Iſſachar.

19 And Leah conceived again, and bare Jacob the ſixth ſon.

20 And Leah ſaid, God hath endued me with a good dowry; now will my huſband dwell with me, becauſe I have born him ſix ſons: and ſhe called his name Zebulun.

21 And afterwards ſhe bare a daughter, and called her name Dinah.

22 ¶ And God remembered Rachel, and God hearkened to her, and opened her womb.

23 And ſhe conceived and bare a ſon; and ſaid, God hath taken away my reproach:

24 And ſhe called his name Joſeph; and ſaid, The LORD ſhall add to me another ſon.

25 And it came to paſs, when Rachel had born Joſeph, that Jacob ſaid unto Laban, Send me away, that I may go unto mine own place, and to my country.

26 Give me my wives and my children, for whom I have ſerved thee, and let me go: for thou knoweſt my ſervice which I have done thee.

27 ¶ And Laban ſaid unto him, I pray thee, if I have found favour in thine eyes, tarry: for I have learned by experience, that the LORD hath bleſſed me for thy ſake.

28 And he ſaid, Appoint me thy wages, and I will give it.

29 And he ſaid unto him, Thou knoweſt how I have ſerved thee, and how thy cattle was with me.

30 For it was little which thou hadſt before I came, and it is now increaſed unto a multitude; and the LORD hath bleſſed thee ſince my coming: and now when ſhall I provide for mine own houſe alſo?

31 And he ſaid, What ſhall I give thee? And Jacob ſaid, Thou ſhalt not give me any thing: if thou wilt do this thing for me, I will again feed and keep thy flock:

32 I will paſs through all thy flock to day,

8 With great wreſtlings.] Heb. wreſtlings of God: others render it, by an excellent contrivance: and this ſenſe ſeems to agree beſt with the context.

8 and 11 Naphtali, ſignifies, my ſtruggling; and Gad, a troop.

14 Found mandrakes in the field.] Interpreters are not agreed what kind of fruit or flower this was: the moſt probable opinion is, that they were mandrake-apples, which Pliny ſays are of the bigneſs of ſilberds: they were deſirable for food, and of a pleaſant ſmell, ſee Cantic. vii. 13.—Dr. James (in his Medicinal Dictionary) ſays, mandrake-apples are both eſculent and ſweet-ſcented: and ſince the ancients aſſure us, that the ſeed of the mandrake taken inwardly removes obſtructions and promotes conception, it is probable that Rachel, being acquainted with this property of the ſeed, might be deſirous of theſe apples, that ſhe might be the better diſpoſed to conceive.

17 And God hearkened unto Leah.] The ſcriptures in every page teach this great truth, that the Almighty Creator ſuperintends every action in the univerſe; and we learn from this paſſage, that his providence is, in a particular manner, intereſted in the conceptions and births of the human ſpecies.

25 To my own place.] To my father's houſe in Canaan.

30 Since my coming.] Maimonides ſays, the Hebrew phraſe ſignifies, becauſe of me, or for my ſake.

32 Of ſuch ſhall be my hire.] The meaning is, Jacob would ſeparate all the ſpeckled, ſpotted, and brown ſheep and goats; and then, whatever thoſe which were of one colour produced afterwards of the above variety, he would take for his wages; that whenever Laban choſe to look into Jacob's flocks, he might be convinced they were really his own.

removing from thence all the ſpeckled and ſpotted cattle, and all the brown cattle among the ſheep, and the ſpotted and ſpeckled among the goats: and of ſuch ſhall be my hire.

33 So ſhall my righteouſneſs anſwer for me in time to come, when it ſhall come for my hire before thy face: every one that is not ſpeckled and ſpotted amongſt the goats, and brown amongſt the ſheep, that ſhall be accounted ſtolen with me.

34 And Laban ſaid, Behold, I would it might be according to thy word.

35 And he removed that day the he-goats that were ring-ſtraked, and ſpotted, and all the ſhe-goats that were ſpeckled and ſpotted, and every one that had ſome white in it, and all the brown amongſt the ſheep, and gave them into the hands of his ſons.

36 And he ſet three days journey betwixt himſelf and Jacob: and Jacob fed the reſt of Laban's flocks.

37 ¶ And Jacob took him rods of green poplar, and of the haſel and cheſnut-tree; and pilled white ſtrakes in them, and made the white appear which was in the rods.

38 And he ſet the rods which he had pilled before the flocks in the gutters in the watering-troughs, when the flocks came to drink; that they ſhould conceive when they came to drink.

39 And the flocks conceived before the rods, and brought forth cattle ring-ſtraked, ſpeckled, and ſpotted.

40 And Jacob did ſeparate the lambs, and ſet the faces of the flocks toward the ring-ſtraked, and all the brown in the flock of Laban: and he put his own flocks by themſelves, and put them not unto Laban's cattle.

41 And it came to paſs whenſoever the ſtronger cattle did conceive, that Jacob laid the rods before the eyes of the cattle in the gutters, that they might conceive among the rods.

42 But when the cattle were feeble, he put them not in: ſo the feebler were Laban's, and the ſtronger Jacob's.

43 And the man increaſed exceedingly, and had much cattle, and maid-ſervants, and men-ſervants, and camels, and aſſes.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Jacob departeth from Laban. 22 Laban purſueth him. 44 Their covenant at Galeed.

AND he heard the words of Laban's ſons, ſaying, Jacob hath taken away all that was our father's; and of that which was our father's hath he gotten all this glory.

2 And Jacob beheld the countenance of Laban, and behold, it was not toward him as before.

3 And the LORD ſaid unto Jacob, Return unto the land of thy fathers, and to thy kindred: and I will be with thee.

4 And Jacob ſent and called Rachel and Leah to the field unto his flock,

5 And ſaid unto them, I ſee your father's countenance, that it is not toward me as before: but the God of my father hath been with me.

6 And ye know that with all my power I have ſerved your father.

7 And your father hath deceived me, and changed my wages ten times: but God ſuffered him not to hurt me.

8 If he ſaid thus, The ſpeckled ſhall be thy wages; then all the cattle bare ſpeckled: and 36 He ſet three days journey.] That is, ſuch journeys as flocks are able to make in one day.

37 Of the haſel.] Heb. Luz, which Bochart proves to be the almond-tree.

39 And the flocks conceived before the rods, and brought forth cattle ring-ſtraked, &c.] Whatever the ancient naturaliſts might think, with regard to the power of theſe rods to produce cattle of a variety of colours, the moderns are convinced from experience, that they will have no ſuch effect; and therefore the changing the colour of Laban's cattle muſt have been the immediate work of Providence, which probably ordered Jacob to make uſe of theſe pilled rods, as a teſtimony of his dependance upon God. If the tranſaction be conſidered in this light, the conduct of Jacob will be free from that imputation of unfair dealing, with which the enemies of revelation have often branded it.

43 And the man increaſed exceedingly.] If we peruſe this whole account of Jacob's contracts with Laban, we cannot help obſerving, that covetouſneſs, like all other exorbitant paſſions, overſhoots the mark, and diſappoints itſelf. Thus it was with Laban, whoſe covetouſneſs would not allow him to ſettle upon Jacob any fixed wages, though he owed the greateſt part of his riches to his care; but he readily embraced an offer which Jacob made him, becauſe it ſeemed at firſt an advantageous one; though, by the wiſe order of Providence, which takes the crafty in their own ſnare, he found himſelf deceived in the event.

Notes on the Thirty-firſt Chapter.

Ver. 1 Glory.] Wealth and grandeur.

7 Changed my wages ten times.] That is, very often, as the like expreſſion is uſed in other places, Levit. xxvi, 26.

if he ſaid thus, The ring-ſtraked ſhall be thy hire; then bare all the cattle ring-ſtraked.

9 Thus God hath taken away the cattle of your father, and given them to me.

10 And it came to paſs at the time that the cattle conceived, that I lifted up mine eyes, and ſaw in a dream, and behold, the rams which leaped upon the cattle were ring-ſtraked, ſpeckled, and griſled.

11 And the angel of God ſpake unto me in a dream, ſaying, Jacob: And I ſaid, Here am I.

12 And he ſaid, Lift up now thine eyes and ſee, all the rams which leap upon the cattle are ring-ſtraked, ſpeckled, and griſled: for I have ſeen all that Laban doth unto thee.

13 I am the God of Beth-el, where thou anointedſt the pillar, and where thou vowedſt a vow unto me: now ariſe, get thee out from this land, and return unto the land of thy kindred.

14 And Rachel and Leah anſwered and ſaid unto him, Is there yet any portion or inheritance for us in our father's houſe.

15 Are we not counted of him ſtrangers? for he hath ſold us, and hath quite devoured alſo our money.

16 For all the riches which God hath taken from our father, that is our's and our children's: now then whatſoever God hath ſaid unto thee, do.

17 Then Jacob roſe up, and ſet his ſons and his wives upon camels.

18 And he carried away all his cattle, and all his goods which he had gotten, the cattle of his getting, which he had gotten in Padan-aram; for to go to Iſaac his father in the land of Canaan.

19 And Laban went to ſhear his ſheep: and Rachel had ſtolen the images that were her father's.

20 And Jacob ſtole away unawares to Laban the Syrian, in that he told him not that he fled.

21 So he fled with all that he had: and he roſe up, and paſſed over the river, and ſet his face toward the mount Gilead.

22 ¶ And it was told Laban on the third day that Jacob was fled.

23 And he took his brethren with him, and purſued after him ſeven days journey; and they overtook him in the mount Gilead.

24 And God came to Laban the Syrian in a dream by night, and ſaid unto him, Take heed that thou ſpeak not to Jacob either good or bad.

25 Then Laban overtook Jacob. Now Jacob had pitched his tent in the mount: and Laban with his brethren pitched in the mount of Gilead.

26 And Laban ſaid to Jacob, What haſt thou done, that thou haſt ſtolen away unawares to me, and carried away my daughters, as captives taken with the ſword?

27 Wherefore didſt thou flee away ſecretly, and ſteal away from me? and didſt not tell me, that I might have ſent thee away with mirth, and with ſongs, with tabret and with harp?

28 And hath not ſuffered me to kiſs my ſons and my daughters? thou haſt now done fooliſhly in ſo doing.

29 It is in the power of mine hand to do you hurt: but the God of your father ſpake unto me yeſternight, ſaying, Take thou heed that thou ſpeak not to Jacob either good or bad.

30 And now though thou wouldeſt needs be gone, becauſe thou ſore longedſt after thy fa-

12 All the rams are ring-ſtraked---for I have ſeen.] That is, God gave me this viſion, whereby I was directed to make ſuch an advantageous bargain, that I might have ſome recompence for the hard uſage I met with from your father.

19 And Rachel had ſtolen the images.] The Hebrew word which we render images, is teraphim, a kind of penates, or houſhold-gods, which they worſhipped as ſymbols of the Deity, and conſulted as oracles; hence Laban calls them his gods. Theſe teraphims were afterwards known by the name of taliſmen, as they are to this day all over India. Some think thoſe of Laban's were repreſentations of the angelical powers (teraphim and ſeraphim being the ſame only with the change of a letter) who were imagined to declare the mind of God---Rachel ſtole them either for their curioſity or intrinſic worth; or, which is moſt probable, ſhe ſtill retained a tincture of her father's ſuperſtition, and deſigned to make them the objects of her worſhip in Canaan; for it appears, (chap. xxxv. 4.) that Jacob, when he made a thorough reformation in his houſe, cauſed them to be taken from her, and buried them under the oak which was by Sichem.

21 Paſſed the river.] Euphrates, ſo called by way of eminence.

23 Seven days journey.] From Haran to mount Gilead are about 250 miles.

30 Wherefore haſt thou ſtolen my gods.] It was the conſtant language ther's houſe; yet wherefore haſt thou ſtolen my gods?

31 And Jacob anſwered and ſaid to Laban, Becauſe I was afraid: for I ſaid, Peradventure thou wouldeſt take by force thy daughters from me.

32 With whomſoever thou findeſt thy gods, let him not live: before our brethren diſcern thou what is thine with me, and take it to thee: for Jacob knew not that Rachel had ſtolen them.

33 And Laban went into Jacob's tent, and into Leah's tent, and into the two maid-ſervants tents; but he found them not. Then went he out of Leah's tent, and entered into Rachel's tent.

34 Now Rachel had taken the images, and put them in the camel's furniture, and ſat upon them: and Laban ſearched all the tent, but found them not.

35 And ſhe ſaid to her father, Let it not diſpleaſe my lord that I cannot riſe up before thee; for the cuſtom of women is upon me. And he ſearched, but found not the images.

36 And Jacob was wroth, and chode with Laban: and Jacob anſwered, and ſaid to Laban, What is my treſpaſs? what is my ſin, that thou haſt ſo hotly purſued after me?

37 Whereas thou haſt ſearched all my ſtuff, what haſt thou found of all thy houſhold-ſtuff? ſet it here before my brethren and thy brethren, that they may judge betwixt us both.

38 This twenty years have I been with thee; thy ewes and thy ſhe-goats have not caſt their young, and the rams of the flock have I not eaten.

39 That which was torn of beaſts, I brought not unto thee: I bare the loſs of it; of my hand didſt thou require it, whether ſtolen by day or ſtolen by night.

40 Thus I was, in the day the drought conſumed me, and the froſt by night; and my ſleep departed from mine eyes.

41 Thus have I been twenty years in thy houſe: I ſerved thee fourteen years for thy two daughters, and ſix years for thy cattle: and thou haſt changed my wages ten times.

42 Except the God of my father, the God of Abraham, and the fear of Iſaac had been with me, ſurely thou hadſt ſent me away now empty. God hath ſeen mine affliction, and the labour of my hands, and rebuked thee yeſternight.

43 And Laban anſwered, and ſaid unto Jacob, Theſe daughters are my daughters, and theſe children are my children, and theſe cattle are my cattle, and all that thou ſeeſt is mine: and what can I do this day unto theſe my daughters, or unto their children which they have born?

44 ¶ Now therefore come thou, let us make a covenant, I and thou; and let it be for a witneſs between me and thee.

45 And Jacob took a ſtone, and ſet it up for a pillar.

46 And Jacob ſaid unto his brethren, Gather ſtones: and they took ſtones, and made an heap: and they did eat there upon the heap.

47 And Laban called it Jegar-ſahadutha: but Jacob called it Galeed.

48 And Laban ſaid, This heap is a witneſs between me and thee this day. Therefore was the name of it called Galeed:

49 And Mizpah: for he ſaid, The LORD watch between me and thee, when we are abſent one from another.

50 If thou ſhalt afflict my daughters, or if thou ſhalt take other wives beſides my daughters, no man is with us: See, God is witneſs betwixt me and thee.

51 And Laban ſaid to Jacob, Behold this heap, and behold this pillar, which I have caſt betwixt me and thee:

guage of idolators of all ages to call their conſecrated ſtatues or images their gods, becauſe they not only conſidered them as ſymbols of divinity, but as proper receptacles of the divine preſence---So that to rob them of their idols was to deprive them of the preſence and protection of their gods.

39 I bare the loſs of it.] It ſhowed Laban to be of a moſt baſe and illiberal diſpoſition, to uſe his ſon-in-law, a moſt faithful ſervant, with all the rigour that the ſevereſt maſter could have ſhown to a common ſlave.

40 The froſt by night.] It was uſual for ſhepherds in thoſe countries to keep watch over their flocks by night. Luke ii. 8.

42 The fear of Iſaac.] The object of Iſaac's veneration.

47 Jegar-ſahadutha---Galeed.] The firſt of theſe words ſignifies, the heap of teſtimony; the other, the heap of ocular inſpection.

52 This heap be witneſs, and this pillar be witneſs, that I will not paſs over this heap to thee, and that thou ſhalt not paſs over this heap and this pillar unto me, for harm.

53 The God of Abraham, and the God of Nahor, the God of their father, judge betwixt us. And Jacob ſware by the fear of his father Iſaac.

54 Then Jacob offered ſacrifice upon the mount, and called his brethren to eat bread: and they did eat bread, and tarried all night in the mount.

55 And early in the morning Laban roſe up, and kiſſed his ſons and his daughters, and bleſſed them, and Laban departed, and returned unto his place.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 Jacob's viſion. 3 His meſſage, 13 and preſent to Eſau. 24 Wreſtling with an angel, he is called Iſrael.

AND Jacob went on his way, and the angels of God met him.

2 And when Jacob ſaw them, he ſaid, This is God's hoſt: and he called the name of that place Mahanaim.

3 ¶ And Jacob ſent meſſengers before him to Eſau his brother, unto the land of Seir, the country of Edom.

4 And he commanded them, ſaying, Thus ſhall ye ſpeak unto my lord Eſau; Thy ſervant Jacob ſaith thus, I have ſojourned with Laban, and ſtayed there until now:

5 And I have oxen, and aſſes, flocks, and men-ſervants, and women-ſervants; and I have ſent to tell my lord, that I may find grace in thy ſight.

6 And the meſſengers returned to Jacob, ſaying, We came to thy brother Eſau, and alſo he cometh to meet thee, and four hundred men with him.

7 Then Jacob was greatly afraid, and diſtreſſed: and he divided the people that was with him, and the flocks, and herds, and the camels into two bands;

8 And ſaid, If Eſau come to the one company, and ſmite it, then the other company which is left ſhall eſcape.

9 And Jacob ſaid, O God of my father Abraham, and God of my father Iſaac, the LORD which ſaidſt unto me, Return unto thy country, and to thy kindred, and I will deal well with thee;

10 I am not worthy of the leaſt of all the mercies, and of all the truth, which thou haſt ſhewed unto thy ſervant: for with my ſtaff I paſſed over this Jordan, and now I am become two bands.

11 Deliver me, I pray thee, from the hand of my brother, from the hand of Eſau: for I fear him, leſt he will come and ſmite me, and the mother with the children.

12 And thou ſaidſt, I will ſurely do thee good, and make thy ſeed as the ſand of the ſea, which cannot be numbered for multitude.

13 ¶ And he lodged there that ſame night; and took of that which came to his hand, a preſent for Eſau his brother;

14 Two hundred ſhe-goats and twenty he-goats, two hundred ewes and twenty rams, 15 Thirty milch camels with their colts, forty kine and ten bulls, twenty ſhe-aſſes and ten foles.

53 The God of Abraham, &c.] That is, the God adored by Abraham, Nahor, and their father Terah. Some conſider the different expreſſions uſed by Laban and Jacob, as an indication of their different ſentiments with regard to religion. But however they might differ about ſome particular modes or forms of worſhip, it is evident, that they agreed in their opinion of the one Supreme Being; for we find, from ver. 54, that they both partook of the ſame ſacrifice which Jacob offered to the true God.

Notes on the Thirty-ſecond Chapter.

Ver. 2 Mahanaim.] That is, two hoſts or camps, becauſe the angels appeared like two armies drawn up on either ſide for his defence; thus the pſalmiſt, The angel of the Lord encampeth round about them that fear him, and delivereth them, Pſal. xxxiv. 7.

7 Jacob was greatly afraid.] A remarkable inſtance of the timidity of guilt; for Jacob, notwithſtanding the repeated experience he had of the divine protection, though he had juſt ſeen himſelf ſurrounded with a hoſt of guardian angels, though he had undertaken this journey in obedience to the divine admonition, and had the promiſe of God to aſſure him of a ſafe return, yet the conſciouſneſs of having injured his brother ſtill diſturbs his mind, and haunts him with terror.

9 And Jacob ſaid, O God of my father.] After he had done every thing that human prudence could ſuggeſt for his deliverance, he throws himſelf upon his God for protection, by an humble and fervent addreſs. A proper leſſon for us always to implore the aſſiſtance of Providence, and rely on the arm of Omnipotence to ſave us.

11 Smite the mother with the children.] This ſhould rather be rendered, ſmite the mother upon the children; and ſignifies a havock and extirpation of all without mercy. Hence we may form ſome idea of the dreadful conceptions Jacob had of his brother's wrath.

And Jacob was left alone, and there wrestled a Man with him Until the breaking of the Day. Gen. XXXII. Ve. 24.

16 And he delivered them into the hand of his ſervants, every drove by themſelves; and ſaid unto his ſervants, Paſs over before me, and put a ſpace betwixt drove and drove.

17 And he commanded the foremoſt, ſaying, When Eſau my brother meeteth thee, and aſketh thee, ſaying, Whoſe art thou? and whither goeſt thou? and whoſe are theſe before thee?

18 Then thou ſhalt ſay, They be thy ſervant Jacob's; it is a preſent ſent unto my lord Eſau: and behold alſo he is behind us.

19 And ſo commanded he the ſecond, and the third, and all that followed the droves, ſaying, On this manner ſhall ye ſpeak unto Eſau, when ye find him.

20 And ſay ye moreover, Behold, thy ſervant Jacob is behind us. For he ſaid, I will appeaſe him with the preſent that goeth before me, and afterward I will ſee his face; peradventure he will accept of me.

21 So went the preſent over before him: and himſelf lodged that night in the company.

22 And he roſe up that night, and took his two wives, and his two women-ſervants, and his eleven ſons, and paſſed over the ford Jabbok.

23 And he took them, and ſent them over the brook, and ſent over that he had.

24 ¶ And Jacob was left alone: and there wreſtled a man with him until the breaking of the day.

25 And when he ſaw that he prevailed not againſt him, he touched the hollow of his thigh: and the hollow of Jacob's thigh was out of joint, as he wreſtled with him.

26 And he ſaid, Let me go, for the day breaketh: and he ſaid, I will not let thee go, except thou bleſs me.

27 And he ſaid unto him, What is thy name? And he ſaid, Jacob.

28 And he ſaid, Thy name ſhall be called no more Jacob, but Iſrael: for as a prince haſt thou power with God and with men, and haſt prevailed.

29 And Jacob aſked him, and ſaid, Tell me, I pray thee, thy name: and he ſaid, Wherefore is it, that thou doſt aſk after my name? and he bleſſed him there.

30 And Jacob called the name of the place Peniel: for I have ſeen God face to face, and my life is preſerved.

31 And as he paſſed over Penuel the ſun roſe upon him, and he halted upon his thigh.

32 Therefore the children of Iſrael eat not of the ſinew which ſhrank, which is upon the hollow of the thigh, unto this day: becauſe he touched the hollow of Jacob's thigh in the ſinew that ſhrank.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 The kindneſs of Jacob and Eſau at their meeting. 18 Jacob buyeth a field at Shalem, and buildeth an altar.

AND Jacob lifted up his eyes, and looked, and behold, Eſau came, and with him four hundred men. And he divided the children unto Leah, and unto Rachel, and unto the two hand-maids.

2 And he put the hand-maids and their children foremoſt, and Leah and her children after, and Rachel and Joſeph hindermoſt.

3 And he paſſed over before them, and bowed himſelf to the ground ſeven times, until he came near to his brother.

4 And Eſau ran to meet him, and embraced

24 There wreſtled a man with him.] An angel in the form of a man, who repreſented the Almighty, being called God, ver. 28, 30.

25 He touched the hollow of his thigh.] To let him underſtand how eaſily he could have overthrown him, if he had pleaſed.

28 No more Jacob, &c.] It ought to be tranſlated, thy name ſhall not only be called Jacob, but Iſrael; which ſignifies a prince powerful with God: for as it ſhould be rendered, as a prince haſt thou prevailed with God, and with men thou ſhalt alſo powerfully prevail. Therefore he had no reaſon to fear any attempts of his brother, or any other power on earth.

30 Peniel.] Or Penuel, that is, the face of God.

I have ſeen God face to face.] I have been admitted to the greateſt familiarity with this repreſentative of the Almighty, and enjoyed ſuch happy intercourſe with God, as is the portion of thoſe bleſſed ſpirits who approach neareſt the Divine Preſence.

32 Therefore the children of Iſrael eat not, &c.] The ſinew here meant is that which faſtens the hip-bone in its ſocket, comprehending the fleſh of that muſcle that is connected to it.

Notes on the Thirty-third Chapter.

Ver. 2 Rachel and Joſeph hindermoſt.] In the ſafeſt place, becauſe he loved them beſt.

3 Bowed himſelf---ſeven times.] To ſignify the honour he had for him, and that he looked upon him as his elder brother.

4 Eſau ran to meet him.] An indication of the fervour of his affection, which does not ſuffer him to proceed ſo ceremoniouſly as Jacob did.

him, and fell on his neck, and kiſſed him: and they wept.

5 And he lift up his eyes, and ſaw the women and the children; and ſaid, Who are thoſe with thee? and he ſaid, The children which God hath graciouſly given thy ſervant.

6 Then the hand-maidens came near, they and their children, and they bowed themſelves.

7 And Leah alſo with her children came near, and bowed themſelves: and after came Joſeph near and Rachel, and they bowed themſelves.

8 And he ſaid, What meaneſt thou by all this drove, which I met? and he ſaid, Theſe are to find grace in the ſight of my lord.

9 And Eſau ſaid, I have enough; my brother, keep that thou haſt unto thy ſelf.

10 And Jacob ſaid, Nay, I pray thee, if now I have found grace in thy ſight, then receive my preſent at my hand: for therefore I have ſeen thy face, as though I had ſeen the face of God, and thou waſt pleaſed with me.

11 Take, I pray thee, my bleſſing that is brought to thee; becauſe God hath dealt graciouſly with me, and becauſe I have enough: and he urged him, and he took it.

12 And he ſaid, Let us take our journey, and let us go, and I will go before thee.

13 And he ſaid unto him, My lord knoweth that the children are tender, and the flocks and herds with young are with me, and if men ſhould over-drive them one day, all the flock will die.

14 Let my lord, I pray thee, paſs over before his ſervant: and I will lead on ſoftly, according as the cattle that goeth before me, and the children, be able to endure; until I come unto my lord unto Seir.

15 And Eſau ſaid, Let me now leave with thee ſome of the folk that are with me: and he ſaid, What needeth it? let me find grace in the ſight of my lord.

16 So Eſau returned that day on his way unto Seir.

17 And Jacob journeyed to Succoth, and built him an houſe, and made booths for his cattle: therefore the name of the place is called Succoth.

18 ¶ And Jacob came to Shalem a city of Shechem, which is in the land of Canaan, when he came from Padan-aram; and pitched his tent before the city.

19 And he bought a parcel of a field, where he had ſpread his tent, at the hand of the children of Hamor Schechem's father, for an hundred pieces of money.

20 And he erected there an altar, and called it El-elohe-iſrael.

CHAP. XXXIV.

1 Dinah raviſhed. 20 The Shechemites are circumciſed, 25 ſlain by the ſons of Jacob, 27 and their city ſpoiled.

AND Dinah the daughter of Leah, which ſhe bare unto Jacob, went out to ſee the daughters of the land.

2 And when Shechem the ſon of Hamor the Hivite, prince of the country, ſaw her, he took her, and lay with her, and defiled her.

3 And his ſoul clave unto Dinah the daughter of Jacob, and he loved the damſel, and ſpake kindly unto the damſel.

4 And Shechem ſpake unto his father Hamor, ſaying, Get me this damſel to wife.

8 Theſe are to find grace, &c.] It was cuſtomary for inferiors to approach their ſuperiors with preſents, to procure themſelves a gracious reception.

9 I have enough, my brother.] By this expreſſion Eſau ſhows himſelf as free from avarice as from revenge.

11 Becauſe I have enough.] The Hebrew is, I have all: which illuſtrates the paſſage much better than our tranſlation---as much as to ſay, God has given me all, every bleſſing I can deſire, and therefore I have enough to ſpare of all ſorts of things.

12 Let us take our journey.] Eſau was deſirous that his brother ſhould accompany him to mount Seir, but this Jacob convinced him was impoſſible for the reaſon given in the 13th verſe.

17 Succoth.] The word ſignifies booths, and was thus called from the booths erected here by Jacob for his cattle.

18 Jacob came to Shalem, a city of Shechem.] According to Onkelos and the Arabic verſion, it ſhould be rendered, He came in peace and ſafety to the city Shechem.

19 For an hundred pieces of money.] The margin hath an hundred lambs, but our tranſlation appears to be juſt, from Acts vii. 16.---where this field is ſaid to have been bought with money.

Notes on the thirty-fourth Chapter.

Ver 1 Dinah went out to ſee the daughters of the land.] Dinah was now about ſixteen years of age, and, probably deſirous of ſeeing the dreſſes and ornaments of the women of that country, rambled from her mother's tent. This tranſaction, from the circumſtances which attended it, muſt have happened ſeven or eight years, at leaſt, after Jacob's return into the land of Canaan, becauſe his ſons were grown up to manhood.

5 And Jacob heard that he had defiled Dinah his daughter, (now his ſons were with the cattle in the field:) and Jacob held his peace until they were come.

6 And Hamor the father of Shechem went out unto Jacob to commune with him.

7 And the ſons of Jacob came out of the field when they heard it: and the men were grieved, and they were very wroth, becauſe he had wrought folly in Iſrael, in lying with Jacob's daughter; which thing ought not to be done.

8 And Hamor communed with them, ſaying, The ſoul of my ſon Shechem longeth for your daughter: I pray you give her him to wife.

9 And make ye marriages with us: and give your daughters unto us, and take our daughters unto you.

10 And ye ſhall dwell with us: and the land ſhall be before you; dwell and trade ye therein, and get ye poſſeſſions therein.

11 And Shechem ſaid unto her father, and unto her brethren, Let me find grace in your eyes, and what ye ſhall ſay unto me I will give.

12 Aſk me never ſo much dowry and gift, and I will give according as ye ſhall ſay unto me: but give me the damſel to wife.

13 And the ſons of Jacob anſwered Shechem and Hamor his father deceitfully, and ſaid; becauſe he had defiled Dinah their ſiſter:

14 And they ſaid unto them, We cannot do this thing, to give our ſiſter to one that is uncircumciſed: for that were a reproach unto us:

15 But in this will we conſent unto you: If ye will be as we be, that every male of you be circumciſed;

16 Then will we give our daughters unto you, and we will take your daughters to us, and we will dwell with you, and we will become one people.

17 But if ye will not hearken unto us, to be circumciſed; then will we take our daughter, and we will be gone.

18 And their words pleaſed Hamor and Shechem Hamor's ſon.

19 And the young man deferred not to do the thing, becauſe he had delight in Jacob's daughter: and he was more honourable than all the houſe of his father.

20 ¶ And Hamor and Shechem his ſon came unto the gate of their city, and communed with the men of their city, ſaying, 21 Theſe men are peaceable with us, therefore let them dwell in the land, and trade therein; for the land, behold, it is large enough for them; let us take their daughters to us for wives, and let us give them our daughters.

22 Only herein will the men conſent unto us, for to dwell with us, to be one people, if every male among us be circumciſed, as they are circumciſed.

23 Shall not their cattle, and their ſubſtance, and every beaſt of their's be our's? only let us conſent unto them, and they will dwell with us.

24 And unto Hamor and unto Shechem his ſon hearkened all that went out of the gate of his city: and every male was circumciſed, all that went out of the gate of his city.

25 ¶ And it came to paſs on the third day, when they were ſore, that two of the ſons of Jacob, Simeon and Levi, Dinah's brethren, took each man his ſword, and came upon the city boldly, and ſlew all the males.

5 Jacob held his peace, until they were come.] He concealed his reſentment till his ſons returned from the field, probably at many miles diſtance; it being common for them to range all round the country in ſearch of paſture.

12 Aſk me never ſo much dowry and gift.] It was cuſtomary for the bridegroom, before he married, to make two preſents, one to his betrothed wife, and the other to his father-in-law: thus Abraham's ſervant gave necklaces and ear-rings to Rebekah. Thus in Homer, Iliad 9th, when Agamemnon propoſes his daughter in marriage to Achilles he ſays, as Mr. Pope tranſlates,

Her let him chuſe whom moſt his eyes approve,
I aſk no preſents, no reward for love:
Myſelf will give the dow'r; ſo vaſt a ſtore,
As never father gave a child before.

18 And their words pleaſed Hamor, &c.] The whole tranſaction ſufficiently informs us, that though Shechem had committed this unguarded action, yet he was far from being of a bad diſpoſition, and that he was paſſionately fond of Dinah. We may alſo obſerve, that both Hamor and all the inhabitants of the city had a great affection for Shechem, ſince they readily ſubmitted to ſo painful an operation merely to ſerve their prince.

25 Two of the ſons of Jacob, &c.] Notwithſtanding the Shechemites had ſubmitted to the painful operation of circumciſion, the propoſed condition of reconciliation with Jacob's family; yet Simeon and Levi (and no doubt they were aſſiſted by their ſervants) took the advantage of the time when they were in the greateſt pain and anguiſh, and conſequently leaſt able to reſiſt, to fall upon the city, and deſtroy all the male inhabitants: an 26 And they ſlew Hamor and Shechem his ſon with the edge of the ſword, and took Dinah out of Shechem's houſe, and went out.

27 ¶ The ſons of Jacob came upon the ſlain, and ſpoiled the city; becauſe they had defiled their ſiſter.

28 They took their ſheep, and their oxen, and their aſſes, and that which was in the city, and that which was in the field.

29 And all their wealth, and all their little ones, and their wives took they captive, and ſpoiled even all that was in the houſe.

30 And Jacob ſaid to Simeon and Levi, Ye have troubled me to make me to ſtink among the inhabitants of the land, amongſt the Canaanites, and the Perizzites: and I being few in number, they ſhall gather themſelves together againſt me, and ſlay me; and I ſhall be deſtroyed, I and my houſe.

31 And they ſaid, Should he deal with our ſiſter, as with an harlot?

CHAP. XXXV.

1 God ſendeth Jacob to Beth-el. 2 He purgeth his houſe of idols, 6 and buildeth an altar at Beth-el. 28 Iſaac's death.

AND God ſaid unto Jacob, Ariſe, go up to Beth-el, and dwell there: and make there an altar unto God, that appeared unto thee when thou fleddeſt from the face of Eſau thy brother.

2 ¶ Then Jacob ſaid unto his houſhold, and to all that were with him, Put away the ſtrange gods that are among you, and be clean, and change your garments:

3 And let us ariſe, and go up to Beth-el; and I will make there an altar unto God, who anſwered me in the day of my diſtreſs, and was with me in the way which I went.

4 And they gave unto Jacob all the ſtrange gods which were in their land, and all their ear-rings which were in their ears: and Jacob hid them under the oak which was by Shechem.

5 And they journeyed: and the terror of God was upon the cities that were round about them, and they did not purſue after the ſons of Jacob.

6 ¶ So Jacob came to Luz, which is in the land of Canaan, that is Beth-el: he and all the people that were with him.

7 And he built there an altar, and called the place El-beth-el: becauſe there God ap-action ſhocking to humanity; for doubtleſs many of the ſufferers were entirely innocent of their leader's crime; and even the guilty, by ſubmitting to the propoſed terms of agreement, had made a proper reparation to Jacob's family for the injury offered. Well therefore might their father deteſt ſo baſe an action, and, on his death-bed, cry out in theſe emphatical words, O my ſoul, come not thou into their ſecret: unto their aſſembly, mine honour, be not thou united: for in their anger they ſlew a man.---Curſed be their anger for it was fierce, and their wrath for it was cruel. Chap. xlix. 6, 7.

Notes on the Thirty-fifth Chapter.

Ver. 1 And God ſaid to Jacob, Ariſe, go up to Beth-el.] The cruelty of Jacob's ſons towards the Shechemites made it unſafe for him to ſtay any longer in thoſe parts; and having received a ſpecial command from God, he retired to Beth-el, about twenty miles ſouth of Shechem, the place where he had the viſion when he was on his journey to Padan-aram. Thither he was commanded to repair, and perform the vow he had made when beſet with the greateſt dangers and difficulties.

2 Put away the ſtrange gods.] Heb. The gods of the ſtranger, that is, thoſe idols which ſtrangers worſhip; ſome of which had been introduced into his family either by Rachel, who is thought ſtill to have retained the teraphim ſhe ſtole from her father, or by ſome of Jacob's men or maid-ſervants. Though the expreſſion ſeems chiefly to regard the Shechemites which his ſons had taken captive, and were now incorporated into Jacob's family.

And be clean.] The word properly ſignifies the waſhing of the body with water. As there is ſome analogy between external cleanlineſs and purity of mind, it may denote the cleanſing of the ſoul by repentance from all thoſe impure affections, whereby a man becomes morally polluted in the ſight of God. In which view, this rite of waſhing the body with water was uſed as a ſign of inward purification, not only among the idolatrous heathens, but alſo by the worſhippers of the true God, both before and under the law. Waſh ye, make ye clean, put away the evil of your doings from before mine eyes, Iſaiah i. 16. And as men ſhould at all times have their ſouls adorned with this inward purity, ſo eſpecially when they approach their Maker in the duties of his immediate worſhip. It was therefore highly commendable in Jacob, on this ſolemn occaſion, to enjoin all under his care to cleanſe and purify themſelves particularly from idolatry, and from thoſe guilty ſtains lately contracted by ſhedding innocent blood, as they would otherwiſe be very unfit to hold an intercourſe with their God; as if he had ſaid, Put off your ſordid apparel, eſpecially thoſe garments in which you were ſo lately defiled with blood, and put on your cleaneſt raiment, as an emblem of your being diveſted of all impure affections, and clothed with thoſe internal graces and pious diſpoſitions, which are the ornament of the ſoul, and render it comely in the ſight of God.

4 And all their ear-rings.] Theſe ornaments, it ſhould ſeem, had been uſed as inſtruments of ſuperſtition, and, as ſome think, in the nature of amulets.

5 And the terror of God, &c.] The reaſon why the inhabitants of the country did not attempt to revenge the cruelty committed, on the Shechemites was, becauſe God had made a pannic fear to fall upon them.

7 El-beth-el.] That is, the God of Beth-el.

8 Allon-

peared unto him, when he fled from the face of his brother.

8 But Deborah, Rebekah's nurſe, died, and ſhe was buried beneath Beth-el, under an oak: and the name of it was called Allon-bachuth.

9 And God appeared unto Jacob again, when he came out of Padan-aram; and bleſſed him.

10 And God ſaid unto him, Thy name is Jacob: thy name ſhall not be called any more Jacob, but Iſrael ſhall be thy name; and he called his name Iſrael.

11 And God ſaid unto him, I am God Almighty; be fruitful and multiply: a nation and a company of nations ſhall be of thee, and kings ſhall come out of thy loins:

12 And the land which I gave Abraham and Iſaac, to thee I will give it, and to thy ſeed after thee will I give the land.

13 And God went up from him in the place where he talked with him.

14 And Jacob ſet up a pillar in the place where he talked with him, even a pillar of ſtone: and he poured a drink-offering thereon, and he poured oil thereon.

15 And Jacob called the name of the place where God ſpake with him, Beth-el.

16 And they journeyed from Beth-el: and there was but a little way to come to Ephrath: and Rachel travailed, and ſhe had hard labour.

17 And it came to paſs when ſhe was in hard labour, that the midwife ſaid unto her, Fear not; thou ſhalt have this ſon alſo.

18 And it came to paſs as her ſoul was in departing (for ſhe died) that ſhe called his name Ben-oni: but his father called him Benjamin.

19 And Rachel died, and was buried in the way to Ephrath, which is Bethlehem.

20 And Jacob ſet a pillar upon her grave: that is the pillar of Rachel's grave unto this day.

21 And Iſrael journeyed and ſpread his tent beyond the tower of Edar.

22 And it came to paſs when Iſrael dwelt in that land, that Reuben went and lay with Bilhah his father's concubine: and Iſrael heard it. Now the ſons of Jacob were twelve:

23 The ſons of Leah; Reuben Jacob's firſt-born, and Simeon, and Levi, and Judah, and Iſſachar, and Zebulun:

24 The ſons of Rachel; Joſeph and Benjamin:

25 And the ſons of Bilhah, Rachel's handmaid; Dan, and Naphtali:

26 And the ſons of Zilpah, Leah's handmaid; Gad, and Aſher: theſe are the ſons of Jacob, which were born to him in Padan-aram.

27 And Jacob came unto Iſaac his father unto Mamre, unto the city of Arbah (which is Hebron) where Abraham and Iſaac ſojourned.

28 ¶ And the days of Iſaac were an hundred and fourſcore years.

29 And Iſaac gave up the ghoſt and died, and was gathered unto his people, being old and full of days: and his ſons Eſau and Jacob buried him.

CHAP. XXXVI.

2 Eſau's wives. 6 His removing to mount Seir. 9 His ſons.

NOW theſe are the generations of Eſau; who is Edom.

8 Allon-bachuth.] The oak of weeping.

10 Iſrael ſhall be thy name.] See chap. xxxii. 28.

14 He poured a drink-offering, &c.] He dedicated it to the divine ſervice by pouring wine and oil upon it.

18 Ben-oni.] Rachel had ſo impatiently longed for children as to ſay, Give me children, or elſe I die, but was now fatally convinced that what ſhe conſidered as the greateſt happineſs that could attend her, was really the greateſt pain; and thence called this ſon Ben-oni, the ſon of my ſorrow: but his father, to avert the ſiniſter omen, changed his name to Benjamin, the ſon of my ſtrength, or right hand. And from this inſtance we ſhould learn, never to wiſh impatiently for any earthly acquiſition; but ſubmit our deſires to the care of Providence, leſt the accompliſhment of our wiſhes, like thoſe of Rachel, prove our own deſtruction.

22 And Iſrael heard it.] Though he did not then cenſure that unnatural crime, yet he treaſured it up in his memory, and on his death-bed deprived him of his birth-right on that account.

26 Which were born unto him in Padan-aram.] Benjamin was not born in Padan-aram, and is therefore to be excepted. This is not an uncommon figure of ſpeech; for the apoſtles are called the twelve apoſtles after the death of Judas, though then but eleven; and alſo after Matthias and Paul were added, when their number was thirteen.

27 Jacob came unto Iſaac.] To dwell with him, and be the comfort of his old age.

29 Eſau and Jacob buried him.] As Iſaac and Iſhmael had done Abraham, and probably in the ſame place, viz. the cave of Machpelah.

Notes on the Thirty-ſixth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Theſe are the generations of Eſau.] This genealogy of Eſau

2 ¶ Eſau took his wives of the daughters of Canaan; Adah the daughter of Elon the Hittite, and Aholibamah, the daughter of Anah the daughter of Zibeon the Hivite;

3. And Baſhemath Iſhmael's daughter, ſiſter of Nebajoth.

4 And Adah bare to Eſau, Eliphaz: and Baſhemath bare Reuel;

5 And Aholibamah bare Jeuſh, and Jaalam, and Korah: theſe are the ſons of Eſau, which were born unto him in the land of Canaan.

6 ¶ And Eſau took his wives, and his ſons, and his daughters, and all the perſons of his houſe, and his cattle, and all his beaſts, and all his ſubſtance, which he had got in the land of Canaan; and went into the country, from the face of his brother Jacob.

7 For their riches were more than that they might dwell together: and the land wherein they were ſtrangers could not bear them, becauſe of their cattle.

8 Thus dwelt Eſau in mount Seir: Eſau is Edom.

9 ¶ And theſe are the generations of Eſau the father of the Edomites in mount Seir:

10 Theſe are the names of Eſau's ſons; Eliphaz the ſon of Adah the wife of Eſau, Reuel the ſon of Baſhemath the wife of Eſau.

11 And the ſons of Eliphaz were, Teman, Omar, Zepho, and Gatam, and Kenaz.

12 And Timna was concubine to Eliphaz Eſau's ſon; and ſhe bare to Eliphaz Amalek: theſe were the ſons of Adah Eſau's wife.

13 And theſe are the ſons of Reuel; Nahath, and Zerah, Shammah, and Mizzah: theſe were the ſons of Baſhemath Eſau's wife.

14 And theſe were the ſons of Aholibamah, the daughter of Anah the daughter of Zibeon, Eſau's wife: and ſhe bare to Eſau, Jeuſh, and Jaalam, and Korah.

15 Theſe were dukes of the ſons of Eſau: the ſons of Eliphaz the firſt-born ſon of Eſau; duke Teman, duke Omar, duke Zepho, duke Kenaz, 16 Duke Korah, duke Gatam, and duke Amalek: theſe are the dukes that came of Eliphaz in the land of Edom; theſe were the ſons of Adah.

17 And theſe are the ſons of Reuel Eſau's ſon; duke Nahath, duke Zerah, duke Shammah, duke Mizzah; theſe are the dukes that came of Reuel in the land of Edom: theſe are the ſons of Baſhemath Eſau's wife.

18 And theſe are the ſons of Aholibamah Eſau's wife; duke Jeuſh, duke Jaalam, duke Korah: theſe were the dukes that came of Aholibamah the daughter of Anah, Eſau's wife.

19 Theſe are the ſons of Eſau, (who is Edom;) and theſe are their dukes.

20 Theſe are the ſons of Seir the Horite, who inhabited the land; Lotan, and Shobal, and Zibeon, and Anah, 21 And Diſhon, and Ezer, and Diſhan: theſe are the dukes of the Horites, the children of Seir in the land of Edom.

22 And the children of Lotan, were Hori, and Heman: and Lotan's ſiſter was Timna.

Eſau was inſerted, firſt, to ſhew how truly his father's prophetic bleſſing was fulfilled; and ſecondly, to inform the Iſraelites which were the tribes of Edom, that they might not, through ignorance, attack any of their cities, which God himſelf had given them for their inheritance.

2 Eſau took his wives, &c.] It will be proper to obſerve here, that Moſes gives theſe three wives of Eſau quite other names, when he comes to ſpeak of the poſterity he had by them: which might lead one to think, that he had more than three, eſpecially as the fathers of the two former are likewiſe called by different names: thus his firſt wife Judith, the daughter of Beer the Hivite, is afterwards called Adah, the daughter of Elon the Hittite; the ſecond, viz. Baſhemath, the daughter of Elon, is again called Aholibamah, the daughter of Anah, the daughter of Zibeon the Hittite; the laſt called (chap. xxviii. 9.) Mahalath, is here called Baſhemath: it is plain the two laſt names mean the ſame perſon, becauſe in both places ſhe is called the daughter of Iſhmael, and ſiſter of Nebajoth; therefore the ſame thing may be ſuppoſed of the other two. All the account that can be given for this difference is, that they had two names, and were ſometimes called by one, ſometimes by the other. Thus the mother of Abijam, king of Judah, is called in one place (1 Kings, xv. 2.) Maachah, the daughter of Abiſhalom, in another (2 Chron. xiii. 2.) Michaiah, the daughter of Uriel of Gibeah. Compare the xxvith chap. ver. 34. with this paſſage. Univerſal Hiſtory.

6 He went into the country.] Some, inſtead of the, read his, underſtanding by his country, the land of Seir; but the Septuagint and the Samaritan text read, out of the land of Canaan; which he left to the poſſeſſion of Jacob: this ſeems the true reading.

15 Theſe are the dukes.] We muſt not underſtand that theſe who are called dukes, were rulers of provinces; they were only the heads or chiefs of particular families; for it was many years after that the Horites, who inhabited the country of Edom, were conquered: after which, indeed, there were dukes of Edom, and are mentioned ver. 42, 43; but are plainly diſtinguiſhed from thoſe mentioned above, the former being ſtiled dukes in the land of Edom, and the latter the dukes of Edom.

23 And the children of Shobal were theſe; Alvan, and Manahath, and Ebal, Shepho, and Onam.

24 And theſe are the children of Zibeon; both Ajah, and Anah: this was that Anah, that found the mules in the wilderneſs, as he fed the aſſes of Zibeon his father.

25 And the children of Anah were theſe; Diſhon, and Aholibamah the daughter of Anah.

26 And theſe are the children of Diſhon: Hemdan, and Eſhban, and Ithran, and Cheran.

27 The children of Ezer are theſe; Bilhan, and Zaavan, and Achan.

28 The children of Diſhan are theſe; Uz, and Aran.

29 Theſe are the dukes that came of the Horites; duke Lotan, duke Shobal, duke Zibeon, duke Anah, 30 Duke Diſhon, duke Ezer, duke Diſhan: theſe are the dukes that came of Hori, among their dukes in the land of Seir.

31 And theſe are the kings that reigned in the land of Edom, before there reigned any king over the children of Iſrael.

32 And Bela, the ſon of Beor, reigned in Edom: and the name of his city was Dinhabah.

33 And Bela died, and Jobab the ſon of Zerah of Bozrah reigned in his ſtead.

34 And Jobab died, and Huſham of the land of Temani reigned in his ſtead.

35 And Huſham died, and Hadad the ſon of Bedad, who ſmote Midian in the field of Moab, reigned in his ſtead: and the name of his city was Avith.

36 And Hadad died, and Samlah of Maſrekah reigned in his ſtead.

37 And Samlah died, and Saul of Rehoboth, by the river reigned in his ſtead.

38 And Saul died, and Baal-hanan the ſon of Achbor reigned in his ſtead.

39 And Baal-hanan the ſon of Achbor died, and Hadar reigned in his ſtead: and the name of his city was Pau; and his wife's name was Mehetabel, the daughter of Matred, the daughter of Mezahab.

40 And theſe are the names of the dukes that came of Eſau, according to their families, after their places, by their names; duke Timnah, duke Alvah, duke Jetheth, 41 Duke Aholibamah, duke Elah, duke Pinon.

42 Duke Kenaz, duke Teman, duke Mibzar.

43 Duke Magdiel, duke Iram: theſe be the dukes of Edom, according to their habitations, in the land of their poſſeſſion: he is Eſau the father of the Edomites.

CHAP. XXXVII.

2 Joſeph is hated of his brethren. 5 His two dreams. 18 His brethren conſpire his death. 36 He is ſold to Potiphar in Egypt.

AND Jacob dwelt in the land wherein his father was a ſtranger, in the land of Canaan.

2 ¶ Theſe are the generations of Jacob. Joſeph being ſeventeen years old, was feeding the flock with his brethren; and the lad was with the ſons of Bilhah, and with the ſons of Zilpah, his father's wives: and Joſeph brought unto his father their evil report.

3 Now Iſrael loved Joſeph more than all his children, becauſe he was the ſon of his old age: and he made him a coat of many colours.

24 Anah, that found the mules in the wilderneſs, &c.] Some think this paſſage implies his being the inventor of breeding mules. But the learned Bochart judiciouſly remarks, that the verb which we render found never ſignifies invention, but the finding ſomething in being before; and therefore he underſtands by it, a gigantic race of men called Emims, whom Anah found, or attacked, in the wilderneſs.

Notes on the Thirty-ſeventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 Jacob dwelt in the land wherein his father was a ſtranger.] Iſaac could not be called a ſtranger in the land of Canaan, for he was a native of that country, and had reſided in it many years; the paſſage ſhould be rendered, dwelt in the land wherein his father was a ſojourner, Iſaac having made no conqueſts, nor extended his authority further than his own houſe.

2 Theſe are the generations of Jacob.] That is, theſe are the memorable tranſactions of Jacob and his family.

Their evil report.] He told him what evil lives they led.

3 Becauſe he was the ſon of his old age.] The Samaritan, Perſic, and Arabic verſions have rendered it, becauſe he was a wiſe and prudent ſon; but it might be more properly tranſlated, becauſe he had the wiſdom or prudence of a ſenator.

A coat of many colours.] Wove or embroidered with parti-

4 And when his brethren ſaw that their father loved him more than all his brethren, they hated him, and could not ſpeak peaceably unto him.

5 ¶ And Joſeph dreamed a dream, and he told it his brethren: and they hated him yet the more.

6 And he ſaid unto them, Hear, I pray you, this dream which I have dreamed.

7 For behold, we were binding ſheaves in the field, and lo, my ſheaf aroſe, and alſo ſtood upright; and behold, your ſheaves ſtood round about, and made obeiſance to my ſheaf.

8 And his brethren ſaid unto him, Shalt thou indeed reign over us? or ſhalt thou indeed have dominion over us? and they hated him yet the more for his dreams, and for his words.

9 And he dreamed yet another dream, and told it his brethren, and ſaid, Behold, I have dreamed a dream more; and behold, the ſun and the moon and the eleven ſtars made obeiſance to me.

10 And he told it to his father, and to his brethren: and his father rebuked him, and ſaid unto him, What is this dream that thou haſt dreamed? ſhall I and thy mother and thy brethren indeed come to bow down ourſelves to thee to the earth?

11 And his brethren envied him: but his father obſerved the ſaying.

12 And his brethren went to feed their father's flock in Shechem.

13 And Iſrael ſaid unto Joſeph, Do not thy brethren feed the flock in Shechem? come, and I will ſend thee unto them. And he ſaid unto him, Here am I.

14 And he ſaid to him, Go, I pray thee, ſee whether it be well with thy brethren, and well with the flocks; and bring me word again. So he ſent him out of the vale of Hebron, and he came to Shechem.

15 And a certain man found him, and behold, he was wandering in the field: and the man aſked him, ſaying, What ſeekeſt thou?

16 And he ſaid, I ſeek my brethren: tell me, I pray thee, where they feed their flocks.

17 And the man ſaid, They are departed hence: for I heard them ſay, Let us go to Dothan. And Joſeph went after his brethren, and found them in Dothan.

18 ¶ And when they ſaw him afar off, even before he came near unto them, they conſpired againſt him to ſlay him.

19 And they ſaid one to another, Behold, this dreamer cometh.

20 Come now therefore, and let us ſlay him, and caſt him into ſome pit, and we will ſay, Some evil beaſt hath devoured him: and we ſhall ſee what will become of his dreams.

21 And Reuben heard it, and he delivered him out of their hands: and ſaid, Let us not kill him.

22 And Reuben ſaid unto them, Shed no blood, but caſt him into this pit that is in the wilderneſs, and lay no hand upon him; that he might rid him out of their hands, to deliver him to his father again.

23 And it came to paſs when Joſeph was come unto his brethren, that they ſtript Joſeph out of his coat, his coat of many colours that was on him:

24 And they took him, and caſt him into a coloured threads, probably with flowers and variegated figures; for ſuch garments were in high eſteem among the eaſtern nations.

4 Could not ſpeak peaceably to him.] This paſſage ſhould be rendered thus; they would not give him the aſſlem-mah, or compliment of peace. Shaw's Travels.

5 And he told it his brethren.] We have here an inſtance of Joſeph's great innocence and ſimplicity; he did not conſider, that this dream might be interpreted by them as an indication of his pride and ambition. The dream however was fulfilled, when his brethren made application to him in Egypt for corn, for they came, and bowed themſelves before him, with their faces to the earth, chap. xlii. 6.

9 Behold the ſun and the moon, &c.] The ſun, moon, and ſtars are frequently uſed in ſcripture as emblems of power and ſuperiority; thus to have theſe do him obeiſance, is to be exalted above his ſuperiors.

12 Went to feed their father's flock, &c.] They often removed from one place to another to find freſh paſture, and as their father had purchaſed ſome land in Shechem, they went thither to feed his flocks. As the place was at a conſiderable diſtance from Hebron, (Ainſworth ſays 60 miles) Jacob began to be ſollicitous about their welfare, eſpecially as they were in a country where they had ſome time ago given great provocation by their barbarous cruelty, therefore he ſays to Joſeph, Come, and I will ſend thee.

17 Dothan.] A place about eight miles north from Shechem.

18 They conſpired againſt him.] Here we ſee the natural progreſs of ſin, and how men proceed from bad actions to worſe.

22 And Reuben ſaid, &c.] Though Reuben was the eldeſt brother, and conſequently had the greateſt authority among them, yet he deſpaired of being able to ſave him by any open or direct methods; and therefore perſuaded them to caſt him into a pit, that he might have an opportunity of delivering him again to his father.

25 And they ſat down to eat bread: and they lift up their eyes and looked, and behold, a company of Iſhmeelites came from Gilead, with their camels bearing ſpicery and balm, and myrrhe, going to carry it down to Egypt.

26 And Judah ſaid unto his brethren, What profit is it if we ſlay our brother, and conceal his blood?

27 Come, and let us ſell him to the Iſhmeelites, and let not our hand be upon him; for he is our brother, and our fleſh: and his brethren were content.

28 Then there paſſed by Midianites merchantmen: and they drew and lift up Joſeph out of the pit, and ſold Joſeph to the Iſhmeelites for twenty pieces of ſilver: and they brought Joſeph into Egypt.

29 And Reuben returned unto the pit; and behold Joſeph was not in the pit; and he rent his clothes.

30 And he returned unto his brethren, and ſaid, The child is not; and I, whither ſhall I go?

31 And they took Joſeph's coat, and killed a kid of the goats, and dipped the coat in the blood:

32 And they ſent the coat of many colours, and they brought it to their father; and ſaid, This have we found: know now whether it be thy ſon's coat or no.

33 And he knew it, and ſaid, It is my ſon's coat; an evil beaſt hath devoured him: Joſeph is without doubt rent in pieces.

34 And Jacob rent his clothes, and put ſackcloth upon his loins, and mourned for his ſon many days.

35 And all his ſons and all his daughters roſe up to comfort him: but he refuſed to be comforted; and he ſaid, For I will go down into the grave unto my ſon, mourning: thus his father wept for him.

25 Spicery and balm.] Theſe were probably to embalm the dead.

28 There paſſed by Midianites.] In verſe 25, they are called Iſhmaelites. The caravan ſeems to have conſiſted of both; for they were near neighbours, and appear to have lived promiſcuouſly, and joined together in trade. And it has always been the cuſtom in theſe eaſtern countries for merchants to travel together in companies, for ſecurity againſt robbers and wild beaſts.

Twenty pieces of ſilver.] About forty-ſeven ſhillings ſterling; a mean price indeed! But perhaps no more was aſked, that the merchants might have no objection againſt making the purchaſe.

29 He rent his clothes.] This was one of the ſigns of ancient mourning, and uſed in caſes of the greateſt diſtreſs. From this behaviour of Reuben it is plain, that he was not privy to the tranſaction of ſelling Joſeph to the Iſhmaelites.

30 Whither ſhall I go?] Whither ſhall I fly to conceal myſelf from my father's anger? For being the eldeſt, he conſidered himſelf as anſwerable for the child's ſafety.

34 Jacob rent his clothes, and put ſackcloth on his loins.] What an affecting idea is here conveyed to the reader's mind! The hoary patriarch rends his clothes, covers his aged body with ſackcloth, and refuſes to be comforted. Thus Achilles in Homer expreſſes his grief, on receiving the news of Patroclus's death:

——————With furious hands he ſpread
The ſcorching aſhes on his graceful head;
His purple garments, and his golden hairs,
Thoſe he deforms with duſt, and theſe with tears. Pope.

34 Mourned for him many days.] Probably till he heard he was alive, as the following verſes ſeem to denote.

36 An officer.] In the margin it is, Eunuch; but the word doth ſignify not only eunuchs, but alſo chamberlains, courtiers and officers. Pharaoh was a common name of all the Egyptian kings.

Notes on the Thirty-eighth Chapter.

Ver. 1 And it came to paſs at that time.] We muſt not ſuppoſe all theſe events happened after Joſeph was ſold into Egypt: ſome of them took place much ſooner, even about the time that Joſeph came out of Meſopotamia into Canaan, though Moſes thought proper to place them here. The words then, at that time, in thoſe days, often refer in ſcripture to a conſiderable ſpace of time.

6 ¶ And Judah took a wife for Er his firſt-born, whoſe name was Tamar.

7 And Er, Judah's firſt-born, was wicked in the ſight of the LORD; and the LORD ſlew him.

8 ¶ And Judah ſaid unto Onan, Go in unto thy brother's wife, and marry her, and raiſe up ſeed to thy brother.

9 And Onan knew that the ſeed ſhould not be his: and it came to paſs, when he went in unto his brother's wife, that he ſpilled it on the ground, leſt that he ſhould give ſeed to his brother.

10 And the thing which he did diſpleaſed the LORD: wherefore he ſlew him alſo.

11 Then ſaid Judah to Tamar his daughter in law, Remain a widow at thy father's houſe, till Shelah my ſon be grown; (for he ſaid, Leſt peradventure he die alſo as his brethren did:) and Tamar went and dwelt in her father's houſe.

12 ¶ And in proceſs of time the daughter of Shuah Judah's wife died: and Judah was comforted, and went up unto his ſheep-ſhearers to Timnath, he and his friend Hirah the Adullamite.

13 And it was told Tamar, ſaying, Behold thy father in law goeth up to Timnath to ſhear his ſheep.

14 And ſhe put her widow's garments off from her, and covered her with a vail, and wrapped herſelf, and ſat in an open place, which is by the way to Timnath: for ſhe ſaw that Shelah was grown, and ſhe was not given unto him to wife.

15 When Judah ſaw her, he thought her to be an harlot; becauſe ſhe had covered her face.

16 And he turned unto her by the way, and ſaid, Go to, I pray thee, let me come in unto thee; (for he knew not that ſhe was his daughter in law;) and ſhe ſaid, What wilt thou give me, that thou mayeſt come in unto me?

17 And he ſaid, I will ſend thee a kid from the flock: and ſhe ſaid, Wilt thou give me a pledge, till thou ſend it.

18 And he ſaid, What pledge ſhall I give thee? and ſhe ſaid, Thy cygnet, and thy bracelets, and thy ſtaff that is in thine hand: and he gave it her, and came in unto her, and ſhe conceived by him.

19 And ſhe aroſe and went away, and laid by her vail from her, and put on the garments of her widowhood.

20 And Judah ſent the kid by the hand of his friend the Adullamite, to receive his pledge from the woman's hand: but he found her not.

21 Then he aſked the men of that place, ſaying, Where is the harlot, that was openly by the way-ſide? and they ſaid, There was no harlot in this place.

22 And he returned to Judah, and ſaid, I cannot find her; and alſo the men of the place ſaid, that there was no harlot in this place.

23 And Judah ſaid, Let her take it to her, leſt we be ſhamed: behold, I ſent this kid, and thou haſt not found her.

24 And it came to paſs about three months after, that it was told Judah, ſaying, Tamar thy daughter-in-law hath played the harlot; and alſo behold, ſhe is with child by whoredom: and Judah ſaid, Bring her forth, and let her be burnt.

25 When ſhe was brought forth, ſhe ſent to her father-in-law, ſaying, By the man whoſe theſe are, am I with child: and ſhe ſaid, Diſcern, I pray thee, whoſe are theſe, the cygnet, and bracelets, and ſtaff.

7 Was wicked in the ſight of the Lord.] That is, notoriouſly wicked, for which reaſon the Lord cut him off by an untimely death.

8 Go in unto thy brother's wife.] Hence Maimonides infers, that Moſes only enacted into a law a cuſtom which had been long before in force.

9 Knew that the ſeed ſhould not be his.] That is, the firſt-born ſhould be named after, and reputed his brother's child.

11 Remain a widow.] The contract of marriage in thoſe days obliged the woman, in caſe her huſband died without iſſue, to marry his next brother; and that, as long as any of his brethren remained, they were bound to marry his wife, unleſs ſhe had a child.

14 And ſat in an open place.] Having muffled her face, that ſhe might not be known, ſhe ſat in a place where two ways met. In antient times harlots were not allowed to enter into cities, and wore veils over their faces to conceal their infamy. Grotius on Matt. v. 27.

For ſhe ſaw that Shelah was grown, &c.] Her plot ſeems to have been to entice Shelah, hoping he would come along that way; but, being diſappointed of him, ſhe gratified Judah, in order to be taken again into the family.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 Joseph advanced in Potiphar's house, 7 resisteth his mistress's temptation. 13 He is falsly accused, 20 and cast into prison.

AND Joseph was brought down to Egypt: and Potiphar an officer of Pharaoh's, captain of the guard, an Egyptian, bought him of the hand of the Ishmeelites, which had brought him down thither.

2 And the LORD was with Joseph, and he was a prosperous man: and he was in the house of his master the Egyptian.

3 And his master saw that the LORD was with him, and that the LORD made all that he did to prosper in his hand.

4 And Joseph found grace in his sight, and he served him: and he made him overseer over his house, and all that he had he put into his hand.

5 And it came to pass from the time that he had made him overseer in his house, and over all that he had, that the LORD blessed the Egyptian's house for Joseph's sake: and the blessing of the LORD was upon all that he had, in the house, and in the field.

6 And he left all that he had in Joseph's hand; and he knew not ought he had, save the bread which he did eat. And Joseph was a goodly person, and well-favoured.

7 ¶ And it came to pass after these things, that his master's wife cast her eyes upon Joseph; and she said, Lie with me.

8 But he refused, and said unto his master's wife, Behold, my master wotteth not what is with me in the house, and he hath committed all that he hath to my hand.

9 There is none greater in this house than I; neither hath he kept back any thing from me, but thee, because thou art his wife: how then can I do this great wickedness, and sin against God?

10 And it came to pass as she spake to Joseph day by day, that he hearkened not unto her to lie by her, or to be with her.

26 She hath been more righteous than I.] He had with-held from her the husband he had promised; whereas she had kept her faith with him, and lived a widow: besides, she sinned out of a desire to have a child, he to satisfy his lust.

29 This breach be upon thee.] That is, be thou for ever called eruption or breach, which is the meaning of the word Pharez. Zarah signifies, he ariseth; because, like the sun, he had given a sign of his coming, by putting out his hand.

Notes on the Thirty-ninth Chapter.

Ver. 1 And Joseph.] Moses here resumes the history of Joseph, beginning where he had left off, chap. xxxvii. ver. the last.

4 Put all things into his hand.] He made him steward of his whole estate.

6 He knew not ought that he had, save, &c.] The highest expression of confidence: that is, he cared for nothing of his worldly affairs, but enjoyed his fortune with ease and security.

Joseph was a goodly person, &c.] Being the son of a beautiful woman—The comeliness of his person became the occasion of his disgrace, which, however, gave him an opportunity of rendering more eminent that virtue which supports a man under all temptations.

9 How can I do this great wickedness, &c.] This answer is truly noble, and highly worthy of imitation; it speaks a mind whose passions are in entire subjection to the ruling principle of reason and conscience; a mind that had the most delicate sentiments of honour, and the most lively impressions of religion. His honest heart startles at the thought of committing so foul a crime as adultery; and the ingratitude and breach of trust with which that crime would have been accompanied in him, presents it to his mind in the blackest colours; so that these virtuous sentiments concurring with his awful reverence of the Supreme Being, who beholds and judges all the actions of the sons of men, enable him to repel this violent assault with the utmost horror and indignation. This is an example of the greatest probity and inflexible integrity; an example worthy the highest commendation. Joseph was then a servant in a strange country: he was tempted by an imperious woman: if he complied, he would be sure of concealment and rewards; he would be sure to enjoy his place, and be advanced; if he resisted, he must expect to be accused and treated as a criminal, be deprived of his place, of his liberty, of his fame, and perhaps of his life too. These are weighty considerations; but he prefers chains, ignominy, and even death itself, to the crime of committing so heinous an action, and sinning against God.

11 And it came to paſs about this time, that Joſeph went into the houſe to do his buſineſs; and there was none of the men of the houſe there within.

12 And ſhe caught him by his garment, ſaying, Lie with me: and he left his garment in her hand, and fled, and got him out.

13 ¶ And it came to paſs, when ſhe ſaw that he had left his garment in her hand, and was fled forth,

14 That ſhe called unto the men of her houſe, and ſpake unto them, ſaying, See, he hath brought in an Hebrew unto us to mock us: he came in unto me to lie with me, and I cried with a loud voice:

15 And it came to paſs, when he heard that I lifted up my voice and cried, that he left his garment with me, and fled, and got him out.

16 And ſhe laid up his garment by her, until his lord came home.

17 And ſhe ſpake unto him according to theſe words, ſaying, The Hebrew ſervant which thou haſt brought unto us, came in unto me to mock me:

18 And it came to paſs, as I lift up my voice and cried, that he left his garment with me, and fled out.

19 And it came to paſs when his maſter heard the words of his wife, which ſhe ſpake unto him, ſaying, After this manner did thy ſervant to me; that his wrath was kindled.

20 ¶ And Joſeph's maſter took him, and put him into the priſon, a place where the king's priſoners were bound: and he was there in the priſon.

21 But the LORD was with Joſeph, and ſhewed him mercy, and gave him favour in the ſight of the keeper of the priſon.

22 And the keeper of the priſon committed to Joſeph's hand all the priſoners that were in the priſon; and whatſoever they did there, he was the doer of it.

23 The keeper of the priſon looked not to any thing that was under his hand; becauſe the LORD was with him; and that which he did, the LORD made it to proſper.

11 And Pharaoh's cup was in my hand: and I took the grapes and preſſed them into Pharaoh's cup, and I gave the cup into Pharaoh's hand.

12 And Joſeph ſaid unto him, This is the interpretation of it: the three branches are three days:

13 Yet within three days ſhall Pharaoh lift up thine head, and reſtore thee unto thy place: and thou ſhalt deliver Pharaoh's cup into his hand, after the former manner when thou waſt his butler:

14 But think on me when it ſhall be well with thee, and ſhew kindneſs, I pray thee, unto me; and make mention of me unto Pharaoh, and bring me out of this houſe.

their magicians or wiſe men could interpret dreams, and accordingly conſulted them when any thing remarkable of this kind happened: but theſe officers' confinement rendered it impoſſible for them now to have recourſe to the magicians, however ſollicitous they might be of doing it.

14 Think on me when it ſhall be well with thee.] Think on the perſon who foretold thee this happineſs, and let not proſperity eraze the remembrance of thoſe whom thou leaveſt in this houſe of miſery.

23 Yet did not the chief butler remember, &c.] So apt is proſperity to obliterate from the minds of men the remembrance of thoſe friends who were aiding to them in the days of their adverſity.

Notes on the Forty-firſt Chapter.

Ver. 1 He ſtood by the river.] The river Nile.

2 There came up out of the river, &c.] As Egypt owed its fertility to the overflowings of the Nile, theſe fat and lean kine are with great propriety repreſented as riſing out of it.

5 And he ſlept and dreamed the ſecond time: and behold, ſeven ears of corn came up upon one ſtalk, rank and good.

6 And behold, ſeven thin ears, and blaſted with the eaſt-wind, ſprung up after them.

7 And the ſeven thin ears devoured the ſeven rank and full ears. And Pharaoh awoke, and behold, it was a dream.

8 And it came to paſs in the morning that his ſpirit was troubled: and he ſent and called for all the magicians of Egypt, and the wiſe men thereof: and Pharaoh told them his dream; but there was none that could interpret them unto Pharaoh.

9 Then ſpake the chief butler unto Pharaoh, ſaying, I do remember my faults this day:

10 Pharaoh was wroth with his ſervants, and put me in ward in the captain of the guard's houſe, both me and the chief baker:

11 And we dreamed a dream in one night, I and he: we dreamed each man according to the interpretation of his dream:

12 And there was there with us a young man, an Hebrew, ſervant to the captain of the guard: and we told him, and he interpreted to us our dreams; to each man according to his dream he did interpret:

13 And it came to paſs, as he interpreted to us, ſo it was: me he reſtored unto mine office, and him he hanged.

14 And Pharaoh ſent and called Joſeph, and they brought him haſtily out of the dungeon: and he ſhaved himſelf, and changed his raiment, and came in unto Pharaoh.

15 And Pharaoh ſaid unto Joſeph, I have dreamed a dream, and there is none that can interpret it: and I have heard ſay of thee, that thou canſt underſtand a dream, to interpret it.

16 And Joſeph anſwered Pharaoh, ſaying, It is not in me: God ſhall give Pharaoh an anſwer of peace.

17 And Pharaoh ſaid unto Joſeph, In my dream, behold, I ſtood upon the bank of the river:

18 And behold, there came up out of the river ſeven kine, fat-fleſhed, and well-favoured; and they fed in a meadow:

19 And behold, ſeven other kine came up after them, poor, and very ill-favoured, and lean-fleſhed, ſuch as I never ſaw in all the land of Egypt for badneſs:

20 And the lean and the ill-favoured kine did eat up the firſt ſeven fat kine:

21 And when they had eaten them up, it could not be known that they had eaten them; but they were ſtill ill-favoured, as at the beginning. So I awoke.

22 And I ſaw in my dream, and behold, ſeven ears came up in one ſtalk, full and good:

23 And behold, ſeven ears, withered, thin, and blaſted with the eaſt-wind, ſprung up after them:

24 And the thin ears devoured the ſeven good ears: and I told this unto the magicians, but there was none that could declare it unto me.

25 ¶ And Joſeph ſaid unto Pharaoh, The dream of Pharaoh is one: God hath ſhewed Pharaoh what he is about to do.

26 The ſeven good kine are ſeven years; and the ſeven good ears are ſeven years; the dream is one:

27 And the ſeven thin and ill-favoured kine that came up after them, are ſeven years; and the ſeven empty ears blaſted with the eaſt-wind, ſhall be ſeven years of famine.

28 This is the thing which I have ſpoken unto Pharaoh: what God is about to do, he ſheweth unto Pharaoh.

29 Behold, there come ſeven years of great plenty throughout all the land of Egypt.

30 And there ſhall ariſe after them ſeven years of famine; and all the plenty ſhall be forgotten in the land of Egypt: and the famine ſhall conſume the land.

31 And the plenty ſhall not be known in the land, by reaſon of that famine following; for it ſhall be very grievous:

32 And for that the dream was doubled unto Pharaoh twice; it is becauſe the thing is eſtabliſhed by God, and God will ſhortly bring it to paſs.

34 Let Pharaoh do this, and let him appoint officers over the land, and take up the fifth part of the land of Egypt in the ſeven plenteous years:

35 And let them gather all the food of thoſe good years that come, and lay up corn under the hand of Pharaoh, and let them keep food in the cities:

36 And that food ſhall be for ſtore to the land againſt the ſeven years of famine, which ſhall be in the land of Egypt; that the land periſh not through the famine.

37 And the thing was good in the eyes of Pharaoh, and in the eyes of all his ſervants.

38 ¶ And Pharaoh ſaid unto his ſervants, Can we find ſuch a one as this is, a man in whom the ſpirit of God is?

39 And Pharaoh ſaid unto Joſeph, Foraſmuch as God hath ſhewed thee all this, there is none ſo diſcreet and wiſe as thou art:

40 Thou ſhalt be over my houſe, and according unto thy word ſhall all my people be ruled: only in the throne will I be greater than thou.

41 And Pharaoh ſaid unto Joſeph, See, I have ſet thee over all the land of Egypt.

42 And Pharaoh took off his ring from his hand, and put it upon Joſeph's hand, and arrayed him in veſtures of fine linen, and put a gold chain about his neck:

43 And he made him to ride in the ſecond chariot which he had; and they cried before him, Bow the knee: and he made him ruler over all the land of Egypt.

44 And Pharaoh ſaid unto Joſeph, I am Pharaoh, and without thee ſhall no man lift up his hand or foot in all the land of Egypt.

45 And Pharaoh called Joſeph's name Zaphnath-paaneah: and he gave him to wife Aſenath the daughter of Potipherah prieſt of On. And Joſeph went out over all the land of Egypt.

46 And Joſeph was thirty years old when he ſtood before Pharaoh king of Egypt: and Joſeph went out from the preſence of Pharaoh, and went throughout all the land of Egypt.

47 And in the ſeven plenteous years the earth brought forth by handfuls.

48 And he gathered up all the food of the ſeven years, which were in the land of Egypt, and laid up the food in the cities: the food of the field which was round about every city, laid he up in the ſame.

49 And Joſeph gathered corn as the ſand of the ſea, very much, until he left numbering; for it was without number.

50 ¶ And unto Joſeph were born two ſons, before the years of famine came: which Aſenath, the daughter of Potipherah prieſt of On, bare unto him.

51 And Joſeph called the name of the firſtborn Manaſſeh: for God, ſaid he, hath made me forget all my toil, and all my father's houſe.

52 And the name of the ſecond called he Ephraim: for God hath cauſed me to be fruitful in the land of my affliction.

53 And the ſeven years of plenteouſneſs that was in the land of Egypt were ended.

54 And the ſeven years of dearth began to come, according as Joſeph had ſaid: and the of the certainty of it, becauſe the dream was repreſented in two different viſions.

34 Take up the fifth part.] It is probable the king's tribute in ordinary years was a tenth: but he is here adviſed to double that charge, either by virtue of his prerogative, or perhaps he bought up as much more as was his tribute, which he might do at an eaſy rate when corn was cheap.

42 Took off his ring.] This was a mark of Pharaoh's reſpect to Joſeph, and likewiſe of the authority with which he inveſted him.

44 I am Pharaoh.] It is my pleaſure who am king of Egypt. Without thee ſhall no man, &c.] No man ſhall preſume to do the ſmalleſt thing in publick affairs without thy orders.

45 Zaphnath-Paaneah.] The generality of interpreters are of opinion that this is a Coptic word, and implies a revealer of ſecrets, alluding to Joſeph's having interpreted the dream.

Prieſt of On.] A famous city in Egypt, ſituated between the Nile and the Arabian gulph in the land of Goſhen. Here was celebrated an annual feſtival in honour of the ſun, whence it was afterwards called Heliapolis. The word we tranſlate prieſt may ſignify one who miniſters at the altar, or one who governs in civil affairs: prieſts were antiently the chief men of the kingdom; for kings themſelves were prieſts.

46 Joſeph was thirty years old, &c.] He was ſeventeen years old when he was ſold into Egypt, ſo that he had been thirteen years in ſlavery, when he was advanced to be Pharaoh's prime miniſter.

47 Brought forth by handfuls.] That is, a handful for every grain. Egypt was remarkably fruitful.

48 Gathered up all the food.] The fifth part, as he propoſed.

49 As the ſand of the ſea.] In prodigious quantities.

51 Manaſſeh.] That is, forgetting; Ephraim, fruitful.

54 The dearth was in all the lands.] The famine extended itſelf to all the adjacent countries, for want of rain.

dearth was in all lands; but in all the land of Egypt there was bread.

55 And when all the land of Egypt was famished, the people cried to Pharaoh for bread: and Pharaoh said unto all the Egyptians, Go unto Joseph; what he saith to you, do.

56 And the famine was over all the face of the earth: and Joseph opened all the storehouses, and sold unto the Egyptians; and the famine waxed sore in the land of Egypt.

57 And all countries came into Egypt to Joseph for to buy corn; because that the famine was so sore in all lands.

CHAP. XLII.

1 Jacob sendeth his ten sons to buy corn in Egypt. 6 They are imprisoned by Joseph for spies. 21 Their remorse.

NOW when Jacob saw that there was corn in Egypt, Jacob said unto his sons, Why do ye look one upon another?

2 And he said, Behold, I have heard that there is corn in Egypt: get ye down thither, and buy for us from thence; that we may live and not die.

3 And Joseph's ten brethren went down to buy corn in Egypt.

4 But Benjamin, Joseph's brother, Jacob sent not with his brethren: for he said, Lest peradventure mischief befall him.

5 And the sons of Israel came to buy corn among those that came: for the famine was in the land of Canaan.

6 ¶ And Joseph was the governor over the land, and he it was that sold to all the people of the land: and Joseph's brethren came, and bowed down themselves before him, with their faces to the earth.

7 And Joseph saw his brethren, and he knew them, but made himself strange unto them, and spake roughly unto them; and he said unto them, Whence come ye? And they said, From the land of Canaan to buy food.

8 And Joseph knew his brethren, but they knew not him.

9 And Joseph remembered the dreams which he dreamed of them, and said unto them, Ye are spies; to see the nakedness of the land ye are come.

10 And they said unto him, Nay, my lord, but to buy food are thy servants come.

11 We are all one man's sons; we are true men, thy servants are no spies.

12 And he said unto them, Nay, but to see the nakedness of the land ye are come.

13 And they said, Thy servants are twelve brethren, the sons of one man in the land of Canaan; and behold, the youngest is this day with our father, and one is not.

14 And Joseph said unto them, That is it that I spake unto you, saying, Ye are spies:

15 Hereby ye shall be proved: By the life of Pharaoh ye shall not go forth hence, except your youngest brother come hither.

16 Send one of you, and let him fetch your brother, and ye shall be kept in prison, that your words may be proved, whether there be any truth in you: or else, by the life of Pharaoh, surely ye are spies.

17 And he put them all together into ward three days.

18 And Joseph said unto them the third day, This do, and live; for I fear God:

19 If ye be true men, let one of your brethren be bound in the house of your prison: go ye, carry corn for the famine of your houses:

55 And when all the land of Egypt was famished.] It seems they had consumed their corn by exporting it to other nations, where the famine must have been much sooner felt.

Notes on the Forty-second Chapter.

Ver. 6. And Joseph was governor.] That is, deputy-governor. And bowed themselves before him.] This manner of salutation was common in their own country, but not in use among the Egyptians; a sufficient proof that Jacob's family had no acquaintance with the inhabitants of the neighbouring kingdoms. But by using the customary form of their family, they fulfilled the dreams of Joseph, as far as they had any relation to themselves, and doubtless brought those dreams to Joseph's remembrance.

9 Ye are spies.] This expression should have been rendered interrogatively, Are ye not spies?---or I must consider you as spies, till ye prove the contrary.

The nakedness of the land.] That is, the weak, unfortified places of the country.

11 One man's sons.] The force of their argument is this, that it was not likely a man would have sent his sons, but rather his servants, upon so dangerous a design.

15 By the life of Pharaoh.] These words are not to be looked upon as an oath, but as a solemn asseveration, that he would as certainly do so and so, as he valued the life and honour of his prince.

Thus

20 But bring your youngeſt brother unto me; ſo ſhall your words be verified, and ye ſhall not die. And they did ſo.

21 ¶ And they ſaid one to another, We are verily guilty concerning our brother, in that we ſaw the anguiſh of his ſoul, when he beſought us; and we would not hear: therefore is this diſtreſs come upon us.

22 And Reuben anſwered them, ſaying, Spake I not unto you, ſaying, Do not ſin againſt the child; and ye would not hear: therefore behold alſo, his blood is required.

23 And they knew not that Joſeph underſtood them; for he ſpake unto them by an interpreter.

24 And he turned himſelf about from them, and wept; and returned to them again, and communed with them, and took from them Simeon, and bound him before their eyes.

25 Then Joſeph commanded to fill their ſacks with corn, and to reſtore every man's money into his ſack, and to give them proviſion for the way: and thus did he unto them.

26 And they laded their aſſes with the corn, and departed thence.

27 And as one of them opened his ſack to give his aſs provender in the inn, he eſpied his money; for behold, it was in his ſack's mouth.

28 And he ſaid unto his brethren, My money is reſtored; and lo, it is even in my ſack: and their heart failed them, and they were afraid, ſaying one to another, What is this that God hath done unto us?

29 And they came unto Jacob their father unto the land of Canaan, and told him all that befell unto them; ſaying, 30 The man, who is the lord of the land, ſpake roughly to us, and took us for ſpies of the country.

31 And we ſaid unto him, We are true men; we are no ſpies:

32 We be twelve brethren, ſons of our father: one is not, and the youngeſt is this day with our father in the land of Canaan.

33 And the man the lord of the country ſaid unto us, Hereby ſhall I know that ye are true men; leave one of your brethren here with me, and take food for the famine of your houſholds, and be gone:

34 And bring your youngeſt brother unto me: then ſhall I know that ye are no ſpies, but that ye are true men: ſo will I deliver you your brother, and ye ſhall traffick in the land.

35 And it came to paſs as they emptied their ſacks, that behold, every man's bundle of money was in his ſack: and when both they and their father ſaw the bundles of money, they were afraid.

36 And Jacob their father ſaid unto them, Me have ye bereaved of my children: Joſeph is not, and Simeon is not, and ye will take Benjamin away: all theſe things are againſt me.

37 And Reuben ſpake unto his father, ſaying, Slay my two ſons, if I bring him not to thee: deliver him into my hand, and I will bring him to thee again.

Thus Hannah, when ſhe preſented her ſon to Eli the prieſt, makes a ſimilar proteſtation, As thy ſoul liveth, my Lord, I am the woman, &c. 1 Sam. i. 26.

21 We are verily guilty concerning our brother.] Human nature ſhudders at adverſity, though it is often the moſt effectual monitor to awaken conſcience, and make mankind acquainted with themſelves. The behaviour of Joſeph's brethren affords us a lively inſtance of this. They, who were before ſo blinded with envy and paſſion, as to be inſenſible of the anguiſh and ſupplications of their brother, now relent into pity, when experience had convinced them, what poignant grief and diſtreſs an innocent ſuppliant feels, when all his prayers and intreaties are rejected.

He ſpake unto them by an interpreter.] To prevent his being diſcovered: this ſhows the Egyptian and Hebrew tongue were different, though in ſome words they might agree.

24 And he turned from them and wept.] Though Joſeph could counterfeit the ſtranger in his looks, his air, his voice, he ſtill retained the brother in his heart. The confuſion and diſtreſs of his brethren awakened all his fraternal tenderneſs, and drew tears of compaſſion from his eyes.

And took Simeon and bound him.] Simeon was the principal actor in the cruel murder of the Shechemites; and there is reaſon to think, from his fiery nature, that he was one of the moſt implacable enemies to Joſeph. The rabins even ſay, that he was the very perſon that put him into the pit.

28 Their heart failed them.] Heb. Their heart went out, or left their body: which ſtrongly marks the diſmay and conſternation they were in: their guilt made them afraid where no fear was.

35 They were afraid.] When they perceived their father's apprehenſions of ſome deſign being formed againſt their lives, their fears returned upon them with double force.

36 Simeon is not.] He looked upon him as dead, being in the power of ſo rough a man as they deſcribed the lord of the land to be.

37 Slay my two ſons, &c.] He ſpeaks this out of a paſſionate deſire to overcome the doubts and fears of the good old man. Reuben could not poſſibly inſure Benjamin's ſafe return, nor was he ſo fooliſh as to imagine it would be any compenſation to Jacob, in caſe he loſt a ſon, to loſe alſo two grandſons; therefore we muſt look upon theſe expreſſions as the haſty effuſions of a warm temper, earneſt to redeem Simeon, and make more proviſion for the family.

38 And he said, My son shall not go down with you; for his brother is dead, and he is left alone: if mischief befall him by the way in the which ye go, then shall ye bring down my gray hairs with sorrow to the grave.

CHAP. XLIII.

1 Jacob is hardly persuaded to send Benjamin. 25 Joseph entertaineth his brethren, 31 and maketh them a feast.

AND the famine was sore in the land.

2 And it came to pass when they had eaten up the corn which they had brought out of Egypt, their father said unto them, Go again, buy us a little food.

3 And Judah spake unto him, saying, The man did solemnly protest unto us, saying, Ye shall not see my face, except your brother be with you.

4 If thou wilt send our brother with us, we will go down and buy the food:

5 But if thou wilt not send him, we will not go down: for the man said unto us, Ye shall not see my face, except your brother be with you.

6 And Israel said, Wherefore dealt ye so ill with me, as to tell the man whether ye had yet a brother?

7 And they said, The man asked us straitly of our state, and of our kindred, saying, Is your father yet alive? have ye another brother? and we told according to the tenor of these words: could we certainly know that he would say, Bring your brother down?

8 And Judah said unto Israel his father, Send the lad with me, and we will arise and go; that we may live, and not die, both we, and thou, and also our little ones:

9 I will be surety for him; of my hand shalt thou require him: if I bring him not unto thee, and set him before thee, then let me bear the blame for ever:

10 For except we had lingered, surely now we had returned this second time.

11 And their father Israel said unto them, If it must be so now, do this; take of the best fruits in the land in your vessels, and carry down the man a present, a little balm, and a little honey, spices, and myrrhe, nuts, and almonds:

12 And take double money in your hand; and the money that was brought again in the mouth of your sacks, carry it again in your hand; peradventure it was an over-sight:

13 Take also your brother, and arise, go again unto the man:

14 And God Almighty give you mercy before the man, that he may send away your other brother, and Benjamin; If I be bereaved of my children, I am bereaved.

15 And the men took that present, and they took double money in their hand, and Benjamin; and rose up, and went down to Egypt, and stood before Joseph.

16 And when Joseph saw Benjamin with them, he said to the ruler of his house, Bring these men home, and slay, and make ready: for these men shall dine with me at noon.

17 And the man did as Joseph bade: and the man brought the men into Joseph's house.

18 And the men were afraid, because they 38 Bring down my gray hairs, &c.] This verse is remarkably pathetic and pictureſque---Thus in Homer, Priam very affectionately laments his son Hector, b. 22.

Thee, Hector, lost; thy loss (divinely grave)
Sinks my sad soul with sorrow to the grave. Pope.

Notes on the Forty-third Chapter.

Ver. 8 Send the lad.] He is so called, because he was the youngest of the brothers, though he was 24 years of age.

11 Take of the best fruits, &c.] Heb. Of the praise of the land; that is, the fruits for which the land of Canaan was particularly remarkable---Balm, the balm of Gilead---Honey, Canaan was famous for honey: the word may also be translated dates, which when full ripe, yield an excellent honey---But Dr. Shaw thinks the word which is translated honey, signifies the inspissated juice of the grape, the robb, or extract of grapes, in Palestine called dipse, of which Hebron alone now sends yearly to Egypt 300 camel loads: for honey was not so great a rarity there as dipse must be, from the want of vineyards in Egypt. See his Travels, 4to. p. 339.

Spices.] Storax, a noble aromatic gum. Myrrh, is thought to be the gum of the cypress-tree. Nuts, probably Pistachio nuts.

12 Double money.] As much more as was returned in their sacks.

14 If I be bereaved of my children, I am bereaved.] This expression is worthy the prudence and piety of Jacob. He had taken every precaution in his power to render their journey successful, and then leaves the event to be determined by God; concluding, that if he pleased to bereave him of his children, it was his duty to submit, and bear the stroke with the fortitude of a man who hopes for happiness beyond the grave.

were brought into Joſeph's houſe; and they ſaid, Becauſe of the money that was returned in our ſacks at the firſt time are we brought in; that he may ſeek occaſion againſt us, and fall upon us, and take us for bond-men, and our aſſes.

19 And they came near to the ſteward of Joſeph's houſe, and they communed with him at the door of the houſe,

20 And ſaid, O Sir, we came indeed down at the firſt time to buy food:

21 And it came to paſs when we came to the inn, that we opened our ſacks, and behold, every man's money was in the mouth of his ſack, our money in full weight: and we have brought it again in our hand:

22 And other money have we brought down in our hands to buy food: we cannot tell who put our money in our ſacks.

23 And he ſaid, Peace be to you, fear not: your God, and the God of your father hath given you treaſure in your ſacks: I had your money. And he brought Simeon out unto them.

24 And the man brought the men into Joſeph's houſe, and gave them water, and they waſhed their feet: and he gave their aſſes provender.

25 ¶ And they made ready the preſent againſt Joſeph came at noon: for they heard that they ſhould eat bread there.

26 And when Joſeph came home, they brought him the preſent which was in their hand into the houſe, and bowed themſelves to him to the earth.

27 And he aſked them of their welfare, and ſaid, Is your father well, the old man of whom ye ſpake? Is he yet alive?

28 And they anſwered, Thy ſervant our father is in good health, he is yet alive: and they bowed down their heads, and made obeiſance.

29 And he lift up his eyes, and ſaw his brother Benjamin, his mother's ſon, and ſaid, Is this your younger brother, of whom ye ſpake unto me? and he ſaid, God be gracious unto thee, my ſon.

30 And Joſeph made haſte; for his bowels did yern upon his brother: and he ſought where to weep; and he entered into his chamber, and wept there.

31 ¶ And he waſhed his face, and went out, and refrained himſelf, and ſaid, Set on bread.

32 And they ſet on for him by himſelf, and for them by themſelves, and for the Egyptians, which did eat with him, by themſelves: becauſe the Egyptians might not eat bread with the Hebrews; for that is an abomination unto the Egyptians.

33 And they ſat before him, the firſt-born according to his birth-right, and the youngeſt according to his youth: and the men marvelled one at another.

34 And he took and ſent meſſes unto them from before him: but Benjamin's meſs was five times ſo much as any of their's. And they drank, and were merry with him.

CHAP. XLIV.

Joſeph's policy to ſtay his brethren.

AND he commanded the ſteward of his houſe, ſaying, Fill the men's ſacks with food, as much as they can carry, and put every man's money in his ſack's mouth.

2 And put my cup, the ſilver cup, in the ſack's mouth of the youngeſt, and his corn-money: and he did according to the word that Joſeph had ſpoken.

23 Peace be to you.] Set your hearts at reſt; compoſe your minds: the God of your father's hath given you treaſure in your ſacks.

29 My ſon.] An appellation of courteſy, uſed by ſuperiors in ſaluting their inferiors, whom they ſtiled ſons, with reſpect to themſelves, as fathers of the country.

32 The Egyptians might not eat bread with the Hebrews.] Becauſe, ſays the Chaldee Paraphraſt, they eat thoſe beaſts which the Egyptians worſhipped.

34 And he took and ſent meſſes, &c.] It was a cuſtom among the ancients for the maſter of the feaſt to diſtribute to every one his portion.

Benjamin's meſs was five times, &c.] This was done not only to ſhew his particular regard for Benjamin, but alſo to obſerve whether they would look upon their younger brother with the ſame envious eye as they had formerly done upon himſelf. This cuſtom of allotting the largeſt portion of meat and wine at the banquets of the ancients to any particular perſon, by way of preference, was practiſed in Homer's days, as we may ſee from Agamemnon's ſpeech to Idomeneus, Iliad, b. 4.

For this in banquets when the generous bowls
Reſtore our blood, and raiſe the warriors' ſouls,
Tho' all the reſt with ſtated rules we bound,
Unmix'd, unmeaſur'd are thy goblets crown'd. Pope.

Notes on the Forty-fourth Chapter.

Ver. 2 My cup.] By this ſtratagem Joſeph probably intended no

3 As ſoon as the morning was light, the men were ſent away, they and their aſſes.

4 And when they were gone out of the city, and not yet far off, Joſeph ſaid unto his ſteward, Up, follow after the men; and when thou doſt overtake them, ſay unto them, Wherefore have ye rewarded evil for good?

5 Is not this it, in which my lord drinketh? and whereby indeed he divineth? ye have done evil in ſo doing.

6 And he overtook them, and he ſpake unto them theſe ſame words.

7 And they ſaid unto him, Wherefore ſaith my lord theſe words? God forbid that thy ſervants ſhould do according to this thing:

8 Behold, the money which we found in our ſacks mouths, we brought again unto thee out of the land of Canaan: how then ſhould we ſteal out of thy lord's houſe ſilver or gold?

9 With whom ſoever of thy ſervants it be found, both let him die, and we alſo will be my lord's bond-men.

10 And he ſaid, Now alſo let it be according unto your words: he with whom it is found ſhall be my ſervant; and ye ſhall be blameleſs.

11 Then they ſpeedily took down every man his ſack to the ground, and opened every man his ſack.

12 And he ſearched, and began at the eldeſt, and left at the youngeſt: and the cup was found in Benjamin's ſack.

13 Then they rent their clothes, and laded every man his aſs, and returned to the city.

14 And Judah and his brethren came to Joſeph's houſe; (for he was yet there:) and they fell before him on the ground.

15 And Joſeph ſaid unto them, What deed is this that ye have done? Wot ye not, that ſuch a man as I can certainly divine?

16 And Judah ſaid, What ſhall we ſay unto my lord? what ſhall we ſpeak? or how ſhall we clear ourſelves? God hath found out the iniquity of thy ſervants: behold, we are my lord's ſervants, both we, and he alſo, with whom the cup is found.

17 And he ſaid, God forbid that I ſhould do ſo: but the man in whoſe hand the cup is found, he ſhall be my ſervant; and as for you, get ye up in peace unto your father.

18 Then Judah came near unto him, and ſaid, Oh my lord, let thy ſervant, I pray thee, ſpeak a word in my lord's ears, and let not thine anger burn againſt thy ſervant: for thou art even as Pharaoh.

19 My lord aſked his ſervants, ſaying, Have ye a father, or a brother?

20 And we ſaid unto my lord, We have a father, an old man, and a child of his old age, a little one: and his brother is dead, and he alone is left of his mother, and his father loveth him.

21 And thou ſaidſt unto thy ſervants, Bring him down unto me, that I may ſet mine eyes upon him.

22 And we ſaid unto my lord, The lad cannot leave his father: for if he ſhould leave his father, his father would die.

23 And thou ſaidſt unto thy ſervants, Except your youngeſt brother come down with you, ye ſhall ſee my face no more.

24 And it came to paſs, when we came up unto thy ſervant my father, we told him the words of my lord.

25 And our father ſaid, Go, again, and buy us a little food.

26 And we ſaid, We cannot go down: if our youngeſt brother be with us, then we will go down: for we may not ſee the man's face, except our youngeſt brother be with us.

27 And thy ſervant my father ſaid unto us, Ye know that my wife bare me two ſons:

28 And the one went out from me, and I ſaid, Surely he is torn in pieces; and I ſaw him not ſince:

no more than to find a ſpecious pretence for detaining Benjamin, being ignorant of the peremptory charge which Jacob had given with regard to this favourite ſon.

5 Whereby he divineth.] The Hebrew word ſometimes ſignifies, to make an experiment, and may be thus expounded, Will he not by making trial ſearch it out? that is, Do you imagine your theft can be concealed from one who is ſo ſagacious in diſcovering ſecrets? Pool's Synop.

14 They fell before him on the ground.] A ſcene of this kind muſt, in a particular manner, affect the tender heart of their compaſſionate brother. Here again his dream is fulfilled.

15 Can certainly divine?] Do you think that I, who foretold this grievous famine, could not diſcover your theft?

16 God hath found out the iniquity, &c.] He acknowledges ingenuouſly that they had been guilty of many ſins, for which God had now brought them hither to ſuffer puniſhment.

18 Thou art even as Pharaoh.] Of equal power and majeſty.

29 And if ye take this alſo from me, and miſchief befall him, ye ſhall bring down my gray hairs with ſorrow to the grave.

30 Now therefore when I come to thy ſervant my father, and the lad be not with us; (ſeeing that his life is bound up in the lad's life:)

31 It ſhall come to paſs, when he ſeeth that the lad is not with us, that he will die: and thy ſervants ſhall bring down the gray hairs of thy ſervant our father with ſorrow to the grave.

32 For thy ſervant became ſurety for the lad unto my father, ſaying, If I bring him not unto thee, then I ſhall bear the blame to my father for ever.

33 Now therefore, I pray thee, let thy ſervant abide inſtead of the lad, a bondman to my lord; and let the lad go up with his brethren.

34 For how ſhall I go up to my father, and the lad be not with me? leſt peradventure I ſee the evil that ſhall come on my father.

CHAP. XLV.

1 Joſeph maketh himſelf known to his brethren. 9 He ſendeth for his father, 25 who is revived at the news.

THEN Joſeph could not refrain himſelf before all them that ſtood by him; and he cried, Cauſe every man to go out from me: and there ſtood no man with him, while Joſeph made himſelf known unto his brethren.

2 And he wept aloud: and the Egyptians and the houſe of Pharaoh heard.

3 And Joſeph ſaid unto his brethren, I am Joſeph; doth my father yet live? And his brethren could not anſwer him: for they were troubled at his preſence.

4 And Joſeph ſaid unto his brethren, Come near to me, I pray you: and they came near: and he ſaid, I am Joſeph your brother, whom ye ſold into Egypt.

5 Now therefore be not grieved, nor angry with yourſelves, that ye ſold me hither: for God did ſend me before you, to preſerve life.

6 For theſe two years hath the famine been in the land: and yet there are five years, in the which there ſhall neither be earing nor harveſt.

7 And God ſent me before you, to preſerve you a poſterity in the earth, and to ſave your lives by a great deliverance.

8 So now it was not you that ſent me hither, but God: and he hath made me a father to Pharaoh, and lord of all his houſe, and a ruler throughout all the land of Egypt.

34 Leſt peradventure I ſee the evil, &c.] Here Judah acts the part both of a faithful brother, and dutiful ſon, who rather than behold the miſery of his father, in caſe Benjamin was left behind, ſubmits to become a bondman in his ſtead. And indeed, ſuch an air of candour and generoſity runs through the whole ſpeech; the ſentiments are ſo tender and affecting, the expreſſions ſo paſſionate, and flow ſo much from artleſs nature, that it is no wonder they came home to Joſeph's heart, and rendered it impoſſible for him to conceal himſelf any longer.

Notes on the Forty-fifth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Could not refrain himſelf.] The efforts of nature could be no longer ſuppreſſed; by Judah's moving ſpeech, his tender paſſions were wound up to ſuch a pitch, as to oblige him to throw off all diſguiſe.

2 He wept aloud.] Words are but ill adapted to expreſs the ſentiments of the heart on ſuch an important occaſion. Many tender ſentiments croud in upon Joſeph's mind at once: joy, pity, fraternal love, intermixed with a high veneration of Providence in bringing about ſo ſurpriſing an event; all theſe ſwell his ſoul with emotions too big for utterance, and which can only be vented by the more expreſſive language of nature, that of tears and ſighs.

3 I am Joſeph: doth my father yet live?] How quick the tranſition! his ſoul is ſo full of filial affection for his father, that before he has finiſhed his ſentence he enquires after him, though they had before told him he was alive. And how muſt ſuch an abrupt declaration affect his brethren! No wonder they were dumb for ſome time with aſtoniſhment, and unable to anſwer the queſtion with regard to their father. The diſcovery of Ulyſſes to Telemachus in Homer, has ſome reſemblance to that of Joſeph's diſcovery of himſelf to his brethren—

I am Joſeph, I am your brother Joſeph.
I am Ulyſſes, I, my ſon, am he. Pope.

And he wept aloud—and he fell upon his brother's neck and wept.
He wept abundant, and he wept aloud. Pope.

But it muſt be owned that Homer falls infinitely ſhort of Moſes---There is indeed in the whole hiſtory of Joſeph a majeſtic ſimplicity in the relation, and ſuch an affecting portrait of human nature, that it overwhelms us with viciſſitudes of joy and ſorrow.

They were troubled at his preſence.] Conſcious of their guilt towards him, they were quite abaſhed and confounded; the margin reads terrified at his preſence.

5 Now therefore be not grieved.] Afflict not yourſelves too much for your ſin, becauſe God hath turned it into good.

6 There ſhall be neither earing nor harveſt.] The Engliſh word earing probably in this place ſignifies ploughing, from the Latin aro, to plough; and by our old writers is always uſed in this ſenſe; thus Iſa. xxx. 24. The oxen likewiſe and the young aſſes that ear the ground, ſhall eat clean provender.

8 Hath made me a father to Pharaoh.] As a dutiful ſon, Pharaoh honours me, and does nothing without my advice.

9 ¶ Haſte ye, and go up to my father, and ſay unto him, Thus ſaith thy ſon Joſeph, God hath made me lord of all Egypt: come down unto me, tarry not:

10 And thou ſhalt dwell in the land of Goſhen, and thou ſhalt be near unto me, thou, and thy children, and thy children's children, and thy flocks, and thy herds, and all that thou haſt:

11 And there will I nouriſh thee; (for yet there are five years of famine;) leſt thou, and thy houſhold, and all that thou haſt, come to poverty.

12 And behold, your eyes ſee, and the eyes of my brother Benjamin, that it is my mouth that ſpeaketh unto you.

13 And ye ſhall tell my father of all my glory in Egypt, and of all that ye have ſeen: and ye ſhall haſte, and bring down my father hither.

14 And he fell upon his brother Benjamin's neck, and wept; and Benjamin wept upon his neck.

15 Moreover he kiſſed all his brethren, and wept upon them: and after that his brethren talked with him.

16 And the fame thereof was heard in Pharaoh's houſe, ſaying, Joſeph's brethren are come: and it pleaſed Pharaoh well, and his ſervants.

17 And Pharaoh ſaid unto Joſeph, Say unto thy brethren, This do ye; lade your beaſts, and go, get ye unto the land of Canaan;

18 And take your father, and your houſholds, and come unto me: and I will give you the good of the land of Egypt, and ye ſhall eat the fat of the land.

19 Now thou art commanded, this do ye; take you wagons out of the land of Egypt for your little ones, and for your wives, and bring your father, and come.

20 Alſo regard not your ſtuff; for the good of all the land of Egypt is your's.

21 And the children of Iſrael did ſo: and Joſeph gave them wagons, according to the commandment of Pharaoh, and gave them proviſion for the way.

22 To all of them he gave each man changes of raiment: but to Benjamin he gave three hundred pieces of ſilver, and five changes of raiment.

23 And to his father he ſent after this manner; ten aſſes laden with the good things of Egypt, and ten ſhe-aſſes laden with corn and bread and meat for his father by the way.

24 So he ſent his brethren away, and they departed: and he ſaid unto them, See that ye fall not out by the way.

25 ¶ And they went up out of Egypt, and came into the land of Canaan unto Jacob their father.

26 And told him, ſaying, Joſeph is yet alive, and he is governor over all the land of Egypt. And Jacob's heart fainted, for he believed them not.

27 And they told him all the words of Joſeph, which he had ſaid unto them: and when he ſaw the wagons which Joſeph had ſent to carry him, the ſpirit of Jacob their father revived:

28 And Iſrael ſaid, It is enough; Joſeph my ſon is yet alive: I will go and ſee him before I die.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 Jacob is comforted by God at Beer-ſheba. 5 He goeth into Egypt. 8 The number of his family. 28 Joſeph meeteth him.

24 See that ye fall not out by the way.] Joſeph was no ſtranger to the tempers of his brethren; and therefore thought proper to reprove them in this gentle manner. Probably he ſuſpected that they might accuſe each other with the cruelty they had exerciſed towards him, or throw envious reflections on Benjamin, becauſe he had been eminently diſtinguiſhed above the reſt.

26 And Jacob's heart fainted, for he believed them not.] St. Jerom and others, render this paſſage in the following manner: And Jacob's heart fainted, though he believed them not. That is, the good old Patriarch, though he did not then believe their words, fainted at their telling him that Joſeph was yet alive. The tide of joy which ſuddenly ruſhed upon him at hearing that his favourite ſon, whom he had ſo long conſidered as dead, was ſtill in being, was too impetuous to be reſiſted.

27 The ſpirit of Jacob revived.] When he was fully convinced of the truth of what they had told him, he not only recovered from his fainting fit, but his ſpirits returned with greater vigour than they had ever done ſince the loſs of Joſeph.

28 Iſrael ſaid, it is enough.] A beautiful expreſſion of the fullneſs of ſatisfaction which Jacob enjoyed, now that he knew Joſeph was alive.

AND Iſrael took his journey, with all that he had, and came to Beer-ſheba, and offered ſacrifices unto the God of his father Iſaac.

2 And God ſpake unto Iſrael in the viſions of the night, and ſaid, Jacob, Jacob: and he ſaid, Here am I.

3 And he ſaid, I am God, the God of thy father: fear not to go down into Egypt; for I will there make of thee a great nation:

4 I will go down with thee into Egypt; and I will alſo ſurely bring thee up again: and Joſeph ſhall put his hand upon thine eyes.

5 ¶ And Jacob roſe up from Beer-ſheba: and the ſons of Iſrael carried Jacob their father, and their little ones, and their wives, in the wagons which Pharaoh had ſent to carry him.

6 And they took their cattle, and their goods which they had gotten in the land of Canaan, and came into Egypt, Jacob, and all his ſeed with him.

7 His ſons, and his ſons ſons with him, his daughters, and his ſons daughters, and all his ſeed brought he with him into Egypt.

8 ¶ And theſe are the names of the children of Iſrael, which came into Egypt, Jacob and his ſons: Reuben Jacob's firſt-born.

9 And the ſons of Reuben; Hanoch, and Phallu, and Hezron, and Carmi.

10 And the ſons of Simeon; Jemuel, and Jamin, and Ohad, and Jachin, and Zohar, and Shaul the ſon of a Canaaniteſh woman.

11 And the ſons of Levi; Gerſhon, Kohath, and Merari.

12 And the ſons of Judah; Er, and Onan, and Shelah, and Pharez, and Zerah: but Er and Onan died in the land of Canaan. And the ſons of Pharez, were Hezron, and Hamul.

13 And the ſons of Iſſachar; Tola, and Phuvah, and Job, and Shimron.

14 And the ſons of Zebulun; Sered, and Elon, and Jahleel.

15 Theſe be the ſons of Leah, which ſhe bare unto Jacob in Padan-aram, with his daughter Dinah: all the ſouls of his ſons and his daughters were thirty and three.

16 And the ſons of Gad; Ziphion, and Haggai, Shuni, and Ezbon, Eri, and Arodi, and Areli.

17 And the ſons of Aſher; Jimnah, and Iſhuah, and Iſui, and Beriah, and Serah their ſiſter: and the ſons of Beriah; Heber, and Malchiel.

18 Theſe are the ſons of Zilpah, whom Laban gave to Leah his daughter: and theſe ſhe bare unto Jacob, even ſixteen ſouls.

19 The ſons of Rachel Jacob's wife; Joſeph, and Benjamin.

20 And unto Joſeph in the land of Egypt were born Manaſſeh and Ephraim, which Aſenath the daughter of Potipherah prieſt of On bare unto him.

21 And the ſons of Benjamin were Belah, and Becher, and Aſhbel, Gera, and Naaman, Ehi, and Roſh, Muppim, and Huppim, and Ard.

22 Theſe are the ſons of Rachel which were born to Jacob: all the ſouls were fourteen.

23 And the ſons of Dan; Huſhim.

24 And the ſons of Naphtali; Jahzeel, and Guni, and Jezer, and Shillem.

25 Theſe are the ſons of Bilhah, which Laban gave unto Rachel his daughter, and ſhe bare theſe unto Jacob: all the ſouls were ſeven.

26 All the ſouls that came with Jacob into Egypt, which came out of his loins, beſides Jacob's ſons wives, all the ſouls were threeſcore and ſix;

27 And the ſons of Joſeph which were born him in Egypt, were two ſouls: all the ſouls of the houſe of Jacob, which came into Egypt, were threeſcore and ten.

Notes on the Forty-ſixth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Came to Beer-ſheba.] In his way from Hebron, where he now lived: here Abraham had formerly planted a grove, and called on the name of the everlaſting God, chap. xx. 33.

3 Fear not to go into Egypt.] Jacob might be afraid to go thither on ſeveral accounts. Abraham had been injured there, chap. xii. 15. It had been foretold that his ſeed ſhould be afflicted by the Egyptians, chap. xv. 13. Iſaac had been warned not to go into Egypt, chap. xxvi. 2. Beſides, he might fear leſt by this means his poſterity ſhould be deprived of the land of Canaan.

4 Joſeph ſhall put his hand upon thine eyes.] That is, he ſhall cloſe thine eyes; an office which was performed, as ſoon as any one expired, by the neareſt relation or deareſt friend.

15 Thirty and three.] Reckoning Jacob in the number.

27 All the ſouls---were threeſcore and ten.] As this is the whole number that came into Egypt firſt and laſt, it is plain that Jacob himſelf, Joſeph and his two ſons muſt be included.

28 ¶ And he sent Judah before him unto Joseph, to direct his face unto Goshen; and they came into the land of Goshen.

29 And Joseph made ready his chariot, and went up to meet Israel his father, to Goshen; and presented himself unto him: and he fell on his neck, and wept on his neck a good while.

30 And Israel said unto Joseph, Now let me die, since I have seen thy face, because thou art yet alive.

31 And Joseph said unto his brethren, and unto his father's house, I will go up, and shew Pharaoh, and say unto him, My brethren, and my father's house, which were in the land of Canaan, are come unto me;

32 And the men are shepherds: for their trade hath been to feed cattle: and they have brought their flocks, and their herds, and all that they have.

33 And it shall come to pass when Pharaoh shall call you, and shall say, What is your occupation?

34 That ye shall say, Thy servants trade hath been about cattle, from our youth even until now, both we, and also our fathers: that ye may dwell in the land of Goshen; for every shepherd is an abomination unto the Egyptians.

CHAP. XLVII.

1 Joseph presenteth five of his brethren, 7 and his father before Pharaoh. 11 He giveth them habitation and maintenance.

THEN Joseph came and told Pharaoh, and said, My father and my brethren, and their flocks, and their herds, and all that they have, are come out of the land of Canaan; and behold, they are in the land of Goshen.

2 And he took some of his brethren, even five men, and presented them unto Pharaoh.

3 And Pharaoh said unto his brethren, What is your occupation? and they said unto Pharaoh, Thy servants are shepherds, both we, and also our fathers.

4 They said moreover unto Pharaoh, For to sojourn in the land are we come: for thy servants have no pasture for their flocks; for the famine is sore in the land of Canaan: now therefore we pray thee, let thy servants dwell in the land of Goshen.

5 And Pharaoh spake unto Joseph, saying, Thy father and thy brethren are come unto thee:

6 The land of Egypt is before thee; in the best of the land make thy father and brethren to dwell; in the land of Goshen let them dwell; and if thou knowest any men of activity amongst them, then make them rulers over my cattle.

7 ¶ And Joseph brought in Jacob his father, and set him before Pharaoh: and Jacob blessed Pharaoh.

8 And Pharaoh said unto Jacob, How old art thou?

9 And Jacob said unto Pharaoh, The days of the years of my pilgrimage are an hundred and thirty years: few and evil have the days

28 To direct his face unto Goshen.] To receive instructions from Joseph in what part of Goshen he should dwell.

30 Now let me die, since I have seen, &c.] Now I am willing to leave the world, because nothing more can be added to my happiness. The expression is similar to that of Simeon; Lord, now lettest thou thy servant depart in peace, for mine eyes have seen thy salvation.

34 Say, thy servants trade hath been about cattle.] He was desirous they should speak the truth; well knowing, that their declaring themselves to be shepherds, would procure their being settled in a distinct body by themselves, far distant from the snares of the court; namely, in the land of Goshen: a country, in all probability, allotted to the Egyptian shepherds, being remarkable for the excellence of its pastures.

For every shepherd is an abomination unto the Egyptians.] The true sense of this passage, which has greatly embarrassed the commentators, seems to be this: That the Egyptians, especially the courtiers, disdained to converse with shepherds, looking upon their employment as vile and despicable; for the word abomination, in this place, signifies no more than to loath, or contemn.

Notes on the Forty-seventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 They are in the land of Goshen.] They stopped there till they knew the king's pleasure; for it was in the entrance of Egypt.

7 Jacob blessed Pharaoh.] He wished him health and a long and a happy reign, at meeting and at parting, ver. 10.

9 Of my pilgrimage.] This beautiful expression is often used by the sacred penmen to signify the life of man; but it had a more remarkable propriety when applied to the patriarchs of old, who sojourned in the land of Canaan with the consent of the inhabitants, and were continually shifting their tents from one place to another, in search of pasture for their flocks. But Jacob had still more reason than any of them to call his life a pilgrimage; for he had been, first, driven into Mesopotamia from the face of his brother; thence he returned into Canaan, where he dwelt some time at Succoth, then at Shechem; after that, he removed to Beth-el, thence to Hebron to his father Isaac; and now, from Hebron into Egypt.

Few and evil have the days, &c.] Jacob, by reason of the infirmities of old age, considers the period of his life to be at hand; of the years of my life been, and have not attained unto the days of the years of the life of my fathers in the days of their pilgrimage.

10 And Jacob bleſſed Pharaoh, and went out from before Pharaoh.

11 ¶ And Joſeph placed his father and his brethren, and gave them a poſſeſſion in the land of Egypt, in the beſt of the land, in the land of Rameſes, as Pharaoh had commanded.

12 And Joſeph nouriſhed his father, and his brethren, and all his father's houſhold with bread, according to their families.

13 And there was no bread in all the land: for the famine was very ſore, ſo that the land of Egypt and all the land of Canaan fainted by reaſon of the famine.

14 And Joſeph gathered up all the money that was found in the land of Egypt, and in the land of Canaan, for the corn which they bought: and Joſeph brought the money into Pharaoh's houſe.

15 And when money failed in the land of Egypt, and in the land of Canaan, all the Egyptians came unto Joſeph, and ſaid, Give us bread: for why ſhould we die in thy preſence? for the money faileth.

16 And Joſeph ſaid, Give your cattle; and I will give you for your cattle, if money fail.

17 And they brought their cattle unto Joſeph: and Joſeph gave them bread in exchange for horſes, and for the flocks, and for the cattle of the herds, and for the aſſes: and he fed them with bread, for all their cattle, for that year.

18 When that year was ended, they came unto him the ſecond year, and ſaid unto him, We will not hide it from my lord, how that our money is ſpent; my lord alſo hath our herds of cattle; there is not ought left in the ſight of my lord, but our bodies, and our lands:

19 Wherefore ſhall we die before thine eyes, both we and our land? buy us and our land for bread, and we and our land will be ſervants unto Pharaoh: and give us ſeed, that we may live, and not die, that the land be not deſolate.

20 And Joſeph bought all the land of Egypt for Pharaoh; for the Egyptians ſold every man his field, becauſe the famine prevailed over them: ſo the land became Pharaoh's.

21 And as for the people, he removed them to cities from one end of the borders of Egypt, even to the other end thereof.

22 Only the land of the prieſts bought he not: for the prieſts had a portion aſſigned them of Pharaoh, and did eat their portion which Pharaoh gave them; wherefore they ſold not their lands.

23 Then Joſeph ſaid unto the people, Behold, I have bought you this day, and your land for Pharaoh: lo, here is ſeed for you, and ye ſhall ſow the land.

24 And it ſhall come to paſs in the increaſe, that ye ſhall give the fifth part unto Pharaoh, and four parts ſhall be your own, for ſeed of the field, and for your food, and for them of your houſholds, and for food for your little ones.

25 And they ſaid, Thou haſt ſaved our lives: let us find grace in the ſight of my lord, and we will be Pharaoh's ſervants.

26 And Joſeph made it a law over the land of Egypt unto this day, that Pharaoh ſhould have the fifth part; except the land of the prieſts only, which became not Pharaoh's.

hand; and though he had now lived 130 years, he calls his days few, in compariſon with Abraham, who lived 175, and Iſaac 180 years; and evil, becauſe of the many toils and griefs he had endured.

11 In the land of Rameſes.] That is, in Goſhen.

21 As for the people he removed them to cities.] We are told before that Joſeph gathered up the food, and laid it up in the cities; and therefore, inſtead of ſuffering the people to live in the country, where it would have been difficult to have taken due care of them, he removed them into the cities where the corn was laid up, for the better conveniency of feeding them; an act of the greateſt prudence, compaſſion, and generoſity.

22 Only the land of the prieſts bought he not.] The Egyptian prieſts were the whole body of the nobility of the land: they were the king's counſellors, and in ſome things his joint agents. They were the moſt learned body of the nation, particularly in aſtronomy. They alſo acted as magiſtrates, and filled the chief offices of ſtate; for the original word equally ſignifies prince and prieſt, as we have before obſerved. Hence we ſee the reaſon why Joſeph did not purchaſe their lands, namely, the greatneſs of their authority, which rendered their perſons, and conſequently their eſtates, too ſacred to be taxed or alienated to the crown.

23 I have bought you.] Though he had a right to inſiſt upon the performance of the contract he had made with them; yet he generouſly gave them their freedom and returned their eſtates, laying only a tax on them for the better ſupport of the Egyptian government.

27 And Israel dwelt in the land of Egypt in the country of Goshen; and they had possessions therein, and grew, and multiplied exceedingly.

28 And Jacob lived in the land of Egypt seventeen years: so the whole age of Jacob was an hundred forty and seven years.

29 And the time drew nigh that Israel must die: and he called his son Joseph, and said unto him, If now I have found grace in thy sight, put, I pray thee, thy hand under my thigh, and deal kindly and truly with me; bury me not, I pray thee, in Egypt:

30 But I will lie with my fathers, and thou shalt carry me out of Egypt, and bury me in their burying-place. And he said, I will do as thou hast said.

31 And he said, Swear unto me: and he sware unto him. And Israel bowed himself upon the bed's head.

CHAP. XLVIII.

1 Joseph visiteth his sick father. 3 Jacob repeateth the promise; 21 and propheſieth their return.

AND it came to pass after these things, that one told Joseph, Behold, thy father is sick: and he took with him his two sons, Manasseh and Ephraim.

2 And one told Jacob, and said, behold thy son Joseph cometh unto thee: and Israel strengthened himself, and sat upon the bed.

3 ¶ And Jacob said unto Joseph, God Almighty appeared unto me at Luz in the land of Canaan, and blessed me,

4 And said unto me, Behold, I will make thee fruitful, and multiply thee, and I will make of thee a multitude of people; and will give this land to thy seed after thee, for an everlasting possession.

5 And now thy two sons, Ephraim and Manasseh, which were born unto thee in the land of Egypt, before I came unto thee into Egypt, are mine: as Reuben and Simeon, they shall be mine.

6 And thy issue, which thou begettest after them, shall be thine, and shall be called after the name of their brethren in their inheritance.

7 And as for me, when I came from Padan, Rachel died by me in the land of Canaan, in the way, when yet there was but a little way to come unto Ephrath: and I buried her there in the way of Ephrath, the same is Beth-lehem.

8 And Israel beheld Joseph's sons, and said, Who are these?

9 And Joseph said unto his father, They are my sons, whom God hath given me in this place: and he said, Bring them, I pray thee, unto me, and I will bless them.

10 Now the eyes of Israel were dim for age, so that he could not see: and he brought them near unto him; and he kissed them, and embraced them.

11 And Israel said unto Joseph, I had not thought to see thy face: and lo, God hath shewed me also thy seed.

12 And Joseph brought them out from between his knees, and he bowed himself with his face to the earth.

13 And Joseph took them both, Ephraim in his right hand towards Israel's left hand, and Manasseh in his left hand towards Israel's right hand, and brought them near unto him.

29 Put, I pray thee, thine hand under my thigh.] That is, swear to me; see chap. xxiv. 2.

31 And Israel bowed himself upon the bed's head.] In the Septuagint translation, these words are rendered, He worshipped upon, or leaning upon, the top of his staff; which reading, the apostle to the Hebrews (chap. xi. 21) has adopted. The reason of the difference is, that the word which we render bowed himself, signifies either a mere natural action, or bowing in token of religious worship; and the word which answers to bed's head, signifies, with little variation, the top, or extremity of a staff.

Notes on the Forty-eighth Chapter.

Ver. 1 One told Joseph.] A messenger was sent from Jacob to acquaint Joseph with his sickness.

2 Israel strengthened himself.] The news of Joseph's arrival revived his aged father, and made him exert all his spirits to receive him chearfully.

5 And now thy two sons, &c.] Ephraim and Manasseh shall be accounted my children, and become the chiefs of two distinct tribes.

6 And thy issue which thou begettest, &c.] They shall not make distinct tribes, but be considered as the descendants of my other sons.

7 Rachel died by me.] He seems to mention this circumstance as a reason why he adopted Joseph's two sons, being willing to honour her memory; who died in child-birth, by adding her two grand-children to the number of his own sons.

14 And Iſrael ſtretched out his right hand, and laid it upon Ephraim's head, who was the younger, and his left hand upon Manaſſeh's head: guiding his hands wittingly; for Manaſſeh was the firſt-born.

15 And he bleſſed Joſeph and ſaid, God before whom my fathers Abraham and Iſaac did walk, the God which fed me all my life long unto this day,

16 The Angel which redeemed me from all evil, bleſs the lads; and let my name be named on them, and the name of my fathers Abraham and Iſaac: and let them grow into a multitude in the midſt of the earth.

17 And when Joſeph ſaw that his father laid his right hand upon the head of Ephraim, it diſpleaſed him: and he held up his father's hand, to remove it from Ephraim's head unto Manaſſeh's head.

18 And Joſeph ſaid unto his father, Not ſo, my father: for this is the firſt-born; put thy right hand upon his head.

19 And his father refuſed, and ſaid, I know it, my ſon, I know it: he alſo ſhall become a people, and he alſo ſhall be great: but truly his younger brother ſhall be greater than he, and his ſeed ſhall become a multitude of nations.

20 And he bleſſed them that day, ſaying, In thee ſhall Iſrael bleſs, ſaying, God make thee as Ephraim, and as Manaſſeh: and he ſet Ephraim before Manaſſeh.

21 ¶ And Iſrael ſaid unto Joſeph, Behold, I die: but God ſhall be with you, and bring you again unto the land of your fathers.

22 Moreover, I have given to thee one portion above thy brethren, which I took out of the hand of the Amorite, with my ſword and with my bow.

CHAP. XLIX.

1 Jacob calleth his ſons to bleſs them. 3 Their bleſſing in particular. 29 His charge concerning his burial. 33 His death.

AND Jacob called unto his ſons, and ſaid, Gather your ſelves together, that I may tell you that which ſhall befall you in the laſt days.

2 Gather your ſelves together, and hear, ye ſons of Jacob; and hearken unto Iſrael your father.

3 ¶ Reuben, thou art my firſt-born, my might, and the beginning of my ſtrength, the excellency of dignity, and the excellency of power;

4 Unſtable as water; thou ſhalt not excel, becauſe thou wenteſt up to thy father's bed: then defiledſt thou it: he went up to my couch.

5 Simeon and Levi are brethren; inſtruments of cruelty are in their habitations:

6 O my ſoul, come not thou into their ſecret; unto their aſſembly, mine honour, be not thou united: for in their anger they ſlew a man, and in their ſelf-will they digged down a wall:

14 Iſrael ſtretched out his right-hand.] Hence aroſe the cuſtom among the Hebrews, of laying hands on the head of any perſon conſecrated to any ſolemn office: and hence the origin of laying on of hands in the offices of ordination, confirmation, and conſecration of biſhops.

16 The angel which redeemed me.] Who, by God's order, preſerved me in all the dangers wherein I have been.

Grow into a multitude.] Heb. Increaſe like fiſhes, which are reckoned the moſt prolific of all creatures.

20 In thee ſhall Iſrael bleſs.] When my poſterity would wiſh all happineſs to others, they ſhall ſay, God make you like, &c.

21 Into the land of your fathers.] The land of Canaan.

22 One portion above thy brethren, which I took out of the hand of the Amorite, &c.] By this portion Jacob doubtleſs meant the parcel of ground which he purchaſed of Hamor the prince of the country, and which it ſeems he afterwards took from the Amorites, who had ſeized it after his removal to another part of Canaan. The only objection againſt this explication is, that there is no mention in the hiſtory either of this invaſion of the Amorites, or of Jacob's diſpoſſeſſing them. But this is not the only inſtance we meet with in ſcripture, where things are tranſiently related, as having been ſaid or done, though they were not before mentioned. Thus it is ſaid, Joſhua xxiv. 11. That the men of Jericho fought againſt the children of Iſrael, though there is no mention of it in the hiſtory of Joſhua's taking that place.

Notes on the Forty-ninth Chapter.

Ver. 1 In the laſt days.] That is, what ſhall befal your poſterity in future times, till Meſſiah, in the fulneſs of time, ſhall come.

3 Reuben, thou art my firſt-born.] The epithets uſed here by Jacob refer in general to the prerogatives of the firſt-born, which Reuben, by the unnatural crime of inceſt, had juſtly forfeited.

4 Unſtable as water; thou ſhalt not excel.] As water is prone to flow, and ſtill tends downward to an inferior ſituation, ſo ſhalt thou fall from thy pre-eminence, and ſink into a level with the reſt of thy brethren.

He went up to my couch.] In our verſion this is an apoſtrophe, wherein Jacob, warmed with indignation at the crime, turns from Reuben, and addreſſes himſelf to his other ſons. This is one of the many beauties in writing with which this chapter abounds.

5 Simeon and Levi are brethren.] In iniquity; confederates in contriving the barbarous murder of the Shechemites.

6 O my ſoul, come not, &c.] By this pathetic exclamation, Jacob expreſſes his deteſtation of the barbarity of his ſons.

7 Curſed be their anger, for it was fierce; and their wrath, for it was cruel; I will divide them in Jacob, and ſcatter them in Iſrael.

8 Judah, thou art he whom thy brethren ſhall praiſe; thy hand ſhall be in the neck of thine enemies; thy father's children ſhall bow down before thee:

9 Judah is a lion's whelp: from the prey, my ſon, thou art gone up: he ſtooped down, he couched as a lion, and as an old lion; who ſhall rouſe him up?

10 The ſcepter ſhall not depart from Judah, nor a law-giver from between his feet, until Shiloh come: and unto him ſhall the gathering of the people be.

Unto their aſſembly, &c.] Let mine honour be never ſtained by joining their curſed aſſembles—For in their anger they committed murder, and in their ſelf-will they digged down a wall; in their head-ſtrong paſſion, they exterminated the enemy: which ſeems to be the true ſenſe of this paſſage.

7 Curſed be their anger, &c.] The patriarch does not pour out this execration on their perſons, but on their deteſtable paſſion: as much as to ſay, Let it be abhorred, and appear execrable in the eyes of all the world.

I will divide them, &c.] They who were aſſociated in wickedneſs, ſhall in their poſterity be divided, and ſcattered up and down among their brethren. Accordingly, the tribe of Levi had no inheritance of their own, but were diſperſed among the other tribes: and as for the tribe of Simeon, they had only a portion in the midſt of the tribe of Judah, (Joſh. xix. 1.---9.) whence ſeveral of them afterwards went in queſt of new habitations, 1 Chron. iv. 39.

8 Judah, thou art he whom thy brethren ſhall praiſe.] Alluding to the name Judah, which ſignifies praiſe. This prophecy muſt be underſtood of Judah as a tribe, which was to excel the reſt in warlike exploits abroad, and in temporal and ſpiritual bleſſings at home: and from which, according to the fleſh, was to ariſe the Saviour of the world, the Prince of peace.

9 Judah is a lion's whelp.] The patriarch now illuſtrates what he had ſaid before by ſimilies, comparing Judah to a lion's whelp, a lion, and an old lion, to expreſs the beginning, increaſe, and full growth of the power of that tribe.

From the prey, my ſon, thou art gone up.] This is a beautiful manner of expreſſion common among the ancient prophets, repreſenting things to come, as if already paſt. In this manner Jacob repreſents the tribe of Judah as if he had ſeen them returning in triumph, and loaded with the ſpoils of their enemies; alluding to lions, which having ſeized their prey in the vallies, return ſatiated to the mountains.

Who ſhall rouſe him up?] That is, it would be leſs dangerous to provoke the rage of a ſlumbering lion, than diſturb the repoſe of this warlike tribe.

10 The ſceptre ſhall not depart from Judah, &c.] This famous paſſage has been explained by a variety of commentators; but Dr. Sherlock, the late biſhop of London, has ſet it in the cleareſt light; and therefore I ſhall extract from him the explication of this celebrated prophecy. In order to this it muſt be obſerved, 1. That the bleſſing of Abraham, Gen. xii. 2, 3. which was conveyed from him to Iſaac, and from Iſaac to Jacob, conſiſted of two parts, namely, the promiſe of the land of Canaan, and the promiſe of the ſon, in whom all the nations of the earth were to be bleſſed. The firſt of theſe, namely, the ſettlement in the land of Canaan, Jacob beſtowed in portions upon all his ſons, or all the twelve tribes; the promiſe of the bleſſed ſeed could not be divided; for a man can deſcend but from one tribe, a ſon can be born but of one father. Now Judah is the only one who received two bleſſings from his father, viz. the promiſe of the bleſſed ſeed, as well as a portion in the land of Canaan. And this prophecy promiſes a longer continuance of the inheritance in the houſe of Judah, than the other tribes were to expect, and fixes a term for the duration of Judah's ſceptre. As to the meaning of the word ſceptre, it is to be obſerved, 2. That in the Iſraelitiſh conſtitution, every tribe had its own princes and judges, and every prince, or head of a tribe, judged his own people. This is plain from verſe 16. of this chapter. Dan ſhall judge his people as one of the tribes of Iſrael; and conſequently every tribe had a ſceptre and a law-giver as well as Judah. Therefore this prophecy is not a grant of the ſceptre to Judah, (according to the common notion) but a confirmation of it; or, in other words, the promiſe here to Judah does not imply that he ſhould have a ſceptre, which none of his brethren had, or were to have, but that his ſceptre ſhould continue longer with him, than his brothers' ſceptres ſhould continue with them. Jacob had ſettled a ſceptre in every tribe: he had created twelve princes; and of one of them he ſays, The ſceptre ſhall not depart from him until Shiloh come. Is it not plain then, that the ſceptres are diſtinguiſhed here, and that it is foretold of one, that it ſhould laſt longer than the reſt? The words therefore, The ſceptre ſhall not depart from Judah, are equivalent to theſe, Judah's ſceptre ſhall not depart. Conſequently, the ſceptre here is an emblem of authority in, and over a tribe only, and can by no means, in theſe circumſtances, be made to ſignify or denote an authority over all the tribes of Iſrael. What confirms this ſenſe is, that the ſame word in the original ſignifies a tribe and a ſceptre, and probably a tribe, becauſe a tribe is a collection of people under one ſceptre or authority. Becauſe every tribe had its rod or ſceptre, inſcribed with its own name, which the prince of the tribe wore as the badge of his authority.

Nor a law-giver from between his feet.] What he has ſaid above to fix the meaning of the word ſceptre, ſerves equally to fix the ſenſe of law-giver, and muſt be confined to mean ſuch law-givers only, as ſingle tribes had within themſelves. And indeed there is a ſtrong objection againſt any interpretation, which extends the power here mentioned over all the tribes of Iſrael: for the tribe of Judah never had a legiſlative authority over all the tribes, no not in the days of David and Solomon. Moſes, who was the only proper law-giver of the people of Iſrael, had excluded all kings from this power, Deut. xvii. 18, &c. They indeed might, with conſent of the heads of the tribes, make ſuch rules, as we commonly call by-laws: but the law of Moſes was their unalterable law, both for civil and eccleſiaſtical affairs. And therefore by law-giver I chuſe to underſtand judge, as the word in the original ſignifies; for the word imports either one that makes laws, or who adminiſters juſtice according to law. And this agrees beſt with the paſſage before referred to, Dan ſhall judge his people as one of the tribes of Iſrael. The words may be conſtrued two ways, namely, a law-giver from between his feet, ſhall not depart from Judah, or a law-giver ſhall not depart from between the feet of Judah. In the firſt reading the meaning is, That the law-givers or judges of Judah ſhall be of his own deſcendants; and this was actually the caſe, that tribe having been governed by its own judges till the city and temple of Jeruſalem were laid waſte by Titus Veſpaſian. In the ſecond reading the meaning is, that the tribe of Judah ſhould have law-givers of her own till the very laſt times.

Until Shiloh come.] The word Shiloh is variouſly rendered; but all interpreters agree in this, that the Meſſiah is here deſigned.

11 Binding his fole unto the vine, and his aſſes colt unto the choice vine; he waſhed his garments in wine, and his clothes in the blood of grapes:

12 His eyes ſhall be red with wine, and his teeth white with milk.

13 Zebulun ſhall dwell at the haven of the ſea; and he ſhall be for an haven of ſhips; and his border ſhall be unto Zidon.

14 Iſſachar is a ſtrong aſs, couching down between two burdens:

15 And he ſaw that reſt was good, and the land that it was pleaſant; and bowed his ſhoulder to bear, and became a ſervant unto tribute.

16 Dan ſhall judge his people, as one of the tribes of Iſrael:

17 Dan ſhall be a ſerpent by the way, an adder in the path; that biteth the horſe-heels, ſo that his rider ſhall fall backward.

18 I have waited for thy ſalvation, O LORD.

19 Gad, a troop ſhall overcome him: but he ſhall overcome at the laſt.

20 Out of Aſher his bread ſhall be fat, and he ſhall yield royal dainties.

ſigned. If by this word we underſtand pacificus, the peace-maker, who can it deſign but the prince of peace, him, in whoſe times there was to be abundance of righteouſneſs and peace for evermore? If by it we underſtand mittendus, the perſon to be ſent, as Siloam is rendered, John ix. 7. who can that be, but the ſame of whom ſo many prophecies had been given, even the bleſſed ſeed? He whom God hath ſent. If we chuſe rather to interpret it filius ejus, his ſon, who is this peculiar ſon of Judah, but the Meſſiah, in whom all the nations of the earth were to be bleſſed. Thus, in all views, the promiſe muſt terminate in Chriſt; and a continuance of the power now ſettled in the houſe of Judah, is promiſed till the Meſſiah comes.

And unto him ſhall the gathering of the people be.] Or obedience of the people, as it is otherwiſe tranſlated. Theſe words are capable of three different conſtructions, and each ſo probable, that it is not eaſy to ſay which was certainly intended by the author. For, 1. They may relate to Judah, who is the main ſubject of the prophecy, and of the diſcourſe preceding and following; and by the people, we may underſtand the people of Iſrael: and then the meaning will be, that the other tribes ſhould be gathered to the tribe of Judah. Or, 2. They may relate to Shiloh, who is mentioned immediately before; and by the people, we may underſtand the Gentiles: and then the meaning will be, that the Gentiles ſhould be gathered or become obedient to the Meſſiah. Or, 3. They may ſtill relate to Shiloh, and yet not be conſidered as a diſtinct clauſe, but be joined in conſtruction with the preceding words, until Shiloh come, the word until being common to both parts: and then the ſentence will run thus, until Shiloh come, and to him the gathering, or obedience of the people, that is, until the Meſſiah come, and until the people or nations be gathered to his obedience: each of theſe interpretations may very well be juſtified by the event. Dr. Newton on Prophecy, vol. I.

11 Binding his fole to the vine.] Hereby is intimated the great fertility of Judah's country, where vines ſhould be ſo common, that they ſhould tie aſſes with their foles to them.

He waſhed his garments in wine.] Another hyberbolical expreſſion, importing that they ſhould have wine as plentiful as water, which ſerves for common uſes---Thus Job, ſpeaking of his proſperity, ſays; I waſhed my ſteps with butter, and the rock poured me out rivers of oil.

12 His eyes ſhall be red with wine.] The radiance of the eyes is one of the ſureſt ſymptoms of health: the LXX and Vulgate render it, His eyes ſhall be more beautiful than wine, his teeth whiter than milk.

13 Zebulun ſhall dwell at the haven of the ſea, &c.] Though Zebulun was younger than Iſſachar, the patriarch thought proper to bleſs him firſt: the ſame was obſerved by Moſes, Deut. xxxii. 18. And purſuant to this prophecy, his habitation was near the lake of Tiberias, or ſea of Galilee, to which the eaſt border of the tribe extended, while the weſtern limits of his inheritance was the Mediterranean. And hence we are taught, that their inheritance in the land of Canaan was the gift of God; for we ſee that Jacob, two hundred years before the conqueſt of Canaan, deſcribed the ſituation of the reſpective places which were to be the lot of his poſterity.

14 Iſſachar is a ſtrong aſs, &c.] Heb. An aſs of bone; that is, ſtrong and robuſt. The aſs was, in thoſe countries, principally employed in labour; and, being a very patient creature, was conſidered as a proper ſymbol of agriculture, and uſed by the patriarch to imply, that Iſſachar's poſterity ſhould addict themſelves to the quiet and retired buſineſs of tillage and huſbandry.

Couching down between two burdens.] This repreſents the tame and indolent temper of this tribe, that would rather ſubmit to the heavieſt taxes and impoſitions than engage in war, and loſe their beloved quiet: juſt like an aſs, which, however ſtrong, will go tamely couching with a burthen on either ſhoulder; and rather than ſhake it off, lie down under the double load.

15 And became a ſervant unto tribute.] This was fulfilled in the time of the judges, when the Iſraelites became tributary to the neighbouring kings, and eſpecially Iſſachar's poſterity, upon account of the fertility of their ſoil; for they poſſeſſed one of the moſt fertile and pleaſant tracts of Canaan.

16 Dan ſhall judge his people.] Alluding to the name Dan, which ſignifies judging. Jacob's meaning is, that though Dan was the ſon of a concubine, and ſo inferior to his brethren before mentioned; yet his poſterity ſhould, like the reſt, be governed by a head of their own tribe.

17 Dan ſhall be a ſerpent by the way, &c.] That is, the tribe of Dan ſhall be remarkable for ſtratagems in war, defeating their enemies more by policy than open force; the ſerpent being always conſidered as the emblem of ſubtilty.

18 I have waited for thy ſalvation, O Lord.] The meaning of theſe words ſeems to be no more than this; that the feeble patriarch, finding his ſpirits begin to fail, makes a pauſe in the middle of his ſpeech, and breaks forth into this exclamation, I wait for thy ſalvation, or for a happy deliverance out of this evil world.

19 Gad, a troop ſhall overcome him.] The word Gad ſignifies a troop; and, in alluſion to the name, Jacob foretels that they ſhould be ſurrounded by enemies; but that in time they ſhould triumph over all oppoſition. Accordingly the lot of this tribe fell on a frontier country, beyond Jordan, where they were expoſed to the incurſions of the Ammonites, who encamped in Gilead. Nor could they free themſelves from their incurſions till Jeptha aroſe, who utterly ſubdued them.

20 Out of Aſher his bread ſhall be fat, &c.] The tribe of Aſher ſhall be ſituated in a plentiful tract, abounding not only with all ſorts of proviſions neceſſary for human life, but alſo with the choiceſt fruits, and moſt luxuriant productions of the earth.

21 Naphtali is a hind let loose: he giveth goodly words.

22 Joseph is a fruitful bough, even a fruitful bough by a well; whose branches run over the wall:

23 The archers have sorely grieved him, and shot at him, and hated him:

24 But his bow abode in strength, and the arms of his hands were made strong by the hands of the mighty God of Jacob: from thence is the shepherd, the stone of Israel:

25 Even by the God of thy father, who shall help thee, and by the Almighty, who shall bless thee with blessings of heaven above, blessings of the deep that lieth under, blessings of the breasts, and of the womb:

26 The blessings of thy father have prevailed above the blessings of my progenitors, unto the utmost bound of the everlasting hills: they shall be on the head of Joseph, and on the crown of the head of him that was separate from his brethren.

27 Benjamin shall ravin as a wolf: in the morning he shall devour the prey, and at night he shall divide the spoil.

28 All these are the twelve tribes of Israel: and this is it that their father spake unto them, and blessed them; every one according to his blessing he blessed them.

29 ¶ And he charged them and said unto them, I am to be gathered unto my people: bury me with my fathers, in the cave that is in the field of Ephron the Hittite,

30 In the cave that is in the field of Mach-

21 Naphtali is a hind let loose.] The hind is a creature that loves to roam at large, and when escaped from the toils, bounds with the greatest swiftness and impetuosity; and is here used as a proper symbol of a free spirit, and a lover of liberty.

He giveth goodly words.] Our translation here is doubtless wrong; for what connection is there between a hind, and giving goodly words? Bochart, by altering the punctuation, has given a very different turn to the sense; namely, Naphtali is a well-spread tree, which putteth forth beautiful branches: and this sense is the more to be regarded, as it agrees with the Septuagint translation, and the Chaldee paraphrase. If this be admitted, the words will refer to the fruitfulness of that tribe, which, in 215 years, increased to 50,000; though, at the time when Jacob came into Egypt, Naphtali had only four sons. This correction of Bochart removes the whole difficulty, and renders the passage plain and intelligible.

22 Joseph is a fruitful bough, &c.] Joseph is here compared to a fruitful bough, shooting forth two luxuriant stems or branches, because from him two tribes descended.

A fruitful bough by a well.] That is, in a well-watered soil.

Whose branches run over the wall.] Intimating the prodigious increase of these two tribes.

23 The archers have sorely grieved him, &c.] By the archers we are to understand Joseph's brethren, who hated him, and sold him into Egypt; his mistress, who falsly accused him; and his master, who put him in prison; but chiefly the first, who shot at him the arrows of malice, envy, calumny, and bitter words.

24 But his bow abode in strength.] He sustained all the shocks of his enemies with unbroken fortitude and resolution, as a tough bow still continues the same, though long used in battle.

And the arms of his hands were made strong by the hands of the mighty God of Jacob.] He placed his only hope in the providence of the Almighty, who supported him in the greatest dangers, and delivered him from every distress. The patriarch calls the great Creator the mighty God of Jacob, because he had often experienced his goodness and powerful protection.

From thence is the shepherd, the stone of Israel.] The Divine Providence hath thought proper to raise up Joseph to be the nourisher and whole support of me and my family.

26 The blessings of thy father, &c.] That is, Thy father's blessings are more ample, prevalent, and comprehensive, than the blessing of my progenitors in behalf of me; and these blessings shall be upon the head of Joseph, unto the utmost bound or duration of the everlasting hills.

On the crown of the head of him that was separate from his brethren.] The word nazir, which we render separate, signifies either separated by a vow, or by dignity; and hence Joseph is called the Nazarite of his brethren, because of the eminent dignity to which he was advanced above them. But others are of opinion, that the words might be better rendered, upon the head, even upon the crowned head, &c. alluding to his advancement in Egypt.

27 Benjamin shall ravin as a wolf.] Benjamin, who had been so great a favourite of his father, probably expected a suitable blessing from him; but whether Jacob foresaw no extraordinary merit or happiness attending this tribe, or that it should afterwards be blended with that of Judah, and consequently share the blessing of that tribe, he contented himself with describing him by his fierce and warlike disposition, who, like the wolf, should shed the blood of his enemies, and in the evening divide the spoil. And history sufficiently justifies this character, the tribe of Benjamin alone maintaining a war with all the other tribes, in which they overcame them in two battles, though they had sixteen to one. It must, however, be observed, that the comparison does not only respect mere valour and fortitude in defending themselves, but also fierceness in making wars and depredations upon others. But what is chiefly to be regarded in this prophecy is, that the tribe of Benjamin should continue till the final destruction of the Jewish polity. For since the natural morning and night cannot with the least propriety be here understood, and as the Jewish state is the subject of all Jacob's prophecy, we must consider the morning and night as the beginning and final period of that state; and consequently, that the tribe of Benjamin should exist till Shiloh came. And this prophecy was fully accomplished; for, upon the division of the kingdom after Solomon's death, the tribe of Benjamin adhered to that of Judah, and formed one people with it; continued to share the same fortune, and by that means existed till the destruction of Jerusalem by the Romans, which happened many years after the other ten tribes were no longer a people.

29 Bury me with my fathers.] This passage is an instance of the great antiquity of burying princes and illustrious personages in their native country, and in the sepulchres of their fathers. In Homer's Iliad, B. 16. Minerva desires that Jupiter would permit the body of Sarpedon to be buried in his own country;

Let sleep and death convey, by thy command,
The breathless body to his native land. Pope.

pelah, which is before Mamre, in the land of Canaan, which Abraham bought with the field of Ephron the Hittite, for a poſſeſſion of a burying-place.

31 (There they buried Abraham and Sarah his wife; there they buried Iſaac and Rebekah his wife; and there I buried Leah.)

32 The purchaſe of the field and of the cave that is therein, was from the children of Heth.

33 ¶ And when Jacob had made an end of commanding his ſons, he gathered up his feet into the bed, and yielded up the ghoſt, and was gathered unto his people.

CHAP. L.

1 The mourning for Jacob. 7 The funeral. 24 Joſeph propheſieth to his brethren of their return. 26 His death.

AND Joſeph fell upon his father's face, and wept upon him, and kiſſed him.

2 And Joſeph commanded his ſervants the phyſicians to embalm his father: and the phyſicians embalmed Iſrael.

3 And forty days were fulfilled for him; (for ſo are fulfilled the days of thoſe which are embalmed:) and the Egyptians mourned for him threeſcore and ten days.

4 And when the days of his mourning were paſt, Joſeph ſpake unto the houſe of Pharaoh, ſaying, If now I have found grace in your eyes, ſpeak, I pray you in the ears of Pharaoh, ſaying,

5 My father made me ſwear, ſaying, Lo, I die: in my grave which I have digged for me in the land of Canaan, there ſhalt thou bury me. Now therefore let me go up, I pray thee, and bury my father, and I will come again.

6 And Pharaoh ſaid, Go up, and bury thy father, according as he made thee ſwear.

7 ¶ And Joſeph went up to bury his father: and with him went up all the ſervants of Pharaoh, the elders of his houſe, and all the elders of the land of Egypt,

8 And all the houſe of Joſeph, and his brethren, and his father's houſe: only their little ones, and their flocks, and their herds they left in the land of Goſhen.

9 And there went up with him both chariots and horſemen: and it was a very great company.

10 And they came to the threſhing-floor of Atad, which is beyond Jordan, and there they 33 He gathered up his feet into the bed, &c.] While he pronounced theſe his dying benedictions, he ſat up on the bed-ſide with his feet hanging down to the ground; but having ended his ſpeech, he drew his feet into the bed, and reclining his head on the pillow calmly breathed his laſt.

Notes on the Fiftieth Chapter.

Ver. 2 Joſeph commanded his ſervants the phyſicians to embalm, &c.] It is alledged, that the overflowing of the Nile put the Egyptians upon the invention of embalming; for during the time that the country was laid under water, which was for two months, they had no acceſs to depoſite the dead in their reſpective burial-places. Dr. Warburton, the preſent learned biſhop of Glouceſter, obſerves, that it was a wiſe inſtitution in Egypt, to commit the care of embalming the dead to the phyſicians; as it gave them an opportunity of inſtructing themſelves in the cauſes of diſeaſes, and of improving their knowledge in anatomy—Div. Leg. v. 11.—The Egyptians excelled all the people in the world in the art of embalming human bodies, many of which remain at this day, under the name of mummies. Embalming was practiſed upon rich and poor, though with more or leſs coſt, according to the rank of the perſon. As to the manner how it was performed, the moſt coſtly way, according to Diodorus and Herodotus, was briefly this: the embalmers firſt drew out the brains through the noſtrils with a crooked inſtrument of iron, and filled the vacancy with different ſpices; then an inciſion was made on the left ſide of the belly, and all the inteſtines taken out, except the heart and kidneys: the entrails were cleanſed and waſhed with wine of palms, and perfumed with aromatic odours. Then the belly was filled with pounded myrrh, caſſia, and other odoriferous drugs; and the inciſion being ſewed up, the body was carefully anointed with the oil of cedar, and other ointments, for above 30 days, or elſe laid in nitre for 70 days, which was the longeſt time allowed. Then they waſhed the whole body, and bound fillets of fine linen round every part, covering it with gum. All this was done without diſfiguring the body; ſo that the very hairs remained on the brows and eye-lids, and the reſemblance of the countenance was preſerved, ſo as to be eaſily known. Univ. Hiſt. vol. I.

3 And the Egyptians mourned for him ſeventy days.] The embalming was finiſhed in 40 days; but the body remained in pickle 30 days more, till it was thoroughly ſeaſoned; and theſe were the days appointed for mourning.

4 Joſeph ſpake unto the houſe of Pharaoh, &c.] To the great officers of the court; for being in a ſtate of mourning, and therefore looked upon as defiled, he might not come into Pharaoh's preſence.

7 All the ſervants of Pharaoh.] All is put for a great number, as Matth. iii. 5.---This funeral of Jacob ſeems to be without parallel in hiſtory for ſplendour and magnificence.

10 And they came to the threſhing floor of Atad.] This place is ſuppoſed to be ſituated about two leagues from Jericho, on the other ſide Jordan, and fifty miles diſtant from Hebron.

Beyond Jordan.] Atad and Abel-mizraim lay on the weſt of Jordan; but were on the other ſide of that river, with reſpect to the place where Moſes was when he wrote this hiſtory, which was in the wilderneſs of Arabia, on the eaſt of Jordan.

mourned with a great and very ſore lamentation: and he made a mourning for his father ſeven days.

11 And when the inhabitants of the land, the Canaanites, ſaw the mourning in the floor of Atad, they ſaid, This is a grievous mourning to the Egyptians: wherefore the name of it was called Abel-mizraim, which is beyond Jordan.

12 And his ſons did unto him according as he commanded them.

13 For his ſons carried him into the land of Canaan, and buried him in the cave of the field of Machpelah, which Abraham bought with the field, for a poſſeſſion of a burying-place of Ephron the Hittite, before Mamre.

14 And Joſeph returned into Egypt, he and his brethren, and all that went up with him to bury his father, after he had buried his father.

15 And when Joſeph's brethren ſaw that their father was dead, they ſaid, Joſeph will peradventure hate us, and will certainly requite us all the evil which we did unto him.

16 And they ſent a meſſenger unto Joſeph, ſaying, Thy father did command before he died, ſaying, 17 So ſhall ye ſay unto Joſeph, Forgive, I pray thee now, the treſpaſs of thy brethren, and their ſin; for they did unto thee evil: and now, we pray thee, forgive the treſpaſs of the ſervants of the God of thy father. And Joſeph wept when they ſpake unto him.

18 And his brethren alſo went and fell down before his face; and they ſaid, Behold, we be thy ſervants.

19 And Joſeph ſaid unto them, Fear not: for am I in the place of God?

20 But as for you, ye thought evil againſt me; but God meant it unto good, to bring to paſs, as it is this day, to ſave much people alive.

21 Now therefore fear ye not: I will nouriſh you, and your little ones. And he comforted them, and ſpake kindly unto them.

22 And Joſeph dwelt in Egypt, he, and his father's houſe: and Joſeph lived an hundred and ten years.

23 And Joſeph ſaw Ephraim's children, of the third generation: the children alſo of Machir, the ſon of Manaſſeh, were brought up upon Joſeph's knees.

24 ¶ And Joſeph ſaid unto his brethren, I die: and God will ſurely viſit you, and bring you out of this land, unto the land which he ſware to Abraham, to Iſaac, and to Jacob.

25 And Joſeph took an oath of the children of Iſrael, ſaying, God will ſurely viſit you, and ye ſhall carry up my bones from hence.

26 ¶ So Joſeph died, being an hundred and ten years old: and they embalmed him, and he was put in a coffin in Egypt.

16 Thy father did command, &c.] We have here a remarkable inſtance of the timidity of guilt. The wrongs they had done their brother filled their minds with ſuch gloomy apprehenſions, that they fancied Joſeph had only ſmothered his reſentment out of reſpect to his father, but would now take ample vengeance on them for their perfidious behaviour. But all this was no more than the dreams of their own imaginations; for it does not appear that Joſeph had ſo much as acquainted his father of their cruel uſage of him; and conſequently what they urge as their father's dying command was a mere fiction.

17 And Joſeph wept when they ſpake unto him.] A thouſand tender thoughts crouded upon his mind, and his tears diſcovered the compaſſion and generoſity of his ſoul: an evident proof of his ſincerity, and how unjuſtly they ſuſpected him capable of ſuch unrelenting reſentment.

19 For am I in the place of God?] The words may be rendered affirmatively, I am in the place of God; God has made me the inſtrument under him to ſupport you, and preſerve you, and is it poſſible you can ſuſpect me capable of doing you hurt?

20 Ye thought evil againſt me, but God meant it for good.] Herein appears the admirable wiſdom and goodneſs of Providence, in often converting the wicked actions of ſinful men, from evil into good, and inſtead of the moſt pernicious, directs them to the moſt excellent ends.

23 Ephraim's children of the third generation.] Joſeph had the pleaſure of ſeeing his father's prophetic bleſſing on his two ſons in part fulfilled; whence he concluded, that the reſt would be fully accompliſhed in due time.

24 God will ſurely viſit you.] Meaning in mercy.

25 Carry up my bones from hence.] He was ſo confident that God would give them the land of Canaan, that he deſires to be kept unburied till the God of their fathers thought proper to viſit them. And accordingly his requeſt was fulfilled, and his bones depoſited in Shechem with thoſe of the other patriarchs.

THE SECOND BOOK OF MOSES,

CALLED

EXODUS.

THE ARGUMENT.

As the deliverance of the children of Iſrael out of Egypt is the principal ſubject of this Book, it has thence taken the name of EXODUS, from the Greek ΕΧΟΔΟΣ, which ſignifies The going out, or Departure. It comprehends an hiſtory of about 145 years, viz. from the death of JOSEPH to the building of the Tabernacle.

CHAP. I.

1 The children of Iſrael multiply. 8 They are oppreſſed by a new king. 15 The midwives ſave the males alive.

NOW theſe are the names of the children of Iſrael, which came into Egypt; every man and his houſhold came with Jacob.

2 Reuben, Simeon, Levi, and Judah,

3 Iſſachar, Zebulun, and Benjamin,

4 Dan, and Naphtali, Gad, and Aſher.

5 And all the ſouls, that came out of the loins of Jacob, were ſeventy ſouls: for Joſeph was in Egypt already.

6 And Joſeph died, and all his brethren, and all that generation.

7 And the children of Iſrael were fruitful, and increaſed abundantly, and multiplied, and waxed exceeding mighty; and the land was filled with them.

8 ¶ Now there aroſe up a new king over Egypt, which knew not Joſeph.

9 And he ſaid unto his people, Behold, the people of the children of Iſrael are more and mightier than we.

10 Come on, let us deal wiſely with them; leſt they multiply, and it come to paſs, that when there falleth out any war, they join alſo unto our enemies, and fight againſt us, and ſo get them up out of the land.

11 Therefore they did ſet over them taſkmaſters, to afflict them with their burdens. And they built for Pharaoh treaſure-cities, Pithom and Raamſes.

12 But the more they afflicted them, the Notes on the First Chapter.

Ver. 1 Now theſe are the names, &c.] Being to relate the departure of the children of Iſrael out of Egypt, it was proper to ſet down the number of thoſe who came into it; by which it appears how God had fulfilled his promiſe to Abraham, of multiplying his ſeed.

6 And Joſeph died, and all his brethren, and all that generation.] If we conſider that Levi and Amram lived one hundred and thirty-ſeven years, (chap. vi. 16, 20.) we ſhall eaſily perceive, that a long ſpace of time muſt here be underſtood.

7 Were fruitful, &c.] Here are ſeveral words uſed of much the ſame import, the more fully to denote their prodigious encreaſe; only the fourth refers to their encreaſe of power as well as number.

8 Which knew not Joſeph.] Who did not regard Joſeph, nor entertain any grateful remembrance of the eminent ſervices he had done for Egypt.

9 The children of Iſrael are more and mightier than we.] Heb. The children of Iſrael more, &c. that is, will in time become more numerous and mightier than we; ſupplying the verb will be, inſtead of are: for had they at this time been more numerous and powerful, how was it poſſible for the Egyptians to oppreſs them?

10 Leſt they join unto our enemies.] The Iſraelites never conſidered themſelves as ſettled in Egypt, but as ſojourners only; and therefore it is natural to ſuppoſe, that they had often mentioned their intention of leaving the country, which doubtleſs contributed to raiſe this jealouſy in the king of Egypt.

11 Built for Pharaoh treaſure-cities.] Magazines for preſerving ſtores of corn, as well as treaſures of money.

12 But the more they afflicted them, the more they multiplied.] It is in vain for fooliſh mortals to oppoſe the decrees of the Almighty, who can ſo eaſily turn all their councils againſt themſelves.

more they multiplied and grew. And they were grieved becauſe of the children of Iſrael.

13 And the Egyptians made the children of Iſrael to ſerve with rigour:

14 And they made their lives bitter with hard bondage, in morter, and in brick, and in all manner of ſervice in the field: all their ſervice, wherein they made them ſerve, was with rigour.

15 ¶ And the king of Egypt ſpake to the Hebrew midwives (of which the name of the one was Shiphrah, and the name of the other Puah:)

16 And he ſaid, When ye do the office of a midwife to the Hebrew women, and ſee them upon the ſtools; if it be a ſon, then ye ſhall kill him; but if it be a daughter, then ſhe ſhall live.

17 But the midwives feared God, and did not as the king of Egypt commanded them, but ſaved the men-children alive.

18 And the king of Egypt called for the midwives, and ſaid unto them, Why have ye done this thing, and have ſaved the men-children alive?

19 And the midwives ſaid unto Pharaoh, Becauſe the Hebrew women are not as the Egyptian women; for they are lively, and are delivered ere the midwives come in unto them.

20 Therefore God dealt well with the midwives: and the people multiplied, and waxed very mighty.

21 And it came to paſs, becauſe the midwives feared God, that he made them houſes.

22 And Pharaoh charged all his people, ſaying, Every ſon that is born, ye ſhall caſt into the river, and every daughter ye ſhall ſave alive.

CHAP. II.

1 Moſes is born, and put into the flags. 5 He is found, and brought up by Pharaoh's daughter. 15 He fleeth into Midian.

AND there went a man of the houſe of Levi, and took to wife a daughter of Levi.

2 And the woman conceived, and bare a ſon: and when ſhe ſaw him that he was a goodly child, ſhe hid him three months.

3 And when ſhe could not longer hide him, ſhe took for him an ark of bulruſhes, and daubed it with ſlime and with pitch, and put the child therein; and ſhe laid it in the flags by the river's brink.

15 The name of the one was Shiphrah, and the name, &c.] Doubtleſs there were other midwives; for how could two ſerve a whole nation? but probably theſe were the chief, and had the reſt under their government.

16 If it be a ſon, ye ſhall kill him.] Pharaoh dreading the power of the Iſraelites, was deſirous of deſtroying all the males, it being from them alone any danger was to be apprehended.

17 The midwives feared God.] They had too high a ſenſe of religion and humanity to perpetrate ſuch horrid cruelty; for the midwives, had they complied with the king's orders, would not have been only guilty of murder, but perfidy too, by deſtroying thoſe innocent children they had undertaken to ſave.

19 They are lively, &c.] If we conſider that the Hebrew women, from their being inured to toil and labour, muſt be of a more robuſt and vigorous conſtitution than the ſoft Egyptians, the midwives will appear not to have told a falſity, though poſſibly they might conceal ſome part of the truth.

21 Becauſe the midwives feared God, he made them houſes.] The obvious ſenſe of theſe words is, that God, in return for their kindneſs to the Iſraelites, bleſt their children, and rendered them proſperous. But it is obſerved, that them in the original is of the maſculine gender, and therefore cannot refer to the midwives. Some therefore apply it to the Iſraelites; and that the ſenſe is, that Providence, by means of the piety of the midwives, continued to increaſe the children of Iſrael, and built them up to a perfect edifice raiſed to its juſt dimenſions. But others will have it to refer to Pharaoh and his ſervants, who built houſes for the midwives, whither the Hebrew women were obliged to repair, in order to be delivered before commiſſioners appointed for that purpoſe, that the king's order might not be any longer eluded. Mr. Shuckford interprets the words thus: Pharaoh, reſolving to prevent the increaſe of the Iſraelites, built houſes for them, that they might not have it in their power to lodge their women in child-bed out of the way, as formerly when they lived in tents: and with ſome variation of the ſtops, he tranſlates the paſſage literally, thus: And the people multiplied, and waxed very mighty: and this came to paſs, becauſe the midwives feared God. And Pharaoh built them (that is, the Iſraelites) houſes, and charged all his, &c.

22 And Pharaoh charged all his people, ſaying, every ſon that is born ye ſhall caſt into the river.] Pharaoh finding himſelf diſappointed by the midwives, now iſſues orders for all his ſervants to execute his inhuman decree.

Notes on the Second Chapter.

Ver. 2 Bare a ſon.] Moſes was not the firſt-born, his brother Aaron being three years older than he. See chap. vii. 7.

And when ſhe ſaw that he was a goodly child.] The beauty of the child muſt doubtleſs ſtrengthen her natural affection, yet we muſt not ſuppoſe that had this been wanting his mother would have deſtroyed him.

3 And when ſhe could hide him no longer.] For fear of being informed againſt by ſome of the Egyptians, with whom the Iſraelites lived intermixed. Thus Moſes, who was afterwards the deliverer of Iſrael, had himſelf like to have fallen a ſacrifice to an inhuman tyrant! Doubtleſs the providence of God directed things in this manner, that he might conceive an higher deteſtation

And the Shepherds came and drove them away but Moses stood up and helped them, and watered their flock. - Exodus Ch.II.Ve.17.

4 And his ſiſter ſtood afar off, to wit what would be done to him.

5 ¶ And the daughter of Pharaoh came down to waſh her ſelf at the river; and her maidens walked along by the river's ſide: and when ſhe ſaw the ark among the flags, ſhe ſent her maid to fetch it.

6 And when ſhe had opened it, ſhe ſaw the child: and behold, the babe wept. And ſhe had compaſſion on him, and ſaid, This is one of the Hebrews children.

7 Then ſaid his ſiſter to Pharaoh's daughter, Shall I go and call to thee a nurſe of the Hebrew women, that ſhe may nurſe the child for thee?

8 And Pharaoh's daughter ſaid unto her, Go. And the maid went and called the child's mother.

9 And Pharaoh's daughter ſaid unto her, Take this child away and nurſe it for me, and I will give thee thy wages. And the woman took the child, and nurſed it.

10 And the child grew, and ſhe brought him unto Pharaoh's daughter, and he became her ſon. And ſhe called his name Moſes: and ſhe ſaid, Becauſe I drew him out of the water.

11 And it came to paſs in thoſe days, when Moſes was grown, that he went out unto his brethren, and looked on their burdens: and he ſpied an Egyptian ſmiting an Hebrew, one of his brethren.

12 And he looked this way and that way, and when he ſaw that there was no man, he ſlew the Egyptian, and hid him in the ſand.

13 And when he went out the ſecond day, behold, two men of the Hebrews ſtrove together: and he ſaid to him that did the wrong, Wherefore ſmiteſt thou thy fellow?

14 And he ſaid, Who made thee a prince and a judge over us? intendeſt thou to kill me, as thou killedſt the Egyptian? and Moſes feared, and ſaid, Surely this thing is known.

15 ¶ Now when Pharaoh heard this thing, he ſought to ſlay Moſes. But Moſes fled from the face of Pharaoh, and dwelt in the land of Midian: and he ſat down by a well.

16 Now the prieſt of Midian had ſeven daughters: and they came and drew water, and filled the troughs to water their father's flock.

17 And the ſhepherds came and drove them away: but Moſes ſtood up and helped them, and watered their flock.

18 And when they came to Reuel their father, he ſaid, How is it that ye are come ſo ſoon to day?

teſtation of the Egyptians, and labour with a greater zeal to deliver his brethren from the hands of ſuch bloody men.

Of bulruſhes.] Rather of papyrus, a kind of flaggy ſhrub or reed, which grew in great plenty on the banks of the Nile.

And ſhe laid it in the flags.] The Egyptians made boats of the papyrus; and probably the ark in which Moſes was placed was made in the form of a boat, that if by any accident it ſhould be carried away by the ſtream it might ſwim in the river.

4 His ſiſter ſtood afar off.] Miriam, for we read of no other ſiſter. Numb. xxvi. ver. 59.

6 Behold, the babe wept.] Never did child cry more ſeaſonably: no wonder that the princeſs was moved with the ſight of ſo much innocence and ſo much beauty in diſtreſs.

9 Take this child away, and nurſe it for me.] How viſibly is the immediate hand of Providence ſeen in conducting this whole tranſaction! Had the child fallen into other hands, he muſt have been thrown into the river; but Pharaoh's daughter is conducted by an inviſible guide to the place where the forlorn infant was expoſed, and by her put to nurſe to his own mother.

10 And he became her ſon.] She adopted him for her own ſon, and gave him a princely education.

She called his name Moſes.] The margin has it, drawn out: the reaſon follows immediately, Becauſe I drew him out of the water.

11 He went out unto his brethren.] He renounced the pleaſures of the Egyptian court, and joined himſelf to the Hebrews, who were his brethren, as being all deſcended from their common father Abraham. Chuſing rather to ſuffer affliction with the people of God, than to enjoy the pleaſures of ſin for a ſeaſon, Heb. xi. 25.

12 He ſlew the Egyptian.] It has been aſked, whether, granting the Iſraelite to have ſuffered wrong, this action of Moſes was juſtifiable? And whether he ſhould not have appealed to the civil magiſtrate, for the redreſs of private wrongs? But it ſhould be remembered, that as the Egyptian kings authorized the oppreſſion of the Iſraelites, it would have been in vain to apply for redreſs of their grievances. The civil magiſtrate, who ought to have protected injured innocence, was himſelf become the oppreſſor; and, conſequently, the ſociety being degenerated into a confederacy in oppreſſion and injuſtice, it was as lawful to uſe private force and reſiſtance, as againſt a band of robbers and banditti.

15 And dwelt in the land of Midian.] Midian is ſuppoſed to be part of Arabia Petræa, which bordered on Goſhen. In this deſert land, this ſchool of adverſity, he acquired virtues, which rendered him more capable of undertaking that arduous taſk, the deliverance of his brethren.

17 And the ſhepherds came and drove them away.] The ſhepherds drove the flocks from the well: nor will this action appear ſurpriſing, if it be conſidered, that in thoſe countries there is a great ſcarcity of water; whence it is natural to ſuppoſe, that the ſhepherds would endeavour to get the firſt poſſeſſion of the wells, leſt others, coming thither before them, ſhould not leave water enough for their cattle.

18 When they came to Reuel their father.] This perſon is called Hobab, the ſon of Raguel, Numb. x. 29; and Jethro, in Exod. iii. 1: ſo that the ſame perſon is thought to have been called by three names, Raguel, or Reuel, Hobab, and Jethro.

19 And they ſaid, An Egyptian delivered us out of the hand of the ſhepherds, and alſo drew water enough for us, and watered the flock.

20 And he ſaid unto his daughters, And where is he? why is it that ye have left the man? call him that he may eat bread.

21 And Moſes was content to dwell with the man: and he gave Moſes Zipporah his daughter.

22 And ſhe bare him a ſon, and he called his name Gerſhom: for he ſaid, I have been a ſtranger in a ſtrange land.

23 And it came to paſs in proceſs of time, that the king of Egypt died: and the children of Iſrael ſighed by reaſon of the bondage, and they cried; and their cry came up unto God by reaſon of the bondage.

24 And God heard their groaning, and God remembered his covenant with Abraham, with Iſaac, and with Jacob.

25 And God looked upon the children of Iſrael, and God had reſpect unto them.

CHAP. III.

1 Moſes keepeth Jethro's flock. 2 God appeareth unto him in a burning buſh. 9 He ſendeth him to deliver Iſrael.

NOW Moſes kept the flock of Jethro his father-in-law, the prieſt of Midian: and he led the flock to the back ſide of the deſert, and came to the mountain of God, even to Horeb.

2 ¶ And the angel of the LORD appeared unto him in a flame of fire out of the midſt of the buſh: and he looked, and behold the buſh burned with fire, and the buſh was not conſumed.

3 And Moſes ſaid, I will now turn aſide, and ſee this great ſight, why the buſh is not burnt.

4 And when the LORD ſaw that he turned aſide to ſee, God called unto him out of the midſt of the buſh, and ſaid, Moſes, Moſes. And he ſaid, Here am I.

5 And he ſaid, Draw not nigh hither: put off thy ſhoes from off thy feet, for the place whereon thou ſtandeſt is holy ground.

6 Moreover he ſaid, I am the God of thy father, the God of Abraham, the God of Iſaac, and the God of Jacob. And Moſes hid his face: for he was afraid to look upon God.

7 And the LORD ſaid, I have ſurely ſeen the affliction of my people which are in Egypt, and have heard their cry by reaſon of their taſk-maſters: for I know their ſorrows,

8 And I am come down to deliver them out

21 And he gave Moſes Zipporah his daughter.] Though the ſcripture omits to mention what paſſed before Moſes' marriage, yet it is probable, that Reuel did not give him his daughter till he had been ſome time in the country, and given proofs of his virtuous endowments.

22 Called his name Gerſhom.] That is, a ſtranger, or an alien; to remind him of his preſent exiled condition, and of the providence which ſupported him under it.

24 And God heard, &c.] In theſe two laſt verſes are four different words, namely, heard, remembered, looked upon them, had reſpect unto them, the more emphatically to expreſs God's kind intentions towards them.

Notes on the Third Chapter.

Ver. 1 Led the flock to the back ſide of the deſert.] That is, to the inner parts of the deſert, where he found better paſture.

And he came to the mountain of God.] So called, either from its towering height, all lofty mountains being called the mountains of God, or becauſe it was afterwards ſanctified by his appearance.

Even to Horeb.] St. Stephen, Acts vii. 30. calls it Sinai, becauſe Horeb and Sinai were two ſummits of the ſame mountain. He alſo informs us that this happened after Moſes had dwelt forty years in the land of Midian.

2 In a flame of fire.] The glory of the Lord, as the Shechinah is often called, appeared in a flaming manner like fire, exceeding bright, and with an amazing ſplendor.

Out of the midſt of a buſh.] The beſt interpreters underſtand by the buſh, the Iſraelites afflicted in Egypt; and the glory of God appearing in the midſt of it, a ſymbolical repreſentation of his being preſent with his people in the midſt of their tribulations.

And behold the buſh burned with fire, and the buſh was not conſumed.] Fire is often uſed in ſcripture as a proper emblem of calamity, eſpecially that which is national. The buſh burning with fire, but not conſumed, repreſented, that howſoever ſore the Iſraelites might be diſtreſſed, yet their afflictions ſhould not conſume them, or deſtroy them utterly.

5 Put off thy ſhoes from off thy feet, &c.] We cannot approach the great Creator of the univerſe with too much reverence. Though God is preſent every where; though the whole world is his auguſt temple, yet we ſhould be remarkably careful when we approach the place where his honour dwelleth, the houſe ſet apart for his worſhip; for we ſee that even Moſes himſelf was commanded, when he approached the divine Majeſty, to put off his ſhoes from off his feet, for the place on which he ſtood was holy ground.

6 And Moſes hid his face, &c.] In token of profound humility and veneration.

8 Unto a land flowing with milk and honey.] The expreſſion flowing with milk and honey was a common proverb, denoting plenty. Several modern travellers have obſerved, that Paleſtine is now exceedingly barren; but this is entirely owing to its want of culture and inhabitants. of the hand of the Egyptians, and to bring them up out of that land, unto a good land and a large, unto a land flowing with milk and honey; unto the place of the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and the Amorites, and the Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebuſites.

9 ¶ Now therefore behold, the cry of the children of Iſrael is come unto me: and I have alſo ſeen the oppreſſion wherewith the Egyptians oppreſs them.

10 Come now therefore, and I will ſend thee unto Pharaoh, that thou mayeſt bring forth my people the children of Iſrael out of Egypt.

11 And Moſes ſaid unto God, Who am I, that I ſhould go unto Pharaoh, and that I ſhould bring forth the children of Iſrael out of Egypt?

12 And he ſaid, Certainly I will be with thee: and this ſhall be a token unto thee, that I have ſent thee; When thou haſt brought forth the people out of Egypt, ye ſhall ſerve God upon this mountain.

13 And Moſes ſaid unto God, Behold, when I come unto the children of Iſrael, and ſhall ſay unto them, The God of your fathers hath ſent me unto you; and they ſhall ſay to me, What is his Name? what ſhall I ſay unto them?

14 And God ſaid unto Moſes, I AM THAT I AM: and he ſaid, Thus ſhalt thou ſay unto the children of Iſrael, I AM hath ſent me unto you.

15 And God ſaid moreover unto Moſes, Thus ſhalt thou ſay unto the children of Iſrael, The LORD God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Iſaac, and the God of Jacob hath ſent me unto you: this is my Name for ever, and this is my memorial unto all generations.

17 And I have ſaid, I will bring you up out of the affliction of Egypt, unto the land of the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and the Amorites, and the Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebuſites, unto a land flowing with milk and honey.

18 And they ſhall hearken to thy voice: and thou ſhalt come, thou and the elders of Iſrael unto the king of Egypt, and ye ſhall ſay unto him, The LORD God of the Hebrews hath met with us: and now let us go, (we beſeech thee) three days journey into the wilderneſs, that we may ſacrifice to the LORD our God.

19 And I am ſure that the king of Egypt will not let you go, no not by a mighty hand.

20 And I will ſtretch out my hand, and ſmite Egypt with all my wonders which I will do in the midſt thereof: and after that he will let you go.

21 And I will give this people favour in the ſight of the Egyptians: and it ſhall come to paſs, that when ye go, ye ſhall not go empty.

11 And Moſes ſaid unto God, Who am I that I ſhould go unto Pharaoh, &c.] He modeſtly declines the ſervice from an apprehenſion how unlikely it was that he ſhould ever be able to prevail with the people to follow him, or with the prince to releaſe them from his dominions.

12 I will be with thee.] I will ſupport and defend thee in all dangers and difficulties.

And this ſhall be a token unto you, &c.] That is, the viſion which thou haſt now ſeen of the buſh burning, but not conſumed, ſhall be a token that I have ſent thee; and when thou haſt delivered my people, ye ſhall worſhip God upon this mountain.

14 And God ſaid unto Moſes, I am that I am.] The religion of names was a matter of great conſequence in Egypt. Out of indulgence therefore to this weakneſs, God was pleaſed to give himſelf a name. And God ſaid unto Moſes, &c.---The religion of names aroſe from an idolatrous Polytheiſm, and the name here given, implying eternity and ſelf-exiſtence, directly oppoſes that idolatry. That this compliance with the religion of names was a new indulgence to the prejudices of this people, is evident from the following words: And God ſpake unto Moſes, and ſaid unto him, I am the Lord: and I appeared unto Abraham, and Iſaac and Jacob, by the NAME OF GOD ALMIGHTY, but by my NAME JEHOVAH was I not known to them, Exod. vi. 3. That is, as the God of Abraham, I before condeſcended to have a name of diſtinction; but now, in compliance to another prejudice, I condeſcend to have a name of honour. This ſeems to be the true interpretation of this difficult text. Divine Legat. v. 2. p. 282.

18 Let us go three days journey into the wilderneſs.] They never intended to return; but that Pharaoh might be the more inexcuſable, they were directed at firſt to demand leave only to go as far as Mount Sinai, which was but three days journey from Egypt.

22 Every woman ſhall borrow, &c.] This action has been repreſented as inconſiſtent with the idea all men entertain of the Deity, namely, that he is a Being of infinite goodneſs, juſtice, and wiſdom. But if our verſion be corrected, the difficulty will

AND Moſes anſwered and ſaid, But behold they will not believe me, nor hearken unto my voice: for they will ſay, The LORD hath not appeared unto thee.

2 And the LORD ſaid unto him, What is that in thine hand? and he ſaid, A rod.

3 And he ſaid, Caſt it on the ground: and he caſt it on the ground, and it became a ſerpent: and Moſes fled from before it.

4 And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Put forth thine hand, and take it by the tail. And he put forth his hand and caught it, and it became a rod in his hand.

5 That they may believe that the LORD God of their fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Iſaac, and the God of Jacob hath appeared unto thee.

6 ¶ And the LORD ſaid furthermore unto him, Put now thine hand into thy boſom; and he put his hand into his boſom: and when he took it out, behold, his hand was leprous, as ſnow.

7 And he ſaid, Put thine hand into thy boſom again; and he put his hand into his boſom again, and plucked it out of his boſom; and behold, it was turned again as his other fleſh.

8 And it ſhall come to paſs, if they will not believe thee, neither hearken to the voice of the firſt ſign, that they will believe the voice of the latter ſign.

9 And it ſhall come to paſs, if they will not believe alſo theſe two ſigns, neither hearken unto thy voice, that thou ſhall take of the water of the river, and pour it upon the dry-land: and the water which thou takeſt out of the river, ſhall become blood upon the dry-land.

10 And Moſes ſaid unto the LORD, O my Lord, I am not eloquent, neither heretofore, nor ſince thou haſt ſpoken unto thy ſervant: but I am ſlow of ſpeech, and of a ſlow tongue.

11 And the LORD ſaid unto him, Who hath made man's mouth? or who maketh the dumb, or the deaf, or the ſeeing, or the blind? have not I the LORD?

12 Now therefore go, and I will be with thy mouth, and teach thee what thou ſhalt ſay.

13 And he ſaid, O my Lord, ſend, I pray thee, by the hand of him whom thou wilt ſend.

14 And the anger of the LORD was kindled againſt Moſes, and he ſaid, Is not Aaron the Levite thy brother? I know that he can ſpeak well. And alſo behold, he cometh forth to meet thee: and when he ſeeth thee, he will be glad in his heart.

vaniſh, and the action appear not the leaſt repugnant to common juſtice. In order to this it muſt be obſerved that the word which we render borrow, properly ſignifies to aſk. And therefore the true ſenſe of the paſſage will be, Every woman ſhall aſk of her neighbour, and of her that ſojourneth in her houſe, jewels of ſilver, and jewels of gold and raiment, as ſome compenſation for the injuries the Iſraelites have received. Conſequently the Egyptians, in complying with their requeſt, ſhewed they were willing to pay the tax deſired, as a ranſom for their lives, and a recompence for their cruel treatment.

Notes on the Fourth Chapter.

Ver. 2. A rod.] Probably his ſhepherd's ſtaff, for he was now feeding his father-in-law's flocks.

5 That they may believe.] In order to convince them, if they doubt whether I have ſent thee.

8 And it ſhall come to paſs, &c.] Here God condeſcended to give the reaſon why he is pleaſed to add another ſign to the former, namely, that he might overcome the incredulity which he foreſaw would be found in many of the Iſraelites.

The voice of the latter ſign.] We may obſerve a great propriety and energy in this expreſſion, the voice of the ſign, ſince thoſe miracles in effect ſpoke in the ear of reaſon, and ſaid, Believe in him whom God hath ſent.

10 I am ſlow of ſpeech, &c.] I have an impediment in my ſpeech, and therefore unfit for ſo great an office.

11 And the Lord ſaid unto him, Who hath made man's mouth?] This is a very ſtrong, and ought to have been taken as a ſatisfactory anſwer to his objection. Cannot I, who give and take away the organs of ſpeech, remove the impediment whereof thou complaineſt, and fully qualify thee to diſcharge the commiſſion with which I now inveſt thee? Is any thing too hard for the Lord?

13 Send I pray thee by the hand of him whom thou wilt ſend.] Send a perſon fitter for this employment than I am.

14 And the anger of the Lord was kindled againſt Moſes.] Moſes's backwardneſs at firſt proceeded from a modeſt diffidence of himſelf. But after God had condeſcended to obviate his objections, and promiſed him ſucceſs in his miſſion, he was guilty of a criminal deſpondency of mind, which now argued a diſtruſt of God himſelf; and therefore it is no wonder that the anger of the Almighty was kindled againſt him.

I know that he can ſpeak well.] Moſes excelled in wiſdom and conduct, Aaron his brother in eloquence: ſuch is the wiſe order of 15 And thou ſhalt ſpeak unto him, and put words in his mouth: and I will be with thy mouth, and with his mouth, and will teach you what ye ſhall do.

16 And he ſhall be thy ſpokeſman unto the people: and he ſhall be, even he ſhall be to thee inſtead of a mouth, and thou ſhalt be to him inſtead of God.

17 And thou ſhalt take this rod in thine hand, wherewith thou ſhalt do ſigns.

18 And Moſes went and returned to Jethro his father-in-law, and ſaid unto him, Let me go, I pray thee, and return unto my brethren which are in Egypt, and ſee whether they be yet alive. And Jethro ſaid to Moſes, Go in peace.

19 And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes in Midian, Go, return into Egypt: for all the men are dead which ſought thy life.

20 And Moſes took his wife and his ſons, and ſet them upon an aſs, and he returned to the land of Egypt. And Moſes took the rod of God in his hand.

21 ¶ And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, When thou goeſt to return into Egypt, ſee that thou do all thoſe wonders before Pharaoh which I have put in thine hand: but I will harden his heart, that he ſhall not let the people go.

22 And thou ſhalt ſay unto Pharaoh, Thus ſaith the LORD, Iſrael is my ſon, even my firſt-born.

23 And I ſay unto thee, Let my ſon go, that he may ſerve me: and if thou refuſe to let him go, behold, I will ſlay thy ſon, even thy firſt-born.

24 And it came to paſs by the way in the inn, that the LORD met him, and ſought to kill him.

25 Then Zipporah took a ſharp ſtone, and cut off the foreſkin of her ſon, and caſt it at his feet, and ſaid, Surely a bloody huſband art thou to me.

26 So he let him go: then ſhe ſaid, A bloody huſband thou art becauſe of the circumciſion.

27 And the LORD ſaid to Aaron, Go into the wilderneſs to meet Moſes. And he went and met him in the mount of God, and kiſſed him.

28 And Moſes told Aaron all the words of the LORD, who had ſent him, and all the ſigns which he had commanded him.

29 And Moſes and Aaron went and gathered together all the elders of the children of Iſrael.

30 And Aaron ſpake all the words which the LORD had ſpoken unto Moſes, and did the ſigns in the ſight of the people.

31 And the people believed: when they heard that the LORD had viſited the children of Iſrael, and that he had looked upon their affliction, then they bowed their heads and worſhipped.

of Providence, which has diſpenſed different gifts to different perſons, that they may each be aſſiſting to one another, and knit more firmly the band of ſociety! Thus Polydamas in Homer, Iliad 13, tells Hector, God gives to different men different accompliſhments:

To ſome the pow'rs of bloody war belong,
To ſome ſweet muſic, and the charm of ſong;
To few, and wond'rous few has Jove aſſign'd
A wiſe, extenſive, all-conſid'ring mind. Pope.

16 He ſhall be to thee inſtead of a mouth, and thou ſhalt be to him inſtead of God.] That is, he ſhall be thy organ, or miniſter to publiſh thy orders to the people; and thou ſhalt be his oracle, to deliver to him my mind and will.

17 Thou ſhalt take this rod in thine hand, wherewith thou ſhalt do ſigns.] We muſt not ſuppoſe that there was any virtue in the rod, but only that Moſes bore it as a badge of his office, to give him the more authority in the eyes of the people.

21 I will harden his heart.] That is, I will ſuffer his heart to be hardened, Exod. iii. 19. God ſays, I am ſure the king of Egypt will not let you go; that is, he will harden his own heart. Thus likewiſe in the Lord's Prayer, Lead us not into temptation---God tempts no man: it ſhould be tranſlated, Suffer us not to be led into temptation.

22 Iſrael is my ſon, my firſt-born.] That is, Iſrael is moſt dear to me, highly favoured above all people. God is the common parent of the univerſe, all mankind are his ſons, and ſhare his extenſive bounty. But God, for the general benefit of mankind, ſingled out the Iſraelites to be the depoſitaries of his laws and religion; to preſerve them pure amidſt the idolatrous nations; and as ſuch had conferred upon them many ſingular privileges, ſuch as thoſe which men are wont to beſtow upon their firſt-born, in excluſion of the reſt of their children.

24 The Lord met him.] An angel appeared unto him, ſent by God to execute what is here related.

And ſought to kill him.] He appeared in a threatning poſture, and put him in fear of his life. The reaſon why the Lord's anger was kindled againſt Moſes ſeems to be this; Zipporah had refuſed to let her ſon be circumciſed, and Moſes, in compliance with her humour, had neglected to obey a plain command of God: on this awful appearance, Zipporah, in order to ſave her huſband's life, haſtily goes about the operation herſelf.

25 Took a ſharp ſtone.] A knife made of flint, for ſuch they antiently uſed.

And ſaid, Surely a bloody huſband thou art to me.] The Septuagint renders this paſſage thus: Zipporah having circumciſed the child, fell at Moſes' feet, and ſaid, The blood of the circumciſion is ſtopped; and having ſaid ſo, ſhe went away from him; that is, ſhe and her child returned to Midian, as ſoon as he was out of danger and able to travel.

CHAP. V.

1 Pharaoh chideth Moſes and Aaron. 5 He increaſeth the Iſraelites taſk. 22 Moſes complaineth to God.

AND afterward Moſes and Aaron went in, and told Pharaoh, Thus ſaith the LORD God of Iſrael, Let my people go, that they may hold a feaſt unto me in the wilderneſs.

2 And Pharaoh ſaid, Who is the LORD, that I ſhould obey his voice to let Iſrael go? I know not the LORD, neither will I let Iſrael go.

3 And they ſaid, The God of the Hebrews hath met with us: let us go, we pray thee, three days journey into the deſert, and ſacrifice unto the LORD our God; leſt he fall upon us with peſtilence, or with the ſword.

4 And the king of Egypt ſaid unto them, Wherefore do ye, Moſes and Aaron, let the people from their works? get ye unto your burdens.

5 ¶ And Pharaoh ſaid, Behold, the people of the land now are many, and ye make them reſt from their burdens.

6 And Pharaoh commanded the ſame day the taſk-maſters of the people, and their officers, ſaying,

7 Ye ſhall no more give the people ſtraw to make brick, as heretofore: let them go and gather ſtraw for themſelves.

8 And the tale of the bricks which they did make heretofore, ye ſhall lay upon them; ye ſhall not diminiſh ought thereof: for they be idle; therefore they cry, ſaying, Let us go and ſacrifice to our God.

9 Let there more work be laid upon the men, that they may labour therein: and let them not regard vain words.

10 And the taſk-maſters of the people went out, and their officers, and they ſpake to the people, ſaying, Thus ſaith Pharaoh, I will not give you ſtraw.

11 Go ye, get ye ſtraw where ye can find it: yet not ought of your work ſhall be diminiſhed.

12 So the people were ſcattered abroad throughout all the land of Egypt, to gather ſtubble inſtead of ſtraw.

13 And the taſk-maſters haſted them, ſaying, Fulfil your works, your daily taſks, as when there was ſtraw.

14 And the officers of the children, which Pharaoh's taſk-maſters had ſet over them, were beaten, and demanded, Wherefore have ye not fulfilled your taſk in making brick, both yeſterday and to day, as heretofore?

15 Then the officers of the children of Iſrael came and cried unto Pharaoh, ſaying, Wherefore dealeſt thou thus with thy ſervants?

16 There is no ſtraw given unto thy ſervants, and they ſay to us, Make brick: and behold, thy ſervants are beaten; but the fault is in thine own people.

17 But he ſaid, Ye are idle, ye are idle: therefore ye ſay, Let us go, and do ſacrifice to the LORD.

Notes on the Fifth Chapter.

Ver. 1 And afterwards Moſes and Aaron went in and told Pharaoh.] After they had convinced the elders of Iſrael, that they were commiſſioned by the God of their fathers, they repair to the palace of Pharaoh, to deliver their meſſage to that monarch, taking with them a body of the elders, as they were commanded.

Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael.] It ſhould have been rendered, Thus ſaith Jehovah the God of Iſrael, as appears from Pharaoh's anſwer.

2 Who is the Lord?] In the original it is, who is Jehovah? The king of Egypt intended by thus inſulting Jehovah, to ſhew his piety to his own gods.

3 And they ſaid, the God of the Hebrews.] Finding Pharaoh not diſpoſed to become acquainted with the nature of Jehovah, the ſupreme lord of heaven and earth, they content themſelves with deſcribing him under the character of the God of the Hebrews; the tutelary deity and king of the Hebrew nation, whom they and their anceſtors had, for many generations, worſhipped.

5 Behold the people of the land now are many.] Pharaoh, inſtead of anſwering their petition, charges them with being the ring-leaders of ſedition, and diſturbers of the peace of his kingdom.

6 The taſk-maſters, and their officers.] By officers here we are to underſtand thoſe Iſraelites, who, under the taſk-maſters, were ſet over their brethren, to ſee that they did their taſks, and to anſwer for their neglect.

7 Ye ſhall no more give the people ſtraw.] Either to mix with the clay to make the bricks more ſolid, or to heat the kilns, or perhaps to cover the bricks to prevent their being cracked with the heat of the ſun.

9 Vain words.] Heb. lying words: ſo he calls the meſſage of Moſes and Aaron.

15 Then the officers of the children of Iſrael came unto Pharaoh.] They flattered themſelves that this inhuman oppreſſion proceeded only from the taſk-maſters, and not from the king himſelf; and therefore thought proper to repreſent their caſe to him, and petition for relief.

17 But he ſaid, Ye are idle.] Inſtead of pitying the hard uſage of the Iſraelites, he mocks their complaints; telling them with a ſneer that they were idle, when he muſt know they were ready to ſink under their burdens.

18 Go therefore now and work: for there ſhall no ſtraw be given you, yet ſhall ye deliver the tale of bricks.

19 And the officers of the children of Iſrael did ſee that they were in evil caſe, after it was ſaid, Ye ſhall not miniſh ought from your bricks of your daily task.

20 And they met Moſes and Aaron, who ſtood in the way, as they came forth from Pharaoh:

21 And they ſaid unto them, The LORD look upon you, and judge; becauſe ye have made our ſavour to be abhorred in the eyes of Pharaoh, and in the eyes of his ſervants, to put a ſword in their hands to ſlay us.

22 ¶ And Moſes returned unto the LORD, and ſaid, Lord, wherefore haſt thou ſo evil intreated this people? why is it that thou haſt ſent me?

23 For ſince I came to Pharaoh to ſpeak in thy name, he hath done evil to this people; neither haſt thou delivered thy people at all.

CHAP. VI.

1 God reneweth his promiſe, by his name JEHOVAH. 14 The genealogy of Reuben, 15 of Simeon, 16 of Levi.

THEN the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Now ſhalt thou ſee what I will do to Pharaoh: for with a ſtrong hand ſhall he let them go, and with a ſtrong hand ſhall he drive them out of his land.

2 And God ſpake unto Moſes, and ſaid unto him, I am the LORD:

3 And I appeared unto Abraham, unto Iſaac, and unto Jacob, by the name of God Almighty, but by my name JEHOVAH was I not known to them.

4 And I have alſo eſtabliſhed my covenant with them, to give them the land of Canaan, the land of their pilgrimage, wherein they were ſtrangers.

5 And I have alſo heard the groaning of the children of Iſrael, whom the Egyptians keep in bondage: and I have remembered my covenant.

6 Wherefore ſay unto the children of Iſrael, I am the LORD, and I will bring you out from under the burdens of the Egyptians, and I will rid you out of their bondage: and I will redeem you with a ſtretched-out arm, and with great judgments.

7 And I will take you to me for a people, and I will be to you a God: and ye ſhall know that I am the LORD your God, which bringeth you out from under the burdens of the Egyptians.

8 And I will bring you in unto the land, concerning the which I did ſwear, to give it to Abraham, to Iſaac, and to Jacob: and I will give it you for an heritage: I am the LORD.

9 And Moſes ſpake ſo unto the children of Iſrael: but they hearkened not unto Moſes, for anguiſh of ſpirit, and for cruel bondage.

10 And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

11 Go in, ſpeak unto Pharaoh king of Egypt, that he let the children of Iſrael go out of his land.

12 And Moſes ſpake before the LORD, ſay-

21 And they ſaid, the Lord look upon you, and judge, &c.] May Providence reward you as you deſerve; for you have made us odious, and rendered our condition worſe than before.

To put a ſword in their hands to ſlay us.] This is a proverbial expreſſion, implying, To give them a handle to deſtroy us.

22 Moſes returned unto the Lord.] Le Clerc explains it ſimply, He had recourſe once more to God by prayer.

Notes on the Sixth Chapter.

Ver. 3 By the name of God Almighty.] Heb. El-ſhaddai, God all-powerful; under which deſignation God revealed himſelf to Abraham, to encourage him to rely on that Almighty power, and All-ſufficient goodneſs, implied by the word El-ſhaddai.

But by my name Jehovah was I not known to them.] This part of the verſe, as it now ſtands, contradicts the book of Geneſis from chap. xii. to the end of it, in ſeveral inſtances, particularly chap. xxii. 14. where Abraham called the mountain, on which he was to have ſacrificed his ſon, Jehovah-jired; how therefore could he be ignorant of the name? The moſt natural expoſition is, that which renders the Hebrew word ſhem by character inſtead of name, and then the ſenſe will be this: in my character of El-ſhaddai, or Omnipotent, was I only known to them; that is, they only relied on my word and all-ſufficient power for the fulfilling of my promiſes to them; but now I will be known by the character of Jehovah, or performer of thoſe promiſes. Univerſ. Hiſt. vol. III. p. 371.

6 With a ſtretched-out arm.] A metaphor taken from perſons enraged, who, to ſtrike the blow with more force, lift the arm high, and extend it to its full length.

With great judgments.] By inflicting on them many grievous plagues.

8 I am the Lord.] Heb. I am Jehovah, that is, I am he who performs what I have promiſed.

12 Who am of uncircumciſed lips.] That cannot utter words implying what he had before alledged, namely, that he wanted eloquence.

ing, Behold, the children of Iſrael have not hearkened unto me; how then ſhall Pharaoh hear me, who am of uncircumciſed lips?

13 And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes and unto Aaron, and gave them a charge unto the children of Iſrael, and unto Pharaoh king of Egypt, to bring the children of Iſrael out of the land of Egypt.

14 ¶ Theſe be the heads of their fathers houſes: the ſons of Reuben the firſt-born of Iſrael; Hanoch, and Pallu, Hezron, and Carmi: theſe be the families of Reuben.

15 ¶ And the ſons of Simeon; Jemuel, and Jamin, and Ohad, and Jachin, and Zohar, and Shaul the ſon of a Canaanitiſh woman: theſe are the families of Simeon.

16 ¶ And theſe are the names of the ſons of Levi, according to their generations; Gerſhon, and Kohath, and Merari: and the years of the life of Levi were an hundred and thirty and ſeven years.

17 The ſons of Gerſhon; Libni, and Shimi, according to their families.

18 And the ſons of Kohath; Amram, and Izhar, and Hebron, and Uzziel: and the years of the life of Kohath were an hundred thirty and three years.

19 And the ſons of Merari; Mahali, and Muſhi; theſe are the families of Levi, according to their generations.

20 And Amram took him Jochebed his father's ſiſter to wife; and ſhe bare him Aaron and Moſes: and the years of the life of Amram were an hundred and thirty and ſeven years.

21 And the ſons of Izhar; Korah, and Nepheg, and Zichri.

22 And the ſons of Uzziel; Miſhael, and Elzaphan, and Zithri.

23 And Aaron took him Eliſheba, daughter of Amminadab, ſiſter of Naaſhon, to wife; and ſhe bare him Nadab and Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar.

24 And the ſons of Korah; Aſſir, and Elkanah, and Abiaſaph: theſe are the families of the Korhites.

25 And Eleazar Aaron's ſon took him one of the daughters of Putiel to wife; and ſhe bare him Phinehas: theſe are the heads of the fathers of the Levites, according to their families.

26 Theſe are that Aaron and Moſes, to whom the LORD ſaid, Bring out the children of Iſrael from the land of Egypt, according to their armies.

27 Theſe are they which ſpake to Pharaoh king of Egypt, to bring out the children of Iſrael from Egypt: theſe are that Moſes and Aaron.

28 And it came to paſs on the day when the LORD ſpake unto Moſes in the land of Egypt, 29 That the LORD ſpake unto Moſes ſaying, I am the LORD: ſpeak thou unto Pharaoh king of Egypt all that I ſay unto thee.

30 And Moſes ſaid before the LORD, Behold I am of uncircumciſed lips, and how ſhall Pharaoh hearken unto me?

CHAP. VII.

1 Moſes is encouraged to go to Pharaoh. 10 His rod is turned into a ſerpent. 13 Pharaoh's heart is hardened. 19 The river is turned into blood.

AND the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, See, I have made thee a god to Pharaoh: and Aaron thy brother ſhall be thy prophet.

2 Thou ſhalt ſpeak all that I command thee: and Aaron thy brother ſhall ſpeak unto Pharaoh, that he ſend the children of Iſrael out of his land.

3 And I will harden Pharaoh's heart, and multiply my ſigns and my wonders in the land of Egypt.

20 She bare him Aaron and Moſes.] This ſhews that God exactly fulfilled his promiſe of delivering the Iſraelites out of ſervitude in the fourth generation, Gen. xv. 16. That is, the fourth from their deſcent into Egypt; for Moſes was the ſon of Amram, the ſon of Kohath, the ſon of Levi, the ſon of Jacob.

25 Theſe are the heads of the fathers of the Levites.] He ſays nothing of the other tribes, it being his intention only in this place to derive his own and Aaron's pedigree from Iſrael.

Notes on the Seventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 I have made thee a god to Pharaoh.] Like a god, whoſe oracles ſhall be delivered to Pharaoh by Aaron thy prophet.

3 And multiply my ſigns, &c.] The firſt plagues having no other effect upon Pharaoh but to exhibit his obſtinacy, I will work many more miraculous judgments for his conviction.

5 The

4 But Pharaoh ſhall not hearken unto you, that I may lay my hand upon Egypt, and bring forth mine armies, and my people the children of Iſrael, out of the land of Egypt, by great judgements.

5 And the Egyptians ſhall know, that I am the LORD, when I ſtretch forth mine hand upon Egypt, and bring out the children of Iſrael from among them.

6 And Moſes and Aaron did as the LORD commanded them, ſo did they.

7 And Moſes was fourſcore years old, and Aaron fourſcore and three years old, when they ſpake unto Pharaoh.

8 And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, and unto Aaron ſaying,

9 When Pharaoh ſhall ſpeak unto you, ſaying, Shew a miracle for you: then thou ſhalt ſay unto Aaron, Take thy rod and caſt it before Pharaoh, and it ſhall become a ſerpent.

10 ¶ And Moſes and Aaron went in unto Pharaoh, and they did ſo as the LORD had commanded: and Aaron caſt down his rod before Pharaoh, and before his ſervants, and it became a ſerpent.

11 Then Pharaoh alſo called the wiſe-men, and the ſorcerers: now the magicians of Egypt, they alſo did in like manner with their inchantments:

12 For they caſt down every man his rod, and they became ſerpents: but Aaron's rod ſwallowed up their rods.

13 ¶ And he hardened Pharaoh's heart, that he hearkened not unto them; as the LORD had ſaid.

14 And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Pharaoh's heart is hardened, he refuſeth to let the people go.

15 Get thee unto Pharaoh in the morning; lo, he goeth out unto the water: and thou ſhalt ſtand by the river's brink, againſt he come: and the rod which was turned to a ſerpent ſhalt thou take in thine hand.

16 And thou ſhalt ſay unto him, The LORD God of the Hebrews hath ſent me unto thee, ſaying, Let my people go, that they may ſerve me in the wilderneſs: and behold, hitherto thou wouldeſt not hear.

17 Thus ſaith the LORD, In this thou ſhalt know that I am the LORD: behold, I will ſmite with the rod that is in mine hand upon the waters which are in the river, and they ſhall be turned to blood.

18 And the fiſh that is in the river ſhall die, and the river ſhall ſtink; and the Egyptians ſhall loathe to drink of the water of the river.

19 ¶ And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, Say unto Aaron, Take thy rod, and ſtretch out thine hand upon the waters of Egypt, upon their ſtreams, upon their rivers, and upon their ponds, and upon all their pools of water, that they may become blood: and that there may be blood throughout all the land of Egypt, both in veſſels of wood, and in veſſels of ſtone.

5 The Egyptians ſhall know that I am the Lord.] They ſhall know that I am not the God of Iſrael only, but Jehovah, the ſupreme Governor of the world.

9 Take thy rod.] Hence probably aroſe the cuſtom of ambaſſadors wearing a caduceus, or rod.

12 They caſt down every man his rod, and they became ſerpents.] The beſt commentators are of opinion that theſe ſigns were effected merely by the uſe of natural means, and by the art of man, without any ſupernatural interpoſition: at leaſt, that this was the opinion of Pharaoh and his people, when Moſes wrought his wonders in Egypt, is thought evident from the uſe Pharaoh made of his magicians upon the occaſion: for when Aaron's rod was turned into a ſerpent, he ſent for his magicians to do the ſame; and upon finding they could, he thought it no real miracle, and refuſed to let the people go. He made the ſame concluſion upon their bringing up frogs, and upon the river's being turned into blood; but when the magicians tried, and could not produce lice, then both he and they concluded, that this was the finger of God. Shuckford's Connect.

Aaron's rod ſwallowed up their rods.] A ſufficient demonſtration of the ſuperior power by which Moſes acted; which might have convinced Pharaoh, if his magicians had not made him believe that they would in time find a power ſuperior to Moſes.

13 And he hardened Pharaoh's heart.] The Heb. is, The heart of Pharaoh is or was hardened, and undoubtedly ſhould have been ſo rendered.

15 Lo, he goeth out unto the water.] Some think he was going to pay his morning devotion to the river Nile, which was ſacred among the Egyptians: others, more probably, that he was going to bathe in the river, that he might purify himſelf to offer up his adoration to the riſing ſun.

17 In this thou ſhalt know that I am the Lord.] Jehovah, whom thou pretendeſt not to know, will convince thee, that he is more powerful than all thy gods, by turning into blood the waters of that very river to which thou payeſt ſo great veneration.

18 And the fiſh that are in the river ſhall die, &c.] Here are three grievous effects of this plague, the deſtruction of the fiſh, the ſtench occaſioned by their death, and the want of water to drink.

19 Stretch out thine hand upon the waters.] The meaning is not that Aaron was to ſmite all the waters, ſtreams, &c. but only that water which was at hand, in token of the divine malediction, which was miraculouſly to diffuſe its influence over the reſt.

20 And Moſes and Aaron did ſo, as the LORD commanded: and he lift up the rod and ſmote the waters that were in the river, in the ſight of Pharaoh, and in the ſight of his ſervants; and all the waters that were in the river, were turned to blood.

21 And the fiſh that was in the river died; and the river ſtunk, and the Egyptians could not drink of the water of the river: and there was blood throughout all the land of Egypt.

22 And the magicians of Egypt did ſo with their inchantments: and Pharaoh's heart was hardened, neither did he hearken unto them; as the LORD had ſaid.

23 And Pharaoh turned and went into his houſe, neither did he ſet his heart to this alſo.

24 And all the Egyptians digged round about the river for water to drink: for they could not drink of the water of the river.

25 And ſeven days were fulfilled, after that the LORD had ſmitten the river.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Frogs are ſent. 16 The duſt turned into lice. 20 The ſwarms of flies. 32 Pharaoh is hardened.

AND the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, Go unto Pharaoh, and ſay unto him, Thus ſaith the LORD, Let my people go, that they may ſerve me:

2 And if thou refuſe to let them go, behold, I will ſmite all thy borders with frogs:

3 And the river ſhall bring forth frogs abundantly, which ſhall go up and come into thine houſe, and into thy bed-chamber, and upon thy bed, and into the houſe of thy ſervants, and upon thy people, and into thine ovens, and into thy kneading-troughs:

4 And the frogs ſhall come up both on thee, and upon thy people, and upon all thy ſervants.

5 And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, Say unto Aaron, Stretch forth thine hand with thy rod over the ſtreams, over the rivers, and over the ponds, and cauſe frogs to come up upon the land of Egypt.

6 And Aaron ſtretched out his hand over the waters of Egypt; and the frogs came up, and covered the land of Egypt.

7 And the magicians did ſo with their inchantments, and brought up frogs upon the land of Egypt.

8 Then Pharaoh called for Moſes and Aaron, and ſaid, Intreat the LORD, that he may take away the frogs from me, and from my people; and I will let the people go, that they may do ſacrifice unto the LORD.

9 And Moſes ſaid unto Pharaoh, Glory over me: when ſhall I intreat for thee, and for thy ſervants, and for thy people; to deſtroy the frogs from thee, and thy houſes, that they may remain in the river only?

10 And he ſaid, To-morrow. And he ſaid, Be it according to thy word: that thou mayeſt know, that there is none like unto the LORD our God.

11 And the frogs ſhall depart from thee, and from thy houſes, and from thy ſervants, and from thy people; they ſhall remain in the river only.

22 And the magicians did ſo with their inchantments.] By their effecting the like change in their waters, Pharaoh vainly imagined that his god was as powerful as the God of the Hebrews. The Divine Being permitted theſe deluded men thus far to ſucceed in their oppoſition, in order to render their impious folly the more conſpicuous; ſince, by permitting them to change the waters into blood, and putting it out of their power to reſtore them to their former ſtate, and by permitting them to produce frogs, which they were not able to remove, they only increaſed thoſe plagues upon themſelves and their countrymen. And though the ſorcerers of Egypt were able, in ſome meaſure, to imitate a few of the firſt works of Moſes, yet they were forced quickly to ſubmit, and own the inimitable power of God.

Neither did he hearken unto them.] Notwithſtanding the magicians were utterly unable to reſtore the river to its former ſtate, or to do any thing to relieve their country from this dreadful calamity; yet the king contents himſelf with what his ſorcerers had done, and was at no pains to compare the different effects of the two contending powers before him, in order to his conviction; but, without any remorſe, leaves his whole kingdom under the miſery of this fearful judgment.

Notes on the Eighth Chapter.

Ver. 8 Intreat the Lord, that he may take away the frogs.] He who proudly ſaid, Who is the Lord? is now forced to have recourſe to Moſes and Aaron, to become interceſſors to the Lord for him.

9 And Moſes ſaid unto Pharaoh, Glory over me: when ſhall I intreat for thee?] I not only indulge thee in this requeſt, but even permit thee to chuſe thine own time.

10 And he ſaid, To-morrow.] Doubtleſs Pharaoh was perſuaded, from the imperfect notions he had of the Deity, that it was impoſſible to remove this plague in an inſtant, and therefore deſired Moſes to do it to-morrow; preſuming that was the very ſooneſt he could accompliſh ſo great an event, by whatever power aſſiſted. It is plain he had no notion of the omnipotence of God.

And Aaron stretched out his hand over the Waters of Egypt: and the Frogs came up, and covered the Land of Egypt.

Exodus Chap. VIII. Ve. 6.

5 MA 56

12 And Moſes and Aaron went out from Pharaoh: and Moſes cried unto the LORD, becauſe of the frogs which he had brought againſt Pharaoh.

13 And the LORD did according to the word of Moſes: and the frogs died out of the houſes, out of the villages, and out of the fields.

14 And they gathered them together upon heaps; and the land ſtank.

15 But when Pharaoh ſaw that there was reſpite, he hardened his heart, and hearkened not unto them; as the LORD had ſaid.

16 ¶ And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Say unto Aaron, Stretch out thy rod, and ſmite the duſt of the land, that it may become lice throughout all the land of Egypt.

17 And they did ſo; for Aaron ſtretched out his hand with his rod, and ſmote the duſt of the earth, and it became lice in man and in beaſt: all the duſt of the land became lice throughout all the land of Egypt.

18 And the magicians did ſo with their inchantments to bring forth lice, but they could not: ſo there were lice upon man, and upon beaſt.

19 Then the magicians ſaid unto Pharaoh, This is the finger of God: and Pharaoh's heart was hardened, and he hearkened not unto them; as the LORD had ſaid.

20 ¶ And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Riſe up early in the morning, and ſtand before Pharaoh; lo, he cometh forth to the water; and ſay unto him, Thus ſaith the LORD, Let my people go, that they may ſerve me:

21 Elſe, if thou wilt not let my people go, behold, I will ſend ſwarms of flies upon thee, and upon thy ſervants, and upon thy people, and into thy houſes: and the houſes of the Egyptians ſhall be full of ſwarms of flies, and alſo the ground whereon they are.

22 And I will ſever in that day the land of Goſhen, in which my people dwell, that no ſwarms of flies ſhall be there; to the end thou mayeſt know, that I am the LORD in the midſt of the earth.

23 And I will put a diviſion between my people, and thy people: to-morrow ſhall this ſign be.

24 And the LORD did ſo: and there came a grievous ſwarm of flies into the houſe of Pharaoh, and into his ſervants houſes, and into all the land of Egypt: the land was corrupted by reaſon of the ſwarm of flies.

25 And Pharaoh called for Moſes, and for Aaron, and ſaid, Go ye, ſacrifice to your God in the land.

26 And Moſes ſaid, It is not meet ſo to do; for we ſhall ſacrifice the abomination of the Egyptians to the LORD our God: lo, ſhall we ſacrifice the abomination of the Egyptians before their eyes, and will they not ſtone us?

27 We will go three days journey into the wilderneſs, and ſacrifice to the LORD our God, as he ſhall command us.

28 And Pharaoh ſaid, I will let you go, that ye may ſacrifice to the LORD your God in the wilderneſs; only ye ſhall not go very far away: intreat for me.

29 And Moſes ſaid, Behold, I go out from thee, and I will intreat the LORD, that the ſwarms of flies may depart from Pharaoh, from his ſervants, and from his people, to-morrow: but let not Pharaoh deal deceitfully any more, in not letting the people go to ſacrifice to the LORD.

30 And Moſes went out from Pharaoh, and intreated the LORD.

31 And the LORD did according to the word of Moſes: and he removed the ſwarms of flies,

14 And he gathered them together upon heaps.] God could eaſily have diſſolved them into duſt: but he would have them lie dead before their eyes, to convince them they were real frogs.

19 This is the finger of God.] Heb. The finger of Elohim; that is, of a God: intimating, that they had, till now, conſidered theſe miracles only as the effect of magic; but were now forced to confeſs, that he muſt be aſſiſted by ſome Divinity.

And Pharaoh's heart was hardened.] It may be better rendered, Yet Pharaoh's heart was hardened: he ſtill refuſed to let Iſrael go, notwithſtanding he ſaw his magicians baffled, and heard them declare, that Moſes was aſſiſted by a Divine Power.

21 Swarms of flies.] The Septuagint renders it, the dog-fly, which ſeems moſt conformable to truth; for theſe flies ſtick faſt in the ſkin, lance it with a ſharp proboſcis, and ſuck the blood. And to this the Pſalmiſt ſeems to allude, He ſent flies among them which devoured them, lxxviii. 45.

22 And I will ſever in that day the land of Goſhen, &c.] Here the God of Iſrael has plainly expreſſed his diſtinguiſhing mercy to his people, which muſt be underſtood in all the other plagues. And hence we may learn, that the Almighty will never leave thoſe who ſincerely truſt in him.

26 Shall we ſacrifice the abomination, &c.] Shall we ſacrifice to our God the Egyptian idols, thoſe animals which they account ſacred, and the ſlaying of which they conſider as a crime, or an abomination. So the Chaldee, Syriac, and Vulgate underſtand the words.

Notes

from Pharaoh, from his ſervants, and from his people: there remained not one.

32 ¶ And Pharaoh hardened his heart at this time alſo, neither would he let the people go.

CHAP. IX.

1 The murrain of beaſts. 8 The plague of boils and blains. 22 The plague of hail.

THEN the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Go in unto Pharaoh, and tell him, Thus ſaith the LORD God of the Hebrews, Let my people go, that they may ſerve me:

2 For if thou refuſe to let them go, and wilt hold them ſtill,

3 Behold, the hand of the LORD is upon thy cattle which is in the field, upon the horſes, upon the aſſes, upon the camels, upon the oxen, and upon the ſheep: there ſhall be a very grievous murrain.

4 And the LORD ſhall ſever between the cattle of Iſrael, and the cattle of Egypt: and there ſhall nothing die of all that is the children's of Iſrael.

5 And the LORD appointed a ſet time, ſaying, To-morrow the LORD ſhall do this thing in the land.

6 And the LORD did that thing on the morrow, and all the cattle of Egypt died: but of the cattle of the children of Iſrael died not one.

7 And Pharaoh ſent, and behold, there was not one of the cattle of the Iſraelites dead. And the heart of Pharaoh was hardened, and he did not let the people go.

8 ¶ And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, and unto Aaron, Take to you handfuls of aſhes of the furnace, and let Moſes ſprinkle it toward the heaven in the ſight of Pharaoh:

9 And it ſhall become ſmall duſt in all the land of Egypt, and ſhall be a boil breaking forth with blains, upon man, and upon beaſt, throughout all the land of Egypt.

10 And they took aſhes of the furnace, and ſtood before Pharaoh; and Moſes ſprinkled it up toward heaven: and it became a boil breaking forth with blains, upon man, and upon beaſt.

11 And the magicians could not ſtand before Moſes, becauſe of the boil: for the boil was upon the magicians, and upon all the Egyptians.

12 And the LORD hardened the heart of Pharaoh, and he hearkened not unto them; as the LORD had ſpoken unto Moſes.

13 And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Riſe up early in the morning, and ſtand before Pharaoh, and ſay unto him, Thus ſaith the LORD God of the Hebrews, Let my people go that they may ſerve me.

14 For I will at this time ſend all my plagues upon thine heart, and upon thy ſervants, and upon thy people: that thou mayeſt know, that there is none like me in all the earth.

15 For now I will ſtretch out my hand, that I may ſmite thee and thy people with peſtilence; and thou ſhalt be cut off from the earth.

Notes on the Ninth Chapter.

Ver. 6 All the cattle of Egypt died.] It may be better tranſlatted, All the cattle that died were of Egypt; i. e. belonged to the Egyptians: for it appears from ver. 19. that many of the Egyptian cattle eſcaped the peſtilence. Here we may obſerve, by the cattle being firſt ſmitten, and afterwards the men, the goodneſs of Providence even in puniſhing a wicked nation, that thoſe previous calamities gradually increaſing, may warn mankind to avoid ſtill ſeverer judgments by ſincere repentance---Such is Homer's deſcription of the plague ſent on the Greeks:

> On mules and dogs th' infection firſt began,
> And laſt, the vengeful arrows fix'd in man.
> Pope, Iliad 1.

11 And the magicians could not ſtand before Moſes.] This plague completed the defeat of the magicians; accordingly they are never mentioned again. Probably they were rendered ſo contemptible in the eyes of Pharaoh and his ſervants, that they durſt not make their appearance any more.

14 That thou mayeſt know there is none like me in all the earth.] Three reaſons are aſſigned why God was pleaſed to execute theſe ſevere judgments on Pharaoh and his people. One is expreſſed in theſe words, That thou mayeſt know, &c. to teach thee, by ſad experience, ſince thou art not otherwiſe to be convinced, that my power is ſuperior to all other. Another is added in the next verſe, That my name may be declared throughout all the earth; that is, to give an exemplary and demonſtrative proof to all nations of my divine power and juſtice. A third is added, chap. x. 2. that the Iſraelites and their poſterity might be ſtedfaſtly engaged to worſhip him alone, who had wrought ſuch wonders in their behalf; and therefore we find Moſes and the other prophets, conſtantly reminding the Iſraelites of theſe miracles, in order to eſtabliſh them in their duty.

15 That I may ſmite thee and thy people with peſtilence, &c.] Pharaoh and his people were not deſtroyed by peſtilence, and therefore the beſt commentators read the paſſage in the preter, inſtead of the future tenſe; and then the ſenſe will be, For now I had ſtretched forth mine hand to deſtroy thee and thy people by peſtilence, and thou ſhouldſt have been cut off from the earth: but indeed for this very cauſe have I preſerved thee, to ſhew in thee my power, &c.

16 And in very deed for this cauſe have I raiſed thee up, for to ſhew in thee my power; and that my name may be declared throughout all the earth.

17 As yet exalteſt thou thyſelf againſt my people, that thou wilt not let them go?

18 Behold, to-morrow about this time, I will cauſe it to rain a very grievous hail, ſuch as hath not been in Egypt, ſince the foundation thereof even until now.

19 Send therefore now, and gather thy cattle, and all that thou haſt in the field: for upon every man and beaſt which ſhall be found in the field, and ſhall not be brought home, the hail ſhall come down upon them, and they ſhall die.

20 He that feared the word of the LORD amongſt the ſervants of Pharaoh, made his ſervants and his cattle flee into the houſes:

21 And he that regarded not the word of the LORD, left his ſervants and his cattle in the field.

22 ¶ And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Stretch forth thine hand toward heaven, that there may be hail in all the land of Egypt, upon man, and upon beaſt, and upon every herb of the field, throughout the land of Egypt.

23 And Moſes ſtretched forth his rod toward heaven: and the LORD ſent thunder and hail, and the fire ran along upon the ground; and the LORD rained hail upon the land of Egypt.

24 So there was hail, and fire mingled with the hail, very grievous, ſuch as there was none like it in all the land of Egypt ſince it became a nation.

25 And the hail ſmote throughout all the land of Egypt all that was in the field, both man and beaſt: and the hail ſmote every herb of the field, and brake every tree of the field.

26 Only in the land of Goſhen, where the children of Iſrael were, was there no hail.

27 And Pharaoh ſent, and called for Moſes and Aaron, and ſaid unto them, I have ſinned this time: the LORD is righteous, and I and my people are wicked.

28 Intreat the LORD (for it is enough) that there be no more mighty thunderings and hail; and I will let you go, and ye ſhall ſtay no longer.

29 And Moſes ſaid unto him, As ſoon as I am gone out of the city, I will ſpread abroad my hands unto the LORD: and the thunder ſhall ceaſe, neither ſhall there be any more hail; that thou mayeſt know, how that the earth is the LORD's.

30 But as for thee and thy ſervants, I know that ye will not yet fear the LORD God.

31 And the flax and the barley was ſmitten: for the barley was in the ear, and the flax was bolled.

32 But the wheat and the rye were not ſmitten: for they were not grown up.

33 And Moſes went out of the city from Pharaoh, and ſpread abroad his hands unto the LORD: and the thunders and hail ceaſed, and the rain was not poured upon the earth.

34 And when Pharaoh ſaw that the rain, and the hail, and the thunders were ceaſed, he

16 For this cauſe have I raiſed thee up.] Though thou haſt long ago deſerved to be deſtroyed, yet have I thought fit to ſpare thee for a conſiderable time, to ſhew my wonders in the land of Egypt.

18 Behold, to-morrow.] The time is preciſely marked, that it might not be ſaid to have fallen out by chance. It alſo demonſtrates, that every part of nature is under the command of God; that fire, hail, thunder, and ſtorm, obey his voice.

Grievous hail, &c.] Great hail-ſtones accompanied with a dreadful ſtorm of thunder and lightning.

24 Fire mingled with the hail.] In the original it is, Fire catching itſelf among the hail; that is, one flaſh of lightning taking hold of another, ſo that the flames enfolded, or, as it were, embraced each other. It ſeems to anſwer the deſcription of a fiery whirlwind, which ſcorches up and deſtroys all before it.

25 And the hail ſmote every herb, &c.] This expreſſion muſt not be underſtood in its full extent, but that the plants and trees of Egypt were, in general, ſhattered, and a great many of every kind deſtroyed.

28 That there be no more mighty thunderings.] Heb, it is, voices of God; for ſo thunder is called in ſcripture, becauſe of its awful ſound, and powerful effects.

> The thunder is his voice; and the red flaſh
> His ſpeedy ſword of juſtice. Thomſon's Spring.

29 That the earth is the Lord's.] The heathens were perſuaded that every country had its particular deity, whoſe power did not extend to the territories of his brother gods. In oppoſition to this notion, Moſes gives Pharaoh to underſtand, that Jehovah was not only the God of the Hebrews, but of the whole earth.

31 The flax was bolled.] Grown up in a round ſtem or ſtalk.

32 The wheat and the rye were not ſmitten.] We are to conſider, that the Egyptians ſowed all ſorts of grain at one time, namely, as ſoon as the lands were ready after the retreat of the Nile: and barley being a corn of a quicker growth than either wheat or rye, it would of courſe be forwarder, and therefore more liable to be ſmitten.

ſinned yet more, and hardened his heart, he and his ſervants.

35 And the heart of Pharaoh was hardened, neither would he let the children of Iſrael go; as the LORD had ſpoken by Moſes.

CHAP. X.

12 The plague of locuſts, 21 of darkneſs. 27 Pharaoh's heart is yet hardened.

AND the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Go in unto Pharaoh: for I have hardened his heart, and the heart of his ſervants; that I might ſhew theſe my ſigns before him:

2 And that thou mayeſt tell in the ears of thy ſon, and of thy ſon's ſon, what things I have wrought in Egypt, and my ſigns which I have done amongſt them; that ye may know, how that I am the LORD.

3 And Moſes and Aaron came in unto Pharaoh, and ſaid unto him, Thus ſaith the LORD God of the Hebrews, How long wilt thou refuſe to humble thyſelf before me? let my people go, that they may ſerve me:

4 Elſe, if thou refuſe to let my people go, behold, to-morrow will I bring the locuſts into thy coaſts:

5 And they ſhall cover the face of the earth, that one cannot be able to ſee the earth: and they ſhall eat the reſidue of that which eſcaped, which remaineth unto you from the hail, and ſhall eat every tree which groweth for you out of the field:

6 And they ſhall fill thy houſes, and the houſes of all thy ſervants, and the houſes of all the Egyptians; which neither thy fathers, nor thy fathers fathers have ſeen, ſince the day that they were upon the earth unto this day. And he turned himſelf, and went out from Pharaoh.

7 And Pharaoh's ſervants ſaid unto him, How long ſhall this man be a ſnare unto us? let the men go, that they may ſerve the LORD their God: knoweſt thou not yet, that Egypt is deſtroyed?

8 And Moſes and Aaron were brought again unto Pharaoh: and he ſaid unto them, Go, ſerve the LORD your God: but who are they that ſhall go?

9 And Moſes ſaid, We will go with our young and with our old, with our ſons and with our daughters, with our flocks and with our herds will we go: for we muſt hold a feaſt unto the LORD.

10 And he ſaid unto them, Let the LORD be ſo with you, as I will let you go and your little ones: look to it; for evil is before you.

11 Not ſo: go now ye that are men, and ſerve the LORD; for that ye did deſire. And they were driven out from Pharaoh's preſence.

12 ¶ And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Stretch out thine hand over the land of Egypt for the locuſts, that they may come up upon the land of Egypt, and eat every herb of the land, even all that the hail hath left.

13 And Moſes ſtretched forth his rod over the land of Egypt, and the LORD brought an eaſt-wind upon the land all that day and all that night: and when it was morning, the eaſt-wind brought the locuſts.

Notes on the Tenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Go in unto Pharaoh: for I have hardened his heart.] Though all my judgments have hitherto only tended to harden his heart, yet go and make the ſame demand; for, from his refuſal to obey me, I will take occaſion to work greater wonders, which ſhall leave him without excuſe, and be perpetual monuments of my divine power and providence in behalf of Iſrael, to engage them and their poſterity to a careful obedience towards me.

5 They ſhall cover the face of the earth.] The ſwarms of locuſts, in the eaſtern countries, are almoſt incredible. Thevenot tells us, "That in that part of Scythia which the Coſſacks now inhabit, there are infinite numbers of them, eſpecially in dry "ſeaſons, which the north-eaſt wind brings over from Tartary "like a vaſt cloud, ſometimes fifteen or eighteen miles long, "and about ten or twelve miles broad, ſo that they quite darken "the ſky, and make the brighteſt day obſcure; and that where"ever they light, they devour all the corn in leſs than two "hours time, and frequently make a famine in the country. "Theſe inſects, he adds, live about ſix months; and, when "they are dead, the ſtench of them ſo corrupts and infects the "air, that it very often occaſions dreadful peſtilences." So that one of theſe deſtroying armies of locuſts, being ſent upon Egypt, might well be ſaid to cover the face of the earth.

7 How long ſhall this man be a ſnare unto us?] Be the occaſion of our falling into one calamity after another.

9 Moſes ſaid, We will go with our young, and with our old, &c.] Becauſe they were to hold a feaſt unto the Lord, and in theſe ſolemnities the whole body of the nation, men, women, and children, aſſiſted.

10 Let the Lord be ſo with you, as I will let you go.] This ſeems to be an imprecation, as if he had ſaid, May your God Jehovah aſſiſt you to my ruin, if ever I let you go on theſe terms.

For evil is before you.] More evil and affliction ſhal befall you, unleſs you be content to go on my terms.

14 And the locuſts went up over all the land of Egypt, and reſted in all the coaſts of Egypt: very grievous were they; before them there were no ſuch locuſts as they, neither after them ſhall be ſuch.

15 For they covered the face of the whole earth, ſo that the land was darkened; and they did eat every herb of the land, and all the fruit of the trees which the hail had left: and there remained not any green thing in the trees, or in the herbs of the field, through all the land of Egypt.

16 Then Pharaoh called for Moſes and Aaron in haſte; and he ſaid, I have ſinned againſt the LORD your God, and againſt you.

17 Now therefore forgive, I pray thee, my ſin only this once, and intreat the LORD your God, that he may take away from me this death only.

18 And he went out from Pharaoh, and intreated the LORD.

19 And the LORD turned a mighty ſtrong weſt-wind, which took away the locuſts, and caſt them into the Red-ſea: there remained not one locuſt in all the coaſts of Egypt.

20 But the LORD hardened Pharaoh's heart, ſo that he would not let the children of Iſrael go.

21 ¶ And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Stretch out thine hand toward heaven, that there may be darkneſs over the land of Egypt, even darkneſs which may be felt.

22 And Moſes ſtretched forth his hand toward heaven: and there was a thick darkneſs in all the land of Egypt three days.

23 They ſaw not one another, neither roſe any from his place for three days: but all the children of Iſrael had light in their dwellings.

24 And Pharaoh called unto Moſes, and ſaid, Go ye, ſerve the LORD: only let your flocks and your herds be ſtayed: let your little ones alſo go with you.

25 And Moſes ſaid, Thou muſt give us alſo ſacrifices, and burnt-offerings, that we may ſacrifice unto the LORD our God.

26 Our cattle alſo ſhall go with us: there ſhall not an hoof be left behind: for thereof muſt we take to ſerve the LORD our God: and we know not with what we muſt ſerve the LORD, until we come thither.

27 ¶ But the LORD hardened Pharaoh's heart, and he would not let them go.

28 And Pharaoh ſaid unto him, Get thee from me, take heed to thyſelf, ſee my face no more: for in that day thou ſeeſt my face, thou ſhalt die.

29 And Moſes ſaid, Thou haſt ſpoken well, I will ſee thy face again no more.

CHAP. XI.

1 God's meſſage to the Iſraelites to borrow jewels of their neighbours. 4 The death of the firſt-born threatened.

AND the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Yet will I bring one plague more upon Pharaoh, and upon Egypt; afterwards he will let you go hence: when he ſhall let you go, he ſhall ſurely thruſt you out hence altogether.

2 Speak now in the ears of the people, and let every man borrow of his neighbour, and every woman of her neighbour, jewels of ſilver, and jewels of gold.

16 I have ſinned againſt the Lord.] Rather, I have ſinned againſt Jehovah; for ſo the word Lord ſhould have been rendered.

17 Take away from me this death.] As the locuſts ravaged the fields, killed the trees and plants, and deſtroyed the ſupports of human life, they are juſtly called a death, or deadly plague.

19 And caſt them into the Red ſea.] This ſea is otherwiſe called the Arabian gulph, and lies ſouth-eaſt of Egypt. The Phœnicians called it the ſea of Edom, from its neighbourhood to Idumea; and the Greeks, turning this proper name into an appellative, called it the Red Sea; for Edom, in Hebrew, ſignifies red.

21 Darkneſs which may be felt.] That is, darkneſs attended with ſuch groſs clammy moiſture, as may affect them in the moſt ſenſible manner.

23 They ſaw not one another, neither aroſe any from his ſeat for three days.] This paſſage paints, in the ſtrongeſt colours, the horror and diſmay which this palpable darkneſs caſt upon their minds. We muſt not underſtand the expreſſion in its full extent; it only implies, that none of the Egyptians ventured out of their houſes during three days, and that all buſineſs was entirely at a ſtand.

29 I will ſee thy face again no more.] I will not appear again before thee, without thy expreſs command.

Notes on the Eleventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes.] Or rather, had ſaid unto Moſes; for the fourth verſe of this chapter immediately connects with the end of the preceding, and is a continuation of Moſes' conference with Pharaoh. The three firſt verſes of this chapter ſhould be incloſed in a parentheſis, and the words the Lord had ſaid, made to refer to ſome preceding chapter.

2 Let every man borrow, &c.] See chap. iii. 22.

3 Moreover

3 And the LORD gave the people favour in the ſight of the Egyptians. Moreover, the man Moſes was very great in the land of Egypt, in the ſight of Pharaoh's ſervants, and in the ſight of the people.

4 ¶ And Moſes ſaid, Thus ſaith the LORD, About midnight will I go out into the midſt of Egypt.

5 And all the firſt-born in the land of Egypt ſhall die, from the firſt-born of Pharaoh, that ſitteth upon his throne, even unto the firſt-born of the maid-ſervant, that is behind the mill; and all the firſt-born of beaſts.

6 And there ſhall be a great cry throughout all the land of Egypt, ſuch as there was none like it, nor ſhall be like it any more.

7 But againſt any of the children of Iſrael ſhall not a dog move his tongue, againſt man or beaſt: that ye may know, how that the LORD doth put a difference between the Egyptians and Iſrael.

8 And all theſe thy ſervants ſhall come down unto me, and bow down themſelves unto me, ſaying, Get thee out, and all the people that follow thee; and after that I will go out. And he went out from Pharaoh in a great anger.

9 And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Pharaoh ſhall not hearken unto you; that my wonders may be multiplied in the land of Egypt.

10 And Moſes and Aaron did all theſe wonders, before Pharaoh: and the LORD hardened Pharaoh's heart, ſo that he would not let the children of Iſrael go out of his land.

CHAP. XII.

3 The paſs-over inſtituted. 29 The firſt-born are ſlain. 31 The Iſraelites are driven out of the land.

AND the LORD ſpake unto Moſes and Aaron in the land of Egypt, ſaying,

2 This month ſhall be unto you the beginning of months: it ſhall be the firſt month of the year to you.

3 ¶ Speak ye unto all the congregation of Iſrael, ſaying, In the tenth day of this month they ſhall take to them every man a lamb, according to the houſe of their fathers, a lamb for an houſe.

4 And if the houſhold be too little for the lamb, let him and his neighbour next unto his houſe take it, according to the number of the ſouls; every man, according to his eating, ſhall make your count for the lamb.

5 Your lamb ſhall be without blemiſh, a male of the firſt year: ye ſhall take it out from the ſheep, or from the goats:

6 And ye ſhall keep it up until the four-

3 Moreover the man Moſes was very great.] The Egyptians held him in great eſteem and veneration, as a perſon that had extraordinary power with God.

4 And Moſes ſaid.] That is, he ſaid to Pharaoh: this is a continuation of the tenth chapter.

5 From the firſt-born of Pharaoh, that ſitteth on the throne, to the firſt-born of the maid-ſervant that is behind the mill.] All in general, from the higheſt to the loweſt; for it ſhould be obſerved, that the grinding at the mill was the work of the moſt abject ſlaves. And hence we ſee, with what propriety, the prophet Iſaiah marks the ſad reverſe of fortune which attended Babylon, by repreſenting her tender virgins as ſlaves condemned to drudge at the mill. Come down, and ſit in the duſt: O virgin daughter of Babylon, ſit on the ground: there is no throne, O daughter of the Chaldeans: for thou ſhalt no more be called tender and delicate. Take the milſtones and grind meal, &c. chap. xlvii. 1, 2. This cuſtom is particularly mentioned in Homer's Odyſſ. xx. 107.

7 Shall not a dog move his tongue.] A proverbial expreſſion, implying, that in that memorable night all ſhall be peace and quietneſs among the Iſraelites; it is uſed in the ſame ſenſe in Judith, chap. xi. 19.

8 He went out from Pharaoh in a great anger.] It ſhould be rendered, he went out from Pharaoh who was in a great anger.

Notes on the Twelfth Chapter.

Ver. 1 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes.] Or, had ſpoke: for it appears from ver. 3, and 6, that Moſes had this revelation before the tenth day, on which moſt interpreters think the three days darkneſs began.

2 This month ſhall be unto you the beginning of months.] Before this tranſaction, the Jews began their year about the autumnal equinox; but to commemorate their happy deliverance from Egypt, it was ever after to commence from this month, which they called Abib, an ear of corn, becauſe the corn was then eared. It anſwers nearly to our March.

3 In the tenth day of this month.] This interval of time was allowed them, becauſe otherwiſe it would have been difficult to procure themſelves ſo many lambs and kids in Egypt, eſpecially as they were to depart in haſte: but in future ages, they did not begin their preparation till the thirteenth, or the day before the paſſover.

They ſhall take to them every man a lamb.] The Hebrew word ſignifies a lamb or kid, and ought to have been ſo rendered, as is evident from ver. 5.

5 Your lamb ſhall be without blemiſh, a male of the firſt year.] Heb. perfect, to repreſent that moral purity, that unblemiſhed ſincerity, without which no act of worſhip can be acceptable to the Deity. A male, becauſe the male was accounted more excellent than the female. Of the firſt year, becauſe after that time they were not proper emblems of purity and innocence.

6 In the evening.] Heb. between the two evenings; the firſt of which began after the ſun had paſſed the meridian, and laſted till teenth day of the ſame month: and the whole aſſembly of the congregation of Iſrael ſhall kill it in the evening.

7 And they ſhall take of the blood, and ſtrike it on the two ſide poſts, and on the upper door-poſt of the houſes wherein they ſhall eat it.

8 And they ſhall eat the fleſh in that night; roaſt with fire, and unleavened bread, and with bitter herbs they ſhall eat it.

9 Eat not of it raw, nor ſodden at all with water, but roaſt with fire; his head with his legs, and with the purtenance thereof.

10 And ye ſhall let nothing of it remain until the morning: and that which remaineth of it until the morning, ye ſhall burn with fire.

11 And thus ſhall ye eat it; with your loins girded, your ſhoes on your feet, and your ſtaff in your hand: and ye ſhall eat it in haſte; it is the LORD's paſs-over.

12 For I will paſs through the land of Egypt this night, and will ſmite all the firſt-born in the land of Egypt, both man and beaſt: and againſt all the gods of Egypt I will execute judgement: I am the LORD.

13 And the blood ſhall be to you for a token upon the houſes where ye are: and when I ſee the blood, I will paſs over you, and the plague ſhall not be upon you to deſtroy you, when I ſmite the land of Egypt.

14 And this day ſhall be unto you for a memorial; and ye ſhall keep it a feaſt to the LORD throughout your generations: ye ſhall keep it a feaſt by an ordinance for ever.

15 Seven days ſhall ye eat unleavened bread: even the firſt day ye ſhall put away leaven out of your houſes: for whoſoever eateth leavened bread from the firſt day until the ſeventh day, that ſoul ſhall be cut off from Iſrael.

16 And in the firſt day there ſhall be an holy convocation, and in the ſeventh day there ſhall be an holy convocation to you: no manner of work ſhall be done in them, ſave that which every man muſt eat, that only may be done of you.

17 And ye ſhall obſerve the feaſt of unleavened bread; for in this ſelf-ſame day have I brought your armies out of the land of Egypt: therefore ſhall ye obſerve this day in your generations by an ordinance for ever.

18 In the firſt month, on the fourteenth day of the month at even, ye ſhall eat unleavened bread, until the one and twentieth day of the month at even.

19 Seven days ſhall there be no leaven found in your houſes: for whoſoever eateth that which is leavened, even that ſoul ſhall be cut off from the congregation of Iſrael, whether he be a ſtranger, or born in the land.

20 Ye ſhall eat nothing leavened: in all your habitations ſhall ye eat unleavened bread.

21 Then Moſes called for all the elders of Iſrael, and ſaid unto them, Draw out and take ye a lamb according to your families, and kill the paſs-over.

22 And ye ſhall take a bunch of hyſſop, and dip it in the blood that is in the baſon, and ſtrike the lintel and the two ſide-poſts with the blood that is in the baſon: and none of you ſhall go out at the door of his houſe until the morning.

till ſun-ſet; then began the ſecond and laſted till night, or till the end of the twilight. Between theſe two evenings the paſſover was offered: that is, according to Maimonides, about half an hour after three, when the daily evening ſacrifice was over; then the paſchal ſacrifice began, and continued till ſun-ſet.

7 And ye ſhall take of the blood, and ſtrike it, &c.] They were not to ſtain the threſhold with blood, becauſe it was always conſidered as prophane to tread on the blood.

8 Unleavened bread.] Pure, unmixed, uncorrupted, leaven being a kind of corruption. The uſe of unleavened bread might be enjoined to remind them of ſincerity: though others think it was ordered to commemorate their haſty deliverance, which did not allow them time to leaven it.

And with bitter herbs.] To remind them of their Egyptian bondage, which made their lives bitter to them.

9 Eat not of it raw.] Leſt any of the blood remain in it, but thoroughly roaſted, that ſo it might be wholly eat up.

11 Ye ſhall eat it with your loins girded, your ſhoes on your feet.] You ſhall eat it in a travelling poſture, that you may be ready to ſet out on your journey at a moment's warning.

It is the Lord's paſſover.] A ſacrifice in remembrance of Jehovah's paſſing over, or ſparing the Iſraelites when he ſmote the Egyptians.

12 Againſt all the gods of Egypt I will execute juſtice.] The idol gods, which the Egyptians worſhipped; which ſeems to be alluded to, Iſa. xix. 1. and Jer. xliii. 13.

16 An holy convocation.] A ſolemn feſtival, when the people were aſſembled by the ſound of trumpets, to offer ſacrifices, and perform other duties of religion.

18 At even.] The Jewiſh feaſts begin at even.

19 Whether he be a ſtranger.] That is, a perſon of another nation who had embraced the Jewiſh religion; for no other ſtrangers were admitted to this feaſt.

21 Kill the paſſover.] That is, kill the paſchal lamb.

23 For the LORD will paſs through to ſmite the Egyptians: and when he ſeeth the blood upon the lintel, and on the two ſide-poſts, the LORD will paſs over the door, and will not ſuffer the deſtroyer to come in unto your houſes to ſmite you.

24 And ye ſhall obſerve this thing for an ordinance to thee, and to thy ſons for ever.

25 And it ſhall come to paſs, when ye be come to the land which the LORD will give you, according as he hath promiſed, that ye ſhall keep this ſervice.

26 And it ſhall come to paſs, when your children ſhall ſay unto you, What mean ye by this ſervice?

27 That ye ſhall ſay, It is the ſacrifice of the LORD's paſs-over, who paſſed over the houſes of the children of Iſrael in Egypt, when he ſmote the Egyptians, and delivered our houſes. And the people bowed the head and worſhipped.

28 And the children of Iſrael went away, and did as the LORD had commanded Moſes and Aaron, ſo did they.

29 ¶ And it came to paſs, that at mid-night the LORD ſmote all the firſt-born in the land of Egypt, from the firſt-born of Pharaoh that ſat on his throne, unto the firſt-born of the captive that was in the dungeon; and all the firſt-born of cattle.

30 And Pharaoh roſe up in the night, he and all his ſervants, and all the Egyptians; and there was a great cry in Egypt: for there was not a houſe where there was not one dead.

31 ¶ And he called for Moſes and Aaron by night, and ſaid, Riſe up, and get ye forth from amongſt my people, both ye and the children of Iſrael: and go, ſerve the LORD, as ye have ſaid.

32 Alſo take your flocks, and your herds, as ye have ſaid, and be gone: and bleſs me alſo.

33 And the Egyptians were urgent upon the people, that they might ſend them out of the land in haſte: for they ſaid, We be all dead men.

34 And the people took their dough before it was leavened, their kneading-troughs being bound up in their clothes upon their ſhoulders.

35 And the children of Iſrael did according to the word of Moſes: and they borrowed of the Egyptians jewels of ſilver, and jewels of gold, and raiment.

36 And the LORD gave the people favour in the ſight of the Egyptians, ſo that they lent unto them ſuch things as they required. And they ſpoiled the Egyptians.

37 And the children of Iſrael journeyed from Rameſes to Succoth, about ſix hundred thouſand on foot that were men, beſide children.

38 And a mixed multitude went up alſo with them; and flocks, and herds, even very much cattle.

39 And they baked unleavened cakes of the dough, which they brought forth out of Egypt: for it was not leavened; becauſe they were thruſt out of Egypt, and could not tarry, neither had they prepared for themſelves any victual.

40 Now the ſojourning of the children of Iſrael, who dwelt in Egypt, was four hundred and thirty years.

23 And when he ſeeth the blood.] This whole ſacrifice was a type of our great Redeemer, who, to ſave loſt mankind, took the human nature upon him, and ſhed his precious blood to waſh away the ſins of the world.

29 All the firſt-born of cattle.] That is, the beſt, the prime of their cattle. The Egyptians lived promiſcuouſly with their cattle; ſo that the angel ſmote at the ſame time both them and thoſe animals they conſidered as ſacred.

32 Bleſs me alſo.] That is, pray to Jehovah, that I and my people may be delivered from this terrible peſtilence.

34 And the people took their dough before it was leavened] This paſſage might have been better rendered, And the people took their flour before it was leavened; for the word in the original oftener ſignifies flour than dough; and the former would here have been moſt agreeable to reaſon; for if they had made their flour into dough, they could not want time to leaven it.

Their kneading-troughs.] The word which is here tranſlated kneading-troughs, is in Deut. xxviii. 5, 17. tranſlated ſtore, and would have been more naturally rendered here flour or grain.

37 Rameſes.] This ſeems to have been the chief city of Goſhen, where the children of Iſrael had their general rendezvous.

To Succoth.] Booths, from the tents they erected there for their cattle. There was another place of the ſame name in the land of Canaan, Gen. xxxiii. 17.

About ſix hundred thouſand on foot that were men.] That is, perſons fit to bear arms, twenty years old and upwards. But this was not above one third of the whole number of people that went up out of Egypt. A ſurpriſing increaſe in little more than two hundred years, from ſeventy perſons only.

38 And a mixed mulitude went up with them.] Egyptians who had embraced the religion of the Hebrews.

40 The ſojourning of the children of Iſrael who dwelt in Egypt, &c.]

41 And it came to paſs, at the end of the four hundred and thirty years, even the ſelf-ſame day it came to paſs, that all the hoſts of the LORD went out from the land of Egypt.

42 It is a night to be much obſerved unto the LORD, for bringing them out from the land of Egypt: this is that night of the LORD to be obſerved of all the children of Iſrael in their generations.

43 And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes and Aaron, This is the ordinance of the paſs-over: There ſhall no ſtranger eat thereof.

44 But every man's ſervant that is bought for money, when thou haſt circumciſed him, then ſhall he eat thereof:

45 A foreigner, and an hired ſervant ſhall not eat thereof.

46 In one houſe ſhall it be eaten; thou ſhalt not carry forth ought of the fleſh abroad out of the houſe: neither ſhall ye break a bone thereof.

47 All the congregation of Iſrael ſhall keep it.

48 And when a ſtranger ſhall ſojourn with thee, and will keep the paſs-over to the LORD, let all his males be circumciſed, and then let him come near and keep it; and he ſhall be as one that is born in the land: for no uncircumciſed perſon ſhall eat thereof.

49 One law ſhall be to him that is home-born, and unto the ſtranger that ſojourneth among you.

50 Thus did all the children of Iſrael; as the LORD commanded Moſes and Aaron, ſo did they.

51 And it came to paſs the ſelf-ſame day, that the LORD did bring the children of Iſrael out of the land of Egypt by their armies.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The firſt-born ſanctified to God. 3 The memorial of the paſs-over is commanded. 21 God guideth them by a pillar of a cloud and of fire.

AND the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 2 Sanctify unto me all the firſt-born, whatſoever openeth the womb among the children of Iſrael, both of man and of beaſt: it is mine.

3 ¶ And Moſes ſaid unto the people, Remember this day, in which ye came out from Egypt, out of the houſe of bondage; for by ſtrength of hand the LORD brought you out from this place: there ſhall no leavened bread be eaten.

4 This day came ye out, in the month Abib.

5 And it ſhall be when the LORD ſhall bring thee into the land of the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and the Amorites, and the Hivites, and the Jebuzites, which he ſware unto thy fathers to give thee, a land flowing with milk and honey, that thou ſhalt keep this ſervice in this month.

6 Seven days ſhalt thou eat unleavened bread, and in the ſeventh day ſhall be a feaſt to the LORD.

7 Unleavened bread ſhall be eaten ſeven days: and there ſhall no unleavened bread be ſeen with thee, neither ſhall there be leaven ſeen with thee in all thy quarters.

8 And thou ſhalt ſhew thy ſon in that day, ſaying, This is done becauſe of that which the LORD did unto me, when I came forth out of Egypt.

9 And it ſhall be for a ſign unto thee upon thine hand, and for a memorial between thine eyes: that the LORD's law may be in thy

&c.] The ſenſe of the paſſage is, "That the ſojourning of the "Hebrew nation from the time that Abraham left his native "country, to the deliverance of his poſterity out of Egypt "where they long ſojourned, was juſt 430 years."

41 All the hoſts of the Lord.] They are termed the hoſts of the Lord, becauſe he led them by a pillar of a cloud by day, and a pillar of fire by night, during their whole route through the wilderneſs. And from the word hoſts we learn, that they went out of Egypt in good order, like troops marching to meet the enemy.

46 Neither ſhall ye break a bone thereof.] This type was particularly fulfilled in Chriſt, the great Redeemer of mankind.

48 No uncircumciſed perſon ſhall eat thereof.] Many Iſraelites who had neglected this rite in Egypt, according to Maimonides, were now circumciſed, that they might keep the paſſover.

Notes on the Thirteeth Chapter.

Ver. 2 Sanctify to me the firſt-born.] Let them be accounted ſacred, to put them in mind of the tender mercy of the Almighty in ſparing their firſt-born, when thoſe of the Egyptians were deſtroyed.

Both of man and of beaſt: it is mine.] This was afterwards revoked, the Levites being choſen to officiate in their ſtead.

8 And thou ſhalt ſhew thy ſon in that day.] Moſes commands the Iſraelites to inform their children, when they were ſettled in Canaan, of the true intent of the paſſover, that they might offer thankſgivings to God, who had ſo miraculouſly delivered his people from the ſlaviſh bondage of the Egyptians.

mouth: for with a ſtrong hand hath the LORD brought thee out of Egypt.

10 Thou ſhalt therefore keep this ordinance in his ſeaſon from year to year.

11 And it ſhall be when the LORD ſhall bring thee into the land of the Canaanites, as he ſware unto thee, and to thy fathers, and ſhall give it thee,

12 That thou ſhalt ſet apart unto the LORD all that openeth the matrix: and every firſtling that cometh of a beaſt, which thou haſt, the males ſhall be the LORD's.

13 And every firſtling of an aſs thou ſhalt redeem with a lamb; and if thou wilt not redeem it, then thou ſhalt break his neck: and all the firſt-born of man among thy children ſhalt thou redeem.

14 And it ſhall be when thy ſon aſketh thee in time to come, ſaying, What is this? that thou ſhalt ſay unto him, By ſtrength of hand the LORD brought us out from Egypt, from the houſe of bondage:

15 And it came to paſs when Pharaoh would hardly let us go, that the LORD ſlew all the firſt-born in the land of Egypt, both the firſt-born of man, and the firſt-born of beaſt: therefore I ſacrifice to the LORD all that openeth the matrix, being males; but all the firſt-born of my children I redeem:

16 And it ſhall be for a token upon thine hand, and for frontlets between thine eyes: for by ſtrength of hand the LORD brought us forth out of Egypt:

17 And it came to paſs, when Pharaoh had let the people go, that God led them not through the way of the land of the Philiſtines, although that was near; for God ſaid, Leſt peradventure the people repent when they ſee war, and they return to Egypt:

18 But God led the people about, through the way of the wilderneſs of the Red ſea. And the children of Iſrael went up harneſſed out of the land of Egypt.

19 And Moſes took the bones of Joſeph with him: for he had ſtraitly ſworn the children of Iſrael, ſaying, God will ſurely viſit you; and ye ſhall carry up my bones away hence with you.

20 And they took their journey from Succoth, and encamped in Etham, in the edge of the wilderneſs.

21 ¶ And the LORD went before them by day in a pillar of a cloud, to lead them the way; and by night in a pillar of fire, to give them light; to go by day and night.

22 He took not away the pillar of the cloud by day, nor the pillar of fire by night, from before the people.

CHAP. XIV.

5 Pharaoh purſueth. 10 The Iſraelites murmur. 21 They paſs through the Red-ſea. 23 The Egyptians drowned.

AND the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

13 If thou wilt not redeem it, then thou ſhalt break his neck.] Or, cut off his neck; it was to die one way or other, and not to be employed in common uſe.

17 God led them not through the way of the land of the Philiſtines, though that was near, &c.] The diſtance from Egypt to Canaan, through the land of the Philiſtines, was a journey only of a few days. But the Iſraelites were no ſtrangers to the fierce temper of the Philiſtines, and as the ſlavery they had endured in Egypt muſt have broken their ſpirits, and rendered them unfit for war, therefore God was pleaſed to lead them a very different way through the deſert. It ſhould here be obſerved, that the Almighty does not make uſe of miracles, but when they become abſolutely neceſſary. He could eaſily have placed the Iſraelites in the land he ſware to their fathers, immediately after their departure out of Egypt, and diſcomfited the whole hoſt of the Philiſtines, had they oppoſed their paſſage; but he choſe to govern his people according to the laws and maxims of human wiſdom.

18 God led the people about.] The pillar of fire went before them, and conducted them in the way through the wilderneſs, which was not the direct road to Canaan.

And the children of Iſrael went up harneſſed.] The word which we tranſlate harneſſed is variouſly rendered: ſome render it five in a rank. Others tranſlate it girt about, that is, ready for action.

20 And encamped in Etham, in the edge of the wilderneſs.] Etham lay on the border of the wilderneſs of Shur, next to Egypt.

21 And the Lord went before them.] That is, the Sheehinah, or Divine Preſence.

By day in a pillar of a cloud.] The original word ſignifies more generally ſtrength and ſtability, or a fixed poſture; ſo that in this ſenſe the word pillar will not ſo much denote the form and dimenſions of the cloud, as the ſtationary attendance of it to lead them in the way. It is called a pillar, becauſe it extended from the earth to the clouds, and aſſumed the appearance of a ſtately column. Its principal uſe was to direct the Iſraelites in the way; but it alſo defended them from the piercing rays of the ſun, which, in theſe hot and ſandy countries, are very troubleſome to the traveller.

By night in a pillar of fire.] That they might travel by night as well as by day. Theſe appearances continued till the death of Moſes, when the Iſraelites paſſed over Jordan, and were directed in their march by the ark of the covenant.

Notes

2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, that they turn and encamp before Pi-hahiroth, between Migdol and the ſea, over againſt Baal-zephon: before it ſhall ye encamp by the ſea;

3 For Pharaoh will ſay of the children of Iſrael, They are intangled in the land, the wilderneſs hath ſhut them in.

4 And I will harden Pharaoh's heart, that he ſhall follow after them; and I will be honoured upon Pharaoh, and upon all his hoſt; that the Egyptians may know, that I am the LORD. And they did ſo.

5 ¶ And it was told the king of Egypt, that the people fled: and the heart of Pharaoh and of his ſervants was turned againſt the people, and they ſaid, Why have we done this, that we have let Iſrael go from ſerving us?

6 And he made ready his chariot, and took his people with him:

7 And he took ſix hundred choſen chariots, and all the chariots of Egypt, and captains over every one of them.

8 And the LORD hardened the heart of Pharaoh king of Egypt, and he purſued after the children of Iſrael: and the children of Iſrael went out with an high hand.

9 But the Egytians purſued after them (all the horſes and chariots of Pharaoh, and his horſemen, and his army,) and overtook them encamping by the ſea, beſide Pi-hahiroth before Baal-zephon.

10 ¶ And when Pharaoh drew nigh, the children of Iſrael lift up their eyes, and behold, the Egyptians marched after them; and they were ſore afraid: and the children of Iſrael cried out unto the LORD.

11 And they ſaid unto Moſes, Becauſe there were no graves in Egypt, haſt thou taken us away to die in the wilderneſs? wherefore haſt thou dealt thus with us, to carry us forth out of Egypt?

12 Is not this the word that we did tell thee in Egypt, ſaying, Let us alone, that we may ſerve the Egyptians? for it had been better for us to ſerve the Egyptians, than that we ſhould die in the wilderneſs.

13 And Moſes ſaid unto the people, Fear ye not, ſtand ſtill, and ſee the ſalvation of the LORD, which he will ſhew to you to day: for the Egyptians whom ye have ſeen to day, ye ſhall ſee them again no more for ever.

14 The Lord ſhall fight for you, and ye ſhall hold your peace.

15 And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Wherefore crieſt thou unto me? ſpeak unto the children of Iſrael, that they go forward.

16 But lift thou up thy rod, and ſtretch out thine hand over the ſea, and divide it; and the children of Iſrael ſhall go on dry ground through the midſt of the ſea.

17 And I, behold, I will harden the hearts of the Egyptians, and they ſhall follow them: and I will get me honour upon Pharaoh, and upon all his hoſt, upon his chariots, and upon his horſemen.

Notes on the Fourteenth Chapter.

Ver. 2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, that they turn.] Their intention at firſt was to have entered the wilderneſs from Etham, but they are now directed to turn to the right, and keep along the weſt-ſide of the Red Sea.

Before Pi-hahiroth.] This ſeems to have been the name of a narrow paſſage, between the mountains on the weſt-ſide of the Red Sea, the word Pi, in the Hebrew, ſignifying a mouth: it lay about ſixteen miles from Etham.

Between Migdol and the ſea.] The word Migdol ſignifies a caſtle, and was probably a fortreſs raiſed on one of the mountains of Pi-hahiroth. This place was ſituated on the weſtern ſhore of the Red Sea.

3 Pharaoh will ſay of the children of Iſrael, they are intangled in the land.] He will be perſuaded that you are hemmed in by rocks on one ſide, and by the ſea on the other.

The wilderneſs hath ſhut them in.] By the word wilderneſs muſt be underſtood wild rugged mountains; for the children of Iſrael were now near the ſhore of the Red Sea, among mountains almoſt impaſſable, eſpecially to a numerous army.

4 And I will harden Pharaoh's heart.] The ſituation of the Iſraelites, now incloſed between impaſſable rocks and mountains on one ſide, and the ſea on the other, will render Pharaoh ſo hardy and deſperate as to attempt to follow, and, by force, bring them back to his Egyptian bondage.

8 And he purſued after the children of Iſrael: and the children of Iſrael went out with an high hand.] This paſſage might be rendered more intelligibly thus: And he purſued after the children of Iſrael, even the children of Iſrael, who went out with an high hand; that is, who were going away in ſpite of him.

9 All the horſes and chariots of Pharaoh, and his horſemen.] The army of the Egyptians conſiſted ſolely of chariots and horſemen; for they were in haſte to overtake them.

15 Wherefore crieſt thou unto me.] This paſſage contains an excellent moral leſſon, namely, that it is not by inactive invocations of the Deity, that we are to expect relief from heaven in our exigencies; but by joining with prayer to God our moſt active and prudent endeavours: to neglect to uſe the natural means which are in our power, and truſt entirely to vows and prayers, is only to tempt Providence, and increaſe the evil.

17 I will harden the hearts of the Egyptians, and they ſhall follow them.] Of all the infatuations that ever poſſeſſed the Egyptians,

18 And the Egyptians ſhall know, that I am the LORD, when I have gotten me honour upon Pharaoh, upon his chariots, and upon his horſemen.

19 And the angel of God, which went before the camp of Iſrael, removed and went behind them: and the pillar of the cloud went from before their face, and ſtood behind them:

20 And it came between the camp of the Egyptians, and the camp of Iſrael: and it was a cloud and darkneſs to them, but it gave light by night to theſe: ſo that the one came not near the other all the night.

21 ¶ And Moſes ſtretched out his hand over the ſea; and the LORD cauſed the ſea to go back by a ſtrong eaſt-wind all that night, and made the ſea dry-land, and the waters were divided.

22 And the children of Iſrael went into the midſt of the ſea upon the dry-ground: and the waters were a wall unto them on their right-hand, and on their left.

23 ¶ And the Egyptians purſued, and went in after them to the midſt of the ſea, even all Pharaoh's horſes, his chariots, and his horſemen.

24 And it came to paſs, that in the morning watch the LORD looked unto the hoſt of the Egyptians through the pillar of fire and of the cloud, and troubled the hoſt of the Egyptians,

25 And took off their chariot-wheels, that they drave them heavily: ſo that the Egyptians ſaid, Let us flee from the face of Iſrael; for the Lord fighteth for them againſt the Egyptians.

26 And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Stretch out thine hand over the ſea, that the waters may come again upon the Egyptians, upon their chariots, and upon their horſemen.

27 And Moſes ſtretched forth his hand over the ſea; and the ſea returned to his ſtrength when the morning appeared: and the Egyptians fled againſt it: and the LORD overthrew the Egyptians in the midſt of the ſea.

28 And the waters returned and covered the chariots, and the horſemen, and all the hoſt of Pharaoh that came into the ſea after them: there remained not ſo much as one of them.

29 But the children of Iſrael walked upon dry-land in the midſt of the ſea: and the waters were a wall unto them on their right-hand, and on their left.

30 Thus the LORD ſaved Iſrael that day out of the hand of the Egyptians: and Iſrael ſaw the Egyptians dead upon the ſea-ſhore.

31 And Iſrael ſaw that great work which the LORD did upon the Egyptians: and the people feared the LORD, and believed the LORD, and his ſervant Moſes.

this was the ſtrongeſt, that they ſhould venture to purſue the Iſraelites, when they ſaw, or might have ſeen, the ſea opening her boſom to give them a paſſage; an evident proof that they were under the protection of the God of nature, whoſe voice that unruly element was thus miraculouſly made to obey.

I will get me honour.] My power and my juſtice ſhall be magnified and rendered more conſpicuous in the eyes of the world, by means of their miraculous deſtruction.

21 And the Lord cauſed the ſea to go back.] Some writers have endeavoured to explain this in a natural way; but the ſacred hiſtory plainly repreſents it as miraculous, the pillar of the cloud conducting them, the ſea beginning to retire upon Moſes' lifting up his rod, and ſtanding as an heap on both ſides, while the Iſraelites paſſed over dry land. The pſalmiſt gives us a moſt beautiful deſcription of this miracle, by repreſenting the waters ſtruck with amazement at the ſight of God, and ſtarting back in awe of his majeſty: The waters ſaw thee, O God, the waters ſaw thee: they were afraid; the depths alſo were troubled, Pſalm lxxvii. 16.

24 The Lord looked upon the hoſt of the Egyptians.] He looked upon them in anger: he viſited them with the marks of his diſpleaſure, by confounding and baffling their meaſures.

Through the pillar of fire, and of the cloud.] The cloudy part of the pillar had been towards the Egyptians; but it ſeems probable to imagine, that the other ſide was now turned towards them, and confounded them with its amazing brightneſs.

And troubled the hoſt of the Egyptians.] This was done either by the glorious ſplendor iſſuing from the pillar of the cloud flaſhing in their faces; or, as Joſephus explains it, by a dreadful tempeſt, with thunder and hail-ſtones ſhot from the cloud, which put them into the greateſt diſorder: to this tranſaction Dr. Hammond refers, Pſalm lxxvii. 17. The clouds poured out water; the ſkies ſent out a ſound: the voice of thy thunder was in the heaven: the lightnings lightened the world; the earth trembled and ſhook.

25 And took off their chariot-wheels.] Some of their wheels were broken by lightning and tempeſt.

27 The ſea returned to its ſtrength.] This enormous maſs of waters, which had been ſuſpended by the power of God, had now full ſcope given to its impetuous rage.

29 But the children of Iſrael walked on dry land in the midſt of the ſea.] This ſhould be rendered, But the children of Iſrael had walked, &c. for they had entirely paſſed through the ſea when Pharaoh and his hoſt were drowned.

31 And the people feared the Lord, &c.] This great miracle for ſome time filled their minds with awful ideas of God; but theſe were immediately defaced by the firſt preſſure of a difficulty; and this temporary fit of religion turned into infidelity towards God, and impatient murmurings againſt their leader.

CHAP. XV.

1 Moſes' ſong. 22 The people want water. 23 The bitter waters at Marah, 25 are ſweetened. 27 They come to Elim.

THEN ſang Moſes and the children of Iſrael this ſong unto the LORD, and ſpake, ſaying, I will ſing unto the LORD: for he hath triumphed gloriouſly; the horſe and his rider hath he thrown into the ſea.

2 The LORD is my ſtrength and ſong, and he is become my ſalvation: he is my God, and I will prepare him an habitation; my father's God, and I will exalt him.

3 The LORD is a man of war: the LORD is his name.

4 Pharaoh's chariots and his hoſt hath he caſt into the ſea: his choſen captains alſo are drowned in the Red-ſea.

5 The depths have covered them: they ſank into the bottom as a ſtone.

6 Thy right-hand, O LORD, is become glorious in power: thy right-hand, O LORD, hath daſhed in pieces the enemy.

7 And in the greatneſs of thine excellency thou haſt overthrown them that roſe up againſt thee: thou ſenteſt forth thy wrath, which conſumed them as ſtubble.

8 And with the blaſt of thy noſtrils the waters were gathered together; the floods ſtood upright as an heap, and the depths were congealed in the heart of the ſea.

9 The enemy ſaid, I will purſue, I will overtake, I will divide the ſpoil: my luſt ſhall be ſatisfied upon them; I will draw my ſword, my hand ſhall deſtroy them.

10 Thou didſt blow with thy wind, the ſea covered them: they ſank as lead in the mighty waters.

11 Who is like unto thee, O LORD, amongſt the gods! Who is like thee, glorious in holineſs, fearful in praiſes, doing wonders!

12 Thou ſtretcheſt out thy right-hand, the earth ſwallowed them.

13 Thou in thy mercy haſt led forth the people which thou haſt redeemed: thou haſt guided them in thy ſtrength unto thy holy habitation.

14 The people ſhall hear, and be afraid: ſorrow ſhall take hold of the inhabitants of Paleſtina.

15 Then the dukes of Edom ſhall be amazed, the mighty men of Moab, trembling ſhall take hold upon them: all the inhabitants of Canaan ſhall melt away.

16 Fear and dread ſhall fall upon them: by the greatneſs of thine arm they ſhall be as ſtill as a ſtone: till thy people paſs over, O LORD, till the people paſs over, which thou haſt purchaſed.

Notes on the Fifteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Then ſang Moſes, &c.] This ſong is the moſt antient piece of poetry in the world; but in what kind of meaſure it is compoſed, is not eaſy to determine: nor is this of any great conſequence, ſince every competent judge muſt own, that it contains ſomething much more eſſential to poetry, elevation of ſentiment, and loftineſs of expreſſion; and is an inſtance of the true uſe to which poetry ought to be applied, namely, to ſing the praiſe of God, and his glorious works.

2 The Lord is my ſtrength and ſong, and he is become my ſalvation.] The Lord is my powerful protector, the object of my praiſe, the author of my ſafety, and glorious deliverance.

He is my God, and I will prepare him an habitation, &c.] This might be better rendered, He is my God, and I will honour him; my father's God, and I will exalt him. For the original word has two ſenſes; to build one a comely dwelling, and to honour, the latter of which is preferable here, as it anſwers to the other member of the ſentence, My father's God, and I will exalt him.

3 The Lord is a man of war.] This paſſage is very unhappily rendered: the Arabic has it, the Lord is mighty in war, which is much more elegant than our tranſlation.

6 Thy right hand, O Lord, is become glorious, &c.] This, O God, was the work of thy divine power, which is magnified in the overthrow of ſuch adverſaries.

7 Thy wrath, which conſumed them as ſtubble.] This ſhould have been rendered, Thy fiery indignation conſumed them as ſtubble.

8 With the blaſt of thy noſtrils.] A poetical expreſſion for the wind, which blew vehemently by order of the Almighty. It ſtrongly marks the power of God, intimating, that, merely by breathing on the ſea, he had made that unruly element to fly back. The royal pſalmiſt uſes nearly the ſame expreſſion, when he tells us, that all the hoſts of heaven were made by the breath of his mouth, Pſalm xxiii. 6.

9 The enemy ſaid, I will purſue, &c.] How did the enemy ſwell with revenge, and feaſt upon the hope of ſatiating their malice and fury upon us, when God, by one blaſt of his diſpleaſure, put a period at once to their lives and expectations!

11 Who is like unto thee, &c.] O powerful Jehovah! what are all the imaginary deities of the heathen world, when compared to thy tranſcendent and infinite perfections?

12 The earth ſwallowed them.] It received them into its capacious boſom, wherein the ocean is contained.

13 Thou haſt guided them in thy ſtrength unto thy holy habitation.] The Almighty is here conſidered as a ſhepherd, leading his people in peaceful ſecurity, like a flock, to their promiſed reſt in the land of Canaan.

14 The people ſhall hear, &c.] The fame of theſe wonders ſhall go before us, ſtriking terror into all the people whoſe countries we are to poſſeſs, and into ſuch as ſhall attempt to obſtruct our paſſage thither.

17 Thou ſhalt bring them in and plant them in the mountain of thine inheritance, in the place, O LORD, which thou haſt made for thee to dwell in; in the ſanctuary, O LORD, which thy hands have eſtabliſhed.

18 The LORD ſhall reign for ever and ever.

19 For the horſe of Pharaoh went in with his chariots, and with his horſemen into the ſea, and the LORD brought again the waters of the ſea upon them: but the children of Iſrael went on dry-land in the midſt of the ſea.

20 And Miriam the propheteſs the ſiſter of Aaron, took a timbrel in her hand; and all the women went out after her with timbrels and with dances.

21 And Miriam anſwered them, Sing ye to the Lord; for he hath triumphed gloriouſly; the horſe and his rider hath he thrown into the ſea.

22 ¶ So Moſes brought Iſrael from the Red-ſea, and they went out into the wilderneſs of Shur: and they went three days in the wilderneſs, and found no water.

23 ¶ And when they came to Marah, they could not drink of the waters of Marah; for they were bitter: therefore the name of it was called Marah.

24 And the people murmured againſt Moſes, ſaying, What ſhall we drink?

25 ¶ And he cried unto the LORD; and the Lord ſhewed him a tree, which when he had caſt into the waters, the waters were made ſweet: there he made for them a ſtatute and an ordinance, and there he proved them,

26 And ſaid, If thou wilt diligently hearken to the voice of the LORD thy God, and wilt do that which is right in his ſight, and will give ear to his commandments, and keep all his ſtatutes; I will put none of theſe diſeaſes upon thee, which I have brought upon the Egyptians: for I am the LORD that healeth thee.

27 ¶ And they came to Elim, where were twelve wells of water, and threeſcore and ten palm-trees: and they encamped there by the waters.

CHAP. XVI.

2 The Iſraelites murmur for want of bread. 11 Quails are ſent, 14 and manna.

AND they took their journey from Elim, and all the congregation of the children of Iſrael came unto the wilderneſs of Sin, which is between Elim and Sinai, on the fifteenth day of the ſecond month after their departing out of the land of Egypt.

2 ¶ And the whole congregation of the children of Iſrael murmured againſt Moſes and Aaron in the wilderneſs:

17 The mountain of thine inheritance.] This ſeems to refer to the mountains which ſtood within the walls of Jeruſalem, on one of which the temple was built. He brought them to the border of his ſanctuary: even to the mountain which his right hand had purchaſed, Pſalm lxxviii. 54.

20 Took a timbrel in her hand.] It was a cuſtom, from the earlieſt ages, to uſe muſical inſtruments in the ſervice of their Maker, eſpecially in celebrating the divine praiſes, which is the moſt ſpirited part of worſhip, and indeed the moſt raviſhing and exalted employment of a rational being.

21 And Miriam anſwered them.] The meaning ſeems to be, that after every verſe ſung by Moſes and the men, Miriam and the women interpoſed, and repeated this verſe, Sing to the Lord, for he hath triumphed gloriouſly, &c. This way of ſinging alternately was uſed in after-times, as appears from Ezra, iii. 11. and Pſalm cxxxvi. and is repreſented as practiſed by the angels themſelves, in their worſhip of the Divine Majeſty, Iſaiah, vi. 3. And one cried unto another, and ſaid, holy! holy! holy! is the Lord of hoſts! The whole earth is full of his glory. And ſurely, nothing can be ſo truly becoming a dependent ſtate, as to pay our homage of thankſgiving to the Fountain of Perfection, and magnify the Supreme Governor of the univerſe.

23 They came to Marah.] The word ſignifies bitterneſs, a name which was given it afterwards from the badneſs of the waters.

24 And the people murmured.] We have here a ſpecimen of the unbelief of this people; though they had ſo lately ſeen ſuch affecting demonſtrations of the extraordinary care of Providence towards them.

25 The Lord ſhewed him a tree, &c.] There have been various conjectures with regard to the nature of this tree: but the reſearch is needleſs, ſince, whatever tree it was, the effect muſt have been miraculous.

26 If thou wilt diligently hearken to the voice of the Lord thy God, &c.] All now required of them was, to do juſtice, love mercy, and walk humbly with their God. They were not yet loaded with that yoke of ceremonies which God, becauſe of the hardneſs of their hearts, thought proper afterwards to lay upon them.

That healeth thee.] Who preſerveth thee in health.

27 And they came to Elim.] This place is ſituated on the northern borders of the deſert of Sin. Dr. Shaw tells us, that there are now only nine wells remaining, the other three being filled up with drifts of ſand, which are common in Arabia: but that this loſs is amply ſupplied by the great increaſe of the palm-trees, the ſeventy having propagated themſelves into more than two thouſand.

Notes on the Sixteenth Chapter.

Ver. 2 And the whole congregation of the children of Iſrael murmured.] This murmuring ſeems to have been much more general than

3 And the children of Iſrael ſaid unto them, Would to God we had died by the hand of the LORD in the land of Egypt, when we ſat by the fleſh-pots, and when we did eat bread to the full: for ye have brought us forth into this wilderneſs, to kill this whole aſſembly with hunger.

4 Then ſaid the LORD unto Moſes, Behold, I will rain bread from heaven for you; and the people ſhall go out, and gather a certain rate every day, that I may prove them, whether they will walk in my law, or no.

5 And it ſhall come to paſs, that on the ſixth day, they ſhall prepare that which they bring in; and it ſhall be twice as much as they gather daily.

6 And Moſes and Aaron ſaid unto all the children of Iſrael, At even, then ye ſhall know that the LORD hath brought you out from the land of Egypt:

7 And in the morning, then ye ſhall ſee the glory of the LORD; for that he heareth your murmurings againſt the LORD: and what are we, that ye murmur againſt us?

8 And Moſes ſaid, This ſhall be, when the Lord ſhall give you in the evening fleſh to eat, and in the morning bread to the full; for that the LORD heareth your murmurings which ye murmur againſt him: and what are we? your murmurings are not againſt us, but againſt the LORD.

9 And Moſes ſpake unto Aaron, Say unto all the congregation of the children of Iſrael, Come near before the LORD: for he hath heard your murmurings.

10 And it came to paſs as Aaron ſpake unto the whole congregation of the children of Iſrael, that they looked toward the wilderneſs, and behold, the glory of the LORD appeared in the cloud.

11 ¶ And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

12 I have heard the murmurings of the children of Iſrael; ſpeak unto them, ſaying, At even ye ſhall eat fleſh, and in the morning ye ſhall be filled with bread: and ye ſhall know that I am the LORD your God.

13 And it came to paſs, that at even the quails came up, and covered the camp: and in the morning the dew lay round about the hoſt.

14 ¶ And when the dew that lay was gone up, behold, upon the face of the wilderneſs, there lay a ſmall round thing, as ſmall as the hoar-froſt on the ground.

15 And when the children of Iſrael ſaw it, they ſaid one to another, It is manna: for they wiſt not what it was. And Moſes ſaid unto them, This is the bread which the LORD hath given you to eat.

16 This is the thing which the LORD hath commanded, Gather of it every man according to his eating: an omer for every man, according to the number of your perſons; take ye every man for them which are in his tents.

17 And the children of Iſrael did ſo, and gathered ſome more, ſome leſs.

18 And when they did mete it with an omer, he that gathered much, had nothing over, and he that gathered little, had no lack: they gathered every man according to his eating.

19 And Moſes ſaid, Let no man leave of it till the morning.

20 Notwithſtanding they hearkened not unto Moſes: but ſome of them left of it until than that mentioned in the preceding chapter: for there it is only ſaid the people murmured; but here, the whole congregation.

3 Would to God we had died, &c.] Happy would it have been for us, had we periſhed with the firſt-born of Egypt. Is this thy gratitude, O Iſrael, to thy God for all his benefits! O Judah, thy goodneſs is like the morning cloud, and as the early dew it goeth away! Hoſ. vi. 4. Surely they might, without any high degree of faith, have truſted in God, by whoſe command they had undertaken that dangerous expedition, that he would not ſuffer them to die in it by hunger or thirſt.

4 The people ſhall gather a certain rate every day.] It came down in daily ſhowers, that they might be kept in a perpetual and thankful dependence on Providence.

That I may prove them.] To give them an opportunity of ſhewing their temper, whether they will be obedient to my commands or not.

9 Come near before the Lord.] Aſſemble together before the cloud wherein Jehovah's glorious preſence was manifeſted.

10 And behold, the glory of the Lord.] They were ſuddenly ſtruck with an unwonted brightneſs from the pillar of the cloud.

13 Quails.] Ludolphus thinks it ſhould be tranſlated locuſts, which he apprehends anſwers beſt to the circumſtances of the narration both here, and Numb. xi. 31.

15 It is manna.] They took it for common manna, from its reſembling it; though it was, in reality, a very different thing: the common manna is hardened by the heat of the ſun, whereas this melted and flowed away in ſtreams.

16 An omer for every man.] This meaſure contained about three quarts Engliſh, wine meaſure.

the morning, and it bred worms and ſtank: and Moſes was wroth with them.

21 And they gathered it every morning, every man according to his eating: and when the ſun waxed hot, it melted.

22 And it came to paſs that on the ſixth day they gathered twice as much bread, two omers for one man: and all the rulers of the congregation came and told Moſes,

23 And he ſaid unto them, This is that which the LORD hath ſaid, To-morrow is the reſt of the holy ſabbath unto the LORD: bake that which ye will bake, to-day, and ſeethe that ye will ſeethe; and that which remaineth over, lay up for you to be kept until the morning.

24 And they laid it up till the morning, as Moſes bade: and it did not ſtink, neither was there any worm therein.

25 And Moſes ſaid, Eat that to day; for to day is a ſabbath unto the LORD: to day ye ſhall not find it in the field.

26 Six days ſhall ye gather it, but on the ſeventh day, which is the ſabbath, in it there ſhall be none.

27 And it came to paſs, that there went out ſome of the people on the ſeventh day for to gather, and they found none.

28 And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, How long refuſe ye to keep my commandments and my laws?

29 See, for that the LORD hath given you the ſabbath, therefore he giveth you on the ſixth day the bread of two days: abide ye every man in his place, let no man go out of his place on the ſeventh day.

30 So the people reſted on the ſeventh day.

31 And the houſe of Iſrael called the name thereof Manna: and it was like coriander-ſeed, white; and the taſte of it was like wafers made with honey.

32 And Moſes ſaid, This is the thing which the LORD commandeth, Fill an omer of it to be kept for your generations; that they may ſee the bread wherewith I have fed you in the wilderneſs, when I brought you forth from the land of Egypt.

33 And Moſes ſaid unto Aaron, Take a pot, and put an omer full of manna therein, and lay it up before the LORD, to be kept for your generations.

34 As the LORD commanded Moſes, ſo Aaron laid it up before the Teſtimony, to be kept.

35 And the children of Iſrael did eat manna forty years, until they came to a land inhabited; they did eat manna until they came unto the borders of the land of Canaan.

36 Now an omer is the tenth part of an ephah.

CHAP. XVII.

1 The people murmur for water at Rephidim. 5 Moſes ſent to the rock in Horeb. 13 Amalek is overcome.

AND all the congregation of the children of Iſrael journeyed from the wilderneſs of Sin, after their journeys, according to the commandment of the LORD, and pitched in Rephidim: and there was no water for the people to drink.

2 Wherefore the people did chide with Moſes and ſaid, Give us water that we may drink. And Moſes ſaid unto them, Why chide ye with me? wherefore do ye tempt the LORD?

3 And the people thirſted there for water; and the people murmured againſt Moſes, and ſaid, Wherefore is this that thou haſt brought us up out of Egypt, to kill us and our children and our cattle with thirſt?

4 And Moſes cried unto the LORD, ſaying,

23 To-morrow is the reſt.] It ſeems reaſonable to conclude, from hence, that reſt on the ſabbath was now firſt appointed: that however religiouſly they might have obſerved a day in ſeven before, in memory of the ſix days creation, yet they did not ceaſe from all labour till now; for otherwiſe the rulers of the people could have no need to be informed of it.

35 Until they came to a land inhabited.] To Canaan, called a land inhabited, in oppoſition to the wilderneſs, which was either very thinly, or not at all inhabited.

Notes on the Seventeenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 And pitched in Rephidim.] A dry and ſandy part of the deſert, within a march or two of Sinai.

2 Wherefore do ye tempt the Lord.] Can you be ſo baſe as to diſtruſt the power, the goodneſs, the faithfulneſs of God, who hath ſo often and ſo miraculouſly provided for you?

3 And the people thirſted there for water.] The water they had brought from Elim was now ſpent, and they chid Moſes for bringing them into ſuch an inconvenient ſtation.

And the Lord said unto Moses. — Behold, I will stand before thee upon the Rock in Horeb, & thou shalt smite the Rock, & there shall come Water out of it, that the people may drink. Exod. XVII. 5. 6.

5 MA 56

What ſhall I do unto this people? they be almoſt ready to ſtone me.

5 ¶ And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Go on before the people, and take with thee of the elders of Iſrael: and thy rod, wherewith thou ſmoteſt the river, take in thine hand, and go.

6 Behold, I will ſtand before thee there upon the rock in Horeb; and thou ſhalt ſmite the rock, and there ſhall come water out of it, that the people may drink. And Moſes did ſo in the ſight of the elders of Iſrael.

7 And he called the name of the place Maſſah, and Meribah, becauſe of the chiding of the children of Iſrael, and becauſe they tempted the LORD, ſaying, Is the LORD among us, or not?

8 Then came Amalek, and fought with Iſrael in Rephidim.

9 And Moſes ſaid unto Joſhua, Chooſe us out men, and go out, fight with Amalek: tomorrow I will ſtand on the top of the hill, with the rod of God in mine hand.

10 So Joſhua did as Moſes had ſaid to him, and fought with Amalek. And Moſes, Aaron, and Hur went up to the top of the hill.

11 And it came to paſs when Moſes held up his hand, that Iſrael prevailed: and when he let down his hand, Amalek prevailed.

12 But Moſes' hands were heavy; and they took a ſtone and put it under him, and he ſat thereon: and Aaron and Hur ſtayed up his hands, the one on the one ſide, and the other on the other ſide; and his hands were ſteady until the going down of the ſun.

13 ¶ And Joſhua diſcomfited Amalek and his people with the edge of the ſword.

14 And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Write this for a memorial in a book, and rehearſe it in the ears of Joſhua: for I will utterly put out the remembrance of Amalek from under heaven.

15 And Moſes built an altar, and called the name of it JEHOVAH-niſſi:

16 For he ſaid, Becauſe the LORD hath ſworn, that the LORD will have war with Amalek from generation to generation.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Jethro bringeth to Moſes his wife and two ſons. 7 Moſes entertaineth him, 13 and accepteth his counſel.

WHEN Jethro, the prieſt of Midian, Moſes' father-in-law, heard of all that God had done for Moſes, and for Iſrael his people, and that the LORD had brought Iſrael out of Egypt;

5 Take with thee of the elders of Iſrael.] That they may be witneſſes that thou doſt really bring water out of the rock.

6 I will ſtand before thee there upon the rock.] That is, the glory of the Lord in the cloud ſhall appear in this place, to ſtrengthen thy faith, and convince the people of Iſrael that this water is divinely given them.

And Moſes did ſo.] That is, he ſmote the rock, and brought water out in ſuch plenty, that it ran down like rivers, Pſ. lxxviii. 15, 16. It became a continual fountain or ſtream of water, which rendered this part of Arabia habitable in future ages. Thoſe who have travelled in theſe parts, tell us, that at the foot of mount Horeb is a monaſtery, well ſupplied with a cool limpid ſtream, that flows down from the mountain.

7 And he called the name Maſſah, and Meribah.] The former of theſe names ſignifies temptation, and the latter chiding.

Is the Lord among us, or not?] Are we under his ſpecial providence and protection, or not?

8 Then came Amalek.] Though this battle with Amalek is recorded after the miracle at Horeb, yet it certainly happened before it; for it is here ſaid that they came and fought with Iſrael in Rephidim: which circumſtance is cleared up, by comparing this paſſage with Deut. xxv. 18. where we read, that Amalek met, or fell upon them by the way, and ſmote the hindmoſt of them, even all that were feeble, when they were faint and weary; that is, when they were fainting with thirſt in their march to Horeb. The Amalekites inhabited ſome part of Arabia Petrea, near Rephidim, where the Iſraelites had juſt been encamped, and lay between them and Canaan.

9 And Moſes ſaid unto Joſhua.] Moſes appoints him general in this war, as being a perſon of diſtinguiſhed valour and conduct. He is frequently ſtiled the ſervant of Moſes, becauſe he formed himſelf under that great maſter in the arts of war and peace, and became qualified for leading the people after his death. See Calmet.

14 I will utterly put out the remembrance of Amalek from under heaven.] God denounces this heavy doom upon them, to terrify others from the like malice. Accordingly they were partly deſtroyed by Saul, David, and the children of Simeon.

15 He called the name of it Jehovah-Niſſi.] That is, Jehovah my banner.

Notes on the Eighteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Jethro, the prieſt of Midian.] The word ſignifies both prince and prieſt. That he was the latter, appears from his offering ſacrifice; and there is alſo great reaſon to think he was the former. It was no uncommon thing for theſe two offices to be united in the ſame perſon, as we have obſerved above: it is very probable, that Jethro arrived in the camp of Iſrael immediately after the battle with Amalek, though he did not give Moſes the advice for the better adminiſtration of juſtice, till ſome conſiderable time after, when God had delivered the law from mount Sinai.

2 Then Jethro Moſes' father-in-law took Zipporah Moſes' wife, after he had ſent her back,
3 And her two ſons; of which the name of the one was Gerſhom; (for he ſaid, I have been an alien in a ſtrange land:)
4 And the name of the other was Eliezer; (for the God of my father, ſaid he, was mine help, and delivered me from the ſword of Pharaoh.)
5 And Jethro, Moſes' father-in-law, came with his ſons and his wife unto Moſes into the wilderneſs, where he encamped at the mount of God:
6 And he ſaid unto Moſes, I thy father-in-law Jethro am come unto thee, and thy wife, and her two ſons with her.
7 ¶ And Moſes went out to meet his father-in-law, and did obeiſance, and kiſſed him: and they aſked each other of their welfare; and they came into the tent.
8 And Moſes told his father-in-law all that the LORD had done unto Pharaoh, and to the Egyptians for Iſrael's ſake, and all the travel that had come upon them by the way, and how the LORD delivered them.
9 And Jethro rejoiced for all the goodneſs which the LORD had done to Iſrael: whom he had delivered out of the hand of the Egyptians.
10 And Jethro ſaid, Bleſſed be the LORD, who hath delivered you out of the hand of the Egyptians, and out of the hand of Pharaoh, who hath delivered the people from under the hand of the Egyptians.
11 Now I know that the LORD is greater than all gods: for in the thing wherein they dealt proudly, he was above them.
12 And Jethro Moſes' father-in-law, took a burnt-offering and ſacrifices for God: and Aaron came, and all the elders of Iſrael to eat bread with Moſes' father-in-law before God.
13 ¶ And it came to paſs on the morrow, that Moſes ſat to judge the people: and the people ſtood by Moſes from the morning unto the evening.
14 And when Moſes' father-in-law ſaw all that he did to the people, he ſaid, What is this thing that thou doeſt to the people? why ſitteſt thou thyſelf alone, and all the people ſtand by thee from morning unto even?
15 And Moſes ſaid unto his father-in-law, Becauſe the people come unto me to enquire of God:
16 When they have a matter, they come unto me; and I judge between one and another, and I do make them know the ſtatutes of God and his laws.
17 And Moſes' father-in-law ſaid unto him, The thing that thou doeſt, is not good.
18 Thou wilt ſurely wear away, both thou, and this people that is with thee: for this thing is too heavy for thee; thou art not able to perform it thy ſelf alone.
19 Hearken now unto my voice, I will give thee counſel, and God ſhall be with thee: Be thou for the people to God-ward, that thou mayeſt bring the cauſes unto God:

2 Took Zipporah, Moſes' wife, after he had ſent her back.] Moſes ſent his wife back from the inn, chap. iv. 26. where her child was circumciſed: becauſe probably he thought ſhe and her children would live more comfortably at home with her father, than among ſuch frightful ſpectacles of public diſaſter and horror in Egypt.

4 Eliezer.] My God is an help; to remind him of his obligations to God, for protecting him from Pharaoh.

6 And he ſaid unto Moſes.] By meſſengers, as appears from ver. 7.

8 And Moſes told his father-in-law all that God had done to Pharaoh.] From this paſſage it is highly probable, that Jethro's viſit happened in order of time as here related: for had it happened after the giving of the law, it can hardly be imagined that Moſes would have omitted to mention God's glorious appearance on mount Sinai, and the law he had delivered to them. Beſides, it is natural to think, that Jethro would take the firſt opportunity of viſiting Moſes, to bring him and his neareſt relations together, after he heard the news of their coming out of Egypt.

11 Now I know that the Lord is greater than all Gods.] I am fully convinced that Jehovah, the God whom the Iſraelites adore, is greater than all the gods of Egypt or of any other nation in the world.

For in the thing wherein they dealt proudly, he was above them.] Jehovah is greater than all gods, even in the very thing wherein they dealt proudly againſt them. That is, He ſhewed himſelf ſuperior to all gods, by confounding the Egyptians; even when, preſuming on the aſſiſtance of their gods, they proudly threatened the ruin of his people.

12 To eat bread.] To partake of the ſacrifice that had been offered, for this comprehends the whole meal.

Before God.] That is, before the Divine Preſence appearing in the cloud. Or, it may be underſtood in general, that they behaved in a religious manner under impreſſions of the Divine Preſence, as it is ſaid of Daniel. vi. 10. That he gave thanks in his houſe before God.

15 Come to enquire of God.] In particular caſes, Moſes conſulted the oracle of God, and received an anſwer by an audible voice from heaven.

19 Be thou for the people to God-ward, that thou mayſt bring the cauſes

20 And thou ſhalt teach them ordinances and laws, and ſhalt ſhew them the way wherein they muſt walk, and the work that they muſt do.

21 Moreover, thou ſhalt provide out of all the people able men, ſuch as fear God, men of truth, hating covetouſneſs; and place ſuch over them, to be rulers of thouſands, and rulers of hundreds, rulers of fiftys, and rulers of tens.

22 And let them judge the people at all ſeaſons: and it ſhall be, that every great matter they ſhall bring unto thee, but every ſmall matter they ſhall judge: ſo ſhall it be eaſier for thy ſelf, and they ſhall bear the burden with thee.

23 If thou ſhalt do this thing, and God command thee ſo, then thou ſhalt be able to endure, and all this people ſhall alſo go to their place in peace.

24 So Moſes hearkened to the voice of his father-in-law, and did all that he had ſaid.

25 And Moſes choſe able men out of all Iſrael, and made them heads over the people, rulers of thouſands, rulers of hundreds, rulers of fiftys, and rulers of tens.

26 And they judged the people at all ſeaſons: the hard cauſes they brought unto Moſes, but every ſmall matter they judged themſelves.

27 And Moſes let his father-in-law depart; and he went his way into his own land.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The people come to Sinai. 3 God's meſſage to them out of the mount. 8 Their anſwer. 16 His fearful preſence.

IN the third month, when the children of Iſrael were gone forth out of the land of Egypt, the ſame day came they into the wilderneſs of Sinai.

2 For they were departed from Rephidim, and were come to the deſert of Sinai, and had pitched in the wilderneſs: and there Iſrael encamped before the mount.

3 ¶ And Moſes went up unto God, and the LORD called unto him out of the mountain, ſaying, Thus ſhalt thou ſay to the houſe of Jacob, and tell the children of Iſrael;

4 Ye have ſeen what I did unto the Egyptians, and how I bare you on eagles wings, and brought you unto my ſelf.

5 Now therefore, if ye will obey my voice indeed, and keep my covenant, then ye ſhall be a peculiar treaſure unto me above all people: for all the earth is mine:

6 And ye ſhall be unto me a kingdom of prieſts, and an holy nation. Theſe are the words which thou ſhalt ſpeak unto the children of Iſrael.

7 And Moſes came and called for the elders of the people, and laid before their faces all theſe words which the LORD commanded him.

cauſes unto God.] Do thou interpret the mind of God to the people, and bring the cauſes of the people to God. Jethro here deſires Moſes to confine himſelf to his proper offices, as a prophet: for the prophets had a double province; to reveal the will of God to the people, and to repreſent their cauſes to God; and ſometimes to aſk counſel at his oracle.

21 Able men.] Heb. men of fortitude; that is, men of firmneſs and ſtrength of mind, incapable of being turned aſide from the paths of juſtice and integrity, by either fear or favour.

Hating covetouſneſs.] Men of a diſintereſted diſpoſition; who abhor bribes, and all the baſe ways of gain.

Rulers of thouſands, &c.] Their ſeveral courts of judicature ſeem to have been duly ſubordinate to each other; ſo that cauſes which could not be decided by the decurio, or judge of ten, were brought before the judge of fifty, and ſo on, till they frequently came before Moſes, whoſe buſineſs it was to lay them before God.

Notes on the Nineteenth Chapter.

Ver. 3 And Moſes went up unto God.] He aſcended the mountain, the ſymbol of the Divine Preſence having reſted on it.

4 How I bare you on eagles wings.] The eagle is remarkable for ſoaring high, even above the clouds, where neither rains nor ſnows fall, nor thunder breaks, but the air is always calm and ſerene. The meaning therefore is, that they had paſſed the ſea, and eſcaped the greateſt dangers from their enemies, as if they had been borne aloft on eagles wings.

And brought you unto myſelf.] Brought you hither to live under my peculiar care and government.

5 If ye will obey my voice.] Hence we ſee, that national virtue, and a pious obedience to the will of God, was the unalterable condition on which the Divine Protection, and all the other national bleſſings, were promiſed to the Iſraelites.

A peculiar treaſure to me.] You ſhall be the objects of my peculiar care, as jewels and valuable treaſure are of kings. I will eſtabliſh my kingdom among you, with ſuch laws as ſhall not only diſtinguiſh you from all other nations, but make you to excel them.

For all the earth is mine.] I might have choſen any other nation, but I have ſelected you to be the objects of many national favours and privileges; you muſt therefore diſtinguiſh yourſelves by your piety and goodneſs from the reſt of the world.

6 And ye ſhall be to me a kingdom of prieſts.] As ſacred, and therefore as dear to God, as if they were all prieſts, not in name only, but ſuch as live ſuitably to their profeſſion.

An holy nation.] A nation that ſhall exhibit ſhining examples of piety and goodneſs to a degenerate world.

8 ¶ And all the people answered together, and said, All that the LORD hath spoken, we will do. And Moses returned the words of the people unto the LORD.

9 And the LORD said unto Moses, Lo, I come unto thee in a thick cloud, that the people may hear when I speak with thee, and believe thee for ever. And Moses told the words of the people unto the LORD.

10 And the LORD said unto Moses, Go unto the people, and sanctify them to-day and to-morrow, and let them wash their clothes, 11 And be ready against the third day: for the third day the LORD will come down in the sight of all the people upon mount Sinai.

12 And thou shalt set bounds unto the people round about, saying, Take heed to your selves, that ye go not up into the mount, or touch the border of it: whosoever toucheth the mount shall be surely put to death:

13 There shall not an hand touch it, but he shall surely be stoned, or shot through; whether it be beast or man, it shall not live: when the trumpet soundeth long, they shall come to the mount.

14 And Moses went down from the mount unto the people, and sanctified the people; and they washed their clothes.

15 And he said unto the people, Be ready against the third day: come not at your wives.

16 ¶ And it came to pass on the third day in the morning, that there were thunders and lightnings, and a thick cloud upon the mount, and the voice of the trumpet exceeding loud; so that all the people that was in the camp, trembled.

17 And Moses brought forth the people out of the camp to meet with God, and they stood at the nether part of the mount.

18 And mount Sinai was altogether on a smoke, because the LORD descended upon it in fire: and the smoke thereof ascended as the smoke of a furnace, and the whole mount quaked greatly.

19 And when the voice of the trumpet sounded long, and waxed louder and louder, Moses spake, and God answered him by a voice.

20 And the LORD came down upon mount Sinai, on the top of the mount: and the LORD

8 All that the Lord hath spoken we will do.] They consent to have God for their king, and promise to be obedient to his laws. And thus they became the subjects of the divine government in a peculiar sense; the theocracy, therefore, so famous in the Jewish history, had now its beginning.

9 In a thick cloud.] The Divine Voice was delivered out of the midst of the fire, which burnt the mountain: in allusion to which God is often, in scripture, called a consuming fire. But with respect to the people, clouds and darkness were round about him. They saw nothing but a thick cloud, out of which issued awful thunders and flashes of lightning.

10 Go unto the people and sanctify them to-day and to-morrow.] They were to purify themselves from all uncleanness; to abstract their minds from the world, by a cessation from their ordinary employments, by prayer and fasting, and by abstinence from other lawful pleasures.

11 For the third day the Lord will come down.] This is not to be understood of the essential Divine Presence, which is equally in all places, and at all times, but of those external signs or symbols, whereby God was pleased to manifest his presence to the Israelites.

13 There shall not an hand touch it.] This severe order was given to impress the minds of a stiff-necked people with a profound veneration for the author of their laws. The words should have been rendered, Let not a hand touch him, referring to the person who should dare to venture within the consecrated bounds; a crime which they should look upon with such detestation, that they should stone or shoot the offender on the spot.

15 Come not at your wives.] Abstain even from lawful pleasures, in order to render yourselves more fit for spiritual intercourse with God.

16 There were thunders, and lightnings, and a thick cloud upon the mount.] The miraculous cloud indicated some invisible and majestic presence; and the extraordinary perturbation in the course of nature, manifestly discovered his immediate interposition.

And the voice of the trumpet.] The heavenly ministers, who were attendants on the Divine Majesty, summoned the people by a sound resembling that of a trumpet.

18 Because the Lord descended upon it in fire, &c.] The Divine Majesty descended in a cloud, with a glorious retinue of angels, who appeared like flames of fire; as Moses himself seems to expound it, He came with ten thousands of his saints; from his right hand went a fiery law for them, Deut. xxxiii. 2.

And the whole mount quaked greatly.] To this the psalmist alludes, The earth shook, the heavens also dropped at the presence of God, even Sinai itself was moved at the presence of God, the God of Israel, Psalm lxviii. 8. He looketh upon the earth and it trembleth, he toucheth the hills, and they smoke, Psalm civ. 32.

Moses spake, and God answered him by a voice.] We are nowhere told in the Old Testament what he spake; but the apostle to the Hebrews has supplied this omission, So terrible was the sight, that Moses said, I exceedingly fear and quake, Heb. xii. 21. God answered him in calm and peaceful accents, bidding him dismiss his fears and come up to the mount.

20 And the Lord called Moses up.] He was called up to the very place where the Shechinah, or Divine Glory was, and entered into the midst of the cloud, where God is said to have spoken to him face to face, as a man speaketh to his friend, chap. xxxiii. 11. So Patrick understands it: but it appears from chap. xx. 21. compared with Deut. v. 4, 5. that even Moses himself was not permitted to enter within the cloud of glory, but only drew near to the thick darkness with which it was encompassed, and so stood between Jehovah or the Divine Presence, and the people.

called Moſes up to the top of the mount, and Moſes went up.

21 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Go down, charge the people, leſt they break through unto the LORD to gaze, and many of them periſh.

22 And let the prieſts alſo, which come near to the LORD, ſanctify themſelves, leſt the LORD break forth upon them.

23 And Moſes ſaid unto the LORD, The people cannot come up to mount Sinai: for thou chargedſt us, ſaying, Set bounds about the mount, and ſanctify it.

24 And the Lord ſaid unto him, Away, get thee down, and thou ſhalt come up, thou and Aaron with thee: but let not the prieſts and the people break through, to come up unto the LORD, leſt he break forth upon them.

25 So Moſes went down unto the people, and ſpake unto them.

CHAP. XX.

1 The ten commandments. 22 Idolatry forbidden. 24 Of what ſort the altar ſhould be.

AND God ſpake all theſe words, ſaying,
2 I am the LORD thy God, which have brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the houſe of bondage.

3 Thou ſhalt have no other gods before me.

21 Go down, charge the people.] It ſhould ſeem, that upon Moſes' going up, ſome of the people thought of approaching nearer, out of curioſity, to ſee if they could diſcover more of the Divine Majeſty.

22 And let the prieſts alſo.] Who theſe were that are here called prieſts is much diſputed: the moſt probable opinion is, that they were Aaron and his ſons, who then officiated as prieſts by the nomination of Moſes, and the choice of the people, and were afterwards confirmed by Divine appointment.

Notes on the Twentieth Chapter.

Ver. 1 And God ſpake all theſe words.] That is, the ten commandments. This law was not given immediately by God, but by the mediation of angels, repreſenting the Divine Majeſty, and ſpeaking in his name, Acts vii. 38. Gal. iii. 19. Heb. ii. 2. The decalogue contains the fundamental principles of all religions, namely, 1. That there is a God: 2. That he is not any of theſe things which are ſeen, but far more excellent and tranſcendent: 3. That he is the great witneſs and judge of all human thoughts and actions: 4. That he is the Maker of the univerſe. And it muſt be obſerved, that though theſe laws were given to the Hebrew nation by Jehovah, not as the Lord of the univerſe, but as their king, who had delivered them from Egyptian bondage; yet as they are all, that ſingle one excepted which enjoins the ſanctification of the ſabbath, branches of the law of nature, they may juſtly be conſidered in a more extended light, than that of being interwoven with a particular conſtitution, even as the everlaſting laws of the King of heaven. They were indeed proclaimed from mount Sinai, with ſuch circumſtances of pomp and terror, as are rather a natural means to extort a political obedience, than to raiſe and improve a religious and moral temper; but are addreſſed to us in a way of more free and calm perſuaſion. And the author of the epiſtle to the Hebrews has expreſsly mentioned it as a mark of ſuperior excellence in the goſpel-diſpenſation, That we are not come unto the mount that burned with fire, nor unto blackneſs, and darkneſs, and tempeſt, and the ſound of a trumpet, &c. Heb. xii. 18, &c.

2 I am the Lord thy God, which brought thee out of the land of Egypt.] The firſt words of this ſentence, I am the Lord, I am Jehovah, contain the reaſons for man's obedience to the divine laws, and extends to all rational beings throughout the univerſe, who are, and ever ſhall be bound by the law of their creation to worſhip and obey Jehovah, whoſe eſſential tranſcendent excellence claims their higheſt veneration, and whoſe conſtant overflowing goodneſs calls for their warmeſt love, homage, and gratitude. And as the abſolute and univerſal dominion of the Supreme Being, is implied in his being called Jehovah, the Lord, ſo his dominion over the Jews in particular is included in the following phraſe, thy God; as if he had ſaid, though I am Lord of all the earth, yet I bear a peculiar relation to you, as having enacted a ſpecial covenant with thy forefathers, whereby they ſolemnly engaged to renounce all idolatry, and to worſhip and ſerve me as their God. Now what God, in a direct and literal ſenſe ſpeaks to the Jews, may with parity of reaſon be applied to us: The Lord, Jehovah, is no leſs our Lord than theirs; he is the abſolute lord and governor of the univerſe, to whom our higheſt reſpect and obedience are due; he is our God, having choſen and conſecrated us to himſelf by a new and better covenant, eſtabliſhed upon better promiſes; and he hath brought us up out of a ſpiritual Egypt, a worſe than Egyptian bondage, having delivered us from the power of darkneſs, and tranſlated us into the kingdom of his Son; reſcued us from the tyranny of ſin unto the glorious liberty of the ſons of God, conducted us in the way, and given us the aſſured hope, if we be not wanting to ourſelves, of entering into the heavenly Canaan, a place of perfect reſt, and unconceivable felicity.

3 Thou ſhalt have none other gods before me.] That is, in my ſight or preſence; and as God is preſent in all places, it becomes an abſolute prohibition of having any other god. But as the precept forbids the worſhip of any other god, ſo it alſo commands the worſhip of that Being to whom we owe our creation, whom we muſt believe and acknowledge the Parent of the univerſe; conſequently, we muſt hearken to his voice, and obey the dictates of his will, whether made known to us by reaſon or revelation; not out of a ſlaviſh fear, as if they were the inſtitutions of a tyrant, but out of filial love and reverence, as to the direction of a wiſe and beneficent Parent, who loves us, and conſults our trueſt intereſt; who enjoins us in nothing but what he knows, from his perfect inſight into the conſtitution of human nature, to be the natural means and foundation of our happineſs. While we thus acknowledge Jehovah to be our God, it is both our duty and privilege to rejoice in the exiſtence he has given us, and with perfect ſecurity to acquieſce in all the determinations of his Providence, being as confident as the divine goodneſs and veracity can make us, that our wiſe Guardian, who preſides over, and directs all the affairs of the univerſe, will conduct us ſafe through all the ſhifting ſcenes of this tranſitory ſtate, in proſperity or adverſity, health or ſickneſs, life or death, to our ultimate perfection and felicity. This is that worſhip and acknowledgment of God enjoined in this firſt commandment, as delivered to Moſes: and in the goſpel, the firſt and great commandment

4 Thou ſhalt not make unto thee any graven image, or any likeneſs of any thing, that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth:

5 Thou ſhalt not bow down thyſelf to them, nor ſerve them: for I the LORD thy God am a jealous God, viſiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me;

6 And ſhewing mercy unto thouſands of them that love me, and keep my commandments.

7 Thou ſhalt not take the name of the LORD thy God in vain; for the LORD will not hold him guiltleſs that taketh his name in vain.

8 Remember the ſabbath-day, to keep it holy:

---

mandment is declared to be the worſhip of the ſame God, in the name and through the mediation of Jeſus Chriſt.

That there is in truth but one Supreme God, to whom all worſhip is due, is deducible from the light of reaſon; a contemplation of the univerſe itſelf, is abundantly ſufficient to prove that there is but one infinite, eternal, omnipotent Being, who created and governs all things, becauſe we ſee nothing there but unity of deſign and harmony of operation.

4 Thou ſhalt not make unto thee any graven image.] The ſin of idolatry is of two kinds, the worſhip of a falſe God forbidden in the firſt commandment, and the worſhip of the true God under a falſe repreſentation, forbidden more particularly in this ſecond commandment. Under the prohibition we may alſo conceive this poſitive precept intended that we ſhould frame high and worthy conceptions of God, as being incomparably ſuperior to all things which we ſee or know, tranſcendently perfect in goodneſs, juſtice, wiſdom, and power, above what we can comprehend. And eſpecially, that in our devotions we ſhould raiſe our minds above groſs ſenſe and fancy, and worſhip God, who is a ſpirit, in ſpirit and in truth.

Any likeneſs of any thing that is in heaven above.] Thou ſhalt not worſhip the hoſt of heaven, the ſun, moon and ſtars, or any imaginary inviſible powers in them. Neither repreſent God under the ſimilitude of theſe things; for the whole heavens are the work of his hands.

Or in the earth beneath.] Thou ſhalt not repreſent the Almighty under the ſimilitude of man or beaſt, or pay divine honours to any creature.

Or that is in the water, &c.] The Egyptians worſhipped the crocodile; and therefore this prohibition was added here, to prevent the Iſraelites from committing that kind of idolatry: for, as the great deſign of the Moſaic inſtitution was to redeem and preſerve the Jews from that deep contagion of idolatry which has overſpread the nations, particularly Egypt, where they had ſo long ſojourned, and to make them the depoſitories of the true religion, for the general benefit of mankind; ſo the particular deſign of this law was to bring them back to the pure, primitive, and ſpiritual worſhip of the Deity, who is a ſpirit inviſible, immaterial, whoſe nature infinitely tranſcends our conceptions, and therefore not to be repreſented by any image, picture, or draught of any object or creature whatſoever.

For I the Lord thy God am a jealous God.] This is the reaſon and what inforces the prohibition of every ſpecies of idolatry. God is conſidered in ſcripture as having eſpouſed the Jewiſh nation, i. e. choſe him for his peculiar people: ſo that they were bound by ſpecial ties to worſhip him with ſuch unalienable affection, as a chaſte ſpouſe bears to her huſband. And, in purſuance of the ſame metaphor, God is called a jealous God; that is, his unalienable right to our ſervices will not ſuffer him to bear a rival or competitor in his worſhip.

Viſiting the iniquities of the fathers upon the children.] By the word viſiting is to be underſtood puniſhing with ſignal judgments. And the true ſenſe of it is, that God will puniſh the tranſgreſſors of his laws, eſpecially the tranſgreſſors of this commandment, with ſignal judgments, in ſuch a manner, that the woful effects thereof ſhall reach even to their poſterity, and that for ſeveral generations. But perhaps it will be aſked here, how ſuch a proceeding as this can be reconciled with thoſe ſacred and irreverſible rules of equity, which muſt, at all times, be ſuppoſed to regulate God's moral government? And how can it be reconciled with what God himſelf elſewhere declares, Deut. xxiv. 16. and to the doctrine ſo ſtrongly inculcated by Ezekiel, The ſon ſhall not bear the iniquity of the father, neither ſhall the father bear the iniquity of the ſon? chap. xviii. 20. The true ſolution of of the caſe is this, that God here ſpeaks of viſiting the iniquity of the fathers on ſuch children as inherit their vices, and imitate their bad examples, to the third and fourth generation of them that hate me; that is, of thoſe who continue to manifeſt their contempt and hatred of me, by perſiſting in their idolatries. And this is agreeable to the whole tenor of the Old Teſtament, and to every inſtance of children's ſuffering from the immediate hand of God for the vices of their parents, they being all wicked children. But the prophet Ezekiel ſpeaks on the contrary of ſuch of the offſpring of degenerate and corrupted parents, as were themſelves good and virtuous. So that, by this plain ſolution, all ſhadow of a contradiction between the two ſacred writers is abſolutely removed.

Unto the third and fourth generation.] The word generation is ſupplied in our verſion, to render the ſenſe complete, it being omitted in the original. And it ſhould alſo have been ſupplied in verſe 6, ſhewing mercy unto thouſands of generations. Here we have a remarkable inſtance of the extent of the Divine Goodneſs, and how much more our beneficent Creator delights in works of mercy, than in acts of juſt ſeverity. He viſits only to three or four generations, but his mercy extends to thouſands.

7 Thou ſhalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain.] This is a general prohibition againſt falſe or vain ſwearing, eſpecially againſt the horrid vice of perjury. And in the latter ſenſe our bleſſed Saviour himſelf cites this law, (Matt. v. 33.) Ye have heard that it hath been ſaid by them of old time, thou ſhalt not forſwear thyſelf: ſo that the principal thing here forbidden is perjury, or making uſe of the name of God by way of appeal to him as omniſcient, and to whom belongs the final deciſion of all caſes of equity, in atteſtation and ſupport of falſehood; a crime repugnant to all our ideas of God, and utterly ſubverſive of public order. For it is an imprecation of divine vengeance upon ourſelves, if we are knowingly and deliberately inſincere: ſo that the perſon guilty of it, if he is not a ſpeculative Atheiſt, muſt be a downright monſter in nature, deriding the juſtice of the Deity, and defying Omnipotence to do his worſt.

For the Lord will not hold him guiltleſs that taketh his name in vain.] That is, he ſhall not eſcape unpuniſhed. This clauſe ſeems added, becauſe perjury is a crime which often eſcapes puniſhment from men, and therefore God threatens to take particular cognizance of it himſelf. A very awful conſideration to deter men from the violation of this ſacred law!

8 Remember the ſabbath-day, &c.] Remember the day of reſt, which God hath appointed thee to obſerve; for the word ſabbath properly ſignifies reſt. That we ſhould with grateful ſenſe reflect upon the glorious works of God, eſpecially that grand and fundamental one wherein his goodneſs, wiſdom, and power, are ſo illuſtriouſly diſplayed, the creation of the world; that

9 Six days ſhalt thou labour, and do all thy work:

10 But the ſeventh day is the ſabbath of the LORD thy God: in it thou ſhalt not do any work, thou, nor thy ſon, nor thy daughter, thy man-ſervant, nor thy maid-ſervant, nor thy cattle, nor thy ſtranger that is within thy gates:

11 For in ſix days the LORD made heaven and earth, the ſea, and all that in them is, and reſted the ſeventh day: wherefore the LORD bleſſed the ſabbath-day, and hallowed it.

12 Honour thy father and thy mother: that thy days may be long upon the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee.

13 Thou ſhalt not kill.

14 Thou ſhalt not commit adultery.

15 Thou ſhalt not ſteal.

that we ſhould not be unmindful of the ſpecial favours of God, as was that of the deliverance from Egyptian ſlavery to the Jews; that we ſhould not ſpend all our time in taking care of our bodies and the buſineſs of this life, but ſhould aſſign a competent time for the relaxation of our minds, and for attending to the concerns of our ſouls; that we ſhould allow ſome time for reſpite and refreſhment to thoſe of our brethren, whom Providence hath placed in a mean, ſervile condition; that we ſhould ſhew kindneſs even to our beaſts: all theſe are duties which natural religion dictates, and accordingly in all wiſe ſtates ſome proviſion hath been made for the practice of them. But as to the circumſtances, that a ſeventh day preciſely ſhould be aſſigned, and a total ceſſation from labour obſerved, this is plainly a poſitive ritual inſtitution, obligatory only upon the Jews, to whom it made a part of their ceremonial law, that yoke of bondage which was impoſed upon them for the hardneſs of their hearts, becauſe they were ſo prone to forget their Maker, to neglect the ſtate of their ſoul through worldly-mindedneſs, to exact intolerable labour from their poor brethren, and to uſe their beaſts with cruelty, that unleſs their ſacred Lawgiver had appointed a day wherein the whole ſociety was bound to a ſolemn obſervance of thoſe duties, there was the greateſt reaſon to think they would have been totally omitted. Hence it follows, that as the ſabbath was obligatory only on the Jews, Chriſtians are freed from this yoke. But as nature directs public honours, and ſocial duties, to be paid to the ſupreme Being, and as an obligation to maintain public worſhip neceſſary involves, in the very idea of it, an obligation to devote ſome time for that purpoſe; as the obſervation of one day in ſeven, has been found by experience not to be attended with the leaſt inconveniency to the common intereſts of mankind, and is as little as can, in reaſon, be allowed for the improvement of our underſtandings and morals, for eaſe and refreſhment of our ſervants, for reſt to our cattle, and, conſequently, performing the two grand purpoſes of religion, piety and mercy, which are always inſeparable: laſtly, as the firſt day of the week is recommended to us for the celebration of religious offices by the apoſtles and primitive Chriſtians, and is in itſelf the moſt proper day for the ſolemnities of the chriſtian worſhip, being that of our bleſſed Lord's reſurrection, the grand event on which the truth of Chriſtianity ſolely depends: on all theſe accounts Chriſtians are bound to pay a religious regard to this day, which in the New Teſtament is ſtiled the Lord's day. And thoſe who refuſe to join in the religious obſervation of this day lay themſelves under a neceſſity, in moſt places at leaſt, of neglecting public worſhip altogether; by which omiſſion they neglect the dictates of nature and reaſon itſelf, as well as the intimations of revealed religion.

To keep it holy.] That is, to conſecrate it to reſt, or ceſſation from all ſecular employments.

10 The ſeventh day is the ſabbath of the Lord thy God.] That is, the ſeventh day is ſacred to Jehovah thy God, being that on which he reſted from his works of creation.

In it thou ſhalt not do any work.] Thou ſhalt not employ thyſelf in any ſervile labour, nor follow the ordinary buſineſs of thy occupation: but works of abſolute neceſſity, for the preſervation and regular ſupport of life, together with acts of charity and mercy, can never be ſuperſeded by any poſitive law, and conſequently ſuch we are at liberty to perform; for it would be moſt abſurdly rigid, and impious ſuperſtition, to make the ſabbath a contradiction to nature, and a foe to humanity. But with theſe neceſſary exceptions, the prohibition is not limited to thine own perſon, but extends to all that are under thine authority or influence; to thy ſon, thy daughter, thy man-ſervant, and thy maid-ſervant; and (from thoſe principles of lenity which true religion inſpires) to thy very cattle.

12 Honour thy father and thy mother.] Our duty to our earthly parents is next to that we owe to God. Accordingly, in all civilized nations, the violation of filial duty has been reckoned a mark of the greateſt depravation. And ſurely, when we reflect that they are, under God, the authors of our being; that they have preſerved and ſupported us when it was impoſſible for us to ſupport ourſelves; that they took care of our education, and by that means rendered us uſeful members of ſociety, we ſhall be convinced, that we juſtly owe them the filial duty required by this commandment.

That thy days may be long in the land.] There ſeems to be a congruity in the reward promiſed, that they who are grateful to thoſe from whom they received life, ſhould, by their heavenly Father's diſpenſation, enjoy a great number of years in proſperity.

13 Thou ſhalt not kill.] In this, and the four ſucceeding precepts, are contained our duty towards our neighbour, or men in general, with regard to life, property, or reputation. The words are better rendered in an old tranſlation uſed in the communion-ſervice of our church, Thou ſhalt do no murder; for the life of a man may be taken away without committing murder, or being guilty of breaking this commandment. As when a man kills his neighbour unawares; his aſſailant in his own defence; his enemies in a juſt and neceſſary war: the lives of malefactors may alſo be taken away, for the preſervation and ſecurity of the public. Now from all theſe caſes, murder is diſtinguiſhed, and is indeed a crime ſo deteſtable, that human nature is ſhocked at the bare mention of it. It was therefore an action worthy the Divine Nature to appoint by a poſitive law, that murderers ſhould be puniſhed with death. Whoſo ſheddeth man's blood, by man ſhall his blood be ſhed, Gen. ix. 6.

14 Thou ſhalt not commit adultery.] This is a crime of the deepeſt dye; 'tis a violation of the moſt ſacred bond of all ſociety, upon which the happineſs of mankind, their moſt refined and elegant pleaſures more immediately and neceſſarily depend; it ſows the ſeeds of implacable diſſenſion between families, and diſſolves the friendſhip of the moſt intimate acquaintance.

15 Thou ſhalt not ſteal.] The juſtneſs of this precept is too well known to need a comment. Juſtice is the great bond of human ſociety; take away this, and mankind will no longer be diſtinguiſhed from the wild beaſts of the foreſt, where the ſtrongeſt devour the weakeſt. And it ſhould be remembered, that could juſtice and honeſty be univerſally practiſed by all the ſons of men, this world would, in ſome meaſure, exhibit a picture of that new heaven and new earth, wherein righteouſneſs is to dwell for ever.

16 Thou ſhalt not bear falſe witneſs againſt thy neighbour.

17 Thou ſhalt not covet thy neighbour's houſe, thou ſhalt not covet thy neighbour's wife, nor his man-ſervant, nor his maid-ſervant, nor his ox, nor his aſs, nor any thing that is thy neighbour's.

18 And all the people ſaw the thunderings, and lightnings, and the noiſe of the trumpet, and the mountain ſmoking: and when the people ſaw it, they removed, and ſtood afar off.

19 And they ſaid unto Moſes, Speak thou with us, and we will hear: but let not God ſpeak with us, leſt we die.

20 And Moſes ſaid unto the people, Fear not: for God is come to prove you, and that his fear may be before your faces, that ye ſin not.

21 And the people ſtood afar off, and Moſes drew near unto the thick darkneſs where God was.

22 ¶ And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Thus thou ſhalt ſay unto the children of Iſrael, Ye have ſeen that I have talked with you from heaven.

23 Ye ſhall not make with me gods of ſilver, neither ſhall ye make unto you gods of gold.

24 ¶ An altar of earth thou ſhalt make unto me, and ſhalt ſacrifice thereon thy burnt-offerings, and thy peace-offerings, thy ſheep, and thine oxen: in all places where I record my name, I will come unto thee, and I will bleſs thee.

25 And if thou wilt make me an altar of ſtone, thou ſhalt not build it of hewn ſtone: for if thou lift up thy tool upon it, thou haſt polluted it.

26 Neither ſhalt thou go up by ſteps unto mine altar, that thy nakedneſs be not diſcovered thereon.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Laws for ſervants, 12 for man-ſlaughter, 16 man-ſtealers, 17 curſers of parents, and ſeveral others.

NOW theſe are the judgements which thou ſhalt ſet before them.

2 If thou buy an Hebrew-ſervant, ſix years he ſhall ſerve: and in the ſeventh he ſhall go out free for nothing.

3 If he came in by himſelf, he ſhall go out by himſelf: if he were married, then his wife ſhall go out with him.

4 If his maſter have given him a wife, and ſhe have born him ſons or daughters; the wife and her children ſhall be her maſter's, and he ſhall go out by himſelf.

5 And if the ſervant ſhall plainly ſay, I love my maſter, my wife, and my children, I will not go out free:

6 Then his maſter ſhall bring him unto the judges; he ſhall alſo bring him to the door, or unto the door-poſt: and his maſter ſhall bore his ear through with an aul; and he ſhall ſerve him for ever.

7 And if a man ſell his daughter to be a maid-ſervant, ſhe ſhall not go out as the men-ſervants do.

16 Thou ſhalt not bear falſe witneſs againſt thy neighbour.] Next to the life and property of our neighbour, there is nothing, generally, dearer to men than their reputation or good name: nay, in ſome caſes, it has been accounted more valuable than life itſelf. The term neighbour ſignifies every man in general, who is within the reach of our good and bad offices, as we are taught by our adorable Redeemer himſelf, in his parable of the good Samaritan.

17 Thou ſhalt not covet, &c.] This precept is intended to prohibit all unjuſt deſires or appetites, and, conſequently, ſtrikes at the root of all evil or corrupt diſpoſitions.

24 An altar of earth thou ſhalt make unto me.] An altar of plain turfs, which could eaſily be had in the wilderneſs, and therefore moſt proper for the Iſraelites in their wandering ſtate.

In all places where I record my name.] The word which we render record, ſignifies alſo, to worſhip or celebrate; and therefore the paſſage may be better rendered, In all places where I exhibit myſelf to be worſhipped and honoured.

25 If thou wilt make me an altar, &c.] If thou wilt erect an altar of ſtone, the whole ſtructure muſt be as plain and ſimple as poſſible; to convince a groſs people, it was not the coſtlineſs of the materials, nor the external modes and forms of worſhip that God regarded, but the devotion of the mind with which it was accompanied.

26 That thy nakedneſs be not diſcovered thereon.] This precaution was neceſſary to prevent any indecency being mixed with the ſervice of God.

Notes on the Twenty-firſt Chapter.

Ver. 1 Now theſe are the judgments, &c.] The chief heads of the moral law being thus ſolemnly given, Moſes was commanded to preſcribe them ſeveral other particular laws, concerning the judicial and civil government of the ſtate, the rights between man and man, and thoſe relating to the ceremonial part of worſhip under the Jewiſh diſpenſation.

6 Bore his ear.] Denoting his obligation to hearken, and obey his maſter's orders.

Shall ſerve him for ever.] i. e. till the year of jubilee ſets him free of courſe, or till his maſter's death.

7 She ſhall not go out as the men-ſervants do.] The true meaning of 8 If ſhe pleaſe not her maſter, who hath betrothed her to himſelf, then ſhall he let her be redeemed: to ſell her unto a ſtrange nation he ſhall have no power, ſeeing he hath dealt deceitfully with her.

9 And if he have betrothed her unto his ſon, he ſhall deal with her after the manner of daughters.

10 If he take him another wife; her food, her raiment, and her duty of marriage ſhall he not diminiſh.

11 And if he do not theſe three unto her, then ſhall ſhe go out free without money.

12 ¶ He that ſmiteth a man, ſo that he die, ſhall be ſurely put to death.

13 And if a man lie not in wait, but God deliver him into his hand; then I will appoint thee a place whither he ſhall flee.

14 But if a man come preſumptuouſly upon his neighbour, to ſlay him with guile; thou ſhalt take him from mine altar, that he may die.

15 And he that ſmiteth his father, or his mother, ſhall be ſurely put to death.

16 ¶ And he that ſtealeth a man and ſelleth him, or if he be found in his hand, he ſhall ſurely be put to death.

17 ¶ And he that curſeth his father, or his mother, ſhall ſurely be put to death.

18 And if men ſtrive together, and one ſmite another with a ſtone, or with his fiſt, and he die not, but keepeth his bed:

19 If he riſe again, and walk abroad upon his ſtaff, then ſhall he that ſmote him be quit: only he ſhall pay for the loſs of his time, and ſhall cauſe him to be throughly healed.

20 And if a man ſmite his ſervant, or his maid with a rod, and he die under his hand; he ſhall be ſurely puniſhed.

21 Notwithſtanding, if he continue a day or two, he ſhall not be puniſhed: for he is his money.

22 If men ſtrive, and hurt a woman with child, ſo that her fruit depart from her, and yet no miſchief follow; he ſhall be ſurely puniſhed, according as the woman's huſband will lay upon him; and he ſhall pay as the judges determine.

23 And if any miſchief follow, then thou ſhalt give life for life,

24 Eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot,

25 Burning for burning, wound for wound, ſtripe for ſtripe.

26 And if a man ſmite the eye of his ſervant, or the eye of his maid, that it periſh; he ſhall let him go free for his eye's ſake.

27 And if he ſmite out his man-ſervant's tooth, or his maid-ſervant's tooth; he ſhall let him go free for his tooth's ſake.

28 If an ox gore a man, or a woman, that they die; then the ox ſhall be ſurely ſtoned, and his fleſh ſhall not be eaten; but the owner of the ox ſhall be quit.

29 But if the ox were wont to puſh with his horn in time paſt, and it hath been teſtified to his owner, and he hath not kept him in, but that he hath killed a man or a woman; the ox ſhall be ſtoned, and his owner alſo ſhall be put to death.

30 If there be laid on him a ſum of money, then he ſhall give, for the ranſom of his life, whatſoever is laid upon him.

31 Whether he have gored a ſon, or have gored a daughter, according to this judgement ſhall it be done unto him.

of this paſſage ſeems to be this: that if a father, through extreme poverty, is obliged to ſell his daughter for a maid-ſervant, ſhe ſhall be treated in a different manner from thoſe who have been ſold by the judges, and obtain her freedom on much eaſier terms.

9 After the manner of daughters.] i. e. he ſhall portion her as one of his daughters.

10 If he take him another wife, her food, her raiment, duty of marriage.] If after the ſon had married her, he took another wife beſides, he was ſtill to perform to this all the duties of marriage, viz. give her food and raiment, and at certain times (which were determined by law) cohabit with her as her huſband.

14 Thou ſhalt take him from mine altar, that he may die.] To make the altar a place of refuge for voluntary crimes, would be to make piety a ſcreen for wickedneſs, and God a patron for iniquity. Hence we ſee how directly contrary to the divine law the papiſts act, who make their churches aſylums for murderers and other peſts of ſociety.

20 If a man ſmite his ſervant, &c.] That is, whoever beats a ſervant, or ſlave (though a Gentile) ſo that he die under his hand, he ſhall be treated as a murderer.

23 If any miſchief follow.] If the child was formed and alive, then life ſhall be given for life.

27 If he ſmite out his man-ſervant's tooth, &c.] To check the cruelty of tyrannical maſters, the legiſlator mercifully ordains, that a maſter ſhould loſe the ſervice of his ſlave, not only for depriving him of an eye, but even of a tooth.

32 If the ox ſhall puſh a man-ſervant, or maid-ſervant; he ſhall give unto their maſter thirty ſhekels of ſilver, and the ox ſhall be ſtoned.

33 And if a man ſhall open a pit, or if a man ſhall dig a pit, and not cover it, and an ox or an aſs fall therein;

34 The owner of the pit ſhall make it good, and give money unto the owner of them; and the dead beaſt ſhall be his.

35 And if one man's ox hurt another's that he die; then they ſhall ſell the live ox, and divide the money of it; and the dead ox alſo they ſhall divide.

36 Or if it be known that the ox hath uſed to puſh in time paſt, and his owner hath not kept him in; he ſhall ſurely pay ox for ox: and the dead ſhall be his own.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Of theft. 5 Of damage. 7 Of treſpaſſes. 14 Of borrowing. 16 Of fornication. 18 Of witchcraft, and other offences.

IF a man ſhall ſteal an ox, or a ſheep, and kill it, or ſell it; he ſhall reſtore five oxen for an ox, and four ſheep for a ſheep.

2 If a thief be found breaking up, and be ſmitten that he die; there ſhall no blood be ſhed for him.

3 If the ſun be riſen upon him, there ſhall be blood ſhed for him; for he ſhould make full reſtitution: if he have nothing, then he ſhall be ſold for his theft.

4 If the theft be certainly found in his hand alive, whether it be ox, or aſs, or ſheep; he ſhall reſtore double.

5 ¶ If a man ſhall cauſe a field or vineyard to be eaten, and ſhall put in his beaſt, and ſhall feed in another man's field; of the beſt of his own field, and of the beſt of his own vineyard ſhall he make reſtitution.

6 If fire break out, and catch in thorns, ſo that the ſtacks of corn, or the ſtanding-corn, or the field be conſumed therewith; he that kindled the fire ſhall ſurely make reſtitution.

7 ¶ If a man ſhall deliver unto his neighbour money or ſtuff to keep, and it be ſtolen out of the man's houſe: if the thief be found, let him pay double.

8 If the thief be not found, then the maſter of the houſe ſhall be brought unto the judges, to ſee whether he have put his hand unto his neighbour's goods.

9 For all manner of treſpaſs, whether it be for ox, for aſs, for ſheep, for raiment, or for any manner of loſt thing, which another challengeth to be his; the cauſe of both parties ſhall come before the judges; and whom the judges ſhall condemn, he ſhall pay double unto his neighbour.

10 If a man deliver unto his neighbour an aſs, or an ox, or a ſheep, or any beaſt to keep; and it die, or be hurt, or driven away, no man ſeeing it:

11 Then ſhall an oath of the LORD be between them both, that he hath not put his hand unto his neighbour's goods; and the owner of it ſhall accept thereof, and he ſhall not make it good.

12 And if it be ſtolen from him; he ſhall make reſtitution unto the owner thereof.

13 If it be torn in pieces; then let him bring it for witneſs, and he ſhall not make good that which was torn.

14 ¶ And if a man borrow ought of his neighbour, and it be hurt, or die, the owner thereof being not with it; he ſhall ſurely make it good.

15 But if the owner thereof be with it; he

---

33 If a man ſhall open a pit.] It was a common practice in thoſe hot countries to dig for ſprings, and make large pits or ciſterns, as receptacles for rain-water, which, if left uncovered, cattle might eaſily fall into them.

Notes on the Twenty-ſecond Chapter.

Ver. 2 If a thief be found, &c.] Notwithſtanding this permiſſion of killing the perſon who attempts our houſes in the night-time, when the world is buried in ſleep and darkneſs, yet we ought to be careful in making uſe of it; for our conſciences will never acquit us for taking away the life of a fellow-creature, unleſs we have very good reaſon to believe that he had a deſign upon our own.

3 If the ſun be riſen, &c.] Becauſe it was then eaſy to purſue him, and call the neighbours to our aſſiſtance. Beſides, his coming at that time indicated, that he had no deſign upon our lives.

6 If a fire break out, &c.] The ſole intention of this law was to make men careful how they lighted fires, even at a diſtance from corn or buildings; becauſe often the moſt terrible conſequences have followed from ſuch practices.

15 It came for his hire.] i. e. the thing lent was lent for hire, and he ſhall not make it good: if it be an hired thing; it came for his hire.

16 ¶ And if a man entice a maid that is not betrothed, and lie with her; he ſhall ſurely endow her to be his wife.

17 If her father utterly refuſe to give her unto him; he ſhall pay money according to the dowry of virgins.

18 ¶ Thou ſhalt not ſuffer a witch to live.

19 Whoſoever lieth with a beaſt, ſhall ſurely be put to death.

20 He that ſacrificeth unto any god, ſave unto the LORD only, he ſhall be utterly deſtroyed.

21 Thou ſhalt neither vex a ſtranger, nor oppreſs him: for ye were ſtrangers in the land of Egypt.

22 Ye ſhall not afflict any widow, or fatherleſs child.

23 If thou afflict them in any wiſe, and they cry at all unto me; I will ſurely hear their cry;

24 And my wrath ſhall wax hot, and I will kill you with the ſword; and your wives ſhall be widows, and your children fatherleſs.

25 If thou lend money to any of my people that is poor by thee, thou ſhalt not be to him as an uſurer, neither ſhalt thou lay upon him uſury.

26 If thou at all take thy neighbour's raiment to pledge, thou ſhalt deliver it unto him by that the ſun goeth down.

27 For that is his covering only, it is his raiment for his ſkin: wherein ſhall he ſleep? and it ſhall come to paſs, when he crieth unto me, that I will hear; for I am gracious.

28 Thou ſhalt not revile the gods, nor curſe the ruler of thy people.

29 Thou ſhalt not delay to offer the firſt of thy ripe fruits, and of thy liquors: the firſt-born of thy ſons ſhalt thou give unto me.

30 Likewiſe ſhalt thou do with thine oxen, and with thy ſheep: ſeven days it ſhall be with his dam; on the eighth day thou ſhalt give it me.

31 And ye ſhall be holy men unto me: neither ſhall ye eat any fleſh that is torn of beaſts in the field: ye ſhall caſt it to the dogs.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Of ſlander and falſe witneſs. 2 Of other offences and duties. 20 An angel promiſed, with a bleſſing, if they obey him.

THOU ſhalt not raiſe a falſe report: put not thine hand with the wicked to be an unrighteous witneſs.

2 ¶ Thou ſhalt not follow a multitude to do evil: neither ſhalt thou ſpeak in a cauſe, to decline after many, to wreſt judgement:

and the owner muſt ſtand to the loſs in conſideration of that hire, provided the borrower did not abuſe his truſt, which muſt always be underſtood.

18 Thou ſhalt not ſuffer a witch to live.] The original word, which we tranſlate a witch, comes from a verb which ſignifies to juggle, or deceive the ſenſes. And the true reaſon of the prohibition is, that all witches, whether real or pretended, openly profeſſed and practiſed idolatry, and conſequently were declared enemies to the Jewiſh ſtate and polity.

21 Thou ſhalt neither vex a ſtranger, nor oppreſs him.] This precept enjoins them to a ſtrict obſervation of the duty of hoſpitality, which has always been held ſacred in all civilized nations, and was, in a peculiar manner, obligatory upon the Jews: for ever ſince their father Abraham left his country, he and the other patriarchs had been ſtrangers and pilgrims, wandering from one country to another; depending, under Providence, on the hoſpitality of other nations.

22 Ye ſhall not afflict any widow, or fatherleſs child.] As ſtrangers, ſo widows and orphans were more helpleſs and more deſtitute of friends and protectors than others, and therefore Providence takes particular care of them. Hence God is ſtiled in ſcripture, The father of the fatherleſs, the Judge and Helper of the widow; He who executes the judgment of the fatherleſs and widow, and loveth the ſtranger. That compaſſion which he hath implanted in our breaſts, what is it but a call upon us from our benevolent Creator to relieve the fatherleſs, the widow, the ſtranger, and all who are in diſtreſs? Thus holy Job comforts himſelf in the midſt of his afflictions, that he had relieved the widow, the fatherleſs, and the ſtranger in the time of his proſperity. I delivered the poor that cried, and the fatherleſs, and him that had none to help him. The bleſſing of him that was ready to periſh came upon me: and I cauſed the widow's heart to ſing for joy, Job, chap. xxix. 12.

23 I will ſurely hear their cry.] I will myſelf revenge the cauſe of the orphans and widows: he is therefore ſtiled the Judge of the widow and fatherleſs, Pſalm lxviii. 5.

25 Thou ſhalt not be to him as an uſurer.] That is, thou ſhalt not act towards thy poor brother as an exacting creditor, who is rigidly urgent for his own.

For that is his covering.] To deprive him of the only thing he has to keep him warm in his bed, is ſuch a piece of inhumanity, as God cannot fail ſeverely to puniſh.

28 Thou ſhalt not revile the gods.] The word in the original which we render gods, is elohim; and properly here ſignifies princes, judges, or magiſtrates, who rule as God's repreſentatives.

Notes on the Twenty-third Chapter.

Ver. 1 Put not thine hand with the wicked.] Join not with a wicked man to promote a bad cauſe, by being a falſe witneſs.

3 Neither ſhalt thou countenance a poor man in his cauſe.

4 If thou meet thine enemy's ox or his aſs going aſtray, thou ſhalt ſurely bring it back to him again.

5 If thou ſee the aſs of him that hateth thee lying under his burden, and wouldeſt forbear to help him; thou ſhalt ſurely help with him.

6 Thou ſhalt not wreſt the judgement of thy poor in his cauſe.

7 Keep thee far from a falſe matter: and the innocent and righteous ſlay thou not: for I will not juſtify the wicked.

8 And thou ſhalt take no gift: for the gift blindeth the wiſe, and perverteth the words of the righteous.

9 Alſo thou ſhalt not oppreſs a ſtranger: for ye know the heart of a ſtranger, ſeeing ye were ſtrangers in the land of Egypt.

10 And ſix years thou ſhalt ſow thy land, and ſhalt gather in the fruits thereof:

11 But the ſeventh year thou ſhalt let it reſt, and lie ſtill; that the poor of thy people may eat: and what they leave, the beaſts of the field ſhall eat. In like manner thou ſhalt deal with thy vineyard, and with thy olive-yard.

12 Six days ſhalt thou do thy work, and on the ſeventh day thou ſhalt reſt: that thine ox and thine aſs may reſt, and the ſon of thy handmaid, and the ſtranger may be refreſhed.

13 And in all things that I have ſaid unto you be circumſpect: and make no mention of the name of other gods, neither let it be heard out of thy mouth.

14 Three times thou ſhalt keep a feaſt unto me in the year.

15 Thou ſhalt keep the feaſt of unleavened bread: thou ſhalt eat unleavened bread ſeven days, as I commanded thee, in the time appointed of the month Abib: for in it thou cameſt out from Egypt: and none ſhall appear before me empty:

16 And the feaſt of harveſt, the firſt-fruits of thy labours, which thou haſt ſown in the field: and the feaſt of ingathering which is in the end of the year, when thou haſt gathered in thy labours out of the field.

17 Three times in the year all thy males ſhall appear before the LORD God.

18 Thou ſhalt not offer the blood of my ſacrifice with leavened bread; neither ſhall the fat of my ſacrifice remain until the morning.

19 The firſt of the firſt-fruits of thy land thou ſhalt bring into the houſe of the LORD thy God. Thou ſhalt not ſeethe a kid in his mother's milk.

20 ¶ Behold, I ſend an Angel before thee, to keep thee in the way, and to bring thee into the place which I have prepared.

21 Beware of him, and obey his voice, provoke him not; for he will not pardon your tranſgreſſions: for my name is in him.

22 But if thou ſhalt indeed obey his voice, and do all that I ſpeak; then I will be an enemy unto thine enemies, and an adverſary unto thine adverſaries.

23 For mine Angel ſhall go before thee, and bring thee in unto the Amorites, and the Hittites, and Perizzites, and the Canaanites, and the Hivites, and the Jebuſites: and I will cut them off.

4 If thou meet thine enemy's ox, &c.] There are ſome duties which humanity itſelf ſo ſtrongly inculcates, that to deny them even to an enemy would be a breach of the law of nature; and of this number is that mentioned in the text: for though private injuries are a ſufficient reaſon why we may refuſe to treat a man as a friend, or familiar companion; yet they are not ſufficient motives for our denying him the common offices of humanity.

10 Six years ſhalt thou ſow thy land.] This regulation ſerved many excellent purpoſes: it put them in mind that the earth brought not forth of itſelf, but by the influence of Divine Power; and conſequently ſerved to beget in them truſt in God, and his providence. It was likewiſe a curb to avarice, and habituated them to the exerciſe of humanity to their ſlaves and beaſts, and of mercy and liberality to the poor.

14 Three times thou ſhalt keep a feaſt.] Three ſolemn feſtivals, wherein the whole body of the nation were to aſſemble; namely, the Paſſover, Pentecoſt, and the feaſt of Tabernacles.

16 The feaſt of harveſt.] This is alſo called the feaſt of Weeks, becauſe it was ſeven weeks after the Paſſover; and alſo Pentecoſt, which in Greek ſignifies the fiftieth, becauſe it fell on the fiftieth day after the Paſſover.

And the feaſt of in-gathering.] This feaſt is, in Levit. xxiii. 34. called the feaſt of Tabernacles.

19 Thou ſhalt not ſeethe a kid in his mother's milk.] Dr. Cudworth tells us, that it was a cuſtom among the ancient idolaters, at the time they had gathered in all the fruits of the earth, to ſeethe a kid in his mother's milk, and to ſprinkle the trees, fields, and gardens with the broth, after a magical manner, to make them more fruitful the following year. Hence we ſee the reaſon for this prohibition, which forbids the uſe of any ſuch ſuperſtitious rites which were practiſed about this time.

24 Thou ſhalt not bow down to their gods, nor ſerve them, nor do after their works: but thou ſhalt utterly overthrow them, and quite break down their images.

25 And ye ſhall ſerve the LORD your God, and he ſhall bleſs thy bread, and thy water: and I will take ſickneſs away from the midſt of thee.

26 There ſhall nothing caſt their young, nor be barren in thy land: the number of thy days I will fulfil.

27 I will ſend my fear before thee, and will deſtroy all the people to whom thou ſhalt come, and I will make all thine enemies turn their backs unto thee.

28 And I will ſend hornets before thee, which ſhall drive out the Hivite, the Canaanite, and the Hittite from before thee.

29 I will not drive them out from before thee in one year: leſt the land become deſolate, and the beaſt of the field multiply againſt thee.

30 By little and little I will drive them out from before thee, until thou be increaſed, and inherit the land.

31 And I will ſet thy bounds from the Red ſea even unto the ſea of the Philiſtines, and from the deſert unto the river: for I will deliver the inhabitants of the land into your hand; and thou ſhalt drive them out before thee.

32 Thou ſhalt make no covenant with them, nor with their gods.

33 They ſhall not dwell in thy land, leſt they make thee ſin againſt me: for if thou ſerve their gods, it will ſurely be a ſnare unto thee.

CHAP. XXIV.

1 Moſes is called up into the mountain. 3 The people promiſe obedience. 6 Moſes ſprinkleth the blood of the covenant. 15 He goeth up into the mount.

AND he ſaid unto Moſes, Come up unto the LORD, thou and Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, and ſeventy of the elders of Iſrael; and worſhip ye afar off.

2 And Moſes alone ſhall come near the LORD: but they ſhall not come nigh; neither ſhall the people go up with him.

3 ¶ And Moſes came and told the people all the words of the LORD, and all the judgements: and all the people anſwered with one voice, and ſaid, All the words which the LORD hath ſaid, will we do.

4 And Moſes wrote all the words of the LORD, and roſe up early in the morning, and builded an altar under the hill, and twelve pillars, according to the twelve tribes of Iſrael.

5 And he ſent young men of the children of Iſrael, which offered burnt-offerings, and ſacrificed peace-offerings of oxen unto the LORD.

6 ¶ And Moſes took half of the blood, and put it in baſons; and half of the blood he ſprinkled on the altar.

7 And he took the book of the covenant,

25 Thy bread, and thy water.] That is, all thy proviſions and drink in general; bread being a common name for the former, and water for the latter.

26 The number of thy days I will fulfil.] The common period of human life at that time, which was between ſeventy and fourſcore years. The days of our years are threeſcore years and ten; and if, by reaſon of ſtrength, they be fourſcore years, yet is their ſtrength labour and ſorrow: for it is ſoon cut off, and we fly away, Pſalm xc. 10. Thoſe, therefore, who arrive at this period, are ſaid to live out their days; and thoſe who come ſhort of it, to die before their time.

27 I will ſend my fear before thee.] I will ſtrike a terror into the inhabitants of Canaan, which ſhall facilitate the conqueſt of them, Joſ. ii. 9, 10.

28 And I will ſend hornets before thee.] This promiſe, Joſhua tells us, was literally performed: And I ſent the hornet before you, which drave them out from before you, even the two kings of the Amorites: but not with thy ſword, nor with thy bow, Joſ. xxiv. 12. The words, however, are generally underſtood metaphorically; I will ſend my terror before thee as a hornet.

31 From the Red Sea unto the ſea of the Philiſtines.] i. e. from the Red Sea on the ſouth-eaſt, to the Mediterranean Sea on the north-weſt.

And from the deſert unto the river.] From the deſert of Arabia to the river Euphrates, called, the river, by way of eminence.

Notes on the Twenty-fourth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Nadab and Abihu.] Aaron's eldeſt ſons.

4 And builded an altar.] There were two ways of making covenants anciently: firſt, by ſprinkling ſome of the blood of the ſacrifice on both parties; ſecondly, by their eating together ſome part of the ſacrifice, Gen. xxvi. 30. xxxi. 54. Both theſe rites are here obſerved, the firſt ver. 6, 8. the other ver. 11. Moſes erects an altar to repreſent God the one party, and twelve pillars to repreſent the twelve tribes on the other.

5 Burnt-offerings and peace-offerings.] Burnt-offerings properly ſignify ſuch ſacrifices as were wholly conſumed by fire on the altar, though ſometimes ſacrifices in general. Peace-offerings are ſacrifices offered to God in gratitude for favours received.

and read in the audience of the people: and they ſaid, All that the LORD hath ſaid, will we do, and be obedient.

8 And Moſes took the blood, and ſprinkled it on the people, and ſaid, Behold the blood of the covenant, which the LORD hath made with you concerning all theſe words.

9 Then went up Moſes and Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, and ſeventy of the elders of Iſrael.

10 And they ſaw the God of Iſrael: and there was under his feet, as it were a paved work of ſapphire-ſtone, and as it were the body of heaven in his clearneſs.

11 And upon the nobles of the children of Iſrael he laid not his hand: alſo they ſaw God, and did eat and drink.

12 And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Come up to me into the mount, and be there: and I will give thee tables of ſtone, and a law, and commandments which I have written; that thou mayeſt teach them.

13 And Moſes roſe up, and his miniſter Joſhua: and Moſes went up into the mount of God.

14 And he ſaid unto the elders, Tarry ye here for us, until we come again unto you: and behold, Aaron and Hur are with you: if any man have any matters to do, let him come unto them.

15 ¶ And Moſes went up into the mount, and a cloud covered the mount.

16 And the glory of the LORD abode upon mount Sinai, and the cloud covered it ſix days: and the ſeventh day he called unto Moſes out of the midſt of the cloud.

17 And the ſight of the glory of the LORD was like devouring fire on the top of the mount, in the eyes of the children of Iſrael.

18 And Moſes went into the midſt of the cloud, and gat him up into the mount: and Moſes was in the mount forty days and forty nights.

CHAP. XXV.

1 The offering for the tabernacle. 10 The form of the ark. 17 The mercy-ſeat. 23 The table. 31 The candleſtick.

AND the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, that they bring me an offering: of every man that giveth it willingly with his heart, ye ſhall take my offering.

3 And this is the offering, which ye ſhall take of them; gold, and ſilver, and braſs,

4 And blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine linen and goats hair.

5 And rams-ſkins dyed red, and badgers-ſkins, and ſhittim-wood,

6 Oil for the light, ſpices for anointing oil, and for ſweet incenſe,

7 Onyx-ſtones, and ſtones to be ſet in the ephod and in the breaſt-plate.

8 And let them make me a ſanctuary; that I may dwell amongſt them.

9 According to all that I ſhew thee, after the pattern of the tabernacle, and the pattern

10 They ſaw the God of Iſrael.] That is, they ſaw his glory, or had ſome glimpſes of that viſible Majeſty which was on the top of the mount: for we muſt not ſuppoſe, that they ſaw any viſible ſhape, the Jewiſh as well as the Chriſtian religion teaching, that God is of a ſpiritual and inviſible nature; conſequently all they ſaw was the ſymbol of the Divine Preſence. Some indeed have imagined from the following words, and there was under his feet, that this glorious ſymbol of the Divinity had the form of a man; but this is contrary to Deut. iv. 15. and therefore by his feet can only be underſtood the lower part of this Divine Appearance, which reſted, as it were, upon a glittering pavement.

As it were the body of heaven in his clearneſs.] Clear as the pureſt ſky when ſpangled with ſtars.

11 He laid not his hand.] He ſlew them not, Gen. xxii. 12.

12 That thou mayeſt teach them.] i. e. the nobles or choſen men to read and write them.

Notes on the Twenty-fifth Chapter.

Ver. 4 Scarlet.] Heb. the worm of ſcarlet; ſo called, becauſe numberleſs little worms are produced in the ſhrub whoſe grain makes ſcarlet.

Shittim-wood.] Some think this was the cedar; but others are of opinion that it was the wood of a tree common in ſome parts of the wilderneſs, and reſembling the acacia of Egypt.

7 The ephod.] This was a kind of ſquare cloak, or upper garment, that hung down from the ſhoulders, chap. xxviii. 7. It was a ſacred veſtment, worn only by the prieſts or perſons employed in the offices of religion. It was curiouſly wrought with gold, and other variegated embroidery, not unlike a ſhort coat, about two feet in length; on the top of it, on each ſide, were two ſhoulder-pieces, to which were faſtened two precious ſtones, ſet in gold, on which were engraven the names of the twelve tribes of Iſrael, ſix upon each ſtone.

The breaſt-plate.] On this piece were ſet twelve precious ſtones in gold, on each of which was engraven the name of one of the tribes: theſe were ſet in four rows, three in each row; and the whole was faſtened to the ephod at the four corners; thoſe on the top to each-ſhoulder-piece by a golden-hook, or ring, at the end of a wreathed chain; and thoſe below to the girdle of the ephod, by two blue ſtrings or ribbands, which had likewiſe two rings and hooks.

of all the inſtruments thereof, even ſo ſhall ye make it.

10 ¶ And they ſhall make an ark of ſhittim-wood: two cubits and a half ſhall be the length thereof, and a cubit and a half the breadth thereof, and a cubit and a half the height thereof.

11 And thou ſhalt overlay it with pure gold, within and without ſhalt thou overlay it: and ſhalt make upon it a crown of gold round about.

12 And thou ſhalt caſt four rings of gold for it, and put them in the four corners thereof; and two rings ſhall be in the one ſide of it, and two rings in the other ſide of it.

13 And thou ſhalt make ſtaves of ſhittim-wood, and overlay them with gold.

14 And thou ſhalt put the ſtaves into the rings by the ſides of the ark, that the ark may be borne with them.

15 The ſtaves ſhall be in the rings of the ark: they ſhall not be taken from it.

16 And thou ſhalt put into the ark the teſtimony which I ſhall give thee.

17 ¶ And thou ſhalt make a mercy-ſeat of pure gold: two cubits and a half ſhall be the length thereof, and a cubit and a half the breadth thereof.

18 And thou ſhalt make two cherubims of gold: of beaten work ſhalt thou make them, in the two ends of the mercy-ſeat.

19 And make one cherub on the one end, and the other cherub on the other end: even of the mercy-ſeat ſhall ye make the cherubims on the two ends thereof.

20 And the cherubims ſhall ſtretch forth their wings on high, covering the mercy-ſeat with their wings: and their faces ſhall look one to another; toward the mercy-ſeat ſhall the faces of the cherubims be.

21 And thou ſhalt put the mercy-ſeat above upon the ark; and in the ark thou ſhalt put the teſtimony that I ſhall give thee.

22 And there I will meet with thee, and I will commune with thee, from above the mercy-ſeat, from between the two cherubims which are upon the ark of the teſtimony, of all things which I will give thee in commandment unto the children of Iſrael.

23 ¶ Thou ſhalt alſo make a table of ſhittim-wood: two cubits ſhall be the length thereof, and a cubit the breadth thereof, and a cubit and a half the height thereof.

24 And thou ſhalt overlay it with pure gold, and make thereto a crown of gold round about.

25 And thou ſhalt make unto it a border of an hand-breadth round about, and thou ſhalt make a golden crown to the border thereof round about.

26 And thou ſhalt make for it four rings of gold, and put the rings in the four corners that are on the four feet thereof.

27 Over againſt the border ſhall the rings be, for places of the ſtaves to bear the table.

28 And thou ſhalt make the ſtaves of ſhittim-wood, and overlay them with gold, that the table may be borne with them.

29 And thou ſhalt make the diſhes thereof, and ſpoons thereof, and covers thereof, and bowls thereof, to cover withal: of pure gold ſhalt thou make them.

30 And thou ſhalt ſet upon the table ſhew-bread before me alway.

31 ¶ And thou ſhalt make a candleſtick of pure gold: of beaten work ſhall the candleſtick be made: his ſhaft, and his branches, his bowls, his knops, and his flowers ſhall be of the ſame.

10 And they ſhall make me an ark.] A kind of cheſt or coffer. It is often called the ark of the covenant; becauſe it was a ſymbol of the covenant made between God and his people, and contained the two tables of teſtimony, the pot of manna, and Aaron's miraculous rod.

11 A crown of gold round about.] A corniſh or rim of maſſy gold was to go round the top of it.

17 Thou ſhalt make a mercy-ſeat.] It was called the mercy-ſeat, from its being the place of God's more immediate preſence. It was of beaten gold, and fixed with the cherubim that overſhadowed it, in a frame, or as Moſes calls it a crown, not of a round, but oblong ſquare figure, which incloſed the upper part of the ark like a rim.

18 And thou ſhalt make two cherubims of gold.] What was the form and poſture of thoſe cherubims Moſes has not told us, further than they ſtretched out their wings on high and covered the mercy-ſeat, and that they faced one another, with their faces turned towards the mercy-ſeat; whence we may reaſonably conclude, that they were, at leaſt, in a kind of bowing poſture. This attitude, though not ſo clearly expreſſed by Moſes, may be farther evinced, not only as it was the moſt decent and reſpectful, but as it ſeems to be alluded to by the pſalmiſt, who having declared that God was ſeated between the cherubims, and expreſſed his majeſty, juſtice, and power, in the two or three verſes following, adds, proſtrate yourſelves before his footſtool.

23 Thou ſhalt make a table.] The uſe of this table is deſcribed v. 30.

32 And six branches shall come out of the sides of it: three branches of the candlestick out of the one side, and three branches of the candlestick out of the other side.

33 Three bowls made like unto almonds, with a knop and a flower in one branch; and three bowls made like almonds in the other branch, with a knop and a flower: so in the six branches that come out of the candlestick.

34 And in the candlestick shall be four bowls made like unto almonds, with their knops and their flowers:

35 And there shall be a knop under two branches of the same, and a knop under two branches of the same, and a knop under two branches of the same, according to the six branches that proceed out of the candlestick.

36 Their knops and their branches shall be of the same: all of it shall be one beaten work of pure gold.

37 And thou shalt make the seven lamps thereof: and they shall light the lamps thereof, that they may give light over-against it.

38 And the tongs thereof, and the snuff-dishes thereof shall be of pure gold.

39 Of a talent of pure gold shall he make it, with all these vessels.

40 And look that thou make them after their pattern, which was shewed thee in the mount.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 The ten curtains of the tabernacle. 31 The vail for the ark.

MOreover thou shalt make the tabernacle with ten curtains of fine twined linen, and blue, and purple, and scarlet: with cherubims of cunning work shalt thou make them.

2 The length of one curtain shall be eight and twenty cubits, and the breadth of one curtain four cubits: and every one of the curtains shall have one measure.

3 The five curtains shall be coupled together one to another; and other five curtains shall be coupled one to another.

4 And thou shalt make loops of blue upon the edge of the one curtain, from the selvedge in the coupling; and likewise shalt thou make in the uttermost edge of another curtain, in the coupling of the second.

5 Fifty loops shalt thou make in the one curtain, and fifty loops shalt thou make in the edge of the curtain that is in the coupling of the second; that the loops may take hold one of another.

6 And thou shalt make fifty taches of gold, and couple the curtains together with the taches: and it shall be one tabernacle.

7 And thou shalt make curtains of goats hair to be a covering upon the tabernacle: eleven curtains shalt thou make.

8 The length of one curtain shall be thirty cubits, and the breadth of one curtain four cubits: and the eleven curtains shall be all of one measure.

9 And thou shalt couple five curtains by themselves, and six curtains by themselves, and shalt double the sixth curtain in the fore-front of the tabernacle.

10 And thou shalt make fifty loops on the edge of the one curtain, that is outmost in the coupling, and fifty loops in the edge of the curtain which coupleth the second.

11 And thou shalt make fifty taches of brass, and put the taches into the loops, and couple the tent together, that it may be one.

12 And the remnant that remaineth of the curtains of the tent, the half curtain that remaineth, shall hang over the back-side of the tabernacle.

13 And a cubit on the one side, and a cubit on the other side of that which remaineth in the length of the curtains of the tent, it shall hang over the sides of the tabernacle, on this side, and on that side, to cover it.

14 And thou shalt make a covering for the 39 A talent of pure gold.] A talent was 3000 shekels, and amounted to about 5250*l.* sterling.

Notes on the Twenty-fixth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Moreover, thou shalt make the tabernacle.] The word in the original, which we render tabernacle, literally signifies a tent; it being necessary, that this sacred place, where the most solemn parts of divine worship were to be performed, should be fitted to their frequent marches, and be easily set up and taken down, as occasion required.

14 And a covering above.] i. e. A fourth covering above that of the ram-skins, for the greater security of the inmost hangings.

tent of rams ſkins dyed red, and a covering above of badgers ſkins.

15 And thou ſhalt make boards for the tabernacle of ſhittim-wood ſtanding up.

16 Ten cubits ſhall be the length of a board, and a cubit and a half ſhall be the breadth of one board.

17 Two tenons ſhall there be in one board, ſet in order one againſt another: thus ſhalt thou make for all the boards of the tabernacle.

18 And thou ſhalt make the boards for the tabernacle, twenty boards on the ſouth-ſide, ſouth-ward.

19 And thou ſhalt make forty ſockets of ſilver under the twenty boards; two ſockets under one board for his two tenons, and two ſockets under another board for his two tenons.

20 And for the ſecond ſide of the tabernacle on the north-ſide, there ſhall be twenty boards.

21 And their forty ſockets of ſilver; two ſockets under one board, and two ſockets under another board.

22 And for the ſides of the tabernacle weſtward thou ſhalt make ſix boards.

23 And two boards ſhalt thou make for the corners of the tabernacle in the two ſides.

24 And they ſhall be coupled together beneath, and they ſhall be coupled together above the head of it unto one ring: thus ſhall it be for them both; they ſhall be for the two corners.

25 And they ſhall be eight boards, and their ſockets of ſilver, ſixteen ſockets; two ſockets under one board, and two ſockets under another board.

26 And thou ſhalt make bars of ſhittim-wood; five for the boards of the one ſide of the tabernacle,

27 And five bars for the boards of the other ſide of the tabernacle, and five bars for the boards of the ſide of the tabernacle, for the two ſides weſt-ward.

28 And the middle bar in the midſt of the boards ſhall reach from end to end.

29 And thou ſhalt overlay the boards with gold, and make their rings of gold for places for the bars: and thou ſhalt overlay the bars with gold.

30 And thou ſhalt rear up the tabernacle according to the faſhion thereof, which was ſhewed thee in the mount.

31 ¶ And thou ſhalt make a vail of blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine twined linen of cunning work: with cherubims ſhall it be made:

32 And thou ſhalt hang it upon four pillars of ſhittim-wood, overlaid with gold: their hooks ſhall be of gold, upon the four ſockets of ſilver.

33 And thou ſhalt hang up the vail under the taches, that thou mayeſt bring in thither within the vail the ark of the teſtimony: and the vail ſhall divide unto you between the holy place and the moſt holy.

34 And thou ſhalt put the mercy-ſeat upon the ark of the teſtimony, in the moſt holy place.

35 And thou ſhalt ſet the table without the vail, and the candleſtick over againſt the table on the one ſide of the tabernacle toward the ſouth: and thou ſhalt put the table on the north-ſide.

36 And thou ſhalt make an hanging for the door of the tent, of blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine twined linen, wrought with needle-work.

37 And thou ſhalt make for the hanging five pillars of ſhittim-wood, and overlay them with gold, and their hooks ſhall be of gold: and thou ſhalt caſt five ſockets of braſs for them.

---

24 And they ſhall be coupled together beneath.] The ſenſe of this verſe ſeems to be: And they ſhall be uniformly joined at the bottom, and likewiſe uniformly joined at the top in ſimilar rings or ſtaples: thus ſhall it be for them both. Theſe ſhall be for the two corners.

27 For the two ſides weſt-ward.] This ſhould be rendered, for the ſide weſt-ward.

31 A vail of blue, &c.] This vail divided the tabernacle into two parts, ſeparating the holy from the moſt holy place. It was made of the richeſt ſtuff, both for matter and workmanſhip; and adorned with cherubims, feſtoons, and other ornaments curiouſly embroidered upon it.

33 The moſt holy.] This is often conſidered in the New Teſtament as a figure of heaven, into which Chriſt is entered as our fore-runner, and whither our hope extends.

36 The door of the tent.] It is plain from the former part of this deſcription, ver. 12, 22, 23. that the ark and mercy-ſeat were in the weſt end of the tabernacle, that is, the door or entrance fronted the eaſt: ſo that the Iſraelites in worſhipping Jehovah turned their faces towards the weſt, that they might be thus figuratively taught to turn from the worſhip of that luminary, the great idol of the nations, and to adore the God who made him and them.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 The altar of burnt-offering, with the veſſels. 9 The court of the tabernacle. 20 The oil for the lamp.

AND thou ſhalt make an altar of ſhittim-wood, five cubits long, and five cubits broad; the altar ſhall be four ſquare: and the height thereof ſhall be three cubits.

2 And thou ſhalt make the horns of it upon the four corners thereof: his horns ſhall be of the ſame: and thou ſhalt over-lay it with braſs.

3 And thou ſhalt make his pans to receive his aſhes, and his ſhovels, and his baſons, and his fleſh-hooks, and his fire-pans: all the veſſels thereof thou ſhalt make of braſs.

4 And thou ſhalt make for it a grate of network of braſs; and upon the net ſhalt thou make four braſen rings in the four corners thereof.

5 And thou ſhalt put it under the compaſs of the altar beneath, that the net may be even to the midſt of the altar.

6 And thou ſhalt make ſtaves for the altar, ſtaves of ſhittim-wood, and over-lay them with braſs.

7 And the ſtaves ſhall be put into the rings, and the ſtaves ſhall be upon the two ſides of the altar to bear it.

8 Hollow with boards ſhalt thou make it: as it was ſhewed thee in the mount, ſo ſhall they make it.

9 ¶ And thou ſhalt make the court of the tabernacle: for the ſouth-ſide ſouthward, there ſhall be hangings for the court of fine twined linen of an hundred cubits long, for one ſide.

10 And the twenty pillars thereof, and their twenty ſockets ſhall be of braſs: the hooks of the pillars and their fillets ſhall be of ſilver.

11 And likewiſe for the north-ſide in length, there ſhall be hangings of an hundred cubits long, and his twenty pillars and their twenty ſockets of braſs: the hooks of the pillars and their fillets of ſilver.

12 And for the breadth of the court on the weſt-ſide, ſhall be hangings of fifty cubits: their pillars ten, and their ſockets ten.

13 And the breadth of the court on the eaſt-ſide, eaſt-ward, ſhall be fifty cubits.

14 The hangings of one ſide of the gate ſhall be fifteen cubits: their pillars three, and their ſockets three.

15 And on the other ſide ſhall be hangings fifteen cubits: their pillars three, and their ſockets three.

16 And for the gate of the court ſhall be an hanging of twenty cubits, of blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine twined linen, wrought with needle-work: and their pillars ſhall be four, and their ſockets four.

17 All the pillars round about the court ſhall be filleted with ſilver: their hooks ſhall be of ſilver, and their ſockets of braſs.

18 The length of the court ſhall be an hundred cubits, and the breadth fifty every where, and the height five cubits of fine twined linen, and their ſockets of braſs.

19 All the veſſels of the tabernacle in all the ſervice thereof, and all the pins thereof, and all the pins of the court ſhall be of braſs.

20 ¶ And thou ſhalt command the children of Iſrael, that they bring thee pure oil-olive beaten, for the light, to cauſe the lamp to burn always.

Notes on the Twenty-ſeventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 And thou ſhalt make an altar of ſhittim-wood.] In the deſcription of this altar a difficulty has been ſtarted, with regard to the wood, how it was poſſible to prevent its being burnt by the continual fire, though the braſs covered it? But this difficulty is eaſily removed, by ſuppoſing that the top, with its crown or frame, was ſo fixed as to be at ſome ſmall diſtance above the wood of the altar.

2 And thou ſhalt make the horns of it, &c.] By the word horns are meant pinnacles or ſpires, one at each corner, and made out of the ſame wood: theſe were partly for ornament, and partly to tie the ſacrifice to, before it was ſlain. They ſerved alſo to keep the wood of the ſacrifice from ſliding off.

3 His baſons and his fleſh-hooks.] Baſons to receive the blood of the ſacrifice, and hooks or forks, for taking up the pieces of the ſacrifice, in order to lay them right upon the fire.

9 Court of the tabernacle,] Round about the tabernacle was a large oblong court, encloſed with hangings, and ſupported by pillars overlaid with ſilver. In this court, towards the upper end, ſtood the tabernacle; and, between that and the entrance, the altar of burnt-offerings in the open air, that the fire, which was kept up perpetually upon it, and the ſmoke ariſing from the victims, might not ſpoil the inſide of the tabernacle.

20 Pure oil-olive.] Such as run freely from the olives, when bruiſed with a peſtel.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 Aaron and his ſons are ſeparated for the prieſt's office. 6 The ephod, breaſt-plate, and other holy garments appointed.

AND take thou unto thee Aaron thy brother, and his ſons with him, from among the children of Iſrael, that he may miniſter unto me in the prieſt's office, even Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar, Aaron's ſons.

2 And thou ſhalt make holy garments for Aaron thy brother, for glory and for beauty.

3 And thou ſhalt ſpeak unto all that are wiſe-hearted, whom I have filled with the ſpirit of wiſdom, that they may make Aaron's garments to conſecrate him, that he may miniſter unto me in the prieſt's office.

4 And theſe are the garments which they ſhall make: a breaſt-plate, and an ephod, and a robe, and a broidered coat, a miter, and a girdle: and they ſhall make holy garments for Aaron thy brother, and his ſons, that he may miniſter unto me in the prieſt's office.

5 And they ſhall take gold, and blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine linen.

6 ¶ And they ſhall make the ephod of gold, of blue, and of purple, of ſcarlet, and fine twined linen, with cunning work.

7 It ſhall have the two ſhoulder-pieces thereof joined at the two edges thereof; and ſo it ſhall be joined together.

8 And the curious girdle of the ephod, which is upon it, ſhall be of the ſame, according to the work thereof; even of gold, of blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine twined linen.

9 And thou ſhalt take two onyx-ſtones, and grave on them the names of the children of Iſrael:

10 Six of their names on one ſtone, and the other ſix names of the reſt on the other ſtone, according to their birth.

11 With the work of an engraver in ſtone, like the engravings of a ſignet, ſhalt thou engrave the two ſtones with the names of the children of Iſrael: thou ſhalt make them to be ſet in ouches of gold.

12 And thou ſhalt put the two ſtones upon the ſhoulders of the ephod, for ſtones of memorial unto the children of Iſrael. And Aaron ſhall bear their names before the LORD upon his two ſhoulders for a memorial.

13 And thou ſhalt make ouches of gold;

14 And two chains of pure gold at the ends; of wreathen work ſhalt thou make them, and faſten the wreathen chains to the ouches.

15 And thou ſhalt make the breaſt-plate of judgement with cunning work: after the work of the ephod thou ſhalt make it; of gold, of blue, and of purple, and of ſcarlet, and of fine twined linen ſhalt thou make it.

16 Four ſquare it ſhall be being doubled; a ſpan ſhall be the length thereof, and a ſpan ſhall be the breadth thereof.

17 And thou ſhalt ſet in it ſettings of ſtones, even four rows of ſtones: the firſt row ſhall be a ſardius, a topaz, and a carbuncle: this ſhall be the firſt row.

18 And the ſecond row ſhall be an emerald, a ſapphire, and a diamond.

Notes on the Twenty-eighth Chapter.

Ver. 2 Holy garments.] Such peculiar garments as were permitted to be worn by none but prieſts, and by them only when they miniſtered before God.

3 All that are wiſe-hearted.] All who are ſkilful artiſts.

Whom I have filled with the ſpirit of wiſdom.] The wiſdom or mechanical ſkill of artiſts is here, with great propriety, aſcribed to God; not that we ſhould conſider it as given by inſpiration, like the ſpirit of prophecy, but becauſe every good gift is derived from him, who forms the mind with all its powers, and for the general good of ſociety, diſpenſes different gifts and endowments to different members.

6 The ephod.] See in verſe 7, chap. xxiv.

15 Breaſt-plate of judgment.] So called, becauſe the high-prieſt wore it upon his breaſt, when he went to aſk counſel or judgment from God. See ver. 29.

17 A ſardius.] A precious ſtone of a red flaming colour, half tranſparent, and ſometimes with a yellow caſt in it: jewelers call it a cornelian, of which there are ſeveral ſpecies.

A topaz.] This precious ſtone is tranſparent, and of a beautiful yellow or gold colour. It has its name from Topazus, an iſland in the Red Sea, where it was firſt found.

Carbuncle.] Is a ſpecies of the ruby, and of a glowing red colour, named from carbo, a hot coal.

18 An emerald.] This gem is of the moſt lively green, tranſparent, and free from the leaſt mixture of any other colour, and therefore of all gems the moſt grateful to the eye.

A ſapphire.] The ſapphire is of a fine blue colour.

19 And the third row a ligure, an agate, and an amethyſt.

20 And the fourth row a beryl, and an onyx, and a jaſper; they ſhall be ſet in gold in their encloſings.

21 And the ſtones ſhall be with the names of the children of Iſrael, twelve, according to their names; like the engravings of a ſignet, every one with his name ſhall they be according to the twelve tribes.

22 And thou ſhalt make upon the breaſt-plate chains at the ends, of wreathen work, of pure gold.

23 And thou ſhalt make upon the breaſt-plate two rings of gold, and ſhalt put the two rings on the two ends of the breaſt-plate.

24 And thou ſhalt put the two wreathen chains of gold in the two rings which are on the ends of the breaſt-plate.

25 And the other two ends of the two wreathen chains thou ſhalt faſten in the two ouches, and put them on the ſhoulder-pieces of the ephod before it.

26 And thou ſhalt make two rings of gold, and thou ſhalt put them upon the two ends of the breaſt-plate, in the border thereof, which is in the ſide of the ephod inward.

27 And two other rings of gold thou ſhalt make, and ſhalt put them on the two ſides of the ephod underneath, towards the forepart thereof, over againſt the other coupling thereof, above the curious girdle of the ephod.

28 And they ſhall bind the breaſt-plate by the rings thereof unto the rings of the ephod, with a lace of blue, that it may be above the curious girdle of the ephod, and that the breaſt-plate be not looſed from the ephod.

29 And Aaron ſhall bear the names of the children of Iſrael in the breaſt-plate of judgement, upon his heart, when he goeth in unto the holy place, for a memorial before the LORD continually.

30 And thou ſhalt put in the breaſt-plate of judgement, the Urim and the Thummim; and they ſhall be upon Aaron's heart, when he goeth in before the LORD: and Aaron ſhall bear the judgement of the children of Iſrael upon his heart before the LORD continually.

31 And thou ſhalt make the robe of the ephod all of blue.

32 And there ſhall be an hole in the top of it, in the midſt thereof: it ſhall have a binding of woven work round about the hole of it, as it were the hole of an habergeon, that it be not rent.

33 And beneath upon the hem of it thou ſhalt make pomegranates of blue, and of purple, and of ſcarlet round about the hem thereof; and bells of gold between them round about.

34 A golden bell and a pomegranate, a golden bell and a pomegranate, upon the hem of the robe round about.

35 And it ſhall be upon Aaron to miniſter: and his ſound ſhall be heard when he goeth in unto the holy place before the LORD, and when he cometh out; that he die not.

36 And thou ſhalt make a plate of pure gold,

A diamond.] This gem is placed in the firſt claſs of precious ſtones, both with regard to value, hardneſs, and luſtre.

19 A ligure.] This is thought to be a kind of jacinth, and nearly of the colour of amber.

Agate.] Is partly tranſparent, partly opaque, generally variegated with veins diſpoſed in the moſt elegant manner.

An amethiſt.] A precious ſtone of a violet colour, bordering on purple, or nearly the colour of red wine.

20 A beryl.] A gem of pale green colour, now generally known by the name of Aqua Marina, from its reſembling the water of the ſea in colour.

An onyx.] This gem is often of the colour of the human nail, variegated, in the moſt regular manner, with zones of a brown colour.

A jaſper.] The jaſper is generally of a green colour, ſpotted with yellow, brown, white, or blue.

30 The Urim and Thummim.] Theſe words have given riſe to a variety of conjectures; but the moſt conſonant to truth is that of the learned Hottinger, who thinks, that when Moſes is commanded to put into the breaſt-plate the Urim and Thummim, i. e. lights and perfections, it only implies, that he ſhould make choice of the moſt precious ſet of ſtones, and have them poliſhed in ſo elegant a manner, that they might give the moſt conſummate luſtre. Univerſ. Hiſt. And I cannot help remarking, that the very expreſſion uſed by Moſes, naturally tends to confirm the above conjecture. For after God had given him all the particular directions for making the breaſt-plate, ſuch as the length and breadth, the materials, the precious ſtones, and even to the hooks, rings, chain and ſtring by which it was to be made faſt to the ephod, he adds, And thou ſhalt put into the breaſt-plate the Urim and the Thummim, or as it is in the original, when literally tranſlated, And thou ſhalt give to the breaſt-plate of judgment thoſe lights and perfections; namely, of the twelve ſtones above deſcribed. With regard to the manner how God was conſulted by Urim and Thummim, there are various opinions; but it ſeems to have been done in the following manner: The prieſt preſented himſelf with the breaſt-plate on, over all his other robes before the veil, exactly over-againſt the mercy-ſeat, where the Divine Preſence reſted; and then God gave him an anſwer, as he did Moſes, by an audible voice from the mercy-ſeat. See Judges i. 1, 2. xx. 18, 23, 28.

Aaron ſhall bear the judgement.] The breaſt-plate of judgment.

36 Holineſs to the Lord.] Heb. Holineſs to Jehovah. A motto, whoſe ſublimity could not fail to remind the prieſt, that he was conſecrated to Jehovah, the God of the whole earth.

and grave upon it, like the engravings of a signet, HOLINESS TO THE LORD.

37 And thou shalt put it on a blue lace, that it may be upon the miter: upon the forefront of the miter it shall be.

38 And it shall be upon Aaron's forehead, that Aaron may bear the iniquity of the holy things, which the children of Israel shall hallow in all their holy gifts: and it shall be always upon his forehead, that they may be accepted before the LORD.

39 And thou shalt embroider the coat of fine linen, and thou shalt make the miter of fine linen, and thou shalt make the girdle of needle-work.

40 And for Aaron's sons thou shalt make coats, and thou shalt make for them girdles, and bonnets shalt thou make for them, for glory and for beauty.

41 And thou shalt put them upon Aaron thy brother, and his sons with him: and shalt anoint them, and consecrate them, and sanctify them, that they may minister unto me in the priest's office.

42 And thou shalt make them linen breeches, to cover their nakedness: from the loins even unto the thighs they shall reach.

43 And they shall be upon Aaron, and upon his sons, when they come in unto the tabernacle of the congregation, or when they come near unto the altar to minister in the holy place; that they bear not iniquity, and die. It shall be a statute for ever unto him, and his seed after him.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 The sacrifice and ceremonies of consecrating the priests. 38 The continual burnt-offering.

AND this is the thing that thou shalt do unto them to hallow them, to minister unto me in the priest's office: take one young bullock, and two rams without blemish,

2 And unleavened bread, and cakes unleavened tempered with oil, and wafers unleavened anointed with oil: of wheaten flour shalt thou make them.

3 And thou shalt put them into one basket, and bring them in the basket, with the bullock and the two rams.

4 And Aaron and his sons thou shalt bring unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and shalt wash them with water.

5 And thou shalt take the garments, and put upon Aaron the coat, and the robe of the ephod, and the ephod, and the breast-plate, and gird him with the curious girdle of the ephod.

6 And thou shalt put the miter upon his head, and put the holy crown upon the miter.

7 Then shalt thou take the anointing oil, and pour it upon his head, and anoint him.

38 And Aaron shall bear the iniquity of the holy things] He shall obtain pardon for all the sinful defects of the people, in the performance of their sacred duties.

43 It shall be a statute for ever.] As long as there shall be any priesthood of the order of Aaron, they shall appear before God in these garments.

Notes on the Twenty-ninth Chapter.

Ver. 1 And this is the thing, &c.] This chapter contains a succinct account of the manner of consecrating the Jewish priests; and we may observe, that every ceremony was ordered to be performed in the most solemn manner; doubtless, to strike both them and the people with a still deeper sense of the sacredness of that function. The Jewish high-priest was a manifest type of our blessed Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, as the author of the Hebrews has declared in more instances than one. The Jewish high-priest was the only person who was admitted into the holy of holies; and we have such an high-priest, who is set at the right hand of the throne of the Majesty in the heavens, a minister of the sanctuary, and of the true tabernacle, which the Lord pitched, and not man, Heb. viii. 1, 2. The Jewish high-priest offered a solemn expiatory sacrifice once a year; our Lord appeared once in the end of the world to put away every sin by the sacrifice of himself, Heb. ix. 26. After the expiatory sacrifice, the Jewish high-priest went into the holy place, there to offer incense on the golden altar; our Lord, when he had purged our sins, sat down on the right hand of the Majesty on high, (Heb. i. 3.) there to appear in the presence of God, and, by the incense of his merits, to make continual intercession for us. In the same manner the several sacrifices, appointed under the law, equally lead us to Christ: for he was the trespass-offering, in that he was made sin for us; the peace-offering, because he made peace by the blood of his cross; the meat and drink-offering, for his flesh is meat indeed, and his blood is drink indeed; the scape-goat, for he hath carried away our sins, never more to be remembered against us; the paschal lamb, for Christ our passover is sacrificed for us; the great sacrifice of atonement, for Jesus Christ the righteous, is both our advocate with the Father, and a propitiation for our sins: and, in fine, his blood, who, through the everlasting spirit, offered himself to God without spot, is more effectual than the blood of bulls and goats, to purge our consciences from dead works, to serve the living God.

4 And shalt wash them with water.] Ablution was an antient rite, observed in all acts of worship as a proper emblem of that moral and internal purity which renders every oblation acceptable to God. It is probable their bodies were now washed, in token of their obligation to study universal purity, and to cleanse themselves from all unrighteousness; but afterwards they were appointed to wash only their hands and feet before they entered the tabernacle, chap. xxx. 19.

8 And thou ſhalt bring his ſons, and put coats upon them.

9 And thou ſhalt gird them with girdles, (Aaron and his ſons) and put the bonnets on them: and the prieſt's office ſhall be their's, for a perpetual ſtatute: and thou ſhalt conſecrate Aaron and his ſons.

10 And thou ſhalt cauſe a bullock to be brought before the tabernacle of the congregation: and Aaron and his ſons ſhall put their hands upon the head of the bullock.

11 And thou ſhalt kill the bullock before the LORD, by the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

12 And thou ſhalt take of the blood of the bullock, and put it upon the horns of the altar with thy finger, and pour all the blood beſide the bottom of the altar.

13 And thou ſhalt take all the fat that covereth the inwards, and the caul that is above the liver, and the two kidneys, and the fat that is upon them, and burn them upon the altar.

14 But the fleſh of the bullock, and his ſkin, and his dung ſhalt thou burn with fire without the camp: it is a ſin-offering.

15 Thou ſhalt alſo take one ram; and Aaron and his ſons ſhall put their hands upon the head of the ram.

16 And thou ſhalt ſlay the ram, and thou ſhalt take his blood, and ſprinkle it round about upon the altar.

17 And thou ſhalt cut the ram in pieces, and waſh the inwards of him, and his legs, and put them unto his pieces, and unto his head.

18 And thou ſhalt burn the whole ram upon the altar: it is a burnt-offering unto the LORD: it is a ſweet ſavour, an offering made by fire unto the LORD.

19 And thou ſhalt take the other ram; and Aaron and his ſons ſhall put their hands upon the head of the ram.

20 Then ſhalt thou kill the ram, and take of his blood, and put it upon the tip of the right ear of Aaron, and upon the tip of the right ear of his ſons, and upon the thumb of their right hand, and upon the great toe of their right foot, and ſprinkle the blood upon the altar round about.

21 And thou ſhalt take of the blood that is upon the altar, and of the anointing oil, and ſprinkle it upon Aaron, and upon his garments, and upon his ſons, and upon the garments of his ſons with him: and he ſhall be hallowed, and his garments, and his ſons, and his ſons garments with him.

22 Alſo thou ſhalt take of the ram the fat and the rump, and the fat that covereth the inwards, and the caul above the liver, and the two kidneys, and the fat that is upon them, and the right ſhoulder; for it is a ram of conſecration:

23 And one loaf of bread, and one cake of oiled bread, and one wafer out of the baſket of the unleavened bread that is before the LORD.

24 And thou ſhalt put all in the hands of Aaron, and in the hands of his ſons; and ſhalt wave them for a wave-offering before the LORD.

25 And thou ſhalt receive them of their hands, and burn them upon the altar for a burnt-offering, for a ſweet ſavour before the LORD: it is an offering made by fire unto the LORD.

26 And thou ſhalt take the breaſt of the ram of Aaron's conſecration, and wave it for a wave-offering before the LORD: and it ſhall be thy part.

27 And thou ſhalt ſanctify the breaſt of the wave-offering, and the ſhoulder of the heave-offering, which is waved, and which is heaved up of the ram of the conſecration, even of that which is for Aaron, and of that which is for his ſons.

28 And it ſhall be Aaron's and his ſons by a ſtatute for ever, from the children of Iſrael: for

---

20 And put it upon the tip of the right ear, &c.] All this tended to make the prieſt underſtand, that he ought to apply his ear diligently to the ſtudy of the law, to employ his hands with the ſame diligence in his ſacred miniſtry, and his feet to walk in the way of God's precepts; for the ear is the ſymbol of obedience, the hand of action, and the foot of the path or conduct of life.

24 Wave them for a wave-offering.] The Rabins tell us, that the difference between a wave and a heave-offering conſiſted in this; that the former was waved up and down, eaſt, weſt, north, and ſouth, to ſignify, that he to whom it was offered was Lord of the whole earth, the God who fills all ſpace, and to whom all things of right belong: whereas the latter was only lifted up towards heaven, in token of its being devoted to God. But both theſe words are often uſed for an offering in general.

30 Shall

it is an heave-offering: and it ſhall be an heave-offering from the children of Iſrael of the ſacrifice of their peace-offerings, even their heave-offering unto the LORD.

29 And the holy garments of Aaron ſhall be his ſon's after him, to be anointed therein, and to be conſecrated in them.

30 And that ſon that is prieſt in his ſtead ſhall put them on ſeven days, when he cometh into the tabernacle of the congregation to miniſter in the holy place.

31 And thou ſhalt take the ram of the conſecration, and ſeethe his fleſh in the holy place.

32 And Aaron and his ſons ſhall eat the fleſh of the ram, and the bread that is in the baſket, by the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

33 And they ſhall eat thoſe things wherewith the atonement was made, to conſecrate and to ſanctify them; but a ſtranger ſhall not eat thereof, becauſe they are holy.

34 And if ought of the fleſh of the conſecrations, or of the bread remain unto the morning; then thou ſhalt burn the remainder with fire: it ſhall not be eaten, becauſe it is holy.

35 And thus ſhalt thou do unto Aaron, and to his ſons, according to all things which I have commanded thee: ſeven days ſhalt thou conſecrate them.

36 And thou ſhalt offer every day a bullock for a ſin-offering, for atonement: and thou ſhalt cleanſe the altar, when thou haſt made an atonement for it, and thou ſhalt anoint it to ſanctify it.

37 Seven days thou ſhalt make an atonement for the altar, and ſanctify it; and it ſhall be an altar moſt holy: whatſoever toucheth the altar ſhall be holy.

38 ¶ Now this is that which thou ſhalt offer upon the altar; two lambs of the firſt year day by day continually.

39 The one lamb thou ſhalt offer in the morning; and the other lamb thou ſhalt offer at even.

40 And with the one lamb a tenth-deal of flour mingled with the fourth part of an hin of beaten oil; and the fourth part of an hin of wine for a drink-offering.

41 And the other lamb thou ſhalt offer at even, and ſhalt do thereto according to the meat-offering of the morning, and according to the drink-offering thereof, for a ſweet ſavour, an offering made by fire unto the LORD.

42 This ſhall be a continual burnt-offering throughout your generations, at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, before the LORD: where I will meet you, to ſpeak there unto thee.

43 And there I will meet with the children of Iſrael, and the tabernacle ſhall be ſanctified by my glory.

44 And I will ſanctify the tabernacle of the congregation, and the altar: I will ſanctify alſo both Aaron and his ſons, to miniſter to me in the prieſt's office.

45 And I will dwell among the children of Iſrael, and will be their God.

46 And they ſhall know that I am the LORD their God, that brought them forth out of the land of Egypt, that I may dwell amongſt them: I am the LORD their God.

CHAP. XXX.

1 The altar of incenſe. 11 The ranſom of ſouls. 17 The laver. 22 The holy anointing oil. 34 The compoſition of the perfume.

30 Shall put them on ſeven days.] He was to put them on ſeven days together, that he might learn to appear in a decent manner, and the people be habituated to pay him reverence, before he undertook to miniſter. It is to be obſerved, that during the whole ſeven days of conſecration, the prieſts were not to ſtir from the door of the tabernacle, but to keep the watch of Jehovah night and day. The number ſeven is much regarded in the ſacred writings: the blood of atonement was ſprinkled ſeven times before the mercy-ſeat: the conſecrating oil was to be ſprinkled ſeven times on the altar: the leper was ſprinkled ſeven times, and ſeven days were appointed for his cleanſing: ſeven days were appointed for conſecrating prieſts and for purifying the unclean: ſeven times Naaman waſhed in Jordan: ſeven days was Jericho beſieged, and ſeven prieſts blew with ſeven trumpets: every ſeventh day was a ſabbath, and the ſeventh year a year of reſt; and ſeven times ſeven years brought the jubilee.

40 A tenth-deal of flour.] An omer, or the tenth part of an ephah; equal to about half a peck, Engliſh.

An hin.] The ſixth part of an ephah: ſo that the fourth part of an hin of wine, according to Dr. Cumberland, was about a quart and ſomething more than a quarter of a pint.

45 I will dwell amongſt the children of Iſrael.] I will place in the midſt of them the Shechinah, or ſymbol of my peculiar preſence. A manifeſt repreſentation of that happy intercourſe which upright minds enjoy with their great Creator, in the exerciſe of virtue and religion: and was a type of that eternal life which the ſaints enjoy in heaven, where they are always in the preſence of their God.

AND thou ſhalt make an altar to burn incenſe upon: of ſhittim-wood ſhalt thou make it.

2 A cubit ſhall be the length thereof, and a cubit the breadth thereof: (fourſquare ſhall it be:) and two cubits ſhall be the height thereof: the horns thereof ſhall be of the ſame.

3 And thou ſhalt overlay it with gold, the top thereof, and the ſides thereof round about, and the horns thereof: and thou ſhalt make unto it a crown of gold round about.

4 And two golden rings ſhalt thou make to it under the crown of it, by the two corners thereof, upon the two ſides of it ſhalt thou make it: and they ſhall be for places for the ſtaves to bear it withal.

5 And thou ſhalt make the ſtaves of ſhittim-wood, and overlay them with gold.

6 And thou ſhalt put it before the vail that is by the ark of the teſtimony; before the mercy-ſeat that is over the teſtimony, where I will meet with thee.

7 And Aaron ſhall burn thereon ſweet incenſe every morning: when he dreſſeth the lamps he ſhall burn incenſe upon it.

8 And when Aaron lighteth the lamps at even, he ſhall burn incenſe upon it; a perpetual incenſe before the LORD throughout your generations.

9 Ye ſhall offer no ſtrange incenſe thereon, nor burnt ſacrifice, nor meat-offering; neither ſhall ye pour drink-offering thereon.

10 And Aaron ſhall make an atonement upon the horns of it once in a year, with the blood of the ſin-offering of atonements: once in the year ſhall he make atonement upon it throughout your generations: it is moſt holy unto the LORD.

11 ¶ And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

12 When thou takeſt the ſum of the children of Iſrael, after their number; then ſhall they give every man a ranſom for his ſoul unto the LORD, when thou numbereſt them; that there be no plague amongſt them, when thou numbereſt them.

13 This they ſhall give, every one that paſſeth among them that are numbered, half a ſhekel after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary: (a ſhekel is twenty gerahs:) an half-ſhekel ſhall be the offering of the LORD.

14 Every one, that paſſeth among them that are numbered from twenty years old and above, ſhall give an offering unto the LORD.

15 The rich ſhall not give more, and the poor ſhall not give leſs than half a ſhekel, when they give an offering unto the LORD, to make an atonement for your ſouls.

16 And thou ſhalt take the atonement-money of the children of Iſrael, and ſhalt appoint it for the ſervice of the tabernacle of the congregation; that it may be a memorial unto the children of Iſrael before the LORD, to make an atonement for your ſouls.

17 ¶ And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

18 Thou ſhalt alſo make a laver of braſs, and his foot alſo of braſs, to waſh withal: and thou ſhalt put it between the tabernacle of the congregation and the altar, and thou ſhalt put water therein.

19 For Aaron and his ſons ſhall waſh their hands and their feet thereat.

20 When they go into the tabernacle of the congregation, they ſhall waſh with water, that they die not: or when they come near to the altar to miniſter, to burn offering made by fire unto the LORD.

Notes on the Thirtieth Chapter.

Ver. 7 Sweet incenſe.] This was a compound of many fragrant ſpices, ver. 34. and was intended to perfume the ſanctuary, which muſt otherwiſe have had a very offenſive ſmell, from the great number of beaſts daily ſlain there, cut to pieces, waſhed, and burnt. But it had a more important intention, as, by aſcending up towards the mercy-ſeat, it ſymbolically repreſented the propitiouſneſs of the Deity to ſinful men, and his readineſs to receive thoſe prayers and confeſſions which are accompanied with divine love, and other ſpiritual graces; while the action of the high-prieſt ſhadowed forth the interceſſion of Chriſt, the great high-prieſt of our profeſſion, and his offering up the prayers of his ſervants before the throne of God.

12 Then ſhall they give every man a ranſom for his ſoul.] They ſhall pay a certain tax, as an acknowledgment to God, for having redeemed them from Egyptian ſlavery, and delivered them in ſo many dangers and difficulties, with his own right hand. By paying this homage to Jehovah, they put themſelves entirely under his protection, which was abundantly ſufficient to ſecure them from every evil.

13 Half a ſhekel.] Something more than fourteen pence of our money.

After a ſhekel of the ſanctuary.] That is, a ſhekel equal to the ſtandard weight, which was kept in the ſanctuary.

A ſhekel is twenty gerahs.] Bernard tells us, that a gerah weighed about twenty grains of barley, and was worth ſomething more than a penny.

21 So they ſhall waſh their hands and their feet, that they die not; and it ſhall be a ſtatute for ever to them, even to him and to his ſeed throughout their generations.

22 ¶ Moreover the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

23 Take thou alſo unto thee principal ſpices, of pure myrrh five hundred ſhekels, and of ſweet cinnamon half ſo much, even two hundred and fifty ſhekels, and of ſweet calamus two hundred and fifty ſhekels,

24 And of caſſia five hundred ſhekels, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, and of oil-olive an hin:

25 And thou ſhalt make it an oil of holy ointment, an ointment compound after the art of the apothecary: it ſhall be an holy anointing oil.

26 And thou ſhalt anoint the tabernacle of the congregation therewith, and the ark of the teſtimony,

27 And the table and all his veſſels, and the candleſtick and his veſſels, and the altar of incenſe,

28 And the altar of burnt-offering with all his veſſels, and the laver and his foot.

29 And thou ſhalt ſanctify them, that they may be moſt holy: whatſoever toucheth them ſhall be holy.

30 And thou ſhalt anoint Aaron and his ſons, and conſecrate them, that they may miniſter unto me in the prieſt's office.

31 And thou ſhalt ſpeak unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, This ſhall be an holy anointing oil unto me throughout your generations.

32 Upon man's fleſh ſhall it not be poured, neither ſhall ye make any other like it, after the compoſition of it: it is holy, and it ſhall be holy unto you.

33 Whoſoever compoudeth any like it, or whoſoever putteth any of it upon a ſtranger, ſhall even be cut off from his people.

34 ¶ And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Take unto thee ſweet ſpices, ſtacte, and onycha, and galbanum; theſe ſweet ſpices with pure frankincenſe: of each ſhall there be a like weight;

35 And thou ſhalt make it a perfume, a confection after the art of the apothecary, tempered together, pure and holy:

36 And thou ſhalt beat ſome of it very ſmall, and put of it before the teſtimony in the tabernacle of the congregation, where I will meet with thee: it ſhall be unto you moſt holy.

37 And as for the perfume which thou ſhalt make, ye ſhall not make to your ſelves according to the compoſition thereof: it ſhall be unto thee holy for the LORD.

38 Whoſoever ſhall make like unto that, to ſmell thereto, ſhall even be cut off from his people.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Bezaleel and Aholiab are called for the work of the tabernacle. 12 Of the ſabbath. 18 Moſes receiveth the two tables.

23 Of pure myrrh.] The word in the original is mor, and ſuppoſed by moſt commentators to ſignify myrrh; ſome however are of opinion, that it ſignified ambergriſe, and others frankincenſe.

Five hundred ſhekels.] About twenty pounds ten ounces.

Of ſweet cinnamon.] What we now call by that name is brought from Ceylon, an iſland in the Indian ſea; nor is it known to be produced in any other parts of the Eaſt: and hence the cinnamon of the ancients has been thought to be different from that of the moderns. But it is not impoſſible that the ſame ſpice might be found in ſome of the foreſts of Arabia, though now unknown. That it does grow in other parts of the world, beſides Ceylon, is evident; for Don Antonio de Ulloa tells us, that it is found in one of the foreſts of America; and doubtleſs grows in other places, though hitherto we have not been fortunate enough to find it.

Sweet calamus.] The calamus aromaticus, or ſweet cane. It is a ſpicy root, belonging to a particular flag, or iris.

24 And of caſſia.] There have been various conjectures what this caſſia was; for the drug now known by that name is not aromatic. It probably was that aromatic plant which the antients called coſtus; the beſt ſort grew in Arabia, and was ſometimes burnt on the heathen altars, as appears from Propertius, lib iv. eleg. 6.

Coſtum molle date, & blandi mihi thuris honores.

An hin.] About five quarts.

34 Stacte.] The beſt ſort of myrrh, or that which flows ſpontaneouſly from the tree.

Onycha.] The Arabic verſion has it laudanum, or rather ladanum; an aromatic gum, ſaid to be a principal ingredient among the Arabians in the compoſition of their perfumes. Others think it was the bdellium, another ſpecies of aromatic gum.

And galbanum.] A gum common in Syria. The common galbanum is of a diſagreeable ſcent; and therefore both the ſeptuagint and vulgate tranſlations render it galbanum of ſweet odour: and we are told, that a particular ſort of this gum was brought from mount Amana in Syria, which had a very agreeable ſmell.

Frankincenſe.] An odoriferous gum, that diſtils from inciſions made in a tree common in ſome parts of Arabia, and particularly in that part called Sabæa.

Notes

AND the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,
2 See, I have called by name Bezaleel the ſon of Uri, the ſon of Hur, of the tribe of Judah:
3 And I have filled him with the ſpirit of God, in wiſdom, and in underſtanding, and in knowledge, and in all manner of workmanſhip.
4 To deviſe cunning works, to work in gold, and in ſilver, and in braſs,
5 And in cutting of ſtones to ſet them, and in carving of timber, to work in all manner of workmanſhip.
6 And I, behold, I have given with him Aholiab the ſon of Ahiſamach of the tribe of Dan: and in the hearts of all that are wiſe-hearted I have put wiſdom, that they may make all that I have commanded thee;
7 The tabernacle of the congregation, and the ark of the teſtimony, and the mercy-ſeat that is thereupon, and all the furniture of the tabernacle,
8 And the table and his furniture, and the pure candleſtick with all his furniture, and the altar of incenſe,
9 And the altar of burnt-offering with all his furniture, and the laver and his foot,
10 And the clothes of ſervice, and the holy garments for Aaron the prieſt, and the garments of his ſons, to miniſter in the prieſt's office,
11 And the anointing oil, and ſweet incenſe for the holy place: according to all that I have commanded thee, ſhall they do.
12 ¶ And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,
13 Speak thou alſo unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, Verily my ſabbaths ye ſhall keep: for it is a ſign between me and you throughout your generations; that ye may know that I am the LORD, that doth ſanctify you.
14 Ye ſhall keep the ſabbath therefore: for it is holy unto you. Every one that defileth it, ſhall ſurely be put to death: for whoſoever doth any work therein, that ſoul ſhall be cut off from amongſt his people.
15 Six days may work be done; but in the ſeventh is the ſabbath of reſt, holy to the LORD: whoſoever doth any work in the ſabbath-day, he ſhall ſurely be put to death.
16 Wherefore the children of Iſrael ſhall keep the ſabbath, to obſerve the ſabbath throughout their generations, for a perpetual covenant.
17 It is a ſign between me and the children of Iſrael for ever: for in ſix days the LORD made heaven and earth, and on the ſeventh day he reſted, and was refreſhed.
18 ¶ And he gave unto Moſes, when he had made an end of communing with him upon mount Sinai, two tables of teſtimony, tables of ſtone, written with the finger of God.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 The people cauſe Aaron to make a calf. 19 Moſes breaketh the tables. 25 The idolaters ſlain. 30 Moſes prayeth for the people.

AND when the people ſaw that Moſes delayed to come down out of the mount, the people gathered themſelves together unto Aaron, and ſaid unto him, Up, make us gods, which ſhall go before us; for us for this Moſes, the man that brought us up out of the land of Egypt, we wot not what is become of him.

Notes on the Thirty-firſt Chapter.

Ver. 2 See, I have called by name.] I have choſen, or appointed him to perform theſe works.

3 And I have filled him with the ſpirit of God.] I have inſpired him with knowledge, or rendered him capable of performing excellent works.

8 The pure candleſtick.] The golden candleſtick, becauſe always kept bright and clean, or becauſe made of pure gold.

13 Verily my ſabbaths ye ſhall keep, &c.] This paſſage might be better rendered thus: Nevertheleſs my ſabbaths ye ſhall keep, to make it known, that I Jehovah ſeparate and diſtinguiſh you.

It is a ſign between me and you.] By obſerving one day in ſeven they ſignified themſelves to be the worſhippers of one ſupreme God, the Creator of the world, who in ſix days made all things, and then reſted.

15 The ſabbath of reſt.] Heb. Reſt of reſts; that is, the great ſabbath or reſt, a reſt of all others the moſt religious, and punctually to be obſerved.

18 Written with the finger of God.] This phraſe ſignifies, that God employed neither Moſes, nor any other inſtrument in this writing, but it was done by his own powerful operation. Though it is generally underſtood that Moſes wrote the firſt as well as the ſecond tables by the expreſs command and direction of God. See Univerſal Hiſt. vol. III. p. 410.

Notes on the Thirty-ſecond Chapter.

Ver. 1 Up, make us Gods.] It ſhould have been rendered, Up, make us a God; for the word elohim is often uſed in the ſingular number, and Aaron made only one calf, which was dedicated to Jehovah. The Iſraelites had imbibed the idolatrous notions of the Egyptians, who worſhipped the golden calf as a deity.

They

2 And Aaron ſaid unto them, Break off the golden ear-rings which are in the ears of your wives, of your ſons, and of your daughters, and bring them unto me.

3 And all the people brake off the golden ear-rings, which were in their ears, and brought them unto Aaron.

4 And he received them at their hand, and faſhioned it with a graving tool, after he had made it a molten calf: and they ſaid, Theſe be thy gods, O Iſrael, which brought thee up out of the land of Egypt.

5 And when Aaron ſaw it, he built an altar before it; and Aaron made proclamation, and ſaid, To-morrow is a feaſt to the LORD.

6 And they roſe up early on the morrow, and offered burnt-offerings, and brought peace-offerings; and the people ſat down to eat and to drink, and roſe up to play.

7 And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Go, get thee down: for thy people, which thou broughteſt out of the land of Egypt, have corrupted themſelves:

8 They have turned aſide quickly out of the way which I commanded them: they have made them a molten calf, and have worſhipped it, and have ſacrificed thereunto, and ſaid, Theſe be thy gods, O Iſrael, which have brought thee up out of the land of Egypt.

9 And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, I have ſeen this people, and behold, it is a ſtiff-necked people:

10 Now therefore let me alone, that my wrath may wax hot againſt them; and that I may conſume them: and I will make of thee a great nation.

11 And Moſes beſought the LORD his God, and ſaid, LORD, why doth thy wrath wax hot againſt thy people, which thou haſt brought forth out of the land of Egypt, with great power, and with a mighty hand?

12 Wherefore ſhould the Egyptians ſpeak and ſay, For miſchief did he bring them out, to ſlay them in the mountains, and to conſume them from the face of the earth? Turn from thy fierce wrath, and repent of this evil againſt thy people.

13 Remember Abraham, Iſaac, and Iſrael thy ſervants, to whom thou ſwareſt by thine own ſelf, and ſaidſt unto them, I will multiply your ſeed as the ſtars of heaven, and all this land that I have ſpoken of, will I give unto your ſeed, and they ſhall inherit it for ever.

14 And the LORD repented of the evil which he thought to do unto his people.

15 And Moſes turned, and went down from the mount: and the two tables of the teſtimony were in his hand: the tables were written on both their ſides; on the one ſide, and on the other were they written.

16 And the tables were the work of God, and the writing was the writing of God, graven upon the tables.

17 And when Joſhua heard the noiſe of the people as they ſhouted, he ſaid unto Moſes, There is a noiſe of war in the camp.

18 And he ſaid, It is not the voice of them that ſhout for maſtery, neither is it the voice of them that cry for being overcome: but the noiſe of them that ſing, do I hear.

They had ſeen Moſes aſcend the mount, and enter into the cloud, whilſt the top of the mountain was all in flames; but after waiting above a month for his return, they gave him over for loſt; and therefore aſſembled about Aaron's tent in a riotous manner, telling him, that as they deſpaired of Moſes' return, it was neceſſary he ſhould make them ſome God to go before them, to direct them in their route through the wilderneſs; for the cloud ſtill reſting upon the mount, they deſpaired of its ever again directing them in their way.

Which ſhall go before us.] Their intention was to return to Egypt; and they flattered themſelves, that by carrying before them the God ſo highly adored in that country, the Egyptians would forgive their defection, and receive them into their land. Divine Legat. vol. II. p. 291.

4 And faſhioned it with a graving tool.] It ſhould be rendered, And tied them in a bag; and the words, after he had made it a molten calf, procured them to be caſt into a molten calf. Univerſal Hiſt. vol. III. p. 412.

5 Aaron made proclamation, &c.] Several commentators have taken great pains to vindicate Aaron; but it is very plain, that he was highly criminal. Somewhat may be ſaid in favour of the ignorant multitude; but for a man of ſo high a character, and ſo well inſtructed in religion; a man, by whoſe hand God had wrought ſo many wonders in Egypt, who had been admitted to familiar intercourſe with the Deity, and who was now intruſted with the conduct and direction of the people in the abſence of Moſes; for him, I ſay, to give into ſo groſs an abuſe, ſo notorious a violation of that great commandment, ſo lately promulgated from heaven, with ſuch circumſtances of majeſty and terror, is a melancholy inſtance how far a puſillanimous compliance with popular clamour, may overſet the reaſon of wiſe and good men, and ſeduce them to act a part their own conſciences muſt needs condemn. See ver. 22.

17 He ſaid there is a noiſe of war.] Joſhua, on hearing the great noiſe and tumult in the camp, was perſuaded that it was the ſhout of ſoldiers.

19 ¶ And it came to paſs as ſoon as he came nigh unto the camp, that he ſaw the calf, and the dancing: and Moſes' anger waxed hot, and he caſt the tables out of his hands, and brake them beneath the mount.

20 And he took the calf which they had made, and burnt it in the fire, and ground it to powder, and ſtrawed it upon the water, and made the children of Iſrael to drink of it.

21 And Moſes ſaid unto Aaron, What did this people unto thee, that thou haſt brought ſo great a ſin upon them?

22 And Aaron ſaid, Let not the anger of my lord wax hot: thou knoweſt the people, that they are ſet on miſchief.

23 For they ſaid unto me, Make us gods, which ſhall go before us: for as for this Moſes, the man that brought us up out of the land of Egypt, we wot not what is become of him.

24 And I ſaid unto them, Whoſoever hath any gold, let them break it off: ſo they gave it me: then I caſt it into the fire, and there came out this calf.

25 ¶ And when Moſes ſaw that the people were naked: (for Aaron had made them naked unto their ſhame amongſt their enemies:)

26 Then Moſes ſtood in the gate of the camp, and ſaid, Who is on the LORD's ſide? let him come unto me. And all the ſons of Levi gathered themſelves together unto him.

27 And he ſaid unto them, Thus ſaith the LORD God of Iſrael, Put every man his ſword by his ſide, and go in and out from gate to gate throughout the camp, and ſlay every man his brother, and every man his companion, and every man his neighbour.

28 And the children of Levi did according to the word of Moſes: and there fell of the people that day about three thouſand men.

29 For Moſes had ſaid, Conſecrate your ſelves to day to the LORD, even every man upon his ſon, and upon his brother; that he may beſtow upon you a bleſſing this day.

30 ¶ And it came to paſs on the morrow, that Moſes ſaid unto the people, Ye have ſinned a great ſin: and now I will go up unto the LORD; peradventure I ſhall make an atonement for your ſin.

31 And Moſes returned unto the LORD, and ſaid, Oh, this people have ſinned a great ſin, and have made them gods of gold.

32 Yet now, if thou wilt, forgive their ſin: and if not, blot me, I pray thee, out of thy book which thou haſt written.

---

19 And brake them beneath the mount.] Moſes did this deſignedly, as a ſymbolical repreſentation of their having broken their ſolemn covenant with God.

20 He took the calf,—and burnt it in the fire.] That is, he recaſt it, to alter its form.

And ground it to powder.] He reduced it to duſt, probably with files, or ſome inſtruments of that kind.

Strawed it upon the water, and made the children of Iſrael drink of it.] This he did, doubtleſs, to convince them how much they had debaſed themſelves in worſhipping ſo vile an idol; and at the ſame time to make the Iſraelites themſelves give a very public and ſignal teſtimony of their condemning the practice of idolatry, by ſwallowing the duſt of their idol with their drink.

22 They are ſet on miſchief.] That is, they are remarkably prone to ſin, eſpecially to idolatry.

24 I caſt it into the fire, and there came out this calf.] Aaron here extenuates his own crime as far as the nature of it would admit, by pretending that it was made rather by chance than deſign. But it is plain, from ver. 4. that he made it, and therefore, by caſting it into the fire, muſt be underſtood his caſting it into a mould.

25 And when Moſes ſaw that the people were naked.] That is, diveſted of their virtue and piety, which was their ornament and defence, and conſequently now expoſed not only to the contempt, but to the power of their enemies, by falling off from their allegiance to God, their glory, and their protection.

26 And he ſaid, who is on the Lord's ſide?] Who abhors this idolatry, and adheres firmly to the true worſhip eſtabliſhed by Jehovah himſelf?

And all the ſons of Levi gathered themſelves together.] Hence we learn, that all the other tribes had joined in the idolatrous feaſt; and probably ſome of the Levites too, becauſe Moſes commands them to ſlay every man his brother, and every man his ſon, provided they came within their reach; but this would have been ſuperfluous, if none of that tribe had joined in the games. This timely zeal of the tribe of Levi, againſt thoſe idolaters, did not go long unrewarded: for it not only wiped off that blemiſh, which their progenitor had entailed upon them, for the bloody maſſacre of the Shechemites, but in a very ſhort time procured them the Levitical prieſthood; which, though ſubordinate to that of Aaron, and his poſterity, entitled them to the tenth of all kinds of beaſts, fruits, and grain in Iſrael; to the inferior miniſtry of the tabernacle, and afterwards of the temple; to a place in the judicial courts of every city and town; to the property of thirty-five cities, with all their lands, ſome of which were appointed cities of refuge; and to ſeveral other privileges and immunities. Univerſ. Hiſt. vol. III. p. 414.

29 Conſecrate yourſelves.] This paſſage is better rendered in the margin; Conſecrate yourſelves to the Lord, becauſe every man hath been againſt his ſon, &c. That is, Let this terrible example of neceſſary ſeverity excite you to cleanſe yourſelves from all pollutions, eſpecially from idolatry, as you have been both the witneſſes and executioners.

32 If not, blot me, I pray thee, out of thy book.] An expreſſion of great tenderneſs and love for his country; if, ſays he, thou wilt deſtroy this people, firſt releaſe me from this tabernacle of clay, that I may eſcape the ſhock of ſo affecting, ſo terrible a ſpectacle.

Notes

33 And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Whoſoever hath ſinned againſt me, him will I blot out of my book.

34 Therefore now go, lead the people unto the place of which I have ſpoken unto thee: behold, mine angel ſhall go before thee: nevertheleſs, in the day when I viſit, I will viſit their ſin upon them.

35 And the LORD plagued the people, becauſe they made the calf, which Aaron made.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 The Lord refuſeth to go with the people. 9 The Lord talketh with Moſes. 12 Moſes deſireth to ſee the glory of God.

AND the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Depart, and go up hence, thou and the people which thou haſt brought up out of the land of Egypt, unto the land which I ſware unto Abraham, to Iſaac, and to Jacob, ſaying, Unto thy ſeed will I give it:

2 And I will ſend an Angel before thee; and I will drive out the Canaanite, the Amorite, and the Hittite, and the Perizzite, the Hivite, and the Jebuſite:

3 Unto a land flowing with milk and honey: for I will not go up in the midſt of thee: for thou art a ſtiff-necked people: leſt I conſume thee in the way.

4 And when the people heard theſe evil tidings, they mourned: and no man did put on him his ornaments.

5 For the LORD had ſaid unto Moſes, Say unto the children of Iſrael, Ye are a ſtiff-necked people: I will come up into the midſt of thee in a moment, and conſume thee: therefore now put off thy ornaments from thee, that I may know what to do unto thee.

6 And the children of Iſrael ſtript themſelves of their ornaments by the mount Horeb.

7 And Moſes took the tabernacle, and pitched it without the camp, afar off from the camp, and called it the Tabernacle of the congregation. And it came to paſs, that every one which ſought the LORD, went out unto the tabernacle of the congregation, which was without the camp.

8 And it came to paſs, when Moſes went out unto the tabernacle, that all the people roſe up, and ſtood every man at his tent-door, and looked after Moſes, until he was gone into the tabernacle.

9 ¶ And it came to paſs, as Moſes entered into the tabernacle, the cloudy pillar deſcended, and ſtood at the door of the tabernacle, and the LORD talked with Moſes.

10 And all the people ſaw the cloudy pillar ſtand at the tabernacle-door: and all the people roſe up and worſhipped, every man in his tent-door.

11 And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes face to face, as a man ſpeaketh unto his friend. And he turned again into the camp: but his ſervant Joſhua, the ſon of Nun, a young man, departed not out of the tabernacle.

12 ¶ And Moſes ſaid unto the LORD, See, thou ſayeſt unto me, Bring up this people: and thou haſt not let me know whom thou wilt ſend with me. Yet thou haſt ſaid, I know thee by name, and thou haſt alſo found grace in my ſight.

13 Now therefore, I pray thee, if I have found grace in thy ſight, ſhew me now thy way that I may know thee, that I may find grace in thy ſight: and conſider that this nation is thy people.

14 And he ſaid, My preſence ſhall go with thee, and I will give thee reſt.

15 And he ſaid unto him, If thy preſence go not with me, carry us not up hence.

Notes on the Thirty-third Chapter.

Ver. 3 For I will not go up in the midſt of thee.] I will remove my preſence from the midſt of the camp.

5 I will come up into the midſt of thee.] The words may be better rendered, Should I come up into the midſt of thee, I would conſume thee in one moment. Calmet.

7 And Moſes took the tabernacle.] The ſacred tabernacle was not yet made, and therefore this muſt refer to ſome other tent; probably that of Moſes himſelf.

11 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes face to face.] God revealed his will to him in an audible voice, not in viſions, dreams, and obſcure reſemblances; nor with awful, tremendous circumſtances, but in a familiar, friendly, and condeſcending manner.

13 Shew me now thy way.] Let me know in what manner thou wilt act with regard to the Iſraelites,

That I may know thee, that I may find grace in thy ſight.] That I may be ſatisfied thou haſt been graciouſly pleaſed to accept me.

14 And he ſaid, My preſence ſhall go with thee.] The ſymbol of my glorious preſence ſhall ſtill continue on the tabernacle, and I will lead thee, as before, to the promiſed land.

19 I will

16 For wherein ſhall it be known here, that I and thy people have found grace in thy ſight? is it not in that thou goeſt with us? ſo ſhall we be ſeparated, I and thy people, from all the people that are upon the face of the earth.

17 And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, I will do this thing alſo that thou haſt ſpoken: for thou haſt found grace in my ſight, and I know thee by name.

18 And he ſaid, I beſeech thee, ſhew me thy glory.

19 And he ſaid, I will make all my goodneſs paſs before thee, and I will proclaim the name of the LORD before thee; and will be gracious to whom I will be gracious, and will ſhew mercy on whom I will ſhew mercy.

20 And he ſaid, Thou canſt not ſee my face: for there ſhall no man ſee me, and live.

21 And the LORD ſaid, Behold, there is a place by me, and thou ſhalt ſtand upon a rock:

22 And it ſhall come to paſs, while my glory paſſeth by, that I will put thee in a clift of the rock; and will cover thee with my hand while I paſs by:

23 And I will take away mine hand, and thou ſhalt ſee my back parts: but my face ſhall not be ſeen.

CHAP. XXXIV.

1 The tables are renewed. 5 The name of the LORD proclaimed. 10 God maketh a covenant with them.

AND the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Hew thee two tables of ſtone like unto the firſt: and I will write upon theſe tables the words that were in the firſt tables, which thou brakeſt.

2 And be ready in the morning, and come up in the morning unto mount Sinai, and preſent thy ſelf there to me in the top of the mount.

3 And no man ſhall come up with thee, neither let any man be ſeen throughout all the mount: neither let the flocks nor herds feed before that mount.

4 And he hewed two tables of ſtone like unto the firſt; and Moſes roſe up early in the morning, and went up unto mount Sinai, as the LORD had commanded him, and took in his hand the two tables of ſtone.

5 ¶ And the Lord deſcended in the cloud, and ſtood with him there, and proclaimed the name of the LORD.

6 And the LORD paſſed by before him, and proclaimed, The LORD, the LORD God, merciful and gracious, long-ſuffering, and abundant in goodneſs and truth.

19 I will make all my goodneſs paſs before thee.] That is, I will diſplay ſuch degrees of my glory before thee, as will not hurt thee, but be delightful to thee: or, all his goodneſs, may ſignify his gracious intentions concerning the children of Iſrael, to whom he aſſures him, he will fulfil all his promiſes, which was ſufficient for him to know.

And will be gracious to whom I will be gracious, &c.] I, by knowing the heart, am the only true judge who are proper objects of mercy, and who of wrath.

This account of the Almighty, given by Moſes, has been ſeverely cenſured by the free-thinkers. They pretend that it ſhewed Moſes to have had very groſs notions of God, to talk of his face, his back-parts, and his covering him with his hand. But theſe objecters would do well to remember, that though God is a pure ſpirit, eternal and omniſcient, and has neither body nor parts; yet it is not poſſible to convey our ideas of this great and tremendous Being, without having recourſe to expreſſions relating to corporeal beings. The truth is, languages were compoſed to maintain an intercourſe with one another, and not to treat of that Being who dwelleth in light inacceſſible. No form of words, however exquiſite, can reach thoſe tranſcendent perfections, which are unutterable; and therefore, if we conſider the low capacity of the people to whom, the great poverty of the language in which, and the ſublimity of the ſubject about which, Moſes wrote, we ſhall have no occaſion to blame this metaphorical manner of expreſſing the Divine Nature, which, upon experiment, Moſes found beſt adapted both to inform the underſtanding, and animate the affections of the people.

To clear him from all unjuſt imputations, we need but call to mind the glorious deſcriptions he gives, almoſt every where, eſpecially in Deuteronomy, of the Deity; and what pains he takes to deter them from making any repreſentation of it, under any form whatever, by reminding them, that when God was pleaſed to diſplay his glory on mount Sinai, at the delivering the ten commandments, they ſaw no ſhape or likeneſs, but only heard his dreadful voice. Theſe ſo frequent inculcations may therefore be looked upon as ſo many intimations given them, in what ſenſe they are to underſtand all thoſe other expreſſions, which he had been forced to accommodate to their capacity; that is, not in a literal ſenſe, but in ſuch an one as was becoming the ſubject, and ſuitable to the dignity of the Deity. Univerſ. Hiſt. vol. III. p. 416.

Notes on the Thirty-fourth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Hew thee two tables of ſtone, &c.] It ſhould be obſerved here, that though the Almighty had promiſed to forgive the Iſraelites, yet he ſufficiently indicates that he had been offended; for the firſt were not only written by the finger of God, but alſo the tables themſelves were the work of God; whereas thoſe of the latter were made by Moſes. Patrick.

6 Merciful and gracious, long-ſuffering, and abundant in goodneſs and truth.] Theſe epithets well belong to the Divine Nature. That he is merciful, gracious, and long-ſuffering, is evident from his pardoning penitent ſinners, and receiving them into his favour. That he is abundant in goodneſs, is declared by every object that ſurrounds us. 'Tis he that openeth his hand, and fill-

7 Keeping mercy for thouſands, forgiving iniquity and tranſgreſſion and ſin, and that will by no means clear the guilty; viſiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children, and upon the children's children, unto the third and to the fourth generation.

8 And Moſes made haſte, and bowed his head toward the earth, and worſhipped.

9 And he ſaid, If now I have found grace in thy ſight, O LORD, let my Lord, I pray thee, go amongſt us; (for it is a ſtiff-necked people;) and pardon our iniquity and our ſin, and take us for thine inheritance.

10 ¶ And he ſaid, Behold, I make a covenant: before all thy people I will do marvels, ſuch as have not been done in all the earth, nor in any nation: and all the people amongſt which thou art, ſhall ſee the work of the LORD: for it is a terrible thing that I will do with thee.

11 Obſerve thou that which I command thee this day: behold, I drive out before thee the Amorite, and the Canaanite, and the Hittite, and the Perizzite, and the Hivite, and the Jebuſite.

12 Take heed to thy ſelf leſt thou make a covenant with the inhabitants of the land whither thou goeſt, leſt it be for a ſnare in the midſt of thee.

13 But ye ſhall deſtroy their altars, break their images, and cut down their groves.

14 For thou ſhalt worſhip no other god: for the LORD, whoſe name is Jealous, is a jealous God.

15 Leſt thou make a covenant with the inhabitants of the land, and they go a whoring after their gods, and do ſacrifice unto their gods, and one call thee, and thou eat of his ſacrifice,

16 And thou take of their daughters unto thy ſons, and their daughters go a whoring after their gods, and make thy ſons go a whoring after their gods.

17 Thou ſhalt make thee no molten gods.

18 The feaſt of unleavened bread ſhalt thou keep: ſeven days thou ſhalt eat unleavened bread, as I commanded thee, in the time of the month Abib: for in the month Abib thou cameſt out from Egypt.

19 All that openeth the matrix is mine; and every firſtling among thy cattle whether ox or ſheep, that is male.

20 But the firſtling of an aſs thou ſhalt redeem with a lamb: and if thou redeem him not, then ſhalt thou break his neck. All the firſt-born of thy ſons thou ſhalt redeem. And none ſhall appear before me empty.

21 Six days thou ſhalt work, but on the ſeventh day thou ſhalt reſt: in earing-time and in harveſt thou ſhalt reſt.

22 And thou ſhalt obſerve the feaſt of weeks, of the firſt-fruits of wheat-harveſt, and the feaſt of in-gathering at the year's end.

23 Thrice in the year ſhall all your men-children appear before the LORD God, the God of Iſrael.

24 For I will caſt out the nations before thee, and enlarge thy borders: neither ſhall any man deſire thy land, when thou ſhalt go up to appear before the LORD thy God thrice in the year.

25 Thou ſhalt not offer the blood of my ſacrifice with leaven; neither ſhall the ſacrifice of the feaſt of the paſs-over be left unto the morning.

26 The firſt of the firſt-fruits of thy land eth all things living with plenteouſneſs; 'tis he that ſendeth the former and the latter rain in its ſeaſon, and cauſes the bud of the tender herb to ſpring forth. That he is abundant in truth, is ſufficiently ſeen from his performing with the utmoſt punctuality, all his promiſes, and all his threatnings.

7 And will by no means clear the guilty.] The word guilty is not in the original; but the ſenſe requires ſome word of that import to be added. We ſhould learn from hence, not to abuſe the mercies of our beneficent Creator; for though he is unwilling to afflict us, yet he will at laſt riſe to vengeance, and pour his fury on the head of the tranſgreſſors.

9 For it is a ſtiff-necked people.] The particle which is here rendered for, may be better tranſlated though; and then the ſenſe will be, Pardon our iniquity and our ſin, and take us for thine inheritance, though we are a ſtiff-necked people.

10 For it is a terrible thing that I will do with thee.] I will work ſuch awful miracles, that the inhabitants of the promiſed land ſhall tremble at my name, and acknowledge my power.

15 Leſt thou make a covenant, &c.] That is, a covenant of marriage, which he commands them not to contract with the inhabitants of Canaan, nor with any idolaters whatever.

And thou eat of his ſacrifice.] A ſacrifice was a kind of religious feaſt, wherein the gueſts were entertained at table with the god to whom the ſacrifice was offered, in token of friendſhip with him: conſequently to be a partaker of thoſe feaſts, was to make profeſſion of being a worſhipper of thoſe falſe gods.

thou ſhalt bring unto the houſe of the LORD thy God. Thou ſhalt not ſeethe a kid in his mother's milk.

27 And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Write thou theſe words: for after the tenour of theſe words I have made a covenant with thee and with Iſrael.

28 And he was there with the LORD forty days and forty nights; he did neither eat bread, nor drink water. And he wrote upon the tables the words of the covenant, the ten commandments.

29 And it came to paſs when Moſes came down from mount Sinai (with the two tables of teſtimony in Moſes' hand, when he came down from the mount,) that Moſes wiſt not that the ſkin of his face ſhone, while he talked with him.

30 And when Aaron and all the children of Iſrael ſaw Moſes, behold, the ſkin of his face ſhone; and they were afraid to come nigh him.

31 And Moſes called unto them; and Aaron and all the rulers of the congregation returned unto him: and Moſes talked with them.

32 And afterward all the children of Iſrael came nigh: and he gave them in commandment all that the LORD had ſpoken with him in mount Sinai.

33 And till Moſes had done ſpeaking with them, he put a vail on his face.

34 But when Moſes went in before the LORD to ſpeak with him, he took the vail off, until he came out. And he came out, and ſpake unto the children of Iſrael that which he was commanded.

35 And the children of Iſrael ſaw the face of Moſes, that the ſkin of Moſes' face ſhone: and Moſes put the vail upon his face again, until he went in to ſpeak with him.

CHAP. XXXV.

2 The ſabbath. 4 The free gifts for the tabernacle. 20 The readineſs of the people to offer.

AND Moſes gathered all the congregation of the children of Iſrael together, and ſaid unto them, Theſe are the words which the LORD hath commanded, that ye ſhould do them.

2 ¶ Six days ſhall work be done, but on the ſeventh day there ſhall be to you an holy day, a ſabbath of reſt to the LORD: whoſoever doeth work therein ſhall be put to death.

3 Ye ſhall kindle no fire throughout your habitations upon the ſabbath-day.

4 ¶ And Moſes ſpake unto all the congregation of the children of Iſrael, ſaying, This is the thing which the LORD commanded, ſaying,

5 Take ye from amongſt you an offering unto the LORD: whoſoever is of a willing heart, let him bring it, an offering of the LORD; gold, and ſilver, and braſs,

6 And blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine linen, and goats hair,

7 And rams ſkins dyed red, and badgers ſkins, and ſhittim-wood,

8 And oil for the light, and ſpices for anointing oil, and for the ſweet incenſe,

9 And onyx-ſtones, and ſtones to be ſet, for the ephod, and for the breaſt-plate.

10 And every wiſe-hearted among you ſhall come, and make all that the LORD hath commanded;

11 The tabernacle, his tent, and his covering, his taches, and his boards, his bars, his pillars, and his ſockets,

12 The ark and the ſtaves thereof, with the mercy-ſeat, and the vail of the covering,

13 The table and his ſtaves, and all his veſſels, and the ſhew-bread,

14 The candleſtick alſo for the light, and 29 The ſkin of his face ſhone.] This luminous appearance of his ſkin, ſufficiently indicated how tranſcendently ſplendid the preſence of the Divine Majeſty was, and how nearly this holy prophet had approached it.

Notes on the Thirty-fifth Chapter.

Ver. 1 And Moſes gathered, &c.] Moſes now reſumes his account of the prieſts, which had been broken off at the ſtory of the molten calf, and proceeds to put the commands of God in execution.

3 Ye ſhall kindle no fire.] Not even to dreſs your meat, or for any ſervile work; but to kindle a fire to warm themſelves in cold weather, was not forbidden.

10 Wiſe-hearted.] i. e. Skilful artificers.

his furniture, and his lamps, with the oil for the light,

15 And the incenſe-altar, and his ſtaves, and the anointing-oil, and the ſweet incenſe, and the hanging for the door at the entering-in of the tabernacle,

16 The altar of burnt-offering with his braſen-grate, his ſtaves, and all his veſſels, the laver and his foot,

17 The hangings of the court, his pillars, and their ſockets, and the hanging for the door of the court,

18 The pins of the tabernacle, and the pins of the court, and their cords,

19 The clothes of ſervice, to do ſervice in the holy place, the holy garments for Aaron the prieſt, and the garments of his ſons to miniſter in the prieſt's office.

20 ¶ And all the congregation of the children of Iſrael departed from the preſence of Moſes.

21 And they came, every one whoſe heart ſtirred him up, and every one whom his ſpirit made willing, and they brought the LORD's offering to the work of the tabernacle of the congregation; and for all his ſervice, and for the holy garments.

22 And they came both men and women, as many as were willing-hearted, and brought bracelets, and ear-rings, and rings, and tablets, all jewels of gold: and every man that offered, offered an offering of gold unto the LORD.

23 And every man with whom was found blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine linen, and goats hair, and red ſkins of rams, and badgers ſkins, brought them.

24 Every one that did offer an offering of ſilver and braſs, brought the LORD's offering: and every man with whom was found ſhittim-wood for any work of the ſervice, brought it.

25 And all the women that were wiſe-hearted did ſpin with their hands, and brought that which they had ſpun, both of blue, and of purple, and of ſcarlet, and of fine linen.

26 And all the women whoſe heart ſtirred them up in wiſdom ſpun goats hair.

27 And the rulers brought onyx-ſtones, and ſtones to be ſet, for the ephod, and for the breaſt-plate;

28 And ſpice, and oil for the light, and for the anointing-oil, and for the ſweet incenſe.

29 The children of Iſrael brought a willing offering unto the LORD, every man and woman, whoſe heart made them willing to bring for all manner of work, which the LORD had commanded to be made, by the hand of Moſes.

30 And Moſes ſaid unto the children of Iſrael, See, the LORD hath called by name Bezaleel the ſon of Uri, the ſon of Hur, of the tribe of Judah:

31 And he hath filled him with the ſpirit of God, in wiſdom, in underſtanding, and in knowledge, and in all manner of workmanſhip;

32 And to deviſe curious work, to work in gold, and in ſilver, and in braſs,

33 And in the cutting of ſtones to ſet them, and in carving of wood, to make any manner of cunning work.

34 And he hath put in his heart that he may teach, both he and Aholiab the ſon of Ahiſamach of the tribe of Dan.

35 Them hath he filled with wiſdom of heart to work all manner of work of the engraver, and of the cunning workman, and of the embroiderer, in blue, and in purple, in ſcarlet, and in fine linen, and of the weaver, even of them that do any work, and of thoſe that deviſe cunning work.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 The offerings delivered to the workmen. 5 The liberality of the people reſtrained.

THEN wrought Bezaleel and Aholiab, and every wiſe-hearted man, in whom the LORD put wiſdom and underſtanding to know how to work all manner of work for the ſervice of the ſanctuary, according to all that the LORD had commanded.

22 Tablets, &c.] Commentators are not agreed with regard to the import of this word; ſome take it for a golden buckle worn at the girdle. Bochart is of opinion, that it was a kind of girdle worn by the women round their boſoms.

23 With whom was found blue, &c.] Yarn or wool of this colour, which was wove into hangings, and garments for the uſe of the tabernacle: theſe were the offerings of the lower ſort of people. See ch. xxv. 4.

27 The rulers brought onyx-ſtones.] Suitably to their quality, ſuch precious ſtones as the people could not furniſh.

Notes on the Thirty-ſixth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Then wrought, &c.] This paſſage ſhould be read in the future

2 And Moſes called Bezaleel and Aholiab, and every wiſe-hearted man in whoſe heart the LORD had put wiſdom, even every one whoſe heart ſtirred him up to come unto the work to do it:

3 And they received of Moſes all the offering which the children of Iſrael had brought for the work of the ſervice of the ſanctuary, to make it withal. And they brought yet unto him free-offerings every morning.

4 And all the wiſe men, that wrought all the work of the ſanctuary, came every man from his work which they made;

5 ¶ And they ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, The people bring much more than enough, for the ſervice of the work, which the LORD commanded to make.

6 And Moſes gave commandment, and they cauſed to be proclaimed throughout the camp, ſaying, Let neither man nor woman make any more work for the offering of the ſanctuary. So the people were reſtrained from bringing.

7 For the ſtuff they had was ſufficient for all the work to make it, and too much.

8 And every wiſe-hearted man, among them that wrought the work of the tabernacle, made ten curtains of fine twined linen, and blue, and purple, and ſcarlet: with cherubims of cunning-work made he them.

9 The length of one curtain was twenty and eight cubits, and the breadth of one curtain four cubits: the curtains were all of one ſize.

10 And he coupled the five curtains one unto another: and the other five curtains he coupled one unto another.

11 And he made loops of blue on the edge of one curtain, from the ſelvedge in the coupling: likewiſe he made in the uttermoſt ſide of another curtain, in the coupling of the ſecond.

12 Fifty loops made he in one curtain, and fifty loops made he in the edge of the curtain which was in the coupling of the ſecond: the loops held one curtain to another.

13 And he made fifty taches of gold, and coupled the curtains one unto another with the taches: ſo it became one tabernacle.

14 And he made curtains of goats hair for the tent over the tabernacle: eleven curtains he made them.

15 The length of one curtain was thirty cubits, and four cubits was the breadth of one curtain: the eleven curtains were of one ſize.

16 And he coupled five curtains by themſelves, and ſix curtains by themſelves.

17 And he made fifty loops upon the uttermoſt edge of the curtain in the coupling, and fifty loops made he upon the edge of the curtain which coupleth the ſecond.

18 And he made fifty taches of braſs to couple the tent together, that it might be one.

19 And he made a covering for the tent of rams ſkins dyed red, and a covering of badgers ſkins above that.

20 And he made boards for the tabernacle of ſhittim-wood, ſtanding up.

21 The length of a board was ten cubits, and the breadth of a board one cubit and a half.

22 One board had two tenons, equally diſtant one from another. Thus did he make for all the boards of the tabernacle.

23 And he made boards for the tabernacle; twenty boards for the ſouth-ſide, ſouthward:

24 And forty ſockets of ſilver he made under the twenty boards; two ſockets under one board for his two tenons, and two ſockets under another board for his two tenons.

25 And for the other ſide of the tabernacle which is toward the north corner, he made twenty boards.

26 And their forty ſockets of ſilver; two ſockets under one board, and two ſockets under another board.

future tenſe, and connected with the laſt verſe of the preceding chapter, when the ſenſe will be plain; and with regard to the particle then, it is not in the Hebrew. The word, when rightly tranſlated, will run in this manner: Bezaleel therefore ſhall do the work, and Aholiab, and every wiſe-hearted man, &c.

3 And they brought yet to him free-offerings every morning.] They were now deſirous of ſhewing their zeal for the ſervice of God, as they had lately done for erecting a molten image. Perhaps they thought their remarkable readineſs in performing external ceremonies, and ſubmitting to theſe commands, would atone for omitting the weightier duties of religion and morality.

8, 9, 10, &c.] They began with the tabernacle, as the place where the ſymbol of the Divine Preſence was to reſide. Every thing mentioned in theſe verſes is deſcribed, chap. xxvi.

Notes

27 And for the ſides of the tabernacle weſtward he made ſix boards.

28 And two boards made he for the corners of the tabernacle in the two ſides.

29 And they were coupled beneath, and coupled together at the head thereof, to one ring. Thus he did to both of them in both the corners.

30 And there were eight boards; and their ſockets were ſixteen ſockets of ſilver, under every board two ſockets.

31 And he made bars of ſhittim-wood; five for the boards of the one ſide of the tabernacle,

32 And five bars for the boards of the other ſide of the tabernacle, and five bars for the boards of the tabernacle for the ſides weſt-ward.

33 And he made the middle bar to ſhoot through the boards from the one end to the other.

34 And he overlaid the boards with gold, and made their rings of gold to be places for the bars, and overlaid the bars with gold.

35 And he made a vail of blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine twined linen: with cherubims made he it of cunning work.

36 And he made thereunto four pillars of ſhittim-wood, and overlaid them with gold: their hooks were of gold, and he caſt for them four ſockets of ſilver.

37 And he made an hanging for the tabernacle-door of blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine twined linen, of needle-work;

38 And the five pillars of it with their hooks: and he overlaid their chapiters, and their fillets with gold: but their five ſockets were of braſs.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 The ark, 6 the mercy-ſeat with cherubims, 10 the table, 17 the candleſtick, 25 and altar of incenſe.

AND Bezaleel made the ark of ſhittim-wood; two cubits and a half was the length of it, and a cubit and a half the breadth of it, and a cubit and a half the height of it:

2 And he overlaid it with pure gold within and without, and made a crown of gold to it round about.

3 And he caſt for it four rings of gold, to be ſet by the four corners of it; even two rings upon the one ſide of it, and two rings upon the other ſide of it.

4 And he made ſtaves of ſhittim-wood, and overlaid them with gold.

5 And he put the ſtaves into the rings by the ſides of the ark, to bear the ark.

6 ¶ And he made the mercy-ſeat of pure gold: two cubits and a half was the length thereof, and one cubit and a half the breadth thereof.

7 And he made two cherubims of gold, beaten out of one piece made he them, on the two ends of the mercy-ſeat;

8 One cherub on the end on this ſide, and another cherub on the other end on that ſide: out of the mercy-ſeat made he the cherubims on the two ends thereof.

9 And the cherubims ſpread out their wings on high, and covered with their wings over the mercy-ſeat, with their faces one to another; even to the mercy-ſeat-ward were the faces of the cherubims.

10 ¶ And he made the table of ſhittim-wood: two cubits was the length thereof, and a cubit the breadth thereof, and a cubit and a half the height thereof:

11 And he overlaid it with pure gold, and made thereunto a crown of gold round about.

12 Alſo he made thereunto a border of an hand-breadth, round about; and made a crown of gold for the border thereof round about.

13 And he caſt for it four rings of gold, and put the rings upon the four corners that were in the four feet thereof.

14 Over againſt the border were the rings, the places for the ſtaves, to bear the table.

15 And he made the ſtaves of ſhittim-wood, and overlaid them with gold, to bear the table.

Notes on the Thirty-ſeventh Chapter.

Ver. 9 With their faces one to another, even to the mercy-ſeat-ward.] Some, from this paſſage, have been of opinion, that the cherubims were in the form of flying oxen, becauſe otherwiſe they could not have their faces at the ſame time towards one another, and towards the mercy-ſeat. But the generality think they were of a human figure, being perſuaded that they might be turned towards each other, and at the ſame time their eyes directed downwards to the mercy-ſeat.

10 He made the table, &c.] The table on which was to be continually placed the ſhew-bread. See chap. xxv.

16 And he made the veſſels which were upon the table, his diſhes, and his ſpoons, and his bowls, and his covers to cover withal, of pure gold.

17 ¶ And he made the candleſtick of pure gold: of beaten work made he the candleſtick; his ſhaft, and his branch, his bowls, his knops, and his flowers were of the ſame:

18 And ſix branches going out of the ſides thereof; three branches of the candleſtick out of the one ſide thereof, and three branches of the candleſtick out of the other ſide thereof:

19 Three bowls made after the faſhion of almonds in one branch, a knop and a flower; and three bowls made like almonds in another branch, a knop and a flower: ſo throughout the ſix branches, going out of the candleſtick.

20 And in the candleſtick were four bowls made like almonds, his knops and his flowers.

21 And a knop under two branches of the ſame, and a knop under two branches of the ſame, and a knop under two branches of the ſame, according to the ſix branches going out of it.

22 Their knops and their branches were of the ſame: all of it was one beaten work of pure gold.

23 And he made his ſeven lamps, and his ſnuffers, and his ſnuff-diſhes, of pure gold.

24 Of a talent of pure gold made he it, and all the veſſels thereof.

25 ¶ And he made the incenſe-altar of ſhittim-wood: the length of it was a cubit, and the breadth of it a cubit; (it was four-ſquare;) and two cubits was the height of it; the horns thereof were of the ſame.

26 And he overlaid it with pure gold, both the top of it and the ſides thereof round about, and the horns of it: alſo he made unto it a crown of gold round about.

27 And he made two rings of gold for it under the crown thereof, by the two corners of it, upon the two ſides thereof, to be places for the ſtaves to bear it withal.

28 And he made the ſtaves of ſhittim-wood, and overlaid them with gold.

29 And he made the holy anointing oil, and the pure incenſe of ſweet ſpices, according to the work of the apothecary.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 The altar of burnt-offering, 8 the laver of braſs, 9 and the court. 21 The ſum of the offerings.

AND he made the altar of burnt-offering of ſhittim-wood: five cubits was the length thereof, and five cubits the breadth thereof; (it was four ſquare:) and three cubits the height thereof.

2 And he made the horns thereof on the four corners of it; the horns thereof were of the ſame: and he overlaid it with braſs.

3 And he made all the veſſels of the altar, the pots, and the ſhovels, and the baſons, and the fleſh-hooks, and the fire-pans: all the veſſels thereof made he of braſs.

4 And he made for the altar a braſen grate of net-work, under the compaſs thereof, beneath unto the midſt of it.

5 And he caſt four rings for the four ends of the grate of braſs, to be places for the ſtaves.

6 And he made the ſtaves of ſhittim-wood, and overlaid them with braſs.

7 And he put the ſtaves into the rings on the ſides of the altar, to bear it withal; he made the altar hollow with boards.

8 ¶ And he made the laver of braſs, and the foot of it of braſs, of the looking-glaſſes of the women aſſembling, which aſſembled at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

9 ¶ And he made the court: on the ſouth-ſide ſouth-ward the hangings of the court were of fine twined linen, an hundred cubits.

Notes on the Thirty-eighth Chapter.

Ver. 8 Of the looking-glaſſes of the women.] Which were anciently of poliſhed braſs, for glaſs was not yet invented. Pliny ſays, thoſe of braſs and tin mixed together were eſteemed the beſt, before thoſe of ſilver came to be in uſe.

Which aſembled at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.] It was a cuſtom among the ancients to aſſemble in great numbers to perform the offices of religion; and theſe relieved each other at ſtated times; and as the tabernacle was the place where theſe aſſemblies met, the uſe of theſe glaſſes might probably be for dreſſing and adorning their heads, in order to appear with more decency in the Sacred Preſence.

10 Their pillars were twenty, and their braſen ſockets twenty: the hooks of the pillars, and their fillets, were of ſilver.

11 And for the north-ſide the hangings were an hundred cubits, their pillars were twenty, and their ſockets of braſs twenty: the hooks of the pillars, and their fillets, of ſilver.

12 And for the weſt-ſide were hangings of fifty cubits, their pillars ten, and their ſockets ten: the hooks of the pillars, and their fillets, of ſilver.

13 And for the eaſt-ſide eaſt-ward fifty cubits.

14 The hangings of the one ſide of the gate were fifteen cubits; their pillars three, and their ſockets three.

15 And for the other ſide of the court-gate, on this hand and that hand, were hangings of fifteen cubits; their pillars three, and their ſockets three.

16 All the hangings of the court round about, were of fine twined linen.

17 And the ſockets of the pillars were of braſs; the hooks of the pillars, and their fillets, of ſilver: and the overlaying of their chapiters, of ſilver: and all the pillars of the court were filleted with ſilver.

18 And the hanging for the gate of the court was needle-work, of blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine twined linen: and twenty cubits was the length, and the height in the breadth was five cubits, anſwerable to the hangings of the court.

19 And their pillars were four, and their ſockets of braſs four; their hooks of ſilver, and the overlaying of their chapiters, and their fillets, of ſilver.

20 And all the pins of the tabernacle, and of the court round about were of braſs.

21 ¶ This is the ſum of the tabernacle, even of the tabernacle of teſtimony, as it was counted, according to the commandment of Moſes, for the ſervice of the Levites, by the hand of Ithamar, ſon to Aaron the prieſt.

22 And Bezaleel the ſon of Uri, the ſon of Hur, of the tribe of Judah, made all that the LORD commanded Moſes.

23 And with him was Aholiab, ſon of Ahiſamach, of the tribe of Dan, an engraver, and a cunning workman, and an embroiderer in blue, and in purple, and in ſcarlet, and fine linen.

24 All the gold that was occupied for the work, in all the work of the holy place, even the gold of the offering, was twenty and nine talents, and ſeven hundred and thirty ſhekels, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary.

25 And the ſilver of them that were numbered of the congregation was an hundred talents, and a thouſand ſeven hundred and threeſcore and fifteen ſhekels, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary:

26 A bekah for every man, that is, half a ſhekel, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, for every one that went to be numbered, from twenty years old and upward, for ſix hundred thouſand and three thouſand and five hundred and fifty men.

27 And of the hundred talents of ſilver were caſt the ſockets of the ſanctuary, and the ſockets of the vail; an hundred ſockets of the hundred talents, a talent for a ſocket.

28 And of the thouſand ſeven hundred ſeventy and five ſhekels he made hooks for the pillars, and overlaid their chapiters, and filleted them.

29 And the braſs of the offering was ſeventy talents, and two thouſand and four hundred ſhekels.

30 And therewith he made the ſockets to 21 For the ſervice of the Levites, by the hand of Ithamar.] The particle for is not in the Hebrew, but ſupplied by the tranſlators, though by would have rendered the ſenſe more evident; for the paſſage would then have ſtood thus: This is the ſum [or charge] of the tabernacle; even of the tabernacle of teſtimony, by the miniſtry of the Levites, under the conduct of Ithamar.

24 Twenty and nine talents, and ſeven hundred and thirty ſhekels.] This ſum, according to the computation of biſhop Cumberland, amounts to upwards of 150,000l. ſterling.

25 And the ſilver of them that were numbered, &c.] We are told in the next verſe, that ſix hundred and three thouſand five hundred and fifty men, offered half a ſhekel each: the total ſum is three hundred and one thouſand ſeven hundred and ſeventy-five ſhekels; which, at two ſhillings and four-pence each, amount to 35,207 l. ſterling. It may, perhaps, ſeem difficult to imagine how the Iſraelites ſhould be poſſeſſed of ſo much wealth in the deſert; but it ſhould be remembered, that their anceſtors were very great men, and had gathered great riches before they came into Egypt; that they were farther enriched, firſt by the ſpoils of the Egyptians, and afterwards by thoſe of the Amalekites. Beſides, it is highly probable, that they traded with the neighbouring nations, who bordered on the wilderneſs, during their continuance in it.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 The clothes of ſervice, and holy garments. 2 The ephod. 8 The breaſt-plate. 22 The robe of the ephod, and other garments.

AND of the blue, and purple, and ſcarlet they made clothes of ſervice, to do ſervice in the holy place, and made the holy garments for Aaron; as the LORD commanded Moſes.

2 ¶ And he made the ephod of gold, blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine twined linen.

3 And they did beat the gold into thin plates, and cut it into wires, to work it in the blue, and in the purple, and in the ſcarlet, and in the fine linen, with cunning work.

4 They made ſhoulder-pieces for it, to couple it together: by the two edges was it coupled together.

5 And the curious girdle of his ephod that was upon it, was of the ſame, according to the work thereof; of gold, blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine twined linen; as the LORD commanded Moſes.

6 And they wrought onyx-ſtones incloſed in ouches of gold, graven as ſignets are graven, with the names of the children of Iſrael.

7 And he put them on the ſhoulders of the ephod, that they ſhould be ſtones for a memorial to the children of Iſrael: as the LORD commanded Moſes.

8 ¶ And he made the breaſt-plate of cunning work, like the work of the ephod; of gold, blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine twined linen.

9 It was four-ſquare; they made the breaſt-plate double: a ſpan was the length thereof, and a ſpan the breadth thereof being doubled.

10 And they ſet in it four rows of ſtones: the firſt row was a ſardius, a topaz, and a carbuncle: this was the firſt row.

11 And the ſecond row, an emerald, a ſapphire, and a diamond.

12 And the third row, a ligure, an agate, and an amethiſt.

13 And the fourth row, a beryl, an onyx, and a jaſper. They were incloſed in ouches of gold in their incloſings.

14 And the ſtones were according to the names of the children of Iſrael, twelve, according to their names, like the engravings of a ſignet, every one with his name, according to the twelve tribes.

15 And they made upon the breaſt-plate chains at the ends, of wreathen work of pure gold.

16 And they made two ouches of gold, and two gold rings: and put the two rings in the two ends of the breaſt-plate.

17 And they put the two wreathen chains of gold in the two rings on the ends of the breaſt-plate.

18 And the two ends of the two wreathen chains they faſtened in the two ouches, and put them on the ſhoulder-pieces of the ephod, before it.

19 And they made two rings of gold, and put them on the two ends of the breaſt-plate upon the border of it, which was on the ſide of the ephod inward.

20 And they made two other golden rings, and put them on the two ſides of the ephod underneath, toward the fore-part of it, over againſt the other coupling thereof, above the curious girdle of the ephod.

21 And they did bind the breaſt-plate by his rings unto the rings of the ephod, with a lace of blue, that it might be above the curious girdle of the ephod, and that the breaſt-plate might not be looſed from the ephod; as the LORD commanded Moſes.

Notes on the Thirty-ninth Chapter.

Ver. 3 They did beat the gold into thin plates, and cut it into wires.] They had not then the art of drawing gold into wire.

8 And he made the breaſt-plate.] In this paſſage, Moſes is ſilent with regard to the Urim and Thummim, which is doubtleſs an argument that they were not different from the ſtones of the ephod.

22 ¶ And he made the robe of the ephod of woven work, all of blue.

23 And there was a hole in the midſt of the robe as the hole of an habergeon, with a band round about the hole, that it ſhould not rend.

24 And they made upon the hems of the robe, pomegranates of blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and twined linen.

25 And they made bells of pure gold, and put the bells between the pomegranates, upon the hem of the robe, round about between the pomegranates;

26 A bell and a pomegranate, a bell and a pomegranate round about the hem of the robe to miniſter in; as the LORD commanded Moſes.

27 And they made coats of fine linen, of woven work, for Aaron and for his ſons,

28 And a miter of fine linen, and goodly bonnets of fine linen, and linen breeches of fine twined linen,

29 And a girdle of fine twined linen, and blue, and purple, and ſcarlet of needle-work; as the LORD commanded Moſes.

30 And they made the plate of the holy crown of pure gold, and wrote upon it a writing, like to the engravings of a ſignet, HOLINESS TO THE LORD.

31 And they tied unto it a lace of blue, to faſten it on high upon the miter; as the LORD commanded Moſes.

32 Thus was all the work of the tabernacle of the tent of the congregation finiſhed: and the children of Iſrael did according to all that the LORD commanded Moſes, ſo did they.

33 And they brought the tabernacle unto Moſes, the tent, and all his furniture, his taches, his boards, his bars, and his pillars, and his ſockets,

34 And the covering of rams ſkins dyed red, and the covering of badgers ſkins, and the vail of the covering,

35 The ark of the teſtimony, and the ſtaves thereof, and the mercy-ſeat,

36 The table, and all the veſſels thereof, and the ſhew-bread,

37 The pure candleſtick, with the lamps thereof, even with the lamps to be ſet in order, and all the veſſels thereof, and the oil for light,

38 And the golden altar, and the anointing oil, and the ſweet incenſe, and the hanging for the tabernacle-door,

40 The hangings of the court, his pillars, and his ſockets, and the hanging for the court-gate, his cords, and his pins, and all the veſſels of the ſervice of the tabernacle, for the tent of the congregation,

41 The clothes of ſervice to do ſervice in the holy place, and the holy garments for Aaron the prieſt, and his ſons garments to miniſter in the prieſt's office.

42 According to all that the LORD commanded Moſes, ſo the children of Iſrael made all the work.

43 And Moſes did look upon all the work, and behold, they had done it as the LORD had commanded, even ſo had they done it: and Moſes bleſſed them.

8 And thou ſhalt ſet up the court round about, and hang up the hanging at the court-gate.

9 ¶ And thou ſhalt take the anointing-oil, and anoint the tabernacle and all that is therein, and ſhalt hallow it, and all the veſſels thereof: and it ſhall be holy.

10 And thou ſhalt anoint the altar of the burnt-offering, and all his veſſels, and ſanctify the altar: and it ſhall be an altar moſt holy.

11 And thou ſhalt anoint the laver and his foot, and ſanctify it.

12 And thou ſhalt bring Aaron and his ſons unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and waſh them with water.

13 ¶ And thou ſhalt put upon Aaron the holy garments, and anoint him, and ſanctify him; that he may miniſter unto me in the prieſt's office.

14 And thou ſhalt bring his ſons, and clothe them with coats:

15 And thou ſhalt anoint them, as thou didſt anoint their father, that they may miniſter unto me in the prieſt's office: for their anointing ſhall ſurely be an everlaſting prieſthood, throughout their generations.

16 Thus did Moſes: according to all that the LORD commanded him, ſo did he.

17 And it came to paſs, in the firſt month in the ſecond year, on the firſt day of the month, that the tabernacle was reared up.

18 And Moſes reared up the tabernacle, and faſtened his ſockets, and ſet up the boards thereof, and put in the bars thereof, and reared up his pillars.

19 And he ſpread abroad the tent over the tabernacle, and put the covering of the tent above upon it: as the LORD commanded Moſes.

20 And he took and put the teſtimony into the ark, and ſet the ſtaves on the ark, and put the mercy-ſeat above upon the ark:

21 And he brought the ark into the tabernacle, and ſet up the vail of the covering, and covered the ark of the teſtimony; as the LORD commanded Moſes.

22 And he put the table in the tent of the congregation, upon the ſide of the tabernacle north-ward, without the vail.

23 And he ſet the bread in order upon it, before the LORD; as the LORD had commanded Moſes.

24 And he put the candleſtick in the tent of the congregation, over againſt the table, on the ſide of the tabernacle ſouth-ward.

25 And he lighted the lamps before the LORD, as the LORD commanded Moſes.

26 And he put the golden altar in the tent of the congregation, before the vail:

27 And he burnt ſweet incenſe thereon; as the LORD commanded Moſes.

28 And he ſet up the hanging, at the door of the tabernacle.

29 And he put the altar of burnt-offering by the door of the tabernacle of the tent of the congregation, and offered upon it the burnt-offering, and the meat-offering; as the LORD commanded Moſes.

30 And he ſet the laver between the tent of the congregation and the altar, and put water there, to waſh withal:

12 And waſh them with water.] See chap. xix. 10.

17, 18 And it came to paſs in the firſt month, &c.] The true meaning of theſe verſes appears to be this: Moſes, on the firſt day of the firſt month of the ſecond year after the departure out of Egypt, ſet up the tabernacle, and began to conſecrate it and the altar of burnt-offering, and ſpent ſeven days in performing the ceremonies; after which the conſecration of the prieſts began, and continued ſeven days more, and was finiſhed againſt the fifteenth of the ſame month, when a ſolemn paſſover was kept; Numb. ix. 1, 6. Some indeed have alledged, that the tabernacle and prieſts were conſecrated together, and conſequently that ſeven days only were ſpent in both. But there is a conſiderable objection againſt this, namely, that in the conſecration of Aaron and his ſons, ſeveral ſacrifices were to be offered on the altar, Lev. viii. 4, 18, 22, which ſuppoſes it to have been already conſecrated, and ſet apart for religious uſe. Beſides, we find God delivering his commands to Moſes out of the tabernacle, before the conſecration of the prieſts, Lev. i. 1, compared with chap. viii. 1, which ſufficiently proves, that the tabernacle was completely conſecrated before the conſecration of the prieſts began.

The Tabernacle of Moſes EXOD: XL. 22 to 27.

5 MA 56

31 And Moſes, and Aaron and his ſons, waſhed their hands and their feet thereat:

32 When they went into the tent of the congregation, and when they came near unto the altar, they waſhed; as the LORD commanded Moſes.

33 And he reared up the court round about the tabernacle and the altar, and ſet up the hanging of the court-gate. So Moſes finiſhed the work.

34 Then a cloud covered the tent of the congregation, and the glory of the LORD filled the tabernacle.

35 And Moſes was not able to enter into the tent of the congregation, becauſe the cloud abode thereon, and the glory of the LORD filled the tabernacle.

36 And when the cloud was taken up from over the tabernacle, the children of Iſrael went on-ward in all their journeys:

37 But if the cloud were not taken up, then they journeyed not, till the day that it was taken up.

38 For the cloud of the LORD was upon the tabernacle by day, and fire was on it by night, in the ſight of all the houſe of Iſrael, throughout all their journeys.

34 Then a cloud covered the tent of the congregation.] This cloud had for ſome time reſted on the tent of Moſes; but, on the tabernacle's being finiſhed, it removed from its former ſituation, and fixed itſelf upon the tabernacle, where it continued in the form of a cloud by day, and a glorious light by night, till they entered the land of Canaan, which had long before been promiſed to their fathers. St. John tells us, that the tabernacle was a type of our bleſſed Redeemer's dwelling in our nature. The word was made fleſh, and dwelt amongſt us. The altar of burnt-offering, in the court, pointed out the death and ſacrifice of our Lord, by the ſhedding of whoſe blood our ſins are pardoned, and we received into mercy and favour. The altar of incenſe, within the holy place, denoted our Lord's powerful interceſſion for us, in his exalted ſtate of glory. And the ark of the covenant, in the holy of holies, was an eminent emblem of him, from whoſe mouth we received a law, founded upon better promiſes; by whoſe interceſſion we have acceſs to the throne of grace with all holdneſs, and whoſe ſatisfaction to the Divine Juſtice is our true propitiatory, or mercy-ſeat. If it ſhould be aſked, why God ſhould have choſen to make uſe of types and figures, it may be anſwered, that the underſtanding of the Jews appears to be too groſs, and their capacity too mean, to receive a more ſpiritual diſpenſation. Beſides, God might have this farther deſign in ſetting before them the myſtery of man's redemption, under ſuch typical repreſentations; namely, to excite their induſtry, and give a fuller ſcope to the exerciſe of their faith. For that the faith, hope, and other graces of the patriarchs, and devout Jews, were more effectually proved by the exhibition of things ambiguous and obſcure, than if they had been altogether opened in the fulleſt and plaineſt propoſitions, is a matter that can hardly be conteſted. To reſt aſſuredly that God would bring to paſs what he had expreſly and circumſtantially foretold, ſhewed indeed a ſincere and true faith in general; but to be perſuaded that faint reſemblances, and the remoteſt hints, were pregnant with certainty and ſolidity, and would in their proper time be glorioufly completed, was, if I may be allowed the expreſſion, a ſpecial advance of heroic faith, and rendered their dependence and reſignation as complete as poſſible. And accordingly the apoſtle, having enumerated ſeveral ancient worthies, who, by faith, extended their views, and looked upon the diſpenſation they were under as no more than a ſyſtem of types and ſhadows of good things to come; concludes their characters in the following manner: And all theſe having obtained a good report through faith, received not the promiſe: God having provided ſome better thing for us, that they without us ſhould not be made perfect, Heb. xi. 39, 40. So that the Jewiſh religion was, in ſome reſpects, adapted to the capacity and genius both of the learned and ignorant: of the ignorant, as being made up of pomp and ſhew ſufficient to attract their attention; and of the learned, as abounding with ſhadows and emblems of higher matters, enough to exerciſe their deepeſt contemplations.

35 Moſes was not able to enter into the tent, &c.] The glory of the Lord, at this firſt appearance, ſhone ſo bright and ſtrong, that no eye could look upon it.

36 And when the cloud was taken up from, &c.] Here the Divine Preſence reſided, during the whole time of their future travels; the cloud directing them when and whither they ſhould remove, by riſing up and going before them.

THE

THE THIRD BOOK OF MOSES,

CALLED

LEVITICUS.

THE ARGUMENT.

This Book contains the laws and regulations relating to the Prieſts, and being employed chiefly in deſcribing the ſacrifices and ſervices of the Tabernacle, to be performed by AARON the Levite and his ſons, who alone had the office of Prieſthood in the houſe of Levi, is therefore termed by the Greek and Latin tranſlators Leviticus: And that part of the Jewiſh religion which is ceremonial, is properly denominated the Levitical Law. The hiſtorical parts of this Book are few, but very inſtructive; chiefly intended for creating in men a juſt veneration for all perſons and things conſecrated to the ſpecial ſervice of God.

CHAP. I.

1 The burnt-offerings, 3 of the herd, 10 of the flocks, 14 of the fowls.

AND the LORD called unto Moſes, and ſpake unto him out of the tabernacle of the congregation, ſaying,

2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, If any man of you bring an offering unto the LORD, ye ſhall bring your offering of the cattle, even of the herd, and of the flock.

3 ¶ If his offering be a burnt-ſacrifice of the herd, let him offer a male without blemiſh: he ſhall offer it of his own voluntary will, at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation before the LORD.

Notes on the Firſt Chapter.

Ver. 2 If any man of you bring an offering unto the Lord.] From this paſſage it hath been obſerved both by jewiſh and chriſtian writers, that God doth not enjoin the offering of ſacrifices, but only ſuppoſes the Iſraelites would offer them, becauſe they had been long accuſtomed to that rite, which then univerſally prevailed. For ſacrifices, attended with a great variety of ceremonies, had been common in the world long before the Moſaical inſtitution; and therefore Moſes, inſtead of aboliſhing all ceremonies, which the rude minds of the people could not then bear, ſuffers them to offer ſacrifices to the true God.

Even of the herd, and of the flock.] The former comprehends all the creatures of the cow-kind, and the latter ſheep and goats. It has been obſerved, that nothing was to be offered upon the Jewiſh altar but bullocks, ſheep, or goats; and doves were accepted when men were not able to bring the other.

3 If his offering be a burnt-ſacrifice.] This was wholly given to God, and every part of it burnt upon the altar, to ſhew, that both the inward and outward man, the external devotion of the body, and the internal devotion of the mind, are neceſſary to conſtitute that ſacrifice which is acceptable to God. Several paſſages of ſcripture ſhew, that burnt-offerings were ſometimes uſed for all purpoſes in divine worſhip. And Dr. Cudworth juſtly obſerves, that when ſuch ſacrifices were not for the whole congregation, but for any particular perſon, they had always peace-offerings regularly annexed to them, that ſo the owners might at the ſame time that they offered to God, feaſt upon the ſacrifice. There was a ſtated number of burnt-offerings for the whole congregation, and continually offered up year by year. Two were daily offered, called the morning and evening ſacrifice, beſides the additional ones on every ſabbath, new-moon, and feſtival. Thoſe for private perſons, and to be offered on particular occaſions and emergencies, are ſpecified in the law; but beſides theſe, there were many offered voluntarily. The whole of this doctrine of ſacrifices ſerved to ſhew, firſt, God's purity, who declares his abhorrence of ſin, by requiring peculiar ſacrifices to make atonement, not thinking fit it ſhould be pardoned without ſome ſtanding memorial of the holineſs of his nature, and the ſanctity of his laws. Secondly, As it was a ſenſible ſign and repreſentation of the divine mercy, in accepting the life of the victim in lieu of the offender's forfeited life, which was the intent of ſprinkling the blood upon the altar. See Kidder.

Let him offer a male without blemiſh.] A male, becauſe that was reckoned the beſt; and ſurely it was a juſt tribute to offer of the beſt to that benevolent Being, who was the author of every good thing they enjoyed; in token of that purity and unblemiſhed ſincerity which ought to accompany all our religious ſervices.

4 He

4 And he ſhall put his hand upon the head of the burnt-offering: and it ſhall be accepted for him to make atonement for him.

5 And he ſhall kill the bullock before the LORD: and the prieſts Aaron's ſons ſhall bring the blood, and ſprinkle the blood round about upon the altar that is by the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

6 And he ſhall ſlay the burnt-offering, and cut it into his pieces.

7 And the ſons of Aaron the prieſt ſhall put fire upon the altar, and lay the wood in order upon the fire.

8 And the prieſts Aaron's ſons ſhall lay the parts, the head, and the fat, in order upon the wood that is on the fire which is upon the altar.

9 But his inwards and his legs ſhall he waſh in water: and the prieſt ſhall burn all on the altar, to be a burnt-ſacrifice, an offering made by fire, of a ſweet ſavour unto the LORD.

10 ¶ And if his offering be of the flocks, namely of the ſheep, or of the goats, for a burnt-ſacrifice; he ſhall bring it a male without blemiſh.

11 And he ſhall kill it on the ſide of the altar north-ward before the LORD: and the prieſts Aaron's ſons ſhall ſprinkle his blood round about upon the altar.

12 And he ſhall cut it into his pieces, with his head and his fat: and the prieſt ſhall lay them in order on the wood that is on the fire which is upon the altar.

13 But he ſhall waſh the inwards and the legs with water: and the prieſt ſhall bring it all, and burn it upon the altar: it is a burnt-ſacrifice, an offering made by fire, of a ſweet ſavour unto the LORD.

14 ¶ And if the burnt-ſacrifice for his offering to the LORD be of fowls, then he ſhall bring his offering of turtle-doves, or of young pigeons.

15 And the prieſt ſhall bring it unto the altar, and wring off his head, and burn it on the altar: and the blood thereof ſhall be wrung out at the ſide of the altar.

16 And he ſhall pluck away his crop with his feathers, and caſt it beſide the altar on the eaſt-part, by the place of the aſhes.

17 And he ſhall cleave it, with the wings thereof, but ſhall not divide it aſunder: and the prieſt ſhall burn it upon the altar, upon the wood that is upon the fire: it is a burnt-ſacrifice, an offering made by fire, of a ſweet ſavour unto the LORD.

CHAP. II.

1 The meat-offering of flour with oil and incenſe, 12 and of the firſt-fruits in the ear. 13 The ſalt of the meat-offering.

AND when any will offer a meat-offering unto the LORD, his offering ſhall be of fine flour; and he ſhall pour oil upon it, and put frankincenſe thereon.

4 He ſhall put his hand.] As an acknowledgment of his ſins, transferring the ſame upon the ſacrifice, and relying by faith on its expiation for him.

It ſhall be accepted for him.] God will, in his great mercy, accept of this imperfect ſervice, and favour the offerer with his regard and friendſhip.

5 And the prieſts, Aaron's ſons, ſhall bring the blood, &c.] It muſt be remembered, that the blood is always conſidered, in ſcripture, as the life; and therefore the prieſt, by ſprinkling the blood upon the altar, did it as a ranſom for the life of the offerer. And though no man could be ſo abſurd as to imagine, that the blood of the beaſt had any virtue to expiate ſin, or render the Deity propitious; yet this manner of offering the blood of the victim in behalf of the offerer, being an inſtituted ſign, ſerved at once to preſerve in the minds of the people, a lively ſenſe of the demerit of ſin, and of the mercy of God, towards the penitent.

7 And the ſons of Aaron ſhall put fire upon the altar.] They ſhall increaſe the fire by freſh fewel; for the fire was before on the altar, and always kept burning.

8 And the prieſts ſhall lay the parts, &c.] They were to place the pureſt parts of the fat, with the head upon the fire firſt, to help, by their flame, to burn the other parts.

9 But his inwards and his legs ſhall he waſh in water.] Theſe parts were not to be burnt upon the altar, till they were well cleanſed by waſhing them in water; for which purpoſe there was a private room allotted afterwards in the court of the temple, and in all probability there was ſome conveniency of the ſame kind in the tabernacle.

14 And if the burnt-ſacrifice be of fowls.] Thoſe who could not afford a ſheep or a goat, might offer a bird; or even bread: if that was too great a burden to him, he might worſhip God, by bringing only an offering of flour. All this ſhews, that it was not the gift but the diſpoſition of the giver that God regarded. A turtle-dove was as graciouſly received as an ox. God indeed requires the heart; and if that be offered, the ſinner has no reaſon to fear its being accepted, however inſignificant the gift with which it is accompanied. The ſacrifices of God are a broken ſpirit; a broken and a contrite heart, O God, thou wilt not deſpiſe, Pſal. li. 17.

Notes on the Second Chapter.

Ver. 1 A meat-offering.] Implies an offering compoſed chiefly of the flour of wheat, and therefore would have been better rendered a wheat-offering.

2 And he ſhall bring it to Aaron's ſons the prieſts: and he ſhall take thereout his handful of the flour thereof, and of the oil thereof, with all the frankincenſe thereof; and the prieſt ſhall burn the memorial of it upon the altar, to be an offering made by fire, of a ſweet ſavour unto the LORD.

3 And the remnant of the meat-offering ſhall be Aaron's and his ſons: it is a thing moſt holy of the offerings of the LORD made by fire.

4 And if thou bring an oblation of a meat-offering baken in the oven, it ſhall be unleavened cakes of fine flour mingled with oil, or unleavened wafers anointed with oil.

5 And if thy oblation be a meat-offering baken in a pan, it ſhall be of fine flour unleavened, mingled with oil.

6 Thou ſhalt part it in pieces, and pour oil thereon: it is a meat-offering.

7 And if thy oblation be a meat-offering baken in the frying-pan, it ſhall be made of fine flour with oil.

8 And thou ſhalt bring the meat-offering, that is made of theſe things, unto the LORD: and when it is preſented unto the prieſt, he ſhall bring it unto the altar.

9 And the prieſt ſhall take from the meat-offering a memorial thereof, and ſhall burn it upon the altar: it is an offering made by fire of a ſweet ſavour unto the LORD.

10 And that which is left of the meat-offering ſhall be Aaron's and his ſons: it is a thing moſt holy of the offerings of the LORD made by fire.

11 No meat-offering, which ye ſhall bring unto the LORD, ſhall be made with leaven: for ye ſhall burn no leaven, nor any honey, in any offering of the LORD made by fire.

12 ¶ As for the oblation of the firſt-fruits, ye ſhall offer them unto the LORD: but they ſhall not be burnt on the altar for a ſweet ſavour.

13 ¶ And every oblation of thy meat-offering ſhalt thou ſeaſon with ſalt; neither ſhalt thou ſuffer the ſalt of the covenant of thy God to be lacking from thy meat-offering: with all thine offerings thou ſhalt offer ſalt.

14 And if thou offer a meat-offering of thy firſt-fruits unto the LORD, thou ſhalt offer for the meat-offering of thy firſt-fruits green ears of corn dried by the fire, even corn beaten out of full ears.

15 And thou ſhalt put oil upon it, and lay frankincenſe thereon: it is a meat-offering.

16 And the prieſt ſhall burn the memorial of it, part of the beaten corn thereof, and part of the oil thereof, with all the frankincenſe thereof: it is an offering made by fire unto the LORD.

CHAP. III.

1 The peace offering of the herd, 6 of the flock; 7 either a lamb, 12 or a goat.

AND if his oblation be a ſacrifice of peace-offering, if he offer it of the herd, whether it be a male or female; he ſhall offer it without blemiſh before the LORD.

2 And he ſhall lay his hand upon the head of his offering, and kill it at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation: and Aaron's ſons the prieſts ſhall ſprinkle the blood upon the altar round about.

3 And he ſhall offer of the ſacrifice of the peace-offering an offering made by fire unto the LORD; the fat that covereth the inwards, and all the fat that is upon the inwards:

2 The prieſt ſhall burn the memorial of it upon the altar.] He ſhall burn a portion of it, as a teſtimony or memorial that the whole ſacrifice was dedicated to God.

11 No meat-offering ſhall be made with leaven.] Partly to remind them of their great deliverance out of Egypt, when they were forced to carry away their dough before it was leavened; and partly in oppoſition to the cuſtom of the heathens in ſuch caſes, who made their ſacrificial bread of the lighteſt and ſweeteſt kind poſſible. Perhaps the reaſon why neither leaven nor honey were to be mixed with theſe bread-offerings might be, to commemorate the primitive way of life, when neither leavened nor ſweet bread were known, and they eat only cakes baked upon the aſhes.

13 Every oblation of thy meat-offering ſhalt thou ſeaſon with ſalt.] Plutarch tells us, that the Egyptians never uſed any ſalt in their bread; and therefore it is not improbable, that the Iſraelites were commanded to uſe ſalt in their ſacrifices, in oppoſition to thoſe cuſtoms they had ſo long been uſed to in Egypt, and with which they were ſo deeply tinctured. The New Teſtament teaches us to conſider this circumſtance in a moral light: for as ſalt has two remarkable qualities, namely, of ſeaſoning and preſerving meat; ſo it properly denoted that integrity and ſpotleſs condition of the heart, which renders both the perſons of men and their ſervices acceptable to God.

Notes on the Third Chapter.

Ver. 1 And if his oblation be a ſacrifice of peace-offering.] The word, which we render peace-offering, implies every kind of proſperity and happineſs.

4 And

4 And the two kidneys, and the fat that is on them, which is by the flanks, and the caul above the liver, with the kidneys, it ſhall he take away.

5 And Aaron's ſons ſhall burn it on the altar upon the burnt-ſacrifice, which is upon the wood that is on the fire: it is an offering made by fire, of a ſweet ſavour unto the LORD.

6 ¶ And if his offering for a ſacrifice of peace-offering unto the LORD, be of the flock, male or female; he ſhall offer it without blemiſh.

7 ¶ If he offer a lamb for his offering, then ſhall he offer it before the LORD.

8 And he ſhall lay his hand upon the head of his offering, and kill it before the tabernacle of the congregation: and Aaron's ſons ſhall ſprinkle the blood thereof round about upon the altar.

9 And he ſhall offer of the ſacrifice of the peace-offering an offering made by fire unto the LORD: the fat thereof and the whole rump, it ſhall he take off hard by the back-bone; and the fat that covereth the inwards, and all the fat that is upon the inwards:

10 And the two kidneys, and the fat that is upon them, which is by the flanks, and the caul above the liver, with the kidneys, it ſhall he take away.

11 And the prieſt ſhall burn it upon the altar: it is the food of the offering made by fire unto the LORD.

12 ¶ And if his offering be a goat, then he ſhall offer it before the LORD.

13 And he ſhall lay his hand upon the head of it, and kill it before the tabernacle of the congregation: and the ſons of Aaron ſhall ſprinkle the blood thereof upon the altar round about.

14 And he ſhall offer thereof his offering, even an offering made by fire unto the LORD; the fat that covereth the inwards, and all the fat that is upon the inwards:

15 And the two kidneys, and the fat that is upon them, which is by the flanks, and the caul above the liver, with the kidneys, it ſhall he take away.

16 And the prieſt ſhall burn them upon the altar: it is the food of the offering made by fire, for a ſweet ſavour: all the fat is the LORD's.

17 It ſhall be a perpetual ſtatute for your generations throughout all your dwellings, that ye eat neither fat nor blood.

CHAP. IV.

1 The ſin offering of ignorance, 3 for the prieſt, 13 for the congregation, 22 for the ruler, 27 for any of the people.

AND the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, If a ſoul ſhall ſin through ignorance againſt any of the commandments of the LORD, (concerning things which ought not to be done) and ſhall do againſt any of them:

3 ¶ If the prieſt that is anointed do ſin according to the ſin of the people; then let him bring, for his ſin which he hath ſinned, a young bullock without blemiſh, unto the LORD for a ſin-offering.

---

4 And the caul above the liver.] This ſhould have been rendered the greateſt lobe of the liver.

9 The whole rump.] In the eaſtern countries the rumps or tails of ſheep were remarkably large and fat, which ſeems to be the reaſon why Moſes, who does not mention the rump in the offering of bullocks or goats, appropriates to the altar the whole rump of ſheep.

11 It is the food of the offering made by fire.] The ſacrifice is conſidered in ſcripture as the meat of God, which ſupported or fed the fire of the altar; which is alſo called the table of God. The heathens uſed the ſame idiom of ſpeech, with regard to their ſacrifices; for their gods are ſaid to eat the fat and drink the wine which was conſumed upon their altars, Deut, xxxii. 38.

16 All the fat is the Lord's.] Not the fat that is intermixed with the fleſh; for that might be eaten, Deut. xxxii. 14; but that which lay upon it, and might be ſeparated from it, what we call the ſewet. It is alſo reſtricted to the three kinds of animals fit for ſacrifice, namely, the cow-kind, ſheep, and goats.

Notes on the Fourth Chapter.

Ver. 2 If a ſoul ſhould ſin through ignorance.] By ſins of ignorance is generally underſtood all the frailties of human nature; for men in moſt caſes may be ſaid to ſin through ignorance, i. e. through miſtake or miſapprehenſion of their true intereſt. Hence our bleſſed Saviour himſelf ſays of the Jews, his cruel perſecutors, Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do. But had ſacrifices been required for all errors and ſins of ignorance, there had been no end of them. Therefore theſe ſacrifices were appointed for involuntary tranſgreſſions of the ceremonial law.

And ſhall do againſt any of them.] To render the ſenſe complete we muſt ſupply, he ſhall bring an offering for his ſin, or ſome ſuch expreſſion.

3 For a ſin-offering.] There are chiefly two ſorts of expiatory ſacrifices in the Levitical law, one rendered ſin-offering, and the other treſpaſs-offering; but it is not eaſy to determine wherein the difference conſiſted. The Hebrew word ſignifies both ſin and ſin-offering; and hence our bleſſed Saviour is ſaid to have been made ſin for us, that is, a ſin-offering, 2 Cor. v. 21.

4 And he ſhall bring the bullock unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation before the LORD, and ſhall lay his hand upon the bullock's head, and kill the bullock before the LORD.

5 And the prieſt that is anointed ſhall take of the bullock's blood, and bring it to the tabernacle of the congregation.

6 And the prieſt ſhall dip his finger in the blood, and ſprinkle of the blood ſeven times before the LORD, before the vail of the ſanctuary.

7 And the prieſt ſhall put ſome of the blood upon the horns of the altar of ſweet incenſe before the LORD, which is in the tabernacle of the congregation; and ſhall pour all the blood of the bullock at the bottom of the altar of the burnt-offering, which is at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

8 And he ſhall take off from it all the fat of the bullock for the ſin-offering; the fat that covereth the inwards, and all the fat that is upon the inwards;

9 And the two kidneys, and the fat that is upon them, which is by the flanks, and the caul above the liver, with the kidneys, it ſhall he take away,

10 As it was taken off from the bullock of the ſacrifice of peace-offerings: and the prieſt ſhall burn them upon the altar of the burnt-offering.

11 And the ſkin of the bullock, and all his fleſh, with his head, and with his legs, and his inwards, and his dung,

12 Even the whole bullock ſhall he carry forth without the camp, unto a clean place, where the aſhes are poured out, and burn him on the wood with fire: where the aſhes are poured out, ſhall he be burnt.

13 ¶ And if the whole congregation of Iſrael ſin through ignorance, and the thing be hid from the eyes of the aſſembly, and they have done ſomewhat againſt any of the commandments of the LORD, concerning things which ſhould not be done, and are guilty;

14 When the ſin which they have ſinned againſt it is known, then the congregation ſhall offer a young bullock for the ſin, and bring him before the tabernacle of the congregation.

15 And the elders of the congregation ſhall lay their hands upon the head of the bullock before the LORD: and the bullock ſhall be killed before the LORD.

16 And the prieſt that is anointed, ſhall bring of the bullock's blood to the tabernacle of the congregation.

17 And the prieſt ſhall dip his finger in ſome of the blood, and ſprinkle it ſeven times before the LORD, even before the vail.

18 And he ſhall put ſome of the blood upon the horns of the altar which is before the LORD, that is in the tabernacle of the congregation, and ſhall pour out all the blood at the bottom of the altar of the burnt-offering, which is at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

19 And he ſhall take all his fat from him, and burn it upon the altar.

20 And he ſhall do with the bullock as he did with the bullock for a ſin-offering, ſo ſhall he do with this: and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for them, and it ſhall be forgiven them.

21 And he ſhall carry forth the bullock without the camp, and burn him as he burned the firſt bullock: it is a ſin-offering for the congregation.

22 ¶ When a ruler hath ſinned, and done ſomewhat through ignorance againſt any of the commandments of the LORD his God, concerning things which ſhould not be done, and is guilty;

23 Or if his ſin, wherein he hath ſinned, come to his knowledge; he ſhall bring his offering, a kid of the goats, a male without blemiſh.

---

6 Shall ſprinkle the blood ſeven times.] This ceremony was peculiar only to the moſt ſolemn ſacrifices. The number ſeven is frequently mentioned in the ſacred writings: See Exod. c. xxix. 30.

13 If the whole congregation of Iſrael ſin.] This expreſſion, the whole congregation, is plainly diſtinguiſhed from the elders of the people, ver. 15. which doubtleſs implies their judges and governors; and therefore muſt be underſtood of a ſin committed by the whole body of the community, or the church, including both prieſts and people.

22 And is guilty.] Read, and is conſcious of his guilt.

23 Or if his ſin.] This ſhould have been tranſlated, and if his ſin; or as ſoon as his ſin.

24 And he ſhall lay his hand upon the head of the goat, and kill it in the place where they kill the burnt-offering before the LORD: it is a ſin-offering.

25 And the prieſt ſhall take of the blood of the ſin-offering with his finger, and put it upon the horns of the altar of burnt-offering, and ſhall pour out his blood at the bottom of the altar of burnt-offering.

26 And he ſhall burn all his fat upon the altar, as the fat of the ſacrifice of peace-offerings: and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him as concerning his ſin, and it ſhall be forgiven him.

27 ¶ And if any one of the common people ſin through ignorance, while he doeth ſomewhat againſt any of the commandments of the LORD, concerning things which ought not to be done, and be guilty;

28 Or if his ſin which he hath ſinned come to his knowledge: then he ſhall bring his offering, a kid of the goats, a female without blemiſh, for his ſin which he hath ſinned.

29 And he ſhall lay his hand upon the head of the ſin-offering, and ſlay the ſin-offering in the place of the burnt-offering.

30 And the prieſt ſhall take of the blood thereof with his finger, and put it upon the horns of the altar of burnt-offering, and ſhall pour out all the blood thereof at the bottom of the altar.

31 And he ſhall take away all the fat thereof, as the fat is taken away from off the ſacrifice of peace-offerings; and the prieſt ſhall burn it upon the altar for a ſweet ſavour unto the LORD: and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him, and it ſhall be forgiven him.

32 And if he bring a lamb for a ſin-offering, he ſhall bring it a female without blemiſh.

33 And he ſhall lay his hand upon the head of the ſin-offering, and ſlay it for a ſin-offering, in the place where they kill the burnt-offering.

34 And the prieſt ſhall take of the blood of the ſin-offering with his finger, and put it upon the horns of the altar of burnt-offering, and ſhall pour out all the blood thereof at the bottom of the altar.

35 And he ſhall take away all the fat thereof, as the fat of the lamb is taken away from the ſacrifice of the peace-offerings: and the prieſt ſhall burn them upon the altar; according to the offerings made by fire unto the LORD: and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for his ſin that he hath committed, and it ſhall be forgiven him.

CHAP. V.

1 Of him that concealeth his knowledge in touching of an unclean thing, 4 or in making an oath. 14 The treſpaſs-offering in ſacrilege, 17 and in ſins of ignorance.

AND if a ſoul ſin, and hear the voice of ſwearing, and is a witneſs, whether he hath ſeen or known of it: if he do not utter it, then he ſhall bear his iniquity.

2 Or if a ſoul touch any unclean thing, whether it be a carcaſe of an unclean beaſt, or a carcaſe of unclean cattle, or the carcaſe of unclean creeping things, and if it be hidden from him; he alſo ſhall be unclean, and guilty.

3 Or if he touch the uncleanneſs of man, whatſoever uncleanneſs it be that a man ſhall be defiled withal, and it be hid from him; when he knoweth of it, then he ſhall be guilty.

4 ¶ Or if a ſoul ſwear, pronouncing with his lips to do evil, or to do good, whatſoever it be that a man ſhall pronounce with an oath,

35 It ſhall be forgiven him.] He ſhall be reinſtated in all the privileges annexed to the members of the Jewiſh community, which he had forfeited by his crime. But with regard to final forgiveneſs of ſin; this was the effect of the divine mercy granted on condition of ſincere repentance. Thus the great deſign of ſin-offerings was to imprint the remembrance of guilt upon the heart, and to preſerve them from offending for the future.

Notes on the Fifth Chapter.

Ver. 1 And if a ſoul ſin, and hear the voice of ſwearing.] By ſoul here is to be underſtood either man or woman. Inſtead of ſwearing it ſhould be adjuration; for it was a cuſtom in the Eaſt for the judges to adjure the witneſs, in the name of God, to declare the whole truth.

2 Or if a ſoul touch any unclean thing.] The principal intention of this and many other laws, was to impreſs the Jews with the higheſt veneration of their holy things; and accordingly thoſe who, knowing themſelves unclean, eat of the holy things, or even came into the ſanctuary without purifying themſelves, were to be cut off from the congregation. The precept, however, is not to be underſtood literally; contracting uncleanneſs, and not barely touching an unclean thing, being the true import of it.

4 Or if a ſoul ſwear, pronouncing with his lips to do evil, or to do good.] This paſſage ſhould have been tranſlated, Or if a ſoul and it be hid from him; when he knoweth of it, then he shall be guilty in one of these.

5 And it shall be, when he shall be guilty in one of these things, that he shall confess that he hath sinned in that thing.

6 And he shall bring his trespass-offering unto the LORD for his sin which he hath sinned, a female from the flock, a lamb or a kid of the goats, for a sin-offering: and the priest shall make an atonement for him concerning his sin.

7 And if he be not able to bring a lamb, then he shall bring for his trespass which he hath committed, two turtle-doves, or two young pigeons unto the LORD; one for a sin-offering, and the other for a burnt-offering.

8 And he shall bring them unto the priest, who shall offer that which is for the sin-offering first, and wring off his head from his neck, but shall not divide it asunder.

9 And he shall sprinkle of the blood of the sin-offering upon the side of the altar; and the rest of the blood shall be wrung out at the bottom of the altar: it is a sin-offering.

10 And he shall offer the second for a burnt-offering, according to the manner: and the priest shall make an atonement for him for his sin which he hath sinned, and it shall be forgiven him.

11 But if he be not able to bring two turtle-doves, or two young pigeons; then he that sinned, shall bring for his offering the tenth part of an ephah of fine flour for a sin-offering: he shall put no oil upon it, neither shall he put any frankincense thereon: for it is a sin-offering.

12 Then shall he bring it to the priest, and the priest shall take his handful of it, even a memorial thereof, and burn it on the altar, according to the offerings made by fire unto the LORD: it is a sin-offering.

13 And the priest shall make an atonement for him as touching his sin that he hath sinned in one of these, and it shall be forgiven him: and the remnant shall be the priest's, as a meat-offering.

14 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

15 If a soul commit a trespass, and sin through ignorance, in the holy things of the LORD; then he shall bring for his trespass unto the LORD, a ram without blemish, out of the flocks, with thy estimation by shekels of silver, after the shekel of the sanctuary, for a trespass-offering.

16 And he shall make amends for the harm that he hath done in the holy thing, and shall add the fifth part thereto, and give it unto the priest: and the priest shall make an atonement for him with the ram of the trespass-offering, and it shall be forgiven him.

17 ¶ And if a soul sin, and commit any of these things which are forbidden to be done by the commandments of the LORD; though he wist it not, yet is he guilty, and shall bear his iniquity.

18 And he shall bring a ram without blemish out of the flock, with thy estimation, for a trespass-offering, unto the priest: and the priest shall make an atonement for him concerning his ignorance wherein he erred and wist it not: and it shall be forgiven him.

19 It is a trespass-offering: he hath certainly trespassed against the LORD.

CHAP. VI.

1 The trespass-offering for sins done wittingly.
19 The offering at the consecration of a priest.

shall swear, pronouncing rashly to do evil, or to do good; for the word which we render pronouncing, signifies to pronounce rashly, or speak unadvisedly.

He shall be guilty in one of these.] That is, of one of those things which should be done, or are commanded not to be done.

5 He shall confess, &c.] It was a general maxim among the Hebrews, that without confession to God, there could be no forgiveness; and therefore the guilty person, when he came to offer an offering for his sin, laid his hand upon the head of the victim, and confessed the crime he had been guilty of. This was their form of confession: "O God, I have sinned, I have done perversely: I have trespassed before thee, and have done so and so. Lo! I repent, and am ashamed of my doings, and will do so no more."

17 And if a soul sin—though he wist it not, yet he is guilty.] The Jewish doctors understand this of suspected guilt, as if a person be but in doubt or suspence whether he hath offended or not. And Grotius is of the same opinion, understanding by doubt, not such as is groundless, but where a person has reason to suspect himself guilty. This passage therefore seems to be a recapitulation of what had been said before, in relation to those who had sinned through ignorance of the fact; for as the former chapter treats of sins committed through ignorance of the law, this treats of those that are committed through ignorance of the fact.

AND the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,
2 If a ſoul ſin, and commit a treſpaſs againſt the LORD, and lye unto his neighbour in that which was delivered him to keep, or in fellowſhip, or in a thing taken away by violence, or hath deceived his neighbour,
3 Or have found that which was loſt, and lyeth concerning it, and ſweareth falſly; in any of all theſe that a man doeth, ſinning therein;
4 Then it ſhall be, becauſe he hath ſinned and is guilty, that he ſhall reſtore that which he took violently away, or the thing which he hath deceitfully gotten, or that which was delivered him to keep, or the loſt thing which he found,
5 Or all that about which he hath ſworn falſly; he ſhall even reſtore it in the principal, and ſhall add the fifth part more thereto, and give it unto him to whom it appertaineth, in the day of his treſpaſs-offering.
6 And he ſhall bring his treſpaſs-offering unto the LORD, a ram without blemiſh out of the flock, with thy eſtimation, for a treſpaſs-offering, unto the prieſt.
7 And the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him before the LORD: and it ſhall be forgiven him, for any thing of all that he hath done, in treſpaſſing therein.
8 And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,
9 Command Aaron and his ſons, ſaying, This is the law of the burnt-offering: (It is the burnt-offering, becauſe of the burning upon the altar all night unto the morning, and the fire of the altar ſhall be burning in it.)
10 And the prieſt ſhall put on his linen garment, and his linen breeches ſhall he put upon his fleſh, and take up the aſhes which the fire hath conſumed with the burnt-offering on the altar, and he ſhall put them beſide the altar.
11 And he ſhall put off his garments, and put on other garments, and carry forth the aſhes without the camp unto a clean place.
12 And the fire upon the altar ſhall be burning in it; it ſhall not be put out: and the prieſt ſhall burn wood on it every morning, and lay the burnt-offering in order upon it; and he ſhall burn thereon the fat of the peace-offerings.
13 The fire ſhall ever be burning upon the altar; it ſhall never go out.
14 And this is the law of the meat-offering: the ſons of Aaron ſhall offer it before the LORD, before the altar.
15 And he ſhall take of it his handful, of the flour of the meat-offering, and of the oil thereof, and all the frankincenſe which is upon the meat-offering, and ſhall burn it upon the altar, for a ſweet ſavour, even the memorial of it unto the LORD.
16 And the remainder thereof ſhall Aaron and his ſons eat: with unleavened bread ſhall it be eaten in the holy place; in the court of the tabernacle of the congregation they ſhall eat it.
17 It ſhall not be baken with leaven. I have given it unto them for their portion of my offerings made by fire: it is moſt holy, as is the ſin-offering, and as the treſpaſs-offering.
18 All the males among the children of Aaron ſhall eat of it. It ſhall be a ſtatute for ever in your generations concerning the offerings of the LORD made by fire: every one that toucheth them ſhall be holy.
19 ¶ And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

Notes on the Sixth Chapter.

Ver. 2 Againſt the Lord.] The ſins here mentioned being principally ſuch as cannot be puniſhed by men, becauſe they are committed in ſecrecy, are emphatically ſaid to be committed againſt the Lord, to whom alone the ſecrets of the heart are open.

4 Then it ſhall be, becauſe he hath ſinned.] This paſſage might have been better rendered, When any man ſhall have thus ſinned, and is ſenſible of his guilt, he ſhall then reſtore, &c.

6, 7 And he ſhall bring his treſpaſs-offering, &c.] After he had made reſtitution to his neighbour, he was to offer an expiatory ſacrifice, accompanied with confeſſion and prayer, which God promiſed to accept of as a token of his repentance.

9 It is the burnt-offering, becauſe of the burning upon the altar all night unto the morning.] This paſſage is better rendered in ſome verſions thus: The burnt-offering ſhall be burning upon the altar all night unto the morning; for the prieſts watched all night, and laid the ſacrifice on the fire, not all at once, but piece by piece, ſo that the whole was not conſumed till the morning.

10 And take up the aſhes which the fire hath conſumed with the burnt-offering, &c.] It ſhould have been tranſlated, When the fire hath conſumed the burnt-offering on the altar, he ſhall take up the aſhes, &c.

11 He ſhall put off his garments.] When he is to carry the aſhes out of the tabernacle, he ſhall dreſs himſelf in ſome habit of leſs dignity.

20 This is the offering of Aaron, and of his ſons, which they ſhall offer unto the LORD, in the day when he is anointed; the tenth part of an ephah of fine flour for a meat-offering perpetual, half of it in the morning, and half thereof at night:

21 In a pan it ſhall be made with oil; and when it is baken, thou ſhalt bring it in: and the baken pieces of the meat-offering ſhalt thou offer for a ſweet ſavour unto the LORD.

22 And the prieſt of his ſons, that is anointed in his ſtead, ſhall offer it: it is a ſtatute for ever unto the LORD; it ſhall be wholly burnt.

23 For every meat-offering for the prieſt ſhall be wholly burnt: it ſhall not be eaten.

24 And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

25 Speak unto Aaron and to his ſons, ſaying, This is the law of the ſin-offering: in the place where the burnt-offering is killed, ſhall the ſin-offering be killed before the LORD: it is moſt holy.

26 The prieſt that offereth it for ſin ſhall eat it: in the holy place ſhall it be eaten, in the court of the tabernacle of the congregation.

27 Whatſoever ſhall touch the fleſh thereof ſhall be holy: and when there is ſprinkled of the blood thereof upon any garment, thou ſhalt waſh that whereon it was ſprinkled in the holy place.

28 But the earthen veſſel wherein it is ſodden, ſhall be broken: and if it be ſodden in a braſen pot, it ſhall be both ſcoured, and rinſed in water.

29 All the males among the prieſts ſhall eat thereof: it is moſt holy.

30 And no ſin-offering, whereof any of the blood is brought into the tabernacle of the congregation to reconcile withal in the holy place, ſhall be eaten: it ſhall be burnt in the fire.

CHAP. VII.

1 The law of the treſpaſs-offering, 11 and of the peace-offerings. 22 The fat, 26 and the blood are forbidden.

LIkewiſe this is the law of the treſpaſs-offering: it is moſt holy.

2 In the place where they kill the burnt-offering, ſhall they kill the treſpaſs-offering: and the blood thereof ſhall he ſprinkle round about upon the altar.

3 And he ſhall offer of it, all the fat thereof; the rump, and the fat that covereth the inwards,

4 And the two kidneys, and the fat that is on them, which is by the flanks, and the caul that is above the liver, with the kidneys, it ſhall he take away.

5 And the prieſt ſhall burn them upon the altar, for an offering made by fire unto the LORD: it is a treſpaſs-offering.

6 Every male among the prieſts ſhall eat thereof: it ſhall be eaten in the holy place: it is moſt holy.

7 As the ſin-offering is, ſo is the treſpaſs-offering: there is one law for them: the prieſt that maketh atonement therewith ſhall have it.

8 And the prieſt that offereth any man's burnt-offering, even the prieſt ſhall have to himſelf the ſkin of the burnt-offering which he hath offered:

9 And all the meat-offering that is baken in the oven, and all that is dreſſed in the frying-pan, and in the pan, ſhall be the prieſt's that offereth it.

10 And every meat-offering mingled with oil, and dry, ſhall all the ſons of Aaron have, one as much as another.

11 ¶ And this is the law of the ſacrifice of peace-offerings, which he ſhall offer unto the LORD.

---

20 In the day when he is anointed.] It ſhould have been rendered, from the day when he is anointed.

28 The earthen veſſel wherein it is ſodden, ſhall be broken.] This is not to be underſtood of the holy veſſels, for none of them were of earth, but of thoſe which private perſons ſometimes employed in dreſſing the meat of their ſacrifices. They were to be broken, becauſe being apt to imbibe a tincture from the juices of the ſacrifice that was boiled in them, they could not eaſily be ſcoured clean; whereas braſs veſſels might be cleanſed by ſcouring.

Notes on the Seventh Chapter.

Ver. 11 And this is the law of the ſacrifice of peace-offerings.] Theſe are the only offerings remaining to be ſpoken of; and of theſe there were various ſorts, which required various rites, and therefore reſerved to be conſidered in the laſt place.

12 If he offer it for a thankſgiving, then he ſhall offer with the ſacrifice of thankſgiving, unleavened cakes mingled with oil, and unleavened wafers anointed with oil, and cakes mingled with oil, of fine flour, fryed.

13 Beſides the cakes, he ſhall offer for his offering unleavened bread, with the ſacrifice of thankſgiving of his peace-offerings.

14 And of it he ſhall offer one out of the whole oblation for an heave-offering unto the LORD, and it ſhall be the prieſt's that ſprinkleth the blood of the peace-offerings.

15 And the fleſh of the ſacrifice of his peace-offerings for thankſgiving ſhall be eaten the ſame day that it is offered: he ſhall not leave any of it until the morning.

16 But if the ſacrifice of his offering be a vow, or a voluntary offering, it ſhall be eaten the ſame day that he offereth his ſacrifice: and on the morrow alſo the remainder of it ſhall be eaten.

17 But the remainder of the fleſh of the ſacrifice on the third day ſhall be burnt with fire.

18 And if any of the fleſh of the ſacrifice of his peace-offerings be eaten at all on the third day, it ſhall not be accepted, neither ſhall it be imputed unto him that offereth it: it ſhall be an abomination, and the ſoul that eateth of it ſhall bear his iniquity.

19 And the fleſh, that toucheth any unclean thing, ſhall not be eaten; it ſhall be burnt with fire: and as for the fleſh, all that be clean ſhall eat thereof.

20 But the ſoul that eateth of the fleſh of the ſacrifice of peace-offerings, that pertain unto the LORD, having his uncleanneſs upon him, even that ſoul ſhall be cut off from his people.

21 Moreover, the ſoul that ſhall touch any unclean thing; as the uncleanneſs of man, or any unclean beaſt, or any abominable unclean thing, and eat of the fleſh of the ſacrifice of peace-offerings which pertain unto the LORD, even that ſoul ſhall be cut off from his people.

22 ¶ And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

23 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, Ye ſhall eat no manner of fat, of ox, or of ſheep, or of goat.

24 And the fat of the beaſt that dieth of it ſelf, and the fat of that which is torn with beaſts, may be uſed in any other uſe: but ye ſhall in no wiſe eat of it.

25 For whoſoever eateth the fat of the beaſt, of which men offer an offering made by fire unto the LORD, even the ſoul that eateth it, ſhall be cut off from his people.

26 ¶ Moreover, ye ſhall eat no manner of blood, whether it be of fowl or of beaſt, in any of your dwellings.

27 Whatſoever ſoul it be that eateth any manner of blood, even that ſoul ſhall be cut off from his people.

28 And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

29 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, He that offereth the ſacrifice of his peace-offerings unto the LORD, ſhall bring his oblation unto the LORD, of the ſacrifice of his peace-offerings.

30 His own hands ſhall bring the offerings of the LORD made by fire, the fat with the breaſt, it ſhall he bring, that the breaſt may be waved for a wave-offering before the LORD.

31 And the prieſt ſhall burn the fat upon the altar; but the breaſt ſhall be Aaron's and his ſons.

32 And the right ſhoulder ſhall ye give unto the prieſt for an heave-offering, of the ſacrifice of your peace-offerings.

33 He among the ſons of Aaron that offereth the blood of the peace-offerings, and the fat, ſhall have the right ſhoulder for his part.

34 For the wave-breaſt and the heave-

19 And the fleſh that toucheth, &c.] If any part of the ſacrifices ſhould touch any thing or perſon legally unclean, as it might do in carrying from the altar to the place where they intended to feaſt upon it; in that caſe it was enjoined, that the offerer ſhould forthwith burn it, and not dare to eat the leaſt bit of it. And whoever, under any legal defilement, ſhould preſume wilfully to eat of that which was dedicated to God, was to be cut off, that is, excluded from all the privileges of an Iſraelite. The intention of all theſe precepts was for preſerving the greater reverence and regard to ſacred things. See Pyle on Gen. xvii. 44.

29 He that offereth the ſacrifice of his peace-offerings, ſhall bring his oblation unto the Lord.] The offerer ſhall preſent his offering himſelf, and not by another, as the next words explain it.

30 That the breaſt may be waved.] See Exod. chap. xxix. By this ceremony it was conſecrated to God.

34 For the weave-breaſt and the heave-ſhoulder.] Theſe parts were waved and heaved, and by that means conſecrated to God.

ſhoulder have I taken of the children of Iſrael from off the ſacrifices of their peace-offerings, and have given them unto Aaron the prieſt, and unto his ſons, by a ſtatute for ever, from among the children of Iſrael.

35 This is the portion of the anointing of Aaron, and of the anointing of his ſons, out of the offerings of the LORD made by fire, in the day when he preſented them to miniſter unto the LORD in the prieſt's office;

36 Which the LORD commanded to be given them of the children of Iſrael, in the day that he anointed them, by a ſtatute for ever, throughout their generations.

37 This is the law of the burnt-offering, of the meat-offering, and of the ſin-offering, and of the treſpaſs-offering, and of the conſecrations, and of the ſacrifice of the peace-offerings;

38 Which the LORD commanded Moſes in mount Sinai, in the day that he commanded the children of Iſrael to offer their oblations unto the LORD, in the wilderneſs of Sinai.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Moſes conſecrateth Aaron and his ſons. 14 Their ſin-offering. 18 Their burnt-offering. 22 The ram of conſecration. 31 The place and time of their conſecration.

AND the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

2 Take Aaron and his ſons with him, and the garments, and the anointing oil, and a bullock for the ſin-offering, and two rams, and a baſket of unleavened bread;

3 And gather thou all the congregation together unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

4 And Moſes did as the LORD commanded him, and the aſſembly was gathered together unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

5 And Moſes ſaid unto the congregation, This is the thing which the LORD commanded to be done.

6 And Moſes brought Aaron and his ſons, and waſhed them with water.

7 And he put upon him the coat, and girded him with the girdle, and clothed him with the robe, and put the ephod upon him, and he girded him with the curious girdle of the ephod, and bound it unto him therewith.

8 And he put the breaſt-plate, upon him: alſo he put in the breaſt-plate the Urim and Thummim.

9 And he put the miter upon his head; alſo upon the miter, even upon his fore-front did he put the golden plate, the holy crown: as the LORD commanded Moſes.

10 And Moſes took the anointing oil, and anointed the tabernacle and all that was therein, and ſanctified them.

11 And he ſprinkled thereof upon the altar ſeven times, and anointed the altar and all his veſſels, both the laver and his foot, to ſanctify them.

12 And he poured of the anointing oil upon Aaron's head, and anointed him to ſanctify him.

13 And Moſes brought Aaron's ſons, and put coats upon them, and girded them with girdles, and put bonnets upon them; as the LORD commanded Moſes.

14 ¶ And he brought the bullock for the ſin-offering: and Aaron and his ſons laid their hands upon the head of the bullock for the ſin-offering.

15 And he ſlew it, and Moſes took the blood, and put it upon the horns of the altar round about with his finger, and purified the altar; and poured the blood at the bottom of the altar, and ſanctified it, to make reconciliation upon it.

By a ſtatute for ever.] That is, by a ſtatute it ſhall continue as long as the law itſelf. And doubtleſs the miniſters of religion, who preach the goſpel ſhould live of the goſpel, 1 Cor. ix. 14.

38 In mount Sinai.] This ſhould rather be rendered by mount Sinai; for Moſes received theſe commands from the tabernacle, which was then pitched in the wilderneſs of Sinai.

Notes on the Eighth Chapter.

Ver. 2 Take Aaron and his ſons with him, &c.] Having delivered the laws and rules about ſacrifices, and the rites belonging to them, he now, as he was commanded, proceeds to the conſecration of Aaron and his ſons, who were to miniſter in the holy place before the Lord.

12 And he poured of the anointing oil upon Aaron's head.] The royal pſalmiſt tells us, that this effuſion was ſo plentiful, that the holy oil ran down upon the beard, even Aaron's beard, and went down to the ſkirts of his clothing, Pſal. cxxxiii. 2.

15 And purified the altar.] The altar was to be purified with the blood of the ſacrifice, which was, by divine appointment, ſubſtituted inſtead of the forfeited blood of the ſinner.

16 And he took all the fat that was upon the inwards, and the caul above the liver, and the two kidneys, and their fat, and Moſes burned it upon the altar.

17 But the bullock, and his hide, his fleſh and his dung, he burnt with fire without the camp; as the LORD commanded Moſes.

18 ¶ And he brought the ram for the burnt-offering: and Aaron and his ſons laid their hands upon the head of the ram.

19 And he killed it, and Moſes ſprinkled the blood upon the altar round about.

20 And he cut the ram into pieces, and Moſes burnt the head, and the pieces, and the fat.

21 And he waſhed the inwards and the legs in water; and Moſes burnt the whole ram upon the altar: it was a burnt-ſacrifice for a ſweet ſavour, and an offering made by fire unto the LORD; as the LORD commanded Moſes.

22 ¶ And he brought the other ram, the ram of conſecration: and Aaron and his ſons laid their hands upon the head of the ram.

23 And he ſlew it, and Moſes took of the blood of it, and put it upon the tip of Aaron's right ear, and upon the thumb of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot.

24 And he brought Aaron's ſons, and Moſes put of the blood upon the tip of their right ear, and upon the thumbs of their right hands, and upon the great toes of their right feet: and Moſes ſprinkled the blood upon the altar round about.

25 And he took the fat, and the rump, and all the fat that was upon the inwards, and the caul above the liver, and the two kidneys and their fat, and the right ſhoulder.

26 And out of the baſket of unleavened bread, that was before the LORD, he took one unleavened cake, and a cake of oiled bread, and one wafer, and put them on the fat, and upon the right ſhoulder.

27 And he put all upon Aaron's hands, and upon his ſons hands, and waved them for a wave-offering before the LORD.

28 And Moſes took them from off their hands, and burnt them on the altar, upon the burnt-offering: they were conſecrations for a ſweet ſavour: it is an offering made by fire unto the LORD.

29 And Moſes took the breaſt, and waved it for a wave-offering before the LORD: for of the ram of conſecration it was Moſes' part; as the LORD commanded Moſes.

30 And Moſes took of the anointing oil, and of the blood which was upon the altar, and ſprinkled it upon Aaron, and upon his garments, and upon his ſons, and upon his ſons garments with him; and ſanctified Aaron and his garments, and his ſons, and his ſons garments with him.

31 ¶ And Moſes ſaid unto Aaron, and to his ſons, Boil the fleſh at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation; and there eat it with the bread that is in the baſket of conſecrations, as I commanded, ſaying, Aaron and his ſons ſhall eat it.

32 And that which remaineth of the fleſh, and of the bread ſhall ye burn with fire.

33 And ye ſhall not go out of the door of the tabernacle of the congregation in ſeven days, until the days of your conſecration be at an end: for ſeven days ſhall he conſecrate you.

34 As he hath done this day, ſo the LORD hath commanded to do, to make an atonement for you.

35 Therefore ſhall ye abide at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation day and night, ſeven days, and keep the charge of the LORD, that ye die not: for ſo I am commanded.

36 So Aaron and his ſons did all things which the LORD commanded by the hand of Moſes.

19, 20, 21, 22, 23, &c.] See all theſe ceremonies explained, Exod. xxix.

33 And ye ſhall not go out of the door of the tabernacle---in ſeven days.] This ſhould have been rendered, Ye ſhall not go from the door of the tabernacle; for the conſecration was not performed in, but at the door of the tabernacle: nor were they permitted to enter the ſanctuary till the ceremony was performed. All the prieſts however did not continue in one particular place during the whole time: only ſome or other of them kept watch there night and day.

35 Therefore ſhall ye abide at the door of the tabernacle day and night.] i. e. Apply yourſelves aſſiduouſly to the worſhip of God, and the buſineſs of your conſecration.

CHAP. IX.

1, 8 Aaron's ſin-offering, and burnt-offering for himſelf and the people. 22 The people bleſſed. 24 Fire from heaven.

AND it came to paſs on the eighth day, that Moſes called Aaron and his ſons, and the elders of Iſrael;

2 And he ſaid unto Aaron, Take thee a young calf for a ſin-offering, and a ram for a burnt-offering, without blemiſh, and offer them before the LORD.

3 And unto the children of Iſrael thou ſhalt ſpeak, ſaying, Take ye a kid of the goats for a ſin-offering; and a calf, and a lamb, both of the firſt year without blemiſh, for a burnt-offering;

4 Alſo a bullock and a ram for peace-offerings, to ſacrifice before the LORD; and a meat-offering mingled with oil: for to day the LORD will appear unto you.

5 And they brought that which Moſes commanded before the tabernacle of the congregation: and all the congregation drew near and ſtood before the LORD.

6 And Moſes ſaid, This is the thing which the LORD commanded that ye ſhould do: and the glory of the LORD ſhall appear unto you.

7 And Moſes ſaid unto Aaron, Go unto the altar, and offer thy ſin-offering, and thy burnt-offering, and make an atonement for thyſelf, and for the people: and offer the offering of the people, and make an atonement for them; as the LORD commanded.

8 ¶ Aaron therefore went unto the altar, and ſlew the calf of the ſin-offering, which was for himſelf.

9 And the ſons of Aaron brought the blood unto him: and he dipped his finger in the blood, and put it upon the horns of the altar, and poured out the blood at the bottom of the altar:

10 But the fat, and the kidneys, and the caul above the liver of the ſin-offering he burnt upon the altar: as the LORD commanded Moſes.

11 And the fleſh and the hide he burnt with fire without the camp.

12 And he ſlew the burnt-offering; and Aaron's ſons preſented unto him the blood, which he ſprinkled round about upon the altar.

13 And they preſented the burnt-offering unto him, with the pieces thereof, and the head: and he burnt them upon the altar.

14 And he did waſh the inwards and the legs, and burnt them upon the burnt-offering on the altar.

15 And he brought the people's offering, and took the goat, which was the ſin-offering for the people, and ſlew it, and offered it for ſin, as the firſt.

16 And he brought the burnt-offering, and offered it according to the manner.

17 And he brought the meat-offering, and took an handful thereof, and burnt it upon the altar, beſide the burnt-ſacrifice of the morning.

18 He ſlew alſo the bullock and the ram for a ſacrifice of peace-offerings, which was for the people: and Aaron's ſons preſented unto him the blood, which he ſprinkled upon the altar round about;

19 And the fat of the bullock, and of the ram, the rump, and that which covereth the inwards, and the kidneys, and the caul above the liver.

20 And they put the fat upon the breaſts, and he burnt the fat upon the altar:

21 And the breaſts and the right ſhoulder Aaron waved for a wave-offering before the LORD; as Moſes commanded.

22 ¶ And Aaron lift up his hand towards the people, and bleſſed them; and came down from offering of the ſin-offering, and the burnt-offering, and peace-offerings.

23 And Moſes and Aaron went into the tabernacle of the congregation, and came out, and bleſſed the people: and the glory of the LORD appeared unto all the people.

Notes on the Ninth Chapter.

Ver 3 Take a kid of the goats.] Maimonides tells us, that the reaſon why ſo many he-goats were appointed for ſacrifice was, that moſt of the idolaters of thoſe times ſacrificed to demons, which uſed to appear in the form of he-goats.

7 Make an atonement for thyſelf and for the people] Here we have an inſtance of the imperfection of Aaron's prieſthood; they were ſinners like other men, and by reaſon hereof bound, as for the people, ſo alſo for themſelves to offer for ſins; but our high-prieſt under the goſpel-diſpenſation is holy and undefiled, without blemiſh and without ſpot.

And there went out fire from the Lord and devoured them; and they died before the Lord. — Levit. Chap. X. Ve. 2.

24 ¶ And there came a fire out from before the LORD, and consumed upon the altar the burnt-offering, and the fat: which when all the people saw, they shouted, and fell on their faces.

CHAP. X.

1 Nadab and Abihu burnt. 8 The priests forbidden wine.

AND Nadab and Abihu, the sons of Aaron, took either of them his censer, and put fire therein, and put incense thereon, and offered strange fire before the LORD, which he commanded them not.

2 And there went out fire from the LORD, and devoured them, and they died before the LORD.

3 Then Moses said unto Aaron, This is it that the LORD spake, saying, I will be sanctified in them that come nigh me, and before all the people I will be glorified. And Aaron held his peace.

4 And Moses called Mishael and Elzaphan, the sons of Uzziel the uncle of Aaron, and said unto them, Come near, carry your brethren from before the sanctuary out of the camp.

5 So they went near, and carried them in their coats out of the camp; as Moses had said.

6 And Moses said unto Aaron, and unto Eleazar and unto Ithamar his sons, Uncover not your heads, neither rend your clothes; lest ye die, and lest wrath come upon all the people: but let your brethren, the whole house of Israel, bewail the burning which the LORD hath kindled.

7 And ye shall not go out from the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, lest ye die: for the anointing oil of the LORD is upon you. And they did according to the word of Moses.

8 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Aaron, saying,

9 Do not drink wine nor strong drink, thou, nor thy sons with thee, when ye go into the tabernacle of the congregation, lest ye die: it shall be a statute for ever throughout your generations;

10 And that ye may put difference between holy and unholy, and between unclean and clean;

11 And that ye may teach the children of Israel all the statutes which the LORD hath spoken unto them by the hand of Moses.

12 And Moses spake unto Aaron, and unto Eleazar and unto Ithamar, his sons that were left, Take the meat-offering that remaineth of the offerings of the LORD made by fire, and eat it without leaven beside the altar: for it is most holy.

13 And ye shall eat it in the holy place, because it is thy due, and thy sons due of the sacrifices of the LORD made by fire; for so I am commanded.

14 And the wave-breast, and heave-shoulder shall ye eat in a clean place; thou, and thy sons, and thy daughters with thee: for they be thy due, and thy sons due, which are given out of the sacrifices of peace-offerings of the children of Israel.

---

24 And there came a fire out from before the Lord, &c.] A ray of the resplendent light which filled the holy place flashed on the altar, and set fire to the sacrifice. It was this sacred fire which the priests were ordered to keep always burning upon the altar. Accordingly it is said to have lasted till the time when Solomon dedicated his temple, when the sacrifice was again consumed by fire from heaven, which was afterwards preserved till the destruction of the first temple. This public testimony of the divine approbation sufficiently established the authority of Aaron, and convinced the people that God himself resided in the sanctuary.

When all the people saw it they shouted, &c.] They shouted for joy in exalted notes of praise, prostrating themselves before the great Creator of heaven and earth with awful veneration.

Notes on the Tenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Offered strange fire before the Lord.] They offered the incense with common fire, and not that which had just before fallen from heaven.

2 There went out fire from the Lord, and devoured them.] They were struck dead in a moment, as with a flash of lightning. Nadab and Abihu had not only been admitted, in common with the rest of their brethren, to the honour of the priesthood, which was a dignity of no small esteem, but had particular motives, which others had not, to observe all the commandments of the Lord; therefore it was just and requisite, especially at the beginning of the priesthood, for God to inflict an exemplary punishment on them, that others might hear and fear, and not commit the like abomination.

3 Aaron held his peace.] His reverence of the Deity made him submissive and resigned to the Divine Will. Or, it may be, he was struck dumb with grief.

6 Uncover not your heads, &c.] They were forbid to make any lamentation, or funeral pomp, for them; which, among the Jews, who were so remarkable for the grandeur of their funerals, was esteemed a sore judgment.

9 Do not drink wine nor strong drink, &c.] Hence it is probable, that the miscarriage of Nadab and Abihu was owing to their having intoxicated themselves with liquor at the sacrifice lately offered at their instalment.

15 The heave-ſhoulder, and the wave-breaſt ſhall they bring, with the offerings made by fire of the fat, to wave it for a wave-offering before the LORD; and it ſhall be thine, and thy ſons with thee, by a ſtatute for ever; as the LORD hath commanded.

16 And Moſes diligently ſought the goat of the ſin-offering, and behold, it was burnt: and he was angry with Eleazar and Ithamar, the ſons of Aaron which were left alive, ſaying,

17 Wherefore have ye not eaten the ſin-offering in the holy place, ſeeing it is moſt holy, and God hath given it you to bear the iniquity of the congregation, to make atonement for them before the LORD?

18 Behold, the blood of it was not brought in within the holy place: ye ſhould indeed have eaten it in the holy place, as I commanded.

19 And Aaron ſaid unto Moſes, Behold, this day have they offered their ſin-offering, and their burnt-offering before the LORD: and ſuch things have befallen me: and if I had eaten the ſin-offering to day, ſhould it have been accepted in the ſight of the LORD?

20 And when Moſes heard that, he was content.

CHAP. XI.

1, 4 Of meats clean, 13 and unclean.

AND the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, and to Aaron, ſaying unto them,

2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, Theſe are the beaſts which ye ſhall eat among all the beaſts that are on the earth.

3 Whatſoever parteth the hoof, and is cloven-footed, and cheweth the cud among the beaſts, that ſhall ye eat.

4 ¶ Nevertheleſs, theſe ſhall ye not eat of them that chew the cud, or of them that divide the hoof: as the camel, becauſe he cheweth the cud, but divideth not the hoof; he is unclean unto you.

5 And the cony, becauſe he cheweth the cud, but divideth not the hoof; he is unclean unto you.

6 And the hare, becauſe he cheweth the cud, but divideth not the hoof; he is unclean unto you.

7 And the ſwine, though he divide the hoof, and be cloven-footed; yet he cheweth not the cud: he is unclean to you.

8 Of their fleſh ſhall ye not eat, and their carcaſe ſhall ye not touch; they are unclean to you.

9 Theſe ſhall ye eat of all that are in the waters: whatſoever hath fins and ſcales in the waters, in the ſeas, and in the rivers, them ſhall ye eat.

10 And all that have not fins and ſcales in the ſeas, and in the rivers, of all that move in the waters, and of any living thing which is in the waters, they ſhall be an abomination unto you.

11 They ſhall be even an abomination unto you: ye ſhall not eat of their fleſh, but ye ſhall have their carcaſes in abomination.

---

19 If I had eaten the ſin-offering to-day, would it have been accepted?] That is, would the great judge of the whole earth have been pleaſed with me, had I, in ſuch confuſion and heavineſs of heart, eaten the ſacrifice? The voice both of nature and religion declares, that men ought to celebrate feaſts with a chearful heart; but was it poſſible for me, on this mournful occaſion, to diſpoſe myſelf properly for ſuch a ſervice?

Notes on the Eleventh Chapter.

Ver. 2 Theſe are the beaſts which ye ſhall eat.] Various reaſons have been given for making this diſtinction among beaſts; but it is agreed by all, that the general purpoſe and intention of the ceremonial inſtitutions which were preſcribed to the Jews, was to keep them a ſeparate people, leſt by contracting too familiar intercourſe with the Gentiles, they might be drawn in to imitate their ſuperſtitions and idolatries. Maimonides is of opinion, that the creatures here called unclean, were all forbidden to be eaten by the Jews, becauſe they were unwholſome food. And accordingly ſeveral authors have ſhewn, that the fleſh of the animals prohibited by Moſes are of an alkaleſcent nature, and therefore very ſubject to produce putrefaction, and conſequently productive of various diſtempers, eſpecially in ſo hot a climate as that inhabited by the Iſraelites. Another reaſon for making a diſtinction between clean and unclean beaſts, was to raiſe in the Jews an high opinion of their peculiar dignity and pre-eminence above all other nations. But this matter they carried to a much greater height than their legiſlator intended. It was not his deſign to prevent their having any intercourſe with the Gentiles in the common offices of humanity, but their having any fellowſhip with them in their impieties and ſuperſtitions.

5 The cony.] It is doubted whether we tranſlate the word right; moſt interpreters think it ſignifies a large ſpecies of rat, common both in Egypt and Paleſtine.

7 And the ſwine.] The ſwine, as Dr. James obſerves, is the only animal in the creation ſubject to the leproſy, and alſo ſomething very like what we call the king's evil, called in Latin ſcrofula, from ſcrofa a ſow. The meaſles is another contagious diſtemper which this animal is ſubject to: and for theſe reaſons it was probably prohibited.

10 All that have not fins nor ſcales, &c.] Fiſh with ſcales ſooneſt of all incline to putrefaction. See James's Med. Dict.

13 Thi

12 Whatſoever hath no fins nor ſcales in the waters, that ſhall be an abomination unto you.

13 ¶ And theſe are they which ye ſhall have in abomination among the fowls; (they ſhall not be eaten, they are an abomination:) the eagle, and the oſſifrage, and the oſpray,

14 And the vulture, and the kite after his kind;

15 Every raven after his kind;

16 And the owl, and the night-hawk, and the cuckow, and the hawk after his kind,

17 And the little owl, and the cormorant, and the great owl,

18 And the ſwan, and the pelican, and the gier-eagle,

19 And the ſtork, the heron after her kind, and the lapwing, and the bat.

20 All fowls that creep, going upon all four, ſhall be an abomination unto you.

21 Yet theſe may ye eat of every flying creeping thing that goeth upon all four, which have legs above their feet, to leap withal upon the earth;

22 Even theſe of them ye may eat; the locuſt after his kind, and the bald locuſt after his kind, and the beetle after his kind, and the graſhopper after his kind.

23 But all other flying creeping things which have four feet, ſhall be an abomination unto you.

24 And for theſe ye ſhall be unclean: whoſoever toucheth the carcaſe of them ſhall be unclean until the even.

25 And whoſoever beareth ought of the carcaſe of them ſhall waſh his clothes, and be unclean until the even.

26 The carcaſes of every beaſt which divideth the hoof, and is not cloven-footed, nor cheweth the cud, are unclean unto you: every one that toucheth them ſhall be unclean.

27 And whatſoever goeth upon his paws, among all manner of beaſts that go on all four, thoſe are unclean unto you: whoſo toucheth their carcaſe ſhall be unclean until the even.

28 And he that beareth the carcaſe of them ſhall waſh his clothes, and be unclean until the even: they are unclean unto you.

29 Theſe alſo ſhall be unclean unto you among the creeping things that creep upon the earth; the weaſel, and the mouſe, and the tortoiſe after his kind,

30 And the ferrit, and the chameleon, and the lizard, and the ſnail, and the mole.

31 Theſe are unclean to you among all that creep: whoſoever doth touch them when they be dead, ſhall be unclean until the even.

32 And upon whatſoever any of them, when they are dead, doth fall, it ſhall be unclean; whether it be any veſſel of wood, or raiment, or ſkin, or ſack, whatſoever veſſel it be, wherein any work is done, it muſt be put into wa-

13 The oſſifrage.] This is a ſpecies of eagle, called from the Latin os, a bone, and frango, to break, becauſe its breaks the bones of its prey.

The oſpray.] This is another ſpecies of eagle. Bochart thinks it is the melanætas, or black-eagle, mentioned by Homer, as the ſtrongeſt and ſwifteſt of birds. Iliad. xxi. 252.

16 And the night-hawk.] Bochart is of opinion, that the bird here meant is the male-oſtrich, the Hebrew word implying impious or unnatural, which very well agrees to the oſtrich, infamouſly unnatural to her eggs and young. But it may be obſerved, that the fleſh of that bird is ſo hard, that there was no need to forbid the eating of it.

And the cuckow.] Some interpreters render it a didapper, or ſea-mew.

17 And the little owl.] Bochart and Le Clerc render it the bittern; but the ſeventy, more properly, the night-raven.

18 And the ſwan.] Some tranſlate this a bat; Bochart takes it for a ſpecies of the owl.

And the gier-eagle.] Or the vulture-eagle, gier being an old Engliſh word for vulture.

19 And the ſtork.] The original word ſignifies tenderneſs, and therefore well agrees to the ſtork, whoſe piety, or love to its parents, is celebrated by ſeveral authors.

And the bat.] The Hebrew word ſignifies the bird of darkneſs. Hence this expreſſion of the prophet, In that day a man ſhall caſt his idols of ſilver, and his idols of gold, to the moles and to the bats, Iſa. chap. ii. 20. that is, he ſhall bury them in darkneſs and obſcurity.

20 All fowls that creep.] Read, all flying things that go upon four; ſuch as bats, and ſeveral kinds of flies.

29 Among the creeping things that creep.] That is, thoſe creeping things whoſe legs are ſo ſhort that they ſeem to creep.

The weaſel.] Bochart renders it the mole. The word ſignifies to dig, or penetrate into the earth, which being a quality of the mole, moſt commentators think his tranſlation juſt.

The mouſe.] The field-mouſe.

The tortoiſe.] The ſeptuagint tranſlation renders it a land-crocodile, a ſort of land-lizard near a cubit long, with which Arabia abounds.

30 And the ferrit.] Dr. James is of opinion that it ſignifies a frog. The Hebrew word literally ſignifies the crier, which may naturally allude to the croaking of this reptile. Dr. James obſerves, that all theſe reptiles are extremely ſubject to putrefaction; that the ſmell of them, when putrefied, is very offenſive; whence we muſt conclude, that their juices are greatly alkaleſcent.

ter, and it ſhall be unclean until the even; ſo it ſhall be cleanſed.

33 And every earthen veſſel, whereinto any of them falleth, whatſoever is in it ſhall be unclean; and ye ſhall break it.

34 Of all meat which may be eaten, that on which ſuch water cometh ſhall be unclean: and all drink, that may be drunk in every ſuch veſſel, ſhall be unclean.

35 And every thing, whereupon any part of their carcaſe falleth, ſhall be unclean; whether it be oven, or ranges for pots, they ſhall be broken down: for they are unclean, and ſhall be unclean unto you.

36 Nevertheleſs, a fountain or pit, wherein there is plenty of water, ſhall be clean: but that which toucheth their carcaſe ſhall be unclean.

37 And if any part of their carcaſe fall upon any ſowing ſeed which is to be ſown, it ſhall be clean:

38 But if any water be put upon the ſeed, and any part of their carcaſe fall thereon, it ſhall be unclean unto you.

39 And if any beaſt, of which ye may eat, die; he that toucheth the carcaſe thereof ſhall be unclean until the even.

40 And he that eateth of the carcaſe of it ſhall waſh his clothes, and be unclean until the even: he alſo that beareth the carcaſe of it ſhall waſh his clothes, and be unclean until the even.

41 And every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth ſhall be an abomination: it ſhall not be eaten.

42 Whatſoever goeth upon the belly, and whatſoever goeth upon all four, or whatſoever hath more feet among all creeping things that creep upon the earth, them ye ſhall not eat; for they are an abomination.

43 Ye ſhall not make your ſelves abominable with any creeping thing that creepeth, neither ſhall ye make yourſelves unclean with them, that ye ſhould be defiled thereby.

44 For I am the LORD your God: ye ſhall therefore ſanctify your ſelves, and ye ſhall be holy; for I am holy: neither ſhall ye defile your ſelves with any manner of creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth.

45 For I am the LORD that bringeth you up out of the land of Egypt, to be your God: ye ſhall therefore be holy; for I am holy.

46 This is the law of the beaſts, and of the fowl, and of every living creature that moveth in the waters, and of every creature that creepeth upon the earth:

47 To make a difference between the unclean and the clean, and between the beaſt that may be eaten and the beaſt that may not be eaten.

CHAP. XII.

1 Women's purifications, 6 and offerings.

AND the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,
2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, If a woman have conceived ſeed, and born a man-child; then ſhe ſhall be unclean ſeven days according to the days of the ſeparation for her infirmity ſhall ſhe be unclean.

3 And in the eighth day the fleſh of his fore-ſkin ſhall be circumciſed.

4 And ſhe ſhall then continue in the blood of her purifying three and thirty days: ſhe ſhall touch no hallowed thing, nor come into the 35 Ranges for pots.] This might be better rendered by the ſingle word pots; for as the oven was for bread, ſo the pots were for fleſh; and under theſe two are comprehended all veſſels wherein they either baked or boiled.

44 Sanctify yourſelves.] As the Jews were peculiarly devoted to God, ſo they were to be diſtinguiſhed by a peculiarity of diet, which, by reminding them of their particular relation to God, ſerved emblematically to put them in mind of their obligation to ſtudy moral purity. And hence it is applied, as a motive to inforce the ſame end upon the profeſſors of chriſtianity. As he who hath called you is holy, ſo be ye holy in all manner of converſation, becauſe it is written, be ye holy, for I am holy, 1 Pet. i. 15, 16.

Notes on the Twelfth Chapter.

Ver. 3 And in the eighth day, the fleſh of his foreſkin ſhall be circumciſed.] Nothing was to deter this rite but the ſickneſs or weakneſs of the child. And this circumſtance of circumciſing the child on the eighth day agreed with the law for all other young creatures, which were not fit to be offered to God before the eighth day.

4 Three and thirty days.] This law was not only deſigned to repreſent the inward reverence wherewith the public worſhip of God is to be attended, but likewiſe was a good political inſtitution; ſince the natural weakneſs of women, during this time, required quiet and little company; and the temper of their blood, ſanctuary, until the days of her purifying be fulfilled.

5 But if ſhe bear a maid-child, then ſhe ſhall be unclean two weeks, as in her ſeparation: and ſhe ſhall continue in the blood of her purifying threeſcore and ſix days.

6 ¶ And when the days of her purifying are fulfilled for a ſon, or for a daughter; ſhe ſhall bring a lamb of the firſt year for a burnt-offering, and a young pigeon or a turtle-dove for a ſin-offering, unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, unto the prieſt:

7 Who ſhall offer it before the LORD, and make an atonement for her: and ſhe ſhall be cleanſed from the iſſue of her blood. This is the law for her that hath born a male or a female.

8 And if ſhe be not able to bring a lamb, then ſhe ſhall bring two turtles, or two young pigeons; the one for the burnt-offering, and the other for a ſin-offering: and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for her, and ſhe ſhall be clean.

CHAP. XIII.

Tokens to diſcern the leproſy.

AND the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, and Aaron, ſaying,

2 When a man ſhall have in the ſkin of his fleſh a riſing, a ſcab, or bright ſpot, and it be in the ſkin of his fleſh, like the plague of leproſy; then he ſhall be brought unto Aaron the prieſt, or unto one of his ſons the prieſts.

3 And the prieſt ſhall look on the plague in the ſkin of the fleſh: and when the hair in the plague is turned white, and the plague in ſight be deeper than the ſkin of his fleſh, it is a plague of leproſy: and the prieſt ſhall look on him, and pronounce him unclean.

4 If the bright ſpot be white in the ſkin of his fleſh, and in ſight be not deeper than the ſkin, and the hair thereof be not turned white; then the prieſt ſhall ſhut up him that hath the plague, ſeven days.

5 And the prieſt ſhall look on him the ſeventh day: and behold, if the plague in his ſight be at a ſtay, and the plague ſpread not in the ſkin; then the prieſt ſhall ſhut him up ſeven days more.

6 And the prieſt ſhall look on him again the ſeventh day: and behold, if the plague be ſomewhat dark, and the plague ſpread not in blood, in thoſe hotter climates, made a longer ſeparation more neceſſary than in theſe colder regions.

5 If ſhe bear a maid-child, ſhe ſhall be unclean two weeks, &c.] The woman delivered of a daughter was obliged to double the time of purification. This law ſeems to be intended to remind the people of the fall of man, in which the woman was firſt in the tranſgreſſion, and therefore required a greater purification.

6 She ſhall bring a lamb of the firſt year, &c.] Theſe offerings were to be preſented on the day after the days of ſeparation were over; that is, on the forty-firſt for a male, and eighty-firſt for a female. It ſeems obvious that this law, as well as many others in this ſyſtem, was calculated for the ſtate of the Jewiſh commonwealth, during the peregrination in the wilderneſs, when the place of public worſhip was ſettled in the midſt of their camp, and none of them lived at any great diſtance from it.

7 And ſhe ſhall be cleanſed.] She ſhall be reſtored to her former liberty of joining in the public worſhip, and of partaking of holy things.

8 If ſhe be not able to bring a lamb, then ſhe ſhall bring two turtles, &c.] The Almighty does not regard the value of the oblation: it is the heart that he requires, and, if that be offered, the offender will be ſure of pardon. Hence we learn, in how mean a condition the mother of our Lord was, who brought only this lower ſort of offering.

Notes on the Thirteenth Chapter.

Ver. 2 When a man ſhall have in the ſkin of his fleſh, a riſing, a ſcab, or bright ſpot.] Several commentators, and particularly Mr. Le Clerc, imagine, that the leproſy mentioned by Moſes was one of thoſe diſeaſes which providence occaſionally inflicts upon mankind in certain ages and countries; the period whereof being once over they ſeldom or never appear afterwards. The lues venerea is generally believed to have been unknown in Europe till the end of the 15th century. The ſmall-pox likewiſe is no where mentioned by the Greek or Latin phyſicians. It is indeed abundantly evident, that new diſeaſes have appeared in different ages of the world; but this was certainly well known in the days of Moſes, who ſpeaks of it as an ordinary diſeaſe, and not at all as a particular judgment. What we now call the leproſy is very different from what is meant by that name in former times; for it now affects only the ſurface of the body, producing a kind of ſcurf or ſcales on the ſkin; and it may continue upon the patient, in particular parts of the body, without ever making any farther progreſs, which ſhews it to be a cutaneous diſtemper. But this diſeaſe was very different among the ancients, as is abundantly evident from the deſcription given us of it by Galen, who concludes his account of it with obſerving, "That it arrives in "time to ſuch a degree of inſenſibility, that the wriſt, feet, "or even the largeſt tendons, may be pierced with a needle, "without the patient's feeling any pain. At laſt, the noſe, "fingers, toes, &c. fall off intire, and, by a death peculiar to "each of them, anticipate that of the patient." Calmet is of opinion, that whatever might be the more remote cauſes of this diſtemper, it was probably owing to little worms or animalcules, burrowing between the ſkin and the fleſh, which, though not perceptible to the naked eye, are ſeen by microſcopes, and is found to be the caſe in other cutaneous diſtempers. This hypotheſis, he obſerves, will account for all the ſymptoms of this diſtemper mentioned by Moſes. Upon the whole, it appears to have been a very terrible diſeaſe; and therefore Moſes acted very prudently in taking ſuch precautions to baniſh it, and to prevent its infection, by appointing the frequent uſe of bathing, and other means.

the ſkin; the prieſt ſhall pronounce him clean: it is but a ſcab: and he ſhall waſh his clothes, and be clean.

7 But if the ſcab ſpread much abroad in the ſkin after that he hath been ſeen of the prieſt for his cleanſing; he ſhall be ſeen of the prieſt again.

8 And if the prieſt ſee, that behold, the ſcab ſpreadeth in the ſkin; then the prieſt ſhall pronounce him unclean: it is a leproſy.

9 When the plague of leproſy is in a man, then he ſhall be brought unto the prieſt:

10 And the prieſt ſhall ſee him: and behold, if the riſing be white in the ſkin, and it have turned the hair white, and there be quick raw fleſh in the riſing;

11 It is an old leproſy in the ſkin of his fleſh, and the prieſt ſhall pronounce him unclean, and ſhall not ſhut him up: for he is unclean.

12 And if a leproſy break out abroad in the ſkin, and the leproſy cover all the ſkin of him that hath the plague from his head even to his foot, whereſoever the prieſt looketh;

13 Then the prieſt ſhall conſider: and behold, if the leproſy have covered all his fleſh, he ſhall pronounce him clean that hath the plague: it is all turned white: he is clean.

14 But when raw fleſh appeareth in him, he ſhall be unclean.

15 And the prieſt ſhall ſee the raw fleſh, and pronounce him to be unclean: for the raw fleſh is unclean: it is a leproſy.

16 Or if the raw fleſh turn again, and be changed unto white; he ſhall come unto the prieſt:

17 And the prieſt ſhall ſee him: and behold, if the plague be turned into white; then the prieſt ſhall pronounce him clean that hath the plague: he is clean.

18 The fleſh alſo in which, even in the ſkin thereof, was a bile, and is healed,

19 And in the place of the bile there be a white riſing, or a bright ſpot white, and ſomewhat reddiſh, and it be ſhewed to the prieſt;

20 And if when the prieſt ſeeth it, behold, it be in ſight lower than the skin, and the hair thereof be turned white; the prieſt ſhall pronounce him unclean: it is a plague of leproſy broken out of the bile.

21 But if the prieſt look on it, and behold, there be no white hairs therein; and if it be not lower than the skin, but be ſomewhat dark; then the prieſt ſhall ſhut him up ſeven days.

22 And if it ſpread much abroad in the skin, then the prieſt ſhall pronounce him unclean: it is a plague.

23 But if the bright ſpot ſtay in his place, and ſpread not, it is a burning bile; and the prieſt ſhall pronounce him clean.

24 Or if there be any fleſh in the skin whereof there is a hot burning, and the quick fleſh that burneth have a white bright ſpot, ſomewhat reddiſh, or white;

25 Then the prieſt ſhall look upon it: and behold, if the hair in the bright ſpot be turned white, and it be in ſight deeper than the skin; it is a leproſy broken out of the burning: wherefore the prieſt ſhall pronounce him unclean: it is the plague of leproſy.

26 But if the prieſt look on it, and behold, there be no white hair on the bright ſpot, and it be no lower than the other skin, but be ſomewhat dark; then the prieſt ſhall ſhut him up ſeven days.

27 And the prieſt ſhall look upon him the ſeventh day: and if it be ſpread much abroad in the skin, then the prieſt ſhall pronounce him unclean: it is the plague of leproſy.

13 If the leproſy have covered all his fleſh.] It may ſeem ſtrange, that a man who is all over leprous ſhould be pronounced clean, and one who is but partly leprous, unclean. The ſenſe ſeems to be this; if the whole body of any one was white, it was not a ſign of a leproſy; whereas, if only ſome parts of the ſkin were unuſually white, and the reſt of the natural colour, the preternatural whiteneſs was to be deemed to ariſe from a leproſy, and ſo became unclean. Thus by the leproſy covering all the fleſh is only meant, if the body was all over white, as if the leproſy had covered the whole fleſh. The reader will obſerve, in ſeveral places of this chapter, that the word leproſy is uſed to ſignify merely the appearance of that diſeaſe.

16 Or if the raw fleſh turn again, &c.] That is, if thoſe ſpots in the fleſh, which had for ſome time appeared like fleſh in its living natural ſtate, ſhall turn white, ſo that the body ſhall again become white all over, then the prieſt ſhall pronounce him clean.

24 Or if there be any fleſh, in the ſkin whereof.] Read the verſe thus: Again, if in the ſkin of the fleſh there ſhall have been a burning of fire, and the burning, when healed, ſhall leave a white brightneſs intenſely ſhining, or white.

28 And if the bright ſpot ſtay in his place, and ſpread not in the skin, but it be ſomewhat dark; it is a riſing of the burning, and the prieſt ſhall pronounce him clean: for it is an inflammation of the burning.

29 If a man or woman hath a plague upon the head or the beard;

30 Then the prieſt ſhall ſee the plague: and behold, if it be in ſight deeper than the skin; and there be in it a yellow thin hair; then the prieſt ſhall pronounce him unclean: it is a dry ſcall, even a leproſy upon the head or beard.

31 And if the prieſt look on the plague of the ſcall, and behold, it be not in ſight deeper than the skin, and that there is no black hair in it; then the prieſt ſhall ſhut up him that hath the plague of the ſcall ſeven days.

32 And in the ſeventh day the prieſt ſhall look on the plague: and behold, if the ſcall ſpread not, and there be in it no yellow hair, and the ſcall be not in ſight deeper than the skin:

33 He ſhall be ſhaven, but the ſcall ſhall he not ſhave: and the prieſt ſhall ſhut up him that hath the ſcall ſeven days more.

34 And in the ſeventh day the prieſt ſhall look on the ſcall: and behold, if the ſcall be not ſpread in the skin, nor be in ſight deeper than the skin; then the prieſt ſhall pronounce him clean: and he ſhall waſh his clothes, and be clean.

35 But if the ſcall ſpread much in the skin after his cleanſing;

36 Then the prieſt ſhall look on him: and behold, if the ſcall be ſpread in the skin, the prieſt ſhall not ſeek for yellow hair; he is unclean.

37 But if the ſcall be in his ſight at a ſtay, and that there is black hair grown up therein; the ſcall is healed, he is clean: and the prieſt ſhall pronounce him clean.

38 If a man alſo or a woman have in the skin of their fleſh bright ſpots, even white bright ſpots;

39 Then the prieſt ſhall look: and behold, if the bright ſpots in the skin of their fleſh be darkiſh white; it is a freckled ſpot that groweth in the skin; he is clean.

40 And the man whoſe hair is fallen off his head, he is bald; yet is he clean.

41 And he that hath his hair fallen off from the part of his head towards his face, he is forehead-bald; yet is he clean.

42 And if there be in the bald head, or bald forehead, a white reddiſh ſore; it is a leproſy ſprung up in his bald head, or his bald forehead.

43 Then the prieſt ſhall look upon it: and behold, if the riſing of the ſore be white reddiſh in his bald head, or in his bald forehead, as the leproſy appeareth in the skin of the fleſh;

44 He is a leprous man, he is unclean: the prieſt ſhall pronounce him utterly unclean; his plague is in his head.

45 And the leper in whom the plague is, his clothes ſhall be rent, and his head bare, and he ſhall put a covering upon his upper lip, and ſhall cry, Unclean, unclean.

46 All the days wherein the plague ſhall be in him he ſhall be defiled; he is unclean: he ſhall dwell alone; without the camp ſhall his habitation be.

47 The garment alſo that the plague of leproſy is in, whether it be a woollen garment, or a linnen garment;

48 Whether it be in the warp, or woof; of linen or of woollen; whether in a skin or in any thing made of skin:

49 And if the plague be greeniſh or reddiſh in the garment, or in the skin, either in the warp, or in the woof, or in any thing of skin; it is a plague of leproſy, and ſhall be ſhewed unto the prieſt.

50 And the prieſt ſhall look upon the plague, and ſhut up it that hath the plague ſeven days.

51 And he ſhall look on the plague on the 28 It is a riſing of the burning.] This ſhould have been rendered, It is a mark or ſcar of burning; for when a burning is healed, it leaves only a mark or ſcar, not a riſing or tumour.

47 The garment alſo that the plague of leproſy is in.] This leproſy of garments will ſeem to us very extraordinary: but we muſt conſider, that the Iſraelites in the wilderneſs were but ill provided with change of raiment; that their linen, for want of being changed and waſhed, would be apt to breed infectious vermin, which being ſettled in the ſtuff, would gnaw it like moths, and leave ſtains like thoſe deſcribed, ver. 49. Of theſe vermin the prophet Iſaiah ſeems to ſpeak, chap. li. ver. 8. The moth ſhall eat them like a garment, and the worm ſhall eat them like wool.

Notes

ſeventh day: if the plague be ſpread in the garment, either in the warp, or in the woof, or in a skin, or in any work that is made of skin; the plague is a fretting leproſy; it is unclean.

52 He ſhall therefore burn that garment, whether warp or woof, in woollen or in linnen, or any thing of skin, wherein the plague is: for it is a fretting leproſy; it ſhall be burnt in fire.

53 And if the prieſt ſhall look, and behold, the plague be not ſpread in the garment, either in the warp, or in the woof, or in any thing of skin;

54 Then the prieſt ſhall command that they waſh the thing wherein the plague is, and he ſhall ſhut it up ſeven days more.

55 And the prieſt ſhall look on the plague, after that it is waſhed; and behold, if the plague have not changed his colour, and the plague be not ſpread; it is unclean; thou ſhalt burn it in the fire; it is fret inward, whether it be bare within or without.

56 And if the prieſt look, and behold, the plague be ſomewhat dark after the waſhing of it; then he ſhall rend it out of the garment, or out of the skin, or out of the warp, or out of the woof.

57 And if it appear ſtill in the garment, either in the warp, or in the woof, or in any thing of skin; it is a ſpreading plague: thou ſhalt burnt that wherein the plague is with fire.

58 And the garment, either warp or woof, or whatſoever thing of skin it be, which thou ſhalt waſh, if the plague be departed from them, then it ſhall be waſhed the ſecond time, and ſhall be clean.

59 This is the law of the plague of leproſy in a garment of woollen or linnen, either in the warp, or woof, or any thing of skins, to pronounce it clean, or to pronounce it unclean.

CHAP. XIV.

1 The rites and ſacrifices in cleanſing of the leper. 33 The ſigns of leproſy in an houſe. 48 The cleanſing of that houſe.

AND the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,
2 This ſhall be the law of the leper, in the day of his cleanſing: he ſhall be brought unto the prieſt:

3 And the prieſt ſhall go forth out of the camp; and the prieſt ſhall look, and behold, if the plague of leproſy be healed in the leper;

4 Then ſhall the prieſt command to take for him that is to be cleanſed, two birds alive and clean, and cedar-wood, and ſcarlet, and hyſſop.

5 And the prieſt ſhall command that one of the birds be killed in an earthen veſſel over running water.

6 As for the living bird, he ſhall take it, and the cedar-wood, and the ſcarlet, and the hyſſop, and ſhall dip them and the living bird, in the blood of the bird that was killed over the running water:

7 And he ſhall ſprinkle upon him that is to be cleanſed from the leproſy ſeven times, and ſhall pronounce him clean, and ſhall let the living bird looſe into the open field.

8 And he that is to be cleanſed ſhall waſh his clothes, and ſhave off all his hair, and waſh himſelf in water, that he may be clean: and after that he ſhall come into the camp, and ſhall tarry abroad out of his tent ſeven days.

9 But it ſhall be on the ſeventh day, that he ſhall ſhave all his hair off his head and his beard and his eye-brows, even all his hair he ſhall ſhave off: and he ſhall waſh his clothes,

Notes on the Fourteenth Chapter.

Ver. 4 Two birds alive, and clean, and cedar-wood, and ſcarlet, and hyſſop.] The hyſſop bound with ſcarlet round a ſtick of cedar-wood, ſerved for an inſtrument to ſprinkle the blood and water. The juice or reſin of cedar, together with hyſſop, were reckoned medicinal for cutaneous diſeaſes; the former was in particular of ſervice to cure the elephantiaſis, a ſpecies of leproſy; and hyſſop was of virtue to diſſolve ſpots, and recover the colour of the ſkin; and this might be the reaſon why theſe things were preſcribed upon this occaſion. By ſcarlet is here meant ſcarlet-wool, which perhaps, was alſo conſidered as ſanative to ſuch diſtempers. Many reaſons are given for the uſe of theſe particulars; but, as they are conjectural, I ſhall only mention that of Aberbanel, who imagines that theſe four things ſignified the leper to be cured of the four evils he laboured under; the living bird denoting that the dead fleſh was reſtored to life; the cedar-wood, which is not eaſily corrupted, that he was cured of his putrefaction; the ſcarlet-wool, that he was reſtored to his good complexion; and the hyſſop, which is purgative, and in that country of a very odoriferous ſmell, that his diſeaſe was purged off, and the ſtench of it gone.

7 And he ſhall let the living bird looſe.] This was done to ſhew, that the leper was reſtored to a free converſation with his neighbours, as the bird was with the reſt of its kind.

alſo he ſhall waſh his fleſh in water, and he ſhall be clean.

10 And on the eighth day he ſhall take two he-lambs without blemiſh, and one ew-lamb of the firſt year without blemiſh, and three tenth-deals of fine flour for a meat-offering, mingled with oil, and one log of oil.

11 And the prieſt that maketh him clean ſhall preſent the man that is to be made clean, and thoſe things, before the LORD, at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

12 And the prieſt ſhall take one he-lamb, and offer him for a treſpaſs-offering, and the log of oil, and wave them for a wave-offering before the LORD.

13 And he ſhall ſlay the lamb in the place where he ſhall kill the ſin-offering and the burnt-offering, in the holy place: for as the ſin-offering is the prieſt's, ſo is the treſpaſs-offering: it is moſt holy.

14 And the prieſt ſhall take ſome of the blood of the treſpaſs-offering, and the prieſt ſhall put it upon the tip of the right ear of him that is to be cleanſed, and upon the thumb of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot.

15 And the prieſt ſhall take ſome of the log of oil, and pour it into the palm of his own left hand:

16 And the prieſt ſhall dip his right finger in the oil that is in his left hand, and ſhall ſprinkle of the oil with his finger ſeven times before the LORD.

17 And of the reſt of the oil that is in his hand, ſhall the prieſt put upon the tip of the right ear of him that is to be cleanſed, and upon the thumb of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot, upon the blood of the treſpaſs-offering.

18 And the remnant of the oil that is in the prieſt's hand, he ſhall pour upon the head of him that is to be cleanſed: and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him before the LORD.

19 And the prieſt ſhall offer the ſin-offering, and make an atonement for him that is to be cleanſed from his uncleanneſs, and afterward he ſhall kill the burnt-offering.

20 And the prieſt ſhall offer the burnt-offering, and the meat-offering upon the altar: and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him, and he ſhall be clean.

21 And if he be poor, and cannot get ſo much; then he ſhall take one lamb for a treſpaſs-offering to be waved, to make an atonement for him, and one tenth-deal of fine flour mingled with oil for a meat-offering, and a log of oil;

22 And two turtle-doves, or two young pigeons, ſuch as he is able to get; and the one ſhall be a ſin-offering, and the other a burnt-offering.

23 And he ſhall bring them on the eighth day for his cleanſing unto the prieſt, unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, before the LORD.

24 And the prieſt ſhall take the lamb of the treſpaſs-offering, and the log of oil, and the prieſt ſhall wave them for a wave-offering before the LORD.

25 And he ſhall kill the lamb of the treſpaſs-offering, and the prieſt ſhall take ſome of the blood of the treſpaſs-offering, and put it upon the tip of the right ear of him that is to be cleanſed, and upon the thumb of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot.

26 And the prieſt ſhall pour of the oil into the palm of his own left hand.

27 And the prieſt ſhall ſprinkle with his right finger, ſome of the oil that is in his left hand ſeven times before the LORD.

28 And the prieſt ſhall put of the oil that is in his hand, upon the tip of the right ear of him that is to be cleanſed, and upon the thumb

10 Three tenth deals.] The tenth part of an ephah, i. e. an omer. See Exod. xvi. 16.

And one log of oil.] A log was the ſmalleſt meaſure in uſe among the Jews, and, according to Dr. Cumberland, contained ſomething more than half a pint of our meaſure.

12 And the prieſt ſhall take one he-lamb, and offer him for a treſpaſs-offering.] It was neceſſary he ſhould pay this public teſtimony of homage and gratitude to his deliverer, beginning with an act of humiliation for ſin; which is the ſource of all thoſe pains and diſeaſes to which both the bodies and ſouls of men are obnoxious.

14 The tip of the right ear.] See Exod. xxix. 20.

19 Afterward he ſhall kill the burnt-offering.] This being the nature of a preſent to God, in gratitude for having worked his cure, was not to be offered, till by the other offerings for treſpaſs and ſin, the man had made public profeſſion of his repentance, without which his gift could not find acceptance at the altar of his God.

of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot, upon the place of the blood of the treſpaſs-offering.

29 And the reſt of the oil that is in the prieſt's hand, he ſhall put upon the head of him that is to be cleanſed, to make an atonement for him before the LORD,

30 And he ſhall offer the one of the turtle-doves, or of the young pigeons, ſuch as he can get;

31 Even ſuch as he is able to get, the one for a ſin-offering, and the other for a burnt-offering, with the meat-offering: and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him that is to be cleanſed before the LORD.

32 This is the law of him in whom is the plague of leproſy, whoſe hand is not able to get that which pertaineth to his cleanſing.

33 ¶ And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, and unto Aaron, ſaying,

34 When ye be come into the land of Canaan, which I give to you for a poſſeſſion, and I put the plague of leproſy in a houſe of the land of your poſſeſſion;

35 And he that owneth the houſe ſhall come, and tell the prieſt, ſaying, It ſeemeth to me there is as it were a plague in the houſe:

36 Then the prieſt ſhall command that they empty the houſe, before the prieſt go into it to ſee the plague; that all that is in the houſe be not made unclean: and afterward the prieſt ſhall go in to ſee the houſe.

37 And he ſhall look on the plague, and behold, if the plague be in the walls of the houſe with hollow ſtrakes greeniſh or reddiſh, which in ſight are lower than the wall.

38 Then the prieſt ſhall go out of the houſe, to the door of the houſe, and ſhut up the houſe ſeven days.

39 And the prieſt ſhall come again the ſeventh day, and ſhall look: and behold, if the plague be ſpread in the walls of the houſe;

40 Then the prieſt ſhall command that they take away the ſtones in which the plague is, and they ſhall caſt them into an unclean place without the city.

41 And he ſhall cauſe the houſe to be ſcraped within round about, and they ſhall pour out the duſt that they ſcrape off, without the city into an unclean place.

42 And they ſhall take other ſtones, and put them in the place of thoſe ſtones; and he ſhall take other morter, and ſhall plaiſter the houſe.

43 And if the plague come again, and break out in the houſe, after that he hath taken away the ſtones, and after he hath ſcraped the houſe, and after it is plaiſtered;

44 Then the prieſt ſhall come and look, and behold, if the plague be ſpread in the houſe, it is a fretting leproſy in the houſe: it is unclean.

45 And he ſhall break down the houſe, the ſtones of it, and the timber thereof, and all the morter of the houſe: and he ſhall carry them forth out of the city into an unclean place.

46 Moreover, he that goeth into the houſe all the while that it is ſhut up, ſhall be unclean until the even.

47 And he that lieth in the houſe ſhall waſh his clothes: and he that eateth in the houſe ſhall waſh his clothes.

48 ¶ And if the prieſt ſhall come in, and look upon it, and behold, the plague hath not ſpread in the houſe, after the houſe was plaiſtered: then the prieſt ſhall pronounce the houſe clean, becauſe the plague is healed.

49 And he ſhall take to cleanſe the houſe two birds, and cedar-wood, and ſcarlet, and hyſſop.

50 And he ſhall kill the one of the birds in an earthen veſſel, over running water.

51 And he ſhall take the cedar-wood, and the hyſſop, and the ſcarlet, and the living bird, and dip them in the blood of the ſlain bird, and in the running water, and ſprinkle the houſe ſeven times.

34 When ye be come into the land of Canaan, which I give you for a poſſeſſion, and I put the plague of leproſy in a houſe.] It cannot be inferred from this expreſſion, of God's putting the plague in a houſe, that the ſtroke was ſupernatural, ſince all events are, in the ſtile of ſcripture, aſcribed to God; for what are all the events in the natural world, but the effects of that conſtitution of nature which God has appointed, and over which he conſtantly preſides.

37 With hollow ſtrakes.] There was the ſame kind of mark of leproſy in a houſe, as in the body of a man. This ſhews of what a corroding nature this diſeaſe muſt have been, to eat into the very walls.

52 And he ſhall cleanſe the houſe with the blood of the bird, and with the running water, and with the living bird, and with the cedar-wood, and with the hyſſop, and with the ſcarlet.

53 But he ſhall let go the living bird out of the city into the open fields, and make an atonement for the houſe: and it ſhall be clean.

54 This is the law for all manner of plague of leproſy, and ſcall,

55 And for the leproſy of a garment and of an houſe,

56 And for a riſing, and for a ſcab, and for a bright ſpot:

57 To teach when it is unclean, and when it is clean: this is the law of leproſy.

CHAP. XV.

1, 9 Uncleanneſs by iſſues. 13, 28 their cleanſing.

AND the LORD ſpake unto Moſes and to Aaron, ſaying,

2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, When any man hath a running iſſue out of his fleſh, becauſe of his iſſue he is unclean.

3 And this ſhall be his uncleanneſs in his iſſue: whether his fleſh run with his iſſue, or his fleſh be ſtopped from his iſſue, it is his uncleanneſs.

4 Every bed whereon he lieth that hath the iſſue, is unclean: and every thing whereon he ſitteth, ſhall be unclean.

5 And whoſoever toucheth his bed ſhall waſh his clothes, and bathe himſelf in water, and be unclean until the even.

6 And he that ſitteth on any thing whereon he ſat that hath the iſſue, ſhall waſh his clothes, and bathe himſelf in water, and be unclean until the even.

7 And he that toucheth the fleſh of him that hath the iſſue, ſhall waſh his clothes, and bathe himſelf in water, and be unclean until the even.

8 And if he that hath the iſſue ſpit upon him that is clean; then he ſhall waſh his clothes, and bathe himſelf in water, and be unclean until the even.

9 ¶ And what ſaddle ſoever he rideth upon that hath the iſſue, ſhall be unclean.

10 And whoſoever toucheth any thing that was under him, ſhall be unclean until the even: and he that beareth any of thoſe things ſhall waſh his clothes, and bathe himſelf in water, and be unclean until the even.

11 And whomſoever he toucheth that hath the iſſue, (and hath not rinſed his hands in water,) he ſhall waſh his clothes, and bathe himſelf in water, and be unclean until the even.

12 And the veſſel of earth that he toucheth which hath the iſſue, ſhall be broken: and every veſſel of wood ſhall be rinſed in water.

13 ¶ And when he that hath an iſſue is cleanſed of his iſſue; then he ſhall number to himſelf ſeven days for his cleanſing, and waſh his clothes, and bathe his fleſh in running water, and ſhall be clean.

14 And on the eighth day he ſhall take to him two turtle-doves, or two young pigeons, and come before the LORD, unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and give them to the prieſt.

15 And the prieſt ſhall offer them, the one for a ſin-offering, and the other for a burnt-offering; and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him before the LORD for his iſſue.

16 And if any man's ſeed of copulation go out from him, then he ſhall waſh all his fleſh in water, and be unclean until the even.

53 And make an atonement for the houſe.] He ſhall cleanſe it ſo as to render it fit for any perſon to dwell in.

Notes on the Fifteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, &c.] Moſes and Aaron are next inſtructed in ſome other caſes, which were to be accounted matters of legal uncleanneſs in man or woman; on account whereof they were to be debarred from converſation, and the worſhip of the ſanctuary, for ſome time, and obliged to perform certain ceremonies for their purification, which were particularly intended as a reſtraint upon immoderate indulgence of the fleſh. See Pyle.

2 When any man hath a running iſſue.] What phyſicians call a gonorrhœa, or running of the reins, which might proceed from a lewd courſe of life, or from accidental cauſes, as by a ſtrain in the back: though it is generally thought that the lues venerea was not known till about 300 years ago.

13 And ſhall be clean.] He may keep company with his neighbours without defiling them; but he was not to enter the ſanctuary till the following ſacrifices were offered.

17 And every garment and every ſkin whereon is the ſeed of copulation, ſhall be waſhed with water, and be unclean until the even.

18 The woman alſo with whom man ſhall lie with ſeed of copulation, they ſhall both bathe themſelves in water, and be unclean until the even.

19 And if a woman have an iſſue, and her iſſue in her fleſh be blood, ſhe ſhall be put apart ſeven days: and whoſoever toucheth her, ſhall be unclean until the even.

20 And every thing that ſhe lieth upon in her ſeparation, ſhall be unclean: every thing alſo that ſhe ſitteth upon ſhall be unclean.

21 And whoſoever toucheth her bed, ſhall waſh his clothes, and bathe himſelf in water, and be unclean until the even.

22 And whoſoever toucheth any thing that ſhe ſat upon, ſhall waſh his clothes, and bathe himſelf in water, and be unclean until the even.

23 And if it be on her bed, or on any thing whereon ſhe ſitteth, when he toucheth it; he ſhall be unclean until the even.

24 And if any man lie with her at all, and her flowers be upon him, he ſhall be unclean ſeven days: and all the bed whereon he lieth, ſhall be unclean.

25 And if a woman have an iſſue of her blood many days out of the time of her ſeparation, or if it run beyond the time of her ſeparation; all the days of the iſſue of her uncleanneſs, ſhall be as the days of her ſeparation; ſhe ſhall be unclean.

26 Every bed whereon ſhe lieth all the days of her iſſue, ſhall be unto her as the bed of her ſeparation: and whatſoever ſhe ſitteth upon, ſhall be unclean, as the uncleanneſs of her ſeparation.

27 And whoſoever toucheth thoſe things ſhall be unclean, and ſhall waſh his clothes, and bathe himſelf in water, and be unclean until the even.

28 ¶ But if ſhe be cleanſed of her iſſue, then ſhe ſhall number to her ſelf ſeven days, and after that ſhe ſhall be clean.

29 And on the eighth day ſhe ſhall take unto her two turtles, and two young pigeons, and bring them unto the prieſt, to the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

30 And the prieſt ſhall offer the one for a ſin-offering, and the other for a burnt-offering; and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for her before the LORD for the iſſue of her uncleanneſs.

31 Thus ſhall ye ſeparate the children of Iſrael from their uncleanneſs: that they die not in their uncleanneſs, when they defile my tabernacle that is among them.

32 This is the law of him that hath an iſſue, and of him whoſe ſeed goeth from him, and is defiled therewith;

33 And of her that is ſick of her flowers, and of him that hath an iſſue, of the man, and of the woman, and of him that lieth with her which is unclean.

CHAP. XVI.

11 The high-prieſt's ſin-offering. 20 The ſcape-goat. 29 The feaſt of expiation.

AND the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, after the death of the two ſons of Aaron, when they offered before the LORD, and died;

2 And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Speak unto Aaron thy brother, that he come not at all times into the holy place within the vail, before the mercy-ſeat which is upon the ark;

31 That they die not in their uncleanneſs, when they defile my tabernacle.] One particular reaſon of theſe laws was to impreſs the minds of that carnal people with a high veneration towards the worſhip of God: and, indeed, it could not but have a conſiderable influence this way, ſince there were ſo many ſorts of legal pollutions, that it became a buſineſs of great care and circumſpection, to approach the Divine Preſence with ſuch purity and decorum as they ought.

Notes on the Sixteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, after the death of the two ſons of Aaron.] This chapter would have naturally followed the tenth where the death of the two perſons is related, if that had not given occaſion for declaring the forementioned laws, about thoſe uncleanneſſes that diſqualify an Iſraelite from approaching the ſanctuary.

2 Speak unto Aaron thy brother, that he come not at all times into the holy place within the vail.] None but the high-prieſt himſelf was permitted to enter into the holy place within the vail, generally called the moſt holy place, and even him only at particular times; as on the great day of expiation, or when he was to conſult the oracle of God.

For I will appear in the cloud upon the mercy-ſeat.] This ſeems to be underſtood of the ſmoke of the incenſe which the high-prieſt burnt, when he entered into the moſt holy place, which was the cloud with which the mercy-ſeat was then covered.

that he die not: for I will appear in the cloud upon the mercy-ſeat.

3 Thus ſhall Aaron come into the holy place: with a young bullock for a ſin-offering, and a ram for a burnt offering.

4 He ſhall put on the holy linen coat, and he ſhall have the linen breeches upon his fleſh, and ſhall be girded with the linen girdle, and with the linen miter ſhall he be attired: theſe are holy garments; therefore ſhall he waſh his fleſh in water, and ſo put them on.

5 And he ſhall take of the congregation of the children of Iſrael two kids of the goats for a ſin-offering, and one ram for a burnt-offering.

6 And Aaron ſhall offer his bullock of the ſin-offering, which is for himſelf, and make an atonement for himſelf, and for his houſe.

7 And he ſhall take the two goats, and preſent them before the LORD at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

8 And Aaron ſhall caſt lots upon the two goats; one lot for the LORD, and the other lot for the ſcape-goat.

9 And Aaron ſhall bring the goat upon which the LORD's lot fell, and offer him for a ſin-offering.

10 But the goat, on which the lot fell to be the ſcape-goat, ſhall be preſented alive before the LORD, to make an atonement with him, and to let him go out ſcape-goat into the wilderneſs.

11 ¶ And Aaron ſhall bring the bullock of the ſin-offering which is for himſelf, and ſhall make an atonement for himſelf, and for his houſe, and ſhall kill the bullock of the ſin-offering which is for himſelf.

12 And he ſhall take a cenſer full of burning coals of fire from off the altar before the LORD, and his hands full of ſweet incenſe beaten ſmall, and bring it within the vail.

13 And he ſhall put the incenſe upon the fire before the LORD, that the cloud of the incenſe may cover the mercy-ſeat that is upon the teſtimony, that he die not.

14 And he ſhall take of the blood of the bullock, and ſprinkle it with his finger upon the mercy-ſeat eaſt-ward: and before the mercy-ſeat ſhall he ſprinkle of the blood with his finger ſeven times.

15 Then ſhall he kill the goat of the ſin-offering that is for the people, and bring his blood within the vail, and do with that blood as he did with the blood of the bullock, and

3 With a young bullock for a ſin-offering.] The high-prieſt was obliged, preparatory to his entering on this ſolemn ſervice, to offer two ſacrifices in behalf of himſelf and his family, a bullock for a ſin-offering, in confeſſion of his infirmities and tranſgreſſions, and to put him in mind that he was but an imperfect interceſſor with God. Next he was to offer a ram for a burnt-offering, in token of his dedicating himſelf wholly to God, with a promiſe of new obedience.

4 And he ſhall put on the holy linen coat.] Probably this dreſs was worn in token of humiliation, becauſe this day was appointed for a general repentance and confeſſion of ſins. For linen coat, ſee Exod. xxviii. 39.

8 And Aaron ſhall caſt lots upon the two goats.] The form was this: there was an urn brought to the high-prieſt, into which he threw two wooden lots, upon one of which were written the words for Jehovah, and on the other for Azazel; that, after ſhaking them, he put both his hands into the urn, and brought up the lots, the one in his right hand, and the other in his left; and as the goats ſtood on each ſide of him, their fate was determined by the lot that came up in the hand next to them.

For the ſcape-goat.] Heb. for Azazel. The import of the word Azazel is a matter of diſpute. Dr. Spencer endeavours to prove, that Azazel ſignifies the devil, and ſays, that the word properly means the fugitive or revolting power, which very well agrees with the character of that malignant ſpirit, who fell from his firſt eſtate. The ſenſe, therefore, according to that author, is, that the goat, which was ſymbolically charged with the ſins of the whole nation, was not worthy either to be offered as a ſacrifice to Jehovah, or to be admitted into the reſt of the flock, but was to be ſent away to Azazel, the foul ſpirit which dwells in the wilderneſs. Milton mentions Azazel as the ſtandard-bearer of the devil's army, b. 1. ver. 533. The deſert and places uninhabited are all along in ſcripture conſidered as the peculiar reſort of ſatyrs, dæmons, and impure ſpirits. Hence our Saviour is ſaid to have been led out into the wilderneſs to be tempted of the devil; and the dæmoniac is ſaid to have been often driven by the devil into the wilderneſs, Luke viii. 29. The dæmons are therefore in Hebrew called ſolitary beings, becauſe of their envious unſociable nature. And to this our Saviour alludes, Mat. xii. 43. When the unclean ſpirit is gone out of a man, he walketh through dry places. Some have alledged from this paſſage, that the Moſaic ſyſtem countenanced the worſhip of evil angels: but nothing can be more contrary than ſuch a gloſs to the whole tenor of the Moſaic ſyſtem, the principal aim whereof was to reclaim the Iſraelites from all groſs idolatry and ſuperſtition, eſpecially from the worſhip of dæmons.

12 And bring it within the vail.] Into the holy of holies, which was ſeparated by a vail from the holy place; and this was the firſt time of Aaron's entering the moſt holy place on this ſolemn day. And we find from the next verſe, that at his entrance he threw the incenſe on the burning coals, and filled the holy place with a cloud of ſmoke, to prevent him from ſeeing the ark, and from being ſtruck with the glory iſſuing out of it.

And ſprinkle it with his finger upon the mercy-ſeat.] Read, and ſprinkle it with his finger before the mercy-ſeat eaſtward, even before the mercy-ſeat ſhall he ſprinkle of the blood with his finger ſeven times: for it does not appear that the mercy-ſeat was ſprinkled with the blood; and the word which we render upon, ſignifies alſo by, towards, or before.

ſprinkle it upon the mercy-ſeat, and before the mercy-ſeat.

16 And he ſhall make an atonement for the holy place, becauſe of the uncleanneſs of the children of Iſrael, and becauſe of their tranſgreſſions in all their ſins: and ſo ſhall he do for the tabernacle of the congregation that remaineth among them, in the midſt of their uncleanneſs.

17 And there ſhall be no man in the tabernacle of the congregation, when he goeth in to make an atonement in the holy place, until he come out, and have made an atonement for himſelf, and for his houſhold, and for all the congregation of Iſrael.

18 And he ſhall go out unto the altar that is before the LORD, and make an atonement for it; and ſhall take of the blood of the bullock, and of the blood of the goat, and put it upon the horns of the altar round about.

19 And he ſhall ſprinkle of the blood upon it with his finger ſeven times, and cleanſe it, and hallow it from the uncleanneſs of the children of Iſrael.

20 ¶ And when he hath made an end of reconciling the holy place, and the tabernacle of the congregation, and the altar, he ſhall bring the live goat:

21 And Aaron ſhall lay both his hands upon the head of the live goat, and confeſs over him all the iniquities of the children of Iſrael, and all their tranſgreſſions in all their ſins, putting them upon the head of the goat, and ſhall ſend him away by the hand of a fit man into the wilderneſs.

22 And the goat ſhall bear upon him all their iniquities, unto a land not inhabited: and he ſhall let go the goat in the wilderneſs.

23 And Aaron ſhall come into the tabernacle of the congregation, and ſhall put off the linen garments, which he put on when he went into the holy place, and ſhall leave them there.

24 And he ſhall waſh his fleſh with water in the holy place, and put on his garments, and come forth, and offer his burnt-offering, and the burnt-offering of the people, and make an atonement for himſelf, and for the people.

25 And the fat of the ſin-offering ſhall he burn upon the altar.

26 And he that let go the goat for the ſcape-goat, ſhall waſh his clothes, and bathe his fleſh in water, and afterward come into the camp.

27 And the bullock for a ſin-offering, and the goat for a ſin-offering, whoſe blood was brought in to make atonement in the holy place, ſhall one carry forth without the camp; and they ſhall burn in the fire their skins, and their fleſh, and their dung;

28 And he that burneth them ſhall waſh his clothes and bathe his fleſh in water, and afterward he ſhall come into the camp.

29 ¶ And this ſhall be a ſtatute for ever unto you; that in the ſeventh month, on the tenth day of the month, ye ſhall afflict your ſouls, and do no work at all, whether it be one of your own country, or a ſtranger that ſojourneth among you.

30 For on that day ſhall the prieſt make an atonement for you to cleanſe you, that ye may be clean from all your ſins before the LORD.

31 It ſhall be a ſabbath of reſt unto you, and ye ſhall afflict your ſouls by a ſtatute for ever.

16. He ſhall make an atonement for the holy place.] This was intended as an acknowledgment, that the Jewiſh place of worſhip was, by the ſins committed the preceding year by the prieſts and people, rendered an unworthy habitation for the divine preſence.

18 And he ſhall go out unto the altar that is before the Lord.] That ſtood before the tabernacle, the ſymbol of God's divine preſence. Thus the high-prieſt was to complete the purification of the whole tabernacle, ſtained with the guilt of a ſinful people.

21 And confeſs over him.] See chap. v. 5.

By the hand of a fit man.] By an officer appointed for this purpoſe. The Rabbins ſay, by one of the prieſts.

22 And the goat ſhall bear upon him all their iniquities.] This was intended to ſignify by a ſymbolical repreſentation, that a ſincere repentance would procure pardon for all their ſins, and like the ſcape-goat, bear them into the land of forgetfulneſs, and hide them in oblivion.

And he ſhall let go the goat in the wilderneſs.] Here we are plainly told, that the goat was to be ſet at liberty in the wilderneſs: but it was cuſtomary in after-times, to conduct him to a dreadful precipice at ſome diſtance from Jeruſalem, and throw him down from the ſummit. The Jews tell us, that a cauſeway was made from Jeruſalem to the precipice, on purpoſe for this ſervice.

29 In the ſeventh month.] That is, the month of Tiſri, which nearly anſwers to our September, the holy year commencing with the month Abib, anſwering to our March.

Ye ſhall afflict your ſouls.] The Jews underſtood this expreſſion to ſignify their abſtaining from eating and drinking, from all ſervile labour and carnal recreations, and their employing the day in confeſſion of ſins, and other duties of repentance.

32 And the prieſt whom he ſhall anoint, and whom he ſhall conſecrate to miniſter in the prieſt's office in his father's ſtead, ſhall make the atonement, and ſhall put on the linen clothes, even the holy garments.

33 And he ſhall make an atonement for the holy ſanctuary, and he ſhall make an atonement for the tabernacle of the congregation, and for the altar: and he ſhall make an atonement for the prieſts, and for all the people of the congregation.

34 And this ſhall be an everlaſting ſtatute unto you, to make an atonement for the children of Iſrael for all their ſins once a year. And he did as the LORD commanded Moſes.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Blood of beaſts muſt be offered at the tabernacle-door. 10 Blood forbidden.

AND the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 2 Speak unto Aaron and unto his ſons, and unto all the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them; This is the thing which the LORD hath commanded, ſaying,

3 What man ſoever there be of the houſe of Iſrael, that killeth an ox, or lamb, or goat in the camp, or that killeth it out of the camp,

4 And bringeth it not unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, to offer an offering unto the LORD before the tabernacle of the LORD: blood ſhall be imputed unto that man; he hath ſhed blood; and that man ſhall be cut off from among his people:

5 To the end that the children of Iſrael may bring their ſacrifices, which they offer in the open field, even that they may bring them unto the LORD, unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation unto the prieſt, and offer them for peace-offerings unto the LORD.

6 And the prieſt ſhall ſprinkle the blood upon the altar of the LORD, at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and burn the fat for a ſweet ſavour unto the LORD.

7 And they ſhall no more offer their ſacrifices unto devils, after whom they have gone a whoring. This ſhall be a ſtatute for ever unto them throughout their generations.

8 And thou ſhalt ſay unto them, Whatſoever man there be of the houſe of Iſrael, or of the ſtrangers which ſojourn among you, that offereth a burnt-offering or ſacrifice, 9 And bringeth it not unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, to offer it unto the LORD; even that man ſhall be cut off from among his people.

10 ¶ And whatſoever man there be of the houſe of Iſrael, or of the ſtrangers that ſojourn among you, that eateth any manner of blood; I will even ſet my face againſt that ſoul that eateth blood, and will cut him off from among his people.

11 For the life of the fleſh is in the blood: and I have given it to you upon the altar to make an atonement for your ſouls: for it is the blood, that maketh an atonement for the ſoul.

12 Therefore I ſaid unto the children of Iſ-

32 And the prieſt whom ye ſhall anoint, &c.] This ſhould have been rendered, and the prieſt who ſhall be anointed, and who ſhall be conſecrated, as it is in the vulgate tranſlation.

34 An everlaſting ſtatute to you.] That is, this ceremony ſhall be obſerved as long as the Jewiſh nation continues.

Notes on the Seventeenth Chapter.

Ver. 3 What man ſoever there be of the houſe of Iſrael, that killeth an ox, &c.] This command extended both to ſuch beaſts as were killed for food, as well as to thoſe for ſacrifice: for it muſt be obſerved, that even thoſe animals that were ſlain by any Iſraelite for the uſe of his family, were firſt preſented to God, at leaſt a part of them, by way of peace-offerings. Now, before the erecting of the tabernacle, every one was at liberty to offer theſe ſacrifices wherever he pleaſed; but after the ſanctuary was ſet up, Moſes, who knew they had abuſed this liberty in offering their ſacrifices to dæmons inſtead of the true God, obliged them to perform this act of worſhip no where but at the tabernacle, in order to maintain an uniformity in religion, and, at the ſame time, to prevent them from falling into thoſe ſuperſtitions to which they were ſo remarkably prone.

4 Blood ſhall be imputed unto that man.] He ſhall die for his offence, as a murderer, or one who hath ſhed innocent blood. Hence we ſee how ſtrictly the laws were againſt idolatry.

7 And they ſhall no more offer their ſacrifices unto devils.] The Hebrew word, which we render devil, primarily ſignifies goats, and hence denotes thoſe idols worſhipped under the ſymbol of goats: a ſpecies of idolatry to which the Iſraelites were greatly addicted in Egypt, and which ſome of them continued to practiſe in the wilderneſs. Have ye offered unto me ſacrifices and offerings in the wilderneſs forty years, O houſe of Iſrael? But ye have borne the tabernacle of your Moloch, and Chiun your images, the ſtar of your god, which ye make to yourſelves, Amos v. 25, 26. Maimonides tells us, that the Zabians worſhipped dæmons under the figure of goats, imagining them to appear in that form, whence they called them by the name of ſeirim, or goats; and that this cuſtom, being ſpread all over that part of the world in the time of Moſes, gave occaſion to this precept.

12 No ſoul of you ſhall eat blood.] Beſides the natural reaſon for not eating blood, (ſee note on Gen. ix. 4.) it is alſo, not improbably, ſuppoſed, that another deſign of the prohibition might be to raiſe in men's minds an abhorrence of the cruel practice of

rael, No ſoul of you ſhall eat blood, neither ſhall any ſtranger that ſojourneth among you eat blood.

13 And whatſoever man there be of the children of Iſrael, or of the ſtrangers that ſojourn among you, which hunteth and catcheth any beaſt or fowl that may be eaten; he ſhall even pour out the blood thereof, and cover it with duſt.

14 For it is the life of all fleſh; the blood of it is for the life thereof: therefore I ſaid unto the children of Iſrael, Ye ſhall eat the blood of no manner of fleſh: for the life of all fleſh is the blood thereof: whoſoever eateth it ſhall be cut off.

15 And every ſoul that eateth that which died of itſelf, or that which was torn with beaſts, whether it be one of your own country, or a ſtranger, he ſhall both waſh his clothes, and bathe himſelf in water, and be unclean until the even: then ſhall he be clean.

16 But if he waſh them not, nor bathe his fleſh; then he ſhall bear his iniquity.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Unlawful marriages. 19 Unlawful luſts.

AND the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,
2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, I am the LORD your God.

3 After the doings of the land of Egypt wherein ye dwelt, ſhall ye not do: and after the doings of the land of Canaan whither I bring you, ſhall ye not do: neither ſhall ye walk in their ordinances.

4 Ye ſhall do my judgements, and keep mine ordinances, to walk therein: I am the LORD your God.

5 Ye ſhall therefore keep my ſtatutes, and my judgments: which if a man do, he ſhall live in them: I am the LORD.

6 None of you ſhall approach to any that is near of kin to him, to uncover their nakedneſs: I am the LORD.

7 The nakedneſs of thy father, or the nakedneſs of thy mother ſhalt thou not uncover: ſhe is thy mother; thou ſhalt not uncover her nakedneſs.

8 The nakedneſs of thy father's wife ſhalt thou not uncover: it is thy father's nakedneſs.

9 The nakedneſs of thy ſiſter, the daughter of thy father, or daughter of thy mother, whether ſhe be born at home, or born abroad, even their nakedneſs thou ſhalt not uncover.

10 The nakedneſs of thy ſon's daughter, or of thy daughter's daughter, even their nakedneſs thou ſhalt not uncover: for theirs is thine own nakedneſs.

11 The nakedneſs of thy father's wife's daughter, begotten of thy father, (ſhe is thy ſiſter,) thou ſhalt not uncover her nakedneſs.

12 Thou ſhalt not uncover the nakedneſs of thy father's ſiſter: ſhe is thy father's near kinſwoman.

13 Thou ſhalt not uncover the nakedneſs of thy mother's ſiſter: for ſhe is thy mother's near kinſwoman.

14 Thou ſhalt not uncover the nakedneſs of thy father's brother, thou ſhalt not approach to his wife: ſhe is thine aunt.

of ſome idolaters, who drank the blood of the victim as it came reeking from the wound; and that not only of beaſts, but of men, whom they ſometimes offered in ſacrifice to their gods.

13 He ſhall even pour out the blood thereof, and cover it with duſt.] The blood being conſecrated to a ſacred uſe, namely, a ranſom for the forfeited lives of ſinful men, it was to be treated with reverence, and covered out of ſight, leſt any beaſt ſhould lick it up; or leſt it ſhould be applied to any of the purpoſes of ſuperſtition, after the example of idolaters.

15 Or a ſtranger.] That is, proſelytes, or heathen converts, who were circumciſed, and embraced the Jewiſh religion.

Notes on the Eighteenth Chapter.

Ver. 5 Which if a man do, he ſhall live in them.] In the Chaldaic and Arabic verſions it is rendered, He ſhall live by them to life eternal. And doubtleſs the original will bear that ſenſe; but that Moſes meant it chiefly of that temporal life, and outward proſperity, which God promiſed to the Jews and their poſterity, in caſe they maintained their faith and allegiance to him, and kept themſelves from the idolatrous practices of the nations, is evident from the whole ſtrain of theſe books, particularly from Deut. xxx. 15, 16. See, I have ſet before thee this day life and good, and death and evil: in that I command thee this day to love the Lord thy God, to walk in his ways, and to keep his commandments, and his ſtatutes, and his judgments, that thou mayſt live and multiply: and the Lord thy God ſhall bleſs thee in the land whither thou goeſt to poſſeſs it.

I am the Lord.] Heb. I am Jehovah: I am faithful, and fulfil my promiſes.

9 The nakedneſs of thy ſiſter.] It is for the intereſt of ſociety not to allow families to marry within themſelves, but to diffuſe the obligations of ſocial love, by joining in alliance with ſuch as were not related to them before. In the beginning, when God had created only one man and one woman, ſuch marriages were neceſſary; but now there is great reaſon why they ſhould be prohibited.

16 Thou

15 Thou ſhalt not uncover the nakedneſs of thy daughter-in-law: ſhe is thy ſon's wife, thou ſhalt not uncover her nakedneſs.

16 Thou ſhalt not uncover the nakedneſs of thy brother's wife: it is thy brother's nakedneſs.

17 Thou ſhalt not uncover the nakedneſs of a woman and her daughter, neither ſhalt thou take her ſon's daughter, or her daughter's daughter, to uncover her nakedneſs; for they are her near kinſwomen: it is wickedneſs.

18 Neither ſhalt thou take a wife to her ſiſter, to vex her, to uncover her nakedneſs, beſides the other in her life time.

19 ¶ Alſo thou ſhalt not approach unto a woman to uncover her nakedneſs, as long as ſhe is put apart for her uncleanneſs.

20 Moreover, thou ſhalt not lie carnally with thy neighbour's wife, to defile thy ſelf with her.

21 And thou ſhalt not let any of thy ſeed paſs through the fire to Molech, neither ſhalt thou profane the name of thy God: I am the LORD.

22 Thou ſhalt not lie with mankind as with womankind: it is abomination

23 Neither ſhalt thou lie with any beaſt to defile thy ſelf therewith: neither ſhall any woman ſtand before a beaſt to lie down thereto: it is confuſion.

24 Defile not ye your ſelves in any of theſe things: for in all theſe the nations are defiled which I caſt out before you.

25 And the land is defiled: therefore I do viſit the iniquity thereof upon it, and the land itſelf vomiteth out her inhabitants.

26 Ye ſhall therefore keep my ſtatutes and my judgments, and ſhall not commit any of theſe abominations; neither any of your own nation, nor any ſtranger that ſojourneth among you:

27 (For all theſe abominations have the men of the land done which were before you, and the land is defiled;)

28 That the land ſpue not you out alſo, when you defile it, as it ſpued out the nations that were before you.

29 For whoſoever ſhall commit any of theſe abominations, even the ſouls that commit them ſhall be cut off from among their people.

30 Therefore ſhall ye keep mine ordinance, that ye commit not any one of theſe abominable cuſtoms, which were committed before you, and that you defile not yourſelves therein: I am the LORD your God.

CHAP. XIX.

A repetition of ſundry laws.

AND the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

2 Speak unto all the congregation of the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, ye ſhall be holy: for I the LORD your God am holy.

3 Ye ſhall fear every man his mother, and his father, and keep my ſabbaths: I am the LORD your God.

4 Turn ye not unto idols, nor make to your ſelves molten gods: I am the LORD your God.

5 And if ye offer a ſacrifice of peace-offerings unto the LORD, ye ſhall offer it at your own will.

16 Thou ſhalt not uncover the nakedneſs of thy brother's wife.] Unleſs he died childleſs, for then the next brother was obliged to marry her. Deut. xxv. 5.

17 Of a woman and her daughter.] The reaſon is, becauſe he was in place of a father to her.

21 Thou ſhalt not let any of thy ſeed paſs through the fire to Molech.] Molech, which literally ſignifies king, was the idol of the Ammonites. The Rabbins aſſure us, that this idol was of braſs, and placed on a throne of the ſame metal: his head, which reſembled that of a calf, was adorned with a royal crown, and his arms were extended as if to embrace any that approached him. When they intended to offer any children to him, they heated the ſtatue with a great fire, made within it; and when it was burning hot, they placed the miſerable victim within his arms, by which means it was deſtroyed by the violence of the heat. And that the cries of the children, thus barbarouſly tormented, might not be heard, they made a great noiſe with drums, and other inſtruments. Others ſay that this ſtatue was hollow, and that it contained ſeven ſeparate cavities; the firſt appointed for meal or flour, the ſecond for turtle-doves, the third for an ewe, the fourth for a ram, the fifth for a calf, the ſixth for an ox, and the ſeventh for a child; and that all theſe offerings were conſumed together, by heating the ſtatue in the inſide. To this account Milton alludes in his deſcription of Moloch:

> Firſt Moloch, horrid king beſmear'd with blood
> Of human ſacrifice, and parents' tears,
> Tho' for the noiſe of drums and timbrels loud
> Their children's cries unheard, that paſs'd thro' fire
> To his grim idol. Par. Loſt. i. 392.

Notes on the Nineteenth Chapter.

Ver. 4 Turn ye not unto idols.] Heb. vain things, or things of nought; becauſe idols had no power either to hurt or aſſiſt men.

6 It ſhall be eaten the ſame day ye offer it, and on the morrow: and if ought remain until the third day, it ſhall be burnt in the fire.

7 And if it be eaten at all on the third day, it is abominable; it ſhall not be accepted.

8 Therefore every one that eateth it ſhall bear his iniquity, becauſe he hath profaned the hallowed thing of the LORD: and that ſoul ſhall be cut off from among his people.

9 And when ye reap the harveſt of your land, thou ſhalt not wholly reap the corners of thy field, neither ſhalt thou gather the gleanings of thy harveſt.

10 And thou ſhalt not glean thy vineyard, neither ſhalt thou gather every grape of thy vineyard; thou ſhalt leave them for the poor and ſtranger: I am the LORD your God.

11 Ye ſhall not ſteal, neither deal falſly, neither lye one to another.

12 And ye ſhall not ſwear by my name falſly, neither ſhalt thou profane the name of thy God: I am the LORD.

13 Thou ſhalt not defraud thy neighbour, neither rob him: the wages of him that is hired, ſhall not abide with thee all night until the morning.

14 Thou ſhalt not curſe the deaf, nor put a ſtumbling-block before the blind, but ſhalt fear thy God: I am the LORD.

15 Ye ſhall do no unrighteouſneſs in judgement: thou ſhalt not reſpect the perſon of the poor, nor honour the perſon of the mighty: but in righteouſneſs ſhalt thou judge thy neighbour.

16 Thou ſhalt not go up and down as a tale-bearer among thy people: neither ſhalt thou ſtand againſt the blood of thy neighbour: I am the LORD.

17 Thou ſhalt not hate thy brother in thine heart: thou ſhalt in any wiſe rebuke thy neighbour, and not ſuffer ſin upon him.

18 Thou ſhalt not avenge nor bear any grudge againſt the children of thy people, but thou ſhalt love thy neighbour as thy ſelf: I am the LORD.

---

9 Thou ſhalt not wholly reap the corners of thy field.] This ſhews that the genius of the Jewiſh laws was mercy and charity, though both were ſo badly practiſed by its narrow-minded profeſſors.

11 Neither deal falſly.] Thoſe who are guilty of over-reaching their neighbour may poſſibly applaud themſelves in being able to deceive him to his loſs, and their own advantage; but ſuch would do well to remember the queſtion put by our bleſſed Saviour himſelf, What is a man profited if he gain the whole world, and loſe his own ſoul?

13 The wages of him that is hired, ſhall not abide with thee all night, &c.] Thou ſhalt not detain his wages when he aſks it of thee. The day-labourer is commonly ſo poor, that his wages are often the ſole means of his ſubſiſtence: and therefore the detaining of them is ſuch an act of injuſtice and inhumanity, that no good-natured man can be guilty of it; far leſs one who has a ſincere regard to God, who loves mercy, and is an irreconcileable enemy to all cruelty and oppreſſion.

14 Thou ſhalt not curſe the deaf.] It is contrary to humanity to curſe or defame any perſon; but to calumniate thoſe who are incapable of hearing, and conſequently of anſwering for themſelves, is doubly cruel; it is adding inſult to injuſtice.

Nor put a ſtumbling-block before the blind.] A crime equally unjuſt, cruel, and cowardly: this precept is repeated in Deut. xxvii. 18. with an imprecation on the tranſgreſſors of it.

16 Thou ſhalt not go up and down as a tale-bearer among thy people.] To go about picking up ſcandal, and officiouſly ſpreading the ſame, is an employment baſe and unmanly in itſelf, and extremely injurious to ſociety: beſides, ſuch perſons generally miſrepreſent the circumſtances of a report, and aggravate what is faulty. But even ſuppoſing they did not miſrepreſent the real faults of others, the publiſhing the failings of our neighbours, unleſs it tends to promote ſome good purpoſe, is in itſelf a crime; it is directly oppoſite to that charity which is the ornament of human nature, and the bond of ſociety: for charity dwells with pleaſure on the virtues of others, but draws a veil over their blemiſhes and imperfections.

17 Thou ſhalt not hate thy brother in thine heart.] To be angry upon occaſion is human, but to hate and bear malice is diabolical.

Thou ſhalt in any wiſe rebuke thy neighbour.] If he hath done thee an injury, thou ſhalt rebuke him for his fault, inſtead of retaining a ſecret grudge againſt him, and watching an opportunity for retaliating the injury. Some conſider this precept as an injunction to offer friendly reproof to an offending brother. This is a manifeſt law of charity; for if it be a part of humanity to ſet a man in the right road when he has gone aſtray, how much more to reclaim a wandering mind into the path of virtue and happineſs! He, ſays St. James, that converteth a ſinner from the error of his way, ſhall ſave a ſoul from death.

18 Thou ſhalt not avenge, &c.] By this precept, the Jews are plainly forbidden to retaliate injuries, to render evil for evil; and indeed it would be very ſtrange, if their law, which was dictated by God himſelf, ſhould give any countenance to that narrow, ſelfiſh, and revengeful ſpirit, for which the Jews were ſo remarkable, when the very thing was condemned and inveighed againſt by the heathen moraliſts, as repugnant to the law of nature. Juvenal calls revenge a weak, unmanly pleaſure, which none but effeminate and vulgar minds indulge, and what no philoſopher or wiſe man could approve of. A ſentiment agreeable to that of an inſpired writer, who declares it to be the glory of a man to paſs by a tranſgreſſion. To be capable of over-looking injuries, is an indication of a truly great and manly diſpoſition; it is to act like a prince, to whom it belongs to pardon criminals; it is to act like God himſelf, who is ſlow to anger, and ready to forgive.

But thou ſhalt love thy neighbour as thyſelf.] This precept, as one of the Jewiſh doctors rightly obſerved, is the great ſum of the law; for he that loves his neighbour will neither ſteal from him, nor defile his bed, nor take away his life, nor good name, nor remove his land-mark, nor offend him any other way. And

19 Ye ſhall keep my ſtatutes. Thou ſhalt not let thy cattle gender with a diverſe kind: thou ſhalt not ſow thy field with mingled ſeed: neither ſhall a garment mingled of linen and woolen come upon thee.

20 And whoſoever lieth carnally with a woman that is a bond-maid betrothed to an huſband, and not at all redeemed, nor freedom given her; ſhe ſhall be ſcourged: they ſhall not be put to death, becauſe ſhe was not free.

21 And he ſhall bring his treſpaſs offering unto the LORD, unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, even a ram for a treſpaſs offering.

22 And the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him with the ram of the treſpaſs-offering before the LORD, for his ſin which he hath done: and the ſin which he hath done ſhall be forgiven him.

23 And when ye ſhall come into the land, and ſhall have planted all manner of trees for food; then ye ſhall count the fruit thereof as uncircumciſed: three years ſhall it be as uncircumciſed unto you: it ſhall not be eaten of.

24 But in the fourth year all the fruit thereof, ſhall be holy to praiſe the LORD withal.

25 And in the fifth year ſhall ye eat of the fruit thereof, that it may yield unto you the increaſe thereof: I am the LORD your God.

26 Ye ſhall not eat any thing with the blood: neither ſhall ye uſe inchantment, nor obſerve times.

27 Ye ſhall not round the corners of your heads, neither ſhalt thou marr the corners of thy beard.

28 Ye ſhall not make any cuttings in your fleſh for the dead, nor print any marks upon you: I am the LORD.

29 Do not proſtitute thy daughter to cauſe her to be a whore; leſt the land fall to whoredom, and the land become full of wickedneſs.

30 Ye ſhall keep my ſabbaths, and reverence my ſanctuary: I am the LORD.

31 Regard not them that have familiar ſpirits, neither ſeek after wizards, to be defiled by them: I am the LORD your God.

32 Thou ſhalt riſe up before the hoary head, and honour the face of the old man, and fear thy God: I am the LORD.

33 And if a ſtranger ſojourn with thee in your land, ye ſhall not vex him.

34 But the ſtranger that dwelleth with you, ſhall be unto you as one born amongſt you, and thou ſhalt love him as thy ſelf; for ye were ſtrangers in the land of Egypt: I am the LORD your God.

35 Ye ſhall do no unrighteouſneſs in judgement, in mete-yard, in weight, or in meaſure.

in the ſame comprehenſive manner it is explained by our Saviour himſelf, Mat. xxii. 39. By the word neighbour is to be underſtood every man with whom we have any intercourſe, agreeable to our Saviour's explication of this text, Luke x. 29, 30, &c.

19 Thou ſhalt not let thy cattle gender with a diverſe kind.] Becauſe ſuch a conjunction would tend to deſtroy the great law of nature. Some underſtand this ſymbolically, intimating, that if they were not even to let their cattle breed with other kinds, far leſs were they to allow themſelves to be guilty of thoſe unnatural mixtures mentioned in the foregoing chapter. In the ſame ſenſe muſt the garment mingled of linen and woollen be underſtood.

23 And when ye ſhall come into the land, &c.] Several reaſons are given for this law; but the moſt natural is this, that the fruit of the firſt three years growth being unconcocted, was not fit to be offered to God, to whom the beſt of every thing ought to be preſented. And men were alſo prohibited to eat thereof, leſt they ſhould ſeem to have applied to their own uſe the firſt-fruits which belonged to God.

27 Ye ſhall not round the corners of your head.] Cut the extremities of the hair in a round form. This precept ſeems to have been levelled againſt a ſuperſtitious practice of the Arabians, who uſed to cut their hair round, in order to reſemble their god Bacchus.

Neither ſhalt thou marr the corners of thy beard.] This prohibition ſeems to have reſpect to the ſuperſtitious rites of mourning for the dead, eſpecially among the Egyptians; who uſed, in their mourning for Oſiris, to ſhave their whole heads and beards, and to make inciſions in their fleſh.

31 Regard not them which have familiar ſpirits.] Thoſe who had an intercourſe with ſpirits of an impure, diabolical nature. Moſt of thoſe who pretended to a familiarity with dæmons were mere impoſtors ſuborned by the idolatrous prieſts, who, in order to ſupport the credit of eſtabliſhed polytheiſm and idolatry, pretended to the gift of prophecy or divination, and amuſed the credulous vulgar with dark and ambiguous predictions, which were capable of anſwering the event which ever way it fell out.

Neither ſeek after wizards.] Fortune-tellers, or cunning men. See on Exod. xxii. 18.

32 Thou ſhalt riſe up before the hoary head.] To honour thoſe who are our ſuperiors in age is one of the plaineſt dictates of nature, and has been given by all the wiſe legiſlators of antiquity.

And fear thy God.] Who has ſtamped a venerable character upon thoſe who are grown old in wiſdom and virtue; has appointed ſuch diſtinctions of mankind for the better government of the world, and is the avenger of thoſe who are not able to defend themſelves.

34 For ye were ſtrangers in the land of Egypt.] Let the remembrance of your ſufferings in Egypt move you to ſhew kindneſs to thoſe whom you find in the ſame condition.

36 Juſt balances, juſt weights, a juſt ephah, and a juſt hin ſhall ye have: I am the LORD your God, which brought you out of the land of Egypt.

37 Therefore ſhall ye obſerve all my ſtatutes, and all my judgements, and do them: I am the LORD.

CHAP. XX.

1 Of giving ſeed to Molech. 6 Of wizards. 9 Of curſing parents.

AND the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 2 Again thou ſhalt ſay to the children of Iſrael, Whoſoever he be of the children of Iſrael, or of the ſtrangers that ſojourn in Iſrael, that giveth any of his ſeed unto Molech; he ſhall ſurely be put to death: the people of the land ſhall ſtone him with ſtones.

3 And I will ſet my face againſt that man, and will cut him off from among his people; becauſe he hath given of his ſeed unto Molech, to defile my ſanctuary, and to profane my holy name.

4 And if the people of the land do any ways hide their eyes from the man, when he giveth of his ſeed unto Molech, and kill him not:

5 Then I will ſet my face againſt that man, and againſt his family, and will cut him off, and all that go a whoring after him, to commit whoredom with Molech, from among their people.

6 ¶ And the ſoul that turneth after ſuch as have familiar ſpirits, and after wizards, to go a whoring after them, I will even ſet my face againſt that ſoul, and will cut him off from among his people.

7 Sanctify your ſelves therefore, and be ye holy: for I am the LORD your God.

8 And ye ſhall keep my ſtatutes, and do them: I am the LORD which ſanctify you.

9 ¶ For every one that curſeth his father or his mother ſhall be ſurely put to death: he hath curſed his father or his mother; his blood ſhall be upon him.

10 And the man that committeth adultery with another man's wife, even he that committeth adultery with his neighbour's wife, the adulterer and the adultereſs ſhall ſurely be put to death.

11 And the man that lieth with his father's wife, hath uncovered his father's nakedneſs: both of them ſhall ſurely be put to death; their blood ſhall be upon them.

12 And if a man lie with his daughter-in-law, both of them ſhall ſurely be put to death: they have wrought confuſion: their blood ſhall be upon them.

13 If a man alſo lie with mankind, as he lieth with a woman, both of them have committed an abomination: they ſhall ſurely be put to death; their blood ſhall be upon them.

14 And if a man take a wife and her mother, it is wickedneſs: they ſhall be burnt with fire, both he and they; that there be no wickedneſs among you.

15 And if a man lie with a beaſt, he ſhall ſurely be put to death: and ye ſhall ſlay the beaſt.

16 And if a woman approach unto any beaſt, and lie down thereto, thou ſhalt kill the woman and the beaſt: they ſhall ſurely be put to death; their blood ſhall be upon them.

17 And if a man ſhall take his ſiſter, his father's daughter, or his mother's daughter, and ſee her nakedneſs, and ſhe ſee his nakedneſs: it is a wicked thing; and they ſhall be cut off in the ſight of their people: he hath uncovered his ſiſter's nakedneſs; he ſhall bear his iniquity.

18 And if a man ſhall lie with a woman having her ſickneſs, and ſhall uncover her na-

Notes on the Twentieth Chapter.

Ver. 1 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying.] The principal laws in the two foregoing chapters are here repeated, and enforced with penalties. But, as we have already explained every thing relating to them that was dark or obſcure, it will be unneceſſary to repeat here what has been already obſerved.

5 All that go a whoring, &c.] All that, following his example, favour ſuch idolaters, and protect them from puniſhment.

10 The adulterer and adultereſs ſhall ſurely be put to death.] See on Exod. xx. 14.

17 They ſhall be cut off in the ſight of their people.] They ſhall be publicly put to death.

18 If a man ſhall lie with a woman having her ſickneſs.] Here ſentence of death is pronounced on them; whereas chap. xv. 24. it is only ſaid, the man ſhall be unclean ſeven days: therefore many think in that place he ſpeaks of doing this ignorantly, and here of doing it knowingly.

27 A man

kedneſs; he hath diſcovered her fountain, and ſhe hath uncovered the fountain of her blood: and both of them ſhall be cut off from among their people.

19 And thou ſhalt not uncover the nakedneſs of thy mother's ſiſter, nor of thy father's ſiſter: for he uncovereth his near kin: they ſhall bear their iniquity.

20 And if a man ſhall lie with his uncle's wife, he hath uncovered his uncle's nakedneſs: they ſhall bear their ſin; they ſhall die childleſs.

21 And if a man ſhall take his brother's wife, it is an unclean thing: he hath uncovered his brother's nakedneſs, they ſhall be childleſs.

22 Ye ſhall therefore keep all my ſtatutes, and all my judgments, and do them: that the land, whither I bring you, to dwell therein, ſpue you not out.

23 And ye ſhall not walk in the manners of the nation, which I caſt out before you: for they committed all theſe things, and therefore I abhorred them.

24 But I have ſaid unto you, Ye ſhall inherit their land, and I will give it unto you to poſſeſs it, a land that floweth with milk and honey: I am the LORD your God, which have ſeparated you from other people.

25 Ye ſhall therefore put difference between clean beaſts and unclean, and between unclean fowls and clean: and ye ſhall not make your ſouls abominable by beaſt or by fowl, or by any manner of living thing that creepeth on the ground, which I have ſeparated from you as unclean.

26 And ye ſhall be holy unto me: for I the LORD am holy, and have ſevered you from other people, that ye ſhould be mine.

27 A man alſo or woman that hath a familiar ſpirit, or that is a wizard, ſhall ſurely be put to death: they ſhall ſtone them with ſtones: their blood ſhall be upon them.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Of the prieſts mourning, 7 marriages, 16 and blemiſhes.

AND the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Speak unto the prieſts the ſons of Aaron, and ſay unto them, There ſhall none be defiled for the dead among his people.

2 But for his kin, that is near unto him, that is, for his mother, and for his father, and for his ſon, and for his daughter, and for his brother,

3 And for his ſiſter a virgin, that is nigh unto him, which hath had no husband; for her may he be defiled.

4 But he ſhall not defile himſelf, being a chief man among his people, to profane himſelf.

5 They ſhall not make baldneſs upon their head, neither ſhall they ſhave off the corner of their beard, nor make any cuttings in their fleſh.

6 They ſhall be holy unto their God, and not profane the name of their God: for the offerings of the LORD made by fire, and the bread of their God they do offer: therefore they ſhall be holy.

7 ¶ They ſhall not take a wife that is a whore, or profane; neither ſhall they take a woman put away from her huſband: for he is holy unto his God.

8 Thou ſhalt ſanctify him therefore; for he offereth the bread of thy God: he ſhall be holy unto thee: for I the LORD which ſanctify you, am holy.

9 And the daughter of any prieſt, if ſhe

27 A man alſo or a woman that hath a familiar ſpirit—ſhall ſurely be put to death.] In the foregoing chapter all commerce with ſuch was forbidden, under pain of death; and here the perſons themſelves, who pretended to have a ſpirit of divination, or to deal in ſorcery or conjuration, are condemned to be ſtoned to death.

Notes on the Twenty-firſt Chapter.

Ver. 1 There ſhall none be defiled for the dead.] The laws contained in this chapter relate to the prieſts, and were intended to denote the dignity, and preſerve the honour of the holy function. And firſt, they were not to defile themſelves by touching a dead body, preparing it for burial, or being preſent at a funeral, or coming into the tent where a dead body was; becauſe, by theſe things, they would have been legally polluted for no leſs than ſeven days, and, conſequently, unfit for performing the duties of their ſtation.

2 But for his kin, that is near unto him.] Here the caſe of very near relations is excepted, ſince it would have been hard to reſtrain them from paying the laſt duties of natural affection to a parent, a wife, a child, or a brother, and God always prefers mercy to ſacrifice.

9 She profaneth her father.] She is not only a ſcandal to her ſex, and a diſgrace to her character; but ſhe even wounds her profane herſelf by playing the whore, ſhe profaneth her father: ſhe ſhall be burnt with fire.

10 And he that is the high-prieſt among his brethren, upon whoſe head the anointing oil was poured, and that is conſecrated to put on the garments, ſhall not uncover his head, nor rend his clothes;

11 Neither ſhall he go in to any dead body, nor defile himſelf for his father, or for his mother;

12 Neither ſhall he go out of the ſanctuary, nor profane the ſanctuary of his God; for the crown of the anointing oil of his God is upon him: I am the LORD.

13 And he ſhall take a wife in her virginity.

14 A widow, or a divorced woman, or profane, or an harlot, theſe ſhall he not take: but he ſhall take a virgin of his own people to wife.

15 Neither ſhall he profane his ſeed among his people: for I the LORD do ſanctify him.

16 ¶ And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

17 Speak unto Aaron, ſaying, Whoſoever he be of thy ſeed in their generations that hath any blemiſh, let him not approach to offer the bread of his God.

18 For whatſoever man he be that hath a blemiſh, he ſhall not approach: a blind man, or a lame, or he that hath a flat noſe, or any thing ſuperfluous,

19 Or a man that is broken-footed, or broken-handed,

20 Or crook-backt, or a dwarf, or that hath a blemiſh in his eye, or be ſcurvy, or ſcabbed, or hath his ſtones broken;

21 No man that hath a blemiſh, of the ſeed of Aaron the prieſt, ſhall come nigh to offer the offerings of the LORD made by fire: he hath a blemiſh; he ſhall not come nigh to offer the bread of his God.

22 He ſhall eat the bread of his God, both of the moſt holy, and of the holy.

23 Only he ſhall not go in unto the vail, nor come nigh unto the altar, becauſe he hath a blemiſh; that he profane not my ſanctuaries: for I the LORD do ſanctify them.

24 And Moſes told it unto Aaron, and to his ſons, and unto all the children of Iſrael.

CHAP. XXII.

The prieſts when to abſtain from holy things.

AND the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

2 Speak unto Aaron, and to his ſons, that they ſeparate themſelves from the holy things of the children of Iſrael, and that they profane not my holy name, in thoſe things which they hallow unto me: I am the LORD.

3 Say unto them, Whoſoever he be of all your ſeed among your generations, that goeth unto the holy things, which the children of Iſrael hallow unto the LORD, having his uncleanneſs upon him, that ſoul ſhall be cut off from my preſence: I am the LORD.

4 What man ſoever of the ſeed of Aaron is a leper, or hath a running iſſue; he ſhall not eat of the holy things, until he be clean. And whoſo toucheth any thing that is unclean by the dead, or a man whoſe ſeed goeth from him;

5 Or whoſoever toucheth any creeping thing, whereby he may be made unclean, or a man of whom he may take uncleanneſs, whatſoever uncleanneſs he hath;

6 The ſoul which hath touched any ſuch ſhall be unclean until even, and ſhall not eat of the holy things, unleſs he waſh his fleſh with water.

father's honour, and diſparages the good example and education which he was ſuppoſed to have given her.

10 Nor rent his cloaths.] This prohibition muſt doubtleſs be reſtrained to the high-prieſt's garments, and the times of mourning, ſince we find in ſcripture, that on other occaſions they were wont ſometimes to rend their cloaths, as when blaſphemy, either real or pretended, was uttered in their preſence.

11 Nor defile himſelf for his father.] The high-prieſt was not ſuffered, on any account, to go into a houſe where a dead body lay, though it was even the body of his father or mother.

12 Neither ſhall he go out of the ſanctuary.] He was to ſhew ſo high a regard to the ſervice of God, that he was not to ſtir from the ſanctuary, nor deſiſt from his miniſtration, even though he ſhould hear of the death of his neareſt and deareſt relations: the reaſon of this ſeems to be, becauſe there was no other to officiate in his ſtead, whereas the lower prieſts might delegate others to ſerve in their room.

Notes on the Twenty-ſecond Chapter.

Ver. 1 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying.] In the foregoing chapter are ſeveral rules relating to the perſonal qualification of prieſts; in this are ſeveral cautions relating to the privileges which they and their families had of eating their ſhare of the ſacrifices, which cautions were intended to remind them of that reverence and moral purity neceſſary, in order to their performing the worſhip of God in an acceptable manner.

10 There

7 And when the ſun is down, he ſhall be clean, and ſhall afterward eat of the holy things; becauſe it is his food.

8 That which dieth of it ſelf, or is torn with beaſts, he ſhall not eat to defile himſelf therewith: I am the LORD.

9 They ſhall therefore keep mine ordinance leſt they bear ſin for it, and die therefore, if they profane it: I the LORD do ſanctify them.

10 There ſhall no ſtranger eat of the holy thing: a ſojourner of the prieſt, or an hired ſervant ſhall not eat of the holy thing.

11 But if the prieſt buy any ſoul with his money, he ſhall eat of it, and he that is born in his houſe: they ſhall eat of his meat.

12 If the prieſt's daughter alſo be married unto a ſtranger, ſhe may not eat of an offering of the holy things.

13 But if the prieſt's daughter be a widow, or divorced, and have no child, and is returned unto her father's houſe, as in her youth, ſhe ſhall eat of her father's meat: but there ſhall no ſtranger eat thereof.

14 And if a man eat of a holy thing unwittingly, then he ſhall put the fifth part thereof unto it, and ſhall give it unto the prieſt, with the holy thing.

15 And they ſhall not profane the holy things of the children of Iſrael, which they offer unto the LORD.

16 Or ſuffer them to bear the iniquity of treſpaſs, when they eat their holy things: for I the LORD do ſanctify them.

17 And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

18 Speak unto Aaron and to his ſons, and unto all the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, Whatſoever he be of the houſe of Iſrael, or of the ſtrangers in Iſrael, that will offer his oblation for all his vows, and for all his free-will offerings, which they will offer unto the LORD for a burnt offering;

19 Ye ſhall offer at your own will a male without blemiſh of the beeves, of the ſheep, or of the goats.

20 But whatſoever hath a blemiſh, that ſhall ye not offer; for it ſhall not be acceptable for you.

21 And whoſoever offereth a ſacrifice of peace-offerings unto the LORD, to accompliſh his vow, or a free-will offering in beeves, or ſheep, it ſhall be perfect, to be accepted; there ſhall be no blemiſh therein.

22 Blind, or broken, or maimed, or having a wen, or ſcurvy, or ſcabbed, ye ſhall not offer theſe unto the LORD, nor make an offering by fire of them upon the altar unto the LORD.

23 Either a bullock or a lamb that hath any thing ſuperfluous or lacking in his parts, that mayeſt thou offer for a free-will offering; but for a vow it ſhall not be accepted.

24 Ye ſhall not offer unto the LORD that which is bruiſed, or cruſhed, or broken, or cut, neither ſhall ye make any offering thereof in your land.

25 Neither from a ſtranger's hand ſhall ye offer the bread of your God of any of theſe; becauſe their corruption is in them, and blemiſhes be in them: they ſhall not be accepted for you.

26 And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

27 When a bullock, or a ſheep, or a goat is brought forth, then it ſhall be ſeven days under the dam; and from the eighth day and thenceforth it ſhall be accepted for an offering made by fire unto the LORD.

28 And whether it be cow or ew, ye ſhall not kill it and her young both in one day.

10 There ſhall no ſtranger eat of the holy thing.] The word ſtranger is here uſed to ſignify any perſon that is not of the prieſt's own family, whether Jew or Gentile profelyte.

14 He ſhall give it unto the prieſt, with the holy thing.] He could not give the individual thing which he had eaten; but the meaning is, that he ſhould be obliged to pay the full worth of it, and a fifth part more. This law relates to ſuch of the laity as, through ignorance or inadvertence, had applied to their own uſe the firſt-fruits, or other things that were conſecrated to God; that is, to his prieſts.

21 It ſhall be perfect.] In all its members; the ſame as without blemiſh, ver. 19. Homer often mentions perfect victims; and Virgil frequently has Mactant lectas de more bidentes.

Selected ſheep with holy rites they ſlay. Pitt.

28 Cow or ew, ye ſhall not kill it and her young both in one day.] This is a precaution of humanity, leſt the dam ſhould be brought to the altar while it is yet mourning the loſs of its young, ſlain perhaps before its eyes: and, indeed, there is a degree of cruelty in the very idea of embruing their hands in the blood of both parent and offſpring at the ſame time. This therefore may be conſidered as a ſymbolical precept, to teach the Iſraelites to be merciful, as their Father in heaven is merciful.

Notes

29 And when ye will offer a ſacrifice of thanſgiving unto the LORD, offer it at your own will.

30 On the ſame day it ſhall be eaten up; ye ſhall leave none of it until the morrow: I am the LORD.

31 Therefore ſhall ye keep my commandments, and do them: I am the LORD.

32 Neither ſhall ye profane my holy name; but I will be hallowed among the children of Iſrael: I am the LORD which hallow you,

33 That brought you out of the land of Egypt, to be your God: I am the LORD.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Of ſundry feaſts. 26 The day of atonement.

AND the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, Concerning the feaſts of the LORD, which ye ſhall proclaim to be holy convocations, even theſe are my feaſts.

3 Six days ſhall work be done: but the ſeventh day is the ſabbath of reſt, an holy convocation; ye ſhall do no work therein: it is the ſabbath of the LORD in all your dwellings.

4 Theſe are the feaſts of the LORD, even holy convocations, which ye ſhall proclaim in their ſeaſons.

5 In the fourteenth day of the firſt month at even is the LORD's paſs-over.

6 And on the fifteenth day of the ſame month is the feaſt of unleavened bread unto the LORD: ſeven days ye muſt eat unleavened bread.

7 In the firſt day ye ſhall have an holy convocation: ye ſhall do no ſervile work therein.

8 But ye ſhall offer an offering made by fire unto the LORD ſeven days: in the ſeventh day is an holy convocation: ye ſhall do no ſervile work therein.

9 And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

10 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, When ye be come into the land which I give unto you, and ſhall reap the harveſt thereof, then ye ſhall bring a ſheaf of the firſt-fruits of your harveſt unto the prieſt:

11 And he ſhall wave the ſheaf before the LORD, to be accepted for you: on the morrow after the ſabbath the prieſt ſhall wave it.

12 And ye ſhall offer that day, when ye wave the ſheaf, an he-lamb without blemiſh of the firſt year for a burnt-offering unto the LORD.

13 And the meat-offering thereof ſhall be two tenth-deals of fine flour mingled with oil, an offering made by fire unto the LORD for a ſweet ſavour: and the drink offering thereof ſhall be of wine, the fourth part of an hin.

14 And ye ſhall eat neither bread, nor parched corn, nor green ears, until the ſelf-ſame day that ye have brought an offering unto your God. It ſhall be a ſtatute for ever throughout your generations, in all your dwellings.

15 And ye ſhall count unto you from the morrow after the ſabbath, from the day that ye brought the ſheaf of the wave-offering; ſeven ſabbaths ſhall be complete:

16 Even unto the morrow after the ſeventh ſabbath ſhall ye number fifty days; and ye ſhall offer a new meat offering unto the LORD.

Notes on the Twenty-third Chapter.

Ver. 2 Concerning the feaſts of the Lord.] The word in the original, which we render feaſts, properly ſignifies ſolemn ſeaſons or meetings, and ſhould have been ſo rendered; ſince under that general term is comprehended the day of atonement, which was not a feaſt of joy, but a faſt, or day of ſolemn humiliation.

5 At even.] All the Jewiſh feſtivals were kept from evening to evening; ſee ver. 32. for with the evening their day began.

10 And ſhall reap the harveſt.] This ſhould have been rendered, are about to reap the harveſt; for the ſheaf was to be brought before the reſt of the corn was cut.

The firſt-fruits of your harveſt.] Of barley harveſt, which began about the paſſover, Exod. ix. 31. wheat-harveſt began at pentecoſt, ſeven weeks after. Theſe firſt-fruits were reaped by men delegated for the purpoſe, and preſented, in the name of the whole community, to the prieſt; who waved them toward the four quarters of the world, in token of their being conſecrated to the Sovereign of the univerſe.

13 Two tenth deals of fine flour.] That is, two omers, or two tenth parts of an ephah. See Exod. xvi. 16, and 36.

14 And ye ſhall eat neither bread, &c.] That is, ye ſhall eat nothing of this year's growth till you have brought an offering to your God. And ſurely this muſt be allowed a very reaſonable teſtimony of their reſpect to God, to pay the tribute of gratitude to the donor, before they made uſe of his gifts.

15 From the morrow after the ſabbath, &c.] From the ſecond day of unleavened bread; that is, from the ſixteenth day of the ſecond month, the day on which the firſt-fruits were offered, ſeven ſabbaths, or rather ſeven weeks, ſhall be completed; for ſabbaths, in Hebrew, often ſignify weeks, as σαββατα in Greek. Mat. xxviii. 1.

16 Even unto the morrow after the ſeventh ſabbath.] The next day after the ſeventh ſabbath or week made juſt fifty days, whence this feaſt was called Penteceſt.

17 They

17 Ye ſhall bring out of your habitations two wave-loaves, of two tenth-deals: they ſhall be of fine flour; they ſhall be baken with leaven: they are the firſt-fruits unto the LORD.

18 And ye ſhall offer with the bread ſeven lambs without blemiſh, of the firſt year, and one young bullock, and two rams: they ſhall be for a burnt offering unto the LORD, with their meat-offering, and their drink offerings, even an offering made by fire of ſweet ſavour unto the LORD.

19 Then ye ſhall ſacrifice one kid of the goats for a ſin-offering, and two lambs of the firſt year for a ſacrifice of peace-offerings.

20 And the prieſt ſhall wave them with the bread of the firſt fruits for a wave-offering before the LORD, with the two lambs: they ſhall be holy to the LORD for the prieſt.

21 And ye ſhall proclaim on the ſelf-ſame day, that it may be an holy convocation unto you: ye ſhall do no ſervile work therein. It ſhall be a ſtatute for ever in all your dwellings, throughout your generations.

22 And when ye reap the harveſt of your land, thou ſhalt not make clean riddance of the corners of thy field when thou reapeſt, neither ſhalt thou gather any gleaning of thy harveſt: thou ſhalt leave them unto the poor, and to the ſtranger: I am the LORD your God.

23 And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

24 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, In the ſeventh month, in the firſt day of the month ſhall ye have a ſabbath, a memorial of blowing of trumpets, an holy convocation.

25 Ye ſhall do no ſervile work therein: but ye ſhall offer an offering made by fire unto the LORD.

26 ¶ And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

27 Alſo on the tenth day of this ſeventh month there ſhall be a day of atonement: it ſhall be an holy convocation unto you; and ye ſhall afflict your ſouls, and offer an offering made by fire unto the LORD.

28 And ye ſhall do no work in that ſame day: for it is a day of atonement, to make an atonement for you before the LORD your God.

29 For whatſoever ſoul it be that ſhall not be afflicted in that ſame day, he ſhall be cut off from among his people.

30 And whatſoever ſoul it be that doeth any work in that ſame day, the ſame ſoul will I deſtroy from among his people.

31 Ye ſhall do no manner of work: it ſhall be a ſtatute for ever throughout your generations, in all your dwellings.

32 It ſhall be unto you a ſabbath of reſt, and ye ſhall afflict your ſouls: in the ninth day of the month at even, from even unto even ſhall ye celebrate your ſabbath.

33 And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

34 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, The fifteenth day of this ſeventh month ſhall be the feaſt of tabernacles for ſeven days unto the LORD.

35 On the firſt day ſhall be an holy convo-

17 They ſhall be baken with leaven.] This is contrary to the eſtabliſhed law for other meat-offerings: but it ſhould be remembered, that part of the latter were burnt upon the altar; whereas the former were only waved before the Lord, and given to the prieſt.

20 They ſhall be holy to the Lord for the prieſt.] In peace-offerings for private perſons, the prieſt had only the breaſt and right ſhoulder, the reſt was eaten by the offerer and his friends: but peace-offerings for the whole congregation were moſt holy, and therefore might be eaten by none but the prieſts, even as ſin-offerings, which are called moſt holy.

21 That it may be an holy convocation.] This feaſt was partly commemorative of God's goodneſs in giving the law from mount Sinai, on the fiftieth day of their coming out of Egypt, and partly gratulatory for the fair proſpect of completing their harveſt.

22 Thou ſhalt not make clean riddance of the corners, &c.] This law is mentioned before. See chap. xix. 9, 10.

24 A memorial of blowing of trumpets.] The paſſage might be better rendered, a feſtival for commemorating or praiſing God with the ſound of trumpets: for this feaſt was kept with great ſolemnity, the trumpets ſounding from ſun-riſing to ſun-ſetting.

34 The fifteenth day of the ſeventh month ſhall be the feaſt of tabernacles.] This feſtival was inſtituted in thankful remembrance of their having dwelt in booths or tabernacles forty years ſecurely, under the Divine Protection. Moſes has given us a fuller deſcription of this feaſt than of any other, probably becauſe it was not to be celebrated till after they were ſettled in the Promiſed Land; but as to the particular trees, of which the booths, mentioned ver. 40, were made, and the manner of their ſtructure, they are not ſo eaſily underſtood; nor are they agreed on by the Jews themſelves. Indeed, all that is ſuppoſed to be meant was, that they ſhould chuſe ſuch trees as yielded the moſt laſting and agreeable verdure and fragrancy. The firſt day of this feſtival was uſhered in by a general proceſſion, in which the men carried in their hands branches of trees, mentioned ver. 40, waving them about to the four winds, and ſinging ſome pſalms or hymns proper for the ſolemnity, and crying Hoſannah! which word properly ſignifies ſave, we beſeech thee: and from this word, the laſt day of the feaſt, and the ceremony of carrying palm-branches round the altar, which was performed ſeven times with great ſolemnity, was called Hoſannah-rabbah, or the day of the great Hoſannah. The hundred and eighteenth pſalm is likewiſe ſuppoſed to have been ſung on, if not compoſed on purpoſe for cation: ye shall do no servile work therein.

36 Seven days ye shall offer an offering made by fire unto the LORD: on the eighth day shall be an holy convocation unto you; and ye shall offer an offering made by fire unto the LORD: it is a solemn assembly; and ye shall do no servile work therein.

37 These are the feasts of the LORD, which ye shall proclaim to be holy convocations, to offer an offering made by fire unto the LORD, a burnt-offering, and a meat-offering, a sacrifice, and drink-offerings, every thing upon his day:

38 Beside the sabbaths of the LORD, and beside your gifts, and beside all your vows, and beside all your free-will-offerings which ye give unto the LORD.

39 Also in the fifteenth day of the seventh month, when ye have gathered in the fruit of the land, ye shall keep a feast unto the LORD seven days: on the first day shall be a sabbath, and on the eighth day shall be a sabbath.

40 And ye shall take you on the first day the boughs of goodly trees, branches of palm-trees, and the boughs of thick trees, and willows of the brook; and ye shall rejoice before the LORD your God seven days.

41 And ye shall keep it a feast unto the LORD seven days in the year: it shall be a statute for ever in your generations: ye shall celebrate it in the seventh month.

42 Ye shall dwell in booths seven days; all that are Israelites born shall dwell in booths:

43 That your generations may know, that I made the children of Israel to dwell in booths, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt: I am the LORD your God.

44 And Moses declared unto the children of Israel the feasts of the LORD.

CHAP. XXIV.

10 Shelomith's son blasphemeth. 13 The law of blasphemy, 17 of murder, 18 of damage. 23 The blasphemer is stoned.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

2 Command the children of Israel, that they bring unto thee pure oil-olive beaten for the light, to cause the lamps to burn continually.

3 Without the vail of the testimony, in the tabernacle of the congregation, shall Aaron order it from the evening unto the morning before the LORD continually: it shall be a statute for ever in your generations.

4 He shall order the lamps upon the pure candlestick before the LORD continually.

5 And thou shalt take fine flour, and bake twelve cakes thereof: two tenth-deals shall be in one cake.

6 And thou shalt set them in two rows, six on a row, upon the pure table, before the LORD.

7 And thou shalt put pure frankincense upon each row, that it may be on the bread for a memorial, even an offering made by fire unto the LORD.

8 Every sabbath he shall set it in order before the LORD continually, being taken from the children of Israel by an everlasting covenant.

9 And it shall be Aaron's and his sons, and they shall eat it in the holy place; for it is most holy unto him, of the offerings of the LORD made by fire, by a perpetual statute.

10 ¶ And the son of an Israelitish woman, whose father was an Egyptian, went out among the children of Israel: and this son of the Israelitish woman, and a man of Israel strove together in the camp:

this festival; because there are not only several expressions in it that have a great affinity to this feast, but also from the very analogy of the composure with the ceremonies of that feast: such as the praying more particularly for the coming of the Messiah, for the prosperity of the next year, the fetching of water from the pool of Siloah, &c. This last ceremony, however, is thought to be of much later date, and to have been introduced but a little before our Saviour's time; though some of the Jews attribute the institution of it to the prophets Haggai and Zechariah. See Univers. Hist. vol. III. p. 27. octavo.

40 Ye shall rejoice before the Lord.] Giving thanks to God, who had brought them from a barren wilderness to a land abounding with fig-trees, vines, and pomegranates, and other goodly and fruitful trees. The Rabbins tell us, that among other rejoicings of this festival, the highest was that of drawing and pouring out water. This custom seems to have been instituted in memory of that miraculous water which issued from the rock in the wilderness, whereby they were saved from perishing; and therefore served to excite their gratitude to God, who had changed their thirsty desert into a land of rivers and springs of water.

Notes on the Twenty-fourth Chapter.

Ver. 10 The son of an Israelitish woman, &c.] The Jews tell us, this controversy was occasioned by the Egyptian's attempting to set up his tent among the children of Dan, in right of his mother who was of that tribe; but, being opposed by an Israelite, he came before the judges, who giving sentence against him, he, out of rage, uttered blasphemy against God. Probably he renounced his allegiance to Jehovah, as God of the Jews, and cursed those judges that condemned him.

11 And the Iſraelitiſh woman's ſon blaſphemed the name of the LORD, and curſed. And they brought him unto Moſes: (and his mother's name was Shelomith, the daughter of Dibri, of the tribe of Dan:)

12 And they put him in ward, that the mind of the LORD might be ſhewed them.

13 ¶ And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

14 Bring forth him that hath curſed without the camp; and let all that heard him lay their hands upon his head, and let all the congregation ſtone him.

15 And thou ſhalt ſpeak unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, Whoſoever curſeth his God ſhall bear his ſin.

16 And he that blaſphemeth the name of the LORD, he ſhall ſurely be put to death, and all the congregation ſhall certainly ſtone him: as well the ſtranger as he that is born in the land, when he blaſphemeth the name of the LORD, ſhall be put to death.

17 ¶ And he that killeth any man ſhall ſurely be put to death.

18 ¶ And he that killeth a beaſt ſhall make it good: beaſt for beaſt.

19 And if a man cauſe a blemiſh in his neighbour; as he hath done, ſo ſhall it be done unto him.

20 Breach for breach, eye for eye, tooth for tooth: as he hath cauſed a blemiſh in a man, ſo ſhall it be done to him again.

21 And he that killeth a beaſt, he ſhall reſtore it: and he that killeth a man, he ſhall be put to death.

22 Ye ſhall have one manner of law, as well for the ſtranger, as for one of your own country: for I am the LORD your God.

23 ¶ And Moſes ſpake unto the children of Iſrael of Iſrael, that they ſhould bring forth him that had curſed out of the camp, and ſtone him with ſtones. And the children of Iſrael did as the LORD commanded Moſes.

CHAP. XXV.

8 The Jubile. 14 Of oppreſſion. 35 Of compaſſion. 47 Of redeeming ſervants.

AND the LORD ſpake unto Moſes in mount Sinai, ſaying,

2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, When ye come into the land which I give you, then ſhall the land keep a ſabbath unto the LORD.

3 Six years thou ſhalt ſow thy field, and ſix years thou ſhalt prune thy vineyard, and gather in the fruit thereof;

4 But the ſeventh year ſhall be a ſabbath of reſt unto the land, a ſabbath for the LORD: thou ſhalt neither ſow thy field, nor prune thy vineyard.

5 That which groweth of its own accord of thy harveſt, thou ſhalt not reap, neither gather the grapes of thy vine undreſſed: for it is a year of reſt unto the land.

12 That the mind of the Lord might be ſhewed them.] That is, Moſes might pronounce ſentence againſt him as the Lord ſhould direct him.

14 Let all the congregation ſtone him.] Every one was to throw a ſtone at the blaſphemer, to teſtify that he felt himſelf wounded with the blow which that impious perſon levelled at the Deity. Some, not without ſufficient reaſon, conſider this as a moral law, which all Chriſtians are obliged to obſerve, as well as the Jews; and, accordingly, Juſtinian condemned blaſphemers to death. And thoſe who are entruſted with the ſword of juſtice, would do well to conſider how far they are bound by this law, which was given by God himſelf, to puniſh thoſe blaſphemies and horrid impieties which are too common amongſt us, to the diſgrace not only of Chriſtians, but of a civilized nation. And ſurely perſons muſt entertain a very groveling notion of the Deity, or be plunged in deep forgetfulneſs, who can ſuffer their tongues to ſhoot arrows of profaneneſs againſt heaven itſelf, and, in proud defiance, challenge the reſentment of Omnipotence. They cannot diſcern that great and adorable Being, who fills the univerſe with his infinite and glorious preſence; who is all eye to obſerve their actions; all ear to hear their words. They are wantonly ſporting on the brink of that precipice, from whence, in a moment, they may fall headlong into inevitable ruin, and eternal deſpair.

21, 22 He that killeth a beaſt—he that killeth a man—ye ſhall have one law.] In theſe and all other caſes of injury between man and man, as well as of blaſphemy, you and the ſtranger ſhall be judged by the ſame law; both ſhall be puniſhed in the ſame proportion.

Notes on the Twenty-fifth Chapter.

Ver. 4 A ſabbath for the Lord.] The belief of God's being the Creator of the world is ſo eſſentially neceſſary to the very being of religion, that, in order to propagate and preſerve the memory of that event, the law of Moſes not only inſtituted a weekly ſabbath, whereby the Iſraelites were diſtinguiſhed from all other nations, as the worſhippers of that God, who in ſix days created the world, but alſo a ſabbatical year at the end of every ſix years, as a public teſtimony, that their land was conſecrated to the ſame God, and that he had ſettled them in it as his true worſhippers. Another wiſe and merciful end of this inſtitution was, for the reſt and relief of the poor; for they not only reſted this year from all ſervile labour, but had a general releaſe from debt, Deut. xv. 2.

5 A year of reſt unto the Lord.] One purpoſe of this inſtitution ſeems

6 And the ſabbath of the land ſhall be meat for you: for thee, and for thy ſervant, and for thy maid, and for thy hired ſervant, and for thy ſtranger that ſojourneth with thee.

7 And for thy cattle, and for the beaſt that are in thy land, ſhall all the increaſe thereof be meat.

8 ¶ And thou ſhalt number ſeven ſabbaths of years unto thee, ſeven times ſeven years; and the ſpace of the ſeven ſabbaths of years ſhall be unto thee forty and nine years.

9 Then ſhalt thou cauſe the trumpet of the jubile to ſound, on the tenth day of the ſeventh month in the day of atonement ſhall ye make the trumpet ſound throughout all your land.

10 And ye ſhall hallow the fiftieth year, and proclaim liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof: it ſhall be a jubile unto you; and ye ſhall return every man unto his poſſeſſion, and ye ſhall return every man unto his family.

11 A jubile ſhall that fiftieth year be unto you: ye ſhall not ſow, neither reap that which groweth of itſelf in it, nor gather the grapes in it of thy vine undreſſed.

12 For it is the jubile; it ſhall be holy unto you: ye ſhall eat the increaſe thereof out of the field.

13 In the year of this jubile ye ſhall return every man unto his poſſeſſion.

14 ¶ And if thou ſell ought unto thy neighbour, or buyeſt ought of thy neighbour's hand, ye ſhall not oppreſs one another:

15 According to the number of years afte[r]

ſeems to have been, that the land might lie fallow, in order to recruit its ſtrength. It may be aſked, what they lived upon during that year, if they muſt relinquiſh the product of all their lands to the poor? but it muſt be remembered, that they were allowed to take as much out of it as was ſufficient for themſelves and their families, ver. 6. Thoſe that were rigidly ſcrupulous made proviſion of ſuch things againſt the time and could be eaſily preſerved, as corn, wine, oil, olives, raiſins, dates, figs, pulſe, roots, fruits, &c.

8 Thou ſhalt number ſeven ſabbaths, &c.] Beſides the ſabbatical year, God now appoints another, which was to be celebrated every fiftieth year; and had this advantage over the ſeventh, that it releaſed all ſlaves, annihilated all debts, and reſtored to every man all his lands, houſes, wife, children and poſſeſſions, however alienated; and every Hebrew ſervant, or ſlave, to his own tribe and family, liberty and property, how and on what account ſoever he had been deprived of them, during theſe fifty years. It muſt however be obſerved, that this privilege extended only to the original Iſraelites, or ſuch as had been incorporated into their religion and commonwealth by circumciſion; theſe, indeed, might claim the benefit of it, though they had been ſold for ſlaves for any crimes, even by the ſentence of the grand ſanhedrim; but as for the Gentiles, they were wholly excluded from it. This law made a wiſe proviſion for fixing the Jews in the land of Canaan, and keeping them united, ſince all their poſſeſſions were ſo entailed, that the right heir never could be excluded from his eſtate; it ſerved to preſerve a perfect diſtinction of families and tribes, for which end their genealogies were of neceſſity to be carefully kept, that they might be able to prove their right to the inheritance of their anceſtors; by which means the tribe and family of the Meſſiah was fully aſcertained when he was born, without which he could not have been proved of the tribe of Judah, and lineage of David, as was foretold of him by the Jewiſh prophets. However, the generality of the Jews, and a great number of Chriſtians, both ancient and modern, have conſidered the principal deſign of the ſabbatic and jubilee years, to be typical of the millenium, or thouſand years reſt; for as Moſes conſecrates the ſeventh day, the ſeventh year, and the ſeven times ſeventh year to reſt, they conclude that the world will laſt ſix thouſand years in its preſent ſtate; that is, two thouſand years without the law, two thouſand years under the law, and two thouſand under the Meſſiah; after which follows the grand ſabbath of one thouſand years: but as this is too curious a point to be here diſcuſſed, I ſhall only beg leave to obſerve, from a modeſt hint of the learned Mr. Mede, that as long as we perſiſt in denying the ſecond appearance of Chriſt upon earth, in as glorious a manner as his firſt was obſcure, we ſhall hardly be able to convince the Jews, that he is the true promiſed Meſſiah; becauſe we can give no tolerable reaſon why the prophecies concerning his humiliation ſhould be underſtood in a literal, and thoſe concerning his exaltation and glorious reign in a ſpiritual ſenſe. Whereas were the doctrine of the millenium, which is far from being anti-evangelical in any but a Jewiſh and carnal ſenſe, generally received, it would effectually anſwer one of their ſtrongeſt objections; whilſt the Jews were left at their liberty to conſider it in as groſs, and we in as ſpiritual and refined a ſenſe as we thought proper. Univerſ. Hiſt. vol. III. p. 39.

9 The trumpet of the jubile.] The word in the original ſignifies loud of ſound, becauſe the trumpets were ſounded loud at the beginning of the jubilee in every quarter of the land, to indicate that the whole year was to be celebrated with the greateſt tokens of joy, it being intended to remind them of their Egyptian ſervitude, and prevent their impoſing the like upon their brethren. And whatever joy the maſters and landholders might outwardly expreſs, we need not doubt but that of the ſlaves and poor was ſincere, at the thoughts of their approaching deliverance. This was not indeed to take place until the tenth day of the month, otherwiſe called the day of expiation; but during the nine preceding days the ſlaves were wholly exempt from doing any work for their maſters, and ſpent that interval in eating, drinking, and other diverſions, and wore garlands on their heads, as the Romans did during their ſaturnalia; and as ſoon as the tenth day was come, the ſanhedrim cauſed the trumpet to ſound all over the land; at which they were that inſtant reſtored to their liberty, and the reſt to their poſſeſſions. Univerſ. Hiſt. ibid. As Moſes revived ſeveral of the ancient and primitive inſtitutions of Noah and the patriarchs, ſo this appointment of reſtoring all ſlaves to their liberty, after a certain term of years, ſeems to be one. And indeed, conſidering that all mankind are free by nature, and that ſervitude is a ſtate of ſubjection contrary to the natural right of mankind, it is highly probable, that it was an original inſtitution in the firſt laws of nations, that no perſon ſhould abſolutely loſe his freedom.

15 According to the number of years, &c.] The purchaſe of all lands, houſes, or eſtates, was to be at a price proportionable to the the jubile thou ſhalt buy of thy neighbour, and according to the number of years of the fruits he ſhall ſell unto thee:

16 According to the multitude of years thou ſhalt increaſe the price thereof, and according to the fewneſs of years thou ſhalt diminiſh the price of it: for according to the number of the years of the fruits doth he ſell unto thee.

17 Ye ſhall not therefore oppreſs one another; but thou ſhalt fear thy God: for I am the LORD your God.

18 Wherefore ye ſhall do my ſtatutes, and keep my judgments, and do them; and ye ſhall dwell in the land in ſafety.

19 And the land ſhall yield her fruit, and ye ſhall eat your fill, and dwell therein in ſafety.

20 And if ye ſhall ſay, What ſhall we eat the ſeventh year? behold we ſhall not ſow, nor gather in her increaſe:

21 Then I will command my bleſſing upon you in the ſixth year, and it ſhall bring forth fruit for three years.

22 And ye ſhall ſow the eighth year, and eat yet of old fruit until the ninth year; until her fruits come in ye ſhall eat of the old ſtore.

23 The land ſhall not be ſold for ever: for the land is mine; for ye are ſtrangers and ſojourners with me.

24 And in all the land of your poſſeſſion ye ſhall grant a redemption for the land.

25 If thy brother be waxen poor, and hath ſold away ſome of his poſſeſſion, and if any of his kin come to redeem it, then ſhall he redeem that which his brother ſold.

26 And if the man haye none to redeem it, and himſelf be able to redeem it;

27 Then let him count the years of the ſale thereof, and reſtore the overplus unto the man unto whom he ſold it; that he may return unto his poſſeſſion.

28 But if he be not able to reſtore it to him, then that which is ſold ſhall remain in the hand of him that hath bought it until the year of jubile: and in the jubile it ſhall go out, and he ſhall return unto his poſſeſſion.

29 And if a man ſell a dwelling-houſe in a walled city, then he may redeem it within a whole year after it is ſold; within a full year may he redeem it.

30 And if it be not redeemed within the ſpace of a full year, then the houſe that is in the walled city ſhall be eſtabliſhed for ever to him that bought it, throughout his generations: it ſhall not go out in the jubile.

31 But the houſes of the villages which have no wall round about them, ſhall be counted as the fields of the country: they may be redeemed, and they ſhall go out in the jubile.

32 Notwithſtanding, the cities of the Levites, and the houſes of the cities of their poſſeſſion, may the Levites redeem at any time.

33 And if a man purchaſe of the Levites, then the houſe that was ſold, and the city of his poſſeſſion ſhall go out in the year of jubile: for the houſes of the cities of the Levites are their poſſeſſion among the children of Iſrael.

34 But the field of the ſuburbs of their cities may not be ſold: for it is their perpetual poſſeſſion.

35 ¶ And if thy brother be waxen poor, and fallen in decay with thee; then thou ſhalt relieve him: yea, though he be a ſtranger, or a ſojourner; that he may live with thee.

36 Take thou no uſury of him, or increaſe: but fear thy God; that thy brother may live with thee.

37 Thou ſhalt not give him thy money upon uſury, nor lend him thy victuals for increaſe.

to the greater or leſſer number of years that remained from the time of purchaſe to the next year of jubilee. Conſequently, there was no ſhadow of injuſtice in this law; nor had the purchaſer of an eſtate any reaſon to complain of it, ſince, in the ſale of lands, regard was always had to the year of jubilee, and they ſold at a higher or lower price, according as the jubilee was at a greater or ſmaller diſtance.

20 And if ye ſhall ſay, &c.] Here the Almighty condeſcends to promiſe the Iſraelites that their lands ſhould bring forth ſo abundantly during the foregoing year, that they ſhould have corn ſufficient to ſupply their wants, in order to remove any objection they might make againſt ſo wiſe and good a law.

29 If a man ſell a dwelling-houſe, &c.] Here we ſee that the law made a difference between houſes in cities, and thoſe in the country; the former, if not redeemed within a year, were never more to return to their firſt owner, not even at the jubilee; whereas the latter, being part of their eſtates of inheritance, were to be ſubject to the ſame law as their eſtates, to which they were an appendage.

36 That he may live with thee.] That he may live happily with thee.

38 I am the LORD your God, which brought you forth out of the land of Egypt, to give you the land of Canaan, and to be your God.

39 And if thy brother that dwelleth by thee be waxen poor, and be ſold unto thee; thou ſhalt not compel him to ſerve as a bond-ſervant:

40 But as an hired ſervant, and as a ſojourner, he ſhall be with thee; and ſhall ſerve thee unto the year of jubile:

41 And then ſhall he depart from thee, both he and his children with him, and ſhall return unto his own family, and unto the poſſeſſion of his fathers ſhall he return.

42 For they are my ſervants, which I brought forth out of the land of Egypt: they ſhall not be ſold as bond-men.

43 Thou ſhalt not rule over him with rigour; but ſhalt fear thy God.

44 Both thy bond-men, and thy bond-maids, which thou ſhalt have, ſhall be of the heathen that are round about you; of them ſhall ye buy bond-men and bond-maids.

45 Moreover, of the children of the ſtrangers that do ſojourn among you, of them ſhall ye buy, and of their families that are with you, which they begat in your land: and they ſhall be your poſſeſſion.

46 And ye ſhall take them as an inheritance for your children after you, to inherit them for a poſſeſſion; they ſhall be your bond-men for ever: but over your brethren the children of Iſrael, ye ſhall not rule one over another with rigour.

47 ¶ And if a ſojourner or ſtranger wax rich by thee, and thy brother that dwelleth by him wax poor, and ſell himſelf unto the ſtranger or ſojourner by thee, or to the ſtock of the ſtranger's family.

48 After that he is ſold, he may be redeemed again; one of his brethren may redeem him:

49 Either his uncle, or his uncle's ſon may redeem him, or any that is nigh of kin unto him, of his family, may redeem him; or if he be able, he may redeem himſelf.

50 And he ſhall reckon with him that bought him, from the year that he was ſold to him, unto the year of jubile: and the price of his ſale ſhall be according unto the number of years, according to the time of an hired ſervant ſhall it be with him.

51 If there be yet many years behind, according unto them he ſhall give again the price of his redemption out of the money that he was bought for.

52 And if there remain but few years unto the year of jubile, then he ſhall count with him, and according unto his years ſhall he give him again the price of his redemption.

53 And as a yearly hired ſervant ſhall he be with him: and the other ſhall not rule with rigour over him in thy ſight.

54 And if he be not redeemed in theſe years, then he ſhall go out in the year of jubile, both he, and his children with him.

55 For unto me the children of Iſrael are ſervants; they are my ſervants whom I brought forth out of the land of Egypt: I am the LORD your God.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 Of Idolatry. 3 A bleſſing promiſed. 14 A curſe threatened.

YE ſhall make you no idols nor graven image, neither rear you up a ſtanding image, neither ſhall ye ſet up any image of ſtone in your land, to bow down unto it: for I am the LORD your God.

39 Thou ſhalt not compel him to ſerve as a bond-ſervant.] As a ſlave whom they bought of other nations, or took in their wars, over whom they had an abſolute dominion, and might ſell him and his children at pleaſure.

42 For they are my ſervants, &c.] The meaneſt Iſraelite, as well as the richeſt, was redeemed from Egyptian bondage, and had this honour to be the peculiar ſervant and worſhipper of the true God; and therefore the dignity of his character, and his relation to God, their common maſter, intitled him to good uſage from his brethren, and ought to ſecure him from oppreſſive ſlavery.

46 Ye ſhall not rule over another with rigour.] The Jewiſh Rabbins ſay, that a man may uſe his ſlave as he pleaſes, provided he does not maim him. But ſurely it is contrary both to religion and humanity, for men to treat even their ſlaves in an arbitrary manner, ſince all men are free by nature, and the ſame God is the maker and lord of bond and free.

Notes on the Twenty-ſixth Chapter:

Ver. 1 A ſtanding image.] Theſe ſtanding images ſeem to have been a kind of rude ſtones, which the heathens erected to their gods, and to which they paid divine worſhip.

Any image of ſtone.] The words in the original ſignify a pictured ſtone, like thoſe in uſe among the Egyptians, which were cover-

2 Ye ſhall keep my ſabbaths, and reverence my ſanctuary: I am the LORD.

3 ¶ If ye walk in my ſtatutes, and keep my commandments, and do them;

4 Then I will give you rain in due ſeaſon, and the land ſhall yield her increaſe, and the trees of the field ſhall yield their fruit.

5 And your threſhing ſhall reach unto the vintage, and the vintage ſhall reach unto the ſowing time: and ye ſhall eat your bread to the full, and dwell in your land ſafely.

6 And I will give peace in the land, and ye ſhall lie down, and none ſhall make you afraid: and I will rid evil beaſts out of the land, neither ſhall the ſword go through your land.

7 And ye ſhall chaſe your enemies, and they ſhall fall before you by the ſword.

8 And five of you ſhall chaſe an hundred, and an hundred of you ſhall put ten thouſand to flight; and your enemies ſhall fall before you by the ſword.

9 For I will have reſpect unto you, and make you fruitful, and multiply you, and eſtabliſh my covenant with you.

10 And ye ſhall eat old ſtore, and bring forth the old becauſe of the new.

11 And I will ſet my tabernacle amongſt you: and my ſoul ſhall not abhor you.

12 And I will walk among you, and will be your God: and ye ſhall be my people.

13 I am the LORD your God, which brought you forth out of the land of Egypt, that ye ſhould not be their bond-men; and I have broken the bands of your yoke, and made you go upright.

14 ¶ But if you will not hearken unto me, and will not do all theſe commandments;

15 And if ye ſhall deſpiſe my ſtatutes, or if your ſoul abhor my judgements, ſo that ye will not do all my commandments, but that ye break my covenant:

16 I alſo will do this unto you, I will even appoint over you terror, conſumption, and the burning ague; that ſhall conſume the eyes, and cauſe ſorrow of heart: and ye ſhall ſow your ſeed in vain; for your enemies ſhall eat it.

17 And I will ſet my face againſt you, and ye ſhall be ſlain before your enemies: they that hate you ſhall reign over you; and ye ſhall flee when none purſueth you.

18 And if ye will not yet for all this hearken unto me, then I will puniſh you ſeven times more for your ſins.

19 And I will break the pride of your power; and I will make your heaven as iron, and your earth as braſs:

20 And your ſtrength ſhall be ſpent in vain: for your land ſhall not yield her increaſe, neither ſhall the trees of the land yield their fruits.

ed with hieroglyphics, expreſſing ſome perfections of their gods. The Septuagint has rendered it, a ſtone conſecrated to the gods inſpectors, or the tutelary gods of the country.

4 I will give you rain in due ſeaſon.] In Canaan and Syria it was not common to have any rain, but at two ſtated ſeaſons; in ſpring before harveſt, and at the end of autumn at ſeed-time: which two ſeaſons are by the prophet, Jer. v. 24. called the former and the latter rain. If either of theſe failed, the year was quite barren: and hence we ſee why theſe countries were ſo very ſubject to famines, and alſo the value they ought to have ſet on this promiſe of their beneficent Creator to give them rain in due ſeaſon, and conſequently fruitful ſeaſons.

5 Your threſhing ſhall reach unto the vintage.] Your harveſt ſhall be ſo large, that before you can threſh it out, the vintage ſhall begin.

6 Ye ſhall lie down, and none ſhall make you afraid.] Ye ſhall have no need to keep watch by night: a beautiful picture of national tranquility---Thus Iſaiah ſays; Thy gates ſhall be open continually; they ſhall not be ſhut day nor night, chap. lx. 11.

10 And bring forth the old becauſe of the new.] Ye ſhall have ſo large a ſtock of the old corn left at harveſt, that ye ſhall be obliged to diſplace ſome of the former to make room for the latter.

13 And made you go upright.] Being no longer bowed down with heavy burthens, nor hanging down your heads with heavineſs.

14 But if ye will not hearken unto me.] But if ye deſpiſe my promiſes, and ſtill continue in vice and idolatry, I will viſit you with extraordinary plagues, with poverty and vexation at home, and alarms of war and deſtruction from abroad; ſo that your whole joy ſhall be turned into heavineſs, and your mirth into mourning.

16 Terror, conſumption, and the burning ague.] A noble, but an awful image of the puniſhments which the diſobedient muſt expect to ſuffer: terror denotes puſillanimity, that dejection of ſpirit which accompanies the loſs of national virtue: conſumption and the burning ague, i. e. poverty and famine, as the LXX render it, attended with ſuch dreadful diſeaſes as conſume the eyes, and make them look ghaſtly.

17 Ye ſhall flee when none purſueth.] A guilty perſon is terrified where no danger is, and national guilt produces national cowardice.

19 I will break the pride of your power.] I will effectually humble and mortify you.

I will make your heaven as iron, and your earth as braſs.] This is a proverbial manner of ſpeech, and conveys an awful idea of the anger of the Almighty; the heavens being repreſented as impenetrable to rain as iron, and the earth as having its vegetative ſtores locked up beneath a ſurface of braſs, ſo that a dreadful famine muſt be the conſequence.

21 And if ye walk contrary unto me, and will not hearken unto me: I will bring ſeven times more plagues upon you, according to your ſins.

22 I will alſo ſend wild beaſts among you, which ſhall rob you of your children, and deſtroy your cattle, and make you few in number; and your high-ways ſhall be deſolate.

23 And if ye will not be reformed by me by theſe things, but will walk contrary unto me;

24 Then will I alſo walk contrary unto you, and will puniſh you yet ſeven times for your ſins.

25 And I will bring a ſword upon you, that ſhall avenge the quarrel of my covenant: and when ye are gathered together within your cities, I will ſend the peſtilence among you; and ye ſhall be delivered into the hand of the enemy.

26 And when I have broken the ſtaff of your bread, ten women ſhall bake your bread in one oven, and they ſhall deliver you your bread again by weight: and ye ſhall eat, and not be ſatisfied.

27 And if ye will not for all this hearken unto me, but walk contrary unto me;

28 Then I will walk contrary unto you alſo in fury; and I, even I, will chaſtiſe you ſeven times for your ſins.

29 And ye ſhall eat the fleſh of your ſons, and the fleſh of your daughters ſhall ye eat.

30 And I will deſtroy your high places, and cut down your images, and caſt your carcaſes upon the carcaſes of your idols, and my ſoul ſhall abhor you.

31 And I will make your cities waſte, and bring your ſanctuaries unto deſolation, and I will not ſmell the ſavour of your ſweet odours.

32 And I will bring the land into deſolation: and your enemies which dwell therein ſhall be aſtoniſhed at it.

33 And I will ſcatter you among the heathen, and will draw out a ſword after you: and your land ſhall be deſolate, and your cities waſte.

34 Then ſhall the land enjoy her ſabbaths, as long as it lieth deſolate, and ye be in your enemies land; even then ſhall the land reſt, and enjoy her ſabbaths.

35 As long as it lieth deſolate, it ſhall reſt; becauſe it did not reſt in your ſabbaths, when ye dwelt upon it.

36 And upon them that are left alive of you, I will ſend a faintneſs into their hearts in the lands of their enemies; and the ſound of a ſhaken leaf ſhall chaſe them; and they ſhall flee, as fleeing from a ſword: and they ſhall fall, when none purſueth.

37 And they ſhall fall one upon another, as it were before a ſword, when none purſueth: and ye ſhall have no power to ſtand before your enemies.

38 And ye ſhall periſh among the heathen, and the land of your enemies ſhall eat you up.

22 I will ſend wild beaſts among you.] In a figurative ſenſe they ſignify wicked rulers and tyrants, that prey upon the lives and fortunes of their people.

26 When I have broken the ſtaff of your bread.] Taken bread from you, which is the ſtaff and ſupport of life.

Ten women ſhall bake your bread in one oven.] The ſcarcity of bread ſhall be ſuch, that one oven ſhall be ſufficient to bake the bread of ten families, i. e. of a great many.

28 Seven times for your ſins.] Your obſtinate contempt of my laws ſhall be puniſhed with new and more grievous plagues. This denunciation was fulfilled in their captivity, in the days of Manaſſeh, Jehoiakim, and Zedekiah; for theſe latter calamities were at leaſt ſeven times greater, both for extent and duration, than the former perſecutions which they ſuffered from the Philiſtines and neighbouring nations.

29 And ye ſhall eat the fleſh of your ſons.] This is certainly the very utmoſt calamity that can happen to any people. See it deſcribed at large, and in moſt lively colours, Deut. xxviii. 53, 54, 55, 56, 57. And this ſentence was accordingly executed upon that rebellious people; firſt, in the ſiege of Samaria, 2 Kings vi. 29; next, in the ſiege of Jeruſalem, before the Babyloniſh captivity, Lam. iv. 10; and, finally, in the laſt deſtruction of Jeruſalem by the Romans; the horror of which is pathetically deſcribed by Joſephus, lib. vii. cap. 8.

30 I will deſtroy your high places.] The places where you worſhip your idols. The perpetual ſilence and awfulneſs which reign on the tops of mountains doubtleſs invited contemplative minds, in the firſt ages of the world, to make choice of them for the ſcenes of their devotion.

And cut down your images.] Properly, your temples of the ſun. It muſt be confeſſed, that, of all inanimate things, he is the faireſt viſible image of the Deity.

31 I will not ſmell the ſavour, &c.] I will neither hear your prayers, nor accept your ſacrifices.

32 Your enemies---ſhall be aſtoniſhed.] A ſtrong expreſſion to denote the dreadfulneſs of their calamities, at which their very enemies ſhall ſtand amazed.

36 And the ſound of a ſhaken leaf ſhall chaſe them.] They ſhall be ſo greatly enervated with fear, and their ſpirits ſo depreſſed with terror, that they ſhall fly at the leaſt noiſe.

38 And the land of your enemies ſhall eat you up.] You ſhall be ſwallowed up in the body of another nation, and never more return to the land I promiſed to your fathers. This ſentence was fully executed in the captivity of the ten tribes.

39 And they that are left of you ſhall pine away in their iniquity in your enemies lands; and alſo in the iniquities of their fathers ſhall they pine away with them.

40 If they ſhall confeſs their iniquity, and the iniquity of their fathers, with their treſpaſs which they treſpaſſed againſt me, and that alſo they have walked contrary unto me;

41 And that I alſo have walked contrary unto them, and have brought them into the land of their enemies; if then their uncircumciſed hearts be humbled, and they then accept of the puniſhment of their iniquity:

42 Then will I remember my covenant with Jacob, and alſo my covenant with Iſaac, and alſo my covenant with Abraham will I remember; and I will remember the land.

43 The land alſo ſhall be left of them, and ſhall enjoy her ſabbaths, while ſhe lieth deſolate without them: and they ſhall accept of the puniſhment of their iniquity: becauſe, even becauſe they deſpiſed my judgements, and becauſe their ſoul abhorred my ſtatutes.

44 And yet for all that, when they be in in the land of their enemies, I will not caſt them away, neither will I abhor them, to deſtroy them utterly, and to break my covenant with them: for I am the LORD their God.

45 But I will for their ſakes remember the covenant of their anceſtors, whom I brought forth out of the land of Egypt in the ſight of the heathen, that I might be their God: I am the LORD.

46 Theſe are the ſtatutes, and judgements, and laws, which the LORD made between him and the children of Iſrael, in mount Sinai by the hand of Moſes.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Concerning vows. 28 No devoted thing may be redeemed. 32 The tithe may not be changed.

AND the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, When a man ſhall make a ſingular vow, the perſons ſhall be for the LORD, by thy eſtimation.

3 And thy eſtimation ſhall be, of the male from twenty years old even unto ſixty years old, even thy eſtimation ſhall be fifty ſhekels of ſilver, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary.

4 And if it be a female, then thy eſtimation ſhall be thirty ſhekels.

5 And if it be from five years old even unto twenty years old, then thy eſtimation ſhall be of the male twenty ſhekels, and for the female ten ſhekels.

6 And if it be from a month old even unto five years old, then thy eſtimation ſhall be of the male five ſhekels of ſilver, and for the female thy eſtimation ſhall be three ſhekels of ſilver.

7 And if it be from ſixty years old and above; if it be a male, then thy eſtimation ſhall be fifteen ſhekels, and for the female ten ſhekels.

8 But if he be poorer than thy eſtimation, then he ſhall preſent himſelf before the prieſt, and the prieſt ſhall value him; according to his ability that vowed ſhall the prieſt value him.

9 And if it be a beaſt whereof men bring an offering unto the LORD, all that any man giveth of ſuch unto the LORD ſhall be holy.

10 He ſhall not alter it, nor change it, a good for a bad, or a bad for a good: and if he ſhall at all change beaſt for beaſt, then it and the exchange thereof ſhall be holy.

40 If they ſhall confeſs, &c.] Here the Almighty promiſes, that however great their iniquity might be, ſucceeding generations ſhould not utterly deſpair; for, upon their ſincere humiliation, he would, in conſideration of the eminent piety of their anceſtors, again accept them for his people, and reſtore them to his favour, bleſſing, and protection.

45 I will for their ſakes remember the covenant.] It ſhould have been rendered, I will, in their favour, remember the covenant, &c. This is one of the paſſages of ſcripture from which the Jews derive great conſolation, promiſing themſelves from hence a ſure deliverance from their national exile. But as the Moſaic diſpenſation is at an end, they can have no claim to ſuch promiſes, unleſs they previouſly embrace the doctrine of Chriſtianity.

Notes on the Twenty-ſeventh Chapter.

Ver. 2 When a man ſhall make a ſingular vow.] i. e. By ſolemn promiſe ſhall ſeparate any thing from a common to a ſacred uſe. Some of the people, it is thought, being moved with the foregoing promiſes and threats, expreſſed a reſolution of dedicating themſelves, their children, or ſome of their goods to God, to the ſervice of the tabernacle, to miniſter to the prieſts in the neceſſary offices thereof, as gathering wood for the altar, ſupplying the ſanctuary with water, carrying out the aſhes, &c. which gave occaſion to the following rules, for the due regulation of ſuch vows.

11 And if it be any unclean beaſt, of which they do not offer a ſacrifice unto the LORD, then he ſhall preſent the beaſt before the prieſt:

12 And the prieſt ſhall value it, whether it it be good or bad: as thou valueſt it who art the prieſt, ſo ſhall it be.

13 But if he will at all redeem it, then he ſhall add a fifth part thereof unto thy eſtimation.

14 And when a man ſhall ſanctify his houſe to be holy unto the LORD, then the prieſt ſhall eſtimate it, whether it be good or bad: as the prieſt ſhall eſtimate it, ſo ſhall it ſtand.

15 And if he that ſanctified it will redeem his houſe, then he ſhall add the fifth part of the money of thy eſtimation unto it, and it ſhall be his.

16 And if a man ſhall ſanctify unto the LORD ſome part of a field of his poſſeſſion, then thy eſtimation ſhall be according to the ſeed thereof: an homer of barley ſeed ſhall be valued at fifty ſhekels of ſilver.

17 If he ſanctify his field from the year of jubile, according to thy eſtimation it ſhall ſtand.

18 But if he ſanctify his field after the jubile, then the prieſt ſhall reckon unto him the money according to the years that remain, even unto the year of the jubile, and it ſhall be abated from thy eſtimation.

19 And if he that ſanctified the field will in any wiſe redeem it, then he ſhall add the fifth part of the money of thy eſtimation unto it, and it ſhall be aſſured to him.

20 And if he will not redeem the field, or if he have ſold the field to another man, it ſhall not be redeemed any more.

21 But the field, when it goeth out in the jubile, ſhall be holy unto the LORD, as a field devoted; the poſſeſſion thereof ſhall be the prieſt's.

22 And if a man ſanctify unto the LORD a field which he hath bought, which is not of the fields of his poſſeſſion;

23 Then the prieſt ſhall reckon unto him the worth of thy eſtimation, even unto the year of the jubile: and he ſhall give thine eſtimation in that day, as a holy thing unto the LORD.

24 In the year of the jubile the field ſhall return unto him of whom it was bought, even to him to whom the poſſeſſion of the land did belong.

25 And all thy eſtimations ſhall be according to the ſhekel of the ſanctuary. Twenty gerahs ſhall be the ſhekel.

26 Only the firſtling of the beaſts, which ſhould be the LORD's firſtling, no man ſhall ſanctify it; whether it be ox, or ſheep: it is the LORD's.

27 And if it be of an unclean beaſt, then he ſhall redeem it according to thine eſtimation, and ſhall add a fifth part of it thereto: or if it be not redeemed, then it ſhall be ſold according to thy eſtimation.

28 ¶ Notwithſtanding, no devoted thing that a man ſhall devote unto the LORD of all that he hath, both of man and beaſt, and of the field of his poſſeſſion, ſhall be ſold or redeemed: every devoted thing is moſt holy unto the LORD.

29 None devoted, which ſhall be devoted of men, ſhall be redeemed; but ſhall ſurely be put to death.

16 An homer of barley-ſeed ſhall be valued at fifty ſhekels.] That is, as much land as an homer of barley will ſow, ſhall be rated at fifty ſhekels, or about five pounds ſeventeen ſhillings. There is great difference between this meaſure and that which occurs, Exod. xvi. 16: this is written homer, and that ghomer: now the ghomer was but the tenth part of an ephah, Exod. xvi. 36. whereas the homer, the meaſure here ſpoken of, was ten ephahs, or about ten buſhels of our meaſure.

29 None devoted, which ſhall be devoted of men, ſhall be redeemed; but ſhall ſurely be put to death.] The true meaning of this paſſage, which has given riſe to a great variety of diſputes, is plainly this, Every thing which is devoted of men, ſhall not be redeemed, but ſhall ſurely die; that is, every perſon which is given in pepetuity, ſhall not be redeemed, but ſhall die in that devoted ſtate: for though our verſion has it, he ſhall ſurely be put to death, in the original it is only, dying, he ſhall die; which muſt not be underſtood of being ſacrificed, or put to any violent uncommon death; but he ſhall not be redeemed, he ſhall continue till death in a devoted ſtate. Thus when God ſaid to Adam, In the day thou eateſt thereof, thou ſhalt ſurely die; or, as it is in the Hebrew, dying, thou ſhalt die; it is not, thou ſhalt be put to death, but thou ſhalt die. From which, and ſeveral other paſſages of ſcripture, it appears, that the expreſſion ſignifies ſimply to die. We have an example of the manner how perſons were devoted, or given to the Lord, in the prophet Samuel; whoſe mother vowed a vow unto the Lord, and ſaid, O Lord of hoſts, if thou will

30 And all the tithe of the land, whether of the ſeed of the land, or of the fruit of the tree, is the LORD's: it is holy unto the LORD.

31 And if a man will at all redeem ought of his tithes, he ſhall add thereto the fifth part thereof.

32 ¶ And concerning the tithe of the herd, or of the flock, even of whatſoever paſſeth under the rod; the tenth ſhall be holy unto the LORD.

33 He ſhall not ſearch whether it be good or bad, neither ſhall he change it; and if he change it at all, then both it and the change thereof ſhall be holy; it ſhall not be redeemed.

34 Theſe are the commandments which the LORD commanded Moſes, for the children of Iſrael in mount Sinai.

wilt indeed look on the affliction of thine handmaid, and give unto thine handmaid a manchild, then I will give him unto the Lord all the days of his life, 1 Sam. i. 11. Accordingly, when the child was weaned, ſhe brought him, that he might appear before the Lord, and there abide for ever, or for life; which ſhews both how a perſon was devoted, and yet not ſacrificed, or made a victim to God. Thus all the difficulty of theſe words is removed, by interpreting them in a ſenſe quite natural, and conſiſtent with the whole tenor of ſcripture.

32 Whatſoever paſſeth under the rod.] The Jews underſtand this of the tything rod, which, being coloured with oker, a perſon held in his hand, placing himſelf at the door of the fold, and numbered the cattle as they came out one by one, marking every tenth with his rod. But Bochart underſtands it ſimply of the ſhepherd's crook, under which the flock paſſed as he numbered them. Maimonides ſays, the manner of decimating cattle was this: "they ſhut up all the lambs, kids, or calves, in a "ſtable, which had one door, ſo ſtrait that two of them could "not get out abreaſt; they then brought their dams to the "door, that the young ones, hearing their voice, might ſtrive to "get out, by paſſing under the rod: as faſt as they came out, "thoſe that ſtood by marked every tenth with red lead, and "whether it were male or female, with or without blemiſh, "the owner ſaid, This ſhall be conſecrated to pay the tithes."

THE

THE FOURTH BOOK OF MOSES,

CALLED

NUMBERS.

THE ARGUMENT.

This Book is called by the Greek interpreters NUMBERS, becauſe it begins with an account of numbering or muſtering of the children of Iſrael; which was done in the beginning of the ſecond year after they came out of Egypt. It contains likewiſe ſeveral additional laws, relating to the conduct of the Iſraelites, both in civil and religious matters, and a repetition of ſome of the principal ordinances which tended to preſerve them ſteady in the ſervice of the true God, and free them from the errors and ſuperſtitions of the idolatrous nations. The whole comprehends an hiſtory of about 38 years; though moſt of the tranſactions here related fell out in the firſt and laſt of theſe years.

CHAP. I.

1, 17 The men of war numbered. 47 The Levites are exempted.

AND the LORD ſpake unto Moſes in the wilderneſs of Sinai, in the tabernacle of the congregation, on the firſt day of the ſecond month, in the ſecond year after they were come out of the land of Egypt, ſaying,

2 Take ye the ſum of all the congregation of the children of Iſrael, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, with the number of their names, every male by their poll;

3 From twenty years old and upward, all that are able to go forth to war in Iſrael: thou and Aaron ſhall number them by their armies.

4 And with you there ſhall be a man of every tribe; every one head of the houſe of his fathers.

5 And theſe are the names of the men that ſhall ſtand with you. Of the tribe of Reuben; Elizur the ſon of Shedeur.

Notes on the Firſt Chapter.

Ver. 1 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, &c.] It was now about thirteen months ſince the Iſraelites had left Egypt, almoſt twelve of which they had reſided at mount Sinai, receiving all the foregoing laws and injunctions, relating to their conduct in civil and religious concerns. Before they left this ſtation, an order is given by God to Moſes and Aaron, that a general muſter be made, and an exact poll taken of all the Hebrew men, from the age of twenty and upward, the Levites excepted, and a careful diſtinction obſerved in the tribes, families, and houſholds, that every one might know, and deliver to his poſterity, a clear account from what tribe he deſcended, and to what family he belonged; God hereby further providing for aſcertaining the genealogy of the Meſſiah, who was to be born of this nation; and alſo ſhewing the Iſraelites how he had continued to make good the promiſe to Abraham of multiplying his ſeed, and at the ſame time to let them ſee what ſtrength they had in caſe of any attack from their enemies. See Pyle. Beſides theſe general reaſons, the particular deſign of muſtering the people at this time, was in order to the better diſpoſing of their camp about the tabernacle, which was now ſet up, and for their more regular march, when they removed from mount Sinai, which they were to do ſhortly.

On the firſt day of the ſecond month, &c.] Of the ſecond month of the ſeeond year, anſwering to part of our April and May.

3 All that are able to go forth to war, &c.] It appears from hence, that thoſe who were aged or infirm, were omitted in the muſter, as being unable to go out to war. This cuſtom of numbering all that were able to bear arms, and who were all obliged upon ſome occaſions to go forth to battle, was common among other nations as well as the Jews; and hence it is, that we read of ſuch mighty armies being ſent into the field, as appear hardly credible to thoſe who judge of the ancient manners and cuſtoms by thoſe of our own times. See Le Clerc.

5 Of the tribe of Reuben, &c.] The tribes are placed in the order of their mothers who bare them, and not in that of their birth. Firſt the children of Leah, then thoſe of Rachel, and after them the children of the two handmaids.

6 Of Simeon; Shelumiel the ſon of Zuriſhaddai.
7 Of Judah; Nahſhon the ſon of Amminabab.
8 Of Iſſachar: Nethaneel the ſon of Zuar.
9 Of Zebulun; Eliab the ſon of Helon.
10 Of the children of Joſeph: of Ephraim, Eliſhama the ſon of Ammihud; of Manaſſeh, Gamaliel the ſon of Pedahzur.
11 Of Benjamin; Abidan the ſon of Gideoni.
12 Of Dan; Ahiezer the ſon of Ammiſhaddai.
13 Of Aſher; Pagiel the ſon of Ocran.
14 Of Gad; Eliaſaph the ſon of Deuel.
15 Of Naphtali; Ahira the ſon of Enan.
16 Theſe were the renowned of the congregation, princes of the tribes of their fathers, heads of thouſands in Iſrael.
17 ¶ And Moſes and Aaron took theſe men, which are expreſſed by their names.
18 And they aſſembled all the congregation together on the firſt day of the ſecond month, and they declared their pedigrees after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward by their polls.
19 As the LORD commanded Moſes, ſo he numbered them in the wilderneſs of Sinai.
20 And the children of Reuben, Iſrael's eldeſt ſon, by their generations, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, according to the number of the names, by their polls, every male from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war;
21 Thoſe that were numbered of them, even of the tribe of Reuben, were forty and ſix thouſand and five hundred.
22 Of the children of Simeon, by their generations, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, thoſe that were numbered of them, according to the number of the names, by their polls, every male from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war;
23 Thoſe that were numbered of them, even of the tribe of Simeon, were fifty and nine thouſand and three hundred.
24 Of the children of Gad, by their generations, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war;
25 Thoſe that were numbered of them, even of the tribe of Gad, were forty and five thouſand ſix hundred and fifty.
26 Of the children of Judah, by their generations, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war;
27 Thoſe that were numbered of them, even of the tribe of Judah, were threeſcore and fourteen thouſand and ſix hundred.
28 Of the children of Iſſachar, by their generations, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war;
29 Thoſe that were numbered of them, even of the tribe of Iſſachar, were fifty and four thouſand and four hundred.
30 Of the children of Zebulun, by their generations, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war;
31 Thoſe that were numbered of them, even of the tribe of Zebulun, were fifty and ſeven thouſand and four hundred.
32 Of the children of Joſeph, namely, of the children of Ephraim, by their generations, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war;
33 Thoſe that were numbered of them, even of the tribe of Ephraim, were forty thouſand and five hundred.
34 Of the children of Manaſſeh, by their generations, after their families, by the houſe

14 The ſon of Deuel.] He is called Reuel, chap. ii. 14.
16 Princes of the tribes.] Men of rank and diſtinction in their reſpective tribes, as appears from the noble offerings which each of them made at the dedication of the altar, chap. vii. 2. probably they were judges and officers.

of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war;

35 Thoſe that were numbered of them, even of the tribe of Manaſſeh, were thirty and two thouſand and two hundred.

36 Of the children of Benjamin, by their generations, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war;

37 Thoſe that were numbered of them, even of the tribe of Benjamin, were thirty and five thouſand and four hundred.

38 Of the children of Dan, by their generations, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war;

39 Thoſe that were numbered of them, even of the tribe of Dan; were threeſcore and two thouſand and ſeven hundred.

40 Of the children of Aſher, by their generations, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war;

41 Thoſe that were numbered of them, even of the tribe of Aſher, were forty and one thouſand and five hundred.

42 Of the children of Naphtali, throughout their generations, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war;

43 Thoſe that were numbered of them, even of the tribe of Naphtali, were fifty and three thouſand and four hundred.

44 Theſe are thoſe that were numbered, which Moſes and Aaron numbered, and the princes of Iſrael, being twelve men: each one was for the houſe of his fathers.

45 So were all thoſe that were numbered of the children of Iſrael, by the houſe of their fathers, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war in Iſrael;

46 Even all they that were numbered, were ſix hundred thouſand and three thouſand and five hundred and fifty.

47 ¶ But the Levites, after the tribe of their fathers, were not numbered among them.

48 For the LORD had ſpoken unto Moſes, ſaying,

49 Only thou ſhalt not number the tribe of Levi, neither take the ſum of them among the children of Iſrael:

50 But thou ſhalt appoint the Levites over the tabernacle of teſtimony, and over all the veſſels thereof, and over all things that belong to it: they ſhall bear the tabernacle, and all the veſſels thereof; and they ſhall miniſter unto it, and ſhall encamp round about the tabernacle.

51 And when the tabernacle ſetteth forward, the Levites ſhall take it down: and when the tabernacle is to be pitched, the Levites ſhall ſet it up: and the ſtranger that cometh nigh, ſhall be put to death.

52 And the children of Iſrael ſhall pitch their tents every man by his own camp, and every man by his own ſtandard, throughout their hoſts.

53 But the Levites ſhall pitch round about the tabernacle of teſtimony; that there be no wrath upon the congregation of the children of Iſrael: and the Levites ſhall keep the charge of the tabernacle of teſtimony.

54 And the children of Iſrael did according to all that the LORD commanded Moſes, ſo did they.

CHAP. II.

1 The order of the tribes in their tents.

AND the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, and unto Aaron, ſaying,

46 All they that were numbered.] It is worthy of remark here, that the ſum total of this muſter, namely, 603,550 men, is the very ſame with that mentioned, Exod. xxxviii. 26. Perhaps, a few odd numbers in both are omitted; for we cannot well ſuppoſe, that not one man of them had died ſince their laſt numbering, which was now ſeven months ago.

47 But the Levites were not numbered.] They were ſeparated for the ſervice of the tabernacle.

53 The Levites ſhall pitch round about the tabernacle.] They were ordered to be a conſtant guard, to prevent any perſon from approaching nearer to God than was allowed, and by that means of incurring the divine diſpleaſure.

Notes

2 Every man of the children of Iſrael ſhall pitch by his own ſtandard, with the enſign of their father's houſe: far off about the tabernacle of the congregation ſhall they pitch.

3 And on the eaſt-ſide toward the riſing of the ſun, ſhall they of the ſtandard of the camp of Judah pitch, throughout their armies: and Nahſhon the ſon of Amminadab ſhall be captain of the children of Judah.

4 And his hoſt, and thoſe that were numbered of them, were threeſcore and fourteen thouſand and ſix hundred.

5 And thoſe that do pitch next unto him, ſhall be the tribe of Iſſachar: and Nethaneel the ſon of Zuar ſhall be captain of the children of Iſſachar.

6 And his hoſt, and thoſe that were numbered thereof, were fifty and four thouſand and four hundred.

7 Then the tribe of Zebulun: and Eliab the ſon of Helon ſhall be captain of the children of Zebulun.

8 And his hoſt, and thoſe that were numbered thereof, were fifty and ſeven thouſand and four hundred.

9 All that were numbered in the camp of Judah, were an hundred thouſand and fourſcore thouſand and ſix thouſand and four hundred, throughout their armies. Theſe ſhall firſt ſet forth.

10 On the ſouth-ſide ſhall be the ſtandard of the camp of Reuben, according to their armies: and the captain of the children of Reuben ſhall be Elizur the ſon of Shedeur.

11 And his hoſt, and thoſe that were numbered thereof, were forty and ſix thouſand and five hundred.

12 And thoſe which pitch by him ſhall be the tribe of Simeon: and the captain of the children of Simeon ſhall be Shelumiel the ſon of Zuriſhaddai.

13 And his hoſt, and thoſe that were numbered of them, were fifty and nine thouſand and three hundred.

14 Then the tribe of Gad: and the captain of the ſons of Gad ſhall be Eliaſaph the ſon of Deuel.

15 And his hoſt, and thoſe that were numbered of them, were forty and five thouſand and ſix hundred and fifty.

16 All that were numbered in the camp of Reuben, were an hundred thouſand and fifty and one thouſand and four hundred and fifty, throughout their armies. And they ſhall ſet forth in the ſecond rank.

17 Then the tabernacle of the congregation ſhall ſet forward with the camp of the Levites, in the midſt of the camp: as they encamp, ſo ſhall they ſet forward, every man in his place by their ſtandards.

18 On the weſt-ſide ſhall be the ſtandard of the camp of Ephraim, according to their armies: and the captain of the ſons of Ephraim ſhall be Eliſhama the ſon of Ammihud.

19 And his hoſt, and thoſe that were numbered of them, were forty thouſand and five hundred.

20 And by him ſhall be the tribe of Manaſſeh: and the captain of the children of Manaſſeh ſhall be Gamaliel the ſon of Pedahzur.

Notes on the Second Chapter.

Ver. 2 Every man of the children of Iſrael ſhall pitch by his own ſtandard.] The ſtandard ſeems to have been the common banner under which every three tribes were united; beſides which, each tribe ſeems to have had a ſeparate enſign, in the nature of our colours. How theſe ſtandards were diſtinguiſhed is quite uncertain: the modern Jews ſay they carried different figures, as thoſe of a lion, ox, eagle, &c. but it is not probable that Moſes would have ſuffered ſuch images to be made and expoſed to the view of all the people, who were ſo prone to idolatry. Probably each ſtandard was diſtinguiſhed with the name of its reſpective tribe or tribes.

9 Theſe ſhall firſt ſet forth.] Theſe were the largeſt body, and therefore moſt proper to march in the van of the Iſraelitiſh army. They conſiſted of no leſs than an hundred eighty-ſix thouſand four hundred men, ready prepared for war.

17 Every man in his place by their ſtandards.] The march of the Iſraelites, according to Le Clerc, was as follows; firſt, the ſons of Gerſhom and Merari, bearing the tabernacle, ſet forward with the ſtandard of Judah; but afterwards made a halt, till the Kohathites came up with the parts of the ark, and then all the Levites marched together, following the ſtandard of Reuben in the midſt of the camp, the tribe of Judah leading the van, and thoſe of Dan bringing up the rear. In this manner they marched; and, when the pillar of the cloud reſted, they pitched their tents in the ſame order as before, which was ſo beautiful, that when Balaam beheld the camp of Iſrael from an eminence, he exclaimed with admiration, How goodly are thy tents, O Jacob! and thy tabernacles, O Iſrael! As the valleys are they ſpread forth, as gardens by the rivers ſide, as the trees of lign-aloes which the Lord hath planted, and as cedar-trees beſide the waters, Numb. xxiv. 5, 6. The Jews ſay, this camp made a ſquare of twelve miles in compaſs about the tabernacle, three miles on each ſide.

21 And his hoſt, and thoſe that were numbered of them, were thirty and two thouſand and two hundred.

22 Then the tribe of Benjamin: and the captain of the ſons of Benjamin ſhall be Abidan the ſon of Gideoni.

23 And his hoſt, and thoſe that were numbered of them, were thirty and five thouſand and four hundred.

24 All that were numbered of the camp of Ephraim were an hundred thouſand and eight thouſand and an hundred, throughout their armies. And they ſhall go forward in the third rank.

25 The ſtandard of the camp of Dan ſhall be on the north-ſide by their armies: and the captain of the children of Dan ſhall be Ahiezer the ſon of Ammiſhaddai.

26 And his hoſt, and thoſe that were numbered of them, were threeſcore and two thouſand and ſeven hundred.

27 And thoſe that encamp by him ſhall be the tribe of Aſher: and the captain of the children of Aſher ſhall be Pagiel the ſon of Ocran.

28 And his hoſt, and thoſe that were numbered of them, were forty and one thouſand and five hundred.

29 Then the tribe of Naphtali: and the captain of the children of Naphtali ſhall be Ahira the ſon of Enan.

30 And his hoſt, and thoſe that were numbered of them, were fifty and three thouſand and four hundred.

31 All they that were numbered in the camp of Dan, were an hundred thouſand and fifty and ſeven thouſand and ſix hundred. They ſhall go hindmoſt with their ſtandards.

32 Theſe are thoſe which were numbered of the children of Iſrael, by the houſe of their fathers. All thoſe that were numbered of the camps throughout their hoſts, were ſix hundred thouſand and three thouſand and five hundred and fifty.

33 But the Levites were not numbered among the children of Iſrael; as the LORD commanded Moſes.

34 And the children of Iſrael did according to all that the LORD commanded Moſes: ſo they pitched by their ſtandards, and ſo they ſet forward, every one after their families, according to the houſe of their fathers.

THESE alſo are the generations of Aaron and Moſes, in the day that the LORD ſpake with Moſes in mount Sinai.

2 And theſe are the names of the ſons of Aaron; Nadab the firſt-born, and Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar.

3 Theſe are the names of the ſons of Aaron, the prieſts which were anointed, whom he conſecrated to miniſter in the prieſt's office.

4 And Nadab and Abihu died before the LORD, when they offered ſtrange fire before the LORD, in the wilderneſs of Sinai, and they had no children: and Eleazar and Ithamar miniſtered in the prieſt's office in the ſight of Aaron their father.

5 ¶ And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

6 Bring the tribe of Levi near, and preſent them before Aaron the prieſt, that they may miniſter unto him.

Notes on the Third Chapter.

Ver. 1 Theſe alſo are the generations, &c.] The word generations properly denotes poſterity or deſcendants; but as only Aaron's poſterity are named, it ſeems moſt natural to underſtand it here, as implying paſſages in their hiſtory, or a relation of what happened to them; as the word is uſed, Gen. ii. 4. If it ſhould be aſked why Aaron's ſons were ſettled in the prieſthood, while thoſe of Moſes were only Levites? It may be anſwered, that the ſons of Moſes were probably excluded from the prieſthood, becauſe their mother was an Egyptian, and not deſcended from any of the tribes of Iſrael, Exod. ii. 21.

6 Preſent them before Aaron the prieſt, that they may miniſter unto him.] That they may receive the orders of Aaron, and aſſiſt him, and the reſt of the prieſts, who were the immediate miniſters of God. In the wilderneſs the Levites had a peculiar charge, not only to guard the tabernacle, by keeping a watch day and night about it, but alſo to take it down, to carry it when they removed, and to ſet it up again when they reſted. When ſettled in Canaan, they had leſs to do of this kind; but ſtill the charge of the tabernacle lay upon them, and they miniſtred to the prieſts as before. In David's time ſome of them were appointed ſingers and players upon inſtruments in the morning and evening ſervice. Others ſtood at the ſeveral gates of the tabernacle, and afterwards of the temple, as guards of the ſacred treaſury, and of things dedicated to God. For the more regular diſcharge of which functions, they were diſtributed into different claſſes or courſes. See Patrick.

7 And they ſhall keep his charge, and the charge of the whole congregation before the tabernacle of the congregation, to do the ſervice of the tabernacle.

8 And they ſhall keep all the inſtruments of the tabernacle of the congregation, and the charge of the children of Iſrael, to do the ſervice of the tabernacle.

9 And thou ſhalt give the Levites unto Aaron and to his ſons: they are wholly given unto him out of the children of Iſrael.

10 And thou ſhalt appoint Aaron and his ſons, and they ſhall wait on their prieſt's office: and the ſtranger that cometh nigh ſhall be put to death.

11 And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

12 And I, behold, I have taken the Levites from among the children of Iſrael, inſtead of all the firſt-born that openeth the matrice among the children of Iſrael: therefore the Levites ſhall be mine.

13 Becauſe all the firſt-born are mine: for on the day that I ſmote all the firſt-born in the land of Egypt, I hallowed unto me all the firſt-born in Iſrael, both man and beaſt: mine ſhall they be: I am the LORD.

14 And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes in the wilderneſs of Sinai, ſaying, 15 Number the children of Levi after the houſe of their fathers, by their families: every male from a month old and upward ſhalt thou number them.

16 And Moſes numbered them according to the word of the LORD, as he was commanded.

17 And theſe were the ſons of Levi, by their names; Gerſhon, and Kohath, and Merari.

18 And theſe are the names of the ſons of Gerſhon by their families; Libni, and Shimei.

19 And the ſons of Kohath by their families; Amram, and Izehar, Hebron, and Uzziel.

20 And the ſons of Merari by their families; Mahli, and Muſhi. Theſe are the families of the Levites, according to the houſe of their fathers.

21 Of Gerſhon was the family of the Libnites, and the family of the Shimites: theſe are the families of the Gerſhonites.

22 Thoſe that were numbered of them, according to the number of all the males, from a month old and upward, even thoſe that were numbered of them, were ſeven thouſand and five hundred.

23 The families of the Gerſhonites ſhall pitch behind the tabernacle weſt-ward.

24 And the chief of the houſe of the father of the Gerſhonites, ſhall be Eliaſaph the ſon of Lael.

25 And the charge of the ſons of Gerſhon, in the tabernacle of the congregation, ſhall be the tabernacle, and the tent, the covering thereof, and the hanging for the door of the tabernacle of the congregation,

26 And the hangings of the court, and the curtain for the door of the court, which is by the tabernacle, and by the altar round about, and the cords of it for all the ſervice thereof.

27 And of Kohath was the family of the Amramites, and the family of the Izeharites, and the family of the Hebronites, and the family of the Uzzielites: theſe are the families of the Kohathites.

28 In the number of all the males, from a month old and upward, were eight thouſand

9 They are wholly given unto him out of the children of Iſrael.] They are ſet apart out of the whole body of Iſrael, to ſerve under the prieſts in the ſacred miniſtry of the tabernacle. And, as they attended on the public ſervice, ſo they had a public maintenance appointed them.

12 I have taken the Levites inſtead of the firſt-born.] Every firſt-born was conſecrated to the ſervice of the Lord, in remembrance of their being ſpared, when all thoſe of Egypt were deſtroyed. But God was now pleaſed to releaſe the Iſraelites from this obligation, by ſubſtituting the tribe of Levi to be the perpetual miniſters of religion, inſtead of the firſt-born males. The Levites obtained this favour from the great zeal they ſhewed for the ſervice of God, againſt the worſhippers of the golden calf. See note on Exod. xxxii. 28.

15 Every male from a month old.] The other tribes were numbered from twenty years old and upward, to know how many were fit to bear arms; but the Levites were numbered only to know how many there were of them in all, that they might be exchanged for an equal number of the firſt-born; and therefore it was neceſſary all ſhould be numbered without diſtinction, even from a month old, the age at which the firſtling males were appointed to be redeemed.

23 The families of the Gerſhonites ſhall pitch behind the tabernacle weſt-ward.] The camp of the prieſts and Levites is appointed to be of a ſquare form, like that of the other Iſraelites, chap. ii. 1. On the weſt-ſide were the ſons of Gerſhon; on the ſouth the ſons of Kohath; on the north the ſons of Merari; and on the eaſt, before the entrance of the tabernacle, the tents of Moſes and Aaron were pitched.

and six hundred, keeping the charge of the sanctuary.

29 The families of the sons of Kohath, shall pitch on the side of the tabernacle south-ward.

30 And the chief of the house of the father of the families of the Kohathites shall be Elizaphan the son of Uzziel.

31 And their charge shall be the ark, and the table, and the candlestick, and the altars, and the vessels of the sanctuary wherewith they minister, and the hanging, and all the service thereof.

32 And Eleazar the son of Aaron the priest, shall be chief over the chief of the Levites, and have the oversight of them that keep the charge of the sanctuary.

33 Of Merari was the family of the Mahlites, and the family of the Mushites: these are the families of Merari.

34 And those that were numbered of them, according to the number of all the males, from a month old and upward, were six thousand and two hundred.

35 And the chief of the house of the father of the families of Merari, was Zuriel the son of Abihail: these shall pitch on the side of the tabernacle north-ward.

36 And under the custody and charge of the sons of Merari shall be the boards of the tabernacle, and the bars thereof, and the pillars thereof, and the sockets thereof, and all the vessels thereof, and all that serveth thereto, 37 And the pillars of the court round about, and their sockets, and their pins, and their cords.

38 But those that encamp before the tabernacle toward the east, even before the tabernacle of the congregation eastward, shall be Moses, and Aaron and his sons, keeping the charge of the sanctuary, for the charge of the children of Israel: and the stranger that cometh nigh shall be put to death.

39 All that were numbered of the Levites, which Moses and Aaron numbered at the commandment of the LORD, throughout their families, all the males from a month old and upward, were twenty and two thousand.

40 ¶ And the LORD said unto Moses, Number all the first-born of the males of the children of Israel, from a month old and upward, and take the number of their names.

41 And thou shalt take the Levites for me, (I am the LORD) instead of all the first-born among the children of Israel; and the cattle of the Levites, instead of all the firstlings among the cattle of the children of Israel.

42 And Moses numbered, as the LORD commanded him, all the first-born among the children of Israel.

43 And all the first-born males, by the number of names, from a month old and upward, of those that were numbered of them, were twenty and two thousand two hundred and threescore and thirteen.

44 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

45 Take the Levites instead of all the first-born among the children of Israel, and the cattle of the Levites instead of their cattle; and the Levites shall be mine: I am the LORD.

46 And for those that are to be redeemed of the two hundred and threescore and thirteen of the first-born of the children of Israel, which are more than the Levites;

47 Thou shalt even take five shekels a-piece by the poll, after the shekel of the sanctuary shalt thou take them. The shekel is twenty gerahs.

48 And thou shalt give the money, wherewith the odd number of them is to be redeemed, unto Aaron and to his sons.

49 And Moses took the redemption-money of them that were over and above them that were redeemed by the Levites:

50 Of the first-born of the children of Israel took he the money; a thousand three hun-

39 Were twenty and two thousand.] If we add the sums beforementioned, ver. 22, 28, and 34, together, the total will amount to 22,300; but it is conjectured, that the 300 are omitted, as being the first-born of the Levites themselves, and, consequently, belonged to God already, and therefore could not be exchanged for the first-born of their tribes. Patrick and Le Clerc.

43 And all the first-born males—were twenty and two thousand two hundred and threescore and thirteen.] It may appear strange, that from above 600,000 full grown men, there should be no more first-born sons: but it must be remembered, that only those were numbered who had been born since the slaughter of the Egyptians, which was not much above a year ago; for it was only from that time that the first-born were to be consecrated to God.

dred and threeſcore and five ſhekels, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary.

51 And Moſes gave the money of them that were redeemed, unto Aaron and to his ſons, according to the word of the LORD, as the LORD commanded Moſes.

CHAP. IV.

1 The Levites ſervices, 17 and office.

AND the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, and unto Aaron, ſaying,

2 Take the ſum of the ſons of Kohath from among the ſons of Levi, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers;

3 From thirty years old and upward even until fifty years old, all that enter into the hoſt, to do the work in the tabernacle of the congregation.

4 This ſhall be the ſervice of the ſons of Kohath in the tabernacle of the congregation, about the moſt holy things.

5 And when the camp ſetteth forward, Aaron ſhall come and his ſons, and they ſhall take down the covering vail, and cover the ark of teſtimony with it:

6 And ſhall put thereon the covering of badgers ſkins, and ſhall ſpread over it a cloth wholly of blue, and ſhall put in the ſtaves thereof.

7 And upon the table of ſhew-bread they ſhall ſpread a cloth of blue, and put thereon the diſhes, and the ſpoons, and the bowls, and covers to cover withal: and the continual bread ſhall be thereon.

8 And they ſhall ſpread upon them a cloth of ſcarlet, and cover the ſame with a covering of badgers ſkins, and ſhall put in the ſtaves thereof.

9 And they ſhall take a cloth of blue, and cover the candleſtick of the light, and his lamps, and his tongs, and his ſnuff-diſhes, and all the oil-veſſels thereof, wherewith they miniſter unto it.

10 And they ſhall put it and all the veſſels thereof within a covering of badgers ſkins, and ſhall put it upon a bar.

11 And upon the golden altar they ſhall ſpread a cloth of blue, and cover it with a covering of badgers ſkins, and ſhall put to the ſtaves thereof.

12 And they ſhall take all the inſtruments of miniſtry, wherewith they miniſter in the ſanctuary, and put them in a cloth of blue, and cover them with a covering of badgers ſkins, and ſhall put them on a bar.

13 And they ſhall take away the aſhes from the altar, and ſpread a purple cloth thereon:

14 And they ſhall put upon it all the veſſels thereof, wherewith they miniſter about it, even the cenſers, the fleſh-hooks, and the ſhovels, and the baſons, all the veſſels of the altar; and they ſhall ſpread upon it a covering of badgers ſkins, and put to the ſtaves of it.

15 And when Aaron and his ſons have made an end of covering the ſanctuary, and all the veſſels of the ſanctuary, as the camp is to ſet forward; after that, the ſons of Kohath ſhall come to bear it: but they ſhall not touch any holy thing, leſt they die. Theſe things are the burden of the ſons of Kohath in the tabernacle of the congregation.

16 And to the office of Eleazar the ſon of

Notes on the Fourth Chapter.

Ver. 3. To do the work in the tabernacle.] It ſhould have been tranſlated, about the tabernacle; for they were not permitted to enter into it. The work here appointed for the Levites being very laborious, ſuch as carrying the ark, and other ſacred things on their ſhoulders, though they marched never ſo far, Moſes and Aaron were ordered to ſelect, out of every one of the fore-mentioned families of the Levites, ſuch perſons as were moſt ſtrong and able for the purpoſe.

6 The covering of badgers ſkins.] The ark was to be covered firſt with the vail, then with two other coverings made on purpoſe, one of leather, and the other of blue ſtuff. This covering of the ſacred things was not only to defend them from the weather, but to preſerve the greater reverence towards them, by hiding them from the curious eyes of the multitude. It is not likely that the Hebrew words which we tranſlate badgers ſkins, are properly rendered, for a badger was an unclean beaſt by the law of Moſes. See Ainſworth.

And ſhall put in the ſtaves thereof.] The ſtaves were never to be taken out of the rings, Exod. xxv. 15.

10 And ſhall put it upon a bar.] Rather upon a bier; for the word implies any inſtrument whereby things are removed from one place to another.

14 Spread upon it a covering.] Before they began any journey, the great altar being made clean, was with all its veſſels and appurtenances packed up in two of the fore-mentioned coverings, and carried by its own ſtaves.

18 Cut ye not off, &c.] Do not occaſion the death of ſo many perſons, by neglecting to teach them with what awful reverence ſuch holy things are to be treated.

Aaron the prieſt pertaineth the oil for the light, and the ſweet incenſe, and the daily meat-offering, and the anointing oil, and the over-ſight of all the tabernacle, and of all that therein is, in the ſanctuary, and in the veſſels thereof.

17 ¶ And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, and unto Aaron, ſaying,

18 Cut ye not off the tribe of the families of the Kohathites from among the Levites:

19 But thus do unto them, that they may live and not die, when they approach unto the moſt holy things: Aaron and his ſons ſhall go in, and appoint them every one to his ſervice and to his burden.

20 But they ſhall not go in to ſee when the holy things are covered, leſt they die.

21 And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

22 Take alſo the ſum of the ſons of Gerſhon, throughout the houſes of their fathers by their families;

23 From thirty years old and upward until fifty years old ſhalt thou number them; all that enter in to perform the ſervice, to do the work in the tabernacle of the congregation.

24 This is the ſervice of the families of the Gerſhonites, to ſerve, and for burdens.

25 And they ſhall bear the curtains of the tabernacle, and the tabernacle of the congregation, his covering, and the covering of the badgers ſkins that is above upon it, and the hanging for the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

26 And the hangings of the court, and the hanging for the door of the gate of the court which is by the tabernacle and by the altar round about, and their cords, and all the inſtruments of their ſervice, and all that is made for them: ſo ſhall they ſerve.

27 At the appointment of Aaron and his ſons ſhall be all the ſervice of the ſons of the Gerſhonites, in all their burthens, and in all their ſervice: and ye ſhall appoint unto them in charge all their burdens.

28 This is the ſervice of the families of the ſons of Gerſhon in the tabernacle of the congregation: and their charge ſhall be under the hand of Ithamar the ſon of Aaron the prieſt.

29 As for the ſons of Merari, thou ſhalt number them after their families, by the houſe of their fathers;

30 From thirty years old and upward even unto fifty years old ſhalt thou number them, every one that entereth into the ſervice, to do the work of the tabernacle of the congregation.

31 And this is the charge of their burden, according to all their ſervice in the tabernacle of the congregation; the boards of the tabernacle, and the bars thereof, and the pillars thereof, and ſockets thereof,

32 And the pillars of the court round about, and their ſockets, and their pins, and their cords, with all their inſtruments, and with all their ſervice: and by name ye ſhall reckon the inſtruments of the charge of their burden.

33 This is the ſervice of the families of the ſons of Merari, according to all their ſervice in the tabernacle of the congregation, under the hand of Ithamar the ſon of Aaron the prieſt.

34 And Moſes and Aaron and the chief of the congregation numbered the ſons of the Kohathites after their families, and after the houſe of their fathers;

35 From thirty years old and upward even unto fifty years old, every one that entereth in to the ſervice, for the work in the tabernacle of the congregation.

36 And thoſe that were numbered of them by their families, were two thouſand ſeven hundred and fifty.

37 Theſe were they that were numbered of the families of the Kohathites, all that might do ſervice in the tabernacle of the congregation; which Moſes and Aaron did number, according to the commandment of the LORD by the hand of Moſes.

38 And thoſe that were numbered of the ſons of Gerſhon, throughout their families, and by the houſe of their fathers,

34 And Moſes and Aaron—numbered.] They took an exact account of theſe Levite-carriers in each claſs, as God had ordered them, and their numbers ſtood thus:

Kohathites,	2750
Gerſhonites,	2630
Merarites,	3200
	8580

39 From thirty years old and upward even unto fifty years old, every one that entereth in to the ſervice, for the work in the tabernacle of the congregation;

40 Even thoſe that were numbered of them, throughout their families, by the houſe of their fathers, were two thouſand and ſix hundred and thirty.

41 Theſe are they that were numbered of the families of the ſons of Gerſhon, of all that might do ſervice in the tabernacle of the congregation; whom Moſes and Aaron did number, according to the commandment of the LORD.

42 And thoſe that were numbered of the families of the ſons of Merari, throughout their families, by the houſe of their fathers,

43 From thirty years old and upward even unto fifty years old, every one that entereth in to the ſervice, for the work in the tabernacle of the congregation;

44 Even thoſe that were numbered of them after their families, were three thouſand and two hundred:

45 Theſe be thoſe that were numbered of the families of the ſons of Merari, whom Moſes and Aaron numbered according to the word of the LORD by the hand of Moſes.

46 All thoſe that were numbered of the Levites, whom Moſes and Aaron and the chief of Iſrael numbered, after their families, and after the houſe of their fathers,

47 From thirty years old and upward even unto fifty years old, every one that came to do the ſervice of the miniſtry, and the ſervice of the burden in the tabernacle of the congregation;

48 Even thoſe that were numbered of them were eight thouſand and five hundred and fourſcore.

49 According to the commandment of the LORD, they were numbered by the hand of Moſes, every one according to his ſervice, and according to his burden: thus were they numbered of him, as the LORD commanded Moſes.

CHAP. V.

1 The unclean put out of the camp. 5 Reſtitution enjoined. 11 The trial of jealouſy.

AND the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

2 Command the children of Iſrael, that they put out of the camp every leper, and every one that hath an iſſue, and whoſoever is defiled by the dead:

3 Both male and female ſhall ye put out, without the camp ſhall ye put them; that they defile not their camps in the midſt whereof I dwell.

4 And the children of Iſrael did ſo, and put them out without the camp: as the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſo did the children of Iſrael.

5 ¶ And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

6 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, When a man or woman ſhall commit any ſin that men commit, to do a treſpaſs againſt the LORD, and that perſon be guilty;

7 Then they ſhall confeſs their ſin which they have done: and he ſhall recompenſe his treſpaſs with the principal thereof, and add unto it the fifth part thereof, and give it unto him againſt whom he hath treſpaſſed.

8 But if the man have no kinſman to recompenſe the treſpaſs unto, let the treſpaſs be recompenſed unto the LORD, even to the prieſt; beſide the ram of the atonement, whereby an atonement ſhall be made for him.

9 And every offering of all the holy things of the children of Iſrael, which they bring unto the prieſt, ſhall be his.

10 And every man's hallowed things ſhall be his: whatſoever any man giveth the prieſt, it ſhall be his.

11 ¶ And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

12 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, If any man's wife go aſide, and commit a treſpaſs againſt him,

Notes on the Fifth Chapter.

Ver. 2 Put out of the camp every leper.] Probably the camp of each tribe had ſome vacant ſpace left, which was reckoned without the camp, and that here the unclean were lodged by themſelves; for it ſeems too ſevere to baniſh them quite beyond the bounds of the camp, at a great diſtance from all their friends and relations. Theſe legal pollutions figured the pollutions of ſin; and the removing ſuch out of the camp of the Lord, repreſented the excluſion of impure minds out of the kingdom of heaven. Ainſworth.

6 And that perſon be guilty.] Rather, be ſenſible of his guilt.

7 Then they ſhall confeſs.] Or, and if they ſhall confeſs.

13 And a man lie with her carnally, and it be hid from the eyes of her husband, and be kept close, and she be defiled, and there be no witness against her, neither she be taken with the manner;

14 And the spirit of jealousy come upon him, and he be jealous of his wife, and she be defiled: or if the spirit of jealousy come upon him, and he be jealous of his wife, and she be not defiled:

15 Then shall the man bring his wife unto the priest, and he shall bring her offering for her, the tenth part of an ephah of barley-meal; he shall pour no oil upon it, nor put frankincense thereon; for it is an offering of jealousy, an offering of memorial, bringing iniquity to remembrance.

16 And the priest shall bring her near, and set her before the LORD.

17 And the priest shall take holy water in an earthen vessel; and of the dust that is in the floor of the tabernacle the priest shall take, and put it into the water.

18 And the priest shall set the woman before the LORD, and uncover the woman's head, and put the offering of memorial in her hands, which is the jealousy-offering: and the priest shall have in his hand the bitter water that causeth the curse.

19 And the priest shall charge her by an oath, and say unto the woman, If no man have lien with thee, and if thou hast not gone aside to uncleanness with another instead of thy husband, be thou free from this bitter water that causeth the curse.

20 But if thou hast gone aside to another instead of thy husband, and if thou be defiled, and some man have lien with thee beside thine husband:

21 Then the priest shall charge the woman with an oath of cursing, and the priest shall say unto the woman, The LORD make thee a curse and an oath among the people, when the LORD doth make thy thigh to rot, and thy belly to swell;

22 And this water that causeth the curse shall go into thy bowels, to make thy belly to swell, and thy thigh to rot. And the woman shall say, Amen, Amen.

23 And the priest shall write these curses in a book, and he shall blot them out with the bitter water:

24 And he shall cause the woman to drink the bitter water that causeth the curse: and the water that causeth the curse shall enter into her, and become bitter.

25 Then the priest shall take the jealousy-offering out of the woman's hand, and shall wave the offering before the LORD, and offer it upon the altar.

26 And the priest shall take an handful of the offering, even the memorial thereof, and burn it upon the altar, and afterward shall cause the woman to drink the water.

27 And when he hath made her to drink the water, then it shall come to pass, that if she be defiled, and have done trespass against her husband; that the water that causeth the curse shall enter into her, and become bitter, and her belly shall swell, and her thigh shall rot: and the woman shall be a curse among her people.

16 Shall bring her near.] Rather, shall bring it, namely, her offering, and set it before the Lord.

17 And of the dust, &c.] Dust was a sign of sorrow and affliction; and being the dust of the tabernacle, it taught her to fear judgment from the Lord.

18 Uncover the woman's head.] The Jews understood by this the shaving the woman's hair, or, at least, cutting the curls off. They add, that they tore her cloaths down to her breast, and tied them with a packthread: others say that her cloaths were exchanged for a black suit, in token of mourning; and in this manner she was exposed to public view. These circumstances, they tell us, had something so terrible in them to the Jewish women, especially such as had any desire of maintaining their character for chastity, that they studied nothing more than to keep themselves free from any suspicion, that might expose them to this trial, which they dreaded worse than death. Universal History, vol. III. p. 138.

19 The priest shall charge her by an oath.] The priest shall adjure her in the name of God, to declare the truth of her case, assuring her, that if she was conscious of her innocence she had nothing to fear; but if she knew herself guilty, she might expect to suffer every thing threatened in the law.

21 The Lord make thee a curse.] The Lord make thee so terrible a monument of his wrath, that others may make thy case a model of imprecation, saying, if I swear falsly, may God punish me as he did such a woman.

And he shall blot them out with the bitter water.] Or, as it might have been rendered, he shall blot them out into the bitter water: for he was to scrape them into the bitter water, or wash them with it, till they were quite obliterated, that the woman might, as it were, drink the words of execration.

27 If she be defiled, &c.] The Jews tells us, that if she was guilty, the consequences were immediately seen in her countenance; for she grew pale, and her eyes seemed ready to start out

28 And if the woman be not defiled, but be clean; then she shall be free, and shall conceive seed.

29 This is the law of jealousies, when a wife goeth aside to another instead of her husband, and is defiled;

30 Or when the spirit of jealousy cometh upon him, and he be jealous over his wife, and shall set the woman before the LORD, and the priest shall execute upon her all this law.

31 Then shall the man be guiltless from iniquity, and this woman shall bear her iniquity.

CHAP. VI.

1 The law of the Nazarite. 22 The form of blessing the people.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

2 Speak unto the children of Israel, and say unto them, When either man or woman shall separate themselves to vow a vow of a Nazarite, to separate themselves unto the LORD:

3 He shall separate himself from wine, and strong drink, and shall drink no vinegar of wine, or vinegar of strong drink, neither shall he drink any liquor of grapes, nor eat moist grapes or dried.

4 All the days of his separation shall he eat nothing that is made of the vine-tree, from the kernels even to the husk.

5 All the days of the vow of his separation there shall no rasor come upon his head: until the days be fulfilled, in the which he separateth himself unto the LORD, he shall be holy; and shall let the locks of the hair of his head grow.

6 All the days that he separateth himself unto the LORD, he shall come at no dead body.

7 He shall not make himself unclean for his father, or for his mother, for his brother, or for his sister, when they die: because the consecration of his God is upon his head.

8 All the days of his separation he is holy unto the LORD.

9 And if any man die very suddenly by him, out of her head; and, lest the temple should be polluted by her death, she was immediately carried out, and died instantly, with all the ignominious circumstances related in the curses.

The Jews were not the only people who had recourse to portentous and extraordinary methods for discovering the truth, in cases of suspected guilt. The heathens had also their water of conviction, which Philostratus tells us had a mild aspect, and tasted sweet to those who had sworn conscientiously; but had such an antipathy to the perjured, that first their eyes, their hands, their feet were affected, and then their whole body broke out into blisters and imposthumes. Among our Saxon ancestors, the manner of trial of fire-ordeal, and others of the same kind, had a near affinity with this of the Jews, it being expected that God would work a miracle to clear the innocent, and convict the guilty. And hence Grotius justly remarks, that it was no wonder that the Almighty should among his own people, produce a miraculous effect for detecting a most heinous crime, and very difficult to be proved, since instances of the same kind are found in the history of other nations.

29 This is the law of jealousies.] These are the methods to be observed in detecting the crime of adultery. This method of detecting adultery was never used after the return of the Jews from the Babylonish captivity, on two accounts, first, because adulteries were become so frequent, that the whole time of the priests would have been spent in performing the ceremonies: secondly, because they thought it unpardonable to eraze the name of God so often in the waters of bitterness. When therefore any husband had conceived just suspicions against the fidelity of his wife, and had witnesses to depose that they had seen her privately with the suspected person, contrary to the direction of her husband, she was immediately divorced, and deprived of her dowry.

Notes on the Sixth Chapter.

Ver. 1 And the Lord spake unto Moses, &c.] The foregoing law, relating to adultery, was followed by another respecting those who, by an extraordinary course of religious devotion, were desirous to prevent that and all other sins of uncleanness, by vowing or devoting themselves to God for a certain time, in a very strict and uncommon measure of religious purity.

2 When either man or woman, &c.] A woman might make this vow as well as a man, provided she was at her own disposal, and not under the power of a parent or husband, by whose authority this vow might be annulled.

A vow of a Nazarite.] The word Nazarite signifies separated, because those who came under this vow separated themselves from company, and the diversions of the world. It is considered as a peculiar happiness, and mark of God's favour to the Jewish nation, to have such persons raised up among them, to be examples of a holy life. I raised up of your sons for prophets, and of your young men for Nazarites, Amos ii. 11. And the prophet Jeremiah tells us, in bewailing the sad estate of Zion, that her Nazarites were purer than snow, Lam. iv. 7.

4 From the kernels to the husk.] From the grape-stones, even, &c. i. e. no liquor made of any part of the grape.

5 There shall no rasor come upon his head.] No part of his hair or beard shall be taken off by any instrument whatever. This is the second rule he was to observe, namely, to let the locks of his hair grow, to betoken austerity, his renouncing the pleasures of the world, and betaking himself to a severer sort of life. For the same reasons such persons were wont not only to let their beards and hair grow, but also to wear a hairy garment: such a one St. John wore, Mat. iii. 4. as Elijah did before him, 2 Kings, i. 8.

7 The consecration of his God is upon his head.] Le Clerc renders it, the crown of his God is upon his head; and indeed the word which we render consecration, signifies also a crown. And the wise man tells us, that the hoary head is a crown of glory, if it be found in the way of righteousness, Prov. xvi. 31.

9 He hath defiled the head of his consecration.] The whole person is defiled, and consequently the hair of his head, therefore unfit to be offered to God, and burnt to his honour: whence the polluted

and he hath defiled the head of his conſecration; then he ſhall ſhave his head in the day of his cleanſing, on the ſeventh day ſhall he ſhave it.

10 And on the eighth day he ſhall bring two turtles or two young pigeons to the prieſt, to the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

11 And the prieſt ſhall offer the one for a ſin-offering, and the other for a burnt-offering, and make an atonement for him, for that he ſinned by the dead, and ſhall hallow his head that ſame day.

12 And he ſhall conſecrate unto the LORD the days of his ſeparation, and ſhall bring a lamb of the firſt year for a treſpaſs-offering: but the days that were before ſhall be loſt, becauſe his ſeparation was defiled.

13 And this is the law of the Nazarite: When the days of the ſeparation are fulfilled, he ſhall be brought unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation:

14 And he ſhall offer his offering unto the LORD, one he-lamb of the firſt year without blemiſh for a burnt-offering, and one ew-lamb of the firſt year without blemiſh for a ſin-offering, and one ram without blemiſh for peace-offerings,

15 And a baſket of unleavened bread, cakes and fine flour mingled with oil, and wafers of unleavened bread anointed with oil, and their meat-offering, and their drink-offerings.

16 And the prieſt ſhall bring them before the LORD, and ſhall offer his ſin-offering, and his burnt-offering:

17 And he ſhall offer the ram for a ſacrifice of peace-offerings unto the LORD, with the baſket of unleavened bread: the prieſt ſhall offer alſo his meat-offering, and his drink-offering.

18 And the Nazarite ſhall ſhave the head of his ſeparation at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation; and ſhall take the hair of the head of his ſeparation, and put it in the fire which is under the ſacrifice of the peace-offerings.

19 And the prieſt ſhall take the ſodden ſhoulder of the ram, and one unleavened cake out of the baſket, and one unleavened wafer; and ſhall put them upon the hands of the Nazarite, after the hair of his ſeparation is ſhaven.

20 And the prieſt ſhall wave them for a wave-offering before the LORD: this is holy for the prieſt, with the wave-breaſt, and heave-ſhoulder: and after that, the Nazarite may drink wine.

21 This is the law of the Nazarite who hath vowed, and of his offering unto the LORD for his ſeparation, beſides that that his hand ſhall get: according to the vow which he vowed, ſo he muſt do after the law of his ſeparation.

22 ¶ And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

23 Speak unto Aaron and to his ſons, ſaying, On this wiſe ye ſhall bleſs the children of Iſrael, ſaying unto them,

24 The LORD bleſs thee, and keep thee:

25 The LORD make his face ſhine upon thee, and be gracious unto thee:

26 The LORD lift up his countenance upon thee, and give thee peace.

27 And they ſhall put my name upon the children of Iſrael, and I will bleſs them.

CHAP. VII.

1, 10 The princes offerings. 89 God ſpeaketh to Moſes from the mercy-ſeat, polluted hair was ordered to be ſhaved off, that new hair might grow inſtead of it.

11 For that he ſinned by the dead.] He hath contracted a legal uncleanneſs by touching or being near a dead body: which, though it happened involuntarily, yet being a breach of the ceremonial law, was to be purged in this manner. The Rabbins tell us, that the reaſon for this was to make men more cautious how they contracted any defilement; and from hence that famous ſaying among them had its riſe, Diligence begets caution, and caution purity, and purity holineſs.

12 The days that were before ſhall be loſt.] i. e. Shall not be reckoned: if he had vowed to be a Nazarite for a whole year, and in the twelfth month happened to touch a dead carcaſe, all the foregoing eleven months went for nothing, and he was to begin his year's vow again.

25 The Lord make his face ſhine upon thee.] This metaphor is taken from the ſun, whoſe light and heat chears and enlivens the face of nature; and when a perſon enjoys the ſenſible effects of the Divine Favour, the face or countenance of the Lord is ſaid to ſhine upon him.

26 The Lord lift up his countenance upon thee.] That is, grant thee his favour and protection.

Notes

AND it came to paſs on the day that Moſes had fully ſet up the tabernacle, and had anointed it, and ſanctified it, and all the inſtruments thereof, both the altar and all the veſſels thereof, and had anointed them, and ſanctified them;

2 That the princes of Iſrael, heads of the houſe of their fathers, (who were the princes of the tribes, and were over them that were numbered,) offered:

3 And they brought their offering before the LORD, ſix covered wagons, and twelve oxen; a wagon for two of the princes, and for each one an ox: and they brought them before the tabernacle.

4 And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

5 Take it of them, that they may be to do the ſervice of the tabernacle of the congregation; and thou ſhalt give them unto the Levites, to every man according to his ſervice.

6 And Moſes took the wagons and the oxen, and gave them unto the Levites.

7 Two wagons and four oxen he gave unto the ſons of Gerſhon, according to their ſervice.

8 And four wagons and eight oxen he gave unto the ſons of Merari, according unto their ſervice, under the hand of Ithamar the ſon of Aaron the prieſt.

9 But unto the ſons of Kohath he gave none: becauſe the ſervice of the ſanctuary belonging unto them, was that they ſhould bear upon their ſhoulders.

10 ¶ And the princes offered for dedicating of the altar, in the day that it was anointed, even the princes offered their offering before the altar.

11 And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, They ſhall offer their offering each prince on his day, for the dedicating of the altar.

12 And he that offered his offering the firſt day, was Nahſhon the ſon of Amminadab of the tribe of Judah:

13 And his offering was one ſilver charger, the weight thereof was an hundred and thirty ſhekels, one ſilver bowl of ſeventy ſhekels after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, both of them were full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering:

14 One ſpoon of ten ſhekels of gold, full of incenſe:

15 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the firſt year, for a burnt-offering:

16 One kid of the goats for a ſin-offering:

17 And for a ſacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs

Notes on the Seventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 On the day that Moſes had fully ſet up the tabernacle, &c.] That is, on the day after every thing was finiſhed relating to the tabernacle, the prieſts, Levites, &c. after the camp was formed, and the tribes ranged under their ſeveral ſtandards.

10 And the princes offered for dedicating of the altar.] Le Clerc infers, from the great number of ſacrifices here mentioned, that the wilderneſs was not entirely deſert, but had in many places paſtures, ſince the Iſraelites had ſtill ſo many cattle as to be able to ſupply the offerings here mentioned, and alſo to celebrate the paſſover, which required a very large number of kids and lambs. And this is confirmed by a paſſage in Samuel, where mention is made of the flocks of the Amalekites, and of thoſe of Nabal in the wilderneſs of Paran, 1 Sam. xv. 9.

11 They ſhall offer—each prince on his day.] This order prolonged the dedication no leſs than twelve days. When theſe twelve days began is not eaſy to determine abſolutely, though it may reaſonably be computed in the following manner. The tabernacle was erected on the firſt day of the firſt month of the ſecond year after the Iſraelites came out of Egypt, Exod. xl. 17. Seven days were ſpent in the conſecration of it and the altar, &c. xxix. 37. On the eighth day began the conſecration of the prieſts, which laſted ſeven days longer, Lev. viii. 33. On the fourteenth day they kept the paſſover, and the feaſt of unleavened bread, chap. ix. 1. which laſted till the two and twentieth. The reſt of the month we may ſuppoſe to have been ſpent in delivering the laws mentioned in the book of Leviticus. After which, on the firſt day of the ſecond month, began the numbering of the people, Numb. i. which may be ſuppoſed to have laſted three days: on the fourth, the Levites were numbered, Numb. iii. 14. On the next day we may ſuppoſe they were offered to God, and given to the prieſts. On the ſixth day followed their conſecration, mentioned chap. viii. 7. On the ſeventh their ſeveral charges were parted among them, as mentioned chap. iv. After which we may ſuppoſe the princes to have begun to offer on the eighth day of the ſecond month, which laſted laſted twelve days, namely, till the nineteenth day incluſive: and on the twentieth of the ſecond month, they removed to the wilderneſs of Paran, chap. x. 11, 12.

13 One ſilver charger.] As all the veſſels of the ſanctuary were of gold, this charger, or broad diſh, ſeems to have been deſigned for the altar of burnt-offerings in the court of the tabernacle. Perhaps the uſe of it was to receive the fleſh offered at the altar, or the fine flour for meat-offerings: its weight was 130 ſhekels, or about 65 ounces. The bowl was for receiving the blood, and it weighed 70 ſhekels, or about 35 ounces.

14 One ſpoon of ten ſhekels of gold.] The Hebrew word which we render a ſpoon, ſignifies any hollow or concave veſſel, probably to take up the incenſe, in order to throw it upon the coals in the cenſer. It is true, in the ſolemn expiation, the high-prieſt was to take up the incenſe in his hand, and throw it on the fire, Lev. xvi. 12. But it might be otherwiſe ordered on ſpecial occaſions.

of the firſt year: this was the offering of Nahſhon the ſon of Amminadab.

18 On the ſecond day Nethaneel the ſon of Zuar, prince of Iſſachar, did offer:

19 He offered for his offering one ſilver charger, the weight whereof was an hundred and thirty ſhekels, one ſilver bowl of ſeventy ſhekels after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering:

20 One ſpoon of gold of ten ſhekels, full of incenſe:

21 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the firſt year, for a burnt-offering:

22 One kid of the goats for a ſin-offering:

23 And for a ſacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the firſt year: this was the offering of Nethaneel the ſon of Zuar.

24 On the third day Eliab the ſon of Helon, prince of the children of Zebulun, did offer:

25 His offering was one ſilver charger, the weight whereof was an hundred and thirty ſhekels, one ſilver bowl of ſeventy ſhekels after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering:

26 One golden ſpoon of ten ſhekels, full of incenſe:

27 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the firſt year, for a burnt-offering:

28 One kid of the goats for a ſin-offering:

29 And for a ſacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the firſt year: this was the offering of Eliab the ſon of Helon.

30 On the fourth day Elizur the ſon of Shedeur, prince of the children of Reuben, did offer:

31 His offering was one ſilver charger, of the weight of an hundred and thirty ſhekels, one ſilver bowl of ſeventy ſhekels after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mingled with oil for a meat-offering:

32 One golden ſpoon of ten ſhekels, full of incenſe:

33 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the firſt year, for a burnt-offering:

34 One kid of the goats for a ſin-offering:

35 And for a ſacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the firſt year: this was the offering of Elizur the ſon of Shedeur.

36 On the fifth day Shelumiel the ſon of Zuriſhaddai, prince of the children of Simeon, did offer:

37 His offering was one ſilver charger, the weight whereof was an hundred and thirty ſhekels, one ſilver bowl of ſeventy ſhekels after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering:

38 One golden ſpoon of ten ſhekels full of incenſe:

39 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the firſt year, for a burnt-offering:

40 One kid of the goats for a ſin-offering:

41 And for a ſacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the firſt year: this was the offering of Shelumiel the ſon of Zuriſhaddai.

42 On the ſixth day Eliaſaph the ſon of Deuel, prince of the children of Gad, offered:

43 His offering was one ſilver charger, of the weight of an hundred and thirty ſhekels, a ſilver bowl of ſeventy ſhekels after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering:

44 One golden ſpoon of ten ſhekels, full of incenſe:

45 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the firſt year, for a burnt-offering:

46 One kid of the goats for a ſin-offering:

47 And for a ſacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the firſt year: this was the offering of Eliaſaph the ſon of Deuel.

48 On the ſeventh day Eliſhama the ſon of 18 On the ſecond day, &c.] It may not be improper to obſerve, that the reaſon for the offering of the princes being all of the ſame value, was probably to prevent all vain-boaſting, and emulation among men of equal rank and authority. If any ſhould object againſt ſo many repetitions, they ſhould remember, that ſuch repetitions are more ſuitable to the ſimplicity of the primitive times. Hence we meet with ſo many of them in Homer, who is thought to have lived near the times of Moſes.

Ammihud, prince of the children of Ephraim, offered:

49 His offering was one ſilver charger, the weight whereof was an hundred and thirty ſhekels, one ſilver bowl of ſeventy ſhekels after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering.

50 One golden ſpoon of ten ſhekels, full of incenſe:

51 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the firſt year, for a burnt-offering:

52 One kid of the goats for a ſin-offering:

53 And for a ſacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the firſt year: this was the offering of Eliſhama the ſon of Ammihud.

54 On the eighth day offered Gamaliel the ſon of Pedahzur, prince of the children of Manaſſeh:

55 His offering was one ſilver charger, of the weight of an hundred and thirty ſhekels, one ſilver bowl of ſeventy ſhekels after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering:

56 One golden ſpoon of ten ſhekels, full of incenſe:

57 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the firſt year, for a burnt-offering:

58 One kid of the goats for a ſin-offering:

59 And for a ſacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the firſt year: this was the offering of Gamaliel the ſon of Pedahzur.

60 On the ninth day Abidan the ſon of Gideoni, prince of the children of Benjamin, offered:

61 His offering was one ſilver charger, the weight whereof was an hundred and thirty ſhekels, one ſilver bowl of ſeventy ſhekels after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering:

62 One golden ſpoon of ten ſhekels, full of incenſe:

63 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the firſt year, for a burnt offering:

64 One kid of the goats for a ſin-offering:

65 And for a ſacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the firſt year: this was the offering of Abidan the ſon of Gideoni.

66 On the tenth day Ahiezer the ſon of Ammiſhaddai, prince of the children of Dan, offered:

67 His offering was one ſilver charger, the weight whereof was an hundred and thirty ſhekels, one ſilver bowl of ſeventy ſhekels after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering:

68 One golden ſpoon of ten ſhekels, full of incenſe:

69 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the firſt year, for a burnt-offering:

70 One kid of the goats for a ſin-offering:

71 And for a ſacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the firſt year: this was the offering of Ahiezer the ſon of Ammiſhaddai.

72 On the eleventh day Pagiel the ſon of Ocran, prince of the children of Aſher, offered:

73 His offering was one ſilver charger, the weight whereof was an hundred and thirty ſhekels, one ſilver bowl of ſeventy ſhekels after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering:

74 One golden ſpoon of ten ſhekels, full of incenſe:

75 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the firſt year, for a burnt-offering:

76 One kid of the goats for a ſin-offering:

77 And for a ſacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the firſt year: this was the offering of Pagiel the ſon of Ocran.

78 On the twelfth day Ahira the ſon of Enan, prince of the children of Naphtali, offered:

79 His offering was one ſilver charger, the weight whereof was an hundred and thirty ſhekels, one ſilver bowl of ſeventy ſhekels after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering:

80 One

80 One golden ſpoon of ten ſhekels, full of incenſe:

81 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the firſt year, for a burnt-offering:

82 One kid of the goats for a ſin-offering:

83 And for a ſacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the firſt year: this was the offering of Ahira the ſon of Enan.

84 This was the dedication of the altar (in the day when it was anointed) by the princes of Iſrael: twelve chargers of ſilver, twelve ſilver bowls, twelve ſpoons of gold:

85 Each charger of ſilver weighing an hundred and thirty ſhekels, each bowl ſeventy: all the ſilver veſſels weighed two thouſand and four hundred ſhekels, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary.

86 The golden ſpoons were twelve, full of incenſe, weighing ten ſhekels apiece, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary: all the gold of the ſpoons was an hundred and twenty ſhekels.

87 All the oxen for the burnt-offering were twelve bullocks, the rams twelve, the lambs of the firſt year twelve, with their meat-offering: and the kids of the goats for ſin-offering, twelve.

88 And all the oxen for the ſacrifice of the peace-offerings were twenty and four bullocks, the rams ſixty, the he-goats ſixty, the lambs of the firſt year ſixty. This was the dedication of the altar, after that it was anointed.

89 ¶ And when Moſes was gone into the tabernacle of the congregation, to ſpeak with him; then he heard the voice of one ſpeaking unto him from off the mercy-ſeat that was upon the ark of teſtimony, from between the two cherubims: and he ſpake unto him.

CHAP. VIII.

1 How the lamps are to be lighted. 5 The conſecration of the Levites. 23 The age and time of their ſervice.

AND the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

2 Speak unto Aaron, and ſay unto him, When thou lighteſt the lamps, the ſeven lamps ſhall give light over againſt the candleſtick.

3 And Aaron did ſo; he lighted the lamps thereof, over againſt the candleſtick; as the LORD commanded Moſes.

4 And this work of the candleſtick was of beaten gold, unto the ſhaft thereof, unto the flowers thereof, was beaten work: according unto the pattern which the LORD had ſhewed Moſes, ſo he made the candleſtick.

5 ¶ And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

6 Take the Levites from among the children of Iſrael, and cleanſe them.

7 And thus ſhalt thou do unto them, to cleanſe them: ſprinkle water of purifying upon them, and let them ſhave all their fleſh, and let them waſh their clothes, and ſo make themſelves clean.

8 Then let them take a young bullock with his meat-offering, even fine flour mingled with oil, and another young bullock ſhalt thou take for a ſin-offering.

9 And thou ſhalt bring the Levites before the tabernacle of the congregation: and thou ſhalt gather the whole aſſembly of the children of Iſrael together:

10 And thou ſhalt bring the Levites before the LORD: and the children of Iſrael ſhall put their hands upon the Levites.

85 All the ſilver veſſels weighed two thouſand and four hundred ſhekels.] That is, about an hundred pounds troy.

89 Heard the voice of one ſpeaking unto him from off the mercy-ſeat.] We are here told the manner how God communicated his will to Moſes, not by ſome impreſſion upon his mind in a viſion, or by repreſenting things to him in a dream, but by a clear and diſtinct voice; but at the ſame time, he ſaw no image nor ſimilitude. And hence the moſt holy place, which contained the ark and mercy-ſeat, whence the divine voice proceeded, is called debir, the oracle, 1 Kings, vi. 23.

Notes on the Eighth Chapter.

Ver. 2 Shall give light over againſt the candleſtick.] Rather, ſhall ſhine from before the face of the candleſtick; ſhall lighten every part of the room wherein the candleſtick was placed; the ſanctuary had no windows, therefore all the light proceeded from the lamps placed on the candleſtick.

3 He lighted the lamps thereof, over againſt the candleſtick.] Or rather, the lamps placed on all the branches of the candleſtick.

7 Sprinkle water of purifying upon them.] That is, water of purification from ſin: this water was prepared with the aſhes of a red heifer, which had been offered for a burnt-offering, chap. xix. 17.

10 The children of Iſrael ſhall put their hands upon the Levites.] By this ſign the children of Iſrael expreſſed their ſeparating the Levites to the ſervice of the ſanctuary, inſtead of their firſt-born, and their transferring to the former the charge which would otherwiſe have belonged to the latter.

11 And Aaron ſhall offer the Levites before the LORD, for an offering of the children of Iſrael; they may execute the ſervice of the LORD.

12 And the Levites ſhall lay their hands upon the heads of the bullocks: and thou ſhalt offer the one for a ſin-offering, and the other for a burnt-offering unto the LORD, to make an atonement for the Levites.

13 And thou ſhalt ſet the Levites before Aaron, and before his ſons, and offer them for an offering unto the LORD.

14 Thus ſhalt thou ſeparate the Levites from among the children of Iſrael: and the Levites ſhall be mine.

15 And after that, ſhall the Levites go in to do the ſervice of the tabernacle of the congregation: and thou ſhalt cleanſe them, and offer them for an offering.

16 For they are wholly given unto me from among the children of Iſrael; inſtead of ſuch as open every womb, even inſtead of the firſt-born of all the children of Iſrael, have I taken them unto me.

17 For all the firſt-born of the children of Iſrael are mine, both man and beaſt: on the day that I ſmote every firſt-born in the land of Egypt, I ſanctified them for my ſelf.

18 And I have taken the Levites for all the firſt-born of the children of Iſrael.

19 And I have given the Levites as a gift to Aaron, and to his ſons, from among the children of Iſrael; to do the ſervice of the children of Iſrael in the tabernacle of the congregation, and to make an atonement for the children of Iſrael: that there be no plague among the children of Iſrael, when the children of Iſrael come nigh unto the ſanctuary.

20 And Moſes and Aaron, and all the congregation of the children of Iſrael did to the Levites according unto all that the LORD commanded Moſes concerning the Levites, ſo did the children of Iſrael unto them.

21 And the Levites were purified, and they waſhed their clothes: and Aaron offered them as an offering before the LORD; and Aaron made an atonement for them to cleanſe them.

22 And after that, went the Levites in to do their ſervice in the tabernacle of the congregation before Aaron and before his ſons; as the LORD had commanded Moſes concerning the Levites, ſo did they unto them.

23 ¶ And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

24 This is it that belongeth unto the Levites: from twenty and five years old, and upward, they ſhall go in to wait upon the ſervice of the tabernacle of the congregation:

25 And from the age of fifty years they ſhall ceaſe waiting upon the ſervice thereof, and ſhall ſerve no more:

26 But ſhall miniſter with their brethren in the tabernacle of the congregation, to keep the charge, and ſhall do no ſervice. Thus ſhalt thou do unto the Levites touching their charge.

CHAP. IX.

1 The paſs-over enjoined. 15 A cloud guideth the Iſraelites.

AND the LORD ſpake unto Moſes in the wilderneſs of Sinai, in the firſt month of the ſecond year after they were come out of the land of Egypt, ſaying,

2 Let the children of Iſrael alſo keep the paſs-over at his appointed ſeaſon.

3 In the fourteenth day of this month, at even, ye ſhall keep it in his appointed ſeaſon: according to all the rites of it, and according to all the ceremonies thereof ſhall ye keep it.

4 And Moſes ſpake unto the children of Iſrael, that they ſhould keep the paſs-over.

---

11 Aaron ſhall offer, &c.] Heb. ſhall wave the Levites for a wave-offering. Le Clerc conjectures that they were only preſented before God at the altar, or went round about the altar at Aaron's command; for the word often ſignifies to offer in general.

14 And the Levites ſhall be mine.] They ſhall wholly attend on the ſervice of the tabernacle, as my peculiar ſervants, and in conſequence thereof be freed from all taxes and military ſervices.

15 Thou ſhalt cleanſe them.] It ſhould be rendered, after thou haſt cleanſed them.

19 That there be no plague, &c.] That they, by officiating in the houſe of God, may prevent others from preſumptuouſly intermeddling in ſacred things, and by that means incurring thoſe judgments which are due to ſuch profanation and irreverence.

26 And ſhall do no ſervice.] They ſhall do no ſervile work, but only inſtruct others in the doing of it.

5 And they kept the paſs-over on the fourteenth day of the firſt month, at even, in the wilderneſs of Sinai: according to all that the LORD commanded Moſes, ſo did the children of Iſrael.

6 And there were certain men who were defiled by the dead body of a man, that they could not keep the paſs-over on that day: and they came before Moſes and before Aaron on that day:

7 And thoſe men ſaid unto him, We are defiled by the dead body of a man: wherefore are we kept back, that we may not offer an offering of the LORD in his appointed ſeaſon among the children of Iſrael?

8 And Moſes ſaid unto them, Stand ſtill, and I will hear what the LORD will command concerning you.

9 And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

10 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, If any man of you or of your poſterity ſhall be unclean by reaſon of a dead body, or be in a journey afar off, yet he ſhall keep the paſs-over unto the LORD.

11 The fourteenth day of the ſecond month at even they ſhall keep it, and eat it with unleavened bread and bitter herbs.

12 They ſhall leave none of it unto the morning, nor break any bone of it: according to all the ordinances of the paſs-over they ſhall keep it.

13 But the man that is clean, and is not in a journey, and forbeareth to keep the paſs-over; even the ſame ſoul ſhall be cut off from his people: becauſe he brought not the offering of the LORD in his appointed ſeaſon, that man ſhall bear his ſin.

14 And if a ſtranger ſhall ſojourn among you, and will keep the paſs-over unto the LORD; according to the ordinance of the paſs-over, and according to the manner thereof, ſo ſhall he do: ye ſhall have one ordinance, both for the ſtranger, and for him that was born in the land.

15 ¶ And on the day that the tabernacle was reared up, the cloud covered the tabernacle, namely, the tent of the teſtimony: and at even there was upon the tabernacle as it were the appearance of fire, until the morning.

16 So it was alway; the cloud covered it by day, and the appearance of fire by night.

17 And when the cloud was taken up from the tabernacle; then after that, the children of Iſrael journeyed: and in the place where the cloud abode, there the children of Iſrael pitched their tents.

18 At the commandment of the LORD the children of Iſrael journeyed, and at the commandment of the LORD they pitched: as long as the cloud abode upon the tabernacle they reſted in their tents:

19 And when the cloud tarried long upon the tabernacle many days, then the children of Iſrael kept the charge of the LORD, and journeyed not.

20 And ſo it was, when the cloud was a few days upon the tabernacle; according to the commandment of the LORD they abode in their tents, and according to the commandment of the LORD they journeyed.

21 And ſo it was, when the cloud abode from even unto the morning, and that the cloud was taken up in the morning, then they journeyed: whether it was by day or by night that the cloud was taken up, they journeyed.

Notes on the Ninth Chapter.

Ver. 5 And they kept the paſſover on the fourteenth day of the firſt month at even, in the wilderneſs.] Where they reſted almoſt a whole year. This was the ſecond time they had kept this feaſt after their coming out of Egypt; and this was alſo the laſt time of their keeping it, till they had entered into the Promiſed Land.

8 I will hear what the Lord will command, &c.] I will go into the ſanctuary and conſult the oracle of God.

10 If a man be unclean by reaſon of a dead body, &c.] The ſame is to be underſtood of all other caſes of legal uncleanneſs.

13 Shall be cut off.] i. e. Separated from the community, either by death, baniſhment, or excommunication; but it is generallly underſtood of cutting off by death.

15 And on the day that the tabernacle was reared up.] As the Iſraelites were ſhortly to decamp from mount Sinai, it was natural for Moſes to inform them how they were to be directed in theſe decampments; namely, by the direction of the cloud of glory, which, from the firſt erecting of the tabernacle, fixed itſelf upon it as the ſymbol of the Divine Preſence, and continually appeared in the form of a dark cloud by day, and of a luminous cloud ſhining like fire by night. See Pyle.

21 Whether it was by day or night.] However impatient the people might be to arrive at the Promiſed Land, where they were to enjoy all the bleſſings of life in eaſe and ſecurity, and however

22 Or whether it were two days, or a month, or a year that the cloud tarried upon the tabernacle, remaining thereon, the children of Israel abode in their tents, and journeyed not: but when it was taken up they journeyed.

23 At the commandment of the LORD they rested in their tents, and at the commandment of the LORD they journeyed: they kept the charge of the LORD, at the commandment of the LORD by the hand of Moses.

CHAP. X.

1 The use of the silver trumpets. 11 The Israelites remove from Sinai.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,
2 Make thee two trumpets of silver; of an whole piece shalt thou make them: that thou mayest use them for the calling of the assembly, and for the journeying of the camps.

3 And when they shall blow with them, all the assembly shall assemble themselves to thee, at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

4 And if they blow but with one trumpet, then the princes, which are heads of the thousands of Israel, shall gather themselves unto thee.

5 When ye blow an alarm, then the camps that lie on the east parts shall go forward.

6 When ye blow an alarm the second time, then the camps that lie on the south-side shall take their journey: they shall blow an alarm for their journeys.

7 But when the congregation is to be gathered together, ye shall blow, but ye shall not sound an alarm.

8 And the sons of Aaron the priests shall blow with the trumpets; and they shall be to you for an ordinance for ever throughout your generations.

9 And if ye go to war in your land against the enemy that oppresseth you, then ye shall blow an alarm with the trumpets: and ye shall be remembered before the LORD your God, and ye shall be saved from your enemies.

10 Also in the day of your gladness, and in your solemn days, and in the beginnings of your months, ye shall blow with the trumpets over your burnt-offerings, and over the sacrifices of your peace-offerings; that they may be to you for a memorial before your God: I am the LORD your God.

11 ¶ And it came to pass on the twentieth day of the second month, in the second year, that the cloud was taken up from off the tabernacle of the testimony.

12 And the children of Israel took their journeys out of the wilderness of Sinai; and the cloud rested in the wilderness of Paran.

13 And they first took their journey, accord-however troublesome and tedious their several journeys might prove, yet they never attempted to move till the heavenly signal directed them, nor never murmured when this signal was made, whether it happened by day or night.

23 By the hand of Moses.] Their law-giver and director, who, at every march and encampment, accompanied the divine signal with a solemn prayer, saying, when the ark set forward, Rise up, Lord, let thine enemies be scattered, &c. and when it rested, Return, O Lord, unto the many thousands in Israel, Num. x. 35, 36.

Notes on the Tenth Chapter.

Ver. 3 When they shall blow with them.] When they, i. e. the priests, shall blow an equal, uniform sound.

5 When ye blow an alarm.] i. e. A quick, broken, and quavering sound.

8 The sons of Aaron shall blow with the trumpets.] The priests alone were permitted to sound the trumpets; God appointing these his own ministers to do it, that greater regard might be paid to these soundings, as if he himself had called upon them to attend his summons.

9 And if ye go to war, &c.] Previously to the Israelites going forth to war, they were called together to implore a blessing on their arms; a fast being proclaimed by the sounding of the trumpet, at the same time that it sounded the alarm of war. Blow ye the trumpet in Zion, sanctify a fast, call a solemn assembly, Joel ii. 15.

And ye shall be remembered.] As the trumpets were sounded at the command of God himself, it was a kind of call upon the Almighty to assist his people. And accordingly we find, that when Judah saw themselves beset with dangers, before and behind, they cried unto the Lord, and the priests sounded with the trumpets, &c. 2 Chron. xiii. 14.

10 That they may be to you for a memorial.] That they may excite you to worship God with greater fervour and intenseness of devotion.

12 And the cloud rested in the wilderness of Paran.] Dr. Wells is of opinion, that the wilderness of Paran is taken in scripture sometimes in a larger, and sometimes in a stricter sense. In the latter it signified only that part of the desert of Arabia between Hazaroth on the west, and mount Seir on the east; but in the the former it seems to have denoted all the desert lying between the wilderness of Shur westward towards Egypt, and mount Seir or the land of Edom eastward; between the land of Canaan northward, and the Red-sea southward: in which sense it comprehended Kibroth Hattaavah, and Hazaroth; and in this sense Moses seems to have used it in this place, as also in Deut. i. 19: When we departed from Horeb we went through all that great and terrible wilderness, &c. That is, the wilderness of Paran.

13, 14 And they took their journey, &c.] Heb. And those in the first place set forward, according to the commandment of the Lord; even in the first place set forward the standard of Judah, &c.

ing to the commandment of the LORD by the hand of Moſes.

14 In the firſt place went the ſtandard of the camp of the children of Judah, according to their armies: and over his hoſt was Nahſhon the ſon of Amminadab.

15 And over the hoſt of the tribe of the children of Iſſachar, was Nethaneel, the ſon of Zuar.

16 And over the hoſt of the tribe of the children of Zebulun, was Eliab the ſon of Helon.

17 And the tabernacle was taken down; and the ſons of Gerſhon and the ſons of Merari ſet forward, bearing the tabernacle.

18 And the ſtandard of the camp of Reuben ſet forward according to their armies: and over his hoſt was Elizur the ſon of Shedeur.

19 And over the hoſt of the tribe of the children of Simeon, was Shelumiel the ſon of Zuriſhaddai.

20 And over the hoſt of the tribe of the children of Gad, was Eliaſaph the ſon of Deuel.

21 And the Kohathites ſet forward, bearing the ſanctuary: and the other did ſet up the tabernacle againſt they came.

22 And the ſtandard of the camp of the children of Ephraim ſet forward according to their armies: and over his hoſt was Eliſhama the ſon of Ammihud.

23 And over the hoſt of the tribe of the children of Manaſſeh, was Gamaliel the ſon of Pedahzur.

24 And over the hoſt of the tribe of the children of Benjamin, was Abidan the ſon of Gideoni.

25 And the ſtandard of the camp of the children of Dan ſet forward, which was the rereward of all the camps throughout their hoſts: and over his hoſt was Ahiezer the ſon of Ammiſhaddai.

26 And over the hoſt of the tribe of the children of Aſher, was Pagiel the ſon of Ocran.

27 And over the hoſt of the tribe of the children of Naphtali, was Ahira the ſon of Enan.

28 Thus were the journeyings of the children of Iſrael, according to their armies, when they ſet forward.

29 And Moſes ſaid unto Hobab, the ſon of Raguel the Midianite, Moſes' father-in-law, We are journeying unto the place of which the LORD ſaid, I will give it you: come thou with us, and we will do thee good: for the LORD hath ſpoken good concerning Iſrael.

30 And he ſaid unto him, I will not go; but I will depart to mine own land, and to my kindred.

31 And he ſaid, Leave us not, I pray thee: foraſmuch as thou knoweſt how we are to encamp in the wilderneſs, and thou mayeſt be to us inſtead of eyes.

32 And it ſhall be, if thou go with us, yea, it ſhall be, that what goodneſs the LORD ſhall do unto us, the ſame will we do unto thee.

33 And they departed from the mount of the LORD three days journey: and the ark of the covenant of the LORD went before them in the three days journey, to ſearch out a reſting-place for them.

34 And the cloud of the LORD was upon them by day, when they went out of the camp.

35 And it came to paſs when the ark ſet forward, that Moſes ſaid, Riſe up, LORD, and let thine enemies be ſcattered; and let them that hate thee flee before thee.

36 And when it reſted, he ſaid, Return, O LORD, unto the many thouſands of Iſrael.

CHAP. XI.

4 Manna loathed. 16 The ſeventy elders. 31 Quails given.

29 Moſes ſaid unto Hobab, the ſon of Raguel.] Raguel is another name for Jethro, who being returned to his own country, Hobab his ſon, and the brother of Moſes' wife, had accompanied Moſes all the time the Iſraelites encamped at Sinai, which was not far from Midian: but as the people were now marching towards the land of Canaan, he was deſirous of returning to his father.

31 Leave us not, &c.] Moſes urges his requeſt with ſome warmth, becauſe having dwelt all his life on the borders of the wilderneſs, he was well acquainted with every part of it, and conſequently better able to adviſe them how to conduct themſelves in caſe they ſhould be attacked by any of the neighbouring nations.

Thou mayeſt be to us inſtead of eyes.] A very expreſſive ſentence, implying, that he ſhould be to them as a guide to the blind: the Syriac has it thus: Thou ſhalt be dear to us as our eyes.

33 And the ark of the covenant of the Lord went before them.] The words may be thus literally tranſlated: The ark of the Lord marched in their preſence: the cloud was over it in the midſt of the army, and conſpicuous to their view.

To ſearch out a reſting-place.] To direct them where to find one.

Notes

AND when the people complained, it displeased the LORD: and the LORD heard it: and his anger was kindled; and the fire of the LORD burnt among them, and consumed them that were in the uttermost parts of the camp.

2 And the people cried unto Moses: and when Moses prayed unto the LORD, the fire was quenched.

3 And he called the name of the place Taberah: because the fire of the LORD burnt among them.

4 ¶ And the mixt multitude that was among them fell a lusting: and the children of Israel also wept again, and said, Who shall give us flesh to eat?

5 We remember the fish which we did eat in Egypt freely: the cucumbers, and the melons, and the leeks, and the onions, and the garlick:

6 But now our soul is dried away: there is nothing at all, besides this manna, before our eyes.

7 And the manna was as coriander seed, and the colour thereof as the colour of bdellium.

8 And the people went about, and gathered it, and ground it in mills, or beat it in a mortar, and baked it in pans, and made cakes of it: and the taste of it was as the taste of fresh oil.

9 And when the dew fell upon the camp in the night, the manna fell upon it.

10 Then Moses heard the people weep throughout their families, every man in the door of his tent: and the anger of the LORD was kindled greatly; Moses also was displeased.

11 And Moses said unto the LORD, Wherefore hast thou afflicted thy servant? and wherefore have I not found favour in thy sight, that thou layest the burden of all this people upon me?

12 Have I conceived all this people? have I begotten them, that thou shouldest say unto me, Carry them in thy bosom, as a nursing father beareth the sucking child, unto the land which thou swarest unto their fathers?

13 Whence should I have flesh to give unto all this people? for they weep unto me, saying, Give us flesh, that we may eat.

14 I am not able to bear all this people alone, because it is too heavy for me.

15 And if thou deal thus with me, kill me, I pray thee, out of hand, if I have found favour in thy sight; and let me not see my wretchedness.

Notes on the Eleventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 And when the people complained.] When they began to mutter some complaints to themselves, but not openly to Moses. They were weary of living on manna, and desirous of having a variety of food.

And the fire of the Lord burnt among them.] Some commentators think it was lightning, which is called the fire of God, 2 Kings, i. 12. Job i. 16. Others are of opinion, that it was one of those blasting winds, common in the deserts of Arabia, and mentioned by the prophet Ezekiel, xix. 12.

2 The fire was quenched.] It ceased from destroying the people.

3 The name of the place Taberah.] i. e. The place of burning.

4 And the children of Israel also wept again.] They again complained and murmured. Though God had visited them so lately with the tokens of his displeasure, yet they renewed their mutinous complaints.

5 We remember the fish, &c.] The lake Mœris, and the river Nile in Egypt, were famed for plenty of fish. The Egyptian proselytes, who appear to have been the fomenters of this murmuring, having spread the spirit of dissention among the Israelites, they openly reproach their deliverer, as having decoyed them from a plentiful country, where the lakes and rivers fed them with such a delightful vareity of fish, and the rich soil abounded with the best herbs, sallets, and fruits. All which they had now exchanged for a miserable starving condition, with nothing but manna to cloy, rather than comfort and nourish them: a strong picture of the slavish, illiberal spirit of the Jewish nation.

6 Our soul is dried away.] That is, our whole life and strength is dissipated. This expression is of the same import with that of the Psalmist, my heart is withered like grass, cii. 4.

7 The colour of it as the colour of bdellium.] The Arabic bdellium was of a whitish yellow, which agrees with the description of the manna in Exod. like coriander-seed, white, &c. ch. xvi. 31.

8 The taste of it was like the taste of fresh oil.] When newly fallen, it tasted like honey; but when prepared by boiling, or baking, it tasted like fresh oil: it was at once soft as oil, and sweet as honey.

10 And the anger of the Lord was kindled.] This, and several other passages of scripture must not be understood literally; for God is represented to us as actuated by anger, only in accommodation to our capacities.

12 Thou hast said unto me, carry them in thy bosom as a nursing-father beareth the sucking child.] Thou hast made me as their common father; so that I cannot help feeling their grievances, and in all their complaints and peevish humours must treat them with the anxious concern of a parent towards his child. A very pathetic expression to convey a lively idea of that tenderness and fatherly affection which princes ought to have for their people.

14 I am not able to bear all this people alone.] My strength is not sufficient to undergo the toil of hearing all their complaints, and appeasing all their tumults.

15 Let me not see my wretchedness.] Moses here speaks like an affectionate parent of the people, who makes their sufferings his own. And indeed, what could make a prince of such paternal tenderness more wretched, than to see the Israelites, by 16 ¶ And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Gather unto me ſeventy men of the elders of Iſrael, whom thou knoweſt to be the elders of the people, and officers over them; and bring them unto the tabernacle of the congregation, that they may ſtand there with thee.

17 And I will come down and talk with thee there: and I will take of the ſpirit which is upon thee, and will put it upon them; and they ſhall bear the burden of the people with thee, that thou bear it not thy ſelf alone.

18 And ſay thou unto the people, Sanctify your ſelves againſt to-morrow, and ye ſhall eat fleſh: for ye have wept in the ears of the LORD, ſaying, Who ſhall give us fleſh to eat? for it was well with us in Egypt: therefore the LORD will give you fleſh, and ye ſhall eat.

19 Ye ſhall not eat one day, nor two days, nor five days, neither ten days, nor twenty days;

20 But even a whole month, until it come out at your noſtrils, and it be loathſome unto you: becauſe that ye have deſpiſed the LORD which is among you, and have wept before him, ſaying, Why came we forth out of Egypt?

21 And Moſes ſaid, The people amongſt whom I am, are ſix hundred thouſand footmen; and thou haſt ſaid, I will give them fleſh, that they may eat a whole month.

22 Shall the flocks and the herds be ſlain for them, to ſuffice them? or ſhall all the fiſh of the ſea be gathered together for them, to ſuffice them?

23 And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Is the LORD's hand waxed ſhort? thou ſhalt ſee now whether my word ſhall come to paſs unto thee, or not.

24 And Moſes went out, and told the people the words of the LORD, and gathered the ſeventy men of the elders of the people, and ſet them round about the tabernacle.

25 And the LORD came down in a cloud, and ſpake unto him, and took of the ſpirit that was upon him, and gave it unto the ſeventy elders. And it came to paſs that when the ſpirit reſted upon them, they propheſied, and did not ceaſe.

26 But there remained two of the men in the camp, the name of the one was Eldad, and the name of the other Medad: and the ſpirit reſted upon them, (and they were of them that were written, but went not out unto the tabernacle,) and they propheſied in the camp.

27 And there ran a young man, and told Moſes, and ſaid, Eldad and Medad do propheſy in the camp.

28 And Joſhua the ſon of Nun, the ſervant of Moſes, one of his young men, anſwered and ſaid, My lord Moſes, forbid them.

29 And Moſes ſaid unto him, Envieſt thou their perverſeneſs, drawing down ſuch direful calamities upon themſelves, and the enemies of God rejoicing in their deſtruction!

---

16 Seventy of the elders of Iſrael, whom thou knoweſt to be the elders of the people.] Elders in dignity; men whoſe experience, age, and education had rendered them venerable, and whoſe underſtanding and authority had advanced them to be officers and judges.

17 I will take of the ſpirit which is upon thee, and will put it upon them.] I will endue them with the ſame gifts of wiſdom, judgment, courage, &c. which I have beſtowed upon thee.

And they ſhall bear the burden of the people with thee.] Le Clerc explains it, They ſhall be furniſhed with authority to curb the mutinous ſpirit of the people, and thereby render thy charge much more eaſy and light. They ſeem only to have aſſiſted Moſes during their abode in the wilderneſs, that aſſembly terminating at their entrance into the land of Canaan.

18 Sanctify yourſelves.] Prepare and make yourſelves ready to receive with gratitude, this preſent from God.

20 Until it come out at your noſtrils.] Till your impatient appetites be glutted, and, by another inſtance of Divine Power, you be convinced, to your ſhame, how irreligiouſly ungrateful you have been to God, under all his mercies and providence towards you.

22 Shall all the fiſh of the ſea be gathered.] By the ſea is meant the Red-ſea, which was not far from the Iſraelitiſh camp.

23 Is the Lord's hand waxed ſhort?] Is the Divine Power diminiſhed? Is not the ſame Omnipotent Being that created the univerſe, able to give fleſh to his people?

25 Took of the ſpirit that was upon him, and gave it unto the ſeventy elders.] God declared them the aſſiſtants of Moſes in managing the affairs of the people; and at the ſame time beſtowed on them the gift of inſpiration, or prophecy; whereby they were enabled, with uncommon power of words, and ſupernatural ſtrength, and vivacity of argument, to ſet forth the praiſes of God, the excellencies of his laws, and to perſuade the people to a patient ſubmiſſion to his will.

They propheſied.] That is, they employed that wiſdom and authority which they derived from God, in perſuading the people to be reſigned to the will of Jehovah, and to the conduct of Moſes his miniſter.

And did not ceaſe.] This might have been rendered, more agreeably to the original, and added not: that is, they propheſied only that day.

26 There remained two of the men in the camp.] That is, two of thoſe ſeventy elders whom Moſes had now ordained.

29 Would God that all the Lord's people were prophets.] Would to God that they were all inſpired to ſing the praiſes of Jehovah, and recommend virtue and religion one to another.

31 And

for my ſake? would God that all the LORD's people were prophets, and that the LORD would put his ſpirit upon them.

30 And Moſes gat him into the camp, he and the elders of Iſrael.

31 ¶ And there went forth a wind from the LORD, and brought quails from the ſea, and let them fall by the camp, as it were a day's journey on this ſide, and as it were a day's journey on the other ſide, round about the camp, and as it were two cubits high, upon the face of the earth.

32 And the people ſtood up all that day, and all that night, and all the next day, and they gathered the quails: he that gathered leaſt, gathered ten homers: and they ſpread them all abroad for themſelves round about the camp.

33 And while the fleſh was yet between their teeth, ere it was chewed; the wrath of the LORD was kindled againſt the people, and the LORD ſmote the people with a very great plague.

34 And he called the name of that place Kibroth-hattavah: becauſe there they buried the people that luſted.

35 And the people journeyed from Kibroth-hattaavah unto Hazeroth: and abode at Hazeroth.

CHAP. XII.

1 Miriam's and Aaron's ſedition. 10 Miriam's leproſy, 14 is healed.

AND Miriam and Aaron ſpake againſt Moſes, becauſe of the Ethiopian woman whom he had married: for he had married an Ethiopian woman.

2 And they ſaid, Hath the LORD indeed ſpoken only by Moſes? hath he not ſpoken alſo by us? and the LORD heard it.

3 Now the man Moſes was very meek, above all the men which were upon the face of the earth.

4 And the LORD ſpake ſuddenly unto Moſes, and unto Aaron, and unto Miriam, Come out ye three unto the tabernacle of the congregation. And they three came out.

5 And the LORD came down in the pillar of the cloud, and ſtood in the door of the tabernacle, and called Aaron and Miriam. And they both came forth.

6 And he ſaid, Hear now my words: If there be a prophet among you, I the LORD will make myſelf known unto him in a viſion, and will ſpeak unto him in a dream.

7 My ſervant Moſes is not ſo, who is faithful in all mine houſe.

8 With him will I ſpeak mouth to mouth,

31 And there went forth a wind from the Lord, and brought quails from the ſea, &c.] By the ſea is meant the Red-ſea, which was at no great diſtance from the camp of Iſrael; and the wind was ſaid to be from the Lord, becauſe it was ordered and directed by his ſpecial power and providence. Commentators have differed in their opinions what this food was, which we tranſlate quails; ſome endeavouring to prove that our tranſlation is right, while others attempt to ſhew, that inſtead of quails, the word ſhould have been rendered locuſts. The original term implies both; and perhaps both were ſent at the ſame time. They complained for want of variety, and therefore God might give them the variety they luſted after. The Pſalmiſt ſeems to favour this interpretation, when he ſays, that God rained fleſh upon them as thick as duſt, and feathered fowls as the ſand of the ſea, Pſalm lxxviii. 27.

Ten homers.] The word homer, in this place, is probably intended only to imply a large quantity in general. And taking the word ten indefinitely for many, as is common in ſcripture, the meaning will be, that he who gathered the leaſt gathered them in heaps upon heaps.

34 Kibroth-Hattaavah.] That is, the graves of luſt; becauſe their intemperance threw them into thoſe graves.

Notes on the Twelfth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Becauſe of the Ethiopian woman.] It ſhould have been rendered the Cuſhite or Arabian woman, for ſhe was a native of Midian, one of the diſtricts of Arabia.

3 Now the man Moſes was very meek, &c.] Nothing is ſo common as the great heroes of antiquity to ſpeak in their own praiſe. This encomium ſeems to have been a neceſſary vindication of himſelf from calumny and detraction; and ſurely it can be no offence to modeſty, for a perſon to make uſe of it in ſuch a ſituation.

6 If there be a prophet among you.] Though ſeveral among the people may partake of prophetic inſpiration, yet it is not communicated to them all alike, nor in the ſame manner and degree: ſome were made acquainted with the Divine will by ſtrong impreſſions made on the imagination, when awake, but in an extacy. Now we never read that Moſes, either ſleeping or waking, was thus entranced in prophetic viſion; he was always awake, and quite maſter of himſelf, in his interviews with God.

7 My ſervant Moſes is not ſo.] Moſes is a prophet of higher rank, to him I impart my mind, in a far more noble and extenſive manner.

Who is faithful in all my houſe.] God had entruſted to him the charge of all Iſrael, who were his houſe, his family, or choſen people; and in this truſt he was faithful, executing all the divine commands, and doing nothing of himſelf, though he was now falſly accuſed of it. In this he was a type of Chriſt, who is conſtituted head of the chriſtian church, but with a far more extenſive power and authority, Heb. iii. 2.

8 With him will I ſpeak mouth to mouth.] In that familiar manner which one friend diſcourſes with another.

And

even apparently, and not in dark ſpeeches; and the ſimilitude of the LORD ſhall he behold: wherefore then were ye not afraid to ſpeak againſt my ſervant Moſes?

9 And the anger of the LORD was kindled againſt them; and he departed.

10 ¶ And the cloud departed from off the tabernacle; and behold, Miriam became leprous, white as ſnow: and Aaron looked upon Miriam, and behold, ſhe was leprous.

11 And Aaron ſaid unto Moſes, Alas, my lord, I beſeech thee, lay not the ſin upon us wherein we have done fooliſhly, and wherein we have ſinned.

12 Let her not be as one dead, of whom the fleſh is half conſumed, when he cometh out of his mother's womb.

13 And Moſes cried unto the LORD, ſaying, Heal her now, O God, I beſeech thee.

14 ¶ And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, If her father had but ſpit in her face, ſhould ſhe not be aſhamed ſeven days? let her be ſhut out from the camp ſeven days, and after that let her be received in again.

15 And Miriam was ſhut out from the camp ſeven days: and the people journeyed not till Miriam was brought in again.

16 And afterward the people removed from Hazeroth, and pitched in the wilderneſs of Paran.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The names, 17 inſtructions, 21 and acts of the ſpies.

AND the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,
2 Send thou men, that they may ſearch the land of Canaan, which I give unto the children of Iſrael: of every tribe of their fathers ſhall ye ſend a man, every one a ruler among them.

3 And Moſes by the commandment of the LORD ſent them from the wilderneſs of Paran: all thoſe men were heads of the children of Iſrael:

4 And theſe were their names: of the tribe of Reuben, Shammua the ſon of Zaccur.

5 Of the tribe of Simeon, Shaphat the ſon of Hori.

6 Of the tribe of Judah, Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh.

7 Of the tribe of Iſſachar, Igal the ſon of Joſeph.

8 Of the tribe of Ephraim, Oſhea the ſon of Nun.

9 Of the tribe of Benjamin, Palti the ſon of Raphu.

10 Of the tribe of Zebulun, Gaddiel the ſon of Sodi.

11 Of the tribe of Joſeph, namely, of the tribe of Manaſſeh, Gaddi the ſon of Suſi.

12 Of the tribe of Dan, Ammiel the ſon of Gemalli.

13 Of the tribe of Aſher, Sethur the ſon of Michael.

14 Of the tribe of Naphtali, Nahbi the ſon of Vophſi.

15 Of the tribe of Gad, Geuel the ſon of Machi.

16 Theſe are the names of the men which Moſes ſent to ſpy out the land. And Moſes called Oſhea the ſon of Nun, Jehoſhua.

And the ſimilitude of the Lord ſhall he behold.] This expreſſion ſhould have been connected with the foregoing, and rendered in the following manner: Not in dark ſpeeches, and in a figure, ſhall he behold the Lord. As it ſtands in our tranſlation, it directly contradicts what Moſes expreſly declares, Deut. iv. 15. that he ſaw no ſimilitude of the Deity.

10 And the cloud departed from off the tabernacle.] It ſtood at a great diſtance from them, till Miriam was removed from the tabernacle, and carried out of the camp.

11 Aaron ſaid unto Moſes, Alas, my lord.] Aaron, now ſenſible of the ſuperior dignity of Moſes, and of his own folly, begs of him, in the moſt humble terms, to forgive him, and to intercede with God for the life of his ſiſter, who muſt have died of her diſtemper, had not the Divine Power miraculouſly interpoſed. The reaſon why Aaron was not puniſhed as well as Miriam, ſeems to be partly becauſe he was leſs in the fault, and partly out of regard to his character, that the prieſthood might not fall into contempt. Beſides, his humble petition, in all probability, procured him a pardon.

14 If her father had ſpit in her face.] This was an indication of anger, and great contempt, Job xxx. 10.

Notes on the Thirteenth Chapter.

Ver. 2 Send thou men.] It appears, from Deut. i. 22, 23, that the people firſt requeſted that ſpies ſhould be ſent, and therefore Moſes in ſending them did it in compliance to their humour. This diſtruſtful multitude, forgetting the power and promiſes of God, were afraid to make the attempt of poſſeſſing themſelves of the land of Canaan, till ſome were ſent to bring them intelligence what kind of country it was, and what ſort of people they were to contend with.

16 And Moſes called Oſhea the ſon of Nun, Jehoſhua.] We find him called Joſhua, Exod. xvii. 9. when he went to fight the Amalekites. The word is of the ſame import with Jeſus; and therefore, in the ſeptuagint tranſlation, he is more than once called by that name. He was a type of Chriſt; for as he led the children

The place was called the brook of Eshcol, because of the cluster of Grapes which the children of Israel cut down from thence.

Numb. Chap. XIII. Ve. 25.

17 ¶ And Moſes ſent them to ſpy out the land of Canaan, and ſaid unto them, Get ye up this way ſouth-ward, and go up into the mountain:

18 And ſee the land what it is, and the people that dwelleth therein, whether they be ſtrong or weak, few or many:

19 And what the land is that they dwell in, whether it be good or bad; and what cities they be that they dwell in, whether in tents, or in ſtrong holds;

20 And what the land is, whether it be fat or lean, whether there be wood therein or not. And be ye of good courage, and bring of the fruit of the land. Now the time was the time of the firſt ripe grapes.

21 ¶ So they went up and ſearched the land, from the wilderneſs of Zin unto Rehob, as men come to Hamath.

22 And they aſcended by the ſouth, and came unto Hebron: where Ahiman, Sheſhai, and Talmai, the children of Anak were. Now Hebron was built ſeven years before Zoan in Egypt.

23 And they came unto the brook of Eſhcol, and cut down from thence a branch with one cluſter of grapes, and they bare it between two upon a ſtaff; and they brought of the pomegranates, and of the figs.

24 The place was called the brook Eſhcol, becauſe of the cluſter of grapes which the children of Iſrael cut down from thence.

25 And they returned from ſearching of the land after forty days.

26 And they went and came to Moſes, and to Aaron, and to all the congregation of the children of Iſrael, unto the wilderneſs of Paran, to Kadeſh: and brought back word unto them, and unto all the congregation, and ſhewed them the fruit of the land.

27 And they told him, and ſaid, We came unto the land whither thou ſenteſt us, and ſurely it floweth with milk and honey; and this is the fruit of it.

28 Nevertheleſs, the people be ſtrong that dwell in the land, and the cities are walled, and very great: and moreover, we ſaw the children of Anak there.

29 The Amalekites dwell in the land of the ſouth: and the Hittites, and the Jebuſites, and the Amorites dwell in the mountains: and the Canaanites dwell by the ſea, and by the coaſt of Jordan.

30 And Caleb ſtilled the people before Moſes, and ſaid, Let us go up at once, and poſſeſs it; for we are well able to overcome it.

31 But the men that went up with him, ſaid, We be not able to go up againſt the people; for they are ſtronger than we.

32 And they brought up an evil report of the land which they had ſearched, unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, The land through which we have gone to ſearch it, is a land that eateth up the inhabitants thereof; and all the people that we ſaw in it are men of a great ſtature.

33 And there we ſaw the giants, the ſons of Anak, which come of the giants: and we were in our own ſight as graſhoppers, and ſo we were in their ſight.

children of Iſrael into the land of Canaan, ſo our bleſſed Saviour brings us to the kingdom of heaven, that reſt which remaineth for the people of God.

19 Whether in tents or in ſtrong holds.] The words may be better tranſlated, as in the Vulgate and LXX. Whether in cities with or without walls.

21 So they went up and ſearched the land, from the wilderneſs of Zin.] This deſert muſt not be confounded with that called the wilderneſs of Sin, Exod. xvi. 1; this lying near Kadeſh-barnea, on the ſouth-eaſt of Canaan; whereas the other lay on the ſouth-weſt.

Unto Rehab.] North of Canaan, near the ſea-coaſt, not far from Zidon.

22 Where—the children of Anak, were.] Theſe were a gigantic race of men, who had their names from Anak their founder; and were ſo terrible to their neighbours, that it became a proverbial ſaying among them, Who can ſtand before the children of Anak?

23 And they bare it before them.] Either on account of its weight, or to preſerve it from being bruiſed.

32 A land that eateth up the inhabitants thereof.] This expreſſion ſeems to relate to the great number of inhabitants, who were ſo numerous, that the land was but juſt ſufficient to maintain them; repreſenting them at once terrible, both with regard to their number and ſtrength.

AND all the congregation lifted up their voice, and cried; and the people wept that night.

2 And all the children of Iſrael murmured againſt Moſes, and againſt Aaron: and the whole congregation ſaid unto them, Would God that we had died in the land of Egypt, or would God we had died in this wilderneſs.

3 And wherefore hath the LORD brought us unto this land, to fall by the ſword, that our wives and our children ſhould be a prey? were it not better for us to return into Egypt?

4 And they ſaid one to another, Let us make a captain, and let us return into Egypt?

5 Then Moſes and Aaron fell on their faces before all the aſſembly of the congregation of the children of Iſrael.

6 And Joſhua the ſon of Nun, and Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh, which were of them that ſearched the land, rent their clothes.

7 And they ſpake unto all the company of the children of Iſrael, ſaying, The land which we paſſed through to ſearch it, is an exceeding good land.

8 If the LORD delight in us, then he will bring us into this land, and give it us; a land which floweth with milk and honey.

9 Only rebel not ye againſt the LORD, neither fear ye the people of the land; for they are bread for us: their defence is departed from them, and the LORD is with us: fear them not.

10 But all the congregation bade ſtone them with ſtones: and the glory of the LORD appeared in the tabernacle of the congregation, before all the children of Iſrael.

11 And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, How long will this people provoke me? and how long will it be ere they believe me, for all the ſigns which I have ſhewed among them?

12 I will ſmite them with the peſtilence, and diſinherit them, and will make of thee a greater nation, and mightier than they.

13 And Moſes ſaid unto the LORD, Then the Egyptians ſhall hear it, (for thou broughteſt up this people in thy might from among them,)

14 And they will tell it to the inhabitants of this land: for they have heard that thou LORD art among this people, that thou LORD art ſeen face to face, and that thy cloud ſtandeth over them, and that thou goeſt before them, by day-time in a pillar of a cloud, and in a pillar of fire by night.

15 Now if thou ſhalt kill all this people as one man, then the nations which have heard the fame of thee, will ſpeak, ſaying,

16 Becauſe the LORD was not able to bring this people into the land which he ſware unto them, therefore he hath ſlain them in the wilderneſs.

17 And now, I beſeech thee, let the power of my LORD be great, according as thou haſt ſpoken, ſaying,

18 The LORD is long-ſuffering, and of great mercy, forgiving iniquity and tranſgreſſion, and by no means clearing the guilty, viſiting

Notes on the Fourteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 All the congregation, &c.] The people were thrown into ſuch a ferment by this falſe repreſentation of the land of Canaan, that nothing was heard but lamentations of the hard condition of themſelves and families; to be drawn from a plentiful country, to undergo ſo many hardſhips, under the falſe hopes of freedom and a happy ſettlement; and then at laſt to be expoſed to the mercy of a public enemy: a condition, they ſaid, much worſe than to have been ſtruck dead at the ſame time with the Egyptians, or to have periſhed by the plague.

3 Wherefore hath the Lord brought us unto this land?] They not only vent their paſſion againſt Moſes, but moſt impiouſly accuſe God himſelf, as if he had dealt deceitfully with them.

4 And they ſaid one to another, Let us make a captain.] They even carried their diſcontent to ſuch a degree of mutiny and madneſs, as to reſolve to chuſe a new commander to lead them back to Egypt. And Nehemiah tells us, that they actually did appoint them a captain, Neh. ix. 17.

5 Moſes and Aaron fell upon their faces.] To deprecate the wrath of God, and implore his mercy in favour of a rebellious people.

8 If the Lord delight in us, then will he bring us into this land.] If we do not forfeit his favour, he will enable us to drive out the Canaanites, and ſettle us in the poſſeſſion of this land.

9 They are bread for us.] An eaſy prey for us. See chap. xxiv. 8.

Their defence is departed from them.] That is, the Canaanites have filled up the meaſure of their iniquities, the Divine Protection is withdrawn from them, and by the tenor of God's covenant is inſured to us, unleſs we forfeit it by our unreaſonable ingratitude and infidelity.

17 Let the power of my Lord be great.] Let thy power be magnified among the nations, by ſubduing the enemies of the people.

18 And by no means clearing the guilty.] The word guilty is not in the original; and being directly oppoſite to the intention of Moſes' petition, the paſſage might be better rendered as follows: Who will not make quite deſolate, though he viſit the iniquity of the fathers upon the children, &c.

the iniquity of the fathers upon the children, unto the third and fourth generation.

19 Pardon, I beſeech thee, the iniquity of this people, according unto the greatneſs of thy mercy, and as thou haſt forgiven this people, from Egypt, even until now.

20 And the LORD ſaid, I have pardoned according to thy word:

21 But as truly as I live, all the earth ſhall be filled with the glory of the LORD.

22 Becauſe all thoſe men which have ſeen my glory, and my miracles which I did in Egypt and in the wilderneſs, and have tempted me now theſe ten times, and have not hearkened to my voice;

23 Surely they ſhall not ſee the land, which I ſware unto their fathers, neither ſhall any of them that provoked me ſee it:

24 But my ſervant Caleb, becauſe he had another ſpirit with him, and hath followed me fully; him will I bring into the land, whereinto he went; and his ſeed ſhall poſſeſs it.

25 (Now the Amalekites, and the Canaanites dwelt in the valley:) To-morrow turn ye, and get ye into the wilderneſs, by the way of the Red ſea.

26 And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, and unto Aaron, ſaying.

27 How long ſhall I bear with this evil congregation which murmur againſt me? I have heard the murmurings of the children of Iſrael, which they murmur againſt me.

28 Say unto them, As truly as I live, ſaith the LORD, as ye have ſpoken in mine ears, ſo will I do to you:

29 Your carcaſes ſhall fall in this wilderneſs; and all that were numbered of you, according to your whole number, from twenty years old and upward, which have murmured againſt me,

30 Doubtleſs ye ſhall not come into the land concerning which I ſware to make you dwell therein, ſave Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh, and Joſhua the ſon of Nun.

31 But your little ones, which ye ſaid ſhould be a prey, them will I bring in, and they ſhall know the land which ye have deſpiſed.

32 But as for you, your carcaſes they ſhall fall in this wilderneſs.

33 And your children ſhall wander in the wilderneſs forty years, and bear your whoredoms until your carcaſes be waſted in the wilderneſs.

34 After the number of the days in which ye ſearched the land, even forty days, (each day for a year,) ſhall ye bear your iniquities, even forty years, and ye ſhall know my breach of promiſe.

35 I the LORD have ſaid, I will ſurely do it unto all this evil congregation, that are gathered together againſt me: in this wilderneſs they ſhall be conſumed, and there they ſhall die.

36 And the men which Moſes ſent to ſearch the land, who returned, and made all the congregation to murmur againſt him, by bringing up a ſlander upon the land;

33 Even thoſe men that did bring up the evil report upon the land, died by the plague before the LORD.

38 But Joſhua the ſon of Nun, and Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh, which were of the men that went to ſearch the land, lived ſtill.

39 And Moſes told theſe ſayings unto all the children of Iſrael: and the people mourned greatly.

19 As thou haſt forgiven this people, from Egypt, even until now.] Thou haſt been long-ſuffering and merciful hitherto towards this people, and, however unworthy they may be, thy goodneſs is ſtill the ſame; therefore ſpare them this once, and add this one inſtance of divine patience to the many thouſands thou haſt already given. And, indeed, when all other grounds of expecting pardon fail the children of men, the boundleſs extent of the Divine Goodneſs is ſtill a foundation of hope to the greateſt of ſinners; and, provided they humble themſelves into a penitent diſpoſition, they have no reaſon to ſink into abſolute deſpair; for the mercy of God endureth for ever.

21 All the earth ſhall be filled, &c.] All the earth ſhall acknowledge the juſtice of the Lord's proceedings againſt his people.

25 Now the Amalekites.] It ſhould be rendered, both the Amalekites and Canaanites lie wait for you in the valley.

To-morrow turn you.] Since you have not the courage to look the Amalekites and the Canaanites in the face, notwithſtanding all the promiſes I have given you of ſupport and protection, it will be your wiſdom to remove from this place; and, inſtead of going forward to take poſſeſſion of the land, as ye were before commanded, return through the wilderneſs towards the Red-ſea, from whence ye came.

33 Shall wander in the wilderneſs.] Ye ſhall ſeek your food from place to place, after the manner of the ſhepherds of Arabia, who are forced frequently to remove their tents to procure freſh paſture for their flocks.

And bear your whoredoms.] i. e. They ſhall feel the effects of your idolatry and defection from God.

40 And they roſe up early in the morning, and gat them up into the top of the mountain, ſaying, Lo, we be here, and will go unto the place which the LORD hath promiſed: for we have ſinned.

41 And Moſes ſaid, Wherefore now do ye tranſgreſs the commandment of the LORD? but it ſhall not proſper.

42 Go not up, for the LORD is not among you; that ye be not ſmitten before your enemies.

43 For the Amalekites, and the Canaanites are there before you, and ye ſhall fall by the ſword: becauſe ye are turned away from the LORD: therefore the LORD will not be with you.

44 But they preſumed to go up unto the hill-top: nevertheleſs, the ark of the covenant of the LORD, and Moſes departed not out of the camp.

45 Then the Amalekites came down, and the Canaanites which dwelt in that hill, and ſmote them, and diſcomfited them, even unto Hormah.

CHAP. XV.

1 The law of ſundry offerings. 32 The ſabbath-breaker ſtoned. 37 The law of fringes.

AND the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, When ye be come into the land of your habitations, which I give unto you,

3 And will make an offering by fire unto the LORD, a burnt-offering or a ſacrifice, in performing a vow, or in a free-will-offering, or in your ſolemn feaſts, to make a ſweet ſavour unto the LORD, of the herd, or of the flock:

4 Then ſhall he that offereth his offering unto the LORD, bring a meat-offering of a tenth-deal of flour mingled with the fourth part of an hin of oil.

5 And the fourth part of an hin of wine for a drink-offering ſhalt thou prepare, with the burnt-offering or ſacrifice, for one lamb.

6 Or for a ram, thou ſhalt prepare for a meat-offering two tenth-deals of flour mingled with the third part of an hin of oil.

7 And for a drink-offering thou ſhalt offer the third part of an hin of wine, for a ſweet ſavour unto the LORD.

8 And when thou prepareſt a bullock for a burnt-offering, or for a ſacrifice in performing a vow, or peace-offerings unto the LORD.

9 Then ſhall he bring with a bullock a meat-offering of three tenth-deals of flour mingled with half an hin of oil.

10 And thou ſhalt bring for a drink-offering half an hin of wine, for an offering made by fire of a ſweet ſavour unto the LORD.

11 Thus ſhall it be done for one bullock, or for one ram, or for a lamb, or a kid.

12 According to the number that ye ſhall prepare, ſo ſhall ye do to every one, according to their number.

13 All that are born of the country ſhall do theſe things after this manner, in offering an offering made by fire of a ſweet ſavour unto the LORD.

14 And if a ſtranger ſojourn with you, or whoſoever be among you in your generations, and will offer an offering made by fire of a ſweet ſavour unto the LORD; as ye do, ſo he ſhall do.

---

40 They roſe up early.] They repented of their folly, when it was too late; and were now as forward to go up to poſſeſs the land, as they had before been averſe to it.

45 Unto Hormah.] This city was ſituated in the ſouth of Canaan; but had not this name till many years after, when the Canaanites who inhabited it were devoted to deſtruction; the name Hormah ſignifying utter deſtruction. See Numb. xxi. 3. Moſes, in memory of this calamity, is thought to have compoſed the 90th pſalm, in which he gives us a lively image of the ſhortneſs and frailty of human life.

Notes on the Fifteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, &c.] The following laws ſeem to have been delivered near the period of their wanderings in the wilderneſs; however, it appears from the following verſe, that they were not to be obſerved till they came into Canaan; becauſe they could not in the wilderneſs be provided with neceſſaries requiſite for performing all the ceremonies here required.

4 A tenth deal of flour, &c.] About half a peck of flour, a quart of oil, and a quart of wine. See Exod. xxix. 40.

14 And if a ſtranger, &c.] This is to be underſtood of ſuch ſtrangers as had renounced idolatry, and become proſelytes to the Jewiſh religion. By this law it is provided, that no diſtinction ſhould be made between them and the Iſraelites, in matters of religion and divine worſhip; which was wiſely calculated to invite ſtrangers to embrace the Jewiſh religion, and to engage the Hebrews to be kind to them.

15 One ordinance ſhall be both for you of the congregation, and alſo for the ſtranger that ſojourneth with you, an ordinance for ever in your generations: as ye are, ſo ſhall the ſtranger be before the LORD.

16 One law and one manner ſhall be for you, and for the ſtranger that ſojourneth with you.

17 And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

18 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, When ye come into the land whither I bring you,

19 Then it ſhall be, that when ye eat of the bread of the land, ye ſhall offer up an heave-offering unto the LORD.

20 Ye ſhall offer up a cake of the firſt of your dough for an heave-offering: as ye do the heave offering of the threſhing-floor, ſo ſhall ye heave it.

21 Of the firſt of your dough ye ſhall give unto the LORD an heave-offering in your generations.

22 And if ye have erred, and not obſerved all theſe commandments which the LORD hath ſpoken unto Moſes,

23 Even all that the LORD hath commanded you by the hand of Moſes, from the day that the LORD commanded Moſes and henceforward among your generations;

24 Then it ſhall be, if ought be committed by ignorance without the knowledge of the congregation, that all the congregation ſhall offer one young bullock for a burnt-offering, for a ſweet ſavour unto the LORD, with his meat-offering, and his drink-offering, according to the manner, and one kid of the goats for a ſin-offering.

25 And the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for all the congregation of the children of Iſrael, and it ſhall be forgiven them; for it is ignorance: and they ſhall bring their offering, a ſacrifice made by fire unto the LORD, and their ſin-offering before the LORD, for their ignorance.

26 And it ſhall be forgiven all the congregation of the children of Iſrael, and the ſtranger that ſojourneth among them; ſeeing all the people were in ignorance.

27 And if any ſoul ſin through ignorance, then he ſhall bring a ſhe-goat of the firſt year for a ſin-offering:

28 And the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for the ſoul that ſinneth ignorantly, when he ſinneth by ignorance before the LORD, to make an atonement for him; and it ſhall be forgiven him.

29 Ye ſhall have one law for him that ſinneth through ignorance, both for him that is born amongſt the children of Iſrael, and for the ſtranger that ſojourneth among them.

30 But the ſoul that doth ought preſumptuouſly, (whether he be born in the land, or a ſtranger,) the ſame reproacheth the LORD; and that ſoul ſhall be cut off from among his people;

31 Becauſe he hath deſpiſed the word of the LORD, and hath broken his commandment; that ſoul ſhall utterly be cut off: his iniquity ſhall be upon him.

32 ¶ And while the children of Iſrael were in the wilderneſs, they found a man that gathered ſticks upon the ſabbath-day:

33 And they that found him gathering ſticks, brought him unto Moſes and Aaron, and unto all the congregation.

34 And they put him in ward, becauſe it was not declared what ſhould be done to him.

35 And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, The man ſhall be ſurely put to death: all the congregation ſhall ſtone him with ſtones without the camp.

---

30 The ſoul that doth ought preſumptuouſly.] In the Hebrew it is with an high hand, or with violence: that is, whoever ſhall in any caſe, not only knowingly and deliberately, but preſumptuouſly, in contempt of the law, and of the authority of the Divine Law-giver, againſt all advice and admonition; run counter to the expreſs command of God, that then no atonement ſhould be admitted; but the delinquent cut off by death. Moſes muſt here be underſtood of preſumptuous violations of the laws relating to religious worſhip, which, if not direct idolatry, were at leaſt a degree of apoſtacy from the true religion. It is to be obſerved, that the guilt of preſumptuous ſins does not lie ſo much in the crime itſelf, as in the manner of committing it; when it is accompanied with ſuch daring circumſtances of impiety, as amount even to blaſphemy, which is here called reproaching the Lord, and deſpiſing his word. Every wilful ſin is, in the nature of things, a reproach or diſhonour to God. It is, in effect, to ſay his commandments are not wiſe, juſt, and good; and that we know better what is fit for us, than God himſelf.

35 The man ſhall be ſurely put to death.] The reaſon why the breach of the ſabbath was ordered to be puniſhed with ſuch ſeverity

36 And all the congregation brought him without the camp, and ſtoned him with ſtones, and he died; as the LORD commanded Moſes.

37 And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes ſaying,

38 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, and bid them that they make them fringes in the borders of their garments, throughout their generations, and that they put upon the fringe of the borders a ribband of blue.

39 And it ſhall be unto you for a fringe, that ye may look upon it, and remember all the commandments of the LORD, and do them: and that ye ſeek not after your own heart, and your own eyes, after which ye uſe to go a whoring:

40 That ye may remember, and do all my commandments, and be holy unto your God.

41 I am the LORD your God, which brought you out of the land of Egypt, to be your God: I am the LORD your God.

CHAP. XVI.

1 The rebellion of Korah, &c. 31 His puniſhment. 41 A plague, 46 ſtayed by Aaron.

NOW Korah the ſon of Izhar, the ſon of Kohath, the ſon of Levi; and Dathan and Abiram the ſons of Eliab, and On the ſon of Peleth, ſons of Reuben, took men:

2 And they roſe up before Moſes, with certain of the children of Iſrael, two hundred and fifty princes of the aſſembly, famous in the congregation, men of renown:

3 And they gathered themſelves together againſt Moſes and againſt Aaron, and ſaid unto them, Ye take too much upon you, ſeeing all the congregation are holy every one of them, and the LORD is among them: wherefore then lift ye up your ſelves above the congregation of the LORD?

4 And when Moſes heard it, he fell upon his face:

5 And he ſpake unto Korah, and unto all his company, ſaying, Even to-morrow the LORD will ſhew who are his, and who is holy; and will cauſe him to come near unto him: even him whom he hath choſen, will he cauſe to come near unto him.

6 This do; take ye cenſers, Korah, and all his company;

7 And put fire therein, and put incenſe in them before the LORD to-morrow: and it ſhall be that the man whom the LORD doth chooſe, he ſhall be holy: ye take too much upon you, ye ſons of Levi.

8 And Moſes ſaid unto Korah, Hear, I pray you, ye ſons of Levi:

verity by the Jewiſh law, is, that it was an implicit denying of God to be the creator of the world: for the ſabbath being a ſign whereby the worſhippers of that all-powerful Being, who created the world, were diſtinguiſhed from the idolatrous nations who believed the world to be eternal, and who worſhipped the ſun, moon, and ſtars, and a multiplicity of nominal gods; the violation of this inſtitution implied a defection from the true religion to polytheiſm and idolatry.

38 Bid them that they make them fringes, &c.] This ornament was intended to diſtinguiſh them in their dreſs, as circumciſion did in their perſons, from other nations; ſo that, whenevor they looked upon this mark, they might be put in mind of their being the worſhippers of the true God, a holy people, and bound to the ſervice of their Maker, by peculiar laws and obligations. Many of the Jews conſidered theſe ornaments in a very different light, and prided themſelves in wearing them. The Phariſees, in our Saviour's time, had recourſe to enlarging their fringes, in order to make them more obſervable, and gain them the reputation of greater ſanctity than others, Mat. xxiii. 5.

39 To go a whoring.] An uſual phraſe for idolatry, Exod. xxxiv. 15.

Notes on the Sixteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Now Korah, &c.] The many ample teſtimonies, nay the miracles, whereby God had eſtabliſhed the authority of Moſes as chief governor, and of Aaron and his family as prieſts, were not ſufficient to reſtrain the ambition of mutinous and deſigning men. Korah, a man of ſome credit among the Levites, thinking himſelf undervalued by the poſt he was in, being only an inferior Levite, without all hopes of arriving at the prieſthood, as things now ſtood; determined to excite a mutiny againſt them, and make an attempt to raiſe himſelf to the prieſthood, by forcing them to change their meaſures, or by depriving them of their authority. To carry on this deſign with a greater proſpect of ſucceſs, he drew in Dathan, Abiram, and others of the Reubenites, into his rebellion; and being joined by two hundred and fifty perſons of ſome figure and authority among the reſt of the tribes, they formed themſelves into a party, giving out, that they were determined to have a change of government.

Took men.] Men is not in the original; and took being the firſt word in the text, it ſeems more natural to tranſlate it thus: Korah—took both Dathan and Abiram, &c. i. e. he aſſociated them to himſelf in his inſurrection.

3 Againſt Moſes.] They pretended he had advanced his brother and family to the prieſthood by his own authority, and not by God's direction.

Ye take too much upon you.] The meaning is, you ſhould not confine the prieſthood to your family alone; it is ſufficient for them to be on a level with their brethren, who are all members of the ſame community, and all equally favoured with God's peculiar preſence and protection.

5 Will cauſe him to come near to him.] i. e. Whom he will have to ſerve him in ſacred offices.

9 Seemeth it but a ſmall thing unto you, that the God of Iſrael hath ſeparated you from the congregation of Iſrael, to bring you near to himſelf, to do the ſervice of the tabernacle of the LORD, and to ſtand before the congregation, to miniſter unto them?

10 And he hath brought thee near to him, and all thy brethren the ſons of Levi with thee: and ſeek ye the prieſthood alſo?

11 For which cauſe both thou, and all thy company are gathered together againſt the LORD: And what is Aaron, that ye murmur againſt him?

12 And Moſes ſent to call Dathan and Abiram the ſons of Eliab: which ſaid, We will not come up:

13 Is it a ſmall thing that thou haſt brought us up out of a land that floweth with milk and honey, to kill us in the wilderneſs, except thou make thy ſelf altogether a prince over us?

14 Moreover, thou haſt not brought us into a land that floweth with milk and honey, or given us inheritance of fields and vineyards: wilt thou put out the eyes of theſe men? we will not come up.

15 And Moſes was very wroth, and ſaid unto the LORD, Reſpect not thou their offering: I have not taken one aſs from them, neither have I hurt one of them.

16 And Moſes ſaid unto Korah, Be thou and all thy company before the LORD, thou, and they, and Aaron to-morrow:

17 And take every man his cenſer, and put incenſe in them, and bring ye before the LORD every man his cenſer, two hundred and fifty cenſers: thou alſo, and Aaron, each of you his cenſer.

18 And they took every man his cenſer, and put fire in them, and laid incenſe thereon, and ſtood in the door of the tabernacle of the congregation with Moſes and Aaron.

19 And Korah gathered all the congregation againſt them, unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation: and the glory of the LORD appeared unto all the congregation.

20 And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, and unto Aaron, ſaying,

21 Separate your ſelves from among this congregation, that I may conſume them in a moment.

22 And they fell upon their faces, and ſaid, O God, the God of the ſpirits of all fleſh, ſhall one man ſin, and wilt thou be wroth with all the congregation?

23 And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

24 Speak unto the congregation, ſaying, Get ye up from about the tabernacle of Korah, Dathan, and Abiram.

25 And Moſes roſe up, and went unto Dathan and Abiram; and the elders of Iſrael followed him.

26 And he ſpake unto the congregation, ſaying, Depart, I pray you, from the tents of theſe wicked men, and touch nothing of their's, leſt ye be conſumed in all their ſins.

27 So they gat up from the tabernacle of Korah, Dathan, and Abiram on every ſide: and Dathan and Abiram came out, and ſtood in the door of their tents, and their wives, and their ſons, and their little children.

28 And Moſes ſaid, Hereby ye ſhall know that the LORD hath ſent me to do all theſe works; for I have not done them of mine own mind.

29 If theſe men die the common death of all men, or if they be viſited after the viſitation of all men; then the LORD hath not ſent me.

30 But if the LORD make a new thing, and the earth open her mouth, and ſwallow them up, with all that appertain unto them, and they go down quick into the pit; then ye ſhall underſtand that theſe men have provoked the LORD.

11 What is Aaron.] Implies that he had done nothing of himſelf, but God was the doer of all, Exod. xvi. 7.

14 Wilt thou put out the eyes of theſe men?] Doſt thou think to blind us, ſo that none of us ſhall diſcern this impoſture? or ſhall we ſuffer thee to lead us about like blind men whither thou pleaſeſt, ſometimes towards Canaan, and now back again towards Egypt?

19 And Korah gathered all the congregation againſt them.] This is a plain indication, that the people in general were inclined, if not to throw off, at leaſt to doubt of the authority of Moſes and Aaron.

22 The God of the ſpirits of all fleſh.] This implies a ſtrong motive to urge the divine compaſſion. Wilt thou not have mercy upon thoſe ſpirits which thou haſt created, O thou, the God and Father of the ſpirits of all fleſh?

30 They go down quick into the pit.] The word which we ren-

31 ¶ And it came to paſs as he had made an end of ſpeaking all theſe words, that the ground clave aſunder that was under them:

32 And the earth opened her mouth, and ſwallowed them up, and their houſes, and all the men that appertained unto Korah, and all their goods.

33 They, and all that appertained to them, went down alive into the pit, and the earth cloſed upon them: and they periſhed from among the congregation.

34 And all Iſrael that were round about them, fled at the cry of them: for they ſaid, Leſt the earth ſwallow us up alſo.

35 And there came out a fire from the LORD, and conſumed the two hundred and fifty men that offered incenſe.

36 And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

37 Speak unto Eleazar the ſon of Aaron the prieſt, that he take up the cenſers out of the burning, and ſcatter thou the fire yonder; for they are hallowed.

38 The cenſers of theſe ſinners againſt their own ſouls, let them make them broad plates for a covering of the altar: for they offered them before the LORD, therefore they are hallowed: and they ſhall be a ſign unto the children of Iſrael.

39 And Eleazar the prieſt took the brazen cenſers, wherewith they that were burnt had offered; and they were made broad plates for a covering of the altar:

40 To be a memorial unto the children of Iſrael, that no ſtranger, which is not of the ſeed of Aaron, come near to offer incenſe before the LORD; that he be not as Korah, and as his company: as the LORD ſaid to him by the hand of Moſes.

41 ¶ But on the morrow, all the congregation of the children of Iſrael murmured againſt Moſes, and againſt Aaron, ſaying, Ye have killed the people of the LORD.

42 And it came to paſs when the congregation was gathered againſt Moſes and againſt Aaron, that they looked toward the tabernacle of the congregation: and behold, the cloud covered it, and the glory of the LORD appeared.

43 And Moſes and Aaron came before the tabernacle of the congregation.

44 And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

45 Get you up from among this congregation, that I may conſume them as in a moment. And they fell upon their faces.

46 ¶ And Moſes ſaid unto Aaron, Take a cenſer, and put fire therein from off the altar, and put on incenſe, and go quickly unto the congregation, and make an atonement for them: for there is wrath gone out from the LORD; the plague is begun.

47 And Aaron took as Moſes commanded, and ran into the midſt of the congregation; and behold, the plague was begun among the people: and he put on incenſe, and made an atonement for the people.

48 And he ſtood between the dead and the living; and the plague was ſtayed.

49 Now they that died in the plague were fourteen thouſand and ſeven hundred, beſide them that died about the matter of Korah.

50 And Aaron returned unto Moſes, unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation: and the plague was ſtayed.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Aaron's rod budding, 10 is laid up for a monument.

AND the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, and take of every one of them a rod according to the houſe of their fathers, of all their princes, according to the houſe of their fathers, twelve rods: write thou every man's name upon his rod.

der pit, ſometimes ſignifies the grave, or receptacle for dead bodies; and ſometimes the region of departed ſouls whether good or bad: here it plainly denotes that pit or cavity in the earth in which theſe men were ſwallowed up.

32 And their houſes.] i. e. All their families, as Moſes has explained it, Deut. xi. 6. Their houſhold, and their tents, and all their ſubſtance.

35 A fire from the Lord, and conſumed the two hundred and fifty, &c.] That is, the men who had aſſumed the prieſts office.

41 All the congregation of—Iſrael murmured, &c.] It was natural to expect, that ſo ſignal a judgment would have been ſufficient to have ſilenced all murmurings and diſcontent; but it had a quite different effect upon this obſtinate and untractable body of men: for the very next day they ran together in a tumultuous manner, charging Moſes and Aaron with the blood of thoſe men who had ſo evidently ſuffered by the hand of God himſelf.

Notes

3 And thou ſhalt write Aaron's name upon the rod of Levi: for one rod ſhall be for the head of the houſe of their fathers.

4 And thou ſhalt lay them up in the tabernacle of the congregation, before the teſtimony, where I will meet with you.

5 And it ſhall come to paſs, that the man's rod whom I ſhall chooſe, ſhall bloſſom: and I will make to ceaſe from me the murmurings of the children of Iſrael, whereby they murmur againſt you.

6 And Moſes ſpake unto the children of Iſrael, and every one of their princes gave him a rod apiece, for each prince one, according to their fathers houſes, even twelve rods: and the rod of Aaron was among their rods.

7 And Moſes laid up the rods before the LORD, in the tabernacle of witneſs.

8 And it came to paſs, that on the morrow Moſes went into the tabernacle of witneſs; and behold, the rod of Aaron for the houſe of Levi was budded, and brought forth buds, and bloomed bloſſoms, and yielded almonds.

9 And Moſes brought out all the rods from before the LORD unto all the children of Iſrael: and they looked, and took every man his rod.

10 ¶ And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Bring Aaron's rod again before the teſtimony, to be kept for a token againſt the rebels; and thou ſhalt quite take away their murmurings from me, that they die not.

11 And Moſes did ſo: as the LORD commanded him, ſo did he.

12 And the children of Iſrael ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, Behold, we die, we periſh, we all periſh.

13 Whoſoever cometh any thing near unto the tabernacle of the LORD, ſhall die: ſhall we be conſumed with dying?

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The charge of the prieſts and Levites. 9 The prieſts, 21 and the Levites portion.

AND the LORD ſaid unto Aaron, Thou and thy ſons and thy father's houſe with thee ſhall bear the iniquity of the ſanctuary: and thou and thy ſons with thee ſhall bear the iniquity of your prieſthood.

2 And thy brethren alſo of the tribe of Levi, the tribe of thy father, bring thou with thee, that they may be joined unto thee, and miniſter unto thee: but thou and thy ſons with thee ſhall miniſter before the tabernacle of witneſs.

3 And they ſhall keep thy charge, and the charge of all the tabernacle: only they ſhall not come nigh the veſſels of the ſanctuary and the altar, that neither they, nor you alſo die.

4 And they ſhall be joined unto thee, and keep the charge of the tabernacle of the congregation, for all the ſervice of the tabernacle: and a ſtranger ſhall not come nigh unto you.

5 And ye ſhall keep the charge of the ſanctuary, and the charge of the altar: that there be no wrath any more upon the children of Iſrael.

6 And I, behold, I have taken your brethren the Levites from among the children of Iſrael: to you they are given as a gift for the

Notes on the Seventeenth Chapter.

Ver. 5 I will make to ceaſe from me the murmurings of the children of Iſrael.] I will work ſuch a miracle as ſhall be ſufficient to prevent them from murmuring any more about this matter, and be a ſtanding teſtimony to them on whom I have ſettled the prieſthood.

8 Was budded, and brought forth buds, and bloomed bloſſoms, and yielded almonds.] It ſeems, in ſome parts of the rod there was an appearance of buds coming forth; in others, the buds were fully thruſt out; in others, they were opened into bloſſoms, and theſe bloſſoms, in other parts, knotted, and grown into almonds. All theſe changes happening in the ſpace of a night, could not but be very amazing; and, unleſs they ſhut their eyes, muſt convince the people, that God had plainly diſtinguiſhed between Aaron and the reſt of the children of Iſrael. And, indeed, they ſeem to have been ſo thoroughly convinced by this miracle, that we do not find the authority of Aaron's prieſthood was ever afterwards called in queſtion.

12 We die, we periſh, we all periſh.] This is a natural picture of the conſternation of their minds: for people in a fright are apt to dwell upon the object of their fear.

13 Shall we be conſumed with dying?] Muſt we all periſh for what is paſt? Is there no mercy for us? Will Jehovah be no more intreated? Thus they are ever in extremes, either daring and preſumptuous, or abject and full of deſpair.

Notes on the Eighteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Shall bear the iniquity of the ſanctuary.] i. e. To you it belongeth to take care that none of the people, and thoſe who are legally defiled, approach the tabernacle; for if the ſanctuary, and its ſacred inſtitutions, be profaned through your neglect, who have the charge of it, you ſhall bear the puniſhment of ſuch profanation. Theſe declarations ſerved to remove the people's envy from the prieſts, whoſe dignity they ſaw was attended with ſo much danger.

LORD, to do the ſervice of the tabernacle of the congregation.

7 Therefore thou and thy ſons with thee ſhall keep your prieſt's office for every thing of the altar, and within the vail: and ye ſhall ſerve: I have given your prieſt's office unto you, as a ſervice of gift: and the ſtranger that cometh nigh ſhall be put to death.

8 And the LORD ſpake unto Aaron, Behold, I have alſo given thee the charge of mine heave-offerings, of all the hallowed things of the children of Iſrael; unto thee have I given them, by reaſon of the anointing, and to thy ſons by an ordinance for ever.

9 ¶ This ſhall be thine of the moſt holy things, reſerved from the fire: every oblation of their's, every meat-offering of their's, and every ſin-offering of their's, and every treſpaſs-offering of their's, which they ſhall render unto me, ſhall be moſt holy for thee and for thy ſons.

10 In the moſt holy place ſhalt thou eat it; every male ſhall eat it: it ſhall be holy unto thee.

11 And this is thine; the heave-offering of their gift, with all the wave-offerings of the children of Iſrael; I have given them unto thee, and to thy ſons, and to thy daughters with thee, by a ſtatute for ever: every one that is clean in thy houſe ſhall eat of it.

12 All the beſt of the oil, and all the beſt of the wine, and of the wheat, the firſt-fruits of them which they ſhall offer unto the LORD, them have I given thee.

13 And whatſoever is firſt ripe in the land, which they ſhall bring unto the LORD, ſhall be thine; every one that is clean in thine houſe ſhall eat of it.

14 Every thing devoted in Iſrael ſhall be thine.

15 Every thing that openeth the matrix in all fleſh, which they bring unto the LORD, whether it be of men or beaſts, ſhall be thine; nevertheleſs, the firſt-born of man ſhalt thou ſurely redeem, and the firſtling of unclean beaſts ſhalt thou redeem.

16 And thoſe that are to be redeemed, from a month old ſhalt thou redeem according to thine eſtimation, for the money of five ſhekels, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, which is twenty gerahs.

17 But the firſtling of a cow, or the firſtling of a ſheep, or the firſtling of a goat thou ſhalt not redeem; they are holy: thou ſhalt ſprinkle their blood upon the altar, and ſhalt burn their fat for an offering made by fire, for a ſweet ſavour unto the LORD.

18 And the fleſh of them ſhall be thine, as the wave-breaſt and as the right ſhoulder are thine.

19 All the heave-offerings of the holy things, which the children of Iſrael offer unto the LORD, have I given thee, and thy ſons, and thy daughters with thee, by a ſtatute for ever: it is a covenant of ſalt for ever, before the LORD, unto thee and to thy ſeed with thee.

20 And the LORD ſpake unto Aaron, Thou ſhalt have no inheritance in their land, neither ſhalt thou have any part among them: I am thy part, and thine inheritance among the children of Iſrael.

21 ¶ And behold, I have given the children of Levi, all the tenth in Iſrael, for an inheritance, for their ſervice which they ſerve, even the ſervice of the tabernacle of the congregation.

22 Neither muſt the children of Iſrael henceforth come nigh the tabernacle of the congregation, leſt they bear ſin, and die.

23 But the Levites ſhall do the ſervice of the tabernacle of the congregation, and they ſhall bear their iniquity: it ſhall be a ſtatute for ever throughout your generations, that among the children of Iſrael they have no inheritance.

8 By reaſon of the anointing.] Becauſe thou art anointed with the ſacred oil, and thereby conſecrated to the office of a prieſt.

10 In the moſt holy place.] i. e. In the court of the tabernacle, called moſt holy in reſpect of the camp.

19 It is a covenant of ſalt.] i. e. An everlaſting covenant, one that ſhall continue as long as the diſpenſation. A perpetual covenant ſeems to be called a covenant of ſalt, becauſe ſalt is of a preſerving nature, and was a ſymbol of friendſhip and fidelity.

20 I am thy part, and thine inheritance.] The proviſion made for the prieſts was ſo ample, that if any part of the land of Canaan had been added, there had been too great an inequality between them and the reſt of the people; for, without any ſhare in the land, their proportion, upon computation, will be found to have been far richer than that of any other perſons whatſoever.

24 But the tithes of the children of Israel, which they offer as an heave-offering unto the LORD, I have given to the Levites to inherit: therefore I have said unto them, Among the children of Israel they shall have no inheritance.

25 And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

26 Thus speak unto the Levites, and say unto them, When ye take of the children of Israel the tithes which I have given you from them for your inheritance, then ye shall offer up an heave-offering of it for the LORD, even a tenth part of the tithe.

27 And this your heave-offering shall be reckoned unto you as though it were the corn of the threshing-floor, and as the fulness of the wine-press.

28 Thus ye also shall offer an heave-offering unto the LORD, of all your tithes, which ye receive of the children of Israel: and ye shall give thereof the LORD's heave-offering to Aaron the priest.

29 Out of all your gifts ye shall offer every heave-offering of the LORD, of all the best thereof, even the hallowed part thereof out of it.

30 Therefore thou shalt say unto them, When ye have heaved the best thereof from it, then it shall be counted unto the Levites as the increase of the threshing-floor, and as the increase of the wine-press.

31 And ye shall eat it in every place, ye and your households: for it is your reward for your service in the tabernacle of the congregation.

32 And ye shall bear no sin by reason of it, when ye have heaved from it the best of it: neither shall ye pollute the holy things of the children of Israel, lest ye die.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The water of separation. 11 The use of it for purification of the unclean.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses, and unto Aaron, saying,

2 This is the ordinance of the law which the LORD hath commanded, saying, Speak unto the children of Israel, that they bring thee a red heifer without spot, wherein is no blemish, and upon which never came yoke:

3 And ye shall give her unto Eleazar the priest, that he may bring her forth without the camp, and one shall slay her before his face.

4 And Eleazar the priest shall take of her blood with his finger, and sprinkle of her blood directly before the tabernacle of the congregation seven times.

5 And one shall burn the heifer in his sight; her skin, and her flesh, and her blood, with her dung, shall he burn:

6 And the priest shall take cedar-wood, and hyssop, and scarlet, and cast it into the midst of the burning of the heifer.

7 Then the priest shall wash his clothes, and he shall bathe his flesh in water, and afterward he shall come into the camp, and the priest shall be unclean until the even.

8 And he that burneth her, shall wash his clothes in water, and bathe his flesh in water, and shall be unclean until the even.

9 And a man that is clean shall gather up the ashes of the heifer, and lay them up without the camp in a clean place, and it shall be kept for the congregation of the children of Israel, for a water of separation: it is a purification for sin.

---

24 The tithes which they offer unto the Lord, I have given to the Levites.] As they had parted with their own inheritance to the public, given up many national advantages to other tribes, and eased the nation by their services, it was highly reasonable that they should be provided for by the public.

31 In every place.] At their own houses, or where they pleased.

32 Lest ye die.] Heb. nor shall ye die; as those did who meddled with things which God reserved for his ministers.

Notes on the Nineteenth Chapter.

Ver. 2 A red heifer.] The word in the original, which we render heifer, properly signifies a young cow, between the age of a calf and an heifer, one that is not yet past three years old, and which has not yet felt the yoke. If it be asked why this sacrifice should be an heifer; the reason seems to be this: that it was in opposition to the Egyptian superstition; for though they offered bullocks in sacrifice, they held cows in great veneration.

3 Unto Eleazar.] The high-priest was not to be employed in the following work, because he would by that means have been defiled, a thing which he was in all cases to avoid.

7 The priest shall wash his clothes, &c.] Eleazar was unclean by having touched the blood of the heifer, and therefore was to use such ceremonies for cleansing as were used upon the like occasion.

9 It is a purification for sin.] It is difficult to explain why this water thus mixed with the ashes of the red heifer, should purify the unclean, and at the same time pollute not only those who assisted at the slaying, burning, and gathering the ashes of it,

LORD, to do the ſervice of the tabernacle of the congregation.

7 Therefore thou and thy ſons with thee ſhall keep your prieſt's office for every thing of the altar, and within the vail: and ye ſhall ſerve: I have given your prieſt's office unto you, as a ſervice of gift: and the ſtranger that cometh nigh ſhall be put to death.

10 In the moſt holy place.] i. e. In the court of the tabernacle, called moſt holy in reſpect of the camp.

19 It is a covenant of ſalt.] i. e. An everlaſting covenant, one that ſhall continue as long as the diſpenſation. A perpetual covenant ſeems to be called a covenant of ſalt, becauſe ſalt is of a preſerving nature, and was a ſymbol of friendſhip and fidelity.

20 I am thy part, and thine inheritance.] The proviſion made for the prieſts was ſo ample, that if any part of the land of Canaan had been added, there had been too great an inequality between them and the reſt of the people; for, without any ſhare in the land, their proportion, upon computation, will be found to have been far richer than that of any other perſons whatſoever.

24 But the tithes of the children of Iſrael, which they offer as an heave-offering unto the LORD, I have given to the Levites to inherit: therefore I have ſaid unto them, Among the children of Iſrael they ſhall have no inheritance.

25 And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

26 Thus ſpeak unto the Levites, and ſay unto them, When ye take of the children of Iſrael the tithes which I have given you from them for your inheritance, then ye ſhall offer up an heave-offering of it for the LORD, even a tenth part of the tithe.

27 And this your heave-offering ſhall be reckoned unto you as though it were the corn of the threſhing-floor, and as the fulneſs of the wine-preſs.

28 Thus ye alſo ſhall offer an heave-offering unto the LORD, of all your tithes, which ye receive of the children of Iſrael: and ye ſhall give thereof the LORD's heave-offering to Aaron the prieſt.

29 Out of all your gifts ye ſhall offer every heave-offering of the LORD, of all the beſt thereof, even the hallowed part thereof out of it.

30 Therefore thou ſhalt ſay unto them, When ye have heaved the beſt thereof from it, then it ſhall be counted unto the Levites as the increaſe of the threſhing-floor, and as the increaſe of the wine-preſs.

31 And ye ſhall eat it in every place, ye and your houſholds: for it is your reward for your ſervice in the tabernacle of the congregation.

32 And ye ſhall bear no ſin by reaſon of it, when ye have heaved from it the beſt of it: neither ſhall ye pollute the holy things of the children of Iſrael, leſt ye die.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The water of ſeparation. 11 The uſe of it for purification of the unclean.

AND the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, and unto Aaron, ſaying,

2 This is the ordinance of the law which the LORD hath commanded, ſaying, Speak unto the children of Iſrael, that they bring thee a red heifer without ſpot, wherein is no blemiſh, and upon which never came yoke:

3 And ye ſhall give her unto Eleazar the prieſt, that he may bring her forth without the camp, and one ſhall ſlay her before his face.

4 And Eleazar the prieſt ſhall take of her blood with his finger, and ſprinkle of her blood directly before the tabernacle of the congregation ſeven times.

5 And one ſhall burn the heifer in his ſight; her ſkin, and her fleſh, and her blood, with her dung, ſhall he burn:

6 And the prieſt ſhall take cedar-wood, and hyſſop, and ſcarlet, and caſt it into the midſt of the burning of the heifer.

7 Then the prieſt ſhall waſh his clothes, and he ſhall bathe his fleſh in water, and afterward he ſhall come into the camp, and the prieſt ſhall be unclean until the even.

8 And he that burneth her, ſhall waſh his clothes in water, and bathe his fleſh in water, and ſhall be unclean until the even.

9 And a man that is clean ſhall gather up the aſhes of the heifer, and lay them up without the camp in a clean place, and it ſhall be kept for the congregation of the children of Iſrael, for a water of ſeparation: it is a purification for ſin.

24 The tithes which they offer unto the Lord, I have given to the Levites.] As they had parted with their own inheritance to the public, given up many national advantages to other tribes, and eaſed the nation by their ſervices, it was highly reaſonable that they ſhould be provided for by the public.

31 In every place.] At their own houſes, or where they pleaſed.

32 Leſt ye die.] Heb. nor ſhall ye die; as thoſe did who meddled with things which God reſerved for his miniſters.

Notes on the Nineteenth Chapter.

Ver. 2 A red heifer.] The word in the original, which we render heifer, properly ſignifies a young cow, between the age of a calf and an heifer, one that is not yet paſt three years old, and which has not yet felt the yoke. If it be aſked why this ſacrifice ſhould be an heifer; the reaſon ſeems to be this: that it was in oppoſition to the Egyptian ſuperſtition; for though they offered bullocks in ſacrifice, they held cows in great veneration.

3 Unto Eleazar.] The high-prieſt was not to be employed in the following work, becauſe he would by that means have been defiled, a thing which he was in all caſes to avoid.

7 The prieſt ſhall waſh his clothes, &c.] Eleazar was unclean by having touched the blood of the heifer, and therefore was to uſe ſuch ceremonies for cleanſing as were uſed upon the like occaſion.

9 It is a purification for ſin.] It is difficult to explain why this water thus mixed with the aſhes of the red heifer, ſhould purify the unclean, and at the ſame time pollute not only thoſe who aſſiſted at the ſlaying, burning, and gathering the aſhes of it,

10 And he that gathereth the aſhes of the heifer, ſhall waſh his clothes, and be unclean until the even: and it ſhall be unto the children of Iſrael, and unto the ſtranger that ſojourneth among them, for a ſtatute for ever.

11 ¶ He that toucheth the dead body of any man, ſhall be unclean ſeven days.

12 He ſhall purify himſelf with it on the third day, and on the ſeventh day he ſhall be clean: but if he purify not himſelf the third day, then the ſeventh day he ſhall not be clean.

13 Whoſoever toucheth the dead body of any man that is dead, and purifieth not himſelf, defileth the tabernacle of the LORD; and that ſoul ſhall be cut off from Iſrael: becauſe the water of ſeparation was not ſprinkled upon him, he ſhall be unclean: his uncleanneſs is yet upon him.

14 This is the law, when a man dieth in a tent: all that come into the tent, and all that is in the tent, ſhall be unclean ſeven days.

15 And every open veſſel which hath no covering bound upon it, is unclean.

16 And whoſoever toucheth one that is ſlain with a ſword in the open fields, or a dead body, or a bone of a man, or a grave, ſhall be unclean ſeven days.

17 And for an unclean perſon they ſhall take of the aſhes of the burnt heifer of purification for ſin, and running water ſhall be put thereto in a veſſel:

18 And a clean perſon ſhall take hyſſop, and dip it in the water, and ſprinkle it upon the tent, and upon all the veſſels, and upon the perſons that were there, and upon him that touched a bone, or one ſlain, or one dead, or a grave:

19 And the clean perſon ſhall ſprinkle upon the unclean on the third day, and on the ſeventh day: and on the ſeventh day he ſhall purify himſelf, and waſh his clothes, and bathe himſelf in water, and ſhall be clean at even.

20 But the man that ſhall be unclean, and ſhall not purify himſelf, that ſoul ſhall be cut off from among the congregation: becauſe he hath defiled the ſanctuary of the LORD, the water of ſeparation hath not been ſprinkled upon him, he is unclean.

21 And it ſhall be a perpetual ſtatute unto them, that he that ſprinkleth the water of ſeparation, ſhall waſh his clothes, and he that toucheth the water of ſeparation, ſhall be unclean until even.

22 And whatſoever the unclean perſon toucheth, ſhall be unclean: and the ſoul that toucheth it, ſhall be unclean until even.

CHAP. XX.

7 Moſes bringeth water out of the rock. 14 Paſſage through Edom denied. 22 Aaron's death.

THEN came the children of Iſrael, even the whole congregation, into the deſert of Zin, in the firſt month: and the people abode in Kadeſh; and Miriam died there, and was buried there,

2 And there was no water for the congre-

it, but even thoſe who ſprinkled the unclean perſon with it, ver. 21. It is not improbable but that Moſes commanded the uſe of the red heifer in ſacrifices for ſin, only to expreſs the guilt of it. Accordingly all the inſpired writers compared ſins of the deepeſt guilt to crimſon and ſcarlet, as they did innocence to white. Though your ſins be as ſcarlet, they ſhall be as white as ſnow; though they be red like crimſon, they ſhall be as wool, Iſaiah i. 18. The author of the epiſtle to the Hebrews has taught us to conſider this ſacrifice as a type of Chriſt, who ſuffered without the gate of the city, even as the heifer was burned without the camp, and whoſe blood was of much greater efficacy towards the purging and ſanctifying of men, than that of bulls and goats, the aſhes of a heifer, or any other legal ſacrifice, Heb. xiii. 11, 12. ix. 13.

Notes on the Twentieth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Then came the children of Iſrael—into the deſert of Zin, in the firſt month.] The people having now wandered in the wilderneſs near forty years, and that generation of murmurers being almoſt all dead, they are again brought back to Kadeſh. It may ſeem ſtrange that Moſes ſhould paſs in ſilence the tranſactions of 38 years of the peregrinations of the Iſraelites: but we muſt remember that he writes not ſo much in the quality of an hiſtorian, as of a legiſlator; and probably no new laws were delivered during that time.

And Miriam died there.] Euſebius tells us, that Miriam's ſepulchre was ſtill extant in his time at Kadeſh, at a ſmall diſtance from the city of Petra, the metropolis of Arabia Petræa.

2 And there was no water for the congregation.] The water with which they had hitherto been ſupplied from Horeb, now failed; as an intimation, that they were now to quit the wilderneſs, and to be introduced into the Promiſed Land, a land of rivers and ſprings.

And they gathered themſelves together againſt Moſes, and againſt Aaron.] Though this new generation had ſo clearly ſeen the actual accompliſhment of the divine judgments threatened to their fathers, yet the pain of thirſt threw them into the ſame ſin of murmuring againſt God, and mutinying againſt their leaders.

gation: and they gathered themſelves together againſt Moſes and againſt Aaron.

3 And the people chode with Moſes, and ſpake, ſaying, Would God that we had died when our brethren died before the LORD.

4 And why have ye brought up the congregation of the LORD into this wilderneſs, that we and our cattle ſhould die there?

5 And wherefore have ye made us to come up out of Egypt, to bring us in unto this evil place? it is no place of ſeed, or of figs, or of vines, or of pomegranates; neither is there any water to drink.

6 And Moſes and Aaron went from the preſence of the aſſembly unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and they fell upon their faces: and the glory of the LORD appeared unto them.

7 ¶ And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

8 Take the rod, and gather thou the aſſembly together, thou and Aaron thy brother, and ſpeak ye unto the rock before their eyes; and it ſhall give forth his water, and thou ſhalt bring forth to them water out of the rock: ſo thou ſhalt give the congregation and their beaſts drink.

9 And Moſes took the rod from before the LORD, as he commanded him.

10 And Moſes and Aaron gathered the congregation together before the rock, and he ſaid unto them, Hear now, ye rebels; muſt we fetch you water out of this rock?

11 And Moſes lift up his hand, and with his rod he ſmote the rock twice: and the water came out abundantly, and the congregation drank, and their beaſts alſo.

12 And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes and Aaron, Becauſe ye believed me not, to ſanctify me in the eyes of the children of Iſrael; therefore ye ſhall not bring this congregation into the land which I have given them.

13 This is the water of Meribah, becauſe the children of Iſrael ſtrove with the LORD: and he was ſanctified in them.

14 ¶ And Moſes ſent meſſengers from Kadeſh unto the king of Edom, Thus ſaith thy brother Iſrael, Thou knoweſt all the travel that hath befallen us:

15 How our fathers went down into Egypt, and we have dwelt in Egypt a long time; and the Egyptians vexed us, and our fathers:

16 And when we cried unto the LORD, he heard our voice, and ſent an angel, and hath brought us forth out of Egypt: and behold, we are in Kadeſh, a city in the uttermoſt of thy border:

17 Let us paſs, I pray thee, through thy country: we will not paſs through the fields, or through the vineyards, neither will we drink of the water of the wells: we will go by the king's high-way, we will not turn to the right-hand nor to the left, until we have paſſed thy borders:

18 And Edom ſaid unto him, Thou ſhalt not paſs by me, leſt I come out againſt thee with the ſword.

19 And the children of Iſrael ſaid unto him, We will go by the high-way: and if I and my cattle drink of thy water, then I will pay for it: I will only (without doing any thing elſe) go through on my feet.

20 And he ſaid, Thou ſhalt not go through. And Edom came out againſt him with much people, and with a ſtrong hand.

21 Thus Edom refuſed to give Iſrael paſſage

---

10 Hear now, ye rebels; muſt we fetch you water out of this rock?] This ſeems to be the paſſage to which the Pſalmiſt alludes, when he ſays of Moſes, that he ſpake unadviſedly with his lips, Pſalm cvi. 33. Perhaps he was guilty of arrogating too much to himſelf and Aaron; for, without mentioning God, he ſays, Muſt we fetch you water out of this rock? as if they could do it by their own power. See Calmet.

12 Becauſe ye believed me not.] They did not really diſbelieve the divine power and veracity, ſince they ſmote the rock, which they never would have done, had they not entertained ſome hope that water would flow from it at the divine command; but they had leſs faith than they ought to have had.

13 This is the water of Meribah.] It is called Meribah-kadeſh, Deut. xxxii. 51. to diſtinguiſh it from the other Meribah at Horeb, where the children of Iſrael were guilty of the ſame crime, Exod. xvii. 7.

And he was ſanctified in them.] God glorified his power, goodneſs, and veracity, in the eyes of the Iſraelites, by this ſignal miracle, and demonſtrated his impartial juſtice in puniſhing his greateſt favourites for their unbelief.

14 And Moſes ſent meſſengers—unto the king of Edom, &c.] Edom is the name of Eſau, the founder of the nation, and from him communicated to his poſterity, and to the country itſelf. The reaſon for ſending this meſſage was, becauſe the neareſt paſſage to the land of Canaan was through the country of Edom, or Idumea.

through his border: wherefore Iſrael turned away from him.

22 ¶ And the children of Iſrael, even the whole congregation, journeyed from Kadeſh, and came unto mount Hor.

23 And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes and Aaron in mount Hor, by the coaſt of the land of Edom, ſaying, 24 Aaron ſhall be gathered unto his people: for he ſhall not enter into the land which I have given unto the children of Iſrael, becauſe ye rebelled againſt my word at the water of Meribah.

25 Take Aaron and Eleazar his ſon, and bring them up unto mount Hor:

26 And ſtrip Aaron of his garments, and put them upon Eleazar his ſon: and Aaron ſhall be gathered unto his people, and ſhall die there.

27 And Moſes did as the LORD commanded: and they went up into mount Hor, in the ſight of all the congregation.

28 And Moſes ſtripped Aaron of his garments, and put them upon Eleazar his ſon; and Aaron died there in the top of the mount. And Moſes and Eleazar came down from the mount.

29 And when all the congregation ſaw that Aaron was dead, they mourned for Aaron thirty days, even all the houſe of Iſrael.

CHAP. XXI.

4 The people bit by fiery ſerpents, 7 are healed. 10 Sundry journeys. 21 Sihon and Og ſlain.

AND when king Arad the Canaanite, which dwelt in the ſouth, heard tell that Iſrael came by the way of the ſpies: then he fought againſt Iſrael, and took ſome of them priſoners.

2 And Iſrael vowed a vow unto the LORD, and ſaid, If thou wilt indeed deliver this people into my hand, then I will utterly deſtroy their cities.

3 And the LORD hearkened to the voice of Iſrael, and delivered up the Canaanites: and they utterly deſtroyed them, and their cities: and he called the name of the place Hormah.

4 ¶ And they journeyed from mount Hor, by the way of the Red-ſea, to compaſs the land of Edom: and the ſoul of the people was much diſcouraged becauſe of the way.

5 And the people ſpake againſt God, and againſt Moſes, Wherefore have ye brought us up out of Egypt to die in the wilderneſs? for there is no bread, neither is there any water; and our ſoul loatheth this light bread.

6 And the LORD ſent fiery ſerpents among the people; and they bit the people; and much people of Iſrael died.

7 ¶ Therefore the people came to Moſes, and ſaid, We have ſinned, for we have ſpoken againſt the LORD, and againſt thee; pray unto the LORD, that he take away the ſerpents from us. And Moſes prayed for the people.

8 And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Make thee a fiery ſerpent, and ſet it upon a pole: and it ſhall come to paſs, that every one that is bitten, when he looketh upon it, ſhall live.

22 And the children of Iſrael—came unto mount Hor.] This mountain was on the eaſt border of the land of Edom; and probably had its name from Hori, the firſt poſſeſſor of it, Gen. xxxvi. 30.

24 For he ſhall not enter into the land which I have given unto the children of Iſrael.] An evident proof, that ſomething beſides an earthly Canaan was to be expected from the promiſes of God, ſince the beſt men among them were not permitted to enter into it. Patrick.

28 And Aaron died there.] In the fortieth year after they came out of Egypt, on the firſt day of the fifth month, which anſwers to our July, when Aaron was 123 years old. Patrick.

Notes on the Twenty-firſt Chapter.

Ver. 1 When king Arad the Canaanite.] Or, as it is in all the antient verſions, more agreeable to the Hebrew, The Canaanitiſh king of Arad, for there was ſuch a city in Canaan, Joſ. xii. 14. Jud. i. 16.

By the way of ſpies.] By the ſame way which the ſpies entered Canaan, when they were ſent to view the land, thirty-eight years before.

3 Hormah.] i. e. Utter deſtruction.

4 The ſoul of the people was much diſcouraged.] They had met with ſo many difficulties and diſcouragements, that they began to think they ſhould never reach the Promiſed Land.

5 There is no bread, neither is there any water.] They had both, by a miraculous providence over them, being fed with manna from heaven, and ſupplied with water from the rock; but rage provoked them to utter falſhoods.

6 Fiery ſerpents.] The words in the original ſignify burning or winged ſerpents. Theſe creatures were ſo very common both in Egypt and Arabia, that the countries would not be habitable, had not Providence thought proper to prevent their multiplying as other ſerpents do; for the Arabians tell us, that after they have coupled together, the female never fails to kill the male, and that her young ones kill her as ſoon as they are hatched. Univerſal Hiſtory.

8 Make thee a fiery ſerpent, and ſet it upon a pole.] The word which we render a pole, properly ſignifies a banner or enſign, erected with an intention that the people might gather unto it.

9 And Moſes made a ſerpent of braſs, and put it upon a pole: and it came to paſs, that if a ſerpent had bitten any man, when he beheld the ſerpent of braſs, he lived.

10 ¶ And the children of Iſrael ſet forward, and pitched in Oboth.

11 And they journeyed from Oboth, and pitched at Ije-abarim, in the wilderneſs which is before Moab, toward the ſun-riſing.

12 From thence they removed, and pitched in the valley of Zared.

13 From thence they removed, and pitched on the other ſide of Arnon, which is in the wilderneſs that cometh out of the coaſts of the Amorites: for Arnon is the border of Moab, between Moab and the Amorites.

14 Wherefore it is ſaid in the book of the wars of the LORD, What he did in the Red-ſea, and in the brooks of Arnon.

15 And at the ſtream of the brooks that goeth down to the dwelling of Ar, and lieth upon the border of Moab.

16 And from thence they went to Beer: that is the well whereof the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, Gather the people together, and I will give them water.

17 Then Iſrael ſang this ſong, Spring up, O well; ſing ye unto it:

18 The princes digged the well, the nobles of the people digged it, by the direction of the law-giver, with their ſtaves. And from the wilderneſs they went to Mattanah:

19 And from Mattanah to Nahaliel: and from Nahaliel to Bamoth:

20 And from Bamoth in the valley that is in the country of Moab, to the top of Piſgah, which looketh toward Jeſhimon.

21 ¶ And Iſrael ſent meſſengers unto Sihon, king of the Amorites, ſaying, 22 Let me paſs through thy land: we will not turn into the fields, or into the vineyards; we will not drink of the waters of the well: but we will go along by the king's high-way, until we be paſt thy borders.

23 And Sihon would not ſuffer Iſrael to paſs through his border: but Sihon gathered all his people together, and went out againſt Iſrael into the wilderneſs: and he came to Jahaz, and fought againſt Iſrael.

24 And Iſrael ſmote him with the edge of the ſword, and poſſeſſed his land from Arnon unto Jabbok, even unto the children of Ammon: for the border of the children of Ammon was ſtrong.

25 And Iſrael took all theſe cities: and Iſrael dwelt in all the cities of the Amorites, in Heſhbon, and in all the villages thereof.

26 For Heſhbon was the city of Sihon the king of the Amorites, who had fought againſt the former king of Moab, and taken all his land out of his hand, even unto Arnon.

27 Wherefore they that ſpeak in proverbs, ſay, Come into Heſhbon; let the city of Sihon be built and prepared.

---

9 When he beheld the ſerpent of braſs, he lived.] The healing virtue which accompanied the looking on this image, was derived from God alone; who was pleaſed in this manner to diſplay his power, to make the Iſraelites ſenſible that thoſe ſerpents were ſent by him, and that they had no reaſon to fear any evil whatſoever, provided they made God their friend, whoſe power could provide a remedy in all emergencies. Moſt interpreters obſerve a remarkable ſimilitude between the virtue of this brazen ſerpent, erected on a pole, and that of Chriſt's death; and the ſame is taken notice of by our bleſſed Saviour himſelf; As Moſes lifted up the ſerpent in the wilderneſs, even ſo muſt the ſon of man be lifted up: That whoſoever believeth in him ſhould not periſh, but have everlaſting life, John iii. 14, 15.

11 Ije-abarim.] That is, the heaps of Abarim, a range of mountains on the eaſtern borders of the land of Moab.

13 Arnon.] A river which roſe in the mountains of Arabia, and fell into the Dead ſea: the boundary between the kingdoms of Moab and the Amorites. It divided itſelf into ſeveral ſtreams; whence that expreſſion, ver. 14. in the brooks of Arnon.

14 In the book of the wars of the Lord.] What book this was is a queſtion not eaſily anſwered. Moſt interpreters take it for ſome ancient record of thoſe countries, to which Moſes refers. Le Clerc, by the wars of the Lord, underſtands the wars of the Iſraelites, who fought under the banner and direction of Jehovah.

17 Then Iſrael ſang.] Some of the devout people compoſed a ſhort hymn of praiſe, to be ſung by the whole aſſembly: what we tranſlate, ſing ye unto it, ſhould be rendered, anſwer unto it; for the ancient manner was to ſing alternately. See note on Exod. xv. 21.

20 To the top of Piſgah.] Rather, to the beginning of Piſgah, a part of the mountains of Abarim.

Which looketh towards Jeſhimon.] Or, towards the wilderneſs, as the word is rendered, Deut. xxxii. 10.

24 And Iſrael ſmote him with the edge of the ſword.] They deſtroyed all the inhabitants, men, women, and children, Deut. ii. 33, 34. For having now filled up the meaſure of their iniquity, and become irreclaimably wicked, the Almighty was pleaſed to give them up to national deſtruction, and to plant the profeſſors of his true religion in their ſtead, according to his promiſe to Abraham, Gen. xv. 16.

27 They that ſpeak in proverbs.] Thoſe who ſpeak or write in a lofty figurative ſtile, ſuch as the following appears to be, and was the compoſition of ſome ancient poet among the Amorites, on

28 For there is a fire gone out of Heſhbon, a flame from the city of Sihon: it hath conſumed Ar of Moab, and the lords of the high places of Arnon.

29 Wo to thee, Moab; thou art undone, O people of Chemoſh: he hath given his ſons that eſcaped, and his daughters, into captivity unto Sihon king of the Amorites.

30 We have ſhot at them; Heſhbon is periſhed even unto Dibon, and we have laid them waſte even unto Nophah, which reacheth unto Medeba.

31 Thus Iſrael dwelt in the land of the Amorites.

32 And Moſes ſent to ſpy out Jaazer, and they took the villages thereof, and drove out the Amorites that were there.

33 And they turned and went up by the way of Baſhan: and Og the king of Baſhan went out againſt them, he, and all his people, to the battle at Edrei.

34 And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Fear him not: for I have delivered him into thy hand, and all his people, and his land; and thou ſhalt do to him as thou didſt unto Sihon king of the Amorites, which dwelt at Heſhbon.

35 So they ſmote him, and his ſons, and all his people, until there was none left him alive: and they poſſeſſed his land.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Balak's firſt meſſage for Balaam is rejected. 15 His ſecond obtaineth him. 22 An angel would have ſlain him, if his aſs had not ſaved him. Balak entertaineth him.

AND the children of Iſrael ſet forward, and pitched in the plains of Moab, on this ſide Jordan by Jericho.

2 And Balak the ſon of Zippor ſaw all that Iſrael had done to the Amorites.

3 And Moab was ſore afraid of the people, becauſe they were many: and Moab was diſtreſſed becauſe of the children of Iſrael.

4 And Moab ſaid unto the elders of Midian, Now ſhall this company lick up all that are round about us, as the ox licketh up the graſs of the field. And Balak the ſon of Zippor was king of the Moabites at that time.

5 He ſent meſſengers therefore unto Balaam the ſon of Beor, to Pethor, which is by the river of the land of the children of his people, to call him, ſaying, Behold, there is a people come out from Egypt: behold, they cover the face of the earth, and they abide over againſt me.

6 Come now therefore, I pray thee, curſe me this people; for they are too mighty for me: peradventure I ſhall prevail, that we may ſmite them, and that I may drive them out of the land: for I wot that he whom thou bleſſeſt, is bleſſed, and he whom thou curſeſt, is curſed.

7 And the elders of Moab, and the elders of Midian departed, with the rewards of divination in their hand; and they came unto on Sihon's victory over the Moabites. This quotation is inſerted in the ſacred hiſtory, to ſhew that this country belonged to the Amorites, and not to the Moabites, when Iſrael ſubdued it.

Come into Heſhbon, let the city of Sihon be built.] Let Heſhbon now become the city of Sihon, and be made fit to be his royal ſeat.

28 For there is a fire gone out of Heſhbon.] Here the poet riſes into raptures, and propheſies the conqueſt of the whole country, by the deſolating army of Sihon marching out of Heſhbon; for by fire, he means war, to which it is very properly compared. I will kindle a fire in the wall of Rabbah, and it ſhall devour the palaces thereof, with ſhouting in the day of battle, with a tempeſt in the day of the whirlwind, Amos i. 14.

29 O people of Chemoſh.] He calls the Moabites the people of Chemoſh, becauſe they worſhipped the god Chemoſh, 1 Kings, xi. 7, &c.

33 Baſhan.] A mountain celebrated in ſcripture for its rich paſtures, excellent breed of cattle, and ſtately oaks.

And Og the king of Baſhan.] This Og was of the remnant of the giants, a mighty people in that country, Joſ. xii. 4.

Notes on the Twenty-ſecond Chapter.

Ver. 1 In the plains of Moab.] Formerly belonging to Moab, but were now in the poſſeſſion of the Amorites.

4 And Moab ſaid to the elders of Midian.] He ſent meſſengers to the princes of Midian, inviting them, as his confederates, to join with him againſt the Iſraelites, whom he repreſented as their common enemy.

As the ox licketh up the graſs.] A lively metaphor to ſignify how eaſily the Iſraelites would conquer them, without a timely oppoſition, and likewiſe what an univerſal deſolation they would make.

5 Unto Balaam.] The ſcripture expreſly calls Balaam a prophet; and ſome later writers are of opinion, that he had been once a good man, till loving the wages of unrighteouſneſs, he apoſtatized from God, and betaking himſelf to idolatrous practices, fell under the deluſion of Satan, 2 Pet. ii. 15. Though, at this juncture, when the preſervation of Iſrael was concerned, God might think proper to appear to him, and vouchſafe him revelations.

6 Curſe me this people.] It was the received opinion among the heathen nations, that imprecations might be made, which would have effect, not only on private perſons, but even on whole nations.

And the Ass saw the Angel of the Lord standing in the Way, and his Sword drawn in his Hand: And the Ass turn aside out of the way & went into the Field: and Balaam smote the Ass to turn her into the way. Numbers XXII. 23.

Balaam, and ſpake unto him the words of Balak.

8 And he ſaid unto them, Lodge here this night, and I will bring you word again as the LORD ſhall ſpeak unto me: and the princes of Moab abode with Balaam.

9 And God came unto Balaam, and ſaid, What men are theſe with thee?

10 And Balaam ſaid unto God, Balak the ſon of Zippor, king of Moab, hath ſent unto me, ſaying, 11 Behold, there is a people come out of Egypt, which covereth the face of the earth: come now, curſe me them; peradventure I ſhall be able to overcome them, and drive them out.

12 And God ſaid unto Balaam, Thou ſhalt not go with them, thou ſhalt not curſe the people: for they are bleſſed.

13 And Balaam roſe up in the morning, and ſaid unto the princes of Balak, Get ye into your land: for the LORD refuſeth to give me leave to go with you.

14 And the princes of Moab roſe up, and they went unto Balak, and ſaid, Balaam refuſeth to come with us.

15 ¶ And Balak ſent yet again princes, more and more honourable than they.

16 And they came to Balaam, and ſaid to him, Thus ſaith Balak the ſon of Zippor, Let nothing, I pray thee, hinder thee from coming unto me:

17 For I will promote thee unto very great honour, and I will do whatſoever thou ſayeſt unto me. Come therefore, I pray thee, curſe me this people.

18 And Balaam anſwered and ſaid unto the ſervants of Balak, If Balak would give me his houſe-full of ſilver and gold, I cannot go beyond the word of the LORD my God, to do leſs or more.

19 Now therefore, I pray you, tarry ye alſo here this night, that I may know what the LORD will ſay unto me more.

20 And God came unto Balaam at night, and ſaid unto him, If the men come to call thee, riſe up, and go with them; but yet the word which I ſhall ſay unto thee, that ſhalt thou do.

21 And Balaam roſe up in the morning, and ſaddled his aſs, and went with the princes of Moab.

22 ¶ And God's anger was kindled becauſe he went: and the angel of the LORD ſtood in the way for an adverſary againſt him. Now he was riding upon his aſs, and his two ſervants were with him.

23 And the aſs ſaw the angel of the LORD ſtanding in the way, and his ſword drawn in his hand: and the aſs turned aſide out of the way, and went into the field. And Balaam ſmote the aſs, to turn her into the way.

24 But the angel of the LORD ſtood in a path of the vineyards, a wall being on this ſide, and a wall on that ſide.

25 And when the aſs ſaw the angel of the

---

9 God came to Balaam.] God manifeſted his will to him by an angel, as appears from verſe 23.

12 For they are bleſſed.] They are conducted under the banner of heaven, and no imprecations can hinder their progreſs.

18 If Balak would give me his houſe full of ſilver and gold, I cannot go beyond the word of the Lord my God.] Thus far his piety, and regard to the command of God, appear to have had the aſcendant over his covetouſneſs and ambition; but the next words ſhew, that thoſe paſſions were far from being entirely ſubdued. He would fain have gratified them, if he could by any means have ſatisfied his conſcience.

19 Tarry—here this night.] Here the iniquity of his heart begins to diſcloſe itſelf. He well knew, that it was the unalterable purpoſe of the Almighty to bleſs the Iſraelites; but ſtill, having an avaricious eye to the tempting rewards, he inſinuates to the meſſengers there was ſome hope, that at his interceſſion the councils of heaven could be altered, and the unchangeable Being himſelf moved to recede from his firſt decree. This was a very impious tempting of God, and it fatally recoiled upon his own head. Jun. and Tremel.

20 If the men come to call thee, riſe up, and go with them.] Rather, ſince the men are come, as the LXX and Vulgate have it, follow thine own inclinations. Thus, for not hearkening to the voice of God, he was left to periſh in his own devices; for he was ſlain by the ſword of Iſrael, together with the princes of Moab, Joſ. xiii. 22.

But yet the word which I ſhall ſay unto thee, that ſhalt thou do.] The meaning ſeems to be, that he might go with Balak's meſſengers, provided he could reconcile it with his duty, and that they required him to do nothing that was contrary to the command of God before revealed to him.

21 And Balaam roſe up early, &c.] His haſte betrayed the inclinations of his heart, which hankered after the wages of unrighteouſneſs, and his wicked intention of curſing the Iſraelites.

22 God's anger was kindled, becauſe he went.] Not becauſe he went, but becauſe he went with an inclination to curſe Iſrael; for his whole intention in taking the journey, was, if poſſible, to find out ſome method of complying with the earneſt deſire of Balak.

LORD, ſhe thruſt herſelf unto the wall, and cruſhed Balaam's foot againſt the wall. And he ſmote her again.

26 And the angel of the LORD went further, and ſtood in a narrow place, where was no way to turn either to the right hand or to the left.

27 And when the aſs ſaw the angel of the LORD, ſhe fell down under Balaam. And Balaam's anger was kindled, and he ſmote the aſs with a ſtaff.

28 And the LORD opened the mouth of the aſs, and ſhe ſaid unto Balaam, What have I done unto thee, that thou haſt ſmitten me theſe three times?

29 And Balaam ſaid unto the aſs, Becauſe thou haſt mocked me: I would there were a ſword in mine hand; for now would I kill thee.

30 And the aſs ſaid unto Balaam, Am not I thine aſs, upon which thou haſt ridden ever ſince I was thine, unto this day? was I ever wont to do ſo unto thee? And he ſaid, Nay.

31 Then the LORD opened the eyes of Balaam, and he ſaw the angel of the LORD ſtanding in the way, and his ſword drawn in his hand: and he bowed down his head, and fell flat on his face.

32 And the angel of the LORD ſaid unto him, Wherefore haſt thou ſmitten thine aſs theſe three times? behold, I went out to withſtand thee, becauſe thy way is perverſe before me.

33 And the aſs ſaw me, and turned from me theſe three times: unleſs ſhe had turned from me, ſurely now alſo I had ſlain thee, and ſaved her alive.

34 And Balaam ſaid unto the angel of the LORD, I have ſinned; for I knew not that thou ſtoodeſt in the way againſt me: now therefore if it diſpleaſe thee, I will get me back again.

35 And the angel of the LORD ſaid unto Balaam, Go with the men: but only the word that I ſhall ſpeak unto thee, that thou ſhalt ſpeak. So Balaam went with the princes of Balak.

36 ¶ And when Balak heard that Balaam was come, he went out to meet him, unto a city of Moab, which is in the border of Arnon, which is in the utmoſt coaſt.

37 And Balak ſaid unto Balaam, Did I not earneſtly ſend unto thee, to call thee? wherefore cameſt thou not unto me? am I not able indeed to promote thee to honour?

38 And Balaam ſaid unto Balak, Lo, I am come unto thee: have I now any power at all to ſay any thing? the word that God putteth in my mouth, that ſhall I ſpeak.

39 And Balaam went with Balak, and they came unto Kirjath-huzoth.

40 And Balak offered oxen and ſheep, and ſent to Balaam, and to the princes that were with him.

41 And it came to paſs on the morrow, that Balak took Balaam, and brought him up into the high places of Baal, that thence he might ſee the utmoſt part of the people.

28 Opened the mouth of the aſs.] Some commentators are of opinion, that this happened to Balaam in a prophetic viſion; but as the power of God is, on all hands, acknowledged to be abundantly ſufficient to effect this miracle, there is not the leaſt ſhadow for diſbelieving it in a literal ſenſe.

29 Balaam ſaid unto the aſs.] It has been thought ſtrange, that Balaam ſhould expreſs no ſurprize at this prodigy: but perhaps he had imbibed the doctrine of tranſmigration of ſouls, which then was, and ſtill is, too common in the Eaſt; and thence might be the leſs aſtoniſhed at hearing a brute ſpeak. But why might not Balaam be ſurpriſed, though Moſes had not mentioned it? The ancient Jews were of opinion, that he really was ſo; Joſephus tells us, he was greatly aſtoniſhed at it. Nor will the ſilence of Moſes, in this particular, be any material objection, if it be conſidered, that his narration is ſo very conciſe, that many particulars of this hiſtory are doubtleſs omitted, as being of no great moment to be told.

Becauſe thou haſt mocked me.] Becauſe thou haſt expoſed me to ſcorn.

31 The Lord opened the eyes of Balaam.] He preſented the angel to his view; or perhaps he awakened his attention, and made him take notice of the angel, whom he had not before obſerved.

He bowed down his head, and fell flat on his face.] He bowed himſelf with his face to the earth, in token of the moſt profound reverence.

35 Go with the men.] It was of the utmoſt importance to convince the Moabites how peculiarly Iſrael was the care of Providence. And this could not be more effectually done, than by ſhewing them that a man of ſo covetous a nature as Balaam durſt not imprecate evil againſt that people. Therefore the angel, having now ſufficiently warned the prophet againſt gratifying the Moabites in their unreaſonable deſire, gives him free permiſſion to purſue his journey.

39 Kirjath huzoth.] Heb. the city of ſtreets, i. e. a large city with many ſtreets.

41 Balak took Balaam, and brought him up into the high places of Baal.] Baal was the god of this country. The name ſignifies lord. Some think their god Chemoſh is here meant, a deity not much different from Priapus. This god, like thoſe of other nations,

CHAP. XXIII.

1, 13, 28 Balak's ſacrifices. 7, 18 Balaam's parables.

AND Balaam ſaid unto Balak, Build me here ſeven altars, and prepare me here ſeven oxen, and ſeven rams.

2 And Balak did as Balaam had ſpoken; and Balak and Balaam offered on every altar a bullock and a ram.

3 And Balaam ſaid unto Balak, Stand by thy burnt-offering, and I will go: peradventure the LORD will come to meet me: and whatſoever he ſheweth me, I will tell thee. And he went to an high place.

4 And God met Balaam: and he ſaid unto him, I have prepared ſeven altars, and I have offered upon every altar a bullock and a ram.

5 And the LORD put a word in Balaam's mouth, and ſaid, Return unto Balak, and thus thou ſhalt ſpeak.

6 And he returned unto him, and lo, he ſtood by his burnt-ſacrifice, he, and all the princes of Moab.

7 ¶ And he took up his parable, and ſaid, Balak the king of Moab hath brought me from Aram, out of the mountains of the eaſt, ſaying, Come, curſe me Jacob, and come, defy Iſrael.

8 How ſhall I curſe, whom God hath not curſed? or how ſhall I defy, whom the LORD hath not defied?

9 For from the top of the rocks I ſee him, and from the hills I behold him: lo, the people ſhall dwell alone, and ſhall not be reckoned among the nations.

10 Who can count the duſt of Jacob, and the number of the fourth part of Iſrael? Let me die the death of the righteous, and let my laſt end be like his!

11 And Balak ſaid unto Balaam, What haſt thou done unto me? I took thee to curſe mine enemies, and behold, thou haſt bleſſed them altogether.

12 And he anſwered and ſaid, Muſt I not take heed to ſpeak that which the LORD hath put in my mouth?

13 ¶ And Balak ſaid unto him, Come, I pray thee, with me unto another place, from whence thou mayeſt ſee them: thou ſhalt ſee but the utmoſt part of them, and ſhalt not ſee them all: and curſe me them from thence.

14 And he brought him into the field of Zophim, to the top of Piſgah, and built ſeven altars, and offered a bullock and a ram on every altar.

15 And he ſaid unto Balak, Stand here by thy burnt-offering, while I meet the LORD yonder.

16 And the LORD met Balaam, and put a word in his mouth, and ſaid, Go again unto Balak, and ſay thus.

tions, was worſhipped in high places, which were generally planted with groves. It was thought neceſſary, in ſolemn imprecations, to have the perſons devoted preſent to the view of him who pronounced the anathema: for which reaſon Balak conducted Balaam to theſe high places, that he might from thence have a full proſpect of the camp of Iſrael.

Notes on the Twenty-third Chapter.

Ver. 1 Seven altars and ſeven rams.] Theſe ſacrifices were offered according to the religious rites obſerved in worſhipping the God of Iſrael; the number ſeven was in ſome meaſure become ſacred, becauſe God had reſted from his works of creation on the ſeventh day.

3 Peradventure the Lord will come and meet me.] From this paſſage it is inferred, that in thoſe early times, it was cuſtomary for prophets, and other pious perſons, after performing the ſacred rites, to retire into ſome ſolitary place, there to wait for an anſwer to their prayers from God, who often ſent an angel to deliver to them his oracles. Le Clerc.

He went to an high place.] He was already in an high place; and therefore we muſt prefer the tranſlation in the margin, he went ſolitary, i. e. into the moſt retired part of the grove.

5 And the Lord put a word in Balaam's mouth.] In the original, it is, Jehovah put a word, &c. which plainly demonſtrates that Balaam was a prophet of the true God.

7 His parable.] Or prophetical ſpeech.

8 How ſhall I curſe, &c.] How can I pronounce a curſe, where God hath decreed a bleſſing? As if he had ſaid, Balak deſires of me that which is impoſſible.

9 The people ſhall dwell alone.] That is, ſeparated from other nations by peculiar laws, religion, and manners.

10 Who can count the duſt of Jacob?] The LXX have it, Who can count the ſeed of Jacob? Who can count a people which are like the duſt of the earth in multitude?

Let me die the death of the righteous.] By the righteous here is meant the Iſraelites, who were a righteous people in compariſon with the reſt of the world; and on this account he wiſhes, that after having enjoyed long life and proſperity, he might die, like them, in the favour of God, and in the hope of that future reward which is reſerved for the righteous in the other world. And hence ſome have juſtly alledged this text, as a proof, that a future ſtate was generally believed in thoſe antient times.

Let my laſt end be like his.] It is obſervable, that the Heb. word which we tranſlate laſt end, in its natural or proper ſenſe, ſignifies a future ſtate after death. Peters, on Job, p. 288.

14 To the field of Zophim.] i. e. The field of the watchmen, where watchmen were placed, to give notice of the approach of an enemy, on the top of Piſgah, a very high mountain in the country of Moab.

17 And when he came to him, behold, he ſtood by his burnt-offering, and the princes of Moab with him. And Balak ſaid unto him, What hath the LORD ſpoken?

18 ¶ And he took up his parable, and ſaid, Riſe up, Balak, and hear; hearken unto me, thou ſon of Zippor:

19 God is not a man, that he ſhould lye; neither the ſon of man, that he ſhould repent: hath he ſaid, and ſhall he not do it? or hath he ſpoken, and ſhall he not make it good?

20 Behold, I have received commandment to bleſs: and he hath bleſſed; and I cannot reverſe it.

21 He hath not beheld iniquity in Jacob, neither hath he ſeen perverſeneſs in Iſrael; the LORD his God is with him, and the ſhout of a king is among them.

22 God brought them out of Egypt; he hath as it were the ſtrength of an unicorn.

23 Surely there is no inchantment againſt Jacob, neither is there any divination againſt Iſrael: according to this time it ſhall be ſaid of Jacob and of Iſrael, What hath God wrought!

24 Behold, the people ſhall riſe up as a great lion, and lift up himſelf as a young lion: he ſhall not lie down until he eat of the prey, and drink the blood of the ſlain.

25 And Balak ſaid unto Balaam, Neither curſe them at all, nor bleſs them at all.

26 But Balaam anſwered and ſaid unto Balak, Told not I thee, ſaying, All that the LORD ſpeaketh, that I muſt do?

27 And Balak ſaid unto Balaam, Come, I pray thee, I will bring thee unto another place; peradventure it will pleaſe God, that thou mayeſt curſe me them from thence.

28 ¶ And Balak brought Balaam unto the top of Peor, that looketh toward Jeſhimon.

29 And Balaam ſaid unto Balak, Build me here ſeven altars, and prepare me here ſeven bullocks, and ſeven rams.

30 And Balak did as Balaam had ſaid, and offered a bullock and a ram on every altar.

CHAP. XXIV.

1 Balaam propheſieth Iſrael's happineſs, 15 and of the ſtar of Jacob.

AND when Balaam ſaw that it pleaſed the LORD to bleſs Iſrael, he went not as at other times, to ſeek for inchantments, but he ſet his face toward the wilderneſs.

2 And Balaam lift up his eyes, and he ſaw Iſrael abiding in his tents according to their tribes; and the ſpirit of God came upon him.

3 And he took up his parable, and ſaid, Balaam the ſon of Beor hath ſaid, and the man whoſe eyes are open hath ſaid:

4 He hath ſaid, which heard the words of God, which ſaw the viſion of the Almighty, falling into a trance, but having his eyes open:

5 How goodly are thy tents, O Jacob, and thy tabernacles, O Iſrael!

19 God is not a man that he ſhould lie, &c.] Let not Balak imagine that God is ſubject to the fluctuating paſſions of weak mortals; or that he can be induced to alter his purpoſe; therefore it is in vain for me to importune him to curſe Iſrael, whom he hath ſaid he will bleſs.

21 He hath not beheld iniquity in Jacob, neither hath he ſeen perverſeneſs in Iſrael.] The word which we render iniquity, ſignifies in many places of ſcripture, an idol; and therefore the Vulgate renders the paſſage, There is no idol in Jacob, neither is there any image ſeen in Iſrael. As if he had ſaid, though the Iſraelites may be guilty of ſeveral tranſgreſſions of the divine laws, yet ſo long as they keep themſelves from idolatry, God will not give them over to the ſword of their enemies, but crown them with victory and triumph.

22 He hath, as it were, the ſtrength of an unicorn.] The word reem, which we tranſlate unicorn, is certainly the rhinoceros, which from the very make and ſtructure of his body, appears to be the ſtrongeſt of quadrupeds, the elephant not excepted. Shaw's Travels.

23 There is no inchantment againſt Jacob.] No imprecations uttered by a diviner can affect that nation, which is protected by Omnipotence. Undoubtedly, religion and virtue are the glory and ſtrength of a nation, and profaneneſs and vice the ſureſt preſages of the ruin of any people.

28 Balak brought Balaam to the top of Peor.] This was the moſt famous high place in all the country of Moab, where, as Selden conjectures, Baal had a temple, and was thence called Baal-peor: as Jupiter, when worſhipped at Olympus, was called Jupiter-Olympius.

Notes on the Twenty-fourth Chapter.

Ver. 1. He went not as at other times to ſeek enchantments.] This implies that he had hitherto uſed unwarrantable arts to compaſs his ends.

3 Balaam the ſon of Beor hath ſaid.] This is the common ſtyle of prophets. Thus Iſaiah begins his prophecy nearly in the ſame manner: The viſion of Iſaiah the ſon of Amos, Iſ. i. 1.

The man whoſe eyes are open hath ſaid.] In the margin it is rendered, who had his eyes ſhut, but now open; which alludes to his not ſeeing the angel.

4 Falling into a trance, but having his eyes open. This paſſage ſhould be rendered, falling and his eyes were opened; alluding to what happened in the way to Balaam's falling with his aſs, and then having his eyes opened. Newton.

6 As the valleys are they ſpread forth, as gardens by the river's ſide, as the trees of lign-aloes which the LORD hath planted, and as cedar-trees beſide the waters.

7 He ſhall pour the water out of his buckets, and his ſeed ſhall be in many waters, and his king ſhall be higher than Agag, and his kingdom ſhall be exalted.

8 God brought him forth out of Egypt, he hath as it were the ſtrength of an unicorn: he ſhall eat up the nations his enemies, and ſhall break their bones, and pierce them through with his arrows.

9 He couched, he lay down as a lion, and as a great lion: who ſhall ſtir him up? Bleſſed is he that bleſſeth thee, and curſed is he that curſeth thee.

10 And Balak's anger was kindled againſt Balaam, and he ſmote his hands together: and Balak ſaid unto Balaam, I called thee to curſe mine enemies, and behold, thou haſt altogether bleſſed them theſe three times.

11 Therefore now flee thou to thy place: I thought to promote thee unto great honour, but lo, the LORD hath kept thee back from honour.

12 And Balaam ſaid unto Balak, Spake I not alſo to thy meſſengers which thou ſenteſt unto me, ſaying, 13 If Balak would give me his houſe full of ſilver and gold, I cannot go beyond the commandment of the LORD, to do either good or bad of mine own mind; but what the LORD ſaith, that will I ſpeak?

14 And now, behold, I go unto my people: come therefore, and I will advertiſe thee, what this people ſhall do to thy people in the latter days.

15 ¶ And he took up his parable, and ſaid, Balaam the ſon of Beor hath ſaid, and the man whoſe eyes are open hath ſaid:

16 He hath ſaid, which heard the words of God, and knew the knowledge of the moſt High, which ſaw the viſion of the Almighty, falling into a trance, but having his eyes open:

17 I ſhall ſee him, but not now: I ſhall behold him, but not nigh: there ſhall come a Star out of Jacob, and a Scepter ſhall riſe out of Iſrael, and ſhall ſmite the corners of Moab, and deſtroy all the children of Sheth.

18 And Edom ſhall be a poſſeſſion, Seir alſo ſhall be a poſſeſſion for his enemies, and Iſrael ſhall do valiantly.

---

6 As the trees of lign-aloes.] The tree meant here is of a very fragrant ſcent, and grows in Arabia and the Eaſt-Indies.

7 He ſhall pour the water out of his buckets.] Seems to imply, that God ſhould bleſs them with plentiful harveſts, to which rain greatly contributed in thoſe countries.

His ſeed ſhall be in many waters.] Rather by many waters. That is, it ſhall be ſown in a ground well watered, and conſequently bring forth a plentiful crop. Metaphorically it may imply the great increaſe of the Iſraelites.

His king ſhall be higher than Agag.] Agag was the greateſt king then known; it was the general name for the kings of Amalek.

8 Shall eat up the nations.] Shall utterly deſtroy them.

9 He couched, &c.] Imports that the Iſraelites, having conquered the Canaanites, ſhall ſettle in their land; and that all attempts to diſturb them would be the ſame as for the weaker beaſt to rouſe the lion in his den.

11 The Lord hath kept thee back from honour.] This paſſage ſhould have been rendered, Jehovah hath kept thee back from honour; inſinuating, that Balaam had been more careful to pleaſe Jehovah, whom he conſidered only as the tutelary god of the Hebrews, than Baal-peor, or the other gods of the Moabites.

14 Come—and I will advertiſe thee, &c.] Here, it ſeems probable, Balaam gave to Balak that pernicious counſel mentioned chap. xxxi. 16; and accordingly it is here inſerted in the Chaldaic, the Jeruſalem, and Jonathan's paraphraſe.

17 I ſhall ſee him, but not now: I ſhall behold him, but not nigh.] It is common in the Hebrew to uſe the future for the preſent tenſe; and therefore the true ſenſe of the paſſage is, I ſee him [the perſon of whom he is going to ſpeak], though not yet in being: I behold him, though he be yet afar off.

There ſhall come a Star out of Jacob, and a Scepter ſhall riſe out of Iſrael.] This prophecy may poſſibly in ſome ſenſe relate to David, but, without doubt, it belongs principally to Chriſt; for we muſt remember, that the Egyptians had two ſorts of alphabetic letters, one popular, the other myſterious: here the metaphor of a Scepter was common and popular, to denote a Ruler, like David; but the Star, though like the other, it ſignified, in the prophetic writings, a temporal Prince, yet it had a hidden and myſterious meaning likewiſe, and in the Egyptian hieroglyphics denoted a God: hence we conclude, that the metaphor here uſed of a Star was of that myſterious kind, and ſo to be underſtood; and conſequently that it related only to Chriſt, the eternal Son of God. Warburton's Div. Legat. vol. II. p. 148.

Shall ſmite the corners of Moab.] Shall utterly deſtroy the Moabites. This, in the ſpiritual meaning, denotes the victories which Chriſt gained over the Gentiles; not by deſtroying their bodies, as David did thoſe of the Moabites, but by captivating their minds to the love of goodneſs, and ſubduing their affections to the ſervice of the true God. Le Clerc.

And deſtroy all the children of Seth.] Moab and the children of Seth were the ſame people: Seth ſignifies a drunkard, and they might properly be called the children of the drunkard, when they derived their being as a people, from their father Lot's being in liquor: hence their country was called Shittim, Numb. xxv. 1. We may obſerve that Balaam delights greatly in repeating circumſtances under different names; thus, the duſt of Jacob, and the fourth part of Iſrael; Edom ſhall be a poſſeſſion; Seir alſo, &c. Seir was a mountain in the country of Edom. M. G. 19. 166.

19 Out of Jacob ſhall come he that ſhall have dominion, and ſhall deſtroy him that remaineth of the city.

20 And when he looked on Amalek, he took up his parable, and ſaid, Amalek was the firſt of the nations, but his latter end ſhall be that he periſh for ever.

21 And he looked on the Kenites; and took up his parable, and ſaid, Strong is thy dwelling-place, and thou putteſt thy neſt in a rock.

22 Nevertheleſs, the Kenite ſhall be waſted until Aſſhur ſhall carry thee away captive.

23 And he took up his parable, and ſaid, Alas, who ſhall live when God doeth this!

24 And ſhips ſhall come from the coaſt of Chittim, and ſhall afflict Aſſhur, and ſhall afflict Eber, and he alſo ſhall periſh for ever.

25 And Balaam roſe up, and went and returned to his place: and Balak alſo went his way.

CHAP. XXV.

1 The Iſraelites whoredom and idolatry. 6 Zimri and Cozbi ſlain.

AND Iſrael abode in Shittim, and the people began to commit whoredom with the daughters of Moab.

2 And they called the people unto the ſacrifices of their gods: and the people did eat, and bowed down to their gods.

3 And Iſrael joined himſelf unto Baal-peor: and the anger of the LORD was kindled againſt Iſrael.

4 And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Take all the heads of the people, and hang them up before the LORD againſt the ſun, that the fierce anger of the LORD may be turned away from Iſrael.

5 And Moſes ſaid unto the judges of Iſrael, Slay ye every one his men that were joined unto Baal-peor.

6 ¶ And behold, one of the children of Iſrael came and brought unto his brethren a Midianitiſh woman, in the ſight of Moſes, and in the ſight of all the congregation of the children of Iſrael, who were weeping before the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

7 And when Phinehas the ſon of Eleazar, the ſon of Aaron the prieſt, ſaw it, he roſe up from amongſt the congregation, and took a javelin in his hand;

8 And he went after the man of Iſrael into

19 Out of Jacob ſhall come he that ſhall have dominion.] This was literally fulfilled in David, and has its ſpiritual accompliſhment in Chriſt, whoſe univerſal dominion is thus deſcribed: He ſhall have dominion from ſea to ſea, and from the river to the ends of the earth. Pſ. lxxvii. 8.

20 Amalek was the firſt of the nations.] One of the moſt ancient, eminent, and noble of all the neighbouring nations. Gen. xiv. 7.

His latter end ſhall be, that he periſh for ever.] This prediction was literally accompliſhed by Saul, 1 Sam. xv. 18.

21 And he looked on the Kenites.] By the Kenites ſeems to be meant the Midianites, Jethro's poſterity, for he was called the Kenite. Jud. i. 16.

Strong is thy dwelling-place, and thou putteſt thy neſt in a rock.] Thy dwelling-place is in the craggy mountains, and therefore thou thinkeſt thyſelf ſecure. Thus Horace, celſæ nidum Acherontiæ, the neſt of lofty Acherontia.

22 Nevertheleſs, the Kenite ſhall be waſted until Aſſhur ſhall carry thee away captive.] The Kenites ſhall be inſenſibly diminiſhed, till at laſt they are all carried away captive by the Aſſyrians; which was accompliſhed when Salmaneſer, king of Aſſyria, carried away the ten tribes into captivity, and with them the Kenites.

23 And---ſaid, Alas, who ſhall live when God doth this!] Having pauſed a while on this cataſtrophe of nations, he breaks out into a pathetic exclamation, Alas! who ſhall eſcape the ravages of the Aſſyrians, when God ſhall give them permiſſion to overrun a great part of the world!

24 Ships ſhall come from the coaſt of Chittim, and ſhall afflict Aſſhur.] By Chittim is meant Greece, Gen. x. 4. This prophecy was fulfilled when Alexander the Great overthrew the Perſian empire, which included the Chaldeans and Aſſyrians.

And ſhall afflict Eber.] Probably the neighbouring nations bordering upon the river Euphrates. Newton on Prophecy, Vol. I. 152.

Notes on the Twenty-fifth Chapter.

Ver. 1 The people began to commit whoredom with the daughters of Moab.] Theſe women expoſed themſelves to the luſt of the Iſraelites, and enticed them to idolatry, by the counſel of Balaam, who having learned that the proſperity of Iſrael depended upon the obſervance of the divine laws, and that there was no way to bring a curſe on them, but by ſeducing them from their duty, invented this low ſtratagem to accompliſh his wicked deſign.

2 Called the people to the ſacrifice of their gods.] The feaſts which ſucceeded theſe ſacrifices were accompanied with muſic and dancing, which had a great tendency to invite youthful minds to partake of them, and, at the ſame time, to inflame their carnal appetites, which theſe fair deluders would not let them ſatisfy, unleſs they conſented to worſhip their idols.

4 Take all the heads of the people, and hang them up.] This paſſage may be better rendered, Take unto thine aſſiſtance all the heads or judges of the people, and hang them up, i. e. all thoſe who have joined themſelves to Baal-peor. See the next verſe.

5 Slay ye every one his men.] It ſeems the judges were dilatory in executing this order, ſince God himſelf thought proper to viſit the heads of the offenders with exemplary puniſhment.

8 Thruſt both of them through.] There is no need here to recur to any extraordinary motion of the ſpirit to authorize this action of Phinehas, the tent, and thruſt both of them through, the man of Iſrael, and the woman, through her belly. So the plague was ſtayed from the children of Iſrael.

9 And thoſe that died in the plague were twenty and four thouſand.

10 And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

11 Phinehas the ſon of Eleazar, the ſon of Aaron the prieſt, hath turned my wrath away from the children of Iſrael, while he was zealous for my ſake among them, that I conſumed not the children of Iſrael in my jealouſy.

12 Wherefore ſay, Behold, I give unto him my covenant of peace;

13 And he ſhall have it, and his ſeed after him, even the covenant of an everlaſting prieſthood: becauſe he was zealous for his God, and made an atonement for the children of Iſrael.

14 Now the name of the Iſraelite that was ſlain, even that was ſlain with the Midianitiſh woman, was Zimri the ſon of Salu, a prince of a chief houſe among the Simeonites.

15 And the name of the Midianitiſh woman that was ſlain, was Cozbi the daughter of Zur; he was head over a people, and of a chief houſe in Midian.

16 And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

17 Vex the Midianites, and ſmite them:

18 For they vex you with their wiles, wherewith they have beguiled you in the matter of Peor, and in the matter of Cozbi, the daughter of a prince of Midian their ſiſter, which was ſlain in the day of the plague, for Peor's ſake.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 Iſrael numbered. 52 The inheritance of the land divided.

AND it came to paſs after the plague, that the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, and unto Eleazar the ſon of Aaron the prieſt, ſaying,

2 Take the ſum of all the congregation of the children of Iſrael, from twenty years old and upward, throughout their fathers houſe, all that are able to go to war in Iſrael.

3 And Moſes and Eleazar the prieſt ſpake with them in the plains of Moab by Jordan near Jericho, ſaying,

4 Take the ſum of the people, from twenty years old and upward; as the LORD commanded Moſes and the children of Iſrael, which went forth out of the land of Egypt.

5 Reuben the eldeſt ſon of Iſrael: the children of Reuben; Hanoch, of whom cometh the family of the Hanochites: of Pallu, the family of the Palluites:

6 Of Heſron, the family of the Heſronites: of Carmi, the family of the Carmites.

7 Theſe are the families of the Reubenites: and they that were numbered of them were forty and three thouſand and ſeven hundred and thirty.

8 And the ſons of Pallu; Eliab.

9 And the ſons of Eliab; Nemuel, and Dathan, and Abiram. This is that Dathan and Abiram which were famous in the congregation, who ſtrove againſt Moſes and againſt Aaron in the company of Korah, when they ſtrove againſt the LORD.

10 And the earth opened her mouth, and ſwallowed them up, together with Korah, when that company died, what time the fire devoured two hundred and fifty men: and they became a ſign.

Phinehas, nor yet to that jus zelotarum, aſſerted by ſome among the Jews: for he did it by the expreſs command of Moſes, ſupreme magiſtrate, who, ver. 5. commanded the judges of the people, of which Phinehas was one, to fall upon ſuch as had joined themſelves unto Baal-peor, and to ſlay every man his men.

9 Thoſe that died in the plague were twenty and four thouſand.] St. Paul mentions only twenty and three thouſand, who fell on one day, 1 Cor. x. 8. But it ſeems, that one thouſand were ſlain by the judges, and twenty-three thouſand by the hand of God, ver. 5.

11 He was zealous for my ſake.] Or, he was jealous with my jealouſy; that is, in the ardour of his pious zeal for the honour of God, and the national intereſt, he was incapable of bearing with that notorious breach of allegiance to God in the Iſraelites.

Notes on the Twenty-ſixth Chapter.

Ver. 2 Take the ſum of all the congregation.] The above-mentioned plague, having cut off the remains of that murmuring and ungrateful generation that firſt came out of Egypt, ſee ver. 64. God commands a third regiſter to be made, to demonſtrate the Divine Faithfulneſs, both in fulfilling the threats pronounced againſt the diſobedience of their predeceſſors, and in making good the promiſe of multiplying the ſeed of Abraham.

10 And the earth ſwallowed them up with Korah.] Theſe words ſeem to import, that Korah was ſwallowed up with Dathan and Abiram: but it is moſt probable that he was conſumed by the fire of God, with thoſe who offered incenſe unbidden, chap. xvi. 35.

11 Notwithſtanding, the children of Korah died not.

12 The ſons of Simeon after their families: of Nemuel, the family of the Nemuelites: of Jamin, the family of the Jaminites: of Jachin, the family of the Jachinites:

13 Of Zerah, the family of the Zarhites: of Shaul, the family of the Shaulites.

14 Theſe are the families of the Simeonites, twenty and two thouſand and two hundred.

15 The children of Gad after their families: of Zephon, the family of the Zephonites: of Haggi, the family of the Haggites: of Shuni, the family of the Shunites:

16 Of Ozni, the family of the Oznites: of Eri, the family of the Erites:

17 Of Arod, the family of the Arodites: of Areli, the family of the Arelites.

18 Theſe are the families of the children of Gad according to thoſe that were numbered of them, forty thouſand and five hundred.

19 The ſons of Judah were Er and Onan: and Er and Onan died in the land of Canaan.

20 And the ſons of Judah after their families were; of Shelah, the family of the Shelanites: of Pharez, the family of the Pharzites: of Zerah, the family of the Zarhites:

21 And the ſons of Pharez were; of Hezron, the family of the Hezronites: of Hamul, the family of the Hamulites.

22 Theſe are the families of Judah according to thoſe that were numbered of them, threeſcore and ſixteen thouſand and five hundred.

23 Of the ſons of Iſſachar after their families: of Tola, the family of the Tolaites: of Pua, the family of the Punites:

24 Of Jaſhub, the family of the Jaſhubites: of Shimron, the family of the Shimronites.

25 Theſe are the families of Iſſachar according to thoſe that were numbered of them, threeſcore and four thouſand and three hundred.

26 Of the ſons of Zebulun after their families: of Sered, the family of the Sardites: of Elon, the family of the Elonites; of Jahleel, the family of the Jahleelites.

27 Theſe are the families of the Zebulunites according to thoſe that were numbered of them, threeſcore thouſand and five hundred.

28 The ſons of Joſeph after their families, were Manaſſeh and Ephraim.

29 Of the ſons of Manaſſeh: of Machir, the family of the Machirites: and Machir begat Gilead: of Gilead came the family of the Gileadites.

30 Theſe are the ſons of Gilead: of Jeezer, the family of the Jeezerites: of Helek, the family of the Helekites:

31 And of Aſriel, the family of the Aſrielites: and of Shechem, the family of the Shechemites:

32 And of Shemida, the family of the Shemidaites: and of Hepher, the family of the Hepherites.

33 And Zelophehad the ſon of Hepher had no ſons, but daughters: and the names of the daughters of Zelophehad, were Mahlah, and Noah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Tirzah.

34 Theſe are the families of Manaſſeh, and thoſe that were numbered of them, fifty and two thouſand and ſeven hundred.

35 Theſe are the ſons of Ephraim after their families: of Shuthelah, the family of the Shuthalhites: of Becher, the family of the Bachrites: of Tahan, the family of the Tahanites.

36 And theſe are the ſons of Shuthelah: of Eran, the family of the Eranites.

37 Theſe are the families of the ſons of Ephraim according to thoſe that were numbered of them, thirty and two thouſand and five hundred. Theſe are the ſons of Joſeph after their families.

38 The ſons of Benjamin after their families: of Bela, the family of the Balaites: of Aſhbel, the family of the Aſhbelites: of Ahiram, the family of the Ahiramites:

39 Of Shupham, the family of the Shuphamites: of Hupham, the family of the Huphamites.

40 And the ſons of Bela were Ard and Naaman: of Ard, the family of the Ardites: and of Naaman, the family of the Naamites.

41 Theſe are the ſons of Benjamin after their families: and they that were numbered of of them were forty and five thouſand and ſix hundred.

42 Theſe are the ſons of Dan after their families: of Shuham, the family of the Shuhamites. Theſe are the families of Dan after their families.

43 All the families of the Shuhamites according to thoſe that were numbered of them, were threeſcore and four thouſand and four hundred.

44 Of the children of Aſher, after their families: of Jimna, the family of the Jimnites: of Jeſui, the family of the Jeſuites: of Beriah, the family of the Beriites.

45 Of the ſons of Beriah: of Heber, the family of the Heberites; of Malchiel, the family of the Malchielites.

46 And the name of the daughter of Aſher was Sarah.

47 Theſe are the families of the ſons of Aſher according to thoſe that were numbered of them; who were fifty and three thouſand and four hundred.

48 Of the ſons of Naphtali after their families: of Jahzeel, the family of the Jahzeelites: of Guni, the family of the Gunites:

49 Of Jezer, the family of the Jezerites: of Shillem, the family of the Shillemites:

50 Theſe are the families of Napthali according to their families: and they that were numbered of them were forty and five thouſand and four hundred.

51 Theſe were the numbered of the children of Iſrael, ſix hundred thouſand and a thouſand ſeven hundred and thirty.

52 ¶ And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

53 Unto theſe the land ſhall be divided for an inheritance, according to the number of names.

54 To many thou ſhalt give the more inheritance, and to few thou ſhalt give the leſs inheritance: to every one ſhall his inheritance be given according to thoſe that were numbered of him.

55 Notwithſtanding, the land ſhall be divided by lot: according to the names of the tribes of their fathers they ſhall inherit.

56 According to the lot ſhall the poſſeſſion thereof be divided, between many and few.

57 And theſe are they that were numbered of the Levites, after their families: of Gerſhon, the family of the Gerſhonites: of Kohath, the family of the Kohathites: of Merari, the family of the Merarites.

58 Theſe are the families of the Levites: the family of the Libnites, the family of the Hebronites, the family of the Mahlites, the family of the Muſhites, the family of the Korathites: and Kohath begat Amram.

59 And the name of Amram's wife was Jochebed, the daughter of Levi, whom her mother bare to Levi in Egypt: and ſhe bare unto Amram, Aaron and Moſes, and Miriam their ſiſter.

60 And unto Aaron was born Nadab and Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar.

61 And Nadab and Abihu died, when they offered ſtrange fire before the LORD.

62 And thoſe that were numbered of them were twenty and three thouſand, all males from a month old and upward: for they were not numbered among the children of Iſrael, becauſe

51 Six hundred thouſand and a thouſand ſeven hundred and thirty.] Hence we ſee, that notwithſtanding all the accidents that befel them in the deſert, and the plagues juſtly inflicted on the foregoing generation, the Iſraelites, upon a balance of increaſe and decreaſe of all the full-grown males ſince the laſt regiſter, appears to be but 1820 perſons leſs than they were at the laſt poll, chap. i. 46.

54 To every one ſhall his inheritance be given.] This equal diviſion of property was, under God, the great bulwark and ſtrength of the Hebrew commonwealth: for property is the natural foundation of power, and hence the natural foundation of every government is laid in the diſtribution of the lands or territory belonging to the ſeveral members of it. According to a tolerably exact computation of the extent of the Hebrew territory, the land of Canaan contained about fourteen millions nine hundred and ſeventy-ſix thouſand acres; which quantity of land will divide to ſix hundred thouſand men above twenty-one acres and a half in property, with a remainder of one million nine hundred and ſeventy-ſix thouſand acres for the princes of tribes, heads of families, Levitical cities, and other public uſes: ſo that there was a proviſion ſufficient to enable each perſon, with all the advantages of that fertile country and fine climate, to live as well as men can do in our's upon an eſtate of fifty or ſixty pounds a year. See Lowman's Diſſert.

55 Notwithſtanding, the land ſhall be divided by lot.] This dividing by lot had reſpect only to the quarter each tribe was to poſſeſs; thus, for inſtance, it was firſt determined by lot which of the twelve tribes were to inherit in the ſouth, which in the north, &c. then, in that quarter where the lot fell, a larger or ſmaller portion of land was divided to them, according to the goodneſs of the ſoil, and in proportion as they were more or leſs numerous.

there was no inheritance given them among the children of Iſrael.

63 Theſe are they that were numbered by Moſes and Eleazar the prieſt, who numbered the children of Iſrael in the plains of Moab, by Jordan near Jericho.

64 But among theſe there was not a man of them whom Moſes and Aaron the prieſt numbered, when they numbered the children of Iſrael in the wilderneſs of Sinai.

65 For the LORD had ſaid of them, They ſhall ſurely die in the wilderneſs. And there was not left a man of them, ſave Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh, and Joſhua the ſon of Nun.

CHAP. XXVII.

6 The law of inheritances. 12 Moſes, being told of his death, ſueth for a ſucceſſor. 18 Joſhua appointed to ſucceed him.

THEN came the daughters of Zelophehad the ſon of Hepher, the ſon of Gilead, the ſon of Machir, the ſon of Manaſſeh, of the families of Manaſſeh the ſon of Joſeph: and theſe are the names of his daughters; Mahlah, Noah, and Hoglah, and Milcah, and Tirzah.

2 And they ſtood before Moſes, and before Eleazar the prieſt, and before the princes, and all the congregation, by the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, ſaying,

3 Our father died in the wilderneſs, and he was not in the company of them that gathered themſelves together againſt the LORD in the company of Korah; but died in his own ſin; and had no ſons.

4 Why ſhould the name of our father be done away from among his family, becauſe he hath no ſon? give unto us therefore a poſſeſſion among the brethren of our father.

5 And Moſes brought their cauſe before the LORD.

6 ¶ And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

7 The daughters of Zelophehad ſpeak right: thou ſhalt ſurely give them a poſſeſſion of an inheritance among their father's brethren; and thou ſhalt cauſe the inheritance of their father to paſs unto them.

8 And thou ſhalt ſpeak unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, If a man die, and have no ſon, then ye ſhall cauſe his inheritance to paſs unto his daughter.

9 And if he have no daughter, then ye ſhall give his inheritance unto his brethren.

10 And if he have no brethren, then ye ſhall give his inheritance unto his father's brethren.

11 And if his father have no brethren, then ye ſhall give his inheritance unto his kinſman that is next to him of his family, and he ſhall poſſeſs it. And it ſhall be unto the children of Iſrael a ſtatute of judgement, as the LORD commanded Moſes.

12 ¶ And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Get thee up into this mount Abarim, and ſee the land which I have given unto the children of Iſrael.

13 And when thou haſt ſeen it, thou alſo ſhalt be gathered unto thy people, as Aaron thy brother was gathered.

14 For ye rebelled againſt my commandment in the deſert of Zin, in the ſtrife of the congregation, to ſanctify me at the water before their eyes. That is the water of Meribah in Kadeſh in the wilderneſs of Zin.

15 And Moſes ſpake unto the LORD, ſaying,

16 Let the LORD, the God of the ſpirits of all fleſh, ſet a man over the congregation,

65 Save Caleb—and Joſhua.] Whom God promiſed to ſpare in reward of their ſteady virtue, chap. xiv. 24, 30, and 38. Some of the Levites too ſeem to be excepted, and it is certain that Eleazar was born in Egypt, Exod. vi. 23.

Notes on the Twenty-ſeventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 Then came the daughters of Zelophehad.] In the laſt regiſter of the Iſraelitiſh family, notice was taken of Zelophehad, the ſon of Hepher, in the tribe of Manaſſeh, who died without male iſſue, leaving only five daughters. Theſe apprehending, that being females they were to be excluded from all ſettled inheritance in the lands and eſtates of the country, drew up a repreſentation of their caſe, and preſented it to Moſes, then in the great court of judicature at the tabernacle. Pyle.

3 But died in his own ſin.] He did not die as a ringleader of rebellion, in which he had aſſociated others to ſin with him, but as a common ſinner, to whom death is due. Kidder.

4 Why ſhould the name of our father be done away.] On any one's family being extinct, his name was razed out of the genealogical tables.

12 Get thee up into this mount Abarim.] It appears from Deut. xxxii. 49, that theſe words were ſpoken after all that follows in this book, and alſo in the book of Deuteronomy.

14 Ye rebelled againſt, &c.] See chap. xx. 12.

17 Which may go out before them, and which may go in before them, and which may lead them out, and which may bring them in; that the congregation of the LORD be not as ſheep which have no ſhepherd.

18 ¶ And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Take thee Joſhua the ſon of Nun, a man in whom is the ſpirit, and lay thine hand upon him:

19 And ſet him before Eleazar the prieſt, and before all the congregation: and give him a charge in their ſight.

20 And thou ſhalt put ſome of thine honour upon him, that all the congregation of the children of Iſrael may be obedient.

21 And he ſhall ſtand before Eleazar the prieſt, who ſhall aſk counſel for him, after the judgment of Urim before the LORD: at his word ſhall they go out, and at his word they ſhall come in, both he, and all the children of Iſrael with him, even all the congregation.

22 And Moſes did as the LORD commanded him: and he took Joſhua, and ſet him before Eleazar the prieſt, and before all the congregation:

23 And he laid his hands upon him, and gave him a charge, as the LORD commanded by the hand of Moſes.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 Offerings to be obſerved. 3 The continual burnt-offering. 9, 11, 16, 26, Other offerings.

AND the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

2 Command the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, My offering, and my bread for my ſacrifices made by fire, for a ſweet ſavour unto me, ſhall ye obſerve to offer unto me in their due ſeaſon.

3 ¶ And thou ſhalt ſay unto them, This is the offering made by fire, which ye ſhall offer unto the LORD; two lambs of the firſt year without ſpot day by day, for a continual burnt-offering.

4 The one lamb ſhalt thou offer in the morning, and the other lamb ſhalt thou offer at even;

5 And a tenth part of an ephah of flour for a meat-offering, mingled with the fourth part of an hin of beaten oil.

6 It is a continual burnt-offering, which was ordained in mount Sinai for a ſweet ſavour, a ſacrifice made by fire unto the LORD.

7 And the drink-offering thereof ſhall be the fourth part of an hin for the one lamb: in the holy place ſhalt thou cauſe the ſtrong

18 Take thee Joſhua the ſon of Nun.] Hence it appears that this high office of Judge of Iſrael was not to be hereditary; nor did the policy of Moſes take one ſtep to perpetuate this magiſtracy in his own poſterity or family. It was neceſſary that it ſhould be diſcharged by a perſon of the moſt eminent qualifications, and therefore God appoints Joſhua, who was of another family, and even of another tribe, being deſcended from Ephraim. Lowman's Diſſert.

Lay thine hand upon him.] This ceremony denoted Moſes' transferring the public truſt, which was delegated to him from God, from himſelf upon Joſhua.

20 Put ſome of thine honour upon him.] It was now neceſſary that the people ſhould have a high reſpect for Joſhua; and in order to procure this, Moſes is ordered to let him immediately ſhare with him in the government, as he was ſo ſhortly to ſucceed him in the whole. Pyle.

21 He ſhall ſtand before Eleazar the prieſt.] It is the opinion of both Jewiſh and Chriſtian interpreters, that none but perſons of the firſt dignity were allowed to conſult the oracle of God in this manner; ſo that this privilege ſhews the great pre-eminence Joſhua had above other Iſraelites: for though he was not to be admitted to ſo near an intercourſe with God as Moſes had been, yet he is here aſſured, that he ſhould never want direction from the oracle in any doubt, by conſulting the high-prieſt, who was to receive the anſwer.

After the judgment of Urim.] See note on Exod. xxviii. 30.

22 And Moſes did as the Lord commanded him.] This is an evident proof of the diſintereſtedneſs of Moſes; for he readily ſubmitted to have the government of Iſrael transferred from his own family and tribe, unto another, who was of the tribe of Ephraim, while his own children were not ſo much as prieſts, but mere Levites. This ſhews him to have been directed by a principle which places him above all other lawgivers, who always took care to advance their own family. Patrick.

Notes on the Twenty-eighth Chapter.

Ver. 1 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying.] The ſtated ſacrifices and ſervice of the tabernacle having now, for many years, by reaſon of the frequent and tedious journies of the Iſraelites been very much interrupted, and this new generation, not having heard the ordinances relating to them at their firſt inſtitution, and being now ſhortly to take up their reſidence in the Promiſed Land, where they were obliged to conform to the moſt punctual obſervance of them; God commands Moſes to repeat them to the people, in the following order of daily, weekly, monthly, and anniverſary ſacrifices. Pyle.

2 My offering, and my bread.] The ſacrifices which were conſumed on the altar were conſidered as the food of God, Lev. iii. note 11.

3 Two lambs of the firſt year.] The firſt national ſacrifice was to be offered every day, morning and evening, throughout the whole year.

wine to be poured unto the LORD for a drink-offering.

8 And the other lamb ſhalt thou offer at even: as the meat-offering of the morning, and as the drink-offering thereof thou ſhalt offer it, a ſacrifice made by fire of a ſweet ſavour unto the LORD.

9 ¶ And on the ſabbath-day, two lambs of the firſt year without ſpot, and two tenth-deals of flour for a meat-offering mingled with oil, and the drink-offering thereof.

10 This is the burnt-offering of every ſabbath, beſide the continual burnt-offering, and his drink-offering.

11 ¶ And in the beginnings of your months ye ſhall offer a burnt-offering unto the LORD; two young bullocks, and one ram, ſeven lambs of the firſt year without ſpot.

12 And three tenth-deals of flour for a meat-offering mingled with oil for one bullock, and two tenth-deals of flour for a meat-offering mingled with oil for one ram,

13 And a ſeveral tenth-deal of flour mingled with oil for a meat-offering unto one lamb, for a burnt-offering of a ſweet ſavour, a ſacrifice made by fire unto the LORD.

14 And their drink-offerings ſhall be half an hin of wine unto a bullock, and the third part of an hin unto a ram, and a fourth part of an hin unto a lamb: this is the burnt-offering of every month throughout the months of the year.

15 And one kid of the goats for a ſin-offering unto the LORD ſhall be offered, beſides the continual burnt-offering, and his drink-offering.

16 ¶ And in the fourteenth day of the firſt month is the paſs-over of the LORD.

17 And in the fifteenth day of this month is the feaſt; ſeven days ſhall unleavened bread be eaten.

18 In the firſt day ſhall be an holy convocation; ye ſhall do manner of ſervile work therein.

19 But ye ſhall offer a ſacrifice made by fire for a burnt-offering unto the LORD; two young bullocks, and one ram, and ſeven lambs of the firſt year: they ſhall be unto you without blemiſh.

20 And their meat-offering ſhall be of flour mingled with oil: three tenth-deals ſhall ye offer for a bullock, and two tenth-deals for a ram;

21 A ſeveral tenth-deal ſhalt thou offer for every lamb, throughout the ſeven lambs:

22 And one goat for a ſin-offering, to make an atonement for you.

23 Ye ſhall offer theſe beſide the burnt-offering in the morning, which is for a continual burnt-offering.

24 After this manner ye ſhall offer daily throughout the ſeven days, the meat of the ſacrifice made by fire, of a ſweet ſavour unto the LORD; it ſhall be offered beſide the continual burnt-offering, and his drink-offering.

25 And on the ſeventh day ye ſhall have an holy convocation; ye ſhall do no ſervile work.

26 ¶ Alſo in the day of the firſt-fruits, when ye bring a new meat-offering unto the LORD, after your weeks be out, ye ſhall have an holy convocation; ye ſhall do no ſervile work.

27 But ye ſhall offer the burnt-offering for a ſweet ſavour unto the LORD; two young bullocks, one ram, ſeven lambs of the firſt year;

28 And their meat-offering of flour ming-

9 On the ſabbath day, two lambs, &c.] The ſecond national ſacrifice was weekly. On this day the burnt-offerings and meat-offerings were ordered to be double, as appears from ver. 10.

11 And in the beginning of your months ye ſhall offer, &c.] The third ſtated ſacrifice was monthly, to be offered upon the firſt day of every month. This ſacrifice to God is thought by ſome to have been ordained in oppoſition to the idolatry of the Gentiles, who uſed to worſhip the new moon, with great rejoicings, Spencer de Leg. Heb. But as one of the moſt natural diviſions of time is by the periodical revolutions of the moon, which, in theſe ſerene climates, could eaſily be obſerved by all; ſo it is natural to think, that the ſolemn celebration of the new moon, in honour of the true God, was in uſe even before the riſe of idolatry, and probably made a part of the patriarchal religion.

15 Unto the Lord.] Not to the moon, as was the practice among the Egyptians, and other neighbouring nations.

16 In the fourteenth day is the paſſover.] This fourth ſtated and national ſacrifice was annual, viz. the great paſſover feſtival, with the feaſt of unleavened bread annexed to it, Ex. xii. 5, 6.

24 After this manner ye ſhall offer.] This ſolemn feſtival was deſigned as an acknowledgment of God's goodneſs in bringing them out of Egypt, and making them a free people; which was the foundation of all their future happineſs.

26 In the day of the firſt fruits.] The fifth national ſacrifice was alſo annual, viz. at the harveſt feſtival, when the firſt fruits of corn were to be offered up.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 The offering at the feaſt of trumpets, 7 at the day of afflicting their ſouls, 12 and on the eight days of the feaſt of tabernacles.

AND in the ſeventh month, on the firſt day of the month, ye ſhall have an holy convocation; ye ſhall do no ſervile work: it is a day of blowing the trumpets unto you.

2 And ye ſhall offer a burnt-offering for a ſweet ſavour unto the LORD, one young bullock, one ram, and ſeven lambs of the firſt year without blemiſh;

3 And their meat-offering ſhall be of flour mingled with oil, three tenth-deals for a bullock, and two tenth deals for a ram,

4 And one tenth-deal for one lamb, throughout the ſeven lambs:

5 And one kid of the goats for a ſin-offering, to make an atonement for you:

6 Beſide the burnt-offering of the month, and his meat-offering, and the daily burnt-offering, and his meat-offering, and their drink-offerings, according unto their manner, for a ſweet ſavour, a ſacrifice made by fire unto the LORD.

7 ¶ And ye ſhall have on the tenth day of this ſeventh month an holy convocation: and ye ſhall afflict your ſouls: ye ſhall not do any work therein.

8 But ye ſhall offer a burnt-offering unto the LORD for a ſweet ſavour, one young bullock, one ram, and ſeven lambs of the firſt year, they ſhall be unto you without blemiſh:

9 And their meat-offering ſhall be of flour mingled with oil, three tenth-deals to a bullock, and two tenth-deals to one ram,

10 A ſeveral tenth-deal for one lamb, throughout the ſeven lambs:

11 One kid of the goats for a ſin-offering, beſide the ſin-offering of atonement, and the continual burnt-offering, and the meat-offering of it, and their drink-offerings.

12 ¶ And on the fifteenth day of the ſeventh month, ye ſhall have an holy convocation; ye ſhall do no ſervile work, and ye ſhall keep a feaſt unto the LORD ſeven days.

13 And ye ſhall offer a burnt-offering, a ſacrifice made by fire, of a ſweet ſavour unto the LORD; thirteen young bullocks, two rams, and fourteen lambs of the firſt year, they ſhall be without blemiſh:

14 And their meat-offering ſhall be of flour mingled with oil, three tenth deals unto every bullock of the thirteen bullocks, two tenth-deals to each ram of the two rams,

15 And a ſeveral tenth-deal to each lamb of the fourteen lambs;

16 And one kid of the goats for a ſin-offering, beſide the continual burnt-offering, his meat-offering, and his drink-offering.

17 And on the ſecond day ye ſhall offer twelve young bullocks, two rams, fourteen lambs of the firſt year without ſpot:

18 And their meat-offering, and their drink-offerings for the bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambs, ſhall be according to their number, after the manner:

Notes on the Twenty-Ninth Chapter.

Ver. 1 And in the ſeventh month, &c.] The ſixth national and annual ſacrifice was to be performed on the feaſt of trumpets, about the time of our September. As the ſcripture no where gives the reaſon of this feſtival, authors are much divided about it: the Jews, in general, believe it was inſtituted in memory of the creation, which happened at the time of the year on which this feaſt was ordered to be celebrated. Some of the fathers are of opinion it was in memory of the law given on mount Sinai, at which time the trumpet and thunder was heard. Others, from ſome of the ceremonies obſerved by the Jews, by way of preparation for, and from ſome of their notions about this feſtival, have conceived, that it was intended to put mankind in remembrance of the general reſurrection, which is to be uſhered in with the ſound of the trumpet, Lev. xxiii. 24. Univer. Hiſt.

13 Thirteen young bullocks, &c.] All theſe troubleſome ſervices and expenſive ſacrifices made their religion a very grievous yoke, under which the beſt men among them groaned, longing for the coming of the Meſſiah, when their own doctors ſay, No ſacrifices ſhall remain but thoſe of thankſgiving, praiſe, and prayer. It appears from the account, that there were every year ſacrificed at the tabernacle and temple, at the national charge, the following number of beaſts, viz. lambs 1101, bullocks 132, rams 72, kids 21, goats 2; excluſive of a prodigious number of voluntary, vow, and treſpaſs-offerings. Pyle.

19 And one kid of the goats for a ſin-offering, beſide the continual burnt-offering, and the meat-offering thereof, and their drink-offerings.

20 And on the third day eleven bullocks, two rams, fourteen lambs of the firſt year without blemiſh:

21 And their meat-offering, and their drink-offerings for the bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambs, ſhall be according to their number, after the manner:

22 And one goat for a ſin-offering, beſide the continual burnt-offering, and his meat-offering, and his drink-offering.

23 And on the fourth day ten bullocks, two rams, and fourteen lambs of the firſt year without blemiſh:

24 Their meat-offering, and their drink-offerings for the bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambs, ſhall be according to their number, after the manner:

25 And one kid of the goats for a ſin-offering, beſide the continual burnt-offering, his meat-offering, and his drink-offering.

26 And on the fifth day nine bullocks, two rams, and fourteen lambs of the firſt year without ſpot:

27 And their meat-offering, and their drink-offerings for the bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambs, ſhall be according to their number, after the manner:

28 And one goat for a ſin-offering, beſide the continual burnt-offering, and his meat-offering, and his drink-offering.

29 And on the ſixth day eight bullocks, two rams, and fourteen lambs of the firſt year without blemiſh.

30 And their meat-offering, and their drink-offerings for the bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambs, ſhall be according to their number, after the manner.

31 And one goat for a ſin-offering, beſide the continual burnt-offering, his meat-offering, and his drink-offering.

32 And on the ſeventh day ſeven bullocks, two rams, and fourteen lambs of the firſt year without blemiſh.

33 And their meat-offering, and their drink-offerings for the bullocks, for the rams, and for the lambs, ſhall be according to their number, after the manner:

34 And one goat for a ſin-offering; beſide the continual burnt-offering, his meat-offering, and his drink-offering.

35 On the eighth day ye ſhall have a ſolemn aſſembly: ye ſhall do no ſervile work therein.

36 But ye ſhall offer a burnt-offering, a ſacrifice made by fire, of a ſweet ſavour unto the LORD; one bullock, one ram, ſeven lambs of the firſt year without blemiſh:

37 Their meat-offering, and their drink-offerings for the bullock, for the ram, and for the lambs, ſhall be according to their number, after the manner:

38 And one goat for a ſin-offering, beſide the continual burnt-offering, and his meat-offering, and his drink-offering.

39 Theſe things ye ſhall do unto the LORD in your ſet feaſts, beſide your vows, and your free-will-offerings, for your burnt-offerings, and for your meat-offerings, and for your drink-offerings, and for your peace-offerings.

40 And Moſes told the children of Iſrael, according to all that the LORD commanded Moſes.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Vows are not to be broken. 3 Of a maid's, 6 a wife's, 9 a widow's vow.

AND Moſes ſpake unto the heads of the tribes, concerning the children of Iſrael, ſaying, This is the thing which the LORD hath commanded.

2 If a man vow a vow unto the LORD, or ſwear an oath to bind his ſoul with a bond; he ſhall not break his word, he ſhall do according to all that proceedeth out of his mouth.

Notes on the Thirtieth Chapter.

Ver. 2 If a man vow a vow unto the Lord.] Vows were early in uſe among the Hebrews, as is evident from that made by Jacob, when he retired for fear of his brother into Padan-Aran; for he then vowed the tenth of all his acquiſitions to the Lord, Gen. xxviii. 20. Such vows were commonly undertaken by thoſe who were ardently deſirous of obtaining ſome bleſſing from God; as in the caſe of Samuel's mother, who was earneſtly deſirous to have a ſon; and in order to obtain her requeſt, ſhe vowed to conſecrate him to God, 1 Sam. 1.

3 ¶ If a woman alſo vow a vow unto the LORD, and bind herſelf by a bond, being in her father's houſe in her youth;

4 And her father hear her vow, and her bond wherewith ſhe hath bound her ſoul, and her father ſhall hold his peace at her: then all her vows ſhall ſtand, and every bond wherewith ſhe hath bound her ſoul ſhall ſtand.

5 But if her father diſallow her in the day that he heareth; not any of her vows, or of her bonds wherewith ſhe hath bound her ſoul, ſhall ſtand: and the LORD ſhall forgive her, becauſe her father diſallowed her.

6 ¶ And if ſhe had at all an huſband when ſhe vowed, or uttered ought out of her lips, wherewith ſhe bound her ſoul;

7 And her huſband heard it, and held his peace at her in the day that he heard it: then her vows ſhall ſtand, and her bonds wherewith ſhe bound her ſoul ſhall ſtand.

8 But if her huſband diſallowed her on the day that he heard it; then he ſhall make her vow which ſhe vowed, and that which ſhe uttered with her lips, wherewith ſhe bound her ſoul, of none effect: and the LORD ſhall forgive her.

9 ¶ But every vow of a widow, and of her that is divorced, wherewith they have bound their ſouls, ſhall ſtand againſt her.

10 And if ſhe vowed in her huſband's houſe, or bound her ſoul by a bond with an oath;

11 And her huſband heard it, and held his peace at her, and diſallowed her not: then all her vows ſhall ſtand, and every bond wherewith ſhe bound her ſoul ſhall ſtand.

12 But if her huſband hath utterly made them void on the day he heard them; then whatſoever proceeded out of her lips concerning her vows, or concerning the bond of her ſoul, ſhall not ſtand: her huſband hath made them void; and the LORD ſhall forgive her.

13 Every vow, and every binding oath to afflict the ſoul, her huſband may eſtabliſh it, or her huſband may make it void.

14 But if her huſband altogether hold his peace at her from day to day; then he eſtabliſheth all her vows, or all her bonds which are upon her: he confirmeth them, becauſe he held his peace at her in the day that he heard them.

15 But if he ſhall any ways make them void after that he hath heard them; then he ſhall bear her iniquity.

16 Theſe are the ſtatutes which the LORD commanded Moſes, between a man and his wife, between the father and his daughter being yet in her youth in her father's houſe.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 The Midianites are ſpoiled, and Balaam ſlain.
19 How the ſoldiers, &c. are to be purified,
25 and the prey divided.

AND the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

2 Avenge the children of Iſrael of the Midianites: afterward ſhalt thou be gathered unto thy people.

3 And Moſes ſpake unto the people, ſaying, Arm ſome of yourſelves unto the war, and let them go againſt the Midianites, and avenge the LORD of Midian.

4 Of every tribe a thouſand, throughout all the tribes of Iſrael, ſhall ye ſend to the war.

5 So there were delivered out of the thouſands of Iſrael, a thouſand of every tribe, twelve thouſand armed for war.

6 And Moſes ſent them to the war, a thouſand of every tribe, them and Phinehas the ſon of Eleazar the prieſt, to the war, with the holy

---

3 If a woman vow.] Being unmarried, and therefore at her parents diſpoſal, the law orders that her vows ſhall be no further obligatory than as her parents conſent to them at firſt making thereof; the ſame rule holds good as to orphans, ſervants, and wives, who are under the power of their guardians, maſters, and huſbands.

14 If the husband hold his peace.] His ſilence or not contradicting it at the firſt propoſal, ſhall be interpreted a conſent; nor ſhall it be in the huſband's or father's power to retract that conſent, or hinder her from performing her vow; if he does, he ſhall bear her iniquity: God ſhall puniſh him and not her for a breach of ſacred faith. Pyle.

Notes on the Thirty-firſt Chapter.

Ver. 2 Avenge the children of Iſrael of the Midianites.] The Midianites, in conformity to the counſel given them by Balaam, had drawn the Iſraelites to worſhip their gods; the conſequence of which was a terrible plague; Moſes is therefore ordered to ſend an army againſt the Midianites, and utterly deſtroy them.

4 Of every tribe a thouſand.] To ſhew them they were to rely more upon God than the ſtrength of their army, he commands the officers to pick only a thouſand men out of every tribe, which would ſeem only a handful againſt ſo numerous a people.

17 Kill

inſtruments, and the trumpets to blow, in his hand.

7 And they warred againſt the Midianites, as the LORD commanded Moſes; and they ſlew all the males.

8 And they ſlew the kings of Midian, beſide the reſt of them that were ſlain; namely, Evi, and Rekem, and Zur, and Hur, and Reba, five kings of Midian: Balaam alſo the ſon of Beor they ſlew with the ſword.

9 And the children of Iſrael took all the women of Midian captives, and their little ones, and took the ſpoil of all their cattle, and all their flocks, and all their goods.

10 And they burnt all their cities wherein they dwelt, and all their goodly caſtles with fire.

11 And they took all the ſpoil, and all the prey, both of men and of beaſts.

12 And they brought the captives, and the prey, and the ſpoil, unto Moſes and Eleazar the prieſt, and unto the congregation of the children of Iſrael, unto the camp at the plains of Moab, which are by Jordan near Jericho.

13 And Moſes, and Eleazar the prieſt, and all the princes of the congregation, went forth to meet them without the camp.

14 And Moſes was wroth with the officers of the hoſt, with the captains over thouſands, and captains over hundreds, which came from the battle.

15 And Moſes ſaid unto them, Have ye ſaved all the women alive?

16 Behold, theſe cauſed the children of Iſrael, through the counſel of Balaam, to commit treſpaſs againſt the LORD in the matter of Peor, and there was a plague among the congregation of the LORD.

17 Now therefore kill every male among the little ones, and kill every woman that hath known man by lying with him.

18 But all the women children that have not known man by lying with him, keep alive for your ſelves:

19 ¶ And do ye abide without the camp ſeven days: whoſoever hath killed any perſon, and whoſoever hath touched any ſlain, purify both your ſelves and your captives, on the third day, and on the ſeventh day.

20 And purify all your raiment, and all that is made of ſkins, and all work of goats hair, and all things made of wood.

21 And Eleazar the prieſt ſaid unto the men of war which went to the battle, This is the ordinance of the law which the LORD commanded Moſes;

22 Only the gold, and the ſilver, the braſs, the iron, the tin, and the lead,

23 Every thing that may abide the fire, ye ſhall make it go through the fire, and it ſhall be clean; nevertheleſs it ſhall be purified with the water of ſeparation: and all that abideth not the fire, ye ſhall make go through the water.

24 And ye ſhall waſh your clothes on the ſeventh day, and ye ſhall be clean, and afterward ye ſhall come into the camp.

25 ¶ And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

26 Take the ſum of the prey that was taken, both of man and of beaſt, thou, and Eleazar the prieſt, and the chief fathers of the congregation:

27 And divide the prey into two parts; between them that took the war upon them, who went out to battle, and between all the congregation:

28 And levy a tribute unto the LORD of the men of war which went out to battle; one ſoul of five hundred, both of the perſons, and of the beeves, and of the aſſes, and of the ſheep:

29 Take it of their half, and give it unto Eleazar the prieſt, for an heave-offering of the LORD.

30 And of the children of Iſrael's half, thou ſhalt take one portion of fifty, of the perſons, of the beeves, of the aſſes, and of the flocks,

17 Kill every male.] Moſes ordered the male children to be ſlain, that he might thereby extirpate the whole nation, as far as lay in his power, and prevent their revenging the death of their parents, in caſe they were ſuffered to live to men's eſtate. Why he was ſo ſevere againſt the women we need not wonder, if we conſider, that, either by proſtituting themſelves or their daughters, they had been the chief inſtruments of drawing the Iſraelites to idolatry. Patrick.

18 All the women-children---keep alive.] Being young there was ſome hope they might be reformed from idolatry, and become proſelytes to the true religion.

of all manner of beaſts, and give them unto the Levites, which keep the charge of the tabernacle of the LORD.

31 And Moſes and Eleazar the prieſt did as the LORD commanded Moſes.

32 And the booty, being the reſt of the prey which the men of war had caught, was ſix hundred thouſand and ſeventy thouſand and five thouſand ſheep,

33 And threeſcore and twelve thouſand beeves,

34 And threeſcore and one thouſand aſſes,

35 And thirty and two thouſand perſons in all, of women that had known man by lying with him.

36 And the half which was the portion of them that went out to war, was in number three hundred thouſand and ſeven and thirty thouſand and five hundred ſheep:

37 And the LORD's tribute of the ſheep was ſix hundred and threeſcore and fifteen.

38 And the beeves were thirty and ſix thouſand, of which the LORD's tribute was threeſcore and twelve.

39 And the aſſes were thirty thouſand and five hundred, of which the LORD's tribute was threeſcore and one.

40 And the perſons were ſixteen thouſand, of which the LORD's tribute was thirty and two perſons.

41 And Moſes gave the tribute, which was the LORD's heave-offering, unto Eleazar the prieſt, as the LORD commanded Moſes.

42 And of the children of Iſrael's half, which Moſes divided from the men that warred,

43 (Now the half that pertained unto the congregation, was three hundred thouſand and thirty thouſand and ſeven thouſand and five hundred ſheep,

44 And thirty and ſix thouſand beeves,

45 And thirty thouſand aſſes and five hundred,

46 And ſixteen thouſand perſons;)

47 Even of the children of Iſrael's half Moſes took one portion of fifty, both of man and of beaſt, and gave them unto the Levites, which kept the charge of the tabernacle of the LORD; as the LORD commanded Moſes.

48 And the officers which were over thouſands of the hoſt, the captains of thouſands, and captains of hundreds, came near unto Moſes:

49 And they ſaid unto Moſes, Thy ſervants have taken the ſum of the men of war which are under our charge, and there lacketh not one man of us.

50 We have therefore brought an oblation for the LORD, what every man hath gotten, of jewels of gold, chains, and bracelets, rings, ear-rings, and tablets, to make an atonement for our ſouls before the LORD.

51 And Moſes and Eleazar the prieſt took the gold of them, even all wrought jewels.

52 And all the gold of the offering that they offered up to the LORD, of the captains of thouſands, and of the captains of hundreds, was ſixteen thouſand ſeven hundred and fifty ſhekels.

53 (For the men of war had taken ſpoil, every man for himſelf.)

54 And Moſes and Eleazar the prieſt took the gold of the captains of thouſands, and of hundreds, and brought it into the tabernacle of the congregation, for a memorial for the children of Iſrael before the LORD.

CHAP. XXXII.

The Reubenites and Gadites ſue for their inheritance on this ſide Jordan.

NOW the children of Reuben and the children of Gad had a very great multitude of cattle: and when they ſaw the land of Jazer, and the land of Gilead, that behold, the place was a place for cattle;

49 There lacketh not one man of us.] The Iſraelites had here an evident proof, that the hand of Omnipotence fought againſt their enemies, and that they were defended from danger under the ſhadow of his wings. They might therefore well bring an offering to Jehovah, who had ſo viſibly aſſiſted them in the day of battle, and cauſed their enemies to flee before them.

52 Sixteen thouſand ſeven hundred and fifty ſhekels.] About five talents and a half, for three hundred ſhekels make a talent, Ex. xxv. 39. which amounts to about twenty-ſeven thouſand nine hundred and nineteen pounds ſterling.

Notes on the Thirty-ſecond Chapter.

Ver. 1 Now the children of Reuben, &c.] The country on this ſide Jordan being now entirely conquered, the tribes of Reuben, Gad, and the half tribe of Manaſſeh, obſerving that the country was fertile, and ſtowed with good paſturage, deſired they might be

2 The children of Gad and the children of Reuben came and ſpake unto Moſes, and to Eleazar the prieſt, and unto the princes of the congregation, ſaying,

3 Ataroth, and Dibon, and Jazer, and Nimrah, and Heſhbon, and Elealeh, and Shebam, and Nebo, and Beon,

4 Even the country which the LORD ſmote before the congregation of Iſrael, is a land for cattle, and thy ſervants have cattle:

5 Wherefore, ſaid they, if we have found grace in thy ſight, let this land be given unto thy ſervants for a poſſeſſion, and bring us not over Jordan.

6 And Moſes ſaid unto the children of Gad, and to the children of Reuben, Shall your brethren go to war, and ſhall ye ſit here?

7 And wherefore diſcourage ye the heart of the children of Iſrael from going over into the land which the LORD hath given them?

8 Thus did your fathers, when I ſent them from Kadeſh-barnea to ſee the land.

9 For when they went up into the valley of Eſhcol, and ſaw the land, they diſcouraged the heart of the children of Iſrael, that they ſhould not go into the land which the LORD had given them.

10 And the LORD's anger was kindled the ſame time, and he ſware, ſaying,

11 Surely none of the men that came up out of Egypt, from twenty years old and upward, ſhall ſee the land which I ſware unto Abraham, unto Iſaac, and unto Jacob; becauſe they have not wholly followed me:

12 Save Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh the Kenezite, and Joſhua the ſon of Nun: for they have wholly followed the LORD.

13 And the LORD's anger was kindled againſt Iſrael, and he made them wander in the wilderneſs forty years, until all the generation that had done evil in the ſight of the LORD was conſumed.

14 And behold, ye are riſen up in your fathers ſtead, an increaſe of ſinful men, to augment yet the fierce anger of the LORD toward Iſrael.

15 For if ye turn away from after him, he will yet again leave them in the wilderneſs; and ye ſhall deſtroy all this people.

16 And they came near unto him, and ſaid, We will build ſheep-folds here for our cattle, and cities for our little ones.

17 But we our ſelves will go ready armed before the children of Iſrael, until we have brought them unto their place: and our little ones ſhall dwell in the fenced cities, becauſe of the inhabitants of the land.

18 We will not return unto our houſes, until the children of Iſrael have inherited every man his inheritance.

19 For we will not inherit with them on yonder ſide Jordan, or forward; becauſe our inheritance is fallen to us on this ſide Jordan eaſt-ward.

20 And Moſes ſaid unto them, If ye will do this thing, if ye will go armed before the LORD to war,

21 And will go all of you armed over Jordan before the LORD, until he hath driven out his enemies from before him,

22 And the land be ſubdued before the LORD: then afterward ye ſhall return, and be guiltleſs before the LORD, and before Iſrael; and this land ſhall be your poſſeſſion before the LORD.

23 But if ye will not do ſo, behold, ye have ſinned againſt the LORD: and be ſure your ſin will find you out.

24 Build ye cities for your little ones, and folds for your ſheep; and do that which hath proceeded out of your mouth.

25 And the children of Gad and the children of Reuben ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, Thy ſervants will do as my lord commandeth.

26 Our little ones, our wives, our flocks, and all our cattle, ſhall be there in the cities of Gilead:

27 But thy ſervants will paſs over, every

7 Wherefore diſcourage ye the heart, &c.] Moſes ſeems to have ſuſpected, that mere cowardice or a love of eaſe made them deſirous to ſtay where they were; which ill example might diſhearten the reſt of their brethren.

18 We will not return until, &c.] They ſhewed both faith in God, and love to their brethren, thus to go in the front of the battle, and riſque their lives againſt ſuch powerful enemies, without any further advantage to themſelves.

man armed for war, before the LORD to battle, as my lord ſaith.

28 So concerning them, Moſes commanded Eleazar the prieſt, and Joſhua the ſon of Nun, and the chief fathers of the tribes of the children of Iſrael:

29 And Moſes ſaid unto them, If the children of Gad and the children of Reuben will paſs with you over Jordan, every man armed to battle before the LORD, and the land ſhall be ſubdued before you; then ye ſhall give them the land of Gilead for a poſſeſſion:

30 But if they will not paſs over with you armed, they ſhall have poſſeſſions among you in the land of Canaan.

31 And the children of Gad and the children of Reuben anſwered, ſaying, As the LORD hath ſaid unto thy ſervants, ſo will we do.

32 We will paſs over armed before the LORD into the land of Canaan, that the poſſeſſion of our inheritance on this ſide Jordan may be ours.

33 And Moſes gave unto them, even to the children of Gad and to the children of Reuben, and unto half the tribe of Manaſſeh the ſon of Joſeph, the kingdom of Sihon king of the Amorites, and the kingdom of Og king of Baſhan, the land with the cities thereof, in the coaſts, even the cities of the country round about.

34 And the children of Gad built Dibon, and Ataroth, and Aroer,

35 And Atroth, Shophan, and Jaazer, and Jogbehah,

36 And Beth-nimrah, and Beth-haran, fenced cities: and folds for ſheep.

37 And the children of Reuben built Heſhbon, and Elealeh, and Kirjathaim, 38 And Nebo, and Baal-meon, (their names being changed,) and Shibmah: and gave other names unto the cities which they builded.

39 And the children of Machir the ſon of Manaſſeh went to Gilead, and took it, and diſpoſſeſſed the Amorite which was in it.

40 And Moſes gave Gilead unto Machir the ſon of Manaſſeh; and he dwelt therein.

41 And Jair the ſon of Manaſſeh went and took the ſmall towns thereof, and called them Havoth-jair.

42 And Nobah went and took Kenath, and the villages thereof, and called it Nobah, after his own name.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 Two and forty journeys of the Iſraelites. 50 The Canaanites are to be deſtroyed.

THESE are the journeys of the children of Iſrael, which went forth out of the land of Egypt, with their armies, under the hand of Moſes and Aaron.

2 And Moſes wrote their goings out according to their journeys, by the commandment of the LORD: and theſe are their journeys according to their goings out.

3 And they departed from Rameſes in the firſt month, on the fifteenth day of the firſt month: on the morrow after the paſs-over, the children of Iſrael went out with an high hand in the ſight of all the Egyptians.

4 (For the Egyptians buried all their firſt-

33 And Moſes gave unto them, &c.] The dominions of Sihon and Og, the two vanquiſhed kings of the Amorites, extended from the river Arnon to mount Hermon. Of theſe countries Moſes gave to the tribe of Reuben the ſouth weſt part, being bounded on the ſouth by the river Arnon, on the weſt by Jordan, and on the north and eaſt by the tribe of Gad. The tribe of Gad was bounded by the river Jordan on the weſt, by the half tribe of Manaſſeh on the north, by the kingdom of the Amorites on the eaſt, and by the tribe of Reuben on the ſouth. The part belonging to the half tribe of Manaſſeh was bounded by the tribe of Gad on the ſouth; by the ſea of Galilee, together with part of the river of Jordan from its ſource to the ſaid ſea, on the weſt; by mount Lebanon on the north-eaſt; and by the mountains of Gilead on the eaſt. As theſe two tribes and an half were the firſt that had their inheritance aſſigned them, ſo they were the firſt that for their idolatry were carried captive out of their land, 1 Chron. v. 25, 26. Their early defection from the true religion was probably owing to their being at ſo great a diſtance from the public worſhip.

Notes on the Thirty-third Chapter.

Ver. 1 Theſe are the journeys of the children of Iſrael.] As the peculiar providence of God remarkably appears in the protection of the Iſraelites, from the time they departed out of Egypt till they came to the borders of Canaan; ſo Moſes was particularly commiſſioned to preſerve the hiſtory of them, for the benefit of poſterity: therefore here he recapitulates the principal ſtages of this long journey, and ſets them all before the reader in one view, that all who would take pains to examine things, might be ſatisfied by what a train of miracles ſuch a multitude of people were fed every day, for forty years together, in a barren and inhoſpitable deſert. But all theſe miracles were inſufficient to induce that intractable people to cleave to the Lord their God, and enquire after the rock of their ſalvation. Neither, ſaid they, where is the Lord that brought us up out of the land of Egypt, that led us through the wilderneſs, a land of deſerts and of pits, a land of drought, and of the ſhadow of death, a land which no man paſſed through, and where no man dwelt? Jer. ii. 6.

born, which the LORD had ſmitten among them: upon their gods alſo the LORD executed judgements.)

5 And the children of Iſrael removed from Rameſes, and pitched in Succoth.

6 And they departed from Succoth, and pitched in Etham, which is in the edge of the wilderneſs.

7 And they removed from Etham, and turned again unto Pi-hahiroth, which is before Baal-zephon: and they pitched before Migdol.

8 And they departed from before Pi-hahiroth, and paſſed through the midſt of the ſea, into the wilderneſs, and went three days journey in the wilderneſs of Etham, and pitched in Marah.

9 And they removed from Marah, and came unto Elim: and in Elim were twelve fountains of water, and threeſcore and ten palm-trees; and they pitched there.

10 And they removed from Elim, and encamped by the Red-ſea.

11 And they removed from the Red-ſea, and encamped in the wilderneſs of Sin.

12 And they took their journey out of the wilderneſs of Sin, and encamped in Dophkah.

13 And they departed from Dophkah, and encamped in Aluſh.

14 And they removed from Aluſh, and encamped at Rephidim, where was no water for the people to drink.

15 And they departed from Rephidim, and pitched in the wilderneſs of Sinai.

16 And they removed from the deſert of Sinai, and pitched at Kibroth-hattaavah.

17 And they departed from Kibroth-hattaavah, and encamped at Hazeroth.

18 And they departed from Hazeroth, and pitched in Rithmah.

19 And they departed from Rithmah, and pitched at Rimmon-parez.

20 And they departed from Rimmon-parez, and pitched in Libnah.

21 And they removed from Libnah, and pitched at Riſſah.

22 And they journeyed from Riſſah, and pitched in Kehelathah.

23 And they went from Kehelathah, and pitched in mount Shapher.

24 And they removed from mount Shapher, and encamped in Haradah.

25 And they removed from Haradah, and pitched in Makheloth.

26 And they removed from Makheloth, and encamped at Tahath.

27 And they departed from Tahath, and pitched at Tarah.

28 And they removed from Tarah, and pitched in Mithcah.

29 And they went from Mithcah, and pitched in Haſhmonah.

30 And they departed from Haſhmonah, and encamped at Moſeroth.

31 And they departed from Moſeroth, and pitched in Bene-jaakan.

32 And they removed from Bene-jaakan, and encamped at Hor-hagidgad.

33 And they went from Hor-hagidgad, and pitched in Jotbathah.

34 And they removed from Jotbathah, and encamped at Ebronah.

35 And they departed from Ebronah, and encamped at Ezion-gaber.

36 And they removed from Ezion-gaber, and pitched in the wilderneſs of Zin, which is Kadeſh.

37 And they removed from Kadeſh, and pitched in mount Hor, in the edge of the land of Edom.

38 And Aaron the prieſt went up into mount Hor, at the commandment of the LORD, and died there, in the fortieth year after the children of Iſrael were come out of the land of Egypt, in the firſt day of the fifth month.

39 And Aaron was an hundred and twenty and three years old when he died in mount Hor.

40 And king Arad the Canaanite (which dwelt in the ſouth, in the land of Canaan) heard of the coming of the children of Iſrael.

41 And they departed from mount Hor, and pitched in Zalmonah.

42 And they departed from Zalmonah, and pitched in Punon.

43 And they departed from Punon, and pitched in Oboth.

44 And

44 And they departed from Oboth, and pitched in Ije-abarim, in the border of Moab.

45 And they departed from Iim, and pitched in Dibon-gad.

46 And they removed from Dibon-gad, and encamped in Almon-diblathaim.

47 And they removed from Almon-diblathaim, and pitched in the mountains of Abarim, before Nebo.

48 And they departed from the mountains of Abarim, and pitched in the plains of Moab, by Jordan near Jericho.

49 And they pitched by Jordan from Beth-jesimoth, even unto Abel-shittim, in the plains of Moab.

50 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, in the plains of Moab, by Jordan near Jericho, saying,

51 Speak unto the children of Israel, and say unto them, When ye are passed over Jordan, into the land of Canaan;

52 Then ye shall drive out all the inhabitants of the land from before you, and destroy all their pictures, and destroy all their molten images, and quite pluck down all their high places.

53 And ye shall dispossess the inhabitants of the land, and dwell therein: for I have given you the land to possess it.

54 And ye shall divide the land by lot for an inheritance among your families: and to the more ye shall give the more inheritance, and to the fewer ye shall give the less inheritance: every man's inheritance shall be in the place where his lot falleth; according to the tribes of your fathers ye shall inherit.

55 But if ye will not drive out the inhabitants of the land from before you; then it shall come to pass, that those which ye let remain of them shall be pricks in your eyes, and thorns in your sides, and shall vex you in the land wherein ye dwell.

56 Moreover, it shall come to pass, that I shall do unto you as I thought to do unto them.

CHAP. XXXIV.

1 The borders of the land. 16 The names of the men which shall divide it.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

2 Command the children of Israel, and say unto them, When ye come into the land of Canaan; (this is the land that shall fall unto you for an inheritance, even the land of Canaan with the coasts thereof:)

3 Then your south quarter shall be from the wilderness of Zin, along by the coast of Edom, and your south-border shall be the utmost coast of the salt-sea east-ward.

4 And your border shall turn from the south to the ascent of Akrabbim, and pass on to Zin: and the going-forth thereof shall be from the south to Kadesh-barnea, and shall go on to Hazaraddar, and pass on to Azmon.

51 Speak unto the children of Israel, &c.] The Israelites being now shortly to pass over Jordan into the Promised Land, God commands Moses to give them a general but strict command, how they should treat the idolatrous inhabitants of that country, as the instruments of his just providence, in the punishment of their long and incurable course of vice and wickedness, and for preventing their being tainted and misled by their vicious example into any superstitious practices. Jameson.

52 Ye shall drive out all the inhabitants, &c.] That the Israelites might not be corrupted by their abominable idolatries.

Destroy all their pictures.] See note on Levit. xxvi. 1. where the same word occurs, and signifies all those images and representations, of what materials soever they were made, which were designed for any kind of idolatrous worship.

Pluck down all their high places.] Cut down the groves, and demolish the altars erected on mountains, because they thought these places were nearer to their gods than the rest of the earth.

55 Pricks in your eyes, and thorns in your sides.] Those of them whom you suffer to continue in the land, shall bring the most grievous calamities upon you. The eye is most sensible of pain of any member of the body: this image therefore pathetically expresses the grievous afflictions they were destined to suffer, if they neglected to fulfil the commands of God.

Notes on the Thirty-fourth Chapter.

Ver. 1 The Lord spake unto Moses, saying.] A strict charge having been given to the Israelites, with regard to the manner in which they were to treat the inhabitants, whose country they were now to possess; the next thing necessary was to fix and describe to them the bounds of the land, as God had promised it to Abraham, that they might know where to stop their conquests, and keep them from making any incroachments upon their neighbours. Pyle.

3 Your south-quarter shall be from the wilderness of Zin.] The south bounds were to end at the last point of the Salt or Dead-sea, running by the borders of Idumea to the most northern part of the river Nile, and to the Mediterranean-sea westward; and along by the wilderness of Zin, meeting the bounds of the river Jordan. Jameson.

Your south-border shall be the utmost coast of the Salt-sea.] Moses determines the boundary of Canaan, on the south, to be Idumea and the deserts of Arabia.

4 From the south to the ascent of Akrabbim.] Jos. xv. 3. Maaleh-acrabbim, the mount of scorpions; so called from the multitude of scorpions found there.

5 And the border ſhall fetch a compaſs from Azmon unto the river of Egypt, and the goings-out of it ſhall be at the ſea.

6 And as for the weſtern border, ye ſhall even have the great ſea for a border. This ſhall be your weſt-border.

7 And this ſhall be your north-border: from the great ſea, ye ſhall point out for you mount Hor.

8 From mount Hor ye ſhall point out your border unto the entrance of Hamath: and the goings-forth of the border ſhall be to Zedad.

9 And the border ſhall go on to Ziphron, and the goings-out of it ſhall be at Hazar-enan. This ſhall be your north-border.

10 And ye ſhall point out your eaſt-border from Hazar-enan to Shepham.

11 And the coaſt ſhall go down from Shepham to Riblah, on the eaſt-ſide of Ain; and the border ſhall deſcend, and ſhall reach unto the ſide of the ſea of Chinnereth eaſt-ward.

12 And the border ſhall go down to Jordan, and the goings-out of it ſhall be at the ſalt-ſea. This ſhall be your land with the coaſts thereof round about.

13 And Moſes commanded the children of Iſrael, ſaying, This is the land which ye ſhall inherit by lot, which the LORD commanded to give unto the nine tribes, and to the half-tribe.

14 For the tribe of the children of Reuben, according to the houſe of their fathers, and the tribe of the children of Gad, according to the houſe of their fathers, have received their inheritance, and half the tribe of Manaſſeh have received their inheritance.

15 The two tribes and the half-tribe have received their inheritance on this ſide Jordan near Jericho, eaſt-ward, toward the ſun-riſing.

16 ¶ And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

17 Theſe are the names of the men which ſhall divide the land unto you: Eleazar the prieſt and Joſhua the ſon of Nun.

18 And ye ſhall take one prince of every tribe, to divide the land by inheritance.

19 And the names of the men are theſe: of the tribe of Judah, Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh.

20 And of the tribe of the children of Simeon, Shemuel the ſon of Ammihud.

21 Of the tribe of Benjamin, Elidad the ſon of Chiſlon.

22 And the prince of the tribe of the children of Dan, Bukki the ſon of Jogli.

23 The prince of the children of Joſeph, for the tribe of the children of Manaſſeh, Haniel the ſon of Ephod.

24 And the prince of the tribe of the children of Ephraim, Kemuel the ſon of Shiphtan.

25 And the prince of the tribe of the children of Zebulun, Elizaphan the ſon of Parnach.

26 And the prince of the tribe of the children of Iſſachar, Paltiel the ſon of Azzan.

27 And the prince of the tribe of the children of Aſher, Ahihud the ſon of Shelomi.

28 And the prince of the tribe of the children of Naphtali, Pedahel the ſon of Ammihud.

5 The border ſhall fetch a compaſs from Azmon unto the river of Egypt.] i. e. To the Nile. This was farther than the Iſraelites ever extended their conqueſts; but thus far they had permiſſion to extend them.

The goings out of it ſhall be at the ſea.] The Mediterranean-ſea, called, ver. 6, the great ſea.

7 You ſhall point out for you mount Hor.] The mountain here mentioned is very different from that where Aaron died; the latter was on the ſouth of Canaan, whereas this was on the north of it: and therefore by Hor in this place we are probably to underſtand Hermon, or ſome part of mount Lebanon, which bounded Canaan on the north.

8 Unto the entrance of Hamath.] A city afterwards called Epiphania, not far from Rebob. See chap. xiii. 21.

9 The border ſhall go on to Ziphron.] Another town in thoſe parts, of which there is no other mention in ſcripture.

And the goings out of it ſhall be at Hazar-enan.] The village of the fountain, viz. of Jordan, which had its riſe in that tract.

11 The coaſt ſhall go down from Shepham to Riblah.] The eaſtern bounds ran from the head of Jordan along the whole courſe of the river to the Dead-ſea, till it met the ſouth bounds in the borders of Edom. Shepham and Riblah were two towns on the banks of Jordan.

The border ſhall reach unto the ſea of Chinnereth.] Called in the New Teſtament the ſea of Tiberias, or Galilee.

12 The goings out of it ſhall be at the ſalt-ſea.] Where the eaſtern border met the ſouthern.

13 This is the land which ye ſhall inherit by lot.] This is repeated, that they might not extend their deſires beyond the bounds of God's gracious grant to them. From the foregoing deſcription, it appears, that they were placed in a very pleaſant country; being bounded on the ſouth by lofty mountains, which ſheltered them from the ſultry air of the Arabian deſerts; on the weſt by the Mediterranean-ſea, which ſent them refreſhing breezes; on the north by mount Lebanon, which kept off the colder blaſts from that quarter; on the eaſt by the delightful plains of Jordan. Patrick.

Notes

29 These are they whom the LORD commanded to divide the inheritance unto the children of Israel in the land of Canaan.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 Eight and forty cities given to the Levites. 6 Six of them to be cities of refuge. 9 The laws of murder.

AND the LORD spake unto Moses in the plains of Moab, by Jordan near Jericho, saying,

2 Command the children of Israel, that they give unto the Levites of the inheritance of their possession cities to dwell in: and ye shall give also unto the Levites suburbs for the cities round about them.

3 And the cities shall they have to dwell in; and the suburbs of them shall be for their cattle, and for their goods, and for all their beasts.

4 And the suburbs of the cities which ye shall give unto the Levites, shall reach from the wall of the city and outward, a thousand cubits round about.

5 And ye shall measure from without the city on the east-side two thousand cubits, and on the south-side two thousand cubits, and on the west-side two thousand cubits, and on the north-side two thousand cubits: and the city shall be in the midst: this shall be to them the suburbs of the cities.

6 ¶ And among the cities which ye shall give unto the Levites there shall be six cities for refuge, which ye shall appoint for the manslayer, that he may flee thither: and to them ye shall add forty and two cities.

7 So all the cities which ye shall give to the Levites shall be forty and eight cities: them shall ye give with their suburbs.

8 And the cities which ye shall give shall be of the possession of the children of Israel: from them that have many, ye shall give many; but from them that have few, ye shall give few: every one shall give of his cities unto the Levites, according to his inheritance which he inheriteth.

9 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

10 Speak unto the children of Israel, and say unto them, When ye be come over Jordan, into the land of Canaan;

11 Then ye shall appoint you cities, to be cities of refuge for you; that the slayer may flee thither which killeth any person at unawares.

12 And they shall be unto you cities for refuge from the avenger; that the manslayer die not, until he stand before the congregation in judgment.

13 And of these cities which ye shall give, six cities shall ye have for refuge.

14 Ye shall give three cities on this side Jordan, and three cities shall ye give in the land of Canaan, which shall be cities of refuge.

15 These six cities shall be a refuge, both for the children of Israel, and for the stranger, and for the sojourner among them: that every one that killeth any person unawares may flee thither.

16 And if he smite him with an instrument of iron, so that he die, he is a murderer: the murderer shall surely be put to death.

17 And if he smite him with throwing a stone wherewith he may die, and he die, he is a murderer: the murderer shall surely be put to death.

Notes on the Thirty-fifth Chapter.

Ver. 1 The Lord spake unto Moses, &c.] The land being ordered to be divided by lot among the tribes of Israel, it was reasonable some provision should be made for the priests and Levites, who were a distinct body from the rest of the nation, and had no share in the division of the country; Moses therefore now appoints them several towns, with such a portion of lands about them, as would serve for their commodious subsistence. Pyle.

4 A thousand cubits.] In the Greek version it is 2000, which the next verse certainly proves to be the right reading: 2000 cubits is about three fourths of a mile.

6 Six cities for refuge.] The Levites were to have forty-eight cities, ver. 7. six of which were to be cities of refuge, or privileged places, whither any person who had the misfortune to kill another accidentally, might immediately repair and take sanctuary. These asylums were very different from those of other nations. They did not screen the guilty from the stroke of justice; the person who flew thither for protection was properly tried; and, if found guilty of having killed his neighbour designedly, was put to death; but if it appeared that the action was purely accidental, he was returned to the city of refuge, and dwelt there in safety.

16 If he smite him with an instrument, &c.] It was presumed that if he run at a man with any sort of weapon, he intended to do him a mischief, though perhaps he had no malice to him beforehand, but did it in a passion.

25 He

18 Or if he ſmite him with an hand-weapon of wood wherewith he may die, and he die, he is a murderer: the murderer ſhall ſurely be put to death.

19 The revenger of blood himſelf ſhall ſlay the murderer: when he meeteth him, he ſhall ſlay him.

20 But if he thruſt him of hatred, or hurl at him by laying of wait, that he die;

21 Or in enmity ſmite him with his hand, that he die: he that ſmote him ſhall ſurely be put to death; for he is a murderer: the revenger of blood ſhall ſlay the murderer, when he meeteth him.

22 But if he thruſt him ſuddenly without enmity, or have caſt upon him any thing without laying of wait:

23 Or with any ſtone wherewith a man may die, ſeeing him not, and caſt it upon him that he die, and was not his enemy, neither ſought his harm:

24 Then the congregation ſhall judge between the ſlayer and the revenger of blood, according to theſe judgments.

25 And the congregation ſhall deliver the ſlayer out of the hand of the revenger of blood, and the congregation ſhall reſtore him to the city of his refuge whither he was fled: and he ſhall abide in it unto the death of the high prieſt, which was anointed with the holy oil.

26 But if the ſlayer ſhall at any time come without the border of the city of his refuge, whither he was fled;

27 And the revenger of blood find him without the borders of the city of his refuge, and the revenger of blood kill the ſlayer; he ſhall not be guilty of blood:

28 Becauſe he ſhould have remained in the city of his refuge until the death of the high prieſt: but after the death of the high prieſt, the ſlayer ſhall return into the land of his poſſeſſion.

29 So theſe things ſhall be for a ſtatute of judgement unto you, throughout your generations in all your dwellings.

30 Whoſo killeth any perſon, the murderer ſhall be put to death by the mouth of witneſſes: but one witneſs ſhall not teſtify againſt any perſon to cauſe him to die.

31 Moreover, ye ſhall take no ſatisfaction for the life of a murderer, which is guilty of death: but he ſhall be ſurely put to death.

32 And ye ſhall take no ſatisfaction for him that is fled to the city of his refuge, that he ſhould come again to dwell in the land, until the death of the prieſt.

33 So ye ſhall not pollute the land wherein ye are: for blood it defileth the land: and the land cannot be cleanſed of the blood that is ſhed therein, but by the blood of him that ſhed it.

34 Defile not therefore the land which ye ſhall inhabit, wherein I dwell: for I the LORD dwell among the children of Iſrael.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 The inconvenience of the inheritance of daughters is remedied. 10 The marriage of the daughters of Zelophehad.

AND the chief fathers of the families of the children of Gilead, the ſon of Machir, the ſon of Manaſſeh, of the families of the ſons of Joſeph, came near, and ſpake before Moſes, and before the princes the chief fathers of the children of Iſrael.

25 He ſhall abide in it unto the death of the high-prieſt.] Several interpreters conſider the high-prieſt, in this reſpect, as a type of Chriſt, by whoſe death mankind obtain a ſpiritual freedom and deliverance. The reaſon which the Jews give why he was baniſhed till the death of the high-prieſt is, that the death of ſo great a perſon was the moſt proper motive to make all reſentment on the part of the proſecutor to ceaſe.

27 Kill the ſlayer.] It ſhould have been tranſlated murderer. See Pilkington's Rem.

30 By the mouth of witneſſes.] In right reaſon there ſhould be two, becauſe a witneſs who affirms, and the accuſed who denies, make an equal balance, and a third muſt incline the ſcale.

31 Ye ſhall take no ſatisfaction for the life of a murderer.] This rigid ſeverity of the law, in ſuffering no compenſation to be accepted for the life of a murderer, ſerved to impreſs the minds of the people with a deep ſenſe of the heinouſneſs of the crime of murder, ſince nothing leſs than the blood of the criminal could expiate that guilt, and cleanſe the land from its pollution. Jameſon.

Notes on the Thirty-ſixth Chapter.

Ver. 1 The chief fathers of the families, &c.] The portion that had been given to the daughters of Zelophehad, and the law which ordered the eſtates of thoſe who died without iſſue male ſhould deſcend to their daughters, gave the elders of Iſrael ſome reaſon to fear that, by theſe heireſſes marrying into different

2 And they ſaid, The LORD commanded my lord to give the land for an inheritance by lot to the children of Iſrael: and my lord was commanded by the LORD to give the inheritance of Zelophehad our brother unto his daughters.

3 And if they be married to any of the ſons of the other tribes of the children of Iſrael; then ſhall their inheritance be taken from the inheritance of our fathers, and ſhall be put to the inheritance of the tribe whereunto they are received: ſo ſhall it be taken from the lot of our inheritance.

4 And when the jubile of the children of Iſrael ſhall be, then ſhall their inheritance be put unto the inheritance of the tribe whereunto they are received: ſo ſhall their inheritance be taken away from the inheritance of the tribe of our fathers.

5 And Moſes commanded the children of Iſrael, according to the word of the LORD, ſaying, the tribe of the ſons of Joſeph hath ſaid well.

6 This is the thing which the LORD doth command concerning the daughters of Zelophehad, ſaying, Let them marry to whom they think beſt; only to the family of the tribe of their father ſhall they marry.

7 So ſhall not the inheritance of the children of Iſrael remove from tribe to tribe: for every one of the children of Iſrael ſhall keep himſelf to the inheritance of the tribe of his fathers.

8 And every daughter that poſſeſſeth an inheritance in any tribe of the children of Iſrael, ſhall be wife unto one of the family of the tribe of her father, that the children of Iſrael may enjoy every man the inheritance of his fathers.

9 Neither ſhall the inheritance remove from one tribe to another tribe; but every one of the tribes of the children of Iſrael ſhall keep himſelf to his own inheritance.

10 ¶ Even as the LORD commanded Moſes, ſo did the daughters of Zelophehad:

11 For Mahlah, Tirzah, and Hoglah, and Milcah, and Noah, the daughters of Zelophehad, were married unto their father's brothers ſons.

12 And they were married into the families of the ſons of Manaſſeh the ſon of Joſeph, and their inheritance remained in the tribe of the family of their father.

13 Theſe are the commandments and the judgements which the LORD commanded by the hand of Moſes, unto the children of Iſrael, in the plains of Moab, by Jordan near Jericho.

rent tribes, the parts allotted to each would be confounded, as theſe eſtates would of courſe be alienated from their own tribe, and incorporated into another, by the right of their huſbands; nor would the year of jubilee rectify this inconvenience, ſince theſe inheritances would, by the common right of marriage, deſcend at the jubilee to the heirs of thoſe women who married into another tribe. Theſe conſiderations induced them to preſent a petition to Moſes, to deſire him to prevent this inconvenience by a particular law. Pyle.

6 Let them marry to whom they think beſt.] They were not confined to any particular perſon, but allowed to chuſe among thoſe that were deſcended of the ſame ſtock, with this proviſo, that they might not marry a man of another tribe, nor a man of another family in their own. Patrick.

8 Every daughter that poſſeſſeth an inheritance.] Women that were heireſſes ſhould do as they are here commanded; but with regard to thoſe who had no inheritances, they might marry into what tribe they pleaſed.

THE FIFTH BOOK OF MOSES,

CALLED

DEUTERONOMY.

THE ARGUMENT.

This Book is from the Greek called DEUTERONOMY, a second law, being for the greatest part a recapitulation of the several laws already delivered. The Israelites, that were at the first delivery of the law in the wilderness, were now dead. This repetition therefore seemed necessary to be made to this new generation of men; especially if we consider how prone the Jews were to forget God, and his most amazing miracles wrought in their favour. It contains, however, several additional laws, explications, and enlargements, enforced by the strongest and most pathetic motives to obedience. MOSES courts the Israelites to be obedient and happy; he calls heaven and earth to witness against them; he lays before them life and death; the most comprehensive blessings, and the most consummate misery. All the speeches and passages of the Book were comprehended in the space of a month; for it begins on the first day of the eleventh month, and on the first day of the twelfth MOSES is supposed to have died.

CHAP. I.

1 Moses in the end of the fortieth year briefly rehearseth the story, 6 of God's promise, 34 and his anger for their incredulity, 41 and disobedience.

THESE be the words which Moses spake unto all Israel on this side Jordan in the wilderness, in the plain over against the Red sea, between Paran, and Tophel, and Laban, and Hazeroth, and Dizahab.

2 (There are eleven days journey from Horeb, by the way of mount Seir, unto Kadesh-barnea.)

3 And it came to pass in the fortieth year, in the eleventh month, on the first day of the month, that Moses spake unto the children of Israel, according unto all that the LORD had given him in commandment unto them;

4 After he had slain Sihon the king of the Amorites, which dwelt in Heshbon, and Og the king of Bashan, which dwelt at Astaroth in Edrei:

5 On this side Jordan, in the land of Moab, began Moses to declare this law, saying,

6 ¶ The LORD our God spake unto us in Horeb, saying, Ye have dwelt long enough in this mount:

Notes on the First Chapter.

Ver. 1 These be the words, &c.] Moses spent this last part of his life in laying before the Israelites an account of their travels, with the many providences, mercies, and judgments attending them; in repeating the laws before prescribed, and in the most pressing exhortations to a grateful and dutiful obedience.

On this side Jordan.] i. e. On the east side, where they were encamped.

Over against the Red sea.] This must be a wrong translation; they were now at a great distance from the Red sea. The original word Suph signifies a rush, and probably was the name of some place near the Dead sea, so called from the great number of rushes growing there. The margin has Zuph.

2 There are eleven days journey, &c.] As if Moses had said, the way between Horeb and the plains of Moab, is but a few days journey, even to those who go by Kadesh-barnea, yet it pleased God that the Israelites could not accomplish it in less than 38 years.

4 Astaroth.] An antient city in the country of Bashan.

7 Go

7 Turn ye, and take your journey, and go to the mount of the Amorites, and unto all the places nigh thereunto, in the plain, in the hills, and in the vale, and in the ſouth, and by the ſea-ſide; to the land of the Canaanites, and unto Lebanon, unto the great river the river Euphrates.

8 Behold, I have ſet the land before you: go in and poſſeſs the land which the LORD ſware unto your fathers, Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, to give unto them, and to their ſeed after them.

9 And I ſpake unto you at that time, ſaying, I am not able to bear you my ſelf alone:

10 The LORD your God hath multiplied you, and behold, ye are this day as the ſtars of heaven for multitude:

11 (The LORD God of your fathers make you a thouſand times ſo many more as ye are, and bleſs you as he hath promiſed you;)

12 How can I myſelf alone bear your cumbrance, and your burden, and your ſtrife?

13 Take ye wiſe men and underſtanding, and known among your tribes, and I will make them rulers over you.

14 And ye anſwered me, and ſaid, The thing which thou haſt ſpoken, is good for us to do.

15 So I took the chief of your tribes, wiſe men, and known, and made them heads over you, captains over thouſands, and captains over hundreds, and captains over fifties, and captains over tens, and officers among your tribes.

16 And I charged your judges at that time, ſaying, Hear the cauſes between your brethren, and judge righteouſly between every man and his brother, and the ſtranger that is with him.

17 Ye ſhall not reſpect perſons in judgement, but ye ſhall hear the ſmall as well as the great: ye ſhall not be afraid of the face of man; for the judgement is God's; and the cauſe that is too hard for you, bring it unto me, and I will hear it.

18 And I commanded you at that time all the things which ye ſhould do.

19 And when we departed from Horeb, we went through all that great and terrible wilderneſs, which ye ſaw by the way of the mountain of the Amorites, as the LORD our God commanded us; and we came to Kadeſh-barnea.

20 And I ſaid unto you, Ye are come unto the mountain of the Amorites, which the LORD our God doth give unto us.

21 Behold, the LORD thy God hath ſet the land before thee: go up, and poſſeſs it, as the LORD God of thy fathers hath ſaid unto thee; fear not, neither be diſcouraged.

22 And ye came near unto me every one of you, and ſaid, We will ſend men before us, and they ſhall ſearch us out the land, and bring us word again by what way we muſt go up, and into what cities we ſhall come.

23 And the ſaying pleaſed me well. And I took twelve men of you, one of a tribe:

24 And they turned, and went up into the mountain, and came unto the valley of Eſhcol, and ſearched it out.

25 And they took of the fruit of the land in their hands, and brought it down unto us, and brought us word again, and ſaid, It is a good land, which the LORD our God doth give us.

26 Notwithſtanding ye would not go up, but rebelled againſt the commandment of the LORD your God.

27 And ye murmured in your tents, and ſaid, Becauſe the LORD hated us, he hath

---

7 Go to the mount of the Amorites—in the plain, and in the hills, and in the vale, and in the ſouth.] This paſſage might be rendered, "Go unto Ar of the Amorites, and to all the places nigh "thereunto, in Arebah, in Ar, in Shapelah, and in Negeb." Though Ar ſignifies a mount, it was alſo the proper name of a place, Numb. xxi. 28. Arebah commonly ſignifies a plain, but might it not alſo be a name given to certain diſtricts? Though Shapelah ſignifies a vale, and Negeb the ſouth, might not they alſo be proper names of places? which muſt give the reader a more determinate idea of the country than if they were rendered by appellatives. Pilkington's Rem.

17 For the judgment is God's.] They were God's miniſters, and acted by his authority, and therefore ought to give judgment with perfect equity, reſolution, and impartiality, remembering that they were the repreſentatives of the Almighty, and accountable to him.

19 That great and terrible wilderneſs.] Great, becauſe it was large and extended; terrible, becauſe almoſt every where deſolate, its only inhabitants being the wild beaſts of the foreſt.

27 Becauſe the Lord hated us, &c.] Hence we ſee what unworthy ideas the Iſraelites had conceived of the Divine Majeſty. They thought God had brought them out of Egypt merely to render their condition worſe than before; when, in reality, every ingenuous mind would have conſidered it as one of the greateſt bleſſings, brought us forth out of the land of Egypt, to deliver us into the hand of the Amorites, to deſtroy us.

28 Whither ſhall we go up? our brethren have diſcouraged our heart, ſaying, The people is greater and taller than we; the cities are great and walled up to heaven; and moreover we have ſeen the ſons of the Anakims there.

29 Then I ſaid unto you, Dread not, neither be afraid of them.

30 The LORD your God which goeth before you, he ſhall fight for you, according to all that he did for you in Egypt before your eyes;

31 And in the wilderneſs, where thou haſt ſeen how that the LORD thy God bare thee as a man doth bear his ſon, in all the way that ye went, until ye came into this place.

32 Yet in this thing ye did not believe the LORD your God.

33 Who went in the way before you to ſearch you out a place to pitch your tents in, in fire by night to ſhew you by what way ye ſhould go, and in a cloud by day.

34 ¶ And the LORD heard the voice of your words, and was wroth, and ſware, ſaying,

35 Surely there ſhall not one of theſe men of this evil generation ſee that good land, which I ſware to give unto your fathers;

36 Save Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh; he ſhall ſee it, and to him will I give the land that he hath trodden upon, and to his children, becauſe he hath wholly followed the LORD.

37 Alſo the LORD was angry with me for your ſakes, ſaying, Thou alſo ſhalt not go in thither.

38 But Joſhua the ſon of Nun, which ſtandeth before thee, he ſhall go in thither. Encourage him: for he ſhall cauſe Iſrael to inherit it.

39 Moreover, your little ones, which ye ſaid ſhould be a prey, and your children, which in that day had no knowledge between good and evil, they ſhall go in thither, and unto them will I give it, and they ſhall poſſeſs it.

40 But as for you, turn ye, and take your journey into the wilderneſs by the way of the Red ſea.

41 ¶ Then ye anſwered and ſaid unto me, We have ſinned againſt the LORD: we will go up and fight, according to all that the LORD our God commanded us. And when ye had girded on every man his weapons of war, ye were ready to go up into the hill.

42 And the LORD ſaid unto me, Say unto them, go not up, neither fight; for I am not among you; leſt ye be ſmitten before your enemies.

43 So I ſpake unto you; and ye would not hear, but rebelled againſt the commandment of the LORD, and went preſumptuouſly up into the hill.

44 And the Amorites which dwelt in that mountain came out againſt you, and chaſed you as bees do, and deſtroyed you in Seir, even unto Hormah.

45 And ye returned and wept before the LORD: but the LORD would not hearken to your voice, nor give ear unto you.

46 So ye abode in Kadeſh many days, according unto the days that ye abode there.

CHAP. II.

bleſſings, to be delivered from a moſt cruel ſlavery and oppreſſion, to be governed by laws and rulers of their own chuſing.

28 The cities are great, and walled up to heaven.] An hyperbolical expreſſion common in the oriental languages, implying no more than that the walls of the cities were exceeding lofty.

30 He ſhall fight for you.] This aſſurance, one would think, ſhould have been more than ſufficient to have begotten in them a firm reliance on God's protection, ſince they had ſeen the ſame hand that now promiſed to fight againſt their enemies, deſtroy Pharoah and all his hoſt in the Red-ſea.

31 God bare thee as a man doth bear his ſon.] The tender care of Providence towards them was as indulgent, as that of a kind father towards his infant ſon, whom he bears in his arms. Patrick.

37 The Lord was angry with me for your ſakes.] In the wilderneſs of Zin, when, by their freſh diſcontents, they ſo highly provoked Moſes, that he ſpake unadviſedly with his lips, Pſalm cvi. 33.

44 Chaſed you as bees do.] This metaphor admirably deſcribes the fierceneſs and animoſity of the Amorites: for bees combat with ſuch fury, that they never quit the fight but with the loſs of their lives, Numb. xiv. 45. Implacable enemies are compared to bees, Pſalm cxviii. 12.

Notes

THEN we turned, and took our journey into the wilderneſs by the way of the Red ſea, as the LORD ſpake unto me: and we compaſſed mount Seir many days.

2 And the LORD ſpake unto me, ſaying,

3 Ye have compaſſed this mountain long enough; turn ye north-ward.

4 And command thou the people, ſaying, Ye are to paſs through the coaſt of your brethren the children of Eſau, which dwell in Seir; and they ſhall be afraid of you: take ye good heed unto your ſelves therefore.

5 Meddle not with them: for I will not give you of their land, no not ſo much as a foot breadth; becauſe I have given mount Seir unto Eſau for a poſſeſſion.

6 Ye ſhall buy meat of them for money, that ye may eat; and ye ſhall alſo buy water of them for money, that ye may drink.

7 For the LORD thy God hath bleſſed thee in all the works of thy hand: he knoweth thy walking through this great wilderneſs: theſe forty years the LORD thy God hath been with thee; thou haſt lacked nothing.

8 And when we paſſed by from our brethren the children of Eſau, which dwelt in Seir, through the way of the plain, from Elath, and from Ezion-gaber, we turned and paſſed by the way of the wilderneſs of Moab.

9 ¶ And the LORD ſaid unto me, Diſtreſs not the Moabites, neither contend with them in battle: for I will not give thee of their land for a poſſeſſion; becauſe I have given Ar unto the children of Lot for a poſſeſſion.

10 (The Emims dwelt therein in times paſt, a people great, and many, and tall as the Anakims;

11 Which alſo were accounted giants, as the Anakims; but the Moabites call them Emims.

12 The Horims alſo dwelt in Seir beforetime; but the children of Eſau ſucceeded them when they had deſtroyed them from before them, and dwelt in their ſtead; as Iſrael did unto the land of his poſſeſſion, which the LORD gave unto them.)

13 Now riſe up, ſaid I, and get ye over the brook Zered: and we went over the brook Zered.

14 And the ſpace in which we came from Kadeſh-barnea, until we were come over the brook Zered, was thirty and eight years; until all the generation of the men of war were waſted out from among the hoſt, as the LORD ſware unto them.

15 For indeed the hand of the LORD was againſt them, to deſtroy them from among the hoſt, until they were conſumed.

16 So it came to paſs, when all the men of war were conſumed and dead from among the people,

17 That the LORD ſpake unto me, ſaying,

18 ¶ Thou art to paſs over through Ar, the coaſt of Moab, this day.

19 And when thou comeſt nigh over againſt the children of Ammon, diſtreſs them not, nor meddle with them; for I will not give thee of the land of the children of Ammon any poſſeſſion; becauſe I have given it unto the children of Lot for a poſſeſſion.

20 (That alſo was accounted a land of giants: giants dwelt therein in old time, and the Ammonites call them Zamzummims;

21 A people great, and many, and tall as the Anakims: but the LORD deſtroyed them before them, and they ſucceeded them, and dwelt in their ſtead.

22 As he did to the children of Eſau which dwelt in Seir, when he deſtroyed the Horims from before them, and they ſucceeded them, and dwelt in their ſtead even unto this day:

Notes on the Second Chapter.

Ver. 1 Then we turned, &c.] From the borders of Canaan to go ſouthward. Here Moſes proceeded in relating to this new generation of Iſraelites, how their fathers ſpent near 38 years in tedious marches to and fro, through that deſert country, reaching from Kadeſh to the Red-ſea, till that race of murmurers was quite extinct, when orders were again given to direct their courſe towards Canaan.

10 The Emims dwelt therein.] The word, in the original, ſignifies terrible, and was probably given them by the Moabites, from their being remarkably terrible to their neighbours.

12 The Horims alſo dwelt in Seir.] The hiſtory of the expulſion of the Emims by the Moabites, and of the Horites by the Edomites, is no where recorded; but it ſeems to be mentioned here as an encouragement to the Iſraelites, not to fear the ſtouteſt enemies that might oppoſe their poſſeſſing themſelves of the Promiſed Land.

20 The Ammonites call them Zamzummims.] Moſes mentions the Zuzims, Gen. xiv. 5; and, from their being joined there with the ſame people as here, it is probable they were the ſame.

23 And the Avims, which dwelt in Hazerim, even unto Azzah; the Caphtorims, which came forth out of Caphtor, deſtroyed them, and dwelt in their ſtead.)

24 ¶ Riſe ye up, take your journey, and paſs over the river Arnon: behold, I have given into thine hand Sihon the Amorite king of Heſhbon, and his land: begin to poſſeſs it, and contend with him in battle.

25 This day will I begin to put the dread of thee and the fear of thee upon the nations that are under the whole heaven, who ſhall hear report of thee, and ſhall tremble, and be in anguiſh becauſe of thee.

26 And I ſent meſſengers out of the wilderneſs of Kedemoth unto Sihon king of Heſhbon, with words of peace, ſaying,

27 Let me paſs through thy land: I will go along by the high-way, I will neither turn unto the right hand nor to the left:

28 Thou ſhalt ſell me meat for money, that I may eat; and give me water for money that I may drink: only I will paſs through on my feet;

29 (As the children of Eſau, which dwell in Seir, and the Moabites, which dwell in Ar, did unto me;) until I ſhall paſs over Jordan, into the land which the LORD our God giveth us.

30 But Sihon king of Heſhbon would not let us paſs by him: for the LORD thy God hardened his ſpirit, and made his heart obſtinate, that he might deliver him into thy hand, as appeareth this day.

31 And the LORD ſaid unto me, Behold, I have begun to give Sihon and his land before thee: begin to poſſeſs, that thou mayeſt inherit his land.

32 Then Sihon came out againſt us, he and all his people, to fight at Jahaz.

33 And the LORD our God delivered him before us; and we ſmote him, and his ſons, and all his people.

34 And we took all his cities at that time, and utterly deſtroyed the men, and the women, and the little ones of every city, we left none to remain:

35 Only the cattle we took for a prey unto our ſelves, and the ſpoil of the cities which we took.

36 From Aroer which is by the brink of the river of Arnon, and from the city that is by the river, even unto Gilead, there was not one city too ſtrong for us: the LORD our God delivered all unto us.

37 Only unto the land of the children of Ammon thou cameſt not, nor unto any place of the river Jabbok, nor unto the cities in the mountains, nor unto whatſoever the LORD our God forbad us.

CHAP. III.

1 Of Og king of Baſhan. 23 Moſes' prayer to enter into the land. 26 He is permitted to ſee it.

THEN we turned, and went up the way to Baſhan: and Og the king of Baſhan came out againſt us, he and all his people, to battle at Edrei.

2 And the LORD ſaid unto me; Fear him not: for I will deliver him, and all his people, and his land into thy hand; and thou ſhalt do unto him as thou didſt unto Sihon king of the Amorites, which dwelt at Heſhbon.

3 So the LORD our God delivered into our hands Og alſo the king of Baſhan, and all his people: and we ſmote him until none was left to him remaining.

23 The Avims which dwelt in Hazerim.] We have here another inſtance of God's diſpoſing of countries unto what people he pleaſes. The Amims are mentioned, Joſhua xiii. 3, as the ancient inhabitants of Paleſtine.

The Caphtorims.] i. e. The Philiſtines, who were called Caphtorim, from their founder, who ſettled in Caphtor, a country in or about Egypt. The words are ſomewhat tranſpoſed, the meaning is, that a people called Caphtorims deſtroyed the Avims, and poſſeſſed their country.

30 The Lord thy God hardened his ſpirit.] That is, God ſuffered his heart to be hardened; he gave him over to his own inflexible humour, which was ſet upon violent courſes.

Notes on the Third Chapter.

Ver. 1 Then we turned and went up the way to Baſhan.] Moſes, as a further encouragement to the Iſraelites to proceed with a firm dependence on the Divine Power, and in a ſteady obedience to the laws preſcribed them, goes on reminding them of the amazing ſucceſs with which their arms were attended againſt Og, king of Baſhan.

4 And we took all his cities at that time, there was not a city which we took not from them; threeſcore cities, all the region of Argob, the kingdom of Og in Baſhan.

5 All theſe cities were fenced with high walls, gates, and bars: beſide unwalled towns a great many.

6 And we utterly deſtroyed them, as we did unto Sihon king of Heſhbon, utterly deſtroying the men, women, and children of every city.

7 But all the cattle, and the ſpoil of the cities we took for a prey to ourſelves.

8 And we took at that time out of the hand of the two kings of the Amorites the land that was on this ſide Jordan, from the river of Arnon unto mount Hermon;

9 (Which Hermon the Sidonians call Sirion: and the Amorites call it Shenir;)

10 All the cities of the plain, and all Gilead, and all Baſhan, unto Salchah and Edrei, cities of the kingdom of Og in Baſhan.

11 For only Og king of Baſhan remained of the remnant of giants. Behold, his bedſtead was a bed-ſtead of iron: is it not in Rabbath of the children of Ammon? nine cubits was the length thereof, and four cubits the breadth of it, after the cubit of a man.

12 And this land which we poſſeſſed at that time, from Aroer, which is by the river Arnon, and half mount Gilead, and the cities thereof, gave I unto the Reubenites and to the Gadites.

13 And the reſt of Gilead, and all Baſhan, being the kingdom of Og, gave I unto the half-tribe of Manaſſeh; all the region of Argob, with all Baſhan, which was called the land of giants.

14 Jair the ſon of Manaſſeh took all the country of Argob, unto the coaſts of Geſhuri, and Maachathi; and called them after his own name, Baſhan-havoth-jair, unto this day.

15 And I gave Gilead unto Machir.

16 And unto the Reubenites, and unto the Gadites, I gave from Gilead even unto the river Arnon, half the valley, and the border, even unto the river Jabbok, which is the border of the children of Ammon;

17 The plain alſo, and Jordan, and the coaſt thereof, from Chinnereth even unto the ſea of the plain, even the ſalt-ſea, under Aſhdoth-piſgah eaſt-ward.

18 And I commanded you at that time, ſaying, The LORD your God hath given you this land to poſſeſs it: ye ſhall paſs over armed before your brethren the children of Iſrael, all that are meet for the war:

19 But your wives, and your little ones, and your cattle (for I know that ye have much cattle;) ſhall abide in your cities which I have given you;

20 Until the LORD have given reſt unto your brethren, as well as unto you, and until they alſo poſſeſs the land which the LORD your God

---

4 All the regions of Argob.] A ſmall province lying between Jordan and the mountains of Gilead, a little above the ſea of Galilee; this region was afterwards called Trachonitis.

8 From the river Arnon unto mount Hermon.] Arnon was the boundary of the land of the Amorites on the ſouth; and Hermon, a mountain of Gilead, the northern limit.

9 Which Hermon the Sidonians call Sirion.] Sirion ſignifies a mountain; Hermon, by way of eminence, by the Sidonians is called the mountain. It is thus called, Pſalm xxix. 6.

The Amorites call it Shenir.] The reaſon why Moſes mentions the ſeveral names of this mountain ſeems to be, that the Iſraelites, who were to conſider this as the north boundary, might not be deceived by this diverſity of appellations.

10 Unto Salchah.] The ſituation of this place is not directly known, but is mentioned both here and Joſ. xiii. 11, as the bounds of Baſhan towards Hermon and Lebanon.

11 His bed-ſtead was a bed-ſtead of iron.] Bed-ſteads of iron were not uncommon in antient days, though of much later date: Thucydides ſays, when the Thebans took Platea, they made beds of the braſs and iron they found there.

Is it not in Rabbath of the children of Ammon?] Rabbath was the capital of the Ammonites; probably Og, fearing the worſt, might ſend his bed and moſt valuable furniture there, to have them preſerved.

Nine cubits was the length thereof, and four cubits the breadth of it.] Hence it appears, that Og was ſix cubits high, reckoning the bed-ſtead to have been made, according to the common cuſtom, a third part longer than the perſon who lay in it. Conſequently he was ten feet and a half of our meaſure in height, or as tall again as an ordinary man.

14 Coaſts of Geſhuri, and Maachathi.] A people of Syria, to the north of the tribe of Manaſſeh, near the ſource of the river Jordan.

Baſhan-havoth-jair.] i. e. Baſhan the villages of Jair.

16 Half the valley.] It ſhould have been rendered, half the river; that is, to the middle of the river of Arnon, as it is rightly tranſlated, Joſ. xii. 2. So it is rendered by the LXX and Vulgate.

17 Under Aſhdoth-piſgah.] Rather, under the roots of Piſgah: that is, they poſſeſſed the places lying under mount Piſgah; or, as other render it, under the ſprings of Piſgah.

hath given them beyond Jordan: and then ſhall ye return every man unto his poſſeſſion which I have given you.

21 And I commanded Joſhua at that time, ſaying, Thine eyes have ſeen all that the LORD your God hath done unto theſe two kings: ſo ſhall the LORD do unto all the kingdoms whither thou paſſeſt.

22 Ye ſhall not fear them: for the LORD your God he ſhall fight for you.

23 ¶ And I beſought the LORD at that time, ſaying,

24 O Lord GOD, thou haſt begun to ſhew thy ſervant thy greatneſs, and thy mighty hand: for what God is there in heaven or in earth, that can do according to thy works, and according to thy might?

25 I pray thee, let me go over, and ſee the good land that is beyond Jordan, that goodly mountain, and Lebanon.

26 ¶ But the LORD was wroth with me for your ſakes, and would not hear me. And the LORD ſaid unto me, Let it ſuffice thee; ſpeak no more unto me of this matter.

27 Get thee up into the top of Piſgah, and lift up thine eyes weſt-ward, and north-ward, and ſouth-ward, and eaſt-ward, and behold it with thine eyes: for thou ſhalt not go over this Jordan.

28 But charge Joſhua, and encourage him and ſtrengthen him: for he ſhall go over before this people, and he ſhall cauſe them to inherit the land which thou ſhalt ſee.

29 So we abode in the valley over againſt Beth-peor.

CHAP. IV.

1 An exhortation to obedience. 41 Moſes appointeth the three cities of refuge on this ſide Jordan.

NOW therefore hearken, O Iſrael, unto the ſtatutes and unto the judgements which I teach you, for to do them, that ye may live, and go in and poſſeſs the land which the LORD God of your fathers giveth you.

2 Ye ſhall not add unto the word which I command you, neither ſhall ye diminiſh ought from it, that ye may keep the commandments of the LORD your God which I command you.

3 Your eyes have ſeen what the LORD did, becauſe of Baal-peor: for all the men that followed Baal-peor, the LORD thy God hath deſtroyed them from among you.

4 But ye that did cleave unto the LORD your God are alive every one of you this day.

5 Behold, I have taught you ſtatutes and judgements, even as the LORD my God commanded me, that ye ſhould do ſo in the land whither ye go to poſſeſs it.

6 Keep therefore and do them: for this is your wiſdom and your underſtanding in the ſight of the nations, which ſhall hear all theſe ſtatutes, and ſay, Surely this great nation is a wiſe and underſtanding people.

7 For what nation is there ſo great, who hath God ſo nigh unto them as the LORD our God is in all things that we call upon him for?

8 And what nation is there ſo great, that hath ſtatutes and judgements ſo righteous as all this law which I ſet before you this day?

---

23 I beſought the Lord at that time.] He beſought God not to execute the ſentence he had pronounced againſt him; namely, that he ſhould ſhortly die, and not be allowed to enter the land of Canaan.

Notes on the Fourth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Now therefore hearken, O Iſrael.] Moſes having thus laid before them ſo long a train of divine diſpenſations towards their nation, exhorted them in the moſt ſerious and earneſt manner, to be punctually obedient to the laws of God, and cautious of offending him; this being the very intent for which they were conducted to the Promiſed Land, and the abſolute condition of their peaceful and happy enjoyment of it. Pyle.

2 Ye ſhall not add unto the word which I command you, neither ſhall you diminiſh ought from it.] i. e. You ſhall neither add to the law, which I have given you, any heatheniſh ſuperſtitions, or modes of worſhip of your own invention; nor ſhall you wilfully omit any plain duty which it requires. But it muſt not be ſuppoſed that no future prophet commiſſioned by God, had power to alter any part, or even to change the whole of the Moſaic diſpenſation; for the ſame God who had commiſſioned Moſes to inſtitute laws to the Jews, which were adapted to the preſent temper of that people, might commiſſion other prophets to abrogate and ſet thoſe inſtitutions aſide, when the end of them was attained. And though the Almighty thought proper to conceal from Moſes, that his laws were to be only of a temporary duration, and that they had no other intention than to introduce a better and more perfect diſpenſation, yet this did not hinder him from revealing that myſtery to others. Le Clerc.

7 What nation is there ſo great, who hath God ſo nigh unto them?] The Jews were the only nation under heaven, that had a ſymbol of God's preſence continually among them. Patrick.

8 Statutes and judgments ſo righteous, &c.] The true greatneſs of a nation conſiſts in the exerciſe of national piety and virtue; for theſe are ever productive of great men and great actions, upon which, under God, the greatneſs of a commonwealth depends.

9 Only take heed to thy ſelf, and keep thy ſoul diligently, leſt thou forget the things which thine eyes have ſeen, and leſt they depart from thy heart all the days of thy life: but teach them thy ſons, and thy ſons ſons;

10 Specially the day that thou ſtoodeſt before the LORD thy God in Horeb, when the LORD ſaid unto me, Gather me the people together, and I will make them hear my words, that they may learn to fear me all the days that they ſhall live upon the earth, and that they may teach their children.

11 And ye came near, and ſtood under the mountain: and the mountain burned with fire unto the midſt of heaven, with darkneſs, clouds, and thick darkneſs.

12 And the LORD ſpake unto you out of the midſt of the fire: ye heard the voice of the words, but ſaw no ſimilitude, only ye heard a voice.

13 And he declared unto you his covenant, which he commanded you to perform, even ten commandments; and he wrote them upon two tables of ſtone.

14 And the LORD commanded me at that time, to teach you ſtatutes and judgments, that ye might do them in the land whither ye go over to poſſeſs it.

15 Take ye therefore good heed unto your ſelves: for ye ſaw no manner of ſimilitude on the day that the LORD ſpake unto you in Horeb out of the midſt of the fire;

16 Leſt ye corrupt your ſelves, and make you a graven image, the ſimilitude of any figure, the likeneſs of male or female,

17 The likeneſs of any beaſt that is on the earth, the likeneſs of any winged fowl that flieth in the air,

18 The likeneſs of any thing that creepeth on the ground, the likeneſs of any fiſh that is in the waters beneath the earth;

19 And leſt thou lift up thine eyes unto heaven, and when thou ſeeſt the ſun, and the moon, and the ſtars, even all the hoſt of heaven, ſhouldeſt be driven to worſhip them, and ſerve them, which the LORD thy God hath divided unto all nations under the whole heaven.

20 But the LORD hath taken you, and brought you forth out of the iron furnace, even out of Egypt, to be unto him a people of inheritance, as ye are this day.

21 Furthermore, the LORD was angry with me for your ſakes, and ſware that I ſhould not go over Jordan, and that I ſhould not go in unto that good land which the LORD thy God giveth thee for an inheritance.

22 But I muſt die in this land, I muſt not go over Jordan: but ye ſhall go over, and poſſeſs that good land.

23 Take heed unto your ſelves, leſt ye forget the covenant of the LORD your God, which he made with you, and make you a graven image, or the likeneſs of any thing which the LORD thy God hath forbidden thee.

---

9 Only take heed to thyſelf, &c.] Their danger was, leſt they ſhould grow unmindful of all the wonderful things that God had done for them; for which reaſon, he deſires them to make theſe weighty concerns the ſubject of their frequent ſtudy and intenſe meditation.

12 But ſaw no ſimilitude.] God would not appear in the figure of a man, or any other object that might ſeem to repreſent him to their ſenſes or imagination as a corporeal object, and ſo tempt them to make any image of him, to worſhip it after the manner of the heathens. Moſes therefore puts them in mind of this particular, as a ſtrong and everlaſting argument to keep them clear of all ſuperſtitions or idolatrous worſhip of him, by the uſe of any kind of image, picture, or reſemblance of any created being.

16, 17, 18 The likeneſs of male and female, &c.] We have here a true picture of Egypt, where gods of all ſorts were worſhipped, dead perſons deified, male and female, and numerous images of them; together with the ſun, the moon, and the ſtars. The worſhip of almoſt all ſorts of brute beaſts, birds, fiſhes, reptiles, ſo peculiar to Egypt, was ſo horribly abſurd and ſtupid, that it could never have entered into the heart of a legiſlator to forbid it, had he not been himſelf a witneſs of ſuch monſtrous impieties. Chandler's Vind.

19 Which the Lord thy God hath divided unto all nations under the whole heaven.] That is, Jehovah, the true God, whom you adore, hath diſpenſed to all nations under heaven, the benefit of the ſun, moon, and ſtars; therefore you ought to worſhip him alone, who is the Lord of them all, and hath made them miniſters to the ſons of men. Nothing can be more reaſonable than this inference, namely, that as we are not made for the ſun, but the ſun for us, it is not the luminary itſelf we ought to worſhip, but God who gave him for our uſe. But the nations, ſtruck with the viſible ſplendor of the heavenly bodies, and with the ſenſible benefit they derived from them, ſtopped ſhort, in blind admiration of their beautiful appearance, inſtead of turning their attentive minds to the adoration of that inviſible intelligence by whom they were created. Patrick and Le Clerc.

20 Out of the iron furnace.] This expreſſes the moſt cruel ſervitude, wherein God ſuffered them to be tried, as metal in an iron furnace.

24 For the LORD thy God is a consuming fire, even a jealous God.

25 When thou shalt beget children, and children's children, and ye shall have remained long in the land, and shall corrupt your selves, and make a graven image, or the likeness of any thing, and shall do evil in the sight of the LORD thy God, to provoke him to anger;

26 I call heaven and earth to witness against you this day, that ye shall soon utterly perish from off the land whereunto ye go over Jordan to possess it: ye shall not prolong your days upon it, but shall utterly be destroyed.

27 And the LORD shall scatter you among the nations, and ye shall be left few in number among the heathen, whither the LORD shall lead you.

28 And there ye shall serve gods, the work of men's hands, wood and stone, which neither see, nor hear, nor eat, nor smell.

29 But if from thence thou shalt seek the LORD thy God, thou shalt find him, if thou seek him with all thy heart and with all thy soul.

30 When thou art in tribulation, and all these things are come upon thee, even in the latter days, if thou turn to the LORD thy God, and shalt be obedient unto his voice;

31 For the LORD thy God is a merciful God; he will not forsake thee, neither destroy thee, nor forget the covenant of thy fathers, which he sware unto them.

32 For ask now of the days that are past, which were before thee, since the day that God created man upon the earth, and ask from the one side of heaven unto the other, whether there hath been any such thing as this great thing is, or hath been heard like it.

33 Did ever people hear the voice of God speaking out of the midst of the fire, as thou hast heard, and live?

34 Or hath God assayed to go and take him a nation from the midst of another nation, by temptations, by signs, and by wonders, and by war, and by a mighty hand, and by a stretched-out arm, and by great terrors, according to all that the LORD your God did for you in Egypt before your eyes?

35 Unto thee it was shewed, that thou mightest know that the LORD he is God: there is none else besides him.

36 Out of heaven he made thee to hear his voice, that he might instruct thee: and upon earth he shewed thee his great fire, and thou heardest his words out of the midst of the fire.

37 And because he loved thy fathers, therefore he chose their seed after them, and brought thee out in his sight with his mighty power out of Egypt;

38 To drive out nations from before thee, greater and mightier than thou art, to bring thee in, to give thee their land for an inheritance, as it is this day.

39 Know therefore this day, and consider it in thine heart, that the LORD he is God in heaven above, and upon the earth beneath: there is none else.

40 Thou shalt keep therefore his statutes, and his commandments which I command thee this day, that it may go well with thee, and with thy children after thee, and that thou mayest prolong thy days upon the earth which the LORD thy God giveth thee, for ever.

41 ¶ Then Moses severed three cities on this side Jordan, towards the sun-rising;

42 That the slayer might flee thither, which should kill his neighbour unawares, and hated him not in time past; and that fleeing unto one of these cities he might live:

43 Namely, Bezer in the wilderness, in the plain-country, of the Reubenites; and Ramoth in Gilead, of the Gadites; and Golan in Bashan, of the Manassites.

24 The Lord thy God is a consuming fire.] God, from the rectitude of his nature, will be as far from letting moral evils pass with impunity, as fire is from not consuming its proper fuel.

26 I call heaven and earth to witness.] He conjures them, by all that is sacred in heaven and in earth, not to incur those evils which await their disobedience.

32 For ask, now of the days that are past.] Turn over the annals of the whole world, and search whether thou canst find any thing like to that which God hath done for thee.

36 Upon earth he shewed thee his great fire.] Some rays or glimpses of that transcendent brightness with which he is said to clothe himself, and which shines out in all its glory to the saints in heaven.

37 Brought thee out in his sight.] i. e. By his presence.

44 And this is the law which Moſes ſet before the children of Iſrael.

45 Theſe are the teſtimonies, and the ſtatutes, and the judgements, which Moſes ſpake unto the children of Iſrael, after they came forth out of Egypt;

46 On this ſide Jordan in the valley over againſt Beth-peor, in the land of Sihon king of the Amorites, who dwelt at Heſhbon, whom Moſes and the children of Iſrael ſmote, after they were come forth out of Egypt:

47 And they poſſeſſed his land, and the land of Og king of Baſhan, two kings of the Amorites, which were on this ſide Jordan, toward the ſun-riſing;

48 From Aroer, which is by the bank of the river Arnon, even unto mount Sion, which is Hermon.

49 And all the plain on this ſide Jordan eaſtward, even unto the ſea of the plain, under the ſprings of Piſgah.

CHAP. V.

1 The covenant in Horeb. 6 The ten commandments. 22 At the people's requeſt Moſes receiveth the law from God.

AND Moſes called all Iſrael, and ſaid unto them, Hear, O Iſrael, the ſtatutes and judgements which I ſpeak in your ears this day, that ye may learn them, and keep and do them.

2 The LORD our God made a covenant with us in Horeb.

3 The LORD made not this covenant with our fathers, but with us, even us, who are all of us here alive this day.

4 The LORD talked with you face to face in the mount out of the midſt of the fire;

5 (I ſtood between the LORD and you at that time, to ſhew you the word of the LORD: for ye were afraid by reaſon of the fire, and went not up into the mount;) ſaying,

6 ¶ I am the LORD thy God, which brought thee out of the land of Egypt, from the houſe of bondage.

7 Thou ſhalt have none other gods before me.

8 Thou ſhalt not make thee any graven image, or any likeneſs of any thing that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the waters beneath the earth:

9 Thou ſhalt not bow down thy ſelf unto them, nor ſerve them: for I the LORD thy God am a jealous God, viſiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me,

10 And ſhewing mercy unto thouſands of them that love me and keep my commandments.

11 Thou ſhalt not take the name of the LORD thy God in vain: for the LORD will not hold him guiltleſs that taketh his name in vain.

12 Keep the ſabbath-day to ſanctify it, as the LORD thy God hath commanded thee.

13 Six days thou ſhalt labour, and do all thy work:

14 But the ſeventh day is the ſabbath of the LORD thy God: in it thou ſhalt not do any work, thou, nor thy ſon, nor thy daughter, nor thy man-ſervant, nor thy maid-ſervant, nor thine ox, nor thine aſs, nor any of thy cattle, nor thy ſtranger that is within thy gates; that thy man-ſervant, and thy maid-ſervant may reſt as well as thou.

15 And remember that thou waſt a ſervant in the land of Egypt, and that the LORD thy God brought thee out thence through a mighty hand, and by a ſtretched-out arm: therefore the LORD thy God commanded thee to keep the ſabbath-day.

16 Honour thy father and thy mother, as 48 Even unto mount Sion, which is Hermon.] Not that mount Sion which was afterwards ſo famous, when David made it his royal ſeat, for that was on the other ſide Jordan; but it is probably a contraction of Sirion, the name given to Hermon by the Sidonians, chap. iii. 9.

Notes on the Fifth Chapter.

Ver. 4 The Lord talked with you face to face.] You beheld a conſpicuous ſymbol of the Divine Preſence, and heard a Divine Voice ſpeaking unto you from thence, clearly and diſtinctly as one man talks with another face to face.

6 I am the Lord thy God, &c.] See notes on Exod. xx.

15 And remember that thou waſt a ſervant in the land of Egypt.] To move thy compaſſion towards ſervants, and to make thee freely indulge them in a ſeventh day's reſt, remember thine own condition in Egypt, and how hardly thou thoughteſt thyſelf dealt by, when no reſt from thy labour was allowed thee. Le Clerc.

16 That it may go well with thee.] Theſe words are added to what we meet with in Exod. xx. 12, as a farther motive to obedience; and we find the apoſtle taking notice of it, Eph. vi. 3.

the LORD thy God hath commanded thee; that thy days may be prolonged, and that it may go well with thee, in the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee.

17 Thou ſhalt not kill.

18 Neither ſhalt thou commit adultery.

19 Neither ſhalt thou ſteal.

20 Neither ſhalt thou bear falſe witneſs againſt thy neighbour.

21 Neither ſhalt thou deſire thy neighbour's wife, neither ſhalt thou covet thy neighbour's houſe, his field, or his man-ſervant, or his maid-ſervant, his ox, or his aſs, or any thing that is thy neighbour's.

22 ¶ Theſe words the LORD ſpake unto all your aſſembly in the mount out of the midſt of the fire, of the cloud, and of the thick darkneſs, with a great voice: and he added no more. And he wrote them in two tables of ſtone, and delivered them unto me.

23 And it came to paſs, when ye heard the voice out of the midſt of the darkneſs (for the mountain did burn with fire) that ye came near unto me, even all the heads of your tribes, and your elders;

24 And ye ſaid, Behold, the LORD our God hath ſhewed us his glory and his greatneſs, and we have heard his voice out of the midſt of the fire: we have ſeen this day that God doth talk with man, and he liveth.

25 Now therefore why ſhould we die? for this great fire will conſume us. If we hear the voice of the LORD our God any more, then we ſhall die.

26 For who is there of all fleſh that hath heard the voice of the living God, ſpeaking out of the midſt of the fire, as we have and lived?

27 Go thou near, and hear all that the LORD our God ſhall ſay: and ſpeak thou unto us all that the LORD our God ſhall ſpeak unto thee; and we will hear it, and do it.

28 And the LORD heard the voice of your words, when ye ſpake unto me; and the LORD ſaid unto me, I have heard the voice of the words of this people which they have ſpoken unto thee: they have well ſaid all that they have ſpoken.

29 O that there were ſuch an heart in them, that they would fear me, and keep all my commandments always, that it might be well with them and with their children for ever!

30 Go ſay to them, get ye into your tents again.

31 But as for thee, ſtand thou here by me, and I will ſpeak unto thee all the commandments, and the ſtatutes, and the judgements, which thou ſhalt teach them, that they may do them in the land which I give them to poſſeſs it.

32 Ye ſhall obſerve to do therefore as the LORD your God hath commanded you: ye ſhall not turn aſide to the right-hand or to the left.

33 Ye ſhall walk in all the ways which the LORD your God hath commanded you, that ye may live, and that it may be well with you, and that ye may prolong your days in the land which ye ſhall poſſeſs.

CHAP. VI.

1 The end of the law is obedience. 3 An exhortation thereto.

NOW theſe are the commandments, the ſtatutes, and the judgements which the LORD your God commanded to teach you, that ye might do them in the land whither ye go to poſſeſs it:

29 O that there were ſuch an heart in them, &c.] This expreſſion denotes, that men's compliance with their duty, and the happineſs which thence ariſes to them, are things highly pleaſing and acceptable to God, the moſt ſincere lover of ſouls. From theſe and the like texts of ſcripture, ſome are apt to reaſon with themſelves, that if God be ſo deſirous of men's reformation, why does he not bring it about by his almighty power? But though God could eaſily over-rule the liberty of man's will and choice, and reſtrain him from doing any thing but what is good; yet it is not conſonant to wiſdom that his power ſhould be exerted this way, becauſe it would entirely deſtroy all the morality of men's actions, and take away the very nature of virtue and vice: they would be mere machines rather than intelligent beings. Should God make uſe of the irreſiſtible influence of his power upon free-agents, their operations, however regular they might be, could no more be denominated virtuous, than the movements of a watch or clock. So far is it therefore from being unworthy of God to forbear exerting his irreſiſtible power upon moral agents, that, on the contrary, it would be altogether unworthy of him to exerciſe that power; becauſe it would be to ſubvert his whole deſign, in creating rational and intelligent beings. Moral agents muſt be influenced by moral motives, by reaſon and argument, by perſuaſion and conviction, by hopes and fears. Dr. Clarke's Sermons.

Notes

2 That thou mighteſt fear the LORD thy God, to keep all his ſtatutes and his commandments which I command thee; thou, and thy ſon, and thy ſon's ſon, all the days of thy life, and that thy days may be prolonged.

3 ¶ Hear therefore, O Iſrael, and obſerve to do it; that it may be well with thee, and that ye may increaſe mightily, as the LORD God of thy fathers hath promiſed thee, in the land that floweth with milk and honey.

4 ¶ Hear, O Iſrael, the LORD our God is one LORD:

5 And thou ſhalt love the LORD thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy ſoul, and with all thy might.

6 And theſe words which I command thee this day ſhall be in thine heart:

7 And thou ſhalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and ſhalt talk of them when thou ſitteſt in thine houſe, and when thou walkeſt by the way, and when thou lieſt down, and when thou riſeſt up.

8 And thou ſhalt bind them for a ſign upon thine hand, and they ſhall be as frontlets between thine eyes.

9 And thou ſhalt write them upon the poſts of thy houſe, and on thy gates.

10 And it ſhall be when the LORD thy God ſhall have brought thee into the land which he ſware unto thy fathers, to Abraham, to Iſaac, and to Jacob, to give thee, great and goodly cities, which thou buildeſt not,

11 And houſes full of all good things, which thou filledſt not, and wells digged, which thou diggedſt not, vineyards and olive-trees, which thou plantedſt not, when thou ſhalt have eaten, and be full;

12 Then beware leſt thou forget the LORD which brought thee forth out of the land of Egypt, from the houſe of bondage.

13 Thou ſhalt fear the LORD thy God, and ſerve him, and ſhalt ſwear by his name.

14 Ye ſhall not go after other gods, of the gods of the people which are round about you;

15 For the LORD thy God is a jealous God among you; leſt the anger of the LORD thy God be kindled againſt thee, and deſtroy thee from off the face of the earth.

16 Ye ſhall not tempt the LORD your God, as ye tempted him in Maſſah.

17 Ye ſhall diligently keep the commandments of the LORD your God, and his teſtimonies, and his ſtatutes which he hath commanded thee.

18 And thou ſhalt do that which is right and good in the ſight of the LORD: that it may be well with thee, and that thou mayeſt go in, and poſſeſs the good land which the LORD ſware unto thy fathers;

19 To caſt out all thine enemies from before thee, as the LORD hath ſpoken.

20 And when thy ſon aſketh thee in time to come, ſaying, What mean the teſtimonies, and the ſtatutes, and the judgments which the LORD our God hath commanded you?

21 Then thou ſhalt ſay unto thy ſon, We were Pharaoh's bond-men in Egypt; and the LORD brought us out of Egypt with a mighty hand:

22 And the LORD ſhewed ſigns and won-

Notes on the Sixth Chapter.

Ver. 3 Obſerve to do it.] The proper tranſlation would have been, Obſerve to do them, viz. the commandments, ſtatutes, &c.

4 The Lord our God is one Lord.] As polytheiſm was the great error of the world, the Jewiſh religion and laws were calculated to ſtrike at the root of that epidemical evil. Therefore the firſt and fundamental article of their creed is, That as there is but one ſupreme God, Jehovah, ſo he alone is to be the object of worſhip, in oppoſition to the many idols and falſe gods of the heathen nations.

5 And thou ſhalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, &c.] This injunction follows, by juſt inference, from the principle laid down in the foregoing words, The Lord our God is one Lord, i. e. Jehovah, whom we adore, is the ſupreme God; therefore the object of thy ſupreme love and undivided affection: he is unrivalled in greatneſs, in goodneſs, in every thing amiable and adorable; therefore he has an unalienable right to our higheſt eſteem, our moſt exalted praiſe, our moſt profound veneration.

9 Thou ſhalt write them upon the poſts of thy houſe, and on thy gates.] Some wrote them on little rolls, which they faſtened to their gates; others encloſed them in a caſe, which they faſtened to the gate, or put into a hole in the wall; on this place the devotees laid their hands as often as they went out, and ſaid, The Lord preſerve my going out, and my coming in. Lamy.

13 Thou—ſhalt ſwear by his name.] The generality of commentators take the ſenſe to be, that, in taking an oath, they were only to ſwear by Jehovah, never by any of the gods of the heathens, which would have been an acknowledgment of their divinity. But, by comparing other paſſages, the meaning ſeems rather to be, that they were to be ſtedfaſt in the worſhip of the true God, and in profeſſing that religion which he had inſtituted. Thus, to ſwear to the Lord of hoſts, is to profeſs the true religion, Iſaiah xix. 18. So, Pſalm lxiii. 11, every one that ſweareth by him, means every worſhipper of the true God.

ders, great and ſore, upon Egypt, upon Pharaoh, and upon all his houſhold, before our eyes:

23 And he brought us out from thence, that he might bring us in, to give us the land which he ſware unto our fathers.

24 And the LORD commanded us to do all theſe ſtatutes, to fear the LORD our God, for our good always, that he might preſerve us alive, as it is at this day.

25 And it ſhall be our righteouſneſs, if we obſerve to do all theſe commandments before the LORD our God, as he hath commanded us.

CHAP. VII.

1 All communion with the nations forbidden,
4 for fear of idolatry, and other reaſons.

WHEN the LORD thy God ſhall bring thee into the land whither thou goeſt to poſſeſs it, and hath caſt out many nations before thee, the Hittites, and the Girgaſhites, and the Amorites, and the Canaanites, and the Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebuſites, ſeven nations greater and mightier than thou;

2 And when the LORD thy God ſhall deliver them before thee: thou ſhalt ſmite them, and utterly deſtroy them; thou ſhalt make no covenant with them; nor ſhew mercy unto them:

3 Neither ſhalt thou make marriages with them; thy daughter thou ſhalt not give unto his ſon, nor his daughter ſhalt thou take unto thy ſon.

4 ¶ For they will turn away thy ſon from following me, that they may ſerve other gods: ſo will the anger of the LORD be kindled againſt you, and deſtroy thee ſuddenly.

5 But thus ſhall ye deal with them; ye ſhall deſtroy their altars, and break down their images, and cut down their groves, and burn their graven images with fire.

6 For thou art a holy people unto the LORD thy God: the LORD thy God hath choſen thee to be a ſpecial people unto himſelf, above all people that are upon the face of the earth.

7 The LORD did not ſet his love upon you, nor chooſe you, becauſe ye were more in number than any people: for ye were the feweſt of all people.

8 But becauſe the LORD loved you, and becauſe he would keep the oath which he had ſworn unto your fathers, hath the LORD brought you out with a mighty hand, and redeemed you out of the houſe of bond-men, from the hand of Pharaoh king of Egypt.

9 Know therefore that the LORD thy God, he is God, the faithful God, which keepeth covenant and mercy with them that love him, and keep his commandments, to a thouſand generations;

10 And repayeth them that hate him to their face, to deſtroy them: he will not be ſlack to him that hateth him, he will repay him to his face.

11 Thou ſhalt therefore keep the commandments and the ſtatutes and the judgements which I command thee this day to do them.

12 Wherefore it ſhall come to paſs, if ye hearken to theſe judgements, and keep and do them; that the LORD thy God ſhall keep unto thee the covenant and the mercy which he ſware unto thy fathers:

13 And he will love thee, and bleſs thee, and multiply thee: he will alſo bleſs the fruit of thy womb, and the fruit of thy land, thy corn, and thy wine, and thine oil, the increaſe of thy kine, and the flocks of thy ſheep, in the land which he ſware unto thy fathers to give thee.

14 Thou ſhalt be bleſſed above all people: there ſhall not be male or female barren among you, or among your cattle.

15 And the LORD will take away from thee

Notes on the Seventh Chapter.

Ver. 2 Thou ſhalt ſmite them, and utterly deſtroy them.] This deſtroying of men, women, and children, might ſeem cruel, were it not that theſe nations had been, and were now ſo abominably wicked, that God would have deſtroyed them, even without the Iſraelites coming there. Yet this objection was the chief pretence of the Marcionites, and other heretics, for rejecting the Old Teſtament.

7 The Lord did not ſet his love upon you, &c.] It is not your numbers, nor your ſtrength, nor any qualifications of your own, that induced God to confer theſe ſingular privileges upon you; but it was the eminent virtues of your anceſtors, and the completion of the promiſes made to them, to which you are indebted for all the diſtinguiſhing bleſſings of your nation. Pyle.

all ſickneſs, and will put none of the evil diſeaſes of Egypt, which thou knoweſt, upon thee; but will lay them upon all them that hate thee.

16 And thou ſhalt conſume all the people which the LORD thy God ſhall deliver thee; thine eye ſhall have no pity upon them; neither ſhalt thou ſerve their gods; for that will be a ſnare unto thee.

17 If thou ſhalt ſay in thine heart, Theſe nations are more than I; how can I diſpoſſeſs them?

18 Thou ſhalt not be afraid of them: but ſhalt well remember what the LORD thy God did unto Pharaoh, and unto all Egypt;

19 The great temptations which thine eyes ſaw, and the ſigns, and the wonders, and the mighty hand, and the ſtretched-out arm, whereby the LORD thy God brought thee out: ſo ſhall the LORD thy God do unto all the people of whom thou art afraid.

20 Moreover, the LORD thy God will ſend the hornet among them, until they that are left and hide themſelves from thee be deſtroyed.

21 Thou ſhalt not be affrighted at them: for the LORD thy God is among you, a mighty God and terrible.

22 And the LORD thy God will put out thoſe nations before thee by little and little: thou mayeſt not conſume them at once, leſt the beaſts of the field increaſe upon thee.

23 But the LORD thy God ſhall deliver them unto thee, and ſhall deſtroy them with a mighty deſtruction, until they be deſtroyed.

24 And he ſhall deliver their kings into thine hand, and thou ſhalt deſtroy their name from under heaven: there ſhall no man be able to ſtand before thee, until thou have deſtroyed them.

25 The graven images of their gods ſhall ye burn with fire: thou ſhalt not deſire the ſilver or gold that is on them, nor take it unto thee, leſt thou be ſnared therein: for it is an abomination to the LORD thy God.

26 Neither ſhalt thou bring an abomination into thy houſe, leſt thou be a curſed thing like it: but thou ſhalt utterly deteſt it, and thou ſhalt utterly abhor it; for it is a curſed thing.

CHAP. VIII.

1 An exhortation to obedience in regard of God's dealing with them.

ALL the commandments which I command thee this day ſhall ye obſerve to do, that ye may live, and multiply, and go in and poſſeſs the land which the LORD ſware unto your fathers.

2 And thou ſhalt remember all the way which the LORD thy God led thee theſe forty years in the wilderneſs, to humble thee, and to prove thee, to know what was in thine heart, whether thou wouldeſt keep his commandments, or no.

3 And he humbled thee, and ſuffered thee to hunger, and fed thee with manna, which thou kneweſt not, neither did thy fathers know; that he might make thee know that man doth not live by bread only, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of the LORD doth man live.

4 Thy raiment waxed not old upon thee, neither did thy foot ſwell theſe forty years.

17 If thou ſhalt ſay in thine heart, Theſe nations are more than I, &c.] Let the remembrance of the miraculous arm of God, that reſcued you from Egypt; the power that deſtroyed the mightieſt monarch before your faces, and that you are ſtill fighting under the ſame Divine Providence, baniſh all fear from your hearts. Pyle.

20 The Lord will ſend the hornet among them.] God has irrevocably decreed you to be the inſtruments of his providence, in rooting out theſe abominable idolaters, now ripe for deſtruction: and thoſe of them who by flight eſcape your ſword, ſhall be deſtroyed by enemies which they little think of. See note on Exod. xxiii. 28.

Notes on the Eighth Chapter.

Ver. 3 That he might make thee know, that man doth not live by bread alone, but by every word, &c.] He ſupplied your wants by his miraculous hand, to convince you that the ſuſtenance and preſervation of your life is not owing to mere bread, or ordinary food, but to the word or power of God, and to any thing that he ſhall pleaſe to appoint to be the means of your nouriſhment, Mat. iv. 4. Patrick.

4 Thy raiment waxed not old upon thee.] The common interpretation of theſe words is, that by a conſtant miracle, their cloaths did not ſo much as decay, nor their feet ſwell, or grow callous by ſo long travelling in hot and ſtony places. The LXX add here, Thy ſhoes ſhall not wear out; the ſame expreſſion is in Deut. xxix. 5. The Jews add, that their cloaths grew, in proportion to their ſtature, as they muſt have done, unleſs they had more coats than one a-piece; but Le Clerc obſerves, that God never works miracles, but when they are quite neceſſary;

yet

5 Thou ſhalt alſo conſider in thine heart, that as a man chaſteneth his ſon, ſo the LORD thy God chaſteneth thee.

6 Therefore thou ſhalt keep the commandments of the LORD thy God, to walk in his ways, and to fear him.

7 For the LORD thy God bringeth thee into a good land, a land of brooks of water, of fountains, and depths that ſpring out of valleys and hills;

8 A land of wheat, and barley, and vines, and fig-trees, and pomegranates, a land of oil-olive, and honey;

9 A land wherein thou ſhalt eat bread without ſcarceneſs, thou ſhalt not lack any thing in it; a land whoſe ſtones are iron, and out of whoſe hills thou mayeſt dig braſs.

10 When thou haſt eaten and art full, then thou ſhalt bleſs the LORD thy God for the good land which he hath given thee.

11 Beware that thou forget not the LORD thy God, in not keeping his commandments, and his judgements, and his ſtatutes, which I command thee this day:

12 Leſt when thou haſt eaten and art full, and haſt built goodly houſes, and dwelt therein;

13 And when thy herds and thy flocks multiply, and thy ſilver and thy gold is multiplied, and all that thou haſt is multiplied;

14 Then thine heart be lifted up, and thou forget the LORD thy God, which brought thee forth out of the land of Egypt, from the houſe of bondage;

15 Who led thee through that great and terrible wilderneſs, wherein were fiery ſerpents, and ſcorpions, and drought, where there was no water; who brought thee forth water out of the rock of flint;

16 Who fed thee in the wilderneſs with manna, which thy fathers knew not, that he might humble thee, and that he might prove thee, to do thee good at thy latter end;

17 And thou ſay in thine heart, My power and the might of my hand hath gotten me this wealth.

18 But thou ſhalt remember the LORD thy God: for it is he that giveth thee power to get wealth, that he may eſtabliſh his covenant which he ſware unto thy fathers, as it is this day.

19 And it ſhall be, if thou do at all forget the LORD thy God, and walk after other gods, and ſerve them, and worſhip them, I teſtify againſt you this day that ye ſhall ſurely periſh; yet here is one of the greateſt miracles without any neceſſity at all: for, as it appears from Numb. chap. vii. and ix. that the Iſraelites had flocks of ſheep and goats, and were not ignorant of the art of weaving, as may be gathered from the curious work of the tabernacle, and as nothing hindered them from trafficking with their Arabian neighbours, it is evident they might have been ſupplied with cloaths, either by making or purchaſing them. He therefore explains Moſes' words thus: thy remnant waxed not old upon thee; that is, Providence has been ſo liberal in ſupplying your wants in this deſert land, that you have never, through poverty, been obliged to let your cloaths wax old upon you, but have always been ſupplied with new before the old were worn out.

---

9 Whoſe ſtones are iron.] That is, iron mines are as plentiful as quarries of ſtone in other places.

Thou mayeſt dig braſs.] Copper, of which braſs is made.

10 When thou haſt eaten and art full, then thou ſhalt bleſs the Lord thy God.] Hence the Jews have made it a general rule, that every one bleſs God at their meals: and what can be more reaſonable than thankfully to acknowledge God the giver of all good? and what time more proper to make this acknowledgment, than when his bounty has ſatisfied our hunger and quenched our thirſt? And ſurely it muſt fill every virtuous breaſt with concern, to ſee this pious practice of antiquity, delivered down to us from our religious anceſtors, now growing obſolete, and almoſt out of faſhion.

14 Then thine heart be lifted up, and thou forget the Lord thy God.] When we enjoy affluent proſperity, we are too apt to be careleſs and diverted by pleaſure from greater and more important concerns. When the mind is thus weakened and diſſolved, it is no wonder if men pride themſelves in their riches as their ultimate happineſs; and, for want of reflecting on the inſtability of all human affairs, think themſelves ſelf-ſufficient, and loſe that juſt ſenſe which they ought to have of the ſovereignty of their Maker, and their abſolute and neceſſary dependence upon him. Foſter's Serm.

15 Fiery ſerpents.] See Numb. xxi. 6.

The rock of flint.] Dr. Shaw obſerves, that the rock of Meribah, which has continued down to this day, without the leaſt injury from time or accidents, and is in ſcripture called the rock of flint, may, from its purple or reddiſh colour, be more properly rendered, the rock of amethyſt, or granate rock. It is about ſix yards ſquare, lying looſe near the middle of the valley of Rephidim, and ſeems to have been formerly a cliff of mount Sinai, which hangs, in a variety of precipices, all over this valley. The ſtream which flowed withal, (Pſ. lxxviii. 20.) has hollowed acroſs one corner of this rock a channel about two inches deep, and twenty wide; in this channel there are a great number of holes four or five inches deep, the plain tokens of there having been formerly ſo many fountains.

16 Do thee good at thy latter end.] That is, with reſpect to thy future ſtate; which muſt be the meaning, if the generation of men that died in the wilderneſs, or any of them be included in the merciful intention here declared. And can we think they were not? If the forbidding them an entrance into the land of Canaan muſt be ſuppoſed to ſhut them out of heaven, Moſes himſelf was then excluded from it. Peters, on Job, p. 296.

Notes

20 As the nations which the LORD deſtroyeth before your face, ſo ſhall ye periſh; becauſe ye would not be obedient unto the voice of the LORD your God.

CHAP. IX.

1 Moſes diſſuadeth them from the opinion of their own righteouſneſs, by rehearſing their ſeveral rebellions.

HEAR, O Iſrael: Thou art to paſs over Jordan this day, to go in to poſſeſs nations greater and mightier than thyſelf, cities great and fenced up to heaven,

2 A people great and tall, the children of the Anakims, whom thou knoweſt, and of whom thou haſt heard ſay, Who can ſtand before the children of Anak!

3 Underſtand therefore this day, that the LORD thy God is he which goeth over before thee, as a conſuming fire: he ſhall deſtroy them, and he ſhall bring them down before thy face: ſo ſhalt thou drive them out, and deſtroy them quickly, as the LORD hath ſaid unto thee.

4 Speak not thou in thine heart, after that the LORD thy God hath caſt them out from before thee, ſaying, For my righteouſneſs the LORD hath brought me in to poſſeſs this land: but for the wickedneſs of theſe nations the LORD doth drive them out from before thee.

5 Not for thy righteouſneſs, or for the uprightneſs of thine heart doſt thou go to poſſeſs their land: but for the wickedneſs of theſe nations the LORD thy God doth drive them out from before thee, and that he may perform the word which the LORD ſware unto thy fathers, Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob.

6 Underſtand therefore, that the LORD thy God giveth thee not this good land to poſſeſs it for thy righteouſneſs: for thou art a ſtiff-necked people.

7 Remember, and forget not how thou provokedſt the LORD thy God to wrath in the wilderneſs: from the day that thou didſt depart out of the land of Egypt until ye came unto this place, ye have been rebellious againſt the LORD.

8 Alſo in Horeb ye provoked the LORD to wrath, ſo that the LORD was angry with you, to have deſtroyed you.

9 When I was gone up into the mount to receive the tables of ſtone, even the tables of the covenant which the LORD made with you, then I abode in the mount forty days and forty nights, I neither did eat bread nor drink water:

10 And the LORD delivered unto me two tables of ſtone written with the finger of God, and on them was written according to all the words which the LORD ſpake with you in the mount out of the midſt of the fire, in the day of the aſſembly.

11 And it came to paſs at the end of forty days and forty nights, that the LORD gave me the two tables of ſtone, even the tables of the covenant.

12 And the LORD ſaid unto me, Ariſe, get thee down quickly from hence: for thy people which thou haſt brought forth out of Egypt have corrupted themſelves: they are quickly turned aſide out of the way which I commanded them; they have made them a molten image.

13 Furthermore, the LORD ſpake unto me, ſaying, I have ſeen this people, and behold, it is a ſtiff-necked people:

14 Let me alone, that I may deſtroy them, and blot out their name from under heaven: and I will make of thee a nation mightier and greater than they.

Notes on the Ninth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Hear, O Iſrael, &c.] Moſes now exhorts the Iſraelites to ſettle fully in their minds this important truth, that not they but God was to prove the conqueror of their enemies, and to his divine power alone they were to attribute the ſucceſſes of every gradual attempt they made upon them. Pyle.

5 Not for thy righteouſneſs—but for the wickedneſs of theſe nations, &c.] Though the Canaanites were expelled for their national wickedneſs, it does not follow that the Iſraelites were ſettled in their room for their own virtue: for God often chaſtiſes the wicked by means of others who are fully as wicked as they.

8 Alſo in Horeb ye provoked the Lord.] It ſhould have been rendered, Even in Horeb, &c. for there is an emphaſis in this; even when they had newly received the law, with ſuch viſible repreſentations of the Divine Majeſty, with whom they were juſt entered into covenant, yet they ſo ſhamefully revolted from him, that he thought to have deſtroyed them, Exod. xxii. 7, 10.

14 Let me alone.] Deſiſt from all prayers and interceſſion in their behalf.

15 So I turned and came down from the mount, and the mount burned with fire; and the two tables of the covenant were in my two hands.

16 And I looked, and behold, ye had ſinned againſt the LORD your God, and had made you a molten calf: ye had turned aſide quickly out of the way which the LORD had commanded you.

17 And I took the two tables, and caſt them out of my two hands, and brake them before your eyes.

18 And I fell down before the LORD, as at the firſt, forty days and forty nights: I did neither eat bread nor drink water, becauſe of all your ſins which ye ſinned, in doing wickedly in the ſight of the LORD, to provoke him to anger.

19 For I was afraid of the anger and hot diſpleaſure wherewith the LORD was wroth againſt you to deſtroy you. But the LORD hearkened unto me at that time alſo.

20 And the LORD was very angry with Aaron to have deſtroyed him. And I prayed for Aaron alſo the ſame time.

21 And I took your ſin, the calf which ye had made, and burned it with fire, and ſtamped it, and ground it very ſmall, even until it was as ſmall as duſt: and I caſt the duſt thereof into the brook that deſcended out of the mount.

22 And at Taberah, and at Maſſah, and at Kibroth-hattaavah, ye provoked the LORD to wrath.

23 Likewiſe when the LORD ſent you from Kadeſh-barnea, ſaying, Go up and poſſeſs the land which I have given you; then ye rebelled againſt the commandment of the LORD your God, and ye believed him not, nor hearkened to his voice.

24 Ye have been rebellious againſt the LORD from the day that I knew you.

25 Thus I fell down before the LORD forty days and forty nights, as I fell down at the firſt; becauſe the LORD had ſaid he would deſtroy you.

26 I prayed therefore unto the LORD, and ſaid, O LORD God, deſtroy not thy people and thine inheritance, which thou haſt redeemed through thy greatneſs, which thou haſt brought forth out of Egypt with a mighty hand.

27 Remember thy ſervants, Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob; look not unto the ſtubbornneſs of this people, nor to their wickedneſs, nor to their ſin:

28 Leſt the land whence thou broughteſt us out ſay, Becauſe the LORD was not able to bring them into the land which he promiſed them, and becauſe he hated them, he hath brought them out to ſlay them in the wilderneſs.

29 Yet they are thy people, and thine inheritance, which thou broughteſt out by thy mighty power, and by thy ſtretched-out arm.

CHAP. X.

1 God's mercy in reſtoring the two tables. 12 An exhortation to obedience.

AT that time the LORD ſaid unto me, Hew thee two tables of ſtone like unto the firſt, and come up unto me into the mount, and make thee an ark of wood.

2 And I will write on the tables the words that were in the firſt tables which thou brakeſt, and thou ſhalt put them in the ark.

3 And I made an ark of ſhittim-wood, and hewed two tables of ſtone like unto the firſt, and went up into the mount, having the two tables in mine hand.

4 And he wrote on the tables, according to the firſt writing, the ten commandments, which the LORD ſpake unto you in the mount, out of the midſt of the fire, in the day of the aſſembly; and the LORD gave them unto me.

16 Ye had turned aſide quickly.] He might well ſay quickly, for it was only a few weeks before, that God had commanded them not to worſhip any graven image, and immediately after ordered Moſes to repeat this precept particularly to them, not to make them gods of ſilver, or gods of gold.

21 And I took your ſin.] i. e. The effect of your ſin, the calf which you had made: a metonomy.

22 And at Taberah, &c.] Would to God, that even this were all I could tax you with, though ſurely enough of itſelf alone to mortify and humble you! But remember what paſſed at Taberah, Maſſah, Kibroth, and Kadiſh, the three former of which have their names as a memorial either of your ſin or puniſhment. See Numb. xi. 1. Exod. xvii. 7. Numb. xi. 33.

25 Thus I fell down before the Lord forty days, &c.] Having mentioned theſe inſtances of their perverſe diſpoſition, he returns to what he begun to ſay, ver. 18, concerning his interceſſion with God for a pardon, which he could not obtain without long and great importunity.

Notes

5 And I turned myſelf and came down from the mount, and put the tables in the ark which I had made; and there they be, as the LORD commanded me.

6 And the children of Iſrael took their journey from Beeroth of the children of Jaakan, to Moſera: there Aaron died, and there he was buried: and Eleazar his ſon miniſtered in the prieſt's office in his ſtead.

7 From thence they journeyed unto Gudgodah: and from Gudgodah to Jotbath, a land of rivers of waters.

8 At that time the LORD ſeparated the tribe of Levi, to bear the ark of the covenant of the LORD, to ſtand before the LORD to miniſter unto him, and to bleſs in his name, unto this day.

9 Wherefore Levi hath no part nor inheritance with his brethren: the LORD is his inheritance, according as the LORD thy God promiſed him.

10 And I ſtayed in the mount, according to the firſt time, forty days and forty nights: and the LORD hearkened unto me at that time alſo, and the LORD would not deſtroy thee.

11 And the LORD ſaid unto me, Ariſe, take thy journey before the people, that they may go in and poſſeſs the land which I ſware unto their fathers to give unto them.

12 ¶ And now, Iſrael, what doth the LORD thy God require of thee, but to fear the LORD thy God, to walk in all his ways, and to love him, and to ſerve the LORD thy God with all thy heart and with all thy ſoul, 13 To keep the commandments of the LORD, and his ſtatutes, which I command thee this day for thy good?

14 Behold, the heaven, and the heaven of heavens, is the LORD's thy God, the earth alſo, with all that therein is.

15 Only the LORD hath a delight in thy fathers to love them, and he choſe their ſeed after them, even you above all people, as it is this day.

16 Circumciſe therefore the foreſkin of your heart, and be no more ſtiff-necked.

17 For the LORD your God is God of gods, and LORD of lords, a great God, a mighty, and a terrible, which regardeth not perſons, nor taketh reward.

18 He doth execute the judgement of the fatherleſs and widow, and loveth the ſtranger, in giving him food and raiment.

19 Love ye therefore the ſtranger; for ye were ſtrangers in the land of Egypt.

Notes on the Tenth Chapter.

Ver. 6 And the children of Iſrael took their journey from Beeroth of the children of Jaakan, to Moſera: there Aaron died.] This paſſage has been thought contradictory to two other accounts in the Hebrew text, (Numb. xx. 28. and xxxiii. 38.) both which agree in declaring, that Aaron died at mount Hor, the ſeventh ſtation from Moſeroth. The learned and ingenious Mr. Kennicott ſays this is a corruption in the Hebrew Pentateuch, which probably happened very early, at leaſt before the Greek verſion was made. His words are theſe; "The reader will be pleaſed "to find, that the Samaritan text and its verſion have delivered "down the genuine and conſiſtent words of Moſes in all particulars; for they have preſerved the many words which have "been careleſsly omitted in the Hebrew; and they read in the "following manner:" And the children of Iſrael journeyed from Moſeroth, and pitched in Bene-Jaakan: from thence they journeyed, and pitched in Hagidgad: from thence they journeyed, and pitched in Jotbathah, a land of rivers of waters: from thence they journeyed, and pitched in Ebronah: from thence they journeyed, and pitched in Ezion-gaber: from thence they journeyed, and pitched in the wilderneſs of Zin, which is Kadeſh: from thence they journeyed, and pitched in mount Hor: and there Aaron died, &c. All this is conſiſtent and agreeable to the account in Numb. xxxiii. 31, &c. which ſee.

12, 13 And now, Iſrael, what doth the Lord thy God require of thee, &c.] This is the application of the foregoing diſcourſe: What now ought to be your behaviour, in return for ſo great a degree of pardoning mercy, that has reſtored you to ſuch bleſſed privileges of the divine covenant? Should not you conſider God as the object of your ſupreme love, reverence, and eſteem?

14 Behold, the heaven, and the heaven of heavens, &c.] The firſt heaven comprehends the atmoſphere, the ſpace illuminated by the ſun, moon, and ſtars; the ſecond, or the heaven of heavens, all the glorious region in which the throne of God is placed. Le Clerc.

16, 17 Circumciſe therefore the foreſkin of your heart, &c.] Would you therefore recommend yourſelves to the favour of God, you muſt not ſatisfy yourſelves with the obſervance of external rights and ceremonies; but your chief aim muſt be to attain thoſe inward diſpoſitions of mind, and to reform thoſe ſinful affections that are intended by circumciſion and other external ordinances.

Nor taketh reward.] It ſhould be here tranſlated, Nor taketh a bribe.

18 And loveth the ſtranger, in giving him food and raiment.] The providence of God, which extends to all, is eſpecially provident for the ſtrangers, by bleſſing the land in ſuch a manner, that the fruits of it are not only ſufficient for the inhabitants, but alſo for the maintenance of ſtrangers. Of this their own nation was a ſtanding monument, ſince their forefathers, who were ſo many pilgrims and ſtrangers, had been wonderfully preſerved, and liberally provided for, by the ſingular care of Providence, in all their peregrinations.

19 Love ye therefore the ſtranger.] Be kind and juſt therefore to all your fellow-creatures, out of honour to your common Creator, 20 Thou ſhalt fear the LORD thy God; him ſhalt thou ſerve, and to him ſhalt thou cleave, and ſwear by his name.

21 He is thy praiſe, and he is thy God, that hath done for thee theſe great and terrible things which thine eyes have ſeen.

22 Thy fathers went down into Egypt with threeſcore and ten perſons; and now the LORD thy God hath made thee as the ſtars of heaven for multitude.

CHAP. XI.

1 An exhortation to obedience. 26 A bleſſing and a curſe is ſet before them.

THerefore thou ſhalt love the LORD thy God, and keep his charge, and his ſtatutes, and his judgements, and his commandments alway.

2 And know ye this day: for I ſpeak not with your children, which have not known, and which have not ſeen the chaſtiſement of the LORD your God, his greatneſs, his mighty hand, and his ſtretched-out arm,

3 And his miracles, and his acts, which he did in the midſt of Egypt, unto Pharaoh the king of Egypt, and unto all his land;

4 And what he did unto the army of Egypt, unto their horſes, and to their chariots; how he made the water of the Red-ſea to overflow them as they purſued after you, and how the LORD hath deſtroyed them unto this day;

5 And what he did unto you in the wilderneſs, until ye came into this place;

6 And what he did unto Dathan and Abiram, the ſons of Eliab, the ſon of Reuben; how the earth opened her mouth, and ſwallowed them up, and their houſholds, and their tents, and all the ſubſtance that was in their poſſeſſion in the midſt of all Iſrael.

7 But your eyes have ſeen all the great acts of the LORD, which he did.

8 Therefore ſhall ye keep all the commandments which I command you this day, that ye may be ſtrong, and go in and poſſeſs the land whither ye go to poſſeſs it;

9 And that ye may prolong your days in the land which the LORD ſware unto your fathers to give unto them and to their ſeed, a land that floweth with milk and honey.

10 For the land whither thou goeſt in to poſſeſs it is not as the land of Egypt, from whence ye came out, where thou ſowedſt thy ſeed, and wateredſt it with thy foot, as a garden of herbs:

11 But the land whither ye go to poſſeſs it is a land of hills and valleys, and drinketh water of the rain of heaven;

12 A land which the LORD thy God careth for: the eyes of the LORD thy God are always upon it, from the beginning of the year even unto the end of the year.

13 And it ſhall come to paſs, if ye ſhall hearken diligently unto my commandments, which I command you this day, to love the LORD your God, and to ſerve him with all your heart and with all your ſoul;

14 That I will give you the rain of your land in his due ſeaſon, the firſt rain and the latter rain, that thou mayeſt gather in thy corn, and thy wine, and thine oil.

15 And I will ſend graſs in thy fields for thy cattle, that thou mayeſt eat and be full.

16 Take heed to yourſelves, that your heart be not deceived, and ye turn aſide, and ſerve other gods, and worſhip them;

17 And then the LORD's wrath be kindled againſt you, and he ſhut up the heaven that there be no rain, and that the land yield not

Creator, and in imitation of that tender care which he exerciſes over all the ſons of men.

Notes on the Eleventh Chapter.

Ver. 10 For the land—is not as the land of Egypt—where thou ſowedſt thy ſeed, and wateredſt it with thy foot, &c.] This is explained by a paſſage out of Philo, who tells us that the Egyptians, to ſupply the want of rain, uſed to water their gardens by a machine for drawing water, fixed upon the banks of the Nile; which was ſo contrived as to be turned by the foot. So the meaning is, that whereas Egypt was watered by human art, Canaan was watered by rain from heaven: or, as the foot appears to be ſometimes metaphorically uſed for labour, the import of the phraſe may be, which thou wateredſt with great labour.

12 A land which the Lord thy God careth for.] A land not ſo much fruitful of itſelf as by the peculiar bleſſings of God upon it; and therefore they might expect to find it fertile or barren, according as they were faithful or remiſs in their duty.

14 The firſt and the latter rain.] Viz. at the autumnal and vernal equinox, uſual in that country.

her fruit; and leſt ye periſh quickly from off the good land which the LORD giveth you.

18 Therefore ſhall ye lay up theſe my words in your heart and in your ſoul, and bind them for a ſign upon your hand, that they may be as frontlets between your eyes.

19 And ye ſhall teach them your children, ſpeaking of them when thou ſitteſt in thine houſe, and when thou walkeſt by the way, when thou lieſt down, and when thou riſeſt up.

20 And thou ſhalt write them upon the door-poſts of thine houſe, and upon thy gates:

21 That your days may be multiplied, and the days of your children, in the land which the LORD ſware unto your fathers to give them, as the days of heaven upon the earth.

22 For if ye ſhall diligently keep all theſe commandments which I command you to do them, to love the LORD your God, to walk in all his ways, and to cleave unto him;

23 Then will the LORD drive out all theſe nations from before you, and ye ſhall poſſeſs greater nations and mightier than your ſelves.

24 Every place whereon the ſoles of your feet ſhall tread ſhall be yours: from the wilderneſs, and Lebanon, from the river, the river Euphrates, even unto the uttermoſt ſea, ſhall your coaſt be.

25 There ſhall no man be able to ſtand before you: for the LORD your God ſhall lay the fear of you and the dread of you upon all the land that ye ſhall tread upon, as he hath ſaid unto you.

26 ¶ Behold, I ſet before you this day a bleſſing, and a curſe;

27 A bleſſing, if ye obey the commandments of the LORD your God, which I command you this day;

28 And a curſe, if ye will not obey the commandments of the LORD your God, but turn aſide out of the way which I command you this day, to go after other gods which ye have not known,

29 And it ſhall come to paſs when the LORD thy God hath brought thee in unto the land whither thou goeſt to poſſeſs it, that thou ſhalt put the bleſſing upon mount Gerizim, and the curſe upon mount Ebal.

30 Are they not on the other ſide Jordan, by the way where the ſun goeth down, in the land of the Canaanites, which dwell in the champian over againſt Gilgal, beſide the plains of Moreh?

31 For ye ſhall paſs over Jordan, to go in to poſſeſs the land which the LORD your God giveth you, and ye ſhall poſſeſs it, and dwell therein.

32 And ye ſhall obſerve to do all the ſtatutes and judgments which I ſet before you this day.

CHAP. XII.

1 Monuments of idolatry are to be deſtroyed. 5 The place of God's ſervice is to be kept. 16, 23 Blood forbidden.

THESE are the ſtatutes and judgements which ye ſhall obſerve to do in the land which the LORD God of thy fathers giveth thee to poſſeſs it, all the days that ye live upon the earth.

2 Ye ſhall utterly deſtroy all the places wherein the nations which ye ſhall poſſeſs ſerved their gods, upon the high mountains, and upon the hills, and under every green tree.

3 And ye ſhall overthrow their altars, and break their pillars, and burn their groves with fire, and ye ſhall hew down their graven images of their gods, and deſtroy the names of them out of that place.

29 Thou ſhalt put the bleſſing on mount Gerizim, and the curſe upon mount Ebal.] In order to make you the more ſenſible upon what terms you are to enjoy the Promiſed Land, there ſhall be a ſolemn rendezvous of your ſeveral tribes, ſome at mount Gerizim, and of others at mount Ebal, where, at the one place, the prieſt ſhall, in an audible and ſolemn manner, pronounce the ſeveral bleſſings of God promiſed upon your obedience; and, at the other, the curſes conſequent upon the practice of vice, injuſtice and idolatry. Theſe mountains were ſituated in the tribe of Ephraim, and ſeparated only by a valley about one hundred paces wide. Jameſon.

Notes on the Twelfth Chapter.

Ver. 2 Upon the high mountains, and upon the hills.] The firſt altars ſeem to have been thoſe of nature's raiſing; namely, mountains and places of eminence, whither men repaired for retirement and contemplation. Thence ſuch places acquired a relative ſanctity; that is, they were conſidered as holy places. But, in length of time, the temples and altars there raiſed being abuſed to the vileſt purpoſes of ſuperſtition, and become the ſcenes of barbarous idol-worſhip, Moſes wiſely ordered them to be deſtroyed. Jameſon.

Under every green tree.] Under the ſhade of groves and trees, &c

4 Ye ſhall not do ſo unto the LORD your God.

5 ¶ But unto the place which the LORD your God ſhall chooſe out of all your tribes to put his name there, even unto his habitation ſhall ye ſeek, and thither thou ſhalt come:

6 And thither ye ſhall bring your burnt-offerings, and your ſacrifices, and your tithes, and heave-offerings of your hand, and your vows, and your free-will-offerings, and the firſtlings of your herds and of your flocks.

7 And there ye ſhall eat before the LORD your God, and ye ſhall rejoice in all that ye put your hand unto, ye and your houſholds, wherein the LORD thy God hath bleſſed thee.

8 Ye ſhall not do after all the things that we do here this day, every man whatſoever is right in his own eyes.

9 For ye are not as yet come to the reſt, and to the inheritance which the LORD your God giveth you.

10 But when ye go over Jordan, and dwell in the land which the LORD your God giveth you to inherit, and when he giveth you reſt from all your enemies round about, ſo that ye dwell in ſafety;

11 Then there ſhall be a place which the LORD your God ſhall chooſe to cauſe his name to dwell there: thither ſhall ye bring all that I command you; your burnt-offerings, and your ſacrifices, your tithes, and the heave-offering of your hand, and all your choice vows which ye vow unto the LORD.

12 And ye ſhall rejoice before the LORD your God, ye, and your ſons, and your daughters, and your men-ſervants, and your maid-ſervants, and the Levite that is within your gates; foraſmuch as he hath no part or inheritance with you.

13 Take heed to thyſelf that thou offer not thy burnt-offerings in every place that thou ſeeſt:

14 But in the place which the LORD ſhall chooſe in one of thy tribes, there thou ſhalt offer thy burnt-offerings, and there thou ſhalt do all that I command thee.

15 Notwithſtanding, thou mayeſt kill and eat fleſh in all thy gates, whatſoever thy ſoul luſteth after, according to the bleſſing of the LORD thy God which he hath given thee: the unclean and the clean may eat thereof, as of the roe-buck, and as of the hart.

16 ¶ Only ye ſhall not eat the blood; ye ſhall pour it upon the earth as water.

17 Thou mayeſt not eat within thy gates the tithe of thy corn, or of thy wine, or of thy oil, or the firſtlings of thy herds, or of thy flock, nor any of thy vows which thou voweſt, nor thy free-will-offerings, or heave-offering of thine hand:

18 But thou muſt eat them before the LORD thy God in the place which the LORD thy God ſhall chooſe, thou, and thy ſon, and thy daughter, and thy man-ſervant, and thy maid-ſervant, and the Levite that is within thy gates: and thou ſhalt rejoice before the LORD thy God in all that thou putteſt thine hands unto.

19 Take heed to thy ſelf that thou forſake not the Levite, as long as thou liveſt upon the earth.

20 When the LORD thy God ſhall enlarge thy border as he hath promiſed thee, and thou ſhalt ſay, I will eat fleſh; becauſe thy ſoul longeth to eat fleſh; thou mayeſt eat fleſh, whatſoever thy ſoul luſteth after.

21 If the place which the LORD thy God hath choſen to put his name there be too far from thee; then thou ſhalt kill of thy herd and of thy flock, which the LORD hath given thee, as I have commanded thee, and thou ſhalt eat in thy gates whatſoever thy ſoul luſteth after.

which were conſidered as ſacred places, where their gods were thought to have their peculiar reſidence.

8 Ye ſhall not do after all the things that we do here this day.] For in the wilderneſs, while the Iſraelites were deſtitute of many things requiſite to the exact performance of all their ſacred rites, and not yet ſufficiently accuſtomed to the yoke of their new laws, they were excuſed from the obſervance of many of them. Of this we have ſeveral proofs, particularly the total neglect of circumciſion during the whole time of their wandering in the wilderneſs, though it had been carefully obſerved in Egypt. Le Clerc.

11 Thither ſhall ye bring all that I command you, your burnt-offerings, &c.] One deſign of this inſtitution was to teach them not to have too high an opinion of ſacrifices, ſince they were not of ſuch account in the ſight of God as to be accepted every where; but were limited to one place, and to be offered only by one family.

22 Even as the roe-buck and the hart is eaten, ſo thou ſhalt eat them: the unclean and the clean ſhall eat of them alike.

23 ¶ Only be ſure that thou eat not the blood: for the blood is the life; and thou mayeſt not eat the life with the fleſh.

24 Thou ſhalt not eat it; thou ſhalt pour it upon the earth as water.

25 Thou ſhalt not eat it; that it may go well with thee, and with thy children after thee, when thou ſhalt do that which is right in the ſight of the LORD.

26 Only thy holy things which thou haſt, and thy vows, thou ſhalt take, and go unto the place which the LORD ſhall chooſe:

27 And thou ſhalt offer thy burnt-offerings, the fleſh and the blood, upon the altar of the LORD thy God: and the blood of thy ſacrifices ſhall be poured out upon the altar of the LORD thy God, and thou ſhalt eat the fleſh.

28 Obſerve and hear all theſe words which I command thee, that it may go well with thee, and with thy children after thee for ever, when thou doeſt that which is good and right in the ſight of the LORD thy God.

29 When the LORD thy God ſhall cut off the nations from before thee, whither thou goeſt to poſſeſs them, and thou ſucceedeſt them, and dwelleſt in their land;

30 Take heed to thy ſelf that thou be not ſnared by following them, after that they be deſtroyed from before thee; and that thou enquire not after their gods, ſaying, How did theſe nations ſerve their gods? even ſo will I do likewiſe.

31 Thou ſhalt not do ſo unto the LORD thy God: for every abomination to the LORD which he hateth have they done unto their gods: for even their ſons and their daughters they have burnt in the fire to their gods.

32 What thing ſoever I command you, obſerve to do it: thou ſhalt not add thereto, nor diminiſh from it.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Enticers to idolatry, 6 how near ſoever, 9 are to be ſtoned to death. 12 Idolatrous cities are not to be ſpared.

IF there ariſe among you a prophet, or a dreamer of dreams, and giveth thee a ſign or a wonder,

2 And the ſign or the wonder come to paſs whereof he ſpake unto thee, ſaying, Let us go after other gods, which thou haſt not known, and let us ſerve them;

3 Thou ſhalt not hearken unto the words of that prophet, or that dreamer of dreams: for the LORD your God proveth you, to know whether ye love the LORD your God with all your heart and with all your ſoul.

4 Ye ſhall walk after the LORD your God, and fear him, and keep his commandments, and obey his voice, and ye ſhall ſerve him, and cleave unto him.

5 And that prophet or that dreamer of dreams ſhall be put to death, becauſe he hath ſpoken to turn you away from the LORD your God, which brought you out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed you out of the houſe of bondage, to thruſt thee out of the way which the LORD thy God commanded thee to walk in. So ſhalt thou put the evil away from the midſt of thee.

6 ¶ If thy brother the ſon of thy mother, or thy ſon, or thy daughter, or the wife of thy boſom, or thy friend, which is as thine

31 For even their ſons and their daughters they have burnt in the fire to their gods.] This diabolical rite was notoriouſly practiſed by the Carthaginians, and at laſt it overſpread all nations, and even found admittance among the refined Greeks themſelves; though it muſt be owned, that the accounts of this horrid ſuperſtition have been aggravated by the credulity, ignorance, or miſrepreſentation of authors. But what is moſt ſurpriſing, we find that even the Iſraelites themſelves, notwithſtanding this admonition, were ſeduced to commit this horrid abomination; witneſs Jephthah's ſacrificing his daughter.

Notes on the Thirteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1, 2, 3, 4 If there ariſe among you a prophet, &c.] Moſes foreſeeing that the Iſraelites, in after-ages, would be expoſed to the ſnares and deluſions of falſe prophets, lays down this certain rule, whereby to judge of ſuch pretenders to inſpiration, namely, That the exiſtence of the one true God, and the authority, goodneſs, and truth of his laws and religion, being already ſo fully demonſtrated by evidences of all kinds, and, on the contrary, the heathen dæmons, and idolatrous cuſtoms of their worſhip, being, in the reaſon of things, ſo full of abſurdities, follies, and the worſt of wickedneſſes; it ought not to be thought that a miracle, or the fulfilling of a prediction, ſhould be ſufficient to ſpeak the truth of the one, or gain credit to the other.

6 If thy brother, &c.] Moſes, by enjoining the Iſraelites te proſecuto own ſoul, entice thee ſecretly, ſaying, Let us go and ſerve other gods, which thou haſt not known, thou, nor thy fathers;

7 Namely, of the gods of the people which are round about you, nigh unto thee, or far off from thee, from the one end of the earth, even unto the other end of the earth;

8 Thou ſhalt not conſent unto him, nor hearken unto him; neither ſhall thine eye pity him, neither ſhalt thou ſpare, neither ſhalt thou conceal him:

9 ¶ But thou ſhalt ſurely kill him; thine hand ſhall be firſt upon him to put him to death, and afterwards the hand of all the people.

10 And thou ſhalt ſtone him with ſtones, that he die; becauſe he hath ſought to thruſt thee away from the LORD thy God, which brought thee ought of the land of Egypt, from the houſe of bondage.

11 And all Iſrael ſhall hear and fear, and ſhall do no more any ſuch wickedneſs as this is among you.

12 ¶ If thou ſhalt hear ſay in one of thy cities, which the LORD thy God hath given thee to dwell there, ſaying,

13 Certain men, the children of Belial, are gone out from among you, and have withdrawn the inhabitants of their city, ſaying, Let us go and ſerve other gods, which ye have not known;

14 Then ſhalt thou enquire and make ſearch, and aſk diligently; and behold, if it be truth, and the thing certain, that ſuch abomination is wrought among you;

15 Thou ſhalt ſurely ſmite the inhabitants of that city with the edge of the ſword, deſtroying it utterly, and all that is therein, and the cattle thereof, with the edge of the ſword.

16 And thou ſhalt gather all the ſpoil of it into the midſt of the ſtreet thereof, and ſhalt burn with fire the city, and all the ſpoil thereof every whit, for the LORD thy God: and it ſhall be an heap for ever, it ſhall not be built again.

17 And there ſhall cleave nought of the curſed thing to thine hand: that the LORD may turn from the fierceneſs of his anger, and ſhew thee mercy, and have compaſſion upon thee, and multiply thee, as he hath ſworn unto thy fathers;

18 When thou ſhalt hearken to the voice of the LORD thy God, to keep all his commandments which I command thee this day, to do that which is right in the eyes of the LORD thy God.

CHAP. XIV.

1 God's children are not to diſfigure themſelves in mourning. 3 What may be eaten, and what not. 22 Of tithes.

YE are the children of the LORD your God: ye ſhall not cut your ſelves, nor make any baldneſs between your eyes for the dead.

2 For thou art an holy people unto the LORD thy God, and the LORD hath choſen thee to be a peculiar people unto himſelf, above all the nations that are upon the earth.

3 ¶ Thou ſhalt not eat any abominable thing.

4 Theſe are the beaſts which ye ſhall eat: the ox, the ſheep, and the goat,

5 The hart, and the roe-buck, and the fallow-deer, and the wild-goat, and the pygarg, and the wild ox, and the chamois.

proſecute the deareſt friend to death, if guilty of the ſin of ſeducing them from the worſhip of the true God, ſufficiently ſhews that it was the higheſt treaſon againſt their religion and government. The words ſhould be tranſpoſed, and read thus: If thy brother, or thy ſon, or thy daughter, or thy friend, or the wife of thy boſom, which is as thine own ſoul, &c. then the climax is perfect.

13 The children of Belial.] The word Belial ſignifies one who is ſubject to no law, and conſequently a very proper name for the devil, and all the ſons of diſobedience.

Notes on the Fourteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1, 2 Ye are the children of the Lord your God.] Moſes proceeds to remind this new generation of ſeveral other particular laws, deſigned to keep up the diſtinction between the Iſraelites and other nations, to guard them from ſuperſtitious practices.

3 Thou ſhalt not eat any abominable thing.] In order to preſerve them even from common converſation with other nations, and thereby the more effectually to ſecure them from their idolatries, they are prohibited from the uſe of certain meats, which are therefore called abominable; becauſe, after this law was given, the Jews were to look upon them as unclean, not in themſelves, but by the ordinance of God.

5 The hart, and the roe-buck, &c.] The original names of theſe ſeven quadrupeds are thus interpreted by Dr. Shaw: 1. The 6 And every beaſt that parteth the hoof and cleaveth the cleft into two claws, and cheweth the cud amongſt the beaſts; that ye ſhall eat.

7 Nevertheleſs, theſe ye ſhall not eat of them that chew the cud, or of them that divide the cloven hoof; as the camel, and the hare, and the cony: for they chew the cud, but divide not the hoof; therefore they are unclean unto you.

8 And the ſwine, becauſe it divideth the hoof, yet cheweth not the cud, it is unclean unto you: ye ſhall not eat of their fleſh, nor touch their dead carcaſe.

9 Theſe ye ſhall eat of all that are in the waters: all that have fins and ſcales ſhall ye eat:

10 And whatſoever hath not fins and ſcales, ye may not eat: it is unclean unto you.

11 Of all clean birds ye ſhall eat.

12 But theſe are they of which ye ſhall not eat: the eagle, and the oſſifrage, and the oſpray,

13 And the glede, and the kite, and the vulture after his kind,

14 And every raven after his kind,

15 And the owl, and the night-hawk, and the cuckow, and the hawk after his kind,

16 The little owl, and the great owl, and the ſwan,

17 And the pelican, and the gier-eagle, and the cormorant,

18 And the ſtork, and the heron after her kind, and the lap-wing, and the bat.

19 And every creeping thing that flieth is unclean unto you: they ſhall not be eaten.

20 But of all clean fowls ye may eat.

21 Ye ſhall not eat of any thing that dieth of itſelf: thou ſhalt give it unto the ſtranger that is in thy gates, that he may eat it; or thou mayeſt ſell it unto an alien: for thou art an holy people unto the LORD thy God. Thou ſhalt not ſeeth a kid in his mother's milk.

22 ¶ Thou ſhalt truly tithe all the increaſe of thy ſeed, that the field bringeth forth year by year.

23 And thou ſhalt eat before the LORD thy God, in the place which he ſhall chooſe to place his name there, the tithe of thy corn, of thy wine, and of thine oil, and of the firſtlings of thy herds and of thy flocks: that thou mayeſt learn to fear the LORD thy God always.

24 And if the way be too long for thee, ſo that thou art not able to carry it, or if the place be too far from thee which the LORD thy God ſhall chooſe to ſet his name there, when the LORD thy God hath bleſſed thee;

25 Then ſhalt thou turn it into money, and bind up the money in thine hand, and ſhalt go unto the place which the LORD thy God ſhall chooſe.

26 And thou ſhalt beſtow that money for whatſoever thy ſoul luſteth after, for oxen, or for ſheep, or for wine, or for ſtrong-drink, or for whatſoever thy ſoul deſireth: and thou ſhalt eat there before the LORD thy God, and thou ſhalt rejoice, thou and thine houſhold,

27 And the Levite that is within thy gates; thou ſhalt not forſake him: for he hath no part nor inheritance with thee.

28 At the end of three years thou ſhalt bring forth all the tithe of thine increaſe the ſame year, and ſhalt lay it up within thy gates.

29 And the Levite, (becauſe he hath no part nor inheritance with thee) and the ſtranger, and the fatherleſs, and the widow, which are within thy gates, ſhall come, and ſhall eat and

The hart or deer comprehends all the varieties of the deer-kind: 2. The tzebi does not ſignify the roe-buck, but the antilope: 3. What we call the fallow-deer, may more properly be rendered, the wild beeve: 4. The akko is a particular ſpecies of the wild goat, and ſhould be tranſlated the goat-deer, as the LXX and Vulgate have it: 5. The pygarg denotes a creature whoſe hinder parts are white, and may be called the white-buttocks. It is ſhaped exactly like the antilope, and of the ſame colour, only its horns are twice as long, the animal itſelf being twice as big: 6. The wild ox ſhould have been rendered the buffalo: 7. The chamois, the Arabic verſion calls it, the jeraffa, which ſtill continues to be the eaſtern name of that quadruped; it is a ſort of mountain-goat, or inhabitant of the rocks. Thus then the beaſts which Moſes here enumerates are moſt probably the deer, the antilope, the wild-beeve, the goat-deer, the white-buttocks, the buffalo, the jeraffa.

12 The eagle, the oſſifrage, &c.] See notes on Levit. chap. xi. verſes 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19.

26 Thou ſhalt rejoice, &c.] This is an injunction on the Hebrew nation, to uſe part of their income in hoſpitality; to rejoice in the goodneſs of God; to acknowledge they owed all their bleſſings to his favour; and to glad the hearts of the poor, the fatherleſs, and the widow, with a chearful entertainment. The Hebrew writers call it the tithe of feaſts, and the poor man's tithe. Lowman's Diſſert.

be ſatisfied; that the LORD thy God may bleſs thee in all the work of thine hand which thou doeſt.

CHAP. XV.

1 The ſeventh year, a year of releaſe for the poor. 7 It muſt be no let of lending or giving.

AT the end of every ſeven years thou ſhalt make a releaſe.

2 And this is the manner of the releaſe: every creditor that lendeth ought unto his neighbour, ſhall releaſe it; he ſhall not exact it of his neighbour, or of his brother; becauſe it is called the LORD's releaſe.

3 Of a foreigner thou mayeſt exact it again: but that which is thine with thy brother thine hand ſhall releaſe;

4 Save when there ſhall be no poor among you; for the LORD ſhall greatly bleſs thee in the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee for an inheritance to poſſeſs it:

5 Only if thou carefully hearken unto the voice of the LORD thy God, to obſerve to do all theſe commandments which I command thee this day.

6 For the LORD thy God bleſſeth thee, as he promiſed thee: and thou ſhalt lend unto many nations, but thou ſhalt not borrow; and thou ſhalt reign over many nations, but they ſhall not reign over thee.

7 ¶ If there be among you a poor man of one of thy brethren, within any of thy gates, in thy land which the LORD thy God giveth thee, thou ſhalt not harden thy heart, nor ſhut thine hand from thy poor brother;

8 But thou ſhalt open thine hand wide unto him, and ſhalt ſurely lend him ſufficient for his need, in that which he wanteth.

9 Beware that there be not a thought in thy wicked heart, ſaying, The ſeventh year, the year of releaſe, is at hand: and thine eye be evil againſt thy poor brother, and thou giveſt him nought, and he cry unto the LORD againſt thee, and it be ſin unto thee.

10 Thou ſhalt ſurely give him, and thine heart ſhall not be grieved when thou giveſt unto him: becauſe that for this thing the LORD thy God ſhall bleſs thee in all thy works, and in all that thou putteſt thine hand unto.

11 For the poor ſhall never ceaſe out of the land: therefore I command thee, ſaying, Thou ſhalt open thine hand wide unto thy brother, to thy poor, and to thy needy, in thy land.

12 And if thy brother, an Hebrew man, or an Hebrew woman, be ſold unto thee, and ſerve thee ſix years; then in the ſeventh year thou ſhalt let him go free from thee.

13 And when thou ſendeſt him out free from thee, thou ſhalt not let him away empty:

14 Thou ſhalt furniſh him liberally out of thy flock, and out of thy floor, and out of thy wine-preſs: of that wherewith the LORD thy God hath bleſſed thee, thou ſhalt give unto him.

15 And thou ſhalt remember that thou waſt a bond-man in the land of Egypt, and the LORD thy God redeemed thee: therefore I command thee this thing to day.

16 And it ſhall be, if he ſay unto thee, I will not go away from thee; becauſe he loveth thee and thine houſe, becauſe he is well with thee;

17 Then thou ſhalt take an awl, and thruſt it through his ear unto the door, and he ſhall be thy ſervant for ever. And alſo unto thy maid-ſervant thou ſhalt do likewiſe.

18 It ſhall not ſeem hard unto thee, when thou ſendeſt him away free from thee: for he hath been worth a double hired ſervant to thee,

Notes on the Fifteenth Chapter.

Ver. 4 Save when there ſhall be no poor among you,] The marginal reading, To the end that there be no poor among you, or that none among you be pinched by extreme poverty, ſhould be preferred here.

7 Thou ſhalt not harden thine heart, &c.] Leſt this law might make people cautious in lending to the poor, as being aſſured they ſhould loſe the debt at the ſeventh year, if they were not able to pay it before; Moſes here gives them a charge, that no Iſraelite ſhould be led by ſo mean a principle, but look upon every poor neighbour as a member of the ſame happy ſociety, equally related to God as himſelf, who therefore would be ſure to puniſh all uncharitableneſs to ſuch as were his own, as he would be to bleſs and reward thoſe, who, with a generous and bountiful heart, gratefully depended upon his providence, and obeyed his commands. Pyle.

18 Worth a double hired ſervant in ſerving thee ſix years.] The LXX and Vulgate have it, he has done thee the yearly ſervice of a hired ſervant for ſix years.

in ſerving thee ſix years: and the LORD thy God ſhall bleſs thee in all that thou doeſt.

19 All the firſtling males that come of thy herd, and of thy flock, thou ſhalt ſanctify unto the LORD thy God: thou ſhalt do no work with the firſtling of thy bullock, nor ſhear the firſtling of thy ſheep.

20 Thou ſhalt eat it before the LORD thy God year by year, in the place which the LORD ſhall chooſe, thou and thy houſhold.

21 And if there be any blemiſh therein, as if it be lame, or blind, or have any ill blemiſh, thou ſhall not ſacrifice it unto the LORD thy God.

22 Thou ſhalt eat it within thy gates: the unclean and the clean perſon ſhall eat it alike, as the roe-buck, and as the hart.

23 Only thou ſhalt not eat the blood thereof; thou ſhalt pour it upon the ground as water.

CHAP. XVI.

1 The feaſt of the paſs-over, 9 of weeks, 13 of tabernacles. 18 Of judges and juſtice. 21 Groves and images are forbidden.

OBſerve the month of Abib, and keep the paſs-over unto the LORD thy God: for in the month of Abib the LORD thy God brought thee out of Egypt by night.

2 Thou ſhalt therefore ſacrifice the paſs-over unto the LORD thy God, of the flock and the herd, in the place which the LORD ſhall chooſe to place his name there.

3 Thou ſhalt eat no leavened bread with it: ſeven days ſhalt thou eat unleavened bread therewith, even the bread of affliction; for thou cameſt forth out of the land of Egypt in haſte: that thou mayeſt remember the day when thou cameſt forth out of the land of Egypt all the days of thy life.

4 And there ſhall be no leavened bread ſeen with thee in all thy coaſts ſeven days: neither ſhall there any thing of the fleſh which thou ſacrificedſt the firſt day at even remain all night until morning.

5 Thou mayeſt not ſacrifice the paſs-over within any of thy gates, which the LORD thy God giveth thee.

6 But at the place which the LORD thy God ſhall chooſe to place his name in, there thou ſhalt ſacrifice the paſs-over at even, at the going down of the ſun, at the ſeaſon that thou cameſt forth out of Egypt.

7 And thou ſhalt roaſt, and eat it in the place which the LORD thy God ſhall chooſe: and thou ſhalt turn in the morning, and go unto thy tents.

8 Six days thou ſhalt eat unleavened bread: and on the ſeventh day ſhall be a ſolemn aſſembly to the LORD thy God; thou ſhalt do no work therein.

9 ¶ Seven weeks ſhalt thou number unto thee: begin to number the ſeven weeks from ſuch time as thou beginneſt to put the ſickle to the corn.

10 And thou ſhalt keep the feaſt of weeks unto the LORD thy God with a tribute of a free-will-offering of thine hand, which thou ſhalt give unto the LORD thy God according as the LORD thy God hath bleſſed thee.

11 And thou ſhalt rejoice before the LORD thy God, thou, and thy ſon, and thy daughter, and thy man-ſervant, and thy maid-ſervant, and the Levite that is within thy gates, and the ſtranger, and the fatherleſs, and the widow, that are among you, in the place which the LORD thy God hath choſen to place his name there.

Notes on the Sixteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Obſerve the month of Abib.] When a feſtival was to be obſerved in perpetual commemoration of the bondage in Egypt, and the merciful and miraculous deliverance from it; at the punctual time, and with every circumſtance mentioned in the foregoing laws relating to it. See Exod. xii. Numb. xxviii. 16, 17, &c.

3 The bread of affliction.] So called becauſe it was inſipid, and not eaſily digeſted; and therefore ſerved to put them in mind of their afflicted ſtate in Egypt.

7 Thou ſhalt turn in the morning, and go unto thy tents.] Unto thine own habitations, which were called tents, becauſe they had no other dwellings when theſe precepts were delivered to them. The words are only a permiſſion, not an abſolute command: after you have eaten the paſchal lamb, you are permitted to return home, if you pleaſe.

9 Seven weeks ſhalt thou number.] The feaſt of Pentecoſt was kept in ſolemn commemoration of the awful delivery of the law at mount Sinai, and in thankfulneſs to God for the fruits of the year. See Exod. xxiii. 16.

12 And thou ſhalt remember that thou waſt a bond-man in Egypt: and thou ſhalt obſerve and do theſe ſtatutes.

13 ¶ Thou ſhalt obſerve the feaſt of tabernacles ſeven days, after that thou haſt gathered in thy corn and thy wine.

14 And thou ſhalt rejoice in thy feaſt, thou, and thy ſon, and thy daughter, and thy man-ſervant, and thy maid-ſervant, and the Levite, the ſtranger, and the fatherleſs, and the widow, that are within thy gates.

15 Seven days ſhalt thou keep a ſolemn feaſt unto the LORD thy God in the place which the LORD ſhall chooſe: becauſe the LORD thy God ſhall bleſs thee in all thy increaſe, and in all the works of thine hands, therefore thou ſhalt ſurely rejoice.

16 Three times in a year ſhall all thy males appear before the LORD thy God in the place which he ſhall chooſe; in the feaſt of unleavened bread, and in the feaſt of weeks, and in the feaſt of tabernacles: and they ſhall not appear before the LORD empty:

17 Every man ſhall give as he is able, according to the bleſſing of the LORD thy God which he hath given thee.

18 ¶ Judges and officers ſhalt thou make thee in all thy gates which the LORD thy God giveth thee throughout thy tribes: and they ſhall judge the people with juſt judgement.

19 Thou ſhalt not wreſt judgement; thou ſhalt not reſpect perſons, neither take a gift: for a gift doth blind the eyes of the wiſe, and pervert the words of the righteous.

20 That which is altogether juſt ſhalt thou follow, that thou mayeſt live, and inherit the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee.

21 ¶ Thou ſhalt not plant thee a grove of any trees near unto the altar of the LORD thy God, which thou ſhalt make thee.

22 Neither ſhalt thou ſet thee up any image; which the LORD thy God hateth.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Things ſacrificed muſt be ſound. 2 Idolaters muſt be ſlain. 8 Of hard controverſies. 14 The election, 16 and duty of a king.

THOU ſhalt not ſacrifice unto the LORD thy God any bullock or ſheep wherein is blemiſh, or any evil-favouredneſs: for that is an abomination unto the LORD thy God.

2 ¶ If there be found among you within any of thy gates which the LORD thy God giveth thee, man or woman that hath wrought wickedneſs in the ſight of the LORD thy God, in tranſgreſſing his covenant,

3 And hath gone and ſerved other gods, and worſhipped them, either the ſun, or moon, or any of the hoſt of heaven, which I have not commanded;

4 And it be told thee, and thou haſt heard of it, and enquired diligently, and behold, it be true, and the thing certain, that ſuch abomination is wrought in Iſrael:

5 Then ſhalt thou bring forth that man or that woman which have committed that wicked thing, unto thy gates, even that man or that woman, and ſhalt ſtone them with ſtones, till they die.

6 At the mouth of two witneſſes, or three witneſſes, ſhall he that is worthy of death be put to death; but at the mouth of one witneſs he ſhall not be put to death.

7 The hands of the witneſſes ſhall be firſt upon him to put him to death, and afterward the hands of all the people. So thou ſhalt put the evil away from among you.

13 The feaſt of the tabernacles.] This feaſt was kept in remembrance of the providential preſervation of the Iſraelites, during their travels in the wilderneſs. See note on Lev. ch. xxiii. 34.

20 That which is altogether juſt ſhalt thou follow, that thou mayeſt live, &c.] That thou mayeſt be happy, and continue long in the land of Canaan; for nothing contributes more to the eſtabliſhment of a government, than the exact and impartial adminiſtration of juſtice. Jameſon.

Which I have not commanded.] i. e. Which I have forbidden.

8 Between

8 ¶ If there ariſe a matter too hard for thee in judgement, between blood and blood, between plea and plea, and between ſtroke and ſtroke, being matters of controverſy within thy gates: then ſhalt thou ariſe, and get thee up into the place which the LORD thy God ſhall chooſe;

9 And thou ſhalt come unto the prieſts the Levites, and unto the judge that ſhall be in thoſe days, and enquire; and they ſhall ſhew thee the ſentence of judgement.

10 And thou ſhalt do according to the ſentence which they of that place which the LORD ſhall chooſe ſhall ſhew thee; and thou ſhalt obſerve to do according to all that they inform thee:

11 According to the ſentence of the law which they ſhall teach thee, and according to the judgement which they ſhall tell thee thou ſhalt do: thou ſhalt not decline from the ſentence which they ſhall ſhew thee to the right hand nor to the left.

12 And the man that will do preſumptuouſly, and will not hearken unto the prieſt that ſtandeth to miniſter there before the LORD thy God, or unto the judge, even that man ſhall die: and thou ſhalt put away the evil from Iſrael.

13 And all the people ſhall hear, and fear, and do no more preſumptuouſly.

14 ¶ When thou art come unto the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee, and ſhalt poſſeſs it, and ſhalt dwell therein, and ſhalt ſay, I will ſet a king over me, like as all the nations that are about me;

15 Thou ſhalt in any wiſe ſet him king over thee, whom the LORD thy God ſhall chooſe; one from among thy brethren ſhalt thou ſet king over thee: thou mayeſt not ſet a ſtranger over thee, which is not thy brother.

16 ¶ But he ſhall not multiply horſes to himſelf, nor cauſe the people to return to Egypt to the end that he ſhould multiply horſes: forasmuch as the LORD hath ſaid unto you, Ye ſhall henceforth return no more that way.

17 Neither ſhall he multiply wives to himſelf, that his heart turn not away: neither ſhall he greatly multiply to himſelf ſilver and gold.

18 And it ſhall be when he ſitteth upon the throne of his kingdom, that he ſhall write him a copy of this law in a book, out of that which is before the prieſts the Levites:

19 And it ſhall be with him, and he ſhall read therein all the days of his life: that he may learn to fear the LORD his God to keep all the words of this law and theſe ſtatutes, to do them;

20 That his heart be not lifted up above his brethren, and that he turn not aſide from the commandment to the right hand or to the left: to the end that he may prolong his days in his kingdom, he, and his children in the midſt of Iſrael.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The prieſts and Levites ſhall have no inheritance. 3 Their portion. 15 Chriſt the prophet is to be heard. 20 The preſumptuous prophet is to die.

THE prieſts the Levites, and all the tribe of Levi, ſhall have no part nor inheritance with Iſrael: they ſhall eat the offerings of the LORD made by fire, and his inheritance.

2 Therefore ſhall they have no inheritance among their brethren: the LORD is their inheritance, as he hath ſaid unto them.

3 ¶ And this ſhall be the prieſts due from the people, from them that offer a ſacrifice, whether it be ox or ſheep; and they ſhall give unto the prieſt the ſhoulder, and the two cheeks, and the maw.

4 The firſt-fruit alſo of thy corn, of thy

8 Between blood and blood.] In a queſtion that may ariſe, whether a man hath committed wilful murder, or only caſual.

Between ſtroke and ſtroke.] i. e. In the caſe of wounds or ſtrokes inflicted by one man upon another.

16 He ſhall not multiply horſes.] For the reaſon given in the next words. It was cuſtomary to buy horſes out of Egypt, and ſo it continued to the days of Solomon, 1 Kings, x. 28.

17 He ſhall not multiply wives.] Leſt he be ſeduced from the true religion by marrying the worſhippers of ſtrange gods, as Solomon was.

Notes on the Eighteenth Chapter.

Ver. 3 The cheeks and the maw.] Theſe are now added to what was before appointed for the prieſt's portion, Lev. vii. 32, &c. By the maw is meant the ſtomach, which was accounted by the antients a great dainty.

wine, and of thy oil, and the firſt of the fleece of thy ſheep ſhalt thou give him.

5 For the LORD thy God hath choſen him out of all thy tribes, to ſtand to miniſter in the name of the LORD, him and his ſons for ever.

6 And if a Levite come from any of thy gates out of all Iſrael, where he ſojourned, and come with all the deſire of his mind unto the place which the LORD ſhall chooſe;

7 Then he ſhall miniſter in the name of the LORD his God, as all his brethren the Levites do, which ſtand there before the LORD.

8 They ſhall have like portions to eat, beſide that which cometh of the ſale of his patrimony.

9 When thou art come into the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee, thou ſhalt not learn to do after the abominations of thoſe nations.

10 There ſhall not be found among you any one that maketh his ſon or his daughter to paſs through the fire, or that uſeth divination, or an obſerver of times, or an enchanter, or a witch,

11 Or charmer, or a conſulter with familiar ſpirits, or a wizard, or a necromancer.

12 For all that do theſe things are an abomination unto the LORD: and becauſe of theſe abominations the LORD thy God doth drive them out from before thee.

13 Thou ſhalt be perfect with the LORD thy God.

14 For theſe nations which thou ſhalt poſſeſs hearkened unto obſervers of times, and unto diviners: but as for thee, the LORD thy God hath not ſuffered thee ſo to do.

15 ¶ The LORD thy God will raiſe up unto thee a Prophet from the midſt of thee, of thy brethren, like unto me; unto him ye ſhall hearken;

16 According to all that thou deſiredſt of the LORD thy God in Horeb, in the day of the aſſembly, ſaying, Let me not hear again the voice of the LORD my God, neither let me ſee this great fire any more, that I die not.

17 And the LORD ſaid unto me, They have well ſpoken that which they have ſpoken.

18 I will raiſe them up a Prophet from among their brethren, like unto thee, and will put my words in his mouth, and he ſhall ſpeak unto them all that I ſhall command him.

6 If a Levite.] By a Levite is here meant a Prieſt, that is, any of the Levitical tribe.

Come with all the deſire of his mind unto the place which the Lord ſhall chooſe.] To encourage all thoſe of the ſacred order to take delight in the exerciſe of their miniſtry, and promote the honour of divine ſervice, he appointed, that ſuch of the Prieſts as choſe to ſerve at the tabernacle out of their ordinary courſe, and addict themſelves to a conſtant attendance upon the public miniſtry, ſhould have the ſame continual allowance with the Prieſts and Levites in waiting.

10 An obſerver of times.] The word in the original is thought to ſignify that ſort of divination that was made by obſerving the face of the heaven, the motion and figure of the clouds, the appearance of meteors, thunder, lightning, and the like.

Or an enchanter.] One who divines by means of ſerpents.

A witch.] One that does miſchief to men or beaſts by evil arts.

11 A charmer.] One that pretends to foretel future events from the poſitions of the planets.

A conſulter with familiar ſpirits, or a wizard.] One who conſults a diviner, or wizard. See note on Levit. xix. 31.

A necromancer.] One who enquires of the dead or a conſulter of dead idols. The manner of conſulting the dead, was by viſiting their graves in the night, and there lying down and muttering certain words with a low voice, by which means they pretended to have communion with them by dreams, or by their appearing to them.

15 God will raiſe up unto thee a prophet.] God will ſupply you with a ſucceſſion of truly inſpired prophets, to whom he will reveal his will and determinations concerning your republic. This is the natural ſenſe of theſe words; but as they point to ſome prophet more eminent than the reſt, they may fairly be underſtood, literally, of the Meſſiah: for as they may be ſo interpreted as to comprehend all the prophets whom God ſent after Moſes, ſo ſurely the Meſſiah, the moſt eminent of all thoſe prophets, is not to be excluded. And Le Clerc juſtly obſerves, that the ancient Jews undoubtedly underſtood them as peculiarly applicable to the Meſſiah; ſince St. Peter, who, as the apoſtolic manner was, reaſons with the Jews upon received principles, and accommodates theſe words to Jeſus of Nazareth, Acts iii. 22. and vii. 37.

Like unto me.] In a limited ſenſe, all the ſucceeding prophets may be called like unto Moſes; i. e. truly inſpired and commiſſioned by God, as he was; in oppoſition to thoſe pretenders to the gift of prophecy among the heathens, whom he had before mentioned. But, in their full meaning, the words are applicable to none but the Meſſiah, who was a ſecond lawgiver, like unto Moſes, which none of the other prophets were; nor had any of the other prophets, but the Meſſiah, ſuch a near and familiar intercourſe with God as Moſes.

Unto him ye ſhall hearken.] By this precept the Jews were bound to give ear to all the prophets who proved their commiſſion from God; but eſpecially to the Meſſiah, who not only reſembled Moſes, but infinitely exceeded him. To this paſſage Le Clerc refers thoſe words of our Saviour, Do not think that I will accuſe you to the Father: there is one that accuſeth you, even Moſes, in whom ye truſt; for had ye believed Moſes, ye would have believed me; for he wrote of me, John v. 45.

18 I will put my words in his mouth, &c.] He ſhall communicate my will to the people in a free and familiar manner. This was remarkably fulfilled in our Saviour, who brought life and immortality to light through the goſpel.

19 Whoſe-

19 And it ſhall come to paſs, that whoſoever will not hearken unto my words which he ſhall ſpeak in my name, I will require it of him.

20 ¶ But the prophet which ſhall preſume to ſpeak a word in my name which I have not commanded him to ſpeak, or that ſhall ſpeak in the name of other gods, even that prophet ſhall die.

21 And if thou ſay in thine heart, How ſhall we know the word which the LORD hath not ſpoken?

22 When a prophet ſpeaketh in the name of the LORD, if the thing follow not, nor come to paſs, that is the thing which the LORD hath not ſpoken, but the prophet hath ſpoken it preſumptuouſly: thou ſhalt not be afraid of him.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The cities of refuge. 4 Their privilege. 16 The puniſhment of a falſe witneſs.

WHEN the LORD thy God hath cut off the nations whoſe land the LORD thy God giveth thee, and thou ſucceedeſt them, and dwelleſt in their cities, and in their houſes;

2 Thou ſhalt ſeparate three cities for thee in the midſt of thy land which the LORD thy God giveth thee to poſſeſs it.

3 Thou ſhalt prepare thee a way, and divide the coaſts of thy land which the LORD thy God giveth thee to inherit into three parts, that every ſlayer may flee thither.

4 ¶ And this is the caſe of the ſlayer which ſhall flee thither, that he may live; whoſo killeth his neighbour ignorantly, whom he hated not in time paſt;

5 As when a man goeth into the wood with his neighbour to hew wood, and his hand fetcheth a ſtroke with the ax to cut down the tree, and the head ſlippeth from the helve, and lighteth upon his neighbour, that he die; he ſhall flee unto one of thoſe cities, and live:

6 Leſt the avenger of blood purſue the ſlayer while his heart is hot, and overtake him, becauſe the way is long, and ſlay him; whereas he was not worthy of death, inaſmuch as he hated him not in time paſt.

7 Wherefore I command thee, ſaying, Thou ſhalt ſeparate three cities for thee.

8 And if the LORD thy God enlarge thy coaſt, as he hath ſworn unto thy fathers, and give thee all the land which he promiſed to give unto thy fathers;

9 If thou ſhalt keep all theſe commandments to do them, which I command thee this day, to love the LORD thy God, and to walk ever in his ways; then ſhalt thou add three cities more for thee beſide theſe three:

10 That innocent blood be not ſhed in thy land which the LORD thy God giveth thee for an inheritance, and ſo blood be upon thee.

11 But if any man hate his neighbour, and lie in wait for him, and riſe up againſt him, and ſmite him mortally that he die, and fleeth into one of theſe cities:

12 Then the elders of his city ſhall ſend and fetch him thence, and deliver him into the hand of the avenger of blood, that he may die.

13 Thine eye ſhall not pity him, but thou ſhalt put away the guilt of innocent blood from Iſrael, that it may go well with thee.

19 Whoſoever will not hearken unto my words which he ſhall ſpeak in my name, I will require it of him.] I will ſeverely puniſh thoſe who do not hearken to the words which he ſhall ſpeak in my name.

22 If the thing follow not, &c.] If a prophet appeal to ſome miracle, or future event, as an abſolute ſign of his being ſent from God, and the miracle ſhould fail, or the prediction not be fulfilled, he ſhall be conſidered as an impoſtor.

Notes on the Nineteenth Chapter.

Ver. 2 In the midſt of thy land.] That is, within the limits of thy land; for if they had all three been in the heart of the country, they would in a great meaſure have defeated the whole intention in ſeparating them, which was, that they ſhould be placed ſo conveniently in ſeveral parts of the country, that men might eaſily and ſpeedily flee to them.

3 Thou ſhalt prepare thee a way.] Make a plain road to them, and keep it always in good repair, that the man-ſlayer might meet with no difficulty in his flight thither.

Divide the coaſts of thy land.] They were to divide their poſſeſſions on the weſt of Jordan into three equal parts, and in the central parts of each open an aſylum, that, being nearly at an equal diſtance, with reſpect to the inhabitants of each diſtrict, each might enjoy the ſame benefit of them.

12 The elders of his city ſhall ſend and fetch him thence.] The ſenſe is, that upon any ſuſpicion or information of murder laid againſt any one that took refuge there, the magiſtrates of the town or diſtrict, where the fact was committed, ſhall ſend for the perſon out of the refuge-town, bring him to a fair trial, and, upon a clear evidence of wilful murder, condemn him to death, and cauſe execution to be done without fear, partiality, or affection, as they value the divine bleſſing, and deſire to be free of the guilt of innocent blood, which will otherwiſe be required at their hands. Pyle.

14 Thou ſhalt not remove thy neighbour's land-mark, which they of old time have ſet in thine inheritance which thou ſhalt inherit, in the land that the LORD thy God giveth thee to poſſeſs it.

15 One witneſs ſhall not riſe up againſt a man for any iniquity, or for any ſin, in any ſin that he ſinneth: at the mouth of two witneſſes, or at the mouth of three witneſſes ſhall the matter be eſtabliſhed.

16 ¶ If a falſe witneſs riſe up againſt any man to teſtify againſt him that which is wrong;

17 Then both the men between whom the controverſy is ſhall ſtand before the LORD, before the prieſts, and the judges which ſhall be in thoſe days;

18 And the judges ſhall make diligent inquiſition; and behold, if the witneſs be a falſe witneſs, and hath teſtified falſly againſt his brother:

19 Then ſhall ye do unto him, as he had thought to have done unto his brother. So ſhalt thou put the evil away from among you.

20 And thoſe which remain ſhall hear, and fear, and ſhall henceforth commit no more any ſuch evil among you.

21 And thine eye ſhall not pity, but life ſhall go for life, eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot.

CHAP. XX.

2 The prieſt's exhortation to encourage the people to battle. 10 How to uſe the cities that accept or refuſe the proclamation of peace. 16 What cities muſt be devoted.

WHEN thou goeſt out to battle againſt thine enemies, and ſeeſt horſes and chariots, and a people more than thou, be not afraid of them: for the LORD thy God is with thee, which brought thee up out of the land of Egypt.

2 ¶ And it ſhall be when ye are come nigh unto the battle, that the prieſt ſhall approach and ſpeak unto the people,

3 And ſhall ſay unto them, Hear, O Iſrael, ye approach this day unto battle againſt your enemies: let not your hearts faint, fear not and do not tremble, neither be ye terrified becauſe of them.

4 For the LORD your God is he that goeth with you, to fight for you againſt your enemies, to ſave you.

5 And the officers ſhall ſpeak unto the people, ſaying, What man is there that hath built a new houſe, and hath not dedicated it? let him go and return to his houſe, leſt he die in the battle, and another man dedicate it.

6 And what man is he that hath planted a vineyard, and hath not yet eaten of it? let him alſo go and return unto his houſe, leſt he die in the battle, and another man eat of it.

7 And what man is there that hath betrothed a wife, and hath not taken her? let him go and return unto his houſe, leſt he die in battle, and another man take her.

8 And the officers ſhall ſpeak further unto the people, and they ſhall ſay, What man is there that is fearful and faint-hearted? let him

14 Thou ſhalt not remove thy neighbour's land-mark.] Joſephus conſiders this as a general prohibition againſt removing any land-marks, whether of an Iſraelite, or of any of the neighbouring nations, with whom they might be at peace; the breaking in upon thoſe bounds being the cauſe of wars and inſurrections, which ariſe from the covetouſneſs of men, who would thus fraudulently enlarge their territories.

Notes on the Twentieth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Be not afraid of them, &c.] Moſes exhorts them, when they went to battle, to commit their cauſe to God, depending, with entire confidence, upon that Divine Power which had ſo often, and ſo wonderfully, delivered them; without the leaſt fear and diſcouragement at the ſuperior force or terrible armaments of their enemies. Pyle.

Horſes and chariots.] The armies of the Iſraelites conſiſted wholly of foot, and their law ſeems to have obliged them to continue ſo, in order to a more entire reliance upon God; the Canaanites, and other nations, having the advantage of chariots and horſes. Thus while other nations truſted ſome in chariots, and ſome in horſes, the Iſraelites were trained up to remember, and truſt in the name of the Lord their God, Pſalm xx. 7. Patrick.

2 The prieſt ſhall approach, and ſpeak unto the people.] There was a prieſt appointed for this purpoſe; his office was to blow with the trumpet when they were preparing for battle, and to exhort them, in the moſt perſuaſive manner, to a courageous and undaunted performance of their duty; to look upon their cauſe as God's own, and aſſure themſelves of ſucceſs, under his protection. Jameſon.

5, 6, 7 The officers ſhall ſpeak unto the people, &c.] The heralds were to make proclamation, allowing an exemption from the war to ſuch as had lately purchaſed eſtates, newly built houſes, and not yet ſettled in them, planted new vineyards, or were juſt married; leſt the thoughts of ſuch men, continually hankering after their private affairs, might diſpirit them from the buſineſs of the war, and the ſervice of the public. Jameſon.

8 What man is there that is fearful, &c.] We may obſerve, from this paſſage, that though the Iſraelites had the promiſe of a par-go and return unto his houſe, leſt his brethren's heart faint as well as his heart.

9 And it ſhall be when the officers have made an end of ſpeaking unto the people, that they ſhall make captains of the armies to lead the people.

10 ¶ When thou comeſt nigh unto a city to fight againſt it, then proclaim peace unto it.

11 And it ſhall be, if it make thee anſwer of peace, and open unto thee, then it ſhall be that all the people that is found therein ſhall be tributaries unto thee, and they ſhall ſerve thee.

12 And if it will make no peace with thee, but will make war againſt thee, then thou ſhalt beſiege it:

13 And when the LORD thy God hath delivered it into thine hands, thou ſhalt ſmite every male thereof with the edge of the ſword.

14 But the women, and the little ones, and the cattle, and all that is in the city, even all the ſpoil thereof, ſhalt thou take unto thy ſelf: and thou ſhalt eat the ſpoil of thine enemies which the LORD thy God hath given thee.

15 Thus ſhalt thou do unto all the cities which are very far off from thee, which are not of the cities of theſe nations.

16 But of the cities of theſe people which the LORD thy God doth give thee for an inheritance, thou ſhalt ſave alive nothing that breatheth.

17 But thou ſhalt utterly deſtroy them; namely, the Hittites, and the Amorites, the Canaanites, and the Perizzites, the Hivites, and the Jebuſites, as the LORD thy God hath commanded thee:

18 That they teach you not to do after all their abominations which they have done unto their gods, ſo ſhould ye ſin againſt the LORD your God.

19 When thou ſhalt beſiege a city a long time in making war againſt it to take it, thou ſhalt not deſtroy the trees thereof by forcing an ax againſt them: for thou mayeſt eat of them, and thou ſhalt not cut them down (for the tree of the field is man's life) to employ them in the ſiege.

20 Only the trees which thou knoweſt that they be not trees for meat, thou ſhalt deſtroy and cut them down; and thou ſhalt build bulwarks againſt the city that maketh war with thee, until it be ſubdued.

CHAP. XXI.

1 The expiation of an uncertain murder. 15 The firſt-born is not to be diſinherited upon private affection. 18 A ſtubborn ſon is to be ſtoned to death.

IF one be found ſlain in the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee to poſſeſs it, lying in the field, and it be not known who hath ſlain him:

2 Then thy elders and thy judges ſhall come forth, and they ſhall meaſure unto the cities which are round about him that is ſlain.

3 And it ſhall be that the city which is next unto the ſlain man, even the elders of that city, ſhall take an heifer which hath not been wrought with, and which hath not drawn in the yoke:

4 And the elders of that city ſhall bring down the heifer unto a rough valley, which is a particular interpoſition of Providence in their behalf, yet they were all along required to make uſe of the moſt proper human means to compaſs their end. Thus, in the inſtance before us, though they were not abſolutely to rely upon their own ſtrength and valour, and the conduct of their men, for the victory; yet they were to employ only ſuch perſons in their wars as had a mind diſpoſed and qualified for the buſineſs, and were worthy of a bleſſing upon their endeavours.

11 If it make thee anſwer of peace.] Accept the conditions offered to them, which were three: 1. That they ſhould renounce idolatry: 2. Become their ſubjects: 3. Pay them a yearly tribute. Selden.

18 That they teach you not to do after all their abominations.] Here we have the reaſon for that ſevere execution mentioned in the preceding verſes. They were moſt abominable idolaters, who offered their children to Molech: they were magicians, wizards, necromancers, &c. So that God thought them not fit to live any longer on the face of the earth; and it was mercy to the human race in general, not to ſuffer ſuch a wicked contagious generation to ſubſiſt.

19 Thou ſhalt not deſtroy the trees, &c.] They were not to make unneceſſary waſte, it being ſhameful to deſtroy things that are uſeful to the ſupport of human life.

Notes on the Twenty-firſt Chapter.

Ver. 1 If one be found ſlain in the land, &c.] The expiation ordained for a concealed murder, when the criminal could not be found by the moſt diligent inquiſition after him, was attended with great ſolemnity, in order to ſhew the heinouſneſs of the fact, and to terrify others from committing the like. Pyle.

4 Unto a rough valley.] The Hebrew ſignifies either a valley or a torrent, and probably is here meant of a valley with a neither eared nor ſown, and ſhall ſtrike off the heifer's neck there in the valley.

5 And the prieſts the ſons of Levi ſhall come near; for them the LORD thy God hath choſen to miniſter unto him, and to bleſs in the name of the LORD: and by their word ſhall every controverſy and every ſtroke be tried.

6 And all the elders of that city that are next unto the ſlain man, ſhall waſh their hands over the heifer that is beheaded in the valley:

7 And they ſhall anſwer and ſay, Our hands have not ſhed this blood, neither have our eyes ſeen it.

8 Be merciful, O LORD, unto thy people Iſrael, whom thou haſt redeemed, and lay not innocent blood unto thy people of Iſrael's charge. And the blood ſhall be forgiven them.

9 So ſhalt thou put away the guilt of innocent blood from among you, when thou ſhalt do that which is right in the ſight of the LORD.

10 When thou goeſt forth to war againſt thine enemies, and the LORD thy God hath delivered them into thine hands, and thou haſt taken them captive,

11 And ſeeſt among the captives a beautiful woman, and haſt a deſire unto her, that thou wouldeſt have her to thy wife:

12 Then thou ſhalt bring her home to thine houſe; and ſhe ſhall ſhave her head, and pare her nails:

13 And ſhe ſhall put the raiment of her captivity from off her, and ſhall remain in thine houſe, and bewail her father and her mother a full month: and after that, thou ſhalt go in unto her, and be her huſband, and ſhe ſhall be thy wife.

14 And it ſhall be if thou have no delight in her, then thou ſhalt let her go whither ſhe will; but thou ſhalt not ſell her at all for money, thou ſhalt not make merchandiſe of her, becauſe thou haſt humbled her.

15 ¶ If a man have two wives, one beloved, and another hated, and they have born him children, both the beloved, and the hated: and if the firſt-born ſon be her's that was hated:

16 Then it ſhall be, when he maketh his ſons to inherit that which he hath, that he may not make the ſon of the beloved firſt born before the ſon of the hated, which is indeed the firſt-born:

17 But he ſhall acknowledge the ſon of the hated for the firſt-born, by giving him a double portion of all that he hath: for he is the beginning of his ſtrength; the right of the firſt-born is his.

18 ¶ If a man have a ſtubborn and rebellious ſon, which will not obey the voice of his father, or the voice of his mother, and that, when they have chaſtened him, will not hearken unto them:

19 Then ſhall his father and his mother lay hold on him, and bring him out unto the elders of his city, and unto the gate of his place;

20 And they ſhall ſay unto the elders of his city, This our ſon is ſtubborn and rebellious, he will not obey our voice; he is a glutton, and a drunkard.

21 And all the men of his city ſhall ſtone him with ſtones, that he die: ſo ſhalt thou put evil away from among you; and all Iſrael ſhall hear, and fear,

22 And if a man have committed a ſin worthy of death, and he be to be put to death, and thou hang him on a tree:

23 His body ſhall not remain all night upon the tree, but thou ſhalt in any wiſe bury him brook running through it: for, in the ſixth verſe, the elders are required to waſh their hands over the heifer; which ſeems to intimate that there was running water in the place. Patrick.

Which is neither eared nor ſown.] Which is neither ploughed nor ſown. See note on Gen. xlv. 6.

9 So ſhalt thou put away the guilt of innocent blood.] Upon this ſolemn performance, the government ſhould be deemed to have done its duty, and the nation cleared of all guilt in this matter.

12 She ſhall ſhave her head and pare her nails.] Theſe were external ſigns of mourning, Lev. xix. 27. In the original it is, ſhall ſuffer her nails to grow, which to us ſeems moſt ſuitable to a ſtate of mourning: but this is to be reſolved entirely by the faſhion of countries.

18, 19, 20, 21 If a man have a ſtubborn and rebellious ſon, &c.] Moſes now adds a law for the regulation of families, by giving to parents a well tempered power over extravagant and incorrigible children; which was not to put the lives of children abſolutely into their hands, as the laws of ſome other countries did, but to direct them, when all means of admonition and correction were loſt upon any ſon, and they ſaw nothing but ruin to the eſtate and family, by his lewdneſs and debauchery, to make complaint to the magiſtracy in court; who, upon ſufficient evidence given againſt him, were to condemn him to death, as a terrible example of diſobedience to the laws of God. Pyle.

that day: for he that is hanged is accurſed of God: that thy land be not defiled, which the LORD thy God giveth thee for an inheritance.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Of humanity toward brethren. 5 Divers laws. 22 Of adultery. 25 Of rape. 28 Of fornication. 30 Of inceſt.

THOU ſhalt not ſee thy brother's ox or his ſheep go aſtray, and hide thy ſelf from them; thou ſhalt in any caſe bring them again unto thy brother.

2 And if thy brother be not nigh unto thee, or if thou know him not, then thou ſhalt bring it unto thine own houſe, and it ſhall be with thee until thy brother ſeek after it, and thou ſhalt reſtore it to him again.

3 In like manner ſhalt thou do with his aſs, and ſo ſhalt thou do with his raiment; and with all loſt things of thy brother's, which he hath loſt and thou haſt found, ſhalt thou do likewiſe: thou mayeſt not hide thy ſelf.

4 Thou ſhalt not ſee thy brother's aſs, or his ox fall down by the way, and hide thy ſelf from them: thou ſhalt ſurely help him to lift them up again.

5 ¶ The woman ſhall not wear that which pertaineth unto a man, neither ſhall a man put on a woman's garment: for all that do ſo are abomination unto the LORD thy God.

6 If a bird's neſt chance to be before thee in the way in any tree, or on the ground, whether they be young ones, or eggs, and the dam ſitting upon the young, or upon the eggs, thou ſhalt not take the dam with the young:

7 But thou ſhalt in any wiſe let the dam go, and take the young to thee; that it may be well with thee, and that thou mayeſt prolong thy days.

8 When thou buildeſt a new houſe, then thou ſhalt make a battlement for thy roof, that thou bring not blood upon thine houſe, if any man fall from thence.

9 Thou ſhalt not ſow thy vineyard with divers ſeeds: leſt the fruit of thy ſeed which thou haſt ſown, and the fruit of thy vineyard be defiled.

10 Thou ſhalt not plow with an ox and an aſs together.

11 Thou ſhalt not wear a garment of divers ſorts, as of woollen and linen, together.

12 Thou ſhalt make thee fringes upon the four quarters of thy veſture, wherewith thou covereſt thy ſelf.

13 If any man take a wife, and go in unto her, and hate her,

14 And give occaſion of ſpeech againſt her, and bring up an evil name upon her, and ſay, I took this woman, and when I came to her I found her not a maid:

15 Then ſhall the father of the damſel and her mother take and bring forth the tokens of the damſel's virginity unto the elders of the city in the gate:

16 And the damſel's father ſhall ſay unto the elders, I gave my daughter unto this man to wife, and he hateth her,

17 And lo, he hath given occaſions of ſpeech againſt her, ſaying, I found not thy daughter a maid; and yet theſe are the tokens of my daughter's virginity. And they ſhall ſpread the cloth before the elders of the city.

18 And the elders of that city ſhall take that man, and chaſtiſe him.

19 And they ſhall amerce him in an hun-

Notes on the Twenty-ſecond Chapter.

Ver. 1 Thou ſhalt not ſee thy brother's ox, &c.] It is evident, from Exod. xxiii. 4, compared with our Saviour's parable of the Samaritan, Luke x. 30, that the word brother implies every man without diſtinction.

5 The woman ſhall not wear that which, &c.] If the ſexes were not diſtinguiſhed by their habits, it would open a door to all manner of impurity; for which reaſon, if there was no other, this law was very wiſe and pious. Patrick.

6 Thou ſhalt not take the dam with the young.] This is one of thoſe merciful conſtitutions in the law of Moſes which reſpect the animal creation, and tended to humanize the heart of that people, to breed in them a ſenſe of the Divine Providence, extending itſelf to all creatures, and to teach them to exerciſe their dominion over them with gentleneſs.

10 Thou ſhalt not plow with an ox and an aſs together.] This law prohibits them from yoking clean and unclean animals together. Le Clerc underſtands it ſymbolically, viz. that the Iſraelites were not to make marriages with the unbelieving nations, and, to confirm his opinion, quotes St. Paul, Be not unequally yoked with unbelievers, 2 Cor. vi. 14.

17 Shall ſpread the cloth before the elders of the city.] The Jews underſtand theſe words not literally of a cloth, but figuratively of an evident proof, laid open, like a cloth unfolded; which probably was the teſtimony of matrons.

19 An hundred ſhekels.] About twelve pounds ſterling.

Notes

dred shekels of silver, and give them unto the father of the damsel; because he hath brought up an evil name upon a virgin of Israel: and she shall be his wife; he may not put her away all his days.

20 But if this thing be true, and the tokens of virginity be not found for the damsel:

21 Then they shall bring out the damsel to the door of her father's house, and the men of her city shall stone her with stones that she die: because she hath wrought folly in Israel, to play the whore in her father's house. So shalt thou put evil away from among you.

22 ¶ If a man be found lying with a woman married to an husband, then they shall both of them die, both the man that lay with the woman, and the woman. So shalt thou put away evil from Israel.

23 If a damsel that is a virgin be betrothed unto an husband, and a man find her in the city, and lie with her;

24 Then ye shall bring them both out unto the gate of that city, and ye shall stone them with stones that they die; the damsel, because she cried not, being in the city; and the man, because he hath humbled his neighbour's wife. So thou shalt put away evil from among you.

25 ¶ But if a man find a betrothed damsel in the field, and the man force her, and lie with her; then the man only that lay with her shall die:

26 But unto the damsel thou shalt do nothing: there is in the damsel no sin worthy of death: for as when a man riseth against his neighbour, and slayeth him, even so is this matter:

27 For he found her in the field, and the betrothed damsel cried, and there was none to save her.

28 ¶ If a man find a damsel that is a virgin, which is not betrothed, and lay hold on her, and lie with her, and they be found;

29 Then the man that lay with her shall give unto the damsel's father fifty shekels of silver, and she shall be his wife, because he hath humbled her; he may not put her away all his days.

30 ¶ A man shall not take his father's wife, nor discover his father's skirt.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Who may, or may not enter into the congregation. 9 Uncleanness to be avoided in the host. 21 Of vows. 24 Of trespasses.

HE that is wounded in the stones, or hath his privy member cut off, shall not enter into the congregation of the LORD.

2 A bastard shall not enter into the congregation of the LORD; even to his tenth generation shall he not enter into the congregation of the LORD.

3 An Ammonite or Moabite shall not enter into the congregation of the LORD; even to their tenth generation shall they not enter into the congregation of the LORD for ever:

4 Because they met you not with bread and with water in the way, when ye came forth out of Egypt; and because they hired against thee Balaam the son of Beor of Pethor of Mesopotamia, to curse thee?

5 Nevertheless, the LORD thy God would not hearken unto Balaam; but the LORD thy God turned the curse into a blessing unto thee, because the LORD thy God loved thee.

6 Thou shalt not seek their peace nor their prosperity all thy days for ever.

7 Thou shalt not abhor an Edomite; for he is thy brother: thou shalt not abhor an Egyptian; because thou wast a stranger in his land.

Notes on the Twenty-third Chapter.

Ver. 3 An Ammonite or Moabite shall not enter into the congregation of the Lord—for ever.] A male of these nations being only mentioned, the Jews tell us, that their women were not concerned in this law. Thus, though an Israelitish woman was not to marry an Ammonite or Moabite, yet a man of Israelite might marry one of their women, after they had professed the Jewish religion. Whereof we have an instance in Boaz, the ancestor of David, who married Ruth the Moabitess. Patrick.

4 Because they met you not with bread and with water in the way.] It was a piece of ancient hospitality, to give strangers in their travels the refreshment of bread and water, i. e. of meat and drink.

6 Thou shalt not seek their peace, &c.] That is, thou shalt not enter into any alliances with them.

7 Thou shalt not abhor an Edomite.] The Edomites were the descendants of Esau, and consequently a kindred nation; and as they were a circumcised people, they might make marriages with them, provided they worshipped the true God. Jameson.

Thou

8 The children that are begotten of them ſhall enter into the congregation of the LORD in their third generation.

9 ¶ When the hoſt goeth forth againſt thine enemies, then keep thee from every wicked thing.

10 If there be among you any man that is not clean by reaſon of uncleanneſs that chanceth him by night, then ſhall he go abroad out of the camp, he ſhall not come within the camp.

11 But it ſhall be when evening cometh on, he ſhall waſh himſelf with water: and when the ſun is down, he ſhall come into the camp again.

12 Thou ſhalt have a place alſo without the camp whither thou ſhalt go forth abroad.

13 And thou ſhalt have a paddle upon thy weapon; and it ſhall be when thou wilt eaſe thyſelf abroad, thou ſhalt dig therewith, and ſhalt turn back and cover that which cometh from thee.

14 For the LORD thy God walketh in the midſt of thy camp, to deliver thee, and to give up thine enemies before thee: therefore ſhall thy camp be holy, that he ſee no unclean thing in thee, and turn away from thee.

15 Thou ſhalt not deliver unto his maſter the ſervant which is eſcaped from his maſter unto thee.

16 He ſhall dwell with thee, even among you, in that place which he ſhall chooſe, in one of thy gates where it liketh him beſt: thou ſhalt not oppreſs him.

17 There ſhall be no whore of the daughters of Iſrael, nor a ſodomite of the ſons of Iſrael.

18 Thou ſhalt not bring the hire of a whore, or the price of a dog, into the houſe of the LORD thy God for any vow: for even both theſe are abomination unto the LORD thy God.

19 Thou ſhalt not lend upon uſury to thy brother, uſury of money, uſury of victuals, uſury of any thing that is lent upon uſury.

20 Unto a ſtranger thou mayeſt lend upon uſury: but unto thy brother thou ſhalt not lend upon uſury: that the LORD thy God may bleſs thee in all that thou ſetteſt thine hand to in the land whither thou goeſt to poſſeſs it.

21 ¶ When thou ſhalt vow a vow unto the LORD thy God, thou ſhalt not ſlack to pay it: for the LORD thy God will ſurely require it of thee: and it would be ſin in thee.

22 But if thou ſhalt forbear to vow, it ſhall be no ſin in thee.

23 That which is gone out of thy lips thou ſhalt keep and perform, even a free-will-offering, according as thou haſt vowed unto the LORD thy God, which thou haſt promiſed with thy mouth.

Thou ſhalt not abhor an Egyptian.] God would not ſuffer the memory of the hoſpitality they had received from the Egyptians to be forgotten, though they had been afterwards oppreſſed by them in the baſeſt manner. Hence we learn how laſting the obligation of gratitude ought to be, and that later injuries ſhould not conceal the memory of former kindneſſes.

9 When the hoſt goeth forth againſt thine enemies, then keep thee from every wicked thing.] This rule was to be obſerved at all times, but eſpecially when they were going forth to battle, when they had the greateſt need of the Divine Protection and Aſſiſtance, which they could not reaſonably hope for, if they were wicked. Patrick.

13 A paddle upon thy weapon.] Le Clerc renders it, thou ſhalt have a paddle, beſides thy arms, which is full as agreeable to the original as our tranſlation, and makes a much plainer ſenſe.

14 The Lord walketh in the midſt of thy camp.] The ark, the ſymbol of God's preſence, went along with them: ſo that reverence to the Divine Majeſty required, that no uncleanneſs, whether natural or moral, ſhould be found among them.

15 Thou ſhalt not deliver unto his maſter, the ſervant which is eſcaped from his maſter unto thee.] This is thought to have a particular relation to times of war, when heathen ſoldiers or ſervants might deſert, and come over to the Iſraelites, with intent to turn proſelytes to the true religion. The Hebrew doctors underſtand this precept in general of the ſlaves of the neighbouring nations, who fled from their maſters into Judea, and embraced the religion of the Iſraelites. Patrick.

17 Nor a ſodomite.] The antient verſions give no countenance to our calling this a ſodomite; it moſt probably ſignifies a whore-maſter. The Iſraelites were not notoriouſly guilty of thoſe abominable practices. Pilkington's Remarks.

18 Thou ſhalt not bring the hire of a whore, or the price of a dog into the houſe of the Lord.] The moſt natural explication of this is to take the word dog here in a figurative ſenſe, for the ſodomite or whore-maſter mentioned above; it being a known figure in moſt languages, to call men of intemperate luſts by the name of that animal, which they reſemble in their manners. Accordingly men of beaſtly natures are called dogs, Mat. xv. 26.

20 Unto a ſtranger thou mayeſt lend upon uſury.] As their neighbours, the Sidonians, Tyrians, and Egyptians, made great gain by merchandize, it was not reaſonable that they ſhould borrow money of the Iſraelites for nothing: but it was reaſonable, that the Iſraelites themſelves, whoſe chief profit was by huſbandry, and breeding of cattle, ſhould have money lent them freely by one another without intereſt, their land not being a country of traffick, whereby money might be improved as in other kingdoms. Jameſon.

24 ¶ When thou comeſt into thy neighbour's vineyard, then thou mayeſt eat grapes thy fill, at thine own pleaſure; but thou ſhalt not put any in thy veſſel.

25 When thou comeſt into the ſtanding-corn of thy neighbour, then thou mayeſt pluck the ears with thine hand; but thou ſhalt not move a ſickle unto thy neighbour's ſtanding-corn.

CHAP. XXIV.

1 Of divorce. 6, 10 Of pledges. 7 Of man-ſtealers. 8 Of leproſy. 14 The hire is to be given. 16 Of juſtice. 19 Of charity.

WHEN a man hath taken a wife and married her, and it come to paſs that ſhe find no favour in his eyes, becauſe he hath found ſome uncleanneſs in her; then let him write her a bill of divorcement, and give it in her hand, and ſend her out of his houſe.

2 And when ſhe is departed out of his houſe, ſhe may go and be another man's wife.

3 And if the latter huſband hate her, and write her a bill of divorcement, and giveth it in her hand, and ſendeth her out of his houſe; or if the other huſband die, which took her to be his wife;

4 Her former huſband, which ſent her away, may not take her again to be his wife, after that ſhe is defiled: for that is abomination before the LORD; and thou ſhalt not cauſe the land to ſin which the LORD thy God giveth thee for an inheritance.

5 When a man hath taken a new wife, he ſhall not go out to war, neither ſhall he be charged with any buſineſs: but he ſhall be free at home one year, and ſhall cheer up his wife which he hath taken.

6 ¶ No man ſhall take the nether or the upper milſtone to pledge: for he taketh a man's life to pledge.

7 ¶ If a man be found ſtealing any of his brethren of the children of Iſrael, and maketh merchandiſe of him, or ſelleth him; then that thief ſhall die, and thou ſhalt put evil away from among you.

8 ¶ Take heed in the plague of leproſy, that thou obſerve diligently and do according to all that the prieſts the Levites ſhall teach you: as I commanded them, ſo ye ſhall obſerve to do.

9 Remember what the LORD thy God did unto Miriam by the way, after that ye were come forth out of Egypt.

10 ¶ When thou doſt lend thy brother any thing, thou ſhalt not go into his houſe to fetch his pledge.

11 Thou ſhalt ſtand abroad, and the man to whom thou doſt lend ſhall bring out the pledge abroad unto thee.

12 And if the man be poor, thou ſhalt not ſleep with his pledge.

13 In any caſe thou ſhalt deliver him the pledge again when the ſun goeth down, that he may ſleep in his own raiment, and bleſs

24 When thou comeſt into thy neighbour's vineyard, then thou mayeſt eat grapes thy fill.] This law the Hebrew doctors ſay was made in favour of poor labourers, who are hired to work in the vineyards in the time of vintage: for, if the very oxen were not to be muzzled whilſt they trod out the corn, how much leſs ought the labourer to be debarred from eating the fruits about which he laboured.

Notes on the Twenty-fourth Chapter.

Ver. 1 When a man hath taken a wife, &c.] The Hebrew nation having been accuſtomed to the liberty of putting away their wives, upon motives of diſlike and averſion, and Moſes being ſenſible that their hardneſs of heart, and ſeverity of temper, would, upon an abſolute reſtraint from ſuch liberty, produce greater inconveniency and diſtractions in families, he now enacted, That when any huſband laboured under an abſolute diſlike to his wife, either upon account of any bodily infirmity, or of her diſagreeable temper, or perhaps of any immodeſty of diſcourſe, or even behaviour, he ſhould have the privilege of parting with her; not in a haſty, and violent method, but deliberately, by giving her a diſcharge from any further relation to him, ſigned with his own hand, whereby ſhe acquired a full right to marry any other perſon.

4 Her former huſband—may not take her again.] In order to reſtrain them from abuſe in this permiſſion, the law provides, that the huſband, who had once put away his wife, ſhould, upon her being married to another, be incapable of taking her again, though ſhe might grow rich, or otherwiſe deſirable.

6 He taketh a man's life to pledge.] Becauſe he wants it to make his bread, the ſupport of life. The poor among the Jews uſed hand-mills, made of two ſtones, which they worked one upon another, to grind their corn.

10 Thou ſhalt not go into his houſe to fetch his pledge.] This was a merciful proviſion for the poor, whoſe houſes no man might enter into, without their conſent, and there chuſe what he pleaſed for the ſecurity of his debt, but the lender was to take what the borrower could beſt ſpare. Patrick.

12 If the man be poor, thou ſhalt not ſleep with his pledge.] If the pledge was to be returned every night, where was the uſe of taking a pledge at all? To this the Rabbins anſwer, that this was a means of preventing the debt from being releaſed in the ſabbatical year, as it would otherwiſe have been.

thee: and it ſhall be righteouſneſs unto thee before the LORD thy God.

14 ¶ Thou ſhalt not oppreſs an hired ſervant that is poor and needy, whether he be of thy brethren, or of thy ſtrangers that are in thy land within thy gates:

15 At his day thou ſhalt give him his hire, neither ſhall the ſun go down upon it; for he is poor, and ſetteth his heart upon it: leſt he cry againſt thee unto the LORD, and it be ſin unto thee.

16 ¶ The fathers ſhall not be put to death for the children, neither ſhall the children be put to death for the fathers: every man ſhall be put to death for his own ſin.

17 Thou ſhalt not pervert the judgement of the ſtranger, nor of the fatherleſs; nor take a widow's raiment to pledge:

18 But thou ſhalt remember that thou waſt a bond-man in Egypt, and the LORD thy God redeemed thee thence: therefore I command thee to do this thing.

19 ¶ When thou cutteſt down thine harveſt in thy field, and haſt forgot a ſheaf in the field, thou ſhalt not go again to fetch it: it ſhall be for the ſtranger, for the fatherleſs, and for the widow: that the LORD thy God may bleſs thee in all the work of thine hands.

20 When thou beateſt thine olive-tree, thou ſhalt not go over the boughs again: it ſhall be for the ſtranger, for the fatherleſs, and for the widow.

21 When thou gathereſt the grapes of thy vineyard, thou ſhalt not glean it afterward: it ſhall be for the ſtranger, for the fatherleſs, and for the widow.

22 And thou ſhalt remember that thou waſt a bond-man in the land of Egypt: therefore I command thee to do this thing.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Stripes muſt not exceed forty. 4 The ox is not to be muzzled. 5 Of raiſing ſeed unto a brother. 11 Of the immodeſt woman. 13 Of unjuſt weights. 17 The memory of Amalek is to be blotted out.

IF there be a controverſy between men, and they come unto judgement, that the judges may judge them; then they ſhall juſtify the righteous, and condemn the wicked.

2 And it ſhall be, if the wicked man be worthy to be beaten, that the judge ſhall cauſe him to lie down and to be beaten before his face, according to his fault, by a certain number.

3 Forty ſtripes he may give him, and not exceed: leſt, if he ſhould exceed, and beat him above theſe with many ſtripes, then thy brother ſhould ſeem vile unto thee.

4 ¶ Thou ſhalt not muzzle the ox when he treadeth out the corn.

5 ¶ If brethren dwell together, and one of them die and have no child, the wife of the dead ſhall not marry without unto a ſtranger: her huſband's brother ſhall go in unto her, and take her to him to wife, and perform the duty of an huſband's brother unto her.

---

14 Poor and needy.] The word tranſlated poor ſhould more properly be rendered afflicted; then it will convey a ſeparate idea from needy. Pilkington's Remarks.

16 The fathers ſhall not be put to death for the children, &c.] This is a rule of common equity; and how it is conſiſtent with God's threatning to viſit the ſins of the fathers upon the children, ſee note on Exod. xx. 5.

17 Thou ſhalt not pervert the judgment of the ſtranger, nor of the fatherleſs.] Such perſons had none to ſtand by them and plead their cauſe; therefore the judges were to take the greater care to ſee juſtice done them.

19 When thou cutteſt down, &c.] There were many merciful laws relating to the poor: ſee Lev. xix. 9, 10; xxiii. 22; where they are ordered not to be over exact in reaping the fruits of their fields and vineyards, but to leave ſomething to be gathered by their poor neighbours.

Notes on the Twenty-fifth Chapter.

Ver. 1 If there be a controverſy between men, &c.] Having affixed puniſhments to the breaches of the moſt capital laws, Moſes now orders, that the ſeveral inferior courts of juſtice ſhould take due cognizance of other criminal matters deſerving only corporal penalties, and be juſt and impartial in their proceedings upon all ſuch complaints.

3 Forty ſtripes he may give him, and not exceed.] That ſevere judges might not order delinquents to be laſhed to death, as was often done among the Romans.

Leſt if he ſhould exceed—thy brother ſhould ſeem vile unto thee.] Leſt the judges, by exceeding the bounds of humanity, might be accuſtomed to think deſpicably of their poor brethren, and ſet their lives at nought.

4 Thou ſhalt not muzzle the ox when he treadeth out the corn.] It was the cuſtom of thoſe countries to uſe oxen in treading out the corn, either with their feet, or by drawing ſledges, which were a ſort of heavy tables armed with iron nails, to ſeparate the grain from the ſtraw. By this allegorical precept, Moſes inſtructs his people to be kind to their ſervants and labourers, eſpeciallly to thoſe who miniſtered to them in holy things.

5 If brethren dwell together.] By brethren we are here to underſtand, firſt, brethren properly ſo called; then kinſmen, who ſucceed in the room of brothers, as appears from the hiſtory of Ruth, chap. iii. 4.

6 And it shall be, that the first-born which she beareth shall succeed in the name of his brother which is dead, that his name be not put out of Israel.

7 And if the man like not to take his brother's wife, then let his brother's wife go up to the gate unto the elders, and say, My husband's brother refuseth to raise up unto his brother a name in Israel, he will not perform the duty of my husband's brother.

8 Then the elders of his city shall call him, and speak unto him: and if he stand to it, and say, I like not to take her;

9 Then shall his brother's wife come unto him in the presence of the elders, and loose his shoe from off his foot, and spit in his face, and shall answer and say, So shall it be done unto the man that will not build up his brother's house.

10 And his name shall be called in Israel, The house of him that hath his shoe loosed.

11 ¶ When men strive together one with another, and the wife of the one draweth near for to deliver her husband out of the hand of him that smiteth him, and putteth forth her hand, and taketh him by the secrets:

12 Then thou shalt cut off her hand, thine eye shall not pity her.

13 ¶ Thou shalt not have in thy bag divers weights, a great and a small.

14 Thou shalt not have in thine house divers measures, a great and a small.

15 But thou shalt have a perfect and just weight, a perfect and just measure shalt thou have: that thy days may be lengthened in the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee.

16 For all that do such things, and all that do unrighteously, are an abomination unto the LORD thy God.

17 ¶ Remember what Amalek did unto thee by the way when ye were come forth out of Egypt;

18 How he met thee by the way, and smote the hindmost of thee, even all that were feeble behind thee, when thou wast faint and weary; and he feared not God.

19 Therefore it shall be, when the LORD thy God hath given thee rest from all thine enemies round about in the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee for an inheritance to possess it, that thou shalt blot out the remembrance of Amalek from under heaven; thou shalt not forget it.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 The confession of him that offereth the basket of first-fruits. 16 The covenant between God and the people.

AND it shall be when thou art come in unto the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee for an inheritance, and possessest it, and dwellest therein:

2 That thou shalt take of the first of all the fruit of the earth, which thou shalt bring of thy land that the LORD thy God giveth thee, and shalt put it in a basket, and shalt go unto the place which the LORD thy God shall choose to place his name there.

3 And thou shalt go unto the priest that shall be in those days, and say unto him, I profess this day unto the LORD thy God, that I am come unto the country which the LORD sware unto our fathers for to give us.

4 And the priest shall take the basket out of thine hand, and set it down before the altar of the LORD thy God.

5 And thou shalt speak and say before the LORD thy God, A Syrian ready to perish was my father, and he went down into Egypt, and sojourned there with a few, and became there a nation great, mighty, and populous.

9 Loose his shoe.] This was a mark of infamy for his want of natural affection, importing, that he deserved to be degraded into the condition of slaves, who used to go barefoot. Patrick.

Spit in his face.] The Hebrew doctors expound it, shall spit before his face.

18 How he met thee by the way.] The Amalekites fell upon the children of Israel in the wilderness, Exod. xvii. 8.

19 Thou shalt blot out the remembrance of Amalek.] This command was accordingly fulfilled, 1 Sam. xv.

Notes on the Twenty-sixth Chapter.

Ver. 1 It shall be when thou art come into the land, &c.] Every Israelite being obliged by law to offer the first-fruits of his field and vineyard, at the tabernacle, at the proper seasons of the year, Moses now prescribes to them the forms of solemn procession and prayer with which each offerer should present them. Pyle.

5 A Syrian ready to perish was my father.] Jacob was a Syrian by

6 And the Egyptians evil intreated us, and afflicted us, and laid upon us hard bondage.

7 And when we cried unto the LORD God of our fathers, the LORD heard our voice, and looked on our affliction, and our labour, and our oppreſſion.

8 And the LORD brought us forth out of Egypt with a mighty hand, and with an outſtretched arm, and with great terribleneſs, and with ſigns and with wonders.

9 And he hath brought us into this place, and hath given us this land, even a land that floweth with milk and honey.

10 And now behold, I have brought the firſt-fruits of the land which thou, O LORD, haſt given me. And thou ſhalt ſet it before the LORD thy God, and worſhip before the LORD thy God.

11 And thou ſhalt rejoice in every good thing which the LORD thy God hath given unto thee and unto thine houſe, thou, and the Levite, and the ſtranger that is among you.

12 When thou haſt made an end of tithing all the tithes of thine increaſe the third year, which is the year of tithing, and haſt given it unto the Levite, the ſtranger, the fatherleſs, and the widow, that they may eat within thy gates, and be filled;

13 Then thou ſhalt ſay before the LORD thy God, I have brought away the hallowed things out of mine houſe, and alſo have given them unto the Levite, and unto the ſtranger, to the fatherleſs, and to the widow, according to all thy commandments which thou haſt commanded me: I have not tranſgreſſed thy commandments, neither have I forgotten them.

14 I have not eaten thereof in my mourning, neither have I taken away ought thereof for any unclean uſe, nor given ought thereof for the dead: but I have hearkened to the voice of the LORD my God, and have done according to all that thou haſt commanded me.

15 Look down from thy holy habitation, from heaven, and bleſs thy people Iſrael, and the land which thou haſt given us, as thou ſwareſt unto our fathers, a land that floweth with milk and honey.

16 ¶ This day the LORD thy God hath commanded thee to do theſe ſtatutes and judgements: thou ſhalt therefore keep and do them with all thine heart and with all thy ſoul.

17 Thou haſt avouched the LORD this day to be thy God, and to walk in his ways, and to keep his ſtatutes and his commandments and his judgements, and to hearken unto his voice.

18 And the LORD hath avouched thee this day to be his peculiar people, as he hath promiſed thee, and that thou ſhouldeſt keep all his commandments;

19 And to make thee high above all nations which he hath made, in praiſe, and in name, and in honour, and that thou mayeſt be an holy people unto the LORD thy God, as he hath ſpoken.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 The people are to write the law upon ſtones; 5 and to build an altar of whole ſtones. 14 The curſes from mount Ebal.

AND Moſes with the elders of Iſrael commanded the people ſaying, Keep all the commandments which I command you this day.

13 Before the Lord thy God.] Theſe words ſignify, that every man ſhould make this declaration before the moſt holy place at the ſanctuary; for the words before the Lord are generally ſo uſed in theſe books. And unleſs they had been obliged to this, their covetous diſpoſition might have inclined them to defraud the poor. Jameſon.

14 I have not eaten thereof in my mourning.] Nothing was more unſuitable to the worſhip of God, than melancholy and dejection of mind; therefore the children of Iſrael were not allowed to eat of holy things when they were in a ſtate of mourning.

Nor given ought thereof for the dead.] I have not offered any of my fruits to idols, which were only dead men deified. From hence, and other paſſages in this book, it appears how very careful Moſes was to guard the Jews againſt being infected with the then prevailing idolatry of worſhipping the dead.

15 Look down from thy holy habitation, &c.] Though God was pleaſed to dwell among them by a glorious ſymbol of his preſence, yet Moſes teaches the Iſraelites to acknowledge, that he dwelt in a more tranſcendent glory in the heavens.

17 Thou haſt avouched, &c.] i. e. Solemnly profeſſed.

18 The Lord hath avouched thee, &c.] God was pleaſed to aſſure the Iſraelites, that they ſhould be his people in an eſpecial manner, provided they kept his commandments.

Notes on the Twenty-ſeventh Chapter.

Ver. 2 Plaiſter them with plaiſter.] Houbigant thinks, that thy God giveth thee, that thou ſhalt ſet thee up great ſtones, and plaiſter them with plaiſter:

3 And thou ſhalt write upon them all the words of this law, when thou art paſſed over, that thou mayeſt go in unto the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee, a land that floweth with milk and honey: as the LORD God of thy fathers hath promiſed thee.

4 Therefore it ſhall be when ye be gone over Jordan, that ye ſhall ſet up theſe ſtones, which I command you this day, in mount Ebal, and thou ſhalt plaiſter them with plaiſter.

5 ¶ And there ſhalt thou build an altar unto the LORD thy God, an altar of ſtones: thou ſhalt not lift up any iron tool upon them.

6 Thou ſhalt build the altar of the LORD thy God of whole ſtones: and thou ſhalt offer burnt-offerings thereon unto the LORD thy God.

7 And thou ſhalt offer peace-offerings, and ſhalt eat there, and rejoice before the LORD thy God.

8 And thou ſhalt write upon the ſtones all the words of this law very plainly.

9 And Moſes and the prieſts the Levites ſpake unto all Iſrael, ſaying, Take heed, and hearken, O Iſrael; this day thou art become the people of the LORD thy God.

10 Thou ſhalt therefore obey the voice of the LORD thy God, and do his commandments and his ſtatutes which I command thee this day.

11 And Moſes charged the people the ſame day, ſaying,

12 Theſe ſhall ſtand upon mount Gerizim to bleſs the people, when ye are come over Jordan; Simeon, and Levi, and Judah, and Iſſachar, and Joſeph, and Benjamin.

13 And theſe ſhall ſtand upon mount Ebal to curſe; Reuben, Gad, and Aſher, and Zebulun, Dan, and Naphtali.

14 ¶ And the Levites ſhall ſpeak, and ſay unto all the men of Iſrael with a loud voice.

15 Curſed be the man that maketh any graven or molten image, an abomination unto the LORD, the work of the hands of the craftſman, and putteth it in a ſecret place. And all the people ſhall anſwer and ſay, Amen.

16 Curſed be he that ſetteth light by his father or his mother. And all the people ſhall ſay, Amen.

17 Curſed be he that removeth his neighbour's land-mark. And all the people ſhall ſay, Amen.

18 Curſed be he that maketh the blind to wander out of the way. And all the people ſhall ſay, Amen.

19 Curſed be he that perverteth the judgement of the ſtranger, fatherleſs, and widow. And all the people ſhall ſay, Amen.

20 Curſed be he that lieth with his father's wife; becauſe he uncovereth his father's ſkirt. And all the people ſhall ſay, Amen.

21 Curſed be he that lieth with any manner of beaſt. And all the people ſhall ſay, Amen.

22 Curſed be he that lieth with his ſiſter, the daughter of his father, or the daughter of his mother. And all the people ſhall ſay, Amen.

23 Curſed be he that lieth with his mother in law. And all the people ſhall ſay, Amen.

24 Curſed be he that ſmiteth his neighbour ſecretly. And all the people ſhall ſay, Amen.

25 Curſed be he that taketh reward to ſlay an innocent perſon. And all the people ſhall ſay, Amen.

the words do not mean plaiſter for the ſurfaces, bnt cement for the ſides of theſe ſtones, by which they were to be joined firmly together.

3 All the words of this law.] The law here meant was moſt probably the ten commandments only: for this book of Deuteronomy, if not the whole Pentateuch, was evidently compoſed after Moſes had in four ſpeeches repeated the laws of God to the people, the laſt ſpeech ends with the 30th chapter: after which we are told, Moſes wrote this law and delivered it to the prieſts, &c. chap. xxxi. 9.

4 In mount Ebal] The learned Mr. Kennicott contends, that the Jews have moſt abominably corrupted this paſſage, and likewiſe Joſhua viii. 30. Inſtead of Ebal, he reads Gerizim, and produces the authority of three very antient verſions of the Samaritan Pentateuch to corroborate his aſſertion. See his ingenious Diſſertation, vol. II. See alſo Maundrell's Travels, p. 60.

12 Theſe ſhall ſtand upon mount Gerizim to bleſs.] Gerizim and Ebal (ſays Maundrell) are ſeparated by a narrow valley, not above a furlong broad; and Naploſa, the antient Sychem, is built at the foot of mount Gerizim, from whence the bleſſings were pronounced; and from Ebal were pronounced thoſe particular curſes, to which the people were to ſay Amen, and then repeated by the Levites in the valley: for the 14th verſe ſhould be rendered agreeably to the Hebrew and all the antient verſions--- The Levites ſhall anſwer and ſay unto all the men, &c. See Kennicott.

25 Curſed be he that taketh reward.] It ſhould be rendered, Curſed be he that taketh a bribe, &c. as it probably relates to judges or witneſſes.

26 Curſed be he that confirmeth not all the words of this law to do them. And all the people ſhall ſay, Amen.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 The bleſſings for obedience. 15 The curſes for diſobedience.

AND it ſhall come to paſs, if thou ſhalt hearken diligently unto the voice of the LORD thy God, to obſerve and to do all his commandments which I command thee this day: that the LORD thy God will ſet thee on high above all nations of the earth:

2 And all theſe bleſſings ſhall come on thee and overtake thee, if thou ſhalt hearken unto the voice of the LORD thy God.

3 Bleſſed ſhalt thou be in the city, and bleſſed ſhalt thou be in the field.

4 Bleſſed ſhall be the fruit of thy body, and the fruit of thy ground, and the fruit of thy cattle, the increaſe of thy kine, and the flocks of thy ſheep.

5 Bleſſed ſhall be thy baſket and thy ſtore.

6 Bleſſed ſhalt thou be when thou comeſt in, and bleſſed ſhalt thou be when thou goeſt out.

7 The LORD ſhall cauſe thine enemies that riſe up againſt thee to be ſmitten before thy face: they ſhall come out againſt thee one way, and flee before thee ſeven ways.

8 The LORD ſhall command the bleſſing upon thee in thy ſtore-houſes, and in all that thou ſetteſt thine hand unto: and he ſhall bleſs thee in the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee.

9 The LORD ſhall eſtabliſh thee an holy people unto himſelf, as he hath ſworn unto thee, if thou ſhalt keep the commandments of the LORD thy God, and walk in his ways.

10 And all people of the earth ſhall ſee that thou art called by the name of the LORD; and they ſhall be afraid of thee.

11 And the LORD ſhall make thee plenteous in goods, in the fruit of thy body, and in the fruit of thy cattle, and in the fruit of thy ground, in the land which the LORD ſware unto thy fathers to give thee.

12 The LORD ſhall open unto thee his good treaſure, the heaven to give the rain unto thy land in his ſeaſon, and to bleſs all the work of thine hand: and thou ſhalt lend unto many nations, and thou ſhalt not borrow.

13 And the LORD ſhall make thee the head, and not the tail; and thou ſhalt be above only, and thou ſhalt not be beneath: if that thou hearken unto the commandments of the LORD thy God, which I command thee this day, to obſerve and to do them;

14 And thou ſhalt not go aſide from any of the words which I command thee this day, to the right hand or to the left, to go after other gods to ſerve them.

15 ¶ But it ſhall come to paſs, if thou wilt not hearken unto the voice of the LORD thy God, to obſerve to do all his commandments and his ſtatutes which I command thee this day; that all theſe curſes ſhall come upon thee, and overtake thee:

16 Curſed ſhalt thou be in the city, and curſed ſhalt thou be in the field.

17 Curſed ſhall be thy baſket and thy ſtore.

18 Curſed ſhall be the fruit of thy body, and the fruit of thy land, the increaſe of thy kine, and the flocks of thy ſheep.

19 Curſed ſhalt thou be when thou comeſt in, and curſed ſhalt thou be when thou goeſt out.

20 The LORD ſhall ſend upon thee curſing,

---

26 Curſed be he that confirmeth not all the words, &c.] The verb which we render confirmeth, properly ſignifies performeth, and ſhould have been ſo tranſlated, as it is, 1 Sam. xv. 11.

Notes on the Twenty-eighth Chapter.

Ver. 5 Bleſſed ſhall be thy baſket and thy ſtore.] Thy baſkets ſhall be full of fruits, and thy barns or ſtorehouſes full of corn.

12 The Lord ſhall open unto thee his good treaſure, &c.] The Lord ſhall cauſe the rain of heaven to fall upon thy land; thoſe magazines of water which are ſuſpended in the clouds, for the purpoſes of watering and fertilizing the ground, being called God's good treaſure, becauſe rain is ſo beneficial to the earth; and it ſpeaks his goodneſs to ſhower down his bleſſings in ſuch quantities as he thinks proper for the ſuſtenance of man and beaſt. Jamieſon.

14 And thou ſhalt not go aſide.] Remember that all this extenſive and delightful proſpect depends entirely upon thy religious conformity to the laws that are enjoined thee; eſpecially to thoſe calculated on purpoſe to keep thee from the ſuperſtitious and abominable idolatries of the heathen world.

15, 16, 17, 18, 19 But---if thou wilt not hearken, &c.] If thou wilt not obſerve the commandments of the Lord, eſpecially that great commandment, Not to go after other gods to ſerve them; all the former bleſſings ſhall be reverſed, and thou ſhalt feel the woeful effects of thy folly, wickedneſs, and ingratitude.

vexation, and rebuke, in all that thou ſetteſt thine hand unto for to do, until thou be deſtroyed, and until thou periſh quickly; becauſe of the wickedneſs of thy doings whereby thou haſt forſaken me.

21 The LORD ſhall make the peſtilence cleave unto thee, until he have conſumed thee from off the land whither thou goeſt to poſſeſs it.

22 The LORD ſhall ſmite thee with a conſumption, and with a fever, and with an inflammation, and with an extream burning, and with the ſword, and with blaſting, and with mildew; and they ſhall purſue thee until thou periſh.

23 And thy heaven that is over thy head ſhall be braſs, and the earth that is under thee ſhall be iron.

24 The LORD ſhall make the rain of thy land powder and duſt: from heaven ſhall it come down upon thee, until thou be deſtroyed.

25 The LORD ſhall cauſe thee to be ſmitten before thine enemies: thou ſhalt go out one way againſt them, and flee ſeven ways before them; and ſhalt be removed into all the kingdoms of the earth.

26 And thy carcaſe ſhall be meat unto all fowls of the air, and unto the beaſts of the earth, and no man ſhall fray them away.

27 The LORD ſhall ſmite thee with the botch of Egypt, and with the emerods, and with the ſcab, and with the itch, whereof thou canſt not be healed.

28 The LORD ſhall ſmite thee with madneſs, and blindneſs, and aſtoniſhment of heart.

29 And thou ſhalt grope at noon-day, as the blind gropeth in darkneſs, and thou ſhalt not proſper in thy ways: and thou ſhalt be only oppreſſed and ſpoiled evermore; and no man ſhall ſave thee.

30 Thou ſhalt betroth a wife, and another man ſhall lie with her; thou ſhalt build an houſe, and thou ſhalt not dwell therein: thou ſhalt plant a vineyard, and ſhalt not gather the grapes thereof.

31 Thine ox ſhall be ſlain before thine eyes, and thou ſhalt not eat thereof: thine aſs ſhall be violently taken away from before thy face, and ſhall not be reſtored to thee: thy ſheep ſhall be given uuto thine enemies, and thou ſhalt have none to reſcue them.

32 Thy ſons and thy daughters ſhall be given unto another people, and thine eyes ſhall look and fail with longing for them all the day long: and there ſhall be no might in thine hand.

33 The fruit of thy land, and all thy labours, ſhall a nation which thou knoweſt not eat up; and thou ſhalt be only oppreſſed and cruſhed alway:

34 So that thou ſhalt be mad for the ſight of thine eyes which thou ſhalt ſee.

35 The LORD ſhall ſmite thee in the knees and in the legs with a ſore botch that cannot be healed, from the ſole of thy foot unto the top of thy head.

---

21 The Lord ſhall make the peſtilence cleave unto thee.] Will ſcourge thee with peſtilence, with fevers, and a thouſand other diſtempers, that will cut off the people in great numbers.

22 With an extreme burning, and with the ſword.] Both theſe words ſeem to relate to the bad diſpoſition of the air, by extreme heat and drought; for what we render the ſword, may, with equal propriety, be tranſlated dryneſs.

23 Thy heaven---braſs, and the earth---iron.] See Levit. xxvi. 19.

24 The Lord ſhall make the rain of thy land powder and duſt.] By reaſon of the long drought, duſt blown up into the air by the wind, ſhall fall down in ſhowers inſtead of rain. Theſe dry ſhowers, ſays the author of a voyage to the Eaſt-Indies, moſt grievouſly annoy all thoſe among whom they fall, enough to ſmite them with preſent blindneſs, filling their eyes, ears, noſtrils, &c.

25 The Lord ſhall cauſe thee to be ſmitten.] If theſe judgments prove ineffectual to reclaim you, God will deliver you over to ſlavery and captivity under foreign powers.

Shall be removed into all the kingdoms of the earth.] Which has been fully verified ſince their diſperſion by the Romans. But what renders the completion of this prophecy moſt amazingly remarkable, is, that the Jews are the only people that ever ſubſiſted in ſuch a wandering ſtate, after the diſſolution of their laws and government.

26 Thy carcaſe ſhall be meat unto all fowls of the air.] Nothing was accounted a greater calamity among the ancients, than to have their bodies lie expoſed to be devoured by birds and beaſts. This is what Jeremiah calls being buried with the burial of an aſs, xxii. 19. And the Pſalmiſt bewails it as one of the ſoreſt judgments that had befallen his nation, Pſal. lxxix. 2, 3. How far this terrible threatening was fulfilled in the Babyloniſh captivity, will appear by conſulting thoſe pathetic deſcriptions of that calamity in the book of Lamentations, where it is often declared, that thoſe judgments inflicted upon them was a conſequence of the breach of God's covenant.

27 The botch of Egypt.] The leproſy, a diſeaſe common in Egypt; or as others think, the boil breaking out in blains, Exod.

The emerods.] Thoſe painful tumors in the fundament, which often degenerate into ulcers.

35 The Lord ſhall ſmite thee in the knees, and in the legs, &c.] A terrible breaking-out, which ſpread from the ſole of the foot to the crown of the head.

36 The LORD shall bring thee, and thy king which thou shalt set over thee, unto a nation which neither thou nor thy fathers have known; and there shalt thou serve other gods, wood and stone.

37 And thou shalt become an astonishment, a proverb, and a by-word among all nations whither the LORD shall lead thee.

38 Thou shalt carry much seed out into the field, and shalt gather but little in: for the locust shall consume it.

39 Thou shalt plant vineyards and dress them, but shalt neither drink of the wine, nor gather the grapes: for the worms shall eat them.

40 Thou shalt have olive-trees throughout all thy coasts, but thou shalt not anoint thy self with the oil: for thine olive shall cast his fruit.

41 Thou shalt beget sons and daughters, but thou shalt not enjoy them: for they shall go into captivity.

42 All thy trees and fruit of thy land shall the locust consume.

43 The stranger that is within thee shall get up above thee very high; and thou shalt come down very low.

44 He shall lend to thee, and thou shalt not lend to him: he shall be the head, and thou shalt be the tail.

45 Moreover, all these curses shall come upon thee, and shall pursue thee, and overtake thee, till thou be destroyed; because thou hearkenedst not unto the voice of the LORD thy God, to keep his commandments and his statutes which he commanded thee.

46 And they shall be upon thee for a sign and for a wonder, and upon thy seed for ever.

47 Because thou servedst not the Lord thy God with joyfulness and with gladness of heart, for the abundance of all things;

48 Therefore shalt thou serve thine enemies which the LORD shall send against thee, in hunger, and in thirst, and in nakedness, and in want of all things: and he shall put a yoke of iron upon thy neck, until he have destroyed thee.

49 The LORD shall bring a nation against thee from far, from the end of the earth, as swift as the eagle flieth; a nation whose tongue thou shalt not understand;

50 A nation of fierce countenance, which shall not regard the person of the old, nor shew favour to the young:

51 And he shall eat the fruit of thy cattle, and the fruit of thy land, until thou be destroyed: which also shall not leave thee either corn, wine, or oil, or the increase of thy kine, or flocks of thy sheep, until he have destroyed thee.

52 And he shall besiege thee in all thy gates, until thy high and fenced walls come down, wherein thou trustedst, throughout all thy land: and he shall besiege thee in all thy gates throughout all thy land which the LORD thy God hath given thee.

53 And thou shalt eat the fruit of thine own body, the flesh of thy sons and of thy daughters which the LORD thy God hath given thee, in the siege and in the straitness wherewith thine enemies shall distress thee:

54 So that the man that is tender among 36 The Lord shall bring thee, and thy king, unto a nation which neither thou nor thy fathers have known.] This was fully accomplished in the last dispersion of the Jews by the Romans, a people which neither they nor their fathers knew.

37 Thou shalt become an astonishment, and a proverb.] Your misery shall excite the wonder and scorn of other nations, and your very name shall become a proverb of reproach.

48 A yoke of iron.] Cruel masters shall rule over you. It is but just, that they who refuse the reasonable service of God should groan under the yoke of tyranny and oppression.

49 The Lord shall bring a nation against thee from far, &c.] When you shall have filled up the measure of your iniquity by crucifying your Great Messiah, God will bring upon you the arms of a still more warlike and invincible people, namely, the Romans. Julius Severus was called by the emperor Adrian, to their destruction, out of the island of Britain.

As swift as the eagle flieth.] This metaphor is frequently used in scripture, but here with remarkable propriety, as it alludes to the Roman eagles, or ensigns.

A nation whose tongue thou shalt not understand.] The Jews were absolute strangers to the variety of dialects spoken by the many nations of which the Roman army was composed.

50 Shall not regard the person of the old, nor shew favour to the young.] The Romans in their wars with the Jews spared no body, their rage and fury extinguishing all reverence to grey hairs, and all tenderness to innocent babes.

52 Until thy high and fenced walls come down.] This was literally fulfilled by the army of Titus, when all the fenced cities of Judah were taken and destroyed, and the very walls of Jerusalem, together with the temple, razed to the ground.

53 Thou shalt eat the fruit of thine own body.] This dreadful prediction was fulfilled when Samaria was besieged by Benhadad king of Syria; and more fully when the Romans reduced Jerusalem.

you and very delicate, his eye ſhall be evil toward his brother, and toward the wife of his boſom, and toward the remnant of his children which he ſhall leave;

55 So that he will not give to any of them of the fleſh of his children whom he ſhall eat: becauſe he hath nothing left him in the ſiege and in the ſtraitneſs wherewith thine enemies ſhall diſtreſs thee in all thy gates.

56 The tender and delicate woman among you, which would not adventure to ſet the ſole of her foot upon the ground for delicateneſs and tenderneſs, her eye ſhall be evil towards the huſband of her boſom, and towards her ſon, and towards her daughter,

57 And towards her young one that cometh out from between her feet, and towards her children which ſhe ſhall bear: for ſhe ſhall eat them for want of all things ſecretly in the ſiege and ſtraitneſs wherewith thine enemy ſhall diſtreſs thee in thy gates.

58 If thou wilt not obſerve to do all the words of this law that are written in this book, that thou mayeſt fear this glorious and fearful name, THE LORD THY GOD.

59 Then the LORD will make thy plagues wonderful, and the plagues of thy ſeed, even great plagues and of long continuance, and ſore ſickneſſes and of long continuance.

60 Moreover, he will bring upon thee all the diſeaſes of Egypt, which thou waſt afraid of; and they ſhall cleave unto thee.

61 Alſo every ſickneſs and every plague which is not written in the book of this law, them will the LORD bring upon thee, until thou be deſtroyed.

62 And ye ſhall be left few in number, whereas ye were as the ſtars of heaven for multitude; becauſe thou wouldeſt not obey the voice of the LORD thy God.

63 And it ſhall come to paſs, that as the LORD rejoiced over you to do you good, and to multiply you; ſo the LORD will rejoice over you to deſtroy you, and to bring you to nought; and ye ſhall be plucked from off the land whither thou goeſt to poſſeſs it.

64 And the LORD ſhall ſcatter thee among all people, from the one end of the earth even unto the other; and there thou ſhalt ſerve other gods, which neither thou nor thy fathers have known, even wood and ſtone.

65 And among theſe nations ſhalt thou find no eaſe, neither ſhall the ſole of thy foot have reſt: but the LORD ſhall give thee there a trembling heart, and failing of eyes, and ſorrow of mind.

66 And thy life ſhall hang in doubt before thee: and thou ſhalt fear day and night, and ſhalt have none aſſurance of thy life.

67 In the morning thou ſhalt ſay, Would God it were even; and at even thou ſhalt ſay, Would God it were morning; for the fear of thine heart wherewith thou ſhalt fear, and for the ſight of thine eyes which thou ſhalt ſee.

68 And the LORD ſhall bring thee into Egypt again with ſhips, by the way whereof I ſpake unto thee, Thou ſhalt ſee it no more again: and there ye ſhall be ſold unto your enemies for bond-men and bond-women, and no man ſhall buy you.

CHAP. XXIX.

2 An exhortation to obedience. 10 The people enter into covenant before the Lord.

56 The tender and delicate woman that would not adventure to ſet the ſole of her foot upon the ground.] A deſcription of the greateſt ſoftneſs and delicacy: it ſerves as a fine contraſt, to ſet the miſery to which they were reduced in the ſtrongeſt light.

57 And towards her young one that cometh out from between her feet.] This paſſage has puzzled all the commentators, Her eye ſhall be evil, i. e. ſhe ſhall grudge every morſel eaten by her huſband, her ſon, her daughter, and her after-birth, or ſecundine, as the word (if there be ſuch a word) is allowed to ſignify---than which nothing can be more abſurd---the laſt article, her children, which had been before particularly ſpecified in her ſon and daughter, ſeems to be totally redundant. A learned critic by correcting two corrupted words makes it ſenſe, and very happily his conjecture is confirmed by the teſtimony of the oldeſt MS. in the Bodleian library; and this is the tranſlation of the 57th verſe, according to his correction. 56---towards her ſon, and towards her daughter. 57 And ſhe ſhall boil that which cometh out from between her feet, even her children which ſhe ſhall bear; for ſhe ſhall eat them, &c. This prophecy was literally fulfilled, 2 Kings, vi. 29. See Kennicott.

66 Thy life ſhall hang in doubt.] Be at the pleaſure of thy enemies: the expreſſion denotes the perplexity of that mind which is ever haunted with the fear of death.

68 Ye ſhall be ſold and no man ſhall buy you.] Who does not ſee the abſurdity of this verſion? it ſhould be rendered, Ye ſhall offer yourſelves to ſale, &c. This prophecy, dreadful as it is, was literally fulfilled; when after the deſtruction of Jeruſalem by Titus, though ſome Jews were ſent as ſlaves into Egypt, multitudes were reſerved for the ſword and wild beaſts, in the public theatres. Kennicott, vol. II. p. 87.

THeſe are the words of the covenant which the LORD commanded Moſes to make with the children of Iſrael in the land of Moab, beſide the covenant which he made with them in Horeb.

2 ¶ And Moſes called unto all Iſrael, and ſaid unto them, Ye have ſeen all that the LORD did before your eyes in the land of Egypt, unto Pharaoh, and unto all his ſervants, and unto all his land;

3 The great temptations which thine eyes have ſeen, the ſigns and thoſe great miracles:

4 Yet the LORD hath not given you an heart to perceive, and eyes to ſee, and ears to hear, unto this day.

5 And I have led you forty years in the wilderneſs: your clothes are not waxen old upon you, and thy ſhoe is not waxen old upon thy foot.

6 Ye have not eaten bread, neither have ye drunk wine or ſtrong drink: that ye might know that I am the LORD your God.

7 And when ye came unto this place, Sihon the king of Heſhbon, and Og the king of Baſhan came out againſt us unto battle, and we ſmote them:

8 And we took their land, and gave it for an inheritance unto the Reubenites, and to the Gadites, and to the half-tribe of Manaſſeh.

9 Keep therefore the words of this covenant, and do them, that ye may proſper in all that you do.

10 ¶ Ye ſtand this day all of you before the LORD your God; your captains of your tribes, your elders, and your officers, with all the men of Iſrael,

11 Your little ones, your wives, and thy ſtranger that is in thy camp, from the hewer of thy wood unto the drawer of thy water:

12 That thou ſhouldeſt enter into covenant with the LORD thy God, and into his oath, which the LORD thy God maketh with thee this day:

13 That he may eſtabliſh thee to day for a people unto himſelf, and that he may be unto thee a God, as he hath ſaid unto thee, and as he hath ſworn unto thy fathers, to Abraham, to Iſaac, and to Jacob.

14 Neither with you only do I make this covenant and this oath;

15 But with him that ſtandeth here with us this day before the LORD our God, and alſo with him that is not here with us this day:

16 For ye know how we have dwelt in the land of Egypt; and how we came through the nations which ye paſſed by;

17 And ye have ſeen their abominations and their idols, wood and ſtone, ſilver and gold, which were among them:

18 Leſt there ſhould be among you man or woman, or family, or tribe, whoſe heart turneth away this day from the LORD our God, to go and ſerve the gods of theſe nations: leſt there ſhould be among you a root that beareth gall and wormwood:

19 And it come to paſs, when he heareth the words of this curſe, that he bleſs himſelf in his heart, ſaying, I ſhall have peace, though I walk in the imagination of mine heart to add drunkenneſs to thirſt;

20 The LORD will not ſpare him, but then the anger of the LORD and his jealouſy ſhall ſmoke againſt that man, and all the curſes that are written in this book ſhall lie upon him, and the LORD ſhall blot out his name from under heaven.

21 And the LORD ſhall ſeparate him unto evil out of all the tribes of Iſrael, according to all the curſes of the covenant that are written in this book of the law:

Notes on the Twenty-ninth Chapter.

Ver. 1 These are the words, &c.] This firſt verſe with great propriety concludes the 28th chapter in the celebrated editions, printed by Michaelis and Houbigant. Kennicott.

4 The Lord hath not given you an heart to perceive.] Le Clerc reads theſe words interrogatively; Hath not God given you an heart to perceive?

6 Ye have not eaten bread, &c.] Ye were not nouriſhed by the ordinary means of ſuſtenance, but were conſtantly ſupported by a miraculous ſupply from God.

18 A root that beareth gall and wormwood.] In the Hebrew it ſignifies a poiſonous herb: that is, a wicked and ſinful perſon, who might diffuſe his fatal practices, like the venom of an infectious plant.

19 To add drunkenneſs to thirſt.] A metaphorical expreſſion, to denote a preſumptuous continuance in ſin: an habitual courſe of wickedneſs does but beget a greater inclination to do wickedly ſtill; as drunkenneſs does not ſlake but increaſe the thirſt.

23 Brim-

22 So that the generation to come of your children that ſhall riſe up after you, and the ſtranger that ſhall come from a far land, ſhall ſay, when they ſee the plagues of that land, and the ſickneſſes which the LORD hath laid upon it;

23 And that the whole land thereof is brimſtone and ſalt and burning, that it is not ſown, nor beareth, nor any graſs groweth therein, like the overthrow of Sodom, and Gomorrah, Admah, and Zeboim, which the LORD overthrew in his anger and in his wrath:

24 Even all nations ſhall ſay, Wherefore hath the LORD done thus unto this land? what meaneth the heat of this great anger?

25 Then men ſhall ſay, Becauſe they have forſaken the covenant of the LORD God of their fathers, which he made with them when he brought them forth out of the land of Egypt.

26 For they went and ſerved other gods, and worſhipped them, gods whom they knew not, and whom he had not given unto them.

27 And the anger of the LORD was kindled againſt this land, to bring upon it all the curſes that are written in this book:

28 And the LORD rooted them out of their land in anger and in wrath and in great indignation, and caſt them into another land, as it is this day.

29 The ſecret things belong unto the LORD our God: but thoſe things which are revealed belong unto us and to our children for ever, that we may do all the words of this law.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Great mercies promiſed unto the penitent. 11 The commandment is manifeſt. 15 Death and life are ſet before them.

AND it ſhall come to paſs when all theſe things are come upon thee, the bleſſing and the curſe, which I have ſet before thee, and thou ſhalt call them to mind among all the nations whither the LORD thy God hath driven thee,

2 And ſhalt return unto the LORD thy God, and ſhalt obey his voice according to all that I command thee this day, thou and thy children, with all thine heart and with all thy ſoul;

3 That then the LORD thy God will turn thy captivity, and have compaſſion upon thee, and will return and gather thee from all the nations whither the LORD thy God hath ſcattered thee.

4 If any of thine be driven out unto the outmoſt parts of heaven, from thence will the LORD thy God gather thee, and from thence will he fetch thee:

5 And the LORD thy God will bring thee into the land which thy fathers poſſeſſed, and thou ſhalt poſſeſs it: and he will do thee good, and multiply thee above thy fathers.

6 And the LORD thy God will circumciſe thine heart, and the heart of thy ſeed, to love the LORD thy God with all thine heart and with all thy ſoul, that thou mayeſt live.

7 And the LORD thy God will put all theſe curſes upon thine enemies and on them that hate thee, which perſecuted thee.

8 And thou ſhalt return and obey the voice of the LORD, and do all his commandments which I command thee this day.

9 And the LORD thy God will make thee plenteous in every work of thine hand, in the fruit of thy body, and in the fruit of thy cattle, and in the fruit of thy land, for good: for the LORD will again rejoice over thee for good, as he rejoiced over thy fathers:

10 If thou ſhalt hearken unto the voice of the LORD thy God to keep his commandments and his ſtatutes which are written in this book

23 Brimſtone and ſalt.] When your land is quite deſolated, alluding to the deſtruction of Sodom by fire and brimſtone; and ſalt, i. e. parched and dried up.

29 The ſecret things belong unto the Lord.] Man ſhould not ſearch into thoſe myſteries which God has, in his great wiſdom, thought proper to conceal from the ſons of men.

Notes on the Thirtieth Chapter.

Ver. 1 And it ſhall come to paſs, &c.] Moſes, as he approached the period of his diſſolution, encreaſed in his zeal; his laſt moments were employed in teaching thoughtleſs mortals how they might gain the favour of the Almighty, and live ſecurely under the ſhadow of his wings; even by true repentance, and a ſincere reformation of life, which would reſtore them to the poſſeſſion of their country, and the bleſſings of their religion.

6 The Lord will circumciſe thine heart.] The circumciſion, which upon their reſtoration, will take place, and be required of them, is the circumciſion of the heart, i. e. the Chriſtian circumciſion; and the covenant that will then be eſtabliſhed with them ſhall be the Chriſtian covenant. Worthington.

15 The

of the law, and if thou turn unto the LORD thy God with all thine heart and with all thy ſoul.

11 ¶ For this commandment which I command thee this day, it is not hidden from thee, neither is it far off:

12 It is not in heaven, that thou ſhouldeſt ſay, Who ſhall go up for us to heaven, and bring it unto us, that we may hear it, and do it?

13 Neither is it beyond the ſea, that thou ſhouldeſt ſay, Who ſhall go over the ſea for us, and bring it unto us, that we may hear it, and do it?

14 But the word is very nigh unto thee, in thy mouth, and in thy heart, that thou mayeſt do it.

15 ¶ See, I have ſet before thee this day life and good, and death and evil;

16 In that I command thee this day to love the LORD thy God, to walk in his ways, and to keep his commandments and his ſtatutes and his judgements, that thou mayeſt live and multiply: and the LORD thy God ſhall bleſs thee in the land whither thou goeſt to poſſeſs it.

17 But if thine heart turn away, ſo that thou wilt not hear, but ſhalt be drawn away, and worſhip other gods and ſerve them;

18 I denounce unto you this day that ye ſhall ſurely periſh, and that ye ſhall not prolong your days upon the land whither thou paſſeſt over Jordan to go to poſſeſs it.

19 I call heaven and earth to record this day againſt you, that I have ſet before you life and death, bleſſing and curſing; therefore chooſe life, that both thou and thy ſeed may live:

20 That thou mayeſt love the LORD thy God, and that thou mayeſt obey his voice, and that thou mayeſt cleave unto him: for he is thy life, and the length of thy days: that thou mayeſt dwell in the land which the LORD ſware unto thy fathers, to Abraham, to Iſaac, and to Jacob, to give them.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Moſes encourageth the people and Joſhua. 9 He delivereth the law unto the prieſts, to read it the ſeventh year to the people. 14 God giveth a charge to Joſhua, 19 and a ſong to teſtify againſt the people.

AND Moſes went, and ſpake theſe words unto all Iſrael.

2 And he ſaid unto them, I am an hundred and twenty years old this day; I can no more go out and come in: alſo the LORD hath ſaid unto me, Thou ſhalt not go over this Jordan.

3 The LORD thy God, he will go over before thee, and he will deſtroy theſe nations from before thee, and thou ſhalt poſſeſs them: and Joſhua, he ſhall go over before thee, as the LORD hath ſaid.

4 And the LORD ſhall do unto them as he did to Sihon and to Og, kings of the Amorites, and unto the land of them, whom he deſtroyed.

5 And the LORD ſhall give them up before your face, that ye may do unto them according unto all the commandments which I have commanded you.

6 Be ſtrong and of a good courage, fear not, nor be afraid of them; for the LORD thy God, he it is that doth go with thee, he will not fail thee nor forſake thee.

7 And Moſes called unto Joſhua, and ſaid unto him in the ſight of all Iſrael, Be ſtrong and of a good courage: for thou muſt go with this people unto the land which the LORD hath ſworn unto their fathers to give them; and thou ſhalt cauſe them to inherit it.

8 And the LORD, he it is that doth go before thee, he will be with thee, he will not fail thee neither forſake thee: fear not, neither be diſmayed.

9 ¶ And Moſes wrote this law, and delivered it unto the prieſts the ſons of Levi, which 15 I have ſet before thee this day life and good, and death and evil.] I have fully informed thee of the many bleſſings that will follow from thy obedience, and the tremendous puniſhments which God will inflict upon thee, if thou neglect to hearken to his voice. The life and death here ſet before them are certainly eternal. See Peters on Job, p. 277.

Notes on the Thirty-firſt Chapter.

Ver. 2 I can no more go out and come in.] I can no longer diſcharge the office of governor and leader.

Alſo the Lord hath ſaid unto me.] It might have been better tranſlated, for the Lord hath ſaid, and then the ſenſe is eaſy.

3 The Lord thy God, he will go over before thee.] By means of the ark, the ſymbol of his preſence and protection.

9 Moſes wrote this law.] By the law here is meant either the whole Pentateuch, or this book of Deuteronomy.

bare the ark of the covenant of the LORD, and unto all the elders of Iſrael.

10 And Moſes commanded them, ſaying, At the end of every ſeven years, in the ſolemnity of the year of releaſe, in the feaſt of tabernacles,

11 When all Iſrael is come to appear before the LORD thy God in the place which he ſhall chooſe: thou ſhalt read this law before all Iſrael, in their hearing.

12 Gather the people together, men, and women, and children, and thy ſtranger that is within thy gates, that they may hear, and that they may learn, and fear the LORD your God, and obſerve to do all the words of this law;

13 And that their children, which have not known any thing, may hear, and learn to fear the LORD your God, as long as ye live in the land whither ye go over Jordan to poſſeſs it.

14 ¶ And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Behold, thy days approach that thou muſt die: call Joſhua, and preſent your ſelves in the tabernacle of the congregation, that I may give him a charge. And Moſes and Joſhua went, and preſented themſelves in the tabernacle of the congregation.

15 And the LORD appeared in the tabernacle in a pillar of a cloud: and the pillar of the cloud ſtood over the door of the tabernacle.

16 And the LORD ſaid unto Moſes, Behold, thou ſhalt ſleep with thy fathers: and this people will riſe up, and go a whoring after the gods of the ſtrangers of the land whither they go to be amongſt them, and will forſake me, and break my covenant which I have made with them:

17 Then my anger ſhall be kindled againſt them in that day, and I will forſake them, and I will hide my face from them, and they ſhall be devoured, and many evils and troubles ſhall befall them; ſo that they will ſay in that day, Are not theſe evils come upon us becauſe our God is not amongſt us?

18 And I will ſurely hide my face in that day, for all the evils which they ſhall have wrought, in that they are turned unto other gods.

19 ¶ Now therefore write ye this ſong for you, and teach it the children of Iſrael: put it in their mouths, that this ſong may be a witneſs for me againſt the children of Iſrael.

20 For when I ſhall have brought them into the land which I ſware unto their fathers, that floweth with milk and honey; and they ſhall have eaten and filled themſelves, and waxen fat; then will they turn unto other gods, and ſerve them, and provoke me, and break my covenant.

21 And it ſhall come to paſs, when many evils and troubles are befallen them, that this ſong ſhall teſtify againſt them as a witneſs: for it ſhall not be forgotten out of the mouths of their ſeed: for I know their imagination, which they go about, even now before I have brought them into the land which I ſware.

22 Moſes therefore wrote this ſong the ſame day, and taught it the children of Iſrael.

23 And he gave Joſhua the ſon of Nun a charge, and ſaid, Be ſtrong, and of a good courage: for thou ſhalt bring the children of Iſrael into the land which I ſware unto them: and I will be with thee.

24 And it came to paſs when Moſes had made an end of writing the words of this law in a book, until they were finiſhed;

25 That Moſes commanded the Levites which bare the ark of the covenant of the LORD, ſaying,

26 Take this book of the law, and put it

10, 11 In the feaſt of tabernacles, &c.] The moſt proper ſeaſon that could be choſen for that purpoſe, when they had gathered in the fruits of the earth, and ſo had leiſure to attend to the reading of the law; and being likewiſe, at the end of every ſeventh year, free from cares by the releaſe of their debts, the law was likely to make the greater impreſſion on them. Patrick.

16 Thou ſhalt ſleep with thy fathers.] The word ſleep is commonly uſed in ſcripture to ſignify death; and at the ſame time implies, that death ſhall not have dominion over them for ever, but that in the morning of the reſurrection they ſhall awake as certainly as they fall aſleep. Patrick.

20 And waxen fat.] Signifies when they ſhall have indulged the appetites of the fleſh, and diſregarded the duties of religion. Pilkington.

23 He gave Joſhua a charge, and ſaid.] Here is an ellipſis, which may be thus ſupplied, He gave Joſhua a charge, in the name of the Lord, and ſaid.

26 Take this book of the law, and put it in the ſide of the ark.] It ſhould have been tranſlated by the ſide of the ark; for the intention of placing this original volume of the law in the ſanctuary, was, that it might be reſerved there as the authentic copy, by which all others were to be examined and corrected; and, conſein the ſide of the ark of the covenant of the LORD your God, that it may be there for a witneſs againſt thee.

27 For I know thy rebellion, and thy ſtiff neck: behold, while I am yet alive with you this day, ye have been rebellious againſt the LORD; and how much more after my death?

28 Gather unto me all the elders of your tribes, and your officers, that I may ſpeak theſe words in their ears, and call heaven and earth to record againſt them.

29 For I know that after my death ye will utterly corrupt your ſelves, and turn aſide from the way which I have commanded you: and evil will befall you in the latter days; becauſe ye will do evil in the ſight of the LORD, to provoke him to anger through the work of your hands.

30 And Moſes ſpake in the ears of all the congregation of Iſrael the words of this ſong, until they were ended.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 Moſes' ſong, which ſetteth forth God's mercy and vengeance. 46 He exhorteth them to ſet their hearts upon it.

GIVE ear, O ye heavens, and I will ſpeak; and hear, O earth, the words of my mouth:

2 My doctrine ſhall drop as the rain: my ſpeech ſhall diſtil as the dew, as the ſmall rain upon the tender herb, and as the ſhowers upon the graſs.

3 Becauſe I will publiſh the name of the LORD; aſcribe ye greatneſs unto our God.

4 He is the Rock, his work is perfect; for all his ways are judgement: a God of truth, and without iniquity, juſt and right is he.

5 They have corrupted themſelves, their ſpot is not the ſpot of his children: they are a perverſe and crooked generation.

6 Do ye thus requite the LORD, O fooliſh people and unwiſe? is not he thy father that hath bought thee? hath he not made thee, and eſtabliſhed thee?

7 Remember the days of old, conſider the years of many generations; aſk thy father, and he will ſhew thee, thy elders, and they will tell thee.

8 When the moſt High divided to the nations their inheritance, when he ſeparated the ſons of Adam, he ſet the bounds of the people according to the number of the children of Iſrael.

9 For the LORD's portion is his people; Jacob is the lot of his inheritance.

10 He found him in a deſert land, and in the waſte howling wilderneſs; he led him about, conſequently, muſt be placed ſo that acceſs might be had to it upon all occaſions, which could not have been done, had it been ſhut up in the ark, the cover of which was not to be removed.

Notes on the Thirty-ſecond Chapter.

Ver. 1 Give ear, O ye heavens, &c.] Moſes begins this inimitable piece of poetry, by calling to the heaven and earth to attend to what he is going to deliver; ſuch figurative and animated modes of ſpeech have a great tendency to awaken the attention.

2 My doctrine ſhall drop, &c.] Or, let my doctrine drop, &c.] For it is a prayer that his words might ſink into their hearts, to ſoften them, as the drops of rain and dew do the earth, and produce the fruits of obedience.

5 Their ſpot is not the ſpot of his children.] Or, as Le Clerc renders it, the ſons of pollution are not his. The true characteriſtic of the ſons of God is to imitate and reſemble God himſelf, 1 John iii. 10. It is true they have their ſpots, through infirmity, to which all are ſubject; but the crimes of the Iſraelites were of ſo high a nature, as to ſpeak them degenerate from their profeſſion of being God's peculiar people: they were the ſpots of a crooked and perverſe generation, who refuſed to be reclaimed.

6 Is not he thy father that hath bought thee?] Has not he redeemed thee from the bondage of Egypt? To this purchaſe the Pſalmiſt alludes: Remember the congregation which thou haſt purchaſed of old, Pſal. lxxiv. 2. God was the father of the Iſraelites, not only by creation, but in reſpect of the Hebrew conſtitution, whereof he was the father and founder, having firſt delivered them from Egypt, as a ſlave ranſomed from ſlavery. Le Clerc.

Hath he not made thee, and eſtabliſhed thee?] Hath he not made thee a people, and given thee the moſt wiſe and righteous laws?

7 Remember the days of old, &c.] Look over the hiſtory of time, and the undoubted records of your own nation in particular; ſearch the accounts of your fathers that are dead, or aſk the wiſeſt of them that are alive, and learn what wonderous mercies God hath wrought in your behalf.

8 When the moſt High divided to the nations their inheritance---he ſet the bounds of the people according to the number of the children of Iſrael.] Bochart gives the words this plain and ſimple meaning: God ſo diſtributed the bounds and ſettlements of the ſeveral people and nations, as to reſerve in his counſel ſuch a part of the earth for the Iſraelites, as he knew would be a commodious habitation for ſo numerous a race. Which ſenſe cannot be better expreſſed than in the words of St. Paul; And [God] hath made of one blood all nations of men, for to dwell on all the face of the earth, and hath determined the times before appointed, and the bounds of their habitations, Acts xvii. 26.

9 Jacob is the lot of his inheritance.] Or, the cord of his inheritance; i. e. his heritage by a line or meaſure allotted to him.

10 He found him in a deſert land.] The Iſraelites were in the wilder-he inſtructed him, he kept him as the apple of his eye.

11 As an eagle ſtirreth up her neſt, fluttereth over her young, ſpreadeth abroad her wings, taketh them, beareth them on her wings;

12 So the LORD alone did lead him, and there was no ſtrange god with him.

13 He made him ride on the high places of the earth, that he might eat the increaſe of the fields; and he made him ſuck honey out of the rock, and oil out of the flinty rock;

14 Butter of kine, and milk of ſheep, with fat of lambs, and rams of the breed of Baſhan, and goats, with the fat of kidneys of wheat; and thou didſt drink the pure blood of the grape.

15 But Jeſhurun waxed fat, and kicked: thou art waxen fat, thou art grown thick, thou art covered with fatneſs: then he forſook God which made him, and lightly eſteemed the Rock of his ſalvation.

16 They provoked him to jealouſy with ſtrange gods, with abominations provoked they him to anger.

17 They ſacrificed unto devils, not to God; to gods whom they knew not, to new gods that came newly up, whom your fathers feared not.

18 Of the Rock that begat thee thou art unmindful, and haſt forgotten God that formed thee.

19 And when the LORD ſaw it, he abhorred them, becauſe of the provoking of his ſons, and of his daughters.

20 And he ſaid, I will hide my face from them, I will ſee what their end ſhall be: for they are a very froward generation, children in whom is no faith.

21 They have moved me to jealouſy with that which is not God; they have provoked me to anger with their vanities: and I will move them to jealouſy with thoſe which are not a people, I will provoke them to anger with a fooliſh nation.

22 For a fire is kindled in mine anger and wilderneſs of Arabia when they firſt made a covenant with God. The word, which we render found, ſignifies alſo to ſuffice, or provide for: the meaning therefore of it here will be, that he ſuſtained and provided for them in the wilderneſs.

In the waſte howling wilderneſs.] Where nothing was to be heard but the howlings of wild beaſts.

He led him about.] Rather, as in the margin, he compaſſed him about, he encircled them with his divine protection.

11 As an eagle ſtirreth up her neſt, &c.] The eagle is remarkably careful of her young, which ſhe provokes to fly, or ſtirs up, by fluttering over them with her wings ſtretched out. The care, therefore, of Providence over the Iſraelites could not be expreſſed more emphatically than by this compariſon. See note on Exod. xix. 4.

12 So the Lord alone did lead him.] God ſollicited his people, by Moſes and Aaron, to aſpire after their liberty when they were oppreſſed in Egypt; juſt as an eagle excites her young ones to try the uſe of their wings.

There was a ſtrange God with him.] They were protected and preſerved by the almighty power of Jehovah alone.

13 He made him ride on the high places of the earth.] The moſt probable meaning is, he made Iſrael to conquer and triumph, as riding is often uſed, Pſal. xlv. 5. Ride on becauſe of the word of truth, &c. Pſal. lxvi. 12

Honey out of the rock.] He brought them to a country where honey and oil flowed from the rocks. A proverbial expreſſion, denoting a land remarkable for its fruitfulneſs.

14 Rams of the breed of Baſhan.] Of the faireſt and beſt kind, Baſhan being a country famous for excellent paſture.

With the fat of kidneys of wheat.] This expreſſion ſounds oddly in our language; but it muſt be remembered, that the Hebrews call the beſt of every thing by the name of fat. And by the kidneys of wheat we are to underſtand large and plump corn, affording plenty of flour; it might have been more properly tranſlated, the fineſt and plumpeſt of wheat.

15 Jeſhurun waxed fat, and kicked.] Moſes here ſpeaks in the prophetic ſtyle, which often repreſents future events as actually preſent, or already paſt, to denote the certainty of the thing foretold: the meaning is; Iſrael, in the days of their proſperity, ſhall make a very bad uſe of the bleſſings of Providence; ſee note on chap. xxxi. 20; they ſhall ſpurn at God's laws, and become wanton and inſolent as a pampered horſe. The word Jeſhurun, by which the people of Iſrael are often meant in ſcripture, may be derived from jaſher, righteouſneſs, becauſe they were a people profeſſing righteouſneſs, or governed by righteous laws.

17 They ſacrificed to devils, not to God.] Not that they actually conſidered their gods as devils; the meaning is, that whatever pretence they might have for their idolatry when they ſacrificed, they did it unto devils, the waſters and deſtroyers of mankind.

New gods—whom your fathers feared not.] They were ſo prone to idolatry, that every new object of heathen ſuperſtition caught their giddy fancy, and drew them away from their allegiance to God.

19 Becauſe of the provoking of his ſons, and of his daughters.] The women were notoriouſly guilty of provoking God by their idolatry. The women ſat weeping for Tammuz, Ezek. viii. 14.

21 I will move them to jealouſy with thoſe which are not a people.] God threatens to repay their frequent revolts from him in their own kind, by cauſing the very Gentiles, whom they ſo much deſpiſed, not only to become their conquerors, but alſo to be taken into his covenant, while they themſelves were excluded from it. See Mat. xxi. 43, 44. They are called not a people, becauſe they were either not in being, or ſo obſcure and ignoble, that they were not worthy the name of a nation.

22 For a fire is kindled in my anger.] This verſe emphatically paints the dreadful evils which Providence would inflict upon the land of Judea, waſting calamities being here compared to fire. The ingenious Mr. Peters thinks this verſe is no obſcure intimation of the diſſolution of the world by fire. See his Diſſert. on Job, p. 406.

ſhall burn unto the loweſt hell, and ſhall conſume the earth with her increaſe, and ſet on fire the foundations of the mountains.

23 I will heap miſchiefs upon them, I will ſpend mine arrows upon them.

24 They ſhall be burned with hunger, and devoured with burning heat, and with bitter deſtruction: I will alſo ſend the teeth of beaſts upon them, with the poiſon of ſerpents of the duſt.

25 The ſword without, and terror within ſhall deſtroy both the young man and the virgin, the ſuckling alſo with the man of gray hairs.

26 I ſaid, I would ſcatter them into corners, I would make the remembrance of them to ceaſe from among men;

27 Were it not that I feared the wrath of the enemy, leſt their adverſaries ſhould behave themſelves ſtrangely, and leſt they ſhould ſay, Our hand is high, and the LORD hath not done all this.

28 For they are a nation void of counſel, neither is there any underſtanding in them.

29 O that they were wiſe, that they underſtood this, that they would conſider their latter end!

30 How ſhould one chaſe a thouſand, and two put ten thouſand to flight, except their Rock had ſold them, and the LORD had ſhut them up?

31 For their rock is not as our Rock, even our enemies themſelves being judges.

32 For their vine is of the vine of Sodom, and of the fields of Gomorrah: their grapes are grapes of gall, their cluſters are bitter:

33 Their wine is the poiſon of dragons, and the cruel venom of aſps.

34 Is not this laid up in ſtore with me, and ſealed up among my treaſures?

35 To me belongeth vengeance, and recompenſe; their foot ſhall ſlide in due time: for the day of their calamity is at hand, and the things that ſhall come upon them make haſte.

36 For the LORD ſhall judge his people, and repent himſelf for his ſervants; when he ſeeth that their power is gone, and there is none ſhut up, or left.

37 And he ſhall ſay, Where are their gods, their rock in whom they truſted, 38 Which did eat the fat of their ſacrifices, and drank the wine of their drink-offerings? let them riſe up and help you, and be your protection.

39 See now that I, even I am he, and there is no God with me: I kill, and I make alive; I wound, and I heal: neither is there any that can deliver out of my hand.

40 For I lift up my hand to heaven, and ſay, I live for ever.

41 If I whet my glittering ſword, and mine hand take hold on judgement; I will render vengeance to mine enemies, and will reward them that hate me.

42 I will make mine arrows drunk with blood, and my ſword ſhall devour fleſh; and that with the blood of the ſlain and of the captives, from the beginning of revenges upon the enemy.

43 Rejoice, O ye nations, with his people: for he will avenge the blood of his ſervants, and will render vengeance to his adverſaries, and will be merciful unto his land and to his people.

44 And Moſes came and ſpake all the words

26, 27 I would make the remembrance of them to ceaſe—were it not that I feared the wrath of the enemy.] This is ſpoken in the language of men; the meaning is, that God would totally exterminate them, but that ſuch a ſudden and final deſtruction of his choſen people, would occaſion the heathens to inſult againſt God himſelf, by aſcribing the deſtruction of the Iſraelites to their own valour, or to the power of their idols, and not to his righteous judgments.

29 Their latter end.] Their future ſtate; ſee note on Numb. xxiii. 10. and Deut. viii. 16.

30 How ſhould one chaſe a thouſand.] How ſhould a handful of men defeat a mighty army!

32 For their vine is of the vine of Sodom, &c.] The ſoil about Sodom produced nothing but blaſted fruits, of a black hue, and without ſubſtance.

33 Their wine is the poiſon of dragons.] Their works are ſo pernicious, that they reſemble the poiſon of dragons. Patrick.

36 For the Lord ſhall judge his people.] Heb. Nevertheleſs the Lord, &c. i. e. upon their repentance, he will ſhew compaſſion towards Iſrael, and turn his vengeance againſt their cruel oppreſſors.

40 I lift up my hand to heaven.] i. e. I ſwear ſolemnly; it was uſual to ſtretch out the hand in ſwearing.

43 Rejoice, O ye nations, with his people.] This is a prediction of the bringing in of the Gentiles to ſhare with the Jews the privileges of the goſpel, and become one church and people of God.

of this ſong in the ears of the people, he, and Hoſhea the ſon of Nun.

45 And Moſes made an end of ſpeaking all theſe words to all Iſrael:

46 ¶ And he ſaid unto them, Set your hearts unto all the words which I teſtify among you this day, which ye ſhall command your children to obſerve to do, all the words of this law.

47 For it is not a vain thing for you: becauſe it is your life; and through this thing ye ſhall prolong your days in the land whither ye go over Jordan to poſſeſs it.

48 And the LORD ſpake unto Moſes that ſelf-ſame day, ſaying,

49 Get thee up into this mountain Abarim, unto mount Nebo, which is in the land of Moab, that is over againſt Jericho; and behold the land of Canaan, which I give unto the children of Iſrael for a poſſeſſion.

50 And die in the mount whither thou goeſt up, and be gathered unto thy people; as Aaron thy brother died in mount Hor, and was gathered unto his people:

51 Becauſe ye treſpaſſed againſt me among the children of Iſrael at the waters of Meribah-kadeſh, in the wilderneſs of Zin; becauſe ye ſanctified me not in the midſt of the children of Iſrael.

52 Yet thou ſhalt ſee the land before thee; but thou ſhalt not go thither unto the land which I give the children of Iſrael.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 The majeſty of God. 6 The bleſſings of the twelve tribes. 26 The excellency of Iſrael.

AND this is the bleſſing wherewith Moſes the man of God bleſſed the children of Iſrael before his death:

2 And he ſaid, The LORD came from Sinai, and roſe up from Seir unto them; he ſhined forth from mount Paran, and he came with ten thouſands of ſaints: from his right-hand went a fiery law for them.

3 Yea, he loved the people: all his ſaints are in thy hand: and they ſat down at thy feet: every one ſhall receive of thy words.

4 Moſes commanded us a law; even the inheritance of the congregation of Jacob.

5 And he was king in Jeſhurun, when the heads of the people and the tribes of Iſrael were gathered together.

6 ¶ Let Reuben live, and not die; and let not his men be few.

7 And this is the bleſſing of Judah: and he ſaid, Hear, LORD, the voice of Judah, and bring him unto his people: let his hands be ſufficient for him; and be thou an help to him from his enemies.

46, 47 And he ſaid unto them, Set your hearts unto all the words, &c.] Moſes concludes his prophetic hymn, with a pathetic exhortation, that they would ſeriouſly improve it in a careful obſervance of the laws he had given them, by training up their children in a habit of the ſame obedience; aſſuring them, that this was the only way to become a great and happy people.

Notes on the Thirty-third Chapter.

It has been conjectured, that this 33d chapter, as well as the 34th, may have been the addition of ſome writer later than Moſes. Kennicott, vol. II. p. 92. Mr. Kennicott has given us a correction and tranſlation of the five firſt verſes, which the learned reader will find in his Diſſert. vol. I. p. 422.

Ver. 2 Roſe up from Seir unto them; he ſhined, &c.] The ſame Divine Preſence which appeared to them on mount Sinai, accompanied them through all their journeys; he roſe upon them as the ſun from Seir, and ſpread abroad his beams upon them from mount Paran.

With ten thouſand of his ſaints.] This is a circumſtance no where mentioned in ſcripture: Mr. Kennicott has beautifully illuſtrated this paſſage, by proving that it ſhould be tranſlated, he came from Meribah-Kadeſh; as Moſes is referring the Iſraelites back to the remarkable event recorded, Exod. xvii. 7.

3 All his ſaints are in thy hand.] Kennicott renders it, He bleſſed all his ſaints. They ſat down at thy feet, &c.] They fell down at his feet, and they received of his words. Kennicott.

4 Moſes commanded.] It ſhould be, He commanded, &c. that is, Jehovah, ibid.

6 Let not his men be few.] As the word not is wanting in the Hebrew, the verſe may be tranſlated, Let Reuben live and not die, though his men be few; which ſeems to agree better with Jacob's prophecy, that he ſhould not excel. As there is no mention of Simeon, it is generally thought that his tribe is included in the bleſſing of Judah, with whom his poſſeſſions were mixed. What renders this the more probable is, that he was joined with Judah in thoſe wars againſt the Canaanites, in which the Divine Aid is here implored for Judah.

7 Hear, Lord, the voice of Judah, and bring him unto his people.] Dr. Sherlock, in his learned diſſertation on the bleſſing of Judah, obſerves, that this benediction cannot relate to the time when it was given; but to the time of the return of the Iſraelites from Babylon, when Judah, with Benjamin, the Levites, and the remnant of Iſrael, made only 42,360, Ezra ii. 64. Now Moſes, in the ſpirit of prophecy, ſeeing the deſolation of all the tribes; ſeeing the tribes of the kingdom of Iſrael carried away by the Aſſyrians, the people of Judah by the Babylonians; ſeeing that Judah ſhould again return, weak, harraſſed, and hardly able to maintain himſelf in his own country; puts up for them this prophetic prayer: Hear, Lord, the voice of Judah, and bring him

8 And of Levi he said, Let thy Thummim and thy Urim be with thy Holy one, whom thou didst prove at Massah, and with whom thou didst strive at the waters of Meribah;

9 Who said unto his father, and to his mother, I have not seen him, neither did he acknowledge his brethren, nor knew his own children: for they have observed thy word, and kept thy covenant.

10 They shall teach Jacob thy judgements, and Israel thy law: they shall put incense before thee, and whole burnt-sacrifice upon thine altar.

11 Bless, LORD, his substance, and accept the work of his hands: smite through the loins of them that rise against him, and of them that hate him, that they rise not again.

12 And of Benjamin he said, The beloved of the LORD shall dwell in safety by him; and the LORD shall cover him all the day long, and he shall dwell between his shoulders.

13 And of Joseph he said, Blessed of the LORD be his land, for the precious things of heaven, for the dew, and for the deep that coucheth beneath.

14 And for the precious fruits brought forth by the sun, and for the precious things put forth by the moon,

15 And for the chief things of the ancient mountains, and for the precious things of the lasting hills,

16 And for the precious things of the earth, and fulness thereof, and for the good-will of him that dwelt in the bush: let the blessing come upon the head of Joseph, and upon the top of the head of him that was separated from his brethren.

17 His glory is like the firstling of his bullock, and his horns are like the horns of unicorns: with them he shall push the people together to the ends of the earth: and they are the ten thousands of Ephraim, and they are the thousands of Manasseh.

18 And of Zebulun he said, Rejoice, Zebulun, in thy going out; and Issachar, in thy tents.

19 They shall call the people unto the mountain, there they shall offer sacrifices of righteousness: for they shall suck of the abundance of the seas, and of treasures hid in the sand.

20 And of Gad he said, Blessed be he that enlargeth Gad: he dwelleth as a lion, and teareth the arm with the crown of the head.

21 And he provided the first part for himself, because there in a portion of the lawgiver was he seated: and he came with the heads of the people, he executed the justice of the LORD, and his judgements with Israel.

22 And of Dan he said, Dan is a lion's whelp: he shall leap from Bashan.

23 And of Naphtali he said, O Naphtali satisfied with favour, and full with the blessing of the LORD: possess thou the west and the south.

him unto his people: let his hands be sufficient for him, and be thou an help to him from his enemies.

8 Let thy Thummim and thy Urim be with thy holy one.] Let the tribe of Judah perpetually enjoy the priesthood, and be endued with that uprightness in the discharge of their duty, and that light and knowledge of divine things that are signified by the Urim and Thummim.

9 Who said unto his father and to his mother, I have not seen him, &c.] This respects the tribe of Levi, who, fired with a holy zeal for God and the public interest, put the idolatrous worshippers of the golden calf to the sword, without respect of persons, not even sparing those of their nearest relations who had been concerned in that wickedness.

12 The beloved of the Lord shall dwell in safety by him.] Benjamin shall be established about the dwelling of Jehovah, which was accordingly accomplished, the temple of Jerusalem, (the place where the Divine Majesty especially resided) being in the tribe of Benjamin.

He shall dwell between his shoulders.] Rather, as the same word is translated, Numb. xxxiv. 11, he shall dwell on his sides or borders; for the temple of Jehovah stood on the borders of Benjamin.

13, 14 For the precious things of heaven.] For the fruitful showers from heaven: For the dew, the evening and morning dews are equally refreshing to the earth as rain; And for the deep that coucheth beneath, for springs of water that burst out of the earth, for the use of man and beast: For the precious fruits brought forth by the sun, as corn, &c. by the influence of the sun; And for the precious things put forth by the moon, such productions of the earth as are gathered oftener than once a year, even within the course of a few moons.

17 Like the horns of unicorns.] It should be rendered, Like the horns of the rhinoceros.

18 Of Zebulun he said, Rejoice, Zebulun, at thy going out.] The chief pleasure of Zebulun, he pronounces should lie in merchandize, and going out to traffick with the neighbouring nations, which they exercised by their convenient situation near the ports of the Mediterranean.

Issachar, in thy tents.] The people of Issachar are to rejoice in the pleasures of a country life, in husbandry or agriculture: Dr. Shaw observes, that their portion was the most fertile of all the land of Canaan, so that they might well be supposed to rejoice in their tents.

22 Dan is a lion's whelp.] It should be as a lion's whelp.

23 O Naphtali, satisfied with favour.] This refers to the country

24 And of Aſher he ſaid, Let Aſher be bleſſed with children; let him be acceptable to his brethren, and let him dip his foot in oil.

25 Thy ſhoes ſhall be iron and braſs; and as thy days, ſo ſhall thy ſtrength be.

26 ¶ There is none like unto the God of Jeſhurun, who rideth upon the heaven in thy help, and in his excellency on the ſky.

27 The eternal God is thy refuge, and underneath are the everlaſting arms: and he ſhall thruſt out the enemy from before thee, and ſhall ſay, Deſtroy them.

28 Iſrael then ſhall dwell in ſafety alone; the fountain of Jacob ſhall be upon a land of corn and wine, alſo his heavens ſhall drop down dew.

29 Happy art thou, O Iſrael! who is like unto thee, O people ſaved by the LORD, the ſhield of thy help, and who is the ſword of thy excellency! and thine enemies ſhall be found liars unto thee, and thou ſhalt tread upon their high places.

CHAP. XXXIV.

1 Moſes from mount Nebo vieweth the land. 5 He dieth there. 6 His burial. 7 His age. 8 Thirty days mourning for him. 9 Joſhua ſucceedeth him. 10 The praiſe of Moſes.

AND Moſes went up from the plains of Moab unto the mountain of Nebo, to the top of Piſgah, that is over againſt Jericho. And the LORD ſhewed him all the land of Gilead, unto Dan,

2 And all Naphtali, and the land of Ephraim, and Manaſſeh, and all the land of Judah unto the utmoſt ſea,

3 And the ſouth, and the plain of the valley of Jericho the city of palm-trees, unto Zoar.

4 And the LORD ſaid unto him, This is the land which I ſware unto Abraham, unto Iſaac, and unto Jacob, ſaying, I will give it unto thy ſeed: I have cauſed thee to ſee it with thine eyes, but thou ſhalt not go over thither.

5 ¶ So Moſes the ſervant of the LORD died there in the land of Moab, according to the word of the LORD.

6 ¶ And he buried him in a valley in the land of Moab, over againſt Bethpeor: but no man knoweth of his ſepulchre unto this day.

7 ¶ And Moſes was an hundred and twenty years old when he died: his eye was not dim, nor his natural force abated.

8 And the children of Iſrael wept for Moſes in the plains of Moab thirty days: ſo the days of weeping and mourning for Moſes were ended.

9 ¶ And Joſhua the ſon of Nun was full of the ſpirit of wiſdom: for Moſes had laid his hands upon him: and the children of Iſrael hearkened unto him, and did as the LORD commanded Moſes.

10 ¶ And there aroſe not a prophet ſince in Iſrael like unto Moſes, whom the LORD knew face to face:

11 In all the ſigns and the wonders which the LORD ſet him to do in the land of Egypt, to Pharaoh, and to all his ſervants, and to all his land, 12 And in all that mighty hand, and in all the great terror which Moſes ſhewed in the ſight of all Iſrael.

---

country poſſeſſed by this tribe, which was celebrated for its pleaſant and fruitful ſoil.

25 Thy ſhoes ſhall be iron and braſs.] They ſhall have many mines of theſe metals.

Notes on the Thirty-fourth Chapter.

Ver. 1 And Moſes went up, &c.] Moſes, having given his prophetic bleſſing to all the tribes, obeyed the commands of his God he had ſo long and ſo faithfully ſerved. And, from the top of Piſgah, God, in a miraculous manner, gave him a ſight of the whole land of Canaan.

6 No man knoweth of his ſepulchre, &c.] The reaſon why this great prophet was ſo ſecretly buried, was to prevent the people from paying idolatrous worſhip to his remains.

10 There aroſe not a prophet ſince in Iſrael, &c.] The author of the book of Eccleſiaſticus gives Moſes the following commendation: "Moſes was beloved of God and man, and his "memory is bleſſed. The Lord made him like to the glorious "ſaints, and magnified him ſo, that his enemies ſtood in fear "of him. By his words he cauſed the wonders to ceaſe, and he "made him glorious in the ſight of kings, and gave him a com"mandment for his people, and ſhewed him part of his glory. "He ſanctified him in his faithfulneſs and meakneſs, and choſe "him out of all men. He made him to hear his voice, and "brought him into the dark cloud, and gave him command"ments before his face, even the law of life and knowledge, "that he might teach Jacob his covenant and Iſrael his judg"ments." Chap. xlv. 1—5. Thus, with the death of this eminent prophet and lawgiver, endeth the PENTATEUCH; containing the ſacred hiſtory of the world in general, and of the family of Abraham in particular, for the firſt two thouſand five hundred and fifty-three years, viz. from the creation to the arrival of the Iſraelites in the land of Canaan.

THE BOOK OF JOSHUA.

THE ARGUMENT.

This Book contains the history of the Israelites from the death of Moses to the death of Joshua: it is chiefly historical, and gives an account of the many signal victories obtained by Joshua over the inhabitants of Canaan, the division of the land among the several tribes, and the strict charge of Joshua to the Israelites, with an account of the death of that great general, and of Eleazar the high-priest.

CHAP. I.

1 The Lord appointeth Joshua to succeed Moses. 3 The borders of the promised land. 5, 9 God promiseth to assist Joshua. 8 He giveth him instruction.

NOW after the death of Moses the servant of the Lord it came to pass, that the Lord spake unto Joshua the son of Nun, Moses minister, saying,

2 Moses my servant is dead; now therefore arise, go over this Jordan, thou, and all this people, unto the land which I do give to them, even to the children of Israel.

3 ¶ Every place that the sole of your foot shall tread upon, that have I given unto you, as I said unto Moses.

4 From the wilderness and this Lebanon, even unto the great river the river Euphrates, all the land of the Hittites, and unto the great sea, toward the going down of the sun, shall be your coast.

5 ¶ There shall not any man be able to stand before thee all the days of thy life: as I was with Moses, so I will be with thee: I will not fail thee, nor forsake thee.

6 Be strong and of a good courage: for unto this people shalt thou divide for an inheritance the land which I sware unto their fathers to give them.

7 Only be thou strong and very couragious, that thou mayest observe to do according to all the law which Moses my servant commanded thee: turn not from it to the right-hand or to the left, that thou mayest prosper whithersoever thou goest.

8 ¶ This book of the law shall not depart out of thy mouth; but thou shalt meditate therein day and night, that thou mayest observe to do according to all that is written therein:

Notes on the First Chapter.

Ver. 1 Now after the death of Moses.] Joshua, on the death of Moses, undertook, by the positive command of God, the conduct of the children of Israel. He had been trained up under Moses during the greatest part of the time the Israelites wandered in the wilderness; had seen the wonderful works of God wrought by Moses; well understood the nature and disposition of the people; had been one of the twelve spies sent to search out the promised land, and one of the two who gave a faithful account of it; and consequently every way qualified for this important office.

4 From the wilderness, and this Lebanon, &c.] The sense is, from the wilderness, south, to Lebanon, north; and from Euphrates, east, to the Great sea, west.

5 As I was with Moses, so I will be with thee.] God now promises Joshua to be with him as he was before with Moses, and make Canaan an easy conquest to him, provided he took care to obey his laws as Moses had done. This encouragement removed his fears; for before he was very anxious how he should execute it. He saw himself indeed at the head of six hundred thousand fighting men; but the nations he was to subdue were a military and gigantic people, had long since taken the alarm, and consequently made all the preparations in their power to oppose his designs. Universal History.

for then thou ſhalt make thy way proſperous, and then thou ſhalt have good ſucceſs.

9 ¶ Have not I commanded thee? Be ſtrong and of a good courage, be not afraid, neither be thou diſmayed: for the LORD thy God is with thee whitherſoever thou goeſt.

10 Then Joſhua commanded the officers of the people, ſaying,

11 Paſs through the hoſt, and command the people, ſaying, Prepare ye victuals: for within three days ye ſhall paſs over this Jordan, to go in to poſſeſs the land which the LORD your God giveth you to poſſeſs it.

12 And to the Reubenites, and to the Gadites, and to half the tribe of Manaſſeh ſpake Joſhua, ſaying, 13 Remember the word which Moſes the ſervant of the LORD commanded you, ſaying, The LORD your God hath given you reſt, and hath given you this land.

14 Your wives, your little ones, and your cattle ſhall remain in the land which Moſes gave you on this ſide Jordan; but ye ſhall paſs before your brethren armed, all the mighty men of valour, and help them:

15 Until the LORD have given your brethren reſt, as he hath given you, and they alſo have poſſeſſed the land which the LORD your God giveth them; then ye ſhall return unto the land of your poſſeſſion, and enjoy it, which Moſes the Lord's ſervant gave you on this ſide Jordan toward the ſun-riſing.

16 And they anſwered Joſhua, ſaying, All that thou commandeſt us we will do, and whitherſoever thou ſendeſt us we will go.

17 According as we hearkened unto Moſes in all things, ſo will we hearken unto thee: only the LORD thy God be with thee, as he was with Moſes.

18 Whoſoever he be that doth rebel againſt thy commandment, and will not hearken unto thy words in all that thou commandeſt him, he ſhall be put to death: only be ſtrong and of a good courage.

CHAP. II.

1 Rahab receiveth and concealeth the two ſpies ſent from Shittim. 8 The covenant between her and them. 23 Their return.

AND Joſhua the ſon of Nun ſent out of Shittim two men to ſpy ſecretly, ſaying, Go view the land, even Jericho: and they went, and came into an harlot's houſe, named Rahab, and lodged there.

2 And it was told the king of Jericho, ſaying, Behold, there came men in hither to night of the children of Iſrael to ſearch out the country.

3 And the king of Jericho ſent unto Rahab, ſaying, Bring forth the men that are come to thee, which are entered into thine houſe: for they be come to ſearch out all the country.

4 And the woman took the two men, and hid them, and ſaid thus, There came men unto me, but I wiſt not whence they were:

5 And it came to paſs about the time of ſhutting of the gate, when it was dark, that the men went out: whither the men went, I wot not: purſue after them quickly; for ye ſhall overtake them.

6 But ſhe had brought them up to the roof of the houſe, and hid them with ſtalks of flax, which ſhe had laid in order upon the roof.

7 And men purſued after them the way to 11 Prepare you victuals.] The Iſraelites were now in the countries of Sihon and Og, which they had lately conquered, and the victuals they were commanded to provide themſelves with, were ſuch as their new conqueſt afforded: for, being after three days to remove very early in the morning, they might not perhaps have had time to gather a ſufficient quantity of manna, which had not yet failed them, and to bake it before they were obliged to march.

18 Only be ſtrong, &c.] It ſhould be rendered, therefore be ſtrong. Patrick.

Notes on the Second Chapter.

Ver. 1 Go view the land, even Jericho.] Jericho was a city of Canaan, which afterwards fell to the lot of the tribe of Benjamin, about ſeven leagues diſtant from Jeruſalem, and two from Jordan. It is called the city of the palm-trees; Deut. xxxiv. 3. becauſe there were great numbers of them in the plains of Jericho.

They---came into an harlot's houſe.] The original word, which we render harlot, properly ſignifies an hoſteſs; nor does it appear, from the context, that ſhe was really an harlot, but rather the contrary. The faith that ſhe expreſſed in God, and her behaviour to the two Iſraelites, ſurely deſerves to have the moſt favourable conſtruction put upon her profeſſion. To which I may add, that it is not likely Salmon would have married her afterwards, had ſhe been ſuch a public woman; for he was a prince of the houſe of Judah, and one of the anceſtors of the Meſſiah. Univerſal Hiſtory.

Then she let them down by a Cord through the Window: for her house was upon the town-wall, & she dwelt upon the wall. - Joshua Chap. II. Ve. 15.

Jordan, unto the fords: and as ſoon as they which purſued after them were gone out, they ſhut the gate.

8 ¶ And before they were laid down, ſhe came up unto them upon the roof;

9 And ſhe ſaid unto the men, I know that the LORD hath given you the land, and that your terror is fallen upon us, and that all the inhabitants of the land faint becauſe of you.

10 For we have heard how the LORD dried up the water of the Red-ſea for you, when ye came out of Egypt; and what ye did unto the two kings of the Amorites that were on the other ſide Jordan, Sihon and Og, whom ye utterly deſtroyed.

11 And as ſoon as we had heard theſe things our hearts did melt, neither did there remain any more courage in any man, becauſe of you: for the LORD your God, he is God in heaven above, and in earth beneath.

12 Now therefore, I pray you, ſwear unto me by the LORD, ſince I have ſhewed you kindneſs, that ye will alſo ſhew kindneſs unto my father's houſe; and give me a true token:

13 And that ye will ſave alive my father, and my mother, and my brethren, and my ſiſters, and all that they have, and deliver our lives from death.

14 And the men anſwered her, Our life for your's, if ye utter not this our buſineſs. And it ſhall be when the LORD hath given us the land, that we will deal kindly and truly with thee.

15 Then ſhe let them down by a cord through the window: for her houſe was upon the town-wall, and ſhe dwelt upon the wall.

16 And ſhe ſaid unto them, Get ye to the mountain, leſt the purſuers meet you; and hide your ſelves there three days, until the purſuers be returned: and afterward may ye go your way.

17 And the men ſaid unto her, We will be blameleſs of this thine oath which thou haſt made us ſwear.

18 Behold, when we come into the land, thou ſhalt bind this line of ſcarlet thread in the window which thou didſt let us down by: and thou ſhalt bring thy father, and thy mother, and thy brethren, and all thy father's houſhold home unto thee.

19 And it ſhall be that whoſoever ſhall go out of the doors of thy houſe into the ſtreet, his blood ſhall be upon his head, and we will be guiltleſs: and whoſoever ſhall be with thee in the houſe, his blood ſhall be on our head, if any hand be upon him.

20 And if thou utter this our buſineſs, then we will be quit of thine oath which thou haſt made us to ſwear.

21 And ſhe ſaid, According unto your words, ſo be it. And ſhe ſent them away, and they departed. And ſhe bound the ſcarlet line in the window.

22 And they went, and came unto the mountain, and abode there three days, until the purſuers were returned. And the purſuers ſought them throughout all the way, but found them not.

23 ¶ So the two men returned, and deſcended from the mountain, and paſſed over, and came to Joſhua the ſon of Nun, and told him all things that befell them.

24 And they ſaid unto Joſhua, Truly the LORD hath delivered into our hands all the land: for even all the inhabitants of the country do faint becauſe of us.

CHAP. III.

1 Joſhua cometh to Jordan. 7 The Lord encourageth Joſhua. 9 Joſhua encourageth the people. 14 The waters divided.

8 She came up unto them upon the roof.] It was the cuſtom among the inhabitants of theſe countries to make the roofs of their houſes flat, having battlements round them; and here the inhabitants uſed to walk, and lay up ſome ſorts of goods.

15 She let them down by a cord through the window.] Rahab's houſe was fortunately ſituated on the town-wall, from whence, as ſoon as it was dark, ſhe let them down by a ſcarlet cord from one of her windows which faced the country: for the gates of Jericho had been ſhut by the king's orders.

18 This line of ſcarlet thread.] It was called a cord before, ver. 15, and probably conſiſted of ſo many threads twiſted together, as would make a line ſtrong enough to bear the weight of a man.

24 Truly the Lord hath delivered into our hands, &c.] They found the people of the land under ſuch a general conſternation, that they were fully perſuaded God would deliver them into their hands, and crown the armies of Iſrael with ſucceſs.

Notes

AND Joſhua roſe early in the morning; and they removed from Shittim, and came to Jordan, he and all the children of Iſrael, and lodged there before they paſſed over.

2 And it came to paſs after three days that the officers went through the hoſt;

3 And they commanded the people, ſaying, When ye ſee the ark of the covenant of the LORD your God, and the prieſts the Levites bearing it, then ye ſhall remove from your place, and go after it.

4 Yet there ſhall be a ſpace between you and it, about two thouſand cubits by meaſure; come not near unto it, that ye may know the way by which ye muſt go: for ye have not paſſed this way heretofore.

5 And Joſhua ſaid unto the people, Sanctify your ſelves: for to-morrow the LORD will do wonders among you.

6 And Joſhua ſpake unto the prieſts, ſaying, Take up the ark of the covenant, and paſs over before the people. And they took up the ark of the covenant, and went before the people.

7 ¶ And the LORD ſaid unto Joſhua, This day will I begin to magnify thee in the ſight of all Iſrael, that they may know that as I was with Moſes, ſo I will be with thee.

8 And thou ſhalt command the prieſts that bear the ark of the covenant, ſaying, When ye are come to the brink of the water of Jordan, ye ſhall ſtand ſtill in Jordan.

9 ¶ And Joſhua ſaid unto the children of Iſrael, Come hither, and hear the words of the LORD your God.

10 And Joſhua ſaid, Hereby ye ſhall know that the living God is among you, and that he will without fail drive out from before you the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and the Hivites, and the Perizzites, and the Girgaſhites, and the Amorites, and the Jebuſites.

11 Behold, the ark of the covenant of the LORD of all the earth paſſeth over before you into Jordan.

12 Now therefore take ye twelve men out of the tribes of Iſrael, out of every tribe a man.

13 And it ſhall come to paſs, as ſoon as the ſoles of the feet of the prieſts that bear the ark of the LORD, the Lord of all the earth, ſhall reſt in the waters of Jordan, that the waters of Jordan ſhall be cut off from the waters that come down from above; and they ſhall ſtand upon an heap.

14 ¶ And it came to paſs when the people removed from their tents to paſs over Jordan, and the prieſts bearing the ark of the covenant before the people;

15 And as they that bear the ark were come unto Jordan, and the feet of the prieſts that bear the ark were dipped in the brim of the water, (for Jordan overfloweth all his banks all the time of harveſt,)

16 That the waters which came down from above ſtood and roſe up upon an heap very far from the city Adam, that is beſide Zaretan; and thoſe that came down toward the ſea of the plain, even the ſalt-ſea, failed, and were cut off: and the people paſſed over right againſt Jericho.

17 And the prieſts that bare the ark of the covenant of the LORD ſtood firm on dry ground in the midſt of Jordan; and all the Iſraelites paſſed over on dry ground, until all the people were paſſed clean over Jordan.

Notes on the Third Chapter.

Ver. 1 Joſhua roſe early in the morning, &c.] Pleaſed with the report given by the ſpies, Joſhua gave orders for the Iſraelites to decamp, and march in regular order to the banks of Jordan.

6 Joſhua ſpake unto the prieſts, ſaying, Take up the ark of the covenant, &c.] As the paſſage of Jordan was to be miraculous, the prieſts were ordered to take up the ark, that the preſent generation of the Iſraelites might be convinced that the waters of Jordan were ſubject to the Almighty Power, as their fathers had ſeen the waters of the Red-ſea divided, and a paſſage made for the whole army to paſs over.

15 Jordan overfloweth all his banks all the time of harveſt.] The time of harveſt in thoſe hot countries happens early in the ſpring, when, by reaſon of haſty rains, and the melting of the ſnow upon mount Lebanon, and other neighbouring mountains, the river of Jordan is always full of water, and generally overflows all its banks. Stackhouſe.

16 The city of Adam.] Adam or Adom was ſituated on the banks of the river Jordan, ſouth of the ſea of Galilee.

The people paſſed over right againſt Jericho.] No ſooner did the ſoles of the feet of the prieſts who bare the ark of the living God, touch the waters of Jordan, but they divided, and the rapid ſtream ſtopped its courſe, and roſe up in heaps like a mountain; ſo that a paſſage of above ſixteen miles broad was opened for the Iſraelites; nor could the waters reſume their uſual courſe, till the prieſts were come up out of Jordan.

CHAP. IV.

1 Twelve ſtones taken for a memorial out of Jordan. 9 Twelve other ſtones are ſet up in the midſt thereof. 10, 19 The people paſs over. 14 God magnifieth Joſhua.

AND it came to paſs when all the people were clean paſſed over Jordan, and the LORD ſpake unto Joſhua, ſaying,

2 Take ye twelve men out of the people, out of every tribe a man;

3 And command ye them, ſaying, Take ye hence out of the midſt of Jordan, out of the place where the prieſts feet ſtood firm, twelve ſtones, and ye ſhall carry them over with you, and leave them in the lodging-place, where ye ſhall lodge this night.

4 Then Joſhua called the twelve men, whom he had prepared of the children of Iſrael, out of every tribe a man:

5 And Joſhua ſaid unto them, Paſs over before the ark of the LORD your God into the midſt of Jordan, and take ye up every man of you a ſtone upon his ſhoulder, according unto the number of the tribes of the children of Iſrael:

6 That this may be a ſign among you, that when your children ask their fathers in time to come, ſaying, What mean ye by theſe ſtones?

7 Then ye ſhall anſwer them, That the waters of Jordan were cut off before the ark of the covenant of the LORD; when it paſſed over Jordan, the waters of Jordan were cut off: and theſe ſtones ſhall be for a memorial unto the children of Iſrael for ever.

8 And the children of Iſrael did ſo as Joſhua commanded, and took up twelve ſtones out of the midſt of Jordan, as the LORD ſpake unto Joſhua, according to the number of the tribes of the children of Iſrael, and carried them over with them unto the place where they lodged, and laid them down there.

9 ¶ And Joſhua ſet up twelve ſtones in the midſt of Jordan, in the place where the feet of the prieſts which bare the ark of the covenant ſtood: and they are there unto this day.

10 ¶ For the prieſts which bare the ark ſtood in the midſt of Jordan, until every thing was finiſhed that the LORD commanded Joſhua to ſpeak unto the people, according to all that Moſes commanded Joſhua: and the people haſted and paſſed over.

11 And it came to paſs when all the people were clean paſſed over, that the ark of the LORD paſſed over, and the prieſts in the preſence of the people.

12 And the children of Reuben and the children of Gad and half the tribe of Manaſſeth paſſed over armed before the children of Iſrael, as Moſes ſpake unto them;

13 About forty thouſand prepared for war paſſed over before the LORD unto battle, to the plains of Jericho.

14 ¶ On that day the LORD magnified Joſhua in the ſight of all Iſrael; and they feared him, as they feared Moſes, all the days of his life.

15 And the LORD ſpake unto Joſhua, ſaying,

16 Command the prieſts that bear the ark of the teſtimony, that they come up out of Jordan.

17 Joſhua therefore commanded the prieſts, ſaying, Come ye up out of Jordan.

18 And it came to paſs when the prieſts that bear the ark of the covenant of the LORD were come up out of the midſt of Jordan, and the ſoles of the prieſts feet were lifted up unto the dry land, that the waters of Jordan returned unto their place, and flowed over all his banks, as they did before.

19 ¶ And the people came up out of Jordan on the tenth day of the firſt month, and encamped in Gilgal, in the eaſt-border of Jericho.

Notes on the Fourth Chapter.

Ver. 3 Take you hence out of the midſt of Jordan---twelve ſtones, &c.] The river continued dry for ſome time after they were all gone over, i. e. till the prieſts removed from thence. It has been a cuſtom, among all nations, to erect monuments of ſtone, to preſerve the memory of covenants, victories, and other great tranſactions; and though there was no inſcription on theſe ſtones, yet their number, and the ſpot on which they were erected, was ſufficient to ſignify ſome memorable thing, which poſterity would not fail to hand down from one generation to another.

9 They are there unto this day.] That is, till the time when the book of Joſhua was written.

19 On the tenth day of the firſt month.] They came out of Egypt on the 15th day of the firſt month; ſo that there wanted juſt five days of forty years, ſince their coming from thence.

In Gilgal.] This place had its name from the rite of circumciſion, which was there renewed. It lay about two miles eaſtward 20 ¶ And thoſe twelve ſtones which they took out of Jordan did Joſhua pitch in Gilgal.

21 And he ſpake unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, When your children ſhall ask their fathers in time to come, ſaying, What mean theſe ſtones?

22 Then ye ſhall let your children know, ſaying, Iſrael came over this Jordan on dry land.

23 For the LORD your God dried up the waters of Jordan from before you, until ye were paſſed over, as the LORD your God did to the Red-ſea, which he dried up from before us, until we were gone over:

24 That all the people of the earth might know the hand of the LORD, that it is mighty: that ye might fear the LORD your God for ever.

CHAP. V.

1 The Canaanites are afraid. 2 Circumciſion renewed. 10 The paſs-over is kept at Gilgal. 13 An Angel appeareth to Joſhua.

AND it came to paſs when all the kings of the Amorites, which were on the ſide of Jordan weſt-ward, and all the kings of the Canaanites, which were by the ſea, heard that the LORD had dried up the waters of Jordan from before the children of Iſrael until we were paſſed over, that their heart melted: neither was there ſpirit in them any more, becauſe of the children of Iſrael.

2 ¶ At that time the LORD ſaid unto Joſhua, Make thee ſharp knives, and circumciſe again the children of Iſrael the ſecond time.

3 And Joſhua made him ſharp knives, and circumciſed the children of Iſrael at the hill of the fore-ſkins.

4 And this is the cauſe why Joſhua did circumciſe: all the people that came out of Egypt, that were males, even all the men of war died in the wilderneſs by the way, after they came out of Egypt.

5 Now all the people that came out were circumciſed; but all the people that were born in the wilderneſs by the way, as they came forth out of Egypt, them they had not circumciſed.

6 For the children of Iſrael walked forty years in the wilderneſs, till all the people that were men of war, which came out of Egypt were conſumed, becauſe they obeyed not the voice of the LORD: unto whom the LORD ſware, that he would not ſhew them the land which the LORD ſware unto their fathers, that he would give us, a land that floweth with milk and honey.

7 And their children whom he raiſed up in their ſtead, them Joſhua circumciſed: for they were uncircumciſed, becauſe they had not circumciſed them by the way.

8 And it came to paſs when they had done circumciſing all the people, that they abode in their places in the camp till they were whole.

9 And the LORD ſaid unto Joſhua, This day have I rolled away the reproach of Egypt from off you. Wherefore the name of the place is called Gilgal unto this day.

10 ¶ And the children of Iſrael encamped in Gilgal, and kept the paſſover on the fourteenth day of the month at even, in the plains of Jericho.

ward of Jericho; St. Jerom tells us, that it was, in his time, held in great veneration by the inhabitants of the country. Here the ſtones, taken out of Jordan, were pitched; and the people commanded to inform their children of the reaſon for their being placed there, that they might not be ignorant of the amazing miracle that God was pleaſed to work there for his people.

Notes on the Fifth Chapter.

Ver. 1 It came to paſs, when all the kings of the Amorites, &c.] The kings in the neighbourhood ſeem to have been under no manner of apprehenſion from an invaſion from the other ſide of Jordan. The depth of the river, eſpecially at the time of its overflowing, was, they thought, a ſufficient barrier, againſt all their enemies. They were therefore ſtruck with terror and aſtoniſhment at hearing that the Iſraelites had paſſed the river; eſpecially when they underſtood that this paſſage was performed in a miraculous manner: for if the very waters of Jordan fled from the face of Jehovah, much more might they expect, that all human oppoſition would be vain.

2 Make thee ſharp knives, and circumciſe again the children of Iſrael.] Theſe knives were knives of flints, as the marginal notes call them. While the Iſraelites ſojourned in the wilderneſs, there are ſeveral reaſons that might oblige them to omit circumciſion, until they arrived in the Promiſed Land, when they came to renew the ordinance of the paſſover, and, previous to that were all to be circumciſed. Patrick.

9 This day have I rolled away the reproach of Egypt from off you.] By the reproach of Egypt, is meant uncircumciſion, with which the Iſraelites were wont to upbraid other people, and particularly the Egyptians.

And seven Priests shall bear before the Ark seven Trumpets of Rams-horns: and the seventh day ye shall compass the City seven times, and the Priests shall blow with the Trumpets. — Joshua Chap. VI. Ve. 4.

11 And they did eat of the old corn of the land on the morrow after the paſſover, unleavened cakes, and parched corn in the ſelf-ſame day.

12 And the manna ceaſed on the morrow after they had eaten of the old corn of the land; neither had the children of Iſrael manna any more, but they did eat of the fruit of the land of Canaan that year.

13 ¶ And it came to paſs when Joſhua was by Jericho, that he lift up his eyes and looked, and behold, there ſtood a man over againſt him with his ſword drawn in his hand: and Joſhua went unto him, and ſaid unto him, Art thou for us, or for our adverſaries?

14 And he ſaid, Nay; but as captain of the hoſt of the LORD am I now come. And Joſhua fell on his face to the earth, and did worſhip, and ſaid unto him, What ſaith my Lord unto his ſervant?

15 And the captain of the LORD's hoſt ſaid unto Joſhua, Looſe thy ſhoe from off thy foot: for the place whereon thou ſtandeſt is holy. And Joſhua did ſo.

CHAP. VI.

1 Jericho is ſhut up. 20 The walls fall down. 22 Rahab is ſaved. 26 The builder of Jericho is curſed.

NOW Jericho was ſtraitly ſhut up, becauſe of the children of Iſrael: none went out, and none came in.

2 And the LORD ſaid unto Joſhua, See, I have given into thine hand Jericho, and the king thereof, and the mighty men of valour.

3 And ye ſhall compaſs the city, all ye men of war, and go round about the city once. Thus ſhalt thou do ſix days.

4 And ſeven prieſts ſhall bear before the ark ſeven trumpets of rams horns: and the ſeventh day ye ſhall compaſs the city ſeven times, and the prieſts ſhall blow with the trumpets.

5 And it ſhall come to paſs that when they make a long blaſt with the ram's horn, and when ye hear the ſound of the trumpet, all the people ſhall ſhout with a great ſhout: and the wall of the city ſhall fall down flat, and the people ſhall aſcend up every man ſtraight before him.

6 And Joſhua the ſon of Nun called the prieſts, and ſaid unto them, Take up the ark of the covenant, and let ſeven prieſts bear ſeven trumpets of rams horns before the ark of the LORD.

7 And he ſaid unto the people, Paſs on, and compaſs the city, and let him that is armed paſs on before the ark of the LORD.

8 And it came to paſs when Joſhua had ſpoken unto the people, that the ſeven prieſts bearing the ſeven trumpets of rams horns paſſed on before the LORD, and blew with the trumpets: and the ark of the covenant of the LORD followed them.

9 And the armed men went before the prieſts that blew with the trumpets, and the rere-ward came after the ark, the prieſts going on, and blowing with the trumpets.

10 And Joſhua had commanded the people,

11 They did eat of the old corn of the land.] Which the people of the country had left in their barns, when they fled into Jericho, and other ſtrong holds.

13 There ſtood a man over againſt him, with his ſword drawn in his hand.] Who this perſon was that appeared to Joſhua is not agreed among commentators: though there are ſeveral reaſons to think he was a divine, and not a created being. For, firſt, he calls himſelf the captain of the Lord's hoſt, an appellation by which God himſelf is frequently called in ſcripture. Secondly, Joſhua's calling him Jehovah or Lord, a name which neither Joſhua ſhould have given, nor he accepted, had he been only an angel. Thirdly, his falling down and worſhipping him, which he durſt not have done, ſince God alone is to be adored, nor would the other have permitted, but rather reproved him, as we find the angel did St. John, Rev. xxii. 9. Theſe reaſons ſeem to evidence the divinity of his perſon: for, inſtead of reproving him for doing him too much honour, we find him commanding him to looſe his ſhoes from his feet, inſiſting on the high acknowledgment of a Divine Preſence, then in uſe among the nations of the Eaſt. Hence the Rabbins acknowledge, that this was no other than that Being whom all the angels of heaven worſhip. Joh. à Coch. vol. III. diſſert. 2.

Notes on the Sixth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Now Jericho was ſtraitly ſhut up, becauſe of the children of Iſrael.] God, intending to ſhew the Iſraelites that the conqueſt of Canaan was to be aſcribed to him, and not to human power, ordered Joſhua not to attack the city, but compaſs it about ſeven days, when the walls ſhould fall down flat, and open a paſſage for the Iſraelites to enter the city.

4 Trumpets of rams horns.] Trumpets of Jobel, i. e. ſuch as they uſed to blow withal in the year of jubilee. By the miraculous fall of the walls of Jericho on the ſeventh day, God taught the Iſraelites, whoſe manna had failed but a few days before, what regard they ought to pay to the ſabbath, now that they were come into a land, where they could be ſupported every day of the week, without any miraculous aſſiſtance from heaven. Wotton's Miſc. Diſt.

17 The

saying, Ye shall not shout, nor make any noise with your voice, neither shall any word proceed out of your mouth, until the day I bid you shout; then shall ye shout.

11 So the ark of the LORD compassed the city, going about it once: and they came into the camp, and lodged in the camp.

12 And Joshua rose early in the morning, and the priests took up the ark of the LORD.

13 And seven priests bearing seven trumpets of rams horns before the ark of the LORD went on continually, and blew with the trumpets: and the armed men went before them; but the rere-ward came after the ark of the LORD, the priests going on, and blowing with the trumpets.

14 And the second day they compassed the city once, and returned into the camp. So they did six days.

15 And it came to pass on the seventh day, that they rose early about the dawning of the day, and compassed the city after the same manner seven times: only on that day they compassed the city seven times.

16 And it came to pass at the seventh time, when the priests blew with the trumpets, Joshua said unto the people, Shout; for the LORD hath given you the city.

17 And the city shall be accursed, even it and all that are therein, to the LORD: only Rahab the harlot shall live, she and all that are with her in the house, because she hid the messengers that we sent.

18 And ye in any wise keep your selves from the accursed thing, lest ye make your selves accursed when ye take of the accursed thing, and make the camp of Israel a curse, and trouble it.

19 But all the silver and gold and vessels of brass and iron are consecrated unto the LORD: they shall come into the treasury of the LORD.

20 ¶ So the people shouted when the priests blew with the trumpets. And it came to pass when the people heard the sound of the trumpet, and the people shouted with a great shout, that the wall fell down flat, so that the people went up into the city, every man straight before him, and they took the city.

21 And they utterly destroyed all that was in the city, both man and woman, young and old, and ox, and sheep, and ass, with the edge of the sword.

22 ¶ But Joshua had said unto the two men that had spied out the country, Go into the harlot's house, and bring out thence the woman, and all that she hath, as ye sware unto her.

23 And the young men that were spies went in, and brought out Rahab, and her father, and her mother, and her brethren, and all that she had: and they brought out all her kindred, and left them without the camp of Israel.

24 And they burned the city with fire, and all that was therein: only the silver and the gold, and the vessels of brass and of iron they put into the treasury of the house of the Lord.

25 And Joshua saved Rahab the harlot alive, and her father's household, and all that she had; and she dwelleth in Israel, even unto this day: because she hid the messengers which Joshua sent to spy out Jericho.

26 ¶ And Joshua abjured them at that time, saying, Cursed be the man before the LORD that riseth up and buildeth this city Jericho: he shall lay the foundation thereof in his first-born, and in his youngest son shall he set up the gates of it.

27 So the LORD was with Joshua; and his fame was noised throughout all the country.

CHAP. VII.

1 The Israelites smitten at Ai. 6 Joshua's complaint. 10 God instructeth him what to do.

17 The city shall be accursed.] The margin and Septuagint have it, The city shall be devoted, &c.---And so ver. 18. Sept.---Keep yourselves from what is devoted, lest you being greedy to take of the devoted thing, do make the camp of Israel a curse, and undo yourselves.

26 Cursed be the man before the Lord, &c.] Notwithstanding this anathema, Hiel, in the reign of Ahab, on account of the beauty of its situation, rebuilt Jericho, 1 Kings, xvi. 34. and afterwards no scruple was made of inhabiting it; for it afterwards became famous upon many accounts. Here the prophet Elisha sweetened the waters of the spring that supplied it and the neighbouring country: here Herod built a sumptuous palace; and here the Great Redeemer of mankind wrought several mirales. Universal History.

He shall lay the foundation in his first-born, &c.] When he lays the foundation he shall lose his first-born, and his youngest son when he sets up the gates of it, 1 Kings, xvi. 34.

Notes

16 Achan is taken by lot. 19 His confeſſion. 22 He and all he hath are deſtroyed in the valley of Achor.

BUT the children of Iſrael committed a treſpaſs in the accurſed thing. For Achan the ſon of Carmi, the ſon of Zabdi, the ſon of Zerah, of the tribe of Judah, took of the accurſed thing: and the anger of the LORD was kindled againſt the children of Iſrael.

2 And Joſhua ſent men from Jericho to Ai, which is beſide Beth-aven, on the eaſt ſide of Bethel, and ſpake unto them, ſaying, Go up and view the country. And the men went up and viewed Ai.

3 And they returned to Joſhua, and ſaid unto him, Let not all the people go up; but let about two or three thouſand men go up and ſmite Ai, and make not all the people to labour thither; for they are but few.

4 So there went up thither of the people about three thouſand men: and they fled before the men of Ai.

5 And the men of Ai ſmote of them about thirty and ſix men: for they chaſed them from before the gate even unto Shebarim, and ſmote them in the going down. Wherefore the hearts of the people melted and became as water.

6 ¶ And Joſhua rent his clothes, and fell to the earth upon his face before the ark of the LORD until the even-tide, he and the elders of Iſrael, and put duſt upon their heads.

7 And Joſhua ſaid, Alas, O LORD God, wherefore haſt thou at all brought this people over Jordan to deliver us into the hand of the Amorites, to deſtroy us? would to God we had been content, and dwelt on the other ſide Jordan.

8 O Lord, what ſhall I ſay, when Iſrael turneth their backs before their enemies!

9 For the Canaanites and all the inhabitants of the land ſhall hear of it, and ſhall environ us round, and cut off our name from the earth: and what wilt thou do unto thy great name?

10 ¶ And the LORD ſaid unto Joſhua, Get thee up; wherefore lieſt thou thus upon thy face?

11 Iſrael hath ſinned, and they have alſo tranſgreſſed my covenant which I commanded them: for they have even taken of the accurſed thing, and have alſo ſtolen, and diſſembled alſo, and they have put it even amongſt their own ſtuff.

12 Therefore the children of Iſrael could not ſtand before their enemies, but turned their backs before their enemies, becauſe they were accurſed: neither will I be with you any more, except ye deſtroy the accurſed from amongſt you.

13 Up, ſanctify the people, and ſay, Sanctify your ſelves againſt to-morrow: for thus ſaith the LORD God of Iſrael, There is an accurſed thing in the midſt of thee, O Iſrael: thou canſt not ſtand before thine enemies, until ye take away the acurſed thing from among you.

14 In the morning therefore ye ſhall be brought according to your tribes: and it ſhall be that the tribe which the LORD taketh ſhall come according to the families thereof; and the family which the LORD ſhall take, ſhall come by houſholds; and the houſhold which the LORD ſhall take ſhall come man by man:

15 And it ſhall be, that he that is taken with the accurſed thing ſhall be burnt with fire, he and all that he hath; becauſe he hath tranſgreſſed the covenant of the LORD, and becauſe he hath wrought folly in Iſrael.

16 ¶ So Joſhua roſe up early in the morning, and brought Iſrael by their tribes; and the tribe of Judah was taken:

Notes on the Seventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 The children of Iſrael committed a treſpaſs in the accurſed thing, &c.] Before the taking of Jericho, Joſhua had cautioned the people not to ſpare any thing that was in it; but notwithſtanding this ſtrict charge againſt reſerving whatſoever was either devoted to general deſtruction, or conſecrated to the Lord, Achan took ſome of the rich plunder, and hid it in his tent. Stackhouſe.

5 The men of Ai ſmote of them about thirty and ſix men.] Ai was a ſmall city about twelve miles diſtant from Jericho, neither populous nor well defended, and therefore a ſmall detachment was thought ſufficient to reduce it; but, contrary to their expectation, the inhabitants of the place ſallied out upon them, and having ſlain ſome few, put the reſt to flight, and purſued them as far as their own camp. This defeat, how ſmall ſoever, ſtruck ſuch a damp on the ſpirits of the people, that they almoſt abandoned themſelves to deſpair. Stackhouſe.

16 Joſhua roſe up early in the morning, and brought Iſrael by their tribes, &c.] Commentators are not agreed with regard to the 17 And he brought the family of Judah; and he took the family of the Zarhites: and he brought the family of the Zarhites man by man; and Zabdi was taken:

18 And he brought his houſhold man by man; and Achan the ſon of Carmi, the ſon of Zabdi, the ſon of Zerah, of the tribe of Judah, was taken.

19 ¶ And Joſhua ſaid unto Achan, My ſon, give, I pray thee, glory to the LORD God of Iſrael, and make confeſſion to him; and tell me now what thou haſt done; hide it not from me.

20 And Achan anſwered Joſhua, and ſaid, Indeed I have ſinned againſt the LORD God of Iſrael, and thus and thus I have done.

21 When I ſaw among the ſpoils a goodly Babyloniſh garment, and two hundred ſhekels of ſilver, and a wedge of gold of fifty ſhekels weight, then I coveted them, and took them; and behold, they are hid in the earth in the midſt of my tent, and the ſilver under it.

22 ¶ So Joſhua ſent meſſengers, and they ran unto the tent; and behold, it was hid in his tent, and the ſilver under it.

23 And they took them out of the midſt of the tent, and brought them unto Joſhua, and unto all the children of Iſrael, and laid them out before the LORD.

24 And Joſhua and all Iſrael with him took Achan the ſon of Zerah, and the ſilver, and the garment, and the wedge of gold, and his ſons, and his daughters, and his oxen, and his aſſes, and his ſheep, and his tent, and all that he had: and they brought them unto the valley of Achor.

25 And Joſhua ſaid, Why haſt thou troubled us? the LORD ſhall trouble thee this day. And all Iſrael ſtoned them with ſtones, and burned them with fire, after they had ſtoned them with ſtones.

26 And they raiſed over him a great heap of ſtones unto this day. So the LORD turned from the fierceneſs of his anger. Wherefore the name of that place was called, The valley of Achor, unto this day.

CHAP. VIII.

1 God encourageth Joſhua. 3 The ſtratagem whereby Ai was taken. 30 Joſhua buildeth an altar, 32 writeth the law on ſtones, 33 propoundeth bleſſings and curſings.

AND the LORD ſaid unto Joſhua, Fear not, neither be thou diſmayed: take all the people of war with thee, and ariſe, go up to Ai: ſee, I have given into thy hand the king of Ai, and his people, and his city, and his land.

2 And thou ſhalt do to Ai and her king, as thou didſt unto Jericho and her king: only the ſpoil thereof and the cattle thereof ſhall ye take for a prey unto your ſelves. Lay thee an ambuſh for the city behind it.

3 ¶ So Joſhua aroſe and all the people of war, to go up againſt Ai: and Joſhua choſe out thirty thouſand mighty men of valour, and ſent them away by night.

4 And he commanded them ſaying, Behold, ye ſhall lie in wait againſt the city, even behind the city: go not very far from the city, but be ye all ready.

5 And I, and all the people that are with me, will approach into the city: and it ſhall come to paſs when they come out againſt us, as at the firſt, that we will flee before them,

6 (For they will come out after us) till we have drawn them from the city: for they will ſay, They flee before us, as at the firſt: therefore we will flee before them.

the manner taken by Joſhua for diſcovering the guilty perſon: the Jews tell us, that in the caſe of Achan, the people of every tribe were made to paſs before the ark, and that the high-prieſt was directed by the Urim to pitch upon the right tribe, family, &c. Univerſal Hiſt.

21 A goodly Babyloniſh garment.] In the original, this robe is called a garment of Shinar, i. e. of Babylon. The richneſs and beauty of it is thought to have conſiſted more in the colour than in the ſtuff; and is ſuppoſed to have been of ſcarlet, a colour highly eſteemed among the ancients. Stackhouſe.

24 The valley of Achor.] That is, the valley of trouble.

25 And all Iſrael ſtoned him with ſtones, &c.] The puniſhment appointed for thoſe who were guilty of ſacrilege, was to be burnt with fire; but as the text ſays, they were previouſly ſtoned.

26 They raiſed over him a great heap of ſtones.] Dr. Shaw ſays, that it is cuſtomary, at this day, for the Arabs to throw ſtones over thoſe that are murdered, whenever they paſs by them.

Notes on the Eighth Chapter.

Ver. 1 The Lord ſaid unto Joſhua, Fear not, &c.] God would not deſtroy Ai by a miracle, as he had done Jericho, becauſe the people were now to appear formidable to other nations, both on account of their courage and policy.

17 There

7 Then ye ſhall raiſe up from the ambuſh, and ſeize upon the city: for the LORD your God will deliver it into your hand.

8 And it ſhall be when ye have taken the city, that ye ſhall ſet the city on fire: according to the commandment of the LORD ſhall ye do. See, I have commanded you.

9 Joſhua therefore ſent them forth: and they were to lie in ambuſh, and abode between Beth-el and Ai, on the weſt-ſide of Ai: but Joſhua lodged that night among the people.

10 And Joſhua roſe up early in the morning, and numbered the people, and went up, he and the elders of Iſrael, before the people to Ai.

11 And all the people, even the people of war that were with him, went up, and drew nigh, and came before the city, and pitched on the north-ſide of Ai: now there was a valley between them and Ai.

12 And he took about five thouſand men, and ſet them to lie in ambuſh between Beth-el and Ai, on the weſt-ſide of the city.

13 And when they had ſet the people, even all the hoſt that was on the north of the city, and their liers in wait on the weſt of the city, Joſhua went that night into the midſt of the valley.

14 And it came to paſs when the king of Ai ſaw it, that they haſted and roſe up early, and the men of the city went out againſt Iſrael to battle, he and all his people, at a time appointed, before the plain: but he wiſt not that there were liers in ambuſh againſt him behind the city.

15 And Joſhua and all Iſrael made as if they were beaten before them, and fled by the way of the wilderneſs.

16 And all the people that were in Ai were called together to purſue after them: and they purſued after Joſhua, and were drawn away from the city.

17 And there was not a man left in Ai, or Beth-el, that went not out after Iſrael: and they left the city open, and purſued after Iſrael.

18 And the LORD ſaid unto Joſhua, Stretch out the ſpear that is in thy hand towards Ai, for I will give it into thine hand. And Joſhua ſtretched out the ſpear that he had in his hand toward the city.

19 And the ambuſh aroſe quickly out of their place, and they ran as ſoon as he had ſtretched out his hand: and they entered into the city, and took it, and haſted, and ſet the city on fire.

20 And when the men of Ai looked behind them, they ſaw, and behold, the ſmoke of the city aſcended up to heaven, and they had no power to flee this way or that way: and the people that fled to the wilderneſs turned back upon the purſuers.

21 And when Joſhua and all Iſrael ſaw that the ambuſh had taken the city, and that the ſmoke of the city aſcended, then they turned again, and ſlew the men of Ai.

22 And the other iſſued out of the city againſt them: ſo they were in the midſt of Iſrael, ſome on this ſide, and ſome on that ſide: and they ſmote them, ſo that they let none of them remain or eſcape.

23 And the king of Ai they took alive, and brought him to Joſhua.

24 And it came to paſs, when Iſrael had made an end of ſlaying all the inhabitants of Ai, in the field, in the wilderneſs wherein they chaſed them, and when they were all fallen on the edge of the ſword, until they were conſumed, that all the Iſraelites returned unto Ai, and ſmote it with the edge of the ſword.

25 And ſo it was, that all that fell that day, both of men and women, were twelve thouſand, even all the men of Ai.

26 For Joſhua drew not his hand back wherewith he ſtretched out the ſpear, until he had utterly deſtroyed all the inhabitants of Ai.

27 Only the cattle and the ſpoil of that city Iſrael took for a prey unto themſelves, according unto the word of the LORD which he commanded Joſhua.

17 There was not a man left in Beth-el.] Beth-el is not mentioned in the Greek verſion, nor can we reaſonably think it was in the original Hebrew: for had the men of Beth-el purſued, as well as the men of Ai, it would have been ſaid, that they left the cities, and not the city, open. Pilkington's Remarks.

28 And Joſhua burnt Ai, and made it an heap for ever, even a deſolation unto this day.

29 And the king of Ai he hanged on a tree until even-tide. And as ſoon as the ſun was down, Joſhua commanded that they ſhould take his carcaſe down from the tree, and caſt it at the entring of the gate of the city, and raiſe thereon a great heap of ſtones, that remaineth unto this day.

30 ¶ Then Joſhua built an altar unto the LORD God of Iſrael in mount Ebal, 31 As Moſes the ſervant of the LORD commanded the children of Iſrael, as it is written in the book of the law of Moſes, an altar of whole ſtones, over which no man had lift up any iron: and they offered thereon burnt-offerings unto the LORD, and ſacrificed peace-offerings.

32 ¶ And he wrote there upon the ſtones a copy of the law of Moſes, which he wrote in the preſence of the children of Iſrael.

33 ¶ And all Iſrael, and their elders, and officers, and their judges, ſtood on this ſide the ark and on that ſide, before the prieſts the Levites, which bare the ark of the covenant of the LORD, as well the ſtranger as he that was born among them; half of them over againſt mount Gerizim, and half of them over againſt mount Ebal; as Moſes the ſervant of the LORD had commanded before, that they ſhould bleſs the people of Iſrael.

34 And afterward he read all the words of the law, the bleſſings and curſings, according to all that is written in the book of the law.

35 There was not a word of all that Moſes commanded which Joſhua read not before all the congregation of Iſrael, with the women, and the little ones, and the ſtrangers that were converſant among them.

CHAP. IX.

1 The kings combine againſt Iſrael. 3 The Gibeonites obtaining a league by craft, 16 are condemned to perpetual bondage.

AND it came to paſs, when all the kings which were on this ſide Jordan, in the hills, and in the valleys, and in all the coaſts of the great ſea over againſt Lebanon, the Hittite, and the Amorite, the Canaanite, the Perizzite, the Hivite, and the Jebuſite, heard thereof;

2 That they gathered themſelves together to fight with Joſhua and with Iſrael, with one accord.

3 ¶ And when the inhabitants of Gibeon heard what Joſhua had done unto Jericho and to Ai,

4 They did work wilily, and went and made as if they had been ambaſſadors, and took old ſacks upon their aſſes, and wine-bottles, old, and rent, and bound up,

5 And old ſhoes and clouted upon their feet, and old garments upon them; and all the bread of their proviſion was dry and mouldy.

Notes on the Ninth Chapter.

Ver. 1 It came to paſs, when all the kings, &c.] The great ſucceſs of Joſhua againſt the two towns of Jericho and Ai, and the terrible ſlaughter he had made among their inhabitants, had ſo alarmed the kings on that ſide Jordan, that they entered into a league for their mutual defence, and determined to fight the Iſraelites with their united forces. But the Gibeonites foreſeeing the impending deſtruction, had recourſe to a ſtratagem to make peace with Iſrael; whereby they ſaved their lives, and delivered their country from the miſeries of war. Stackhouſe.

Over againſt Lebanon.] Dr. Wall obſerves, that there are at leaſt an hundred texts where the adverb which is tranſlated in the Bible over againſt, ſhould be rendered, nigh to.

3, &c. And when the inhabitants of Gibeon heard, &c.] It is a queſtion among caſuiſts, whether the Gibeonites could, with a good conſcience, pretend that they were foreigners, and tell a lie to ſave their lives? Puffendorff thinks them not blameable; but his opinion ſeems erroneous. Had the Iſraelites indeed been only a company of banditti, who were carying blood and deſolation into countries where they had no right; or had the Gibeonites been ignorant, that a miraculous Providence conducted thoſe conquerors; the fraud, which they here practiſed, might have been deemed innocent: for there is no law that obliges us, under the pretence of ſincerity, to ſubmit to ſuch incendiaries, as are for ſetting fire to our cities, and putting us and our families to the ſword. But the caſe of the Gibeonites was particular: the idea which they had conceived of the God of Iſrael, ſhould have put them upon ſome other expedient, than that of lying and deceit. They ſhould have enquired (as far as the obſcure circumſtances they were under would permit them) into the cauſe of God's ſeverity againſt them: they ſhould have acknowledged that it was their grievous ſins, which drew down his heavy judgments upon their nation; and after they had repented thereof, they ſhould have left the reſt to Providence, not doubting but that he, who had changed the very courſe of nature to puniſh the guilty, would alſo find out ſome means to ſave the penitent. Saurin's Diſſert.

13 Theſe

6 And they went to Joſhua unto the camp at Gilgal, and ſaid unto him, and to the men of Iſrael, We be come from a far country: now therefore make ye a league with us.

7 And the men of Iſrael ſaid unto the Hivites, Peradventure ye dwell among us; and how ſhall we make a league with you?

8 And they ſaid unto Joſhua, We are thy ſervants. And Joſhua ſaid unto them, Who are ye? and from whence come ye?

9 And they ſaid unto him, From a very far country thy ſervants are come, becauſe of the name of the LORD thy God: for we have heard the fame of him, and all that he did in Egypt.

10 And all that he did to the two kings of the Amorites that were beyond Jordan, to Sihon king of Heſhbon, and to Og king of Baſhan, which dwelt at Aſhtaroth.

11 Wherefore our elders and all the inhabitants of our country ſpake to us, ſaying, Take victuals with you for the journey, and go to meet them, and ſay unto them, We are your ſervants: therefore now make ye a league with us.

12 This our bread we took hot for our proviſion out of our houſes on the day we came forth to go unto you; but now behold, it is dry, and it is mouldy:

13 And theſe bottles of wine which we filled were new; and behold they be rent: and theſe our garments and our ſhoes are become old by reaſon of the very long journey.

14 And the men took of their victuals, and aſked not counſel at the mouth of the LORD.

15 And Joſhua made peace with them, and made a league with them, to let them live: and the princes of the congregation ſware unto them.

16 ¶ And it came to paſs at the end of three days after they had made a league with them, that they heard that they were their neighbours, and that they dwelt among them.

17 And the children of Iſrael journeyed, and came unto their cities on the third day. Now their cities were Gibeon, and Chephirah, and Beeroth, and Kirjath-jearim.

18 And the children of Iſrael ſmote them not, becauſe the princes of the congregation had ſworn unto them by the LORD God of Iſrael. And all the congregation murmured againſt the princes.

19 But all the princes ſaid unto all the congregation, We have ſworn unto them by the LORD God of Iſrael: now therefore we may not touch them.

20 This we will do to them; we will even let them live, leſt wrath be upon us, becauſe of the oath which we ſware unto them.

21 And the princes ſaid unto them, Let them live; but let them be hewers of wood and drawers of water unto all the congregation: as the princes had promiſed them.

22 And Joſhua called for them, and he ſpake unto them, ſaying, Wherefore have ye beguiled us, ſaying, We are very far from you; when ye dwell among us?

23 Now therefore ye are curſed, and there ſhall none of you be freed from being bondmen, and hewers of wood, and drawers of water for the houſe of my God.

24 And they anſwered Joſhua, and ſaid, Becauſe it was certainly told thy ſervants, how that the LORD thy God commanded his ſervant Moſes to give you all the land, and to deſtroy all the inhabitants of the land from before you, therefore we were ſore afraid of our lives becauſe of you, and have done this thing.

25 And now behold, we are in thine hand: as it ſeemeth good and right unto thee to do unto us, do.

26 And ſo did he unto them, and delivered them out of the hand of the children of Iſrael, that they ſlew them not.

27 And Joſhua made them that day hewers of wood and drawers of water for the congre-

13 Theſe bottles of wine,---behold, they be rent.] Theſe bottles were made of leather, in which they then kept their wine: leather bottles, or ſkins, are ſtill uſed in many countries.

15 Joſhua made peace with them, and made a league with them, to let them live.] Is has been debated whether this league was lawful and obligatory, becauſe it was contrary to a poſitive law of God, by which the Iſraelites were enjoined to make no peace with the inhabitants of Canaan. But this law ſeems to admit of ſome exception, the true intention of it being to preſerve the children of Iſrael from being tainted with idolatry, and other abominations, by cohabiting with them; therefore, when that objection was removed, if they were willing to relinquiſh their idolatry, and other crimes, and embrace the true religion, they might be ſpared.

CHAP. X.

1 Five kings war againſt Gibeon. 6 Joſhua reſcueth it. 12 The ſun and moon ſtand ſtill at the word of Joſhua.

NOW it came to paſs, when Adoni-zedeck king of Jeruſalem had heard how Joſhua had taken Ai, and had utterly deſtroyed it: as he had done to Jericho and her king, ſo he had done to Ai and her king; and how the inhabitants of Gibeon had made peace with Iſrael, and were among them;

2 That they feared greatly, becauſe Gibeon was a great city, as one of the royal cities, and becauſe it was greater than Ai, and all the men thereof were mighty.

3 Wherefore Adoni-zedeck king of Jeruſalem ſent unto Hoham king of Hebron, and unto Piram king of Jarmuth, and unto Japhia king of Lachiſh, and unto Debir king of Eglon, ſaying,

4 Come up unto me, and help me, that we may ſmite Gibeon: for it hath made peace with Joſhua and with the children of Iſrael.

5 Therefore the five kings of the Amorites, the king of Jeruſalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Jarmuth, the king of Lachiſh, the king of Eglon, gathered themſelves together, and went up, they and all their hoſts, and encamped before Gibeon, and made war againſt it.

6 ¶ And the men of Gibeon ſent unto Joſhua to the camp of Gilgal, ſaying, Slack not thy hand from thy ſervants; come up to us quickly, and ſave us, and help us: for all the kings of the Amorites that dwell in the mountains are gathered together againſt us.

7 So Joſhua aſcended from Gilgal, he and all the people of war with him, and all the mighty men of valour.

8 And the LORD ſaid unto Joſhua, Fear them not; for I have delivered them into thine hands; there ſhall not a man of them ſtand before thee.

9 Joſhua therefore came unto them ſuddenly, and went up from Gilgal all night.

10 And the LORD diſcomfited them before Iſrael, and ſlew them with a great ſlaughter at Gibeon, and chaſed them along the way that goeth up to Beth-horon, and ſmote them to Azekah, and unto Makkedah.

11 And it came to paſs as they fled from before Iſrael, and were in the going down to Beth-horon, that the LORD caſt down great ſtones from heaven upon them unto Azekah, and they died: they were more which died with hailſtones than they whom the children of Iſrael ſlew with the ſword.

12 ¶ Then ſpake Joſhua to the LORD in the day when the LORD delivered up the Amorites before the children of Iſrael, and he ſaid in the ſight of Iſrael, Sun, ſtand thou ſtill upon Gibeon, and thou moon in the valley of Ajalon.

13 And the ſun ſtood ſtill, and the moon ſtayed, until the people had avenged themſelves upon their enemies. Is not this written in the book of Jaſher? ſo the ſun ſtood ſtill in the Notes on the Tenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 When Adoni-zedek king of Jeruſalem heard how Joſhua had taken Ai, &c.] This king ſeems to have been the moſt potent prince in Canaan, and, if we were to judge from his name, famous for juſtice and virtue, Adoni-zedek literally ſignifying prince of righteouſneſs. This city, in the time of Abraham, was called Salem, and ſeems to have held the ſame name till the Iſraelites came into the land of Canaan, when they called it Jeruſalem. Patrick.

2 Gibeon was a great city, as one of the royal cities.] Gibeon had ſeveral cities depending on it, as the royal cities had; but was governed by elders. therefore not a royal city. Patrick.

All the men thereof were mighty.] Were eſteemed for their valour.

10 The Lord diſcomfited them.] The ſuddenneſs of the attack doubtleſs put them into great confuſion: beſides, God ſtruck them with ſuch terror, that made them ſeek ſafety by flight. Patrick.

Beth-horon.] This city was not in being when the event happened; but was built a little before this book was written. It ſeems to have taken it name from the miraculous ſtorm mentioned ver. 11. the word ſignifying the houſe or place of fury. Patrick.

Azekah, and Makkedah.] Afterwards two cities in the tribe of Judah, ſouth of Gibeon, whereas Beth-horon lay to the north of it, xv. 35, 41. Patrick.

11 The Lord caſt down great ſtones from heaven upon them.] i. e. A ſhower of hail, the ſtones of which were of an enormous ſize; as is plain from what follows, They were more which died with hail-ſtones, than they whom the children of Iſrael ſlew with the ſword.

12 Sun, ſtand thou ſtill upon Gibeon.] That the Almighty ſhould ſtop the courſe of nature, and ſuſpend the revolution of the earth about its axis in order to give the people an opportunity of obtaining a complete victory over their enemies, is very amazing. But it ſhould be remembered, that it was the work of that Omnipotent Being who firſt created the beautiful ſyſtem of the univerſe, and that all nature is under his immediate direction.

midſt of heaven, and haſted not to go down about a whole day.

14 And there was no day like that, before it, or after it, that the LORD hearkened unto the voice of a man: for the LORD fought for Iſrael.

15 And Joſhua returned, and all Iſrael with him, unto the camp to Gilgal.

16 But theſe five kings fled, and hid themſelves in a cave at Makkedah.

17 And it was told Joſhua, ſaying, The five kings are found hid in a cave at Makkedah.

18 And Joſhua ſaid, Roll great ſtones upon the mouth of the cave, and ſet men by it for to keep them:

19 And ſtay ye not, but purſue after your enemies, and ſmite the hindmoſt of them; ſuffer them not to enter into their cities: for the LORD your God hath delivered them into your hand.

20 And it came to paſs when Joſhua and the children of Iſrael had made an end of ſlaying them with a very great ſlaughter till they were conſumed, that the reſt which remained of them entered into fenced cities.

21 And all the people returned to the camp to Joſhua at Makkedah in peace: none moved his tongue againſt any of the children of Iſrael.

22 Then ſaid Joſhua, Open the mouth of the cave, and bring out thoſe five kings unto me out of the cave.

23 And they did ſo, and brought forth thoſe five kings unto him out of the cave, the king of Jeruſalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Jarmuth, the king of Lachiſh, and the king of Eglon.

24 And it came to paſs when they had brought out thoſe five kings unto Joſhua, that Joſhua called for all the men of Iſrael, and ſaid unto the captains of the men of war, which went with him, Come near, put your feet upon the necks of theſe kings. And they came near, and put their feet upon the necks of them.

25 And Joſhua ſaid unto them, Fear not nor be diſmayed, be ſtrong and of good courage: for thus ſhall the LORD do to all your enemies againſt whom ye fight.

26 And afterward Joſhua ſmote them, and ſlew them, and hanged them on five trees; and they were hanging upon the trees until the evening.

27 And it came to paſs at the time of the going down of the ſun, that Joſhua commanded, and they took them down off the trees, and caſt them into the cave wherein they had been hid, and laid great ſtones in the cave's mouth, which remain until this very day.

28 And that day Joſhua took Makkedah, and ſmote it with the edge of the ſword, and the king thereof he utterly deſtroyed, them, and all the ſouls that were therein; he let none remain: and he did to the king of Makkedah as he did unto the king of Jericho.

29 Then Joſhua paſſed from Makkedah, and all Iſrael with him, unto Libnah; and fought againſt Libnah.

30 And the LORD delivered it alſo, and the king thereof, into the hand of Iſrael; and he ſmote it with the edge of the ſword, and all the ſouls that were therein; he let none remain in it: but did unto the king thereof as he did unto the king of Jericho.

31 And Joſhua paſſed from Libnah, and all Iſrael with him, unto Lachiſh; and encamped againſt it, and fought againſt it.

32 And the LORD delivered Lachiſh into the hand of Iſrael, which took it on the ſecond day, and ſmote it with the edge of the ſword, and all the ſouls that were therein, according to all that he had done to Libnah.

33 Then Horam king of Gezer came up to 14 For the Lord fought for Iſrael.] He attacked them with the artillery of heaven, ſtopped the ſun's courſe that the Iſraelites might have light ſufficient to finiſh the conqueſt, and defend them from the ſtorm which fell upon their enemies.

help Lachiſh; and Joſhua ſmote him and his people, until he had left him none remaining.

34 And from Lachiſh Joſhua paſſed unto Eglon, and all Iſrael with him; and they encamped againſt it, and fought againſt it.

35 And they took it on that day, and ſmote it with the edge of the ſword, and all the ſouls that were therein he utterly deſtroyed that day, according to all that he had done to Lachiſh.

36 And Joſhua went up from Eglon, and all Iſrael with him, unto Hebron; and they fought againſt it.

37 And they took it, and ſmote it with the edge of the ſword, and the king thereof, and all the cities thereof, and all the ſouls that were therein; he left none remaining, according to all that he had done to Eglon: but deſtroyed it utterly, and all the ſouls that were therein.

38 And Joſhua returned, and all Iſrael with him, to Debir; and fought againſt it.

39 And he took it, and the king thereof, and all the cities thereof; and they ſmote them with the edge of the ſword, and utterly deſtroyed all the ſouls that were therein; he left none remaining as he had done to Hebron, ſo he did to Debir, and to the king thereof; as he had done alſo to Libnah, and her king.

40 So Joſhua ſmote all the country of the hills, and of the ſouth, and of the vale, and of the ſprings, and all their kings: he left none remaining, but utterly deſtroyed all that breathed, as the LORD God of Iſrael commanded.

41 And Joſhua ſmote them from Kadeſh-barnea even unto Gaza, and all the country of Goſhen, even unto Gibeon.

42 And all theſe kings and their land did Joſhua take at one time; becauſe the LORD God of Iſrael fought for Iſrael.

43 And Joſhua returned, and all Iſrael with him, unto the camp to Gilgal.

The country of Goſhen.] Was ſituated on the ſouth of Canaan, and called Goſhen from its excellent paſtures. See note on Gen. xlvi. 34.

Notes on the Eleventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 It came to paſs when Jabin king of Hazor—] Hazor was the metropolis of the northern parts of Canaan, it fell to the ſhare of the tribe of Naphtali. Jabin was the name of the king of the Canaanites in that part of the country in latter times, and reigned in this very city, Judg. iv. 2.

King of Madon.] This place is mentioned no where elſe in ſcripture, but doubtleſs was ſubject to Hazor.

Shimron.] A place afterwards in the tribe of Zebulun.

Achſhaph.] A place of the tribe of Aſher.

2 The kings that were on the north of the mountain.] Who dwelt in the mountainous country near Lebanon.

The plains ſouth of Cinneroth.] In the flat country, which lay ſouth of the lake, afterwards called Geneſareth.

In the valley.] The pleaſant country betweeen mount Hermon and Gilboa, called the valley of Jezreel.

3 Amorite, Hittite, Perizzite.] There were other Amorites ſcattered up and down the country, beſides thoſe above-mentioned, who were now aſſembled together by Jabin, in order to compoſe a very powerful army.

The Jebuſite in the mountains.] About Jeruſalem, where they kept a ſtrong hold till the days of David.

Hermon.] A famous mountain in the north-eaſt part of Canaan.

Mizpeh.] There were ſeveral cities of this name; but that in or near the tribe of Manaſſeh ſeems to be here intended.

4 They and all their hoſts, &c.] Their whole army, according to Joſephus, amounted to near three hundred thouſand foot, ten thouſand horſe, and two thouſand chariots; and to oppoſe theſe, the Iſraelites had only foot, God having forbid the uſes of horſes, leſt a traffick into Egypt for them ſhould prove a ſnare to them in idolatry. Stackhouſe.

With chariots very many.] Theſe chariots made a terrible ſlaughter

5 And when all these kings were met together, they came and pitched together at the waters of Merom to fight against Israel.

6 And the LORD said unto Joshua, Be not afraid because of them; for to-morrow about this time will I deliver them up all slain before Israel: thou shalt hough their horses, and burn their chariots with fire.

7 So Joshua came, and all the people of war with him, against them by the waters of Merom suddenly, and they fell upon them.

8 And the LORD delivered them into the hand of Israel, who smote them, and chased them unto great Zidon, and unto Misrephothmaim, and unto the valley of Mizpeh eastward; and they smote them until they left them none remaining.

9 And Joshua did unto them as the LORD bade him: he houghed their horses, and burned their chariots with fire.

10 ¶ And Joshua at that time turned back, and took Hazor, and smote the king thereof with the sword: for Hazor before-time was the head of all those kingdoms.

11 And they smote all the souls that were therein with the edge of the sword, utterly destroying them: there was not any left to breathe: and he burned Hazor with fire.

12 And all the cities of those kings and all the kings of them did Joshua take, and smote them with the edge of the sword, and he utterly destroyed them, as Moses the servant of the LORD commanded.

13 But as for the cities that stood still in their strength, Israel burned none of them, save Hazor, only; that did Joshua burn.

14 And all the spoil of these cities and the cattle the children of Israel took for a prey unto themselves: but every man they smote with the edge of the sword, until they had destroyed them, neither left they any to breathe.

15 As the LORD commanded Moses his servant, so did Moses command Joshua, and so did Joshua: he left nothing undone of all that the LORD commanded Moses.

16 So Joshua took all that land, the hills, and all the south-country, and all the land of Goshen, and the valley, and the plain, and the mountain of Israel, and the valley of the same;

17 Even from the mount Halak, that goeth up to Seir, even unto Baal-gad, in the valley of Lebanon, under mount Hermon: and all their kings he took, and smote them and slew them.

18 Joshua made war a long time with all those kings.

19 There was not a city that made peace with the children of Israel, save the Hivites the inhabitants of Gibeon: all other they took in battle.

20 For it was of the LORD to harden their hearts, that they should come against Israel in battle, that he might destroy them utterly, and that they might have no favour, but that he might destroy them, as the LORD commanded Moses.

21 ¶ And at that time came Joshua, and cut off the Anakims from the mountains, from Hebron, from Debir, from Anab, and from all the mountains of Judah, and from all the slaughter among an army of foot: this was the form of them. "The beam to which the horses were fastened was armed with iron points, which projected forwards: the yokes of the horses had two sharp falchions of three cubits in length. The axle-trees had fixed to them two iron spits, with scythes at their extremities; the spokes of the wheels were armed with javelins, and the very fellows with scythes, which tore every thing they met with to pieces. The axle-tree was of a greater length, and the wheels stronger than ordinary, that they might be the more able to resist a shock, and the chariot less liable to be overturned." The charioteer, who was wholly covered with armour, sat in a kind of tower made of very solid wood, about breast high; and sometimes men well armed were put into the chariot, and fought from thence with darts and arrows. So that these machines must have made a dreadful slaughter among the enemies troops. See note in Stackhouse.

5 The waters of Merom.] These waters are supposed to be the lake of Semechon, which lies between the head of the river Jordan, and the lake Genesareth; for it is agreed on all hands, that Hazor, where Jabin reigned, was situated on that lake.

6 Hough their horses.] Cut their hamstrings, and render them useless.

8 Unto great Zidon.] A large and famous city in those days, built by the eldest son of Canaan, from whom it had its name. It lay on the sea-coast in the north-west part of Canaan. Pat.

16 The mountain of Israel.] Most probably was Beth-el, where God appeared to Jacob when he went to Padan-aram, and promised to give him this land, Gen. xxviii. 12, 13. Here he dwelt by God's direction, after he returned from serving Laban; and God again appeared to him there, renewed his promise, and changed his name from Jacob to Israel, Gen. xxxv.

21 Cut off the Anakims from the mountains.] The Anakims were mountains of Iſrael: Joſhua deſtroyed them utterly with their cities.

22 There was none of the Anakims left in the land of the children of Iſrael: only in Gaza, in Gath, and in Aſhdod there remained.

23 So Joſhua took the whole land, according to all that the LORD ſaid unto Moſes; and Joſhua gave it for an inheritance unto Iſrael, according to their diviſions by their tribes. And the land reſted from war.

CHAP. XII.

1 The two kings whoſe countries Moſes took and diſpoſed of. 7 The one and thirty kings on the other ſide Jordan which Joſhua ſmote.

NOW theſe are the kings of the land which the children of Iſrael ſmote, and poſſeſſed their land on the other ſide Jordan toward the riſing of the ſun; from the river Arnon unto mount Hermon, and all the plain on the eaſt.

2 Sihon king of the Amorites, who dwelt in Heſhbon, and ruled from Aroer, which is upon the bank of the river Arnon, and from the middle of the river, and from half Gilead even unto the river Jabbok, which is the border of the children of Ammon;

3 And from the plain to the ſea of Cinneroth on the eaſt, and unto the ſea of the plain, even the ſalt-ſea on the eaſt, the way to Beth-jeſhimoth; and from the ſouth, under Aſhdoth-piſgah:

4 And on the coaſt of Og king of Baſhan, which was of the remnant of the giants, that dwelt at Aſhtaroth and at Edrei,

5 And reigned in mount Hermon, and in Salcah, and in all Baſhan, unto the border of the Geſhurites, and the Maachathites, and half Gilead, the border of Sihon king of Heſhbon.

6 Them did Moſes the ſervant of the LORD and the children of Iſrael ſmite: and Moſes the ſervant of the LORD gave it for a poſſeſſion unto the Reubenites, and the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manaſſeh.

7 ¶ And theſe are the kings of the country which Joſhua and the children of Iſrael ſmote on this ſide Jordan on the weſt, from Baal-gad in the valley of Lebanon, even unto the mount Halak, that goeth up to Seir: which Joſhua gave unto the tribes of Iſrael for a poſſeſſion according to their diviſions;

8 In the mountains, and in the valleys, and in the plains, and in the ſprings, and in the wilderneſs, and in the ſouth-country; the Hittites, the Amorites, and the Canaanites, the Perizzites, the Hivites, and the Jebuſites:

9 The king of Jericho, one; the king of Ai, which is beſide Beth-el, one;

10 The king of Jeruſalem, one; the king of Hebron, one;

11 The king of Jarmuth, one; the king of Lachiſh, one;

12 The king of Eglon, one; the king of Gezer, one;

13 The king of Debir, one; the king of Geder, one;

14 The king of Hormah, one; the king of Arad, one;

15 The king of Libnah, one; the king of Adullam, one;

16 The king of Makkedah, one; the king of Beth-el, one;

17 The king of Tappuah, one; the king of Hepher, one;

18 The king of Aphek, one; the king of Laſharon, one; were a gigantic people, fierce, cruel, and tyrannical. They had fixed their habitations in the mountains, and fortified themſelves there, which probably was the reaſon why Joſhua did not attack them before he had finiſhed his other conqueſts. Patrick.

The mountanis of Judah.] The mountainous country, which fell to the tribe of Judah, together with the three laſt-mentioned cities.

The mountains of Iſrael.] The mountainous country in the reſt of the tribes of Iſrael, whither theſe people fled for ſhelter.

22 Gaza, Gath, and Aſhdod.] Belonged to the Philiſtines.

Notes on the Twelfth Chapter.

Ver. 12, 14 The king of Gezer—Hormah---Arad.] We find no mention made of theſe kings before; theſe cities lay in the tribe of Judah.

16 Beth-el.] A town depending upon Ai, viii. 17.

17 Tappuah.] A city in the tribe of Ephraim..

Hepher.] Hepher was in the tribe of Zebulun: the land of Hepher is mentioned, 1 Kings, iv. 10.

18 Aphek.] There were two cities of this name, one in the tribe of Judah, the other in the tribe of Aſher; but which of them is here intended, is not determined.

Laſharon.]

19 The king of Madon, one; the king of Hazor, one;
20 The king of Shimron-meron, one; the king of Achshaph, one;
21 The king of Taanach, one; the king of Megiddo, one;
22 The king of Kedesh, one; the king of Jokneam of Carmel, one;
23 The king of Dor in the coast of Dor, one; the king of the nations of Gilgal, one;
24 The king of Tirzah, one: all the kings thirty and one.

CHAP. XIII.

The bounds of the land not yet conquered. 14, 33 The Lord's sacrifices are the Levites inheritance. 22 Balaam is slain.

NOW Joshua was old, and stricken in years; and the LORD said unto him, Thou art old and stricken in years, and there remaineth yet very much land to be possessed.

2 ¶ This is the land that yet remaineth: all the borders of the Philistines, and all Geshuri,
3 From Sihor, which is before Egypt, even unto the borders of Ekron north-ward, which is counted to the Canaanite: five lords of the Philistines; the Gazathites, and the Ashdothites, the Eshkalonites, the Gittites, and the Ekronites; also the Avites:
4 From the south, all the land of the Canaanites, and Mearah that is beside the Sidonians, unto Aphek, to the borders of the Amorites:
5 And the land of the Giblites, and all Lebanon toward the sun-rising, from Baal-gad under mount Hermon, unto the entring into Hamath.
6 All the inhabitants of the hill-country from Lebanon unto Misrephothmaim, and all the Sidonians, them will I drive out from before the children of Israel: only divide thou it by lot unto the Israelites for an inheritance, as I have commanded thee.

Lasharon.] This place seems to be the Sharon, so famous for its pleasant and fruitful country, Isaiah xxxiii. 9; xxxv. 2. It was situated near Lidda, Acts ix. 35.

21 Taanach.] This city stood in the tribe of Manasseh, on the borders of Zebulun. It belonged to the Levites; but the ancient inhabitants were not driven out of it, Judg. i. 27.

Megiddo.] This city also fell to the tribe of Manasseh, and was situated near the river Kishon; but the Canaanites were not expelled from it, Judg. i. 27.

22 Kedesh.] Was a city in the tribe of Naphtali.

Jokneam of Carmel.] Jokneam was situated in the tribe of Benjamin, at the foot of mount Carmel, near the river Belus, and was one of the Levitical cities. Patrick.

23 Dor, in the coast of Dor.] This city stood in the tribe of Manasseh, and had a large territory belonging to it, called by the same name. It was a royal city, one of the oldest in Phœnicia; and so strong, that the Israelites could not take it, or at least keep possession of it, when it fell to the portion of Manasseh. Patrick.

The king of the nations of Gilgal.] This is not that Gilgal where Joshua encamped when he came over Jordan, there being no city in that place, nor any king, except the king of Jericho: St. Jerom tells us, that in his time there was a place called Gilgal, about six miles from Antipatris, situated near the sea, and not far from Joppa. Hither, in all probability, the merchants resorted from several countries, and thence the ruler was called the king of the nations of Gilgal.

24 Tirzah.] This place seems to have been in the tribe of Ephraim, for Jeroboam, who was of that tribe, made it the royal seat, till the city of Samaria was built.

All the kings thirty and one.] It is surprizing that there should be so many kings in so small a country; but it should be remembered, that these kings were only petty princes, or lords of cities, having a few villages depending upon them, the inhabitants of which were, properly speaking, their tenants: for kingdoms were, in those early ages, very small: we find that when Cæsar invaded England, there were four kings in the county of Kent only. Patrick.

Notes on the Thirteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Joshua was old and stricken in years.] It is generally imagined he was near an hundred years old.

2 Geshuri.] A city and country in the north-east, not far from Hermon; it fell to the lot of the tribe of Manasseh.

3 Sihor, which is before Egypt.] Dr. Shaw says, Sihor is the same with the Nile, and may properly be said to be before Egypt, or before thou enterest into it.

Ekron north-ward.] Ekron was a famous city of the Philistines, where Beelzebub was worshipped.

The Avites.] These were a people mixed with the Philistines, being a remnant of the ancient inhabitants of this country. Some have confounded them with the Hivites; but their name is very different in the Hebrew. They also inhabited different parts of the country; for the Hivites dwelt in Hermon in the north, and the Avites in the west. Patrick.

4 Mearah.] Some translate it a cave, as the word signifies in the Hebrew, and do not understand it as the name of a country.

5 Giblites.] A people inhabiting a city called Gebal, and the country round it, which lay in the neighbourhood of Tyre and Sidon. They are mentioned as stone-cutters sent by Hiram king of Tyre to king Solomon, 1 Kings, v. 18. Patrick.

6 Then will I drive out from before the children of Israel.] This promise was conditional, and depended on the Israelites observing the laws given them by Moses; but as they did not persist in the true worship of God, great part of these places were never conquered. The Sidonians were never subdued by the Israelites; and the people of Lebanon were only tributaries in the days of David.

Divide thou it by lot unto the Israelites for an inheritance.] The inhabitants are not yet driven out; yet, since I have promised to expel them, assign all the forementioned countries to the children of Israel by lot, as the inheritance I have bestowed upon them. Patrick.

7 Now therefore divide this land for an inheritance unto the nine tribes and the half-tribe of Manaſſeh:

8 With whom the Reubenites and the Gadites have received their inheritance, which Moſes gave them, beyond Jordan eaſtward, even as Moſes the ſervant of the LORD gave them;

9 From Aroer, that is upon the bank of the river Arnon, and the city that is in the midſt of the river, and all the plain of Medeba unto Dibon;

10 And all the cities of Sihon king of the Amorites, which reigned in Heſhbon, unto the border of the children of Ammon;

11 And Gilead, and the border of the Geſhurites, and Maachathites, and all mount Hermon, and all Baſhan unto Salcah;

12 All the kingdom of Og in Baſhan, which reigned in Aſhtaroth and in Edrei, who remained of the remnant of the giants. For theſe did Moſes ſmite, and caſt them out.

13 Nevertheleſs, the children of Iſrael expelled not the Geſhurites, nor the Maachathites; but the Geſhurites and the Maachathites dwell among the Iſraelites until this day.

14 ¶ Only unto the tribe of Levi he gave none inheritance: the ſacrifices of the LORD God of Iſrael made by fire are their inheritance, as he ſaid unto them.

15 And Moſes gave unto the tribe of the children of Reuben inheritance according to their families.

16 And their coaſt was from Aroer that is on the bank of the river Arnon, and the city that is in the midſt of the river, and all the plain by Medeba;

17 Heſhbon and all her cities that are in the plain; Dibon, and Bamoth-baal, and Beth-baal-meon,

18 And Jahaza, and Kedemoth, and Mephaath,

19 And Kirjathaim, and Sibmah, and Zareth-ſhahar in the mount of the valley,

20 And Beth-peor, and Aſhdoth-piſgah, and Beth-jeſhimoth,

21 And all the cities of the plain, and all the kingdom of Sihon king of the Amorites, which reigned in Heſhbon, whom Moſes ſmote, with the princes of Midian, Evi, and Rekem, and Zur, and Hur, and Reba, which were dukes of Sihon, dwelling in the country.

22 ¶ Balaam alſo the ſon of Beor the ſoothſayer did the children of Iſrael ſlay with the ſword, among them that were ſlain by them.

23 And the border of the children of Reuben was Jordan and the border thereof. This was the inheritance of the children of Reuben after their families, the cities, and the villages thereof.

24 And Moſes gave inheritance unto the tribe of Gad, even unto the children of Gad according to their families:

25 And their coaſt was Jazer, and all the cities of Gilead, and half the land of the children of Ammon, unto Aroer that is before Rabbah;

26 And from Heſhbon unto Ramath-mizpeh, and Betonim; and from Mahanaim unto the border of Debir;

27 And in the valley, Beth-aram, and Beth-nimrah, and Succoth, and Zaphon, the reſt of the kingdom of Sihon king of Heſhbon, Jordan and his border, even unto the edge of the ſea of Cinnereth, on the other ſide Jordan, eaſt-ward.

28 This is the inheritance of the children of Gad after their families, the cities, and their villages.

29 And Moſes gave inheritance unto the half-tribe of Manaſſeh: and this was the poſſeſſion of the half-tribe of the children of Manaſſeh by their families:

30 And their coaſt was from Mahanaim, all Baſhan, all the kingdom of Og king of Baſhan, and all the towns of Jair, which are in Baſhan, threeſcore cities:

31 And half Gilead, and Aſhtaroth, and Edrei, cities of the kingdom of Og in Baſhan, were pertaining unto the children of Machir the ſon of Manaſſeh, even to the one half of the children of Machir by their families.

9 In the midſt of the river.] The Septuagint and Vulgate read, in the midſt of the valley; and ſo ver. 18.

19 In the mount of the valley.] The Vulgate reads, in the midſt of the valley.

Notes

32 These are the countries which Moſes did diſtribute for inheritance in the plains of Moab, on the other ſide Jordan by Jericho eaſt-ward.

33 ¶ But unto the tribe of Levi Moſes gave not any inheritance: the LORD God of Iſrael was their inheritance, as he ſaid unto them.

CHAP. XIV.

1 The nine tribes and an half are to have their inheritance by lot. 6 Caleb by privilege obtaineth Hebron.

AND theſe are the countries which the children of Iſrael inherited in the land of Canaan, which Eleazar the prieſt and Joſhua the ſon of Nun and the heads of the fathers of the tribes of the children of Iſrael diſtributed for inheritance unto them.

2 By lot was their inheritance, as the LORD commanded by the hand of Moſes, for the nine tribes and for the half-tribe.

3 For Moſes had given the inheritance of two tribes and an half-tribe on the other ſide Jordan: but unto the Levites he gave none inheritance among them.

4 For the children of Joſeph were two tribes, Manaſſeh, and Ephraim: therefore they gave no part unto the Levites in the land, ſave cities to dwell in, with their ſuburbs for their cattle and for their ſubſtance.

5 As the LORD commanded Moſes, ſo the children of Iſrael did, and they divided the land.

6 ¶ Then the children of Judah came unto Joſhua in Gilgal: and Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh the Kenezite ſaid unto him, Thou knoweſt the thing that the LORD ſaid unto Moſes the man of God concerning me and thee in Kadeſh-barnea.

7 Forty years old was I when Moſes the ſervant of the LORD ſent me from Kadeſh-barnea to eſpy out the land; and I brought him word again as it was in mine heart.

8 Nevertheleſs, my brethren that went up with me made the heart of the people melt: but I wholly followed the LORD my God.

9 And Moſes ſware on that day, ſaying, Surely the land whereon thy feet have troden ſhall be thine inheritance, and thy children's for ever; becauſe thou haſt wholly followed the LORD my God.

10 And now behold, the LORD hath kept me alive, as he ſaid, theſe forty and five years, even ſince the LORD ſpake this word unto Moſes, while the children of Iſrael wandered in the wilderneſs: and now lo, I am this day fourſcore and five years old.

11 As yet I am as ſtrong this day as I was in the day that Moſes ſent me: as my ſtrength was then, even ſo is my ſtrength now, for war, both to go out and to come in.

12 Now therefore give me this mountain, whereof the LORD ſpake in that day; for thou heardeſt in that day how the Anakims were there, and that the cities were great and fenced: if ſo be the LORD will be with me, then I ſhall be able to drive them out, as the LORD ſaid.

13 And Joſhua bleſſed him, and gave to Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh Hebron for an inheritance.

14 Hebron therefore became the inheritance of Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh the Kenezite unto this day: becauſe that he wholly followed the LORD God of Iſrael.

15 And the name of Hebron before was Kirjath-arba, which Arba was a great man among the Anakims. And the land had reſt from war.

Notes on the Fourteenth Chapter.

Ver. 6 Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh the Kenezite.] Why he is called the Kenezite is not eaſy to ſay: perhaps becauſe ſeveral of his anceſtors were called Kenez, chap. xv. 17; Judg. i. 13.

7 Forty years old was I when Moſes ſent me from Kadeſh-barnea, &c.] He mentions this partly to ſhew, that Moſes took care to ſend perſons of ſome experience, capable of making pertinent obſervations on the country; and at the ſame time in their full ſtrength of body, and able to encounter with the difficulties and hardſhips they were like to meet with in their journey. Patrick.

I brought him word again, as it was in mine heart.] I delivered my true opinion, without fear or flattery.

11 I am as ſtrong this day, as I was, &c.] An evident proof that God had preſerved him, as he promiſed.

12 Give me this mountain, whereof the Lord ſpake.] The mountainous country where Hebron lay; which was promiſed him when he returned from ſpying the land, Numb. xiv. 24.

13 Joſhua bleſſed him.] He beſeeched God to proſper him in his undertaking, and gave his conſent to his enjoying the country. Patrick.

14 Hebron became the inheritance of Caleb.] God rewarded his fidelity by this ſingular gift, which he beſtowed upon him before the land was divided by lot.

CHAP. XV.

1 The borders of the lot of Judah. 13 Caleb's portion and conquest. 16 Othniel's valour and reward. 21 The cities of Judah. 63 The Jebusites not conquered.

THIS then was the lot of the tribe of the children of Judah, by their families; even to the border of Edom, the wilderness of Zin south-ward was the uttermost part of the south-coast.

2 And their south-border was from the shore of the salt-sea, from the bay that looketh south-ward.

3 And it went out to the south-side to Maaleh-acrabbim, and passed along to Zin, and ascended up on the south-side unto Kadesh-barnea; and passed along to Hezron, and went up to Adar, and fetched a compass to Karkaa.

4 From thence it passed towards Azmon, and went out unto the river of Egypt; and the goings-out of that coast were at the sea. This shall be your south-coast.

5 And the east-border was the salt-sea, even unto the end of Jordan. And their border in the north-quarter was from the bay of the sea, at the uttermost part of Jordan.

6 And the border went up to Beth-hogla, and passed along by the north of Beth-arabah; and the border went up to the stone of Bohan the son of Reuben.

7 And the border went up toward Debir from the valley of Achor, and so north-ward looking toward Gilgal, that is before the going-up to Adummim, which is on the south-side of the river: and the border passed toward the waters of Enshemesh, and the goings-out thereof were at En-rogel.

8 And the border went up by the valley of the son of Hinnom unto the south-side of the Jebusite; the same is Jerusalem: and the border went up to the top of the mountain that lieth before the valley of Hinnom west-ward, which is at the end of the valley of the giants north-ward.

9 And the border was drawn from the top of the hill unto the fountain of the water of Nephtoah, and went out to the cities of mount Ephron: and the border was drawn to Baalah, which is Kirjath jearim.

10 And the border compassed from Baalah west-ward unto mount Seir, and passed along unto the side of mount Jearim which is Chesalon, on the north-side, and went down to Beth-shemesh, and passed on to Timnah.

11 And the border went out unto the side of Ekron north-ward: and the border was drawn to Shicron, and passed along to mount Baalah, and went out unto Jabneel; and the goings-out of the border were at the sea.

12 And the west border was to the great sea and the coast thereof. This is the coast of the children of Judah round about according to their families.

Notes on the Fifteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 This was the lot of the tribe of the children of Judah.] The first lot that came up was for the tribe of Judah, that the prophecy of Jacob, with regard to the pre-eminence of that tribe among his brethren, might be kept up. Patrick.

By their families.] The lot was only a quantity of land for the whole tribe; unto every family of which a portion was assigned by Joshua, and those who were appointed to see that none were neglected, and that they had every one a just proportion. Pat.

To the border of Edom, the wilderness of Zin southward.] Edom was situated in the wilderness of Zin, and the lot of Judah extended thither.

3 Hezron.] This city was situated between Kadesh-barnea and Adar.

Karkaa.] This place was situated beyond Adar.

6 Went up to the stone of Bohan the son of Reuben.] This stone is again mentioned chap. xviii. 17. in describing the bounds of the tribe of Benjamin. It was laid here since the Israelites came into this country; but by whom, or for what reason, is not known. Probably Bohan performed some famous exploit in this place, or was buried here, being one of those that came over Jordan to assist their brethren in the conquest of Canaan.

8 The valley of the son of Hinnom.] A valley on the east-side of Jerusalem, so delightfully shaded, that it invited them to perform their idolatrous worship there, for which it became infamous, 2 Kings, xxiii. 10; Jer. vii. 32. Hinnom, the owner of this valley, was, in all probability, some eminent person in ancient times; for it is sometimes called the valley of the children of Hinnom, and consequently was enjoyed by his posterity. Pat.

The south-side of the Jebusite.] i. e. the city of the Jebusite.

The same is Jerusalem.] This city is sometimes called Jebus, and sometimes Jebus; especially that part of it which was fortified by the Jebusites, and called mount Sion, lying on the south of Jerusalem. Patrick.

12 This is the coast of the children of Judah round about, according to their families.] i. e. Their lot was thus bounded on all sides, in the first draught of it; which being afterwards found too large, was contracted into a narrower compass, that more room might be made for the tribe of Simeon, who had part of this lot given them: some places were also taken out of it, and given to the tribes of Benjamin and Dan. Patrick.

13 ¶ And unto Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh, he gave a part among the children of Judah, according to the commandment of the LORD to Joſhua, even the city of Arba the father of Anak, which city is Hebron.

14 And Caleb drove thence the three ſons of Anak, Sheſhai, and Ahiman, and Talmai, the children of Anak.

15 And he went up thence to the inhabitants of Debir. And the name of Debir before was Kirjath-ſepher.

16 ¶ And Caleb ſaid, He that ſmiteth Kirjath-ſepher, and taketh it, to him will I give Achſah my daughter to wife.

17 And Othniel the ſon of Kenaz, the brother of Caleb, took it: and he gave him Achſah his daughter to wife.

18 And it came to paſs, as ſhe came unto him, that ſhe moved him to aſk of her father a field. And ſhe lighted off her aſs; and Caleb ſaid unto her, What wouldeſt thou?

19 Who anſwered, Give me a bleſſing: for thou haſt given me a ſouth-land; give me alſo ſprings of water. And he gave her the upper ſprings, and the nether ſprings.

20 This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Judah according to their families.

21 ¶ And the uttermoſt cities of the tribe of the children of Judah toward the coaſt of Edom ſouth-ward, were Kabzeel, and Eder, and Jagur, 22 And Kinah, and Dimonah, and Adadah.

23 And Kedeſh, and Hazor, and Ithnan,

24 Ziph, and Telem, and Bealoth,

25 And Hazor, Hadattah, and Kerioth, and Hezron, which is Hazor.

26 Aman, and Shema, and Moladah,

27 And Hazar-gaddah, and Heſhmon, and Beth-palet,

28 And Hazar-ſhual, and Beer-ſheba, and Bizjothjah,

29 Baalah, and Iim, and Azem,

30 And Eltolad, and Cheſil, and Hormah,

31 And Ziglag, and Madmannah, and Sanſannah,

32 And Lebaoth, and Shilhim, and Ain, and Rimmon: all the cities are twenty and nine with their villages.

33 And in the valley, Eſhtaol, and Zoreah, and Aſhnah,

34 And Zanoah, and En-gannim, Tappuah, and Enam,

35 Jarmuth, and Adullam, Socoh, and Azekah,

36 And Sharaim, and Adithaim, and Gederah, and Gederothaim; fourteen cities with their villages;

37 Zenan, and Hadaſhah, and Migdalgad,

38 And Dilean, and Mizpeh, and Joktheel,

39 Lachiſh, and Bozkath, and Eglon,

40 And Cabbon, and Lahmas, and Kithliſh,

41 And Gederoth, Beth-dagon, and Naamah, and Makkedah; ſixteen cities with their villages:

42 Libnah, and Ether, and Aſhan,

43 And Jiphtah, and Aſhnah, and Nezib,

44 And Keilah, and Achzib, and Mareſhah; nine cities with their villages:

45 Ekron with her towns and her villages:

46 From Ekron even unto the ſea, all that lay near Aſhdod, with their villages:

47 Aſhdod with her towns and her villages, Gaza with her towns and her villages, unto the river of Egypt, and the great ſea, and the border thereof:

48 And in the mountains, Shamir, and Jattir, and Socoh,

14 Caleb drove thence the three ſons of Anak.] He drove this gigantic race from Hebron, by the aſſiſtance of the armies of Judah and Simeon, in which probably he had a chief command. Patrick.

19 Thou haſt given me a ſouth land.] That is, a dry country lying in the ſouth, being mountainous, and expoſed to the ſcorching winds that blow from the deſerts of Arabia.

Give me alſo ſprings of water.] An adjacent field, wherein were ſprings of water.

The upper ſprings, and the nether ſprings.] He generouſly gave her both the ſprings in the mountain, and thoſe in the plain; ſo that neither the eminences nor valleys might want water.

32 All the cities are twenty and nine with their villages.] We were before told, that the cities which fell to the lot of Judah amounted to thirty-eight; but it muſt be remembered, that nine of theſe cities, namely, Beerſheba, Moladah, Hazar-ſhual, Balah, Azem, Hormah, Ziklag, Ain, and Rimmon, were taken from Judah, and given to the tribe of Simeon; ſee xix. which nine, with the twenty-nine mentioned in the preceding verſes, make the ſum of thirty-eight. Patrick.

36 Fourteen cities, &c.] There are fifteen in all; but the two laſt ſeem to be only two diviſions of the ſame city.

49 And Dannah, and Kirjath-ſannah, which is Debir,

50 And Anab, and Eſhtemoh, and Anim,

51 And Goſhen, and Holon, and Giloh; eleven cities with their villages:

52 Arab, and Dumah, and Eſhean,

53 And Janum, and Beth-tappuah, and Aphekah,

54 And Humtah, and Kirjath-arba, which is Hebron, and Zior; nine cities with their villages:

55 Maon, Carmel, and Ziph, and Juttah,

56 And Jezreel, and Jokdeam, and Zanoah,

57 Cain, Gibeah, and Timnah; ten cities with their villages:

58 Halhul, Beth-zur, and Gedor,

59 And Maarath, and Beth-anoth, and Eltekon; ſix cities with their villages:

60 Kirjath-baal, which is Kirjath-jearim, and Rabbah; two cities with their villages:

61 In the wilderneſs, Beth-arabah, Middin, and Secacah,

62 And Nibſhan, and the city of Salt, and En-gedi; ſix cities with their villages.

63 ¶ As for the Jebuſites the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, the children of Judah could not drive them out: but the Jebuſites dwell with the children of Judah at Jeruſalem unto this day,

CHAP. XVI.

1 The general borders of the ſons of Joſeph.
5 The border of the inheritance of Ephraim.
10 The Canaanites not conquered.

AND the lot of the children of Joſeph fell from Jordan by Jericho, unto the water of Jericho on the eaſt, to the wilderneſs that goeth up from Jericho throughout mount Beth-el,

2 And goeth out from Beth-el to Luz, and paſſeth along unto the borders of Archi to Ataroth,

3 And goeth down weſt-ward to the coaſt of Japhleti, unto the coaſt of Beth-horon the nether, and to Gezer: and the goings-out thereof are at the ſea.

4 So the children of Joſeph, Manaſſeh and Ephraim, took their inheritance.

5 ¶ And the border of the children of Ephraim according to their families was thus: even the border of their inheritance on the eaſt-ſide was Ataroth-addar, unto Beth-horon the upper.

6 And the border went out toward the ſea, to Michmethath on the north-ſide; and the border went about eaſtward unto Taanath-ſhiloh, and paſſed by it on the eaſt to Janohah:

7 And it went down from Janohah to Ataroth and to Naarath, and came to Jericho, and went out at Jordan.

8 The border went out from Tappuah weſtward unto the river Kanah: and the goings-out thereof were at the ſea. This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Ephraim by their families.

---

55 Maon, Carmel, &c.] Here we have an account of ten cities and their villages, two of which lay near together, namely, Maon and Carmel; for Nabal dwelt in the former, and had large poſſeſſions in the latter, 1 Sam. xxv. 2. There was another Maon in the deſerts of Jeſhimon, and another Carmel; for this is not the place where Elijah ſlew the prophets of Baal, 1 Kings, xviii.

60 Kirjath-baal, &c.] Here the Septuagint has eleven cities which are entirely omitted in the Hebrew, viz. Theco, and Ephrata (this is Bethlehem) and Phagor, and Etan, and Kulon, and Tatam, and Thobes, and Carem, and Galem, and Thetre, and Manocho: eleven cities with their villages: and Kirjath-baal, &c. Dr. Wall obſerves, theſe cities were doubtleſs in the Hebrew copy of the LXX. and St. Jerom thinks, they may have been omitted by the antient Jews, out of malice to Chriſtianity; becauſe Bethlehem-Ephratah (the place of Chriſt's nativity) is one of theſe cities. Kennicott.

62 The city of Salt.] Some take this to be Zoar, the little city into which Lot eſcaped, at the deſtruction of Sodom; called the city of Salt, either becauſe it ſtood near the Salt-ſea, or becauſe Lot's wife was, in its neighbourhood, turned into a pillar of ſalt. Patrick.

Notes on the Sixteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 The lot of the children of Joſeph.] That is, of the tribe of Ephraim, and that half of the tribe of Manaſſeh which had as yet received no inheritance. The Divine Providence is here very remarkable in ordering their lot to fall next to that of Judah; for as he had the prerogative of being made the chief of all Jacob's children, ſo his deſcendants are conſidered before any other tribe, Judah excepted, from whom the Great Meſſiah was to deſcend. Patrick.

2 From Beth-el to Luz.] Beth-el was the place where Jacob had the divine viſion, mentioned Gen. xxviii. It was ſo very near Luz, that afterwards they became one city. Patrick.

3 Japhleti.] This country lay near the Mediterranean-ſea, but the particular ſpot is unknown.

Gezer.] This was one of the Levitical cities in the tribe of Ephraim, and probably the ſame with that called by Joſephus Gazara.

Notes

9 And the ſeparate cities for the children of Ephraim were among the inheritance of the children of Manaſſeh, all the cities with their villages.

10 ¶ And they drave not out the Canaanites that dwelt in Gezer: but the Canaanites dwell among the Ephraimites unto this day, and ſerve under tribute.

CHAP. XVII.

1 The lot of Manaſſeh. 7 His coaſt. 12 The Canaanites not driven out. 14 The children of Joſeph obtain another lot.

THere was alſo a lot for the tribe of Manaſſeh; for he was the firſt-born of Joſeph; to wit, for Machir the firſt-born of Manaſſeh the father of Gilead. Becauſe he was a man of war, therefore he had Gilead and Baſhan.

2 There was alſo a lot for the reſt of the children of Manaſſeh by their families; for the children of Abiezer, and for the children of Helek, and for the children of Aſriel, and for the children of Shechem, and for the children of Hepher, and for the children of Shemida: theſe were the male-children of Manaſſeh the ſon of Joſeph by their families.

3 But Zelophehad the ſon of Hepher, the ſon of Gilead, the ſon of Machir, the ſon of Manaſſeh, had no ſons, but daughters: and theſe are the names of his daughters, Mahlah, and Noah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Tirzah.

4 And they came near before Eleazar the prieſt, and before Joſhua the ſon of Nun, and before the princes, ſaying, The LORD commanded Moſes to give us an inheritance among our brethren: therefore according to the commandment of the LORD he gave them an inheritance among the brethren of their father.

5 And there fell ten portions to Manaſſeh, beſide the land of Gilead and Baſhan, which were on the other ſide Jordan;

6 Becauſe the daughters of Manaſſeh had an inheritance among his ſons: and the reſt of Manaſſeh's ſons had the land of Gilead.

7 ¶ And the coaſt of Manaſſeh was from Aſher to Michmethath, that lieth before Shechem; and the border went along on the right hand unto the inhabitants of En-tappuah.

8 Now Manaſſeh had the land of Tappuah: but Tappuah on the border of Manaſſeh belonged to the children of Ephraim.

9 And the coaſt deſcended unto the river Kanah, ſouth-ward of the river. Theſe cities of Ephraim are among the cities of Manaſſeh: the coaſt of Manaſſeh alſo was on the north-ſide of the river, and the out-goings of it were at the ſea.

10 South-ward it was Ephraim's, and north-ward it was Manaſſeh's, and the ſea is his border: and they met together in Aſher on the north, and in Iſſachar on the eaſt.

11 And Manaſſeh had in Iſſachar and in Aſher Beth-ſhean and her towns, and Ibleam and her towns, and the inhabitants of Dor and her towns, and the inhabitants of En-dor and her towns, and the inhabitants of Taanach and her towns, and the inhabitants of Megiddo and her towns, even three countries.

12 ¶ Yet the children of Manaſſeh could not drive out the inhabitants of thoſe cities, but the Canaanites would dwell in that land.

13 Yet it came to paſs when the children of Iſrael were waxen ſtrong, that they put the Canaanites to tribute; but did not utterly drive them out.

14 ¶ And the children of Joſeph ſpake unto Joſhua, ſaying, Why haſt thou given me but one lot and one portion to inherit, ſeeing I am a great people, foraſmuch as the LORD hath bleſſed me hitherto?

15 And Joſhua anſwered them, If thou be a great people, then get thee up to the wood-country, and cut down for thy ſelf there in the Notes on the Seventeenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 There was alſo a lot for the tribe of Manaſſeh.] That is, for the half tribe of it, which had yet received no inheritance.

For he was the firſt-born of Joſeph.] The particle we here render for, ſhould have been tranſlated though, and then the ſenſe will be, that the lot of Manaſſeh did not come up till after that of Ephraim, though he was the firſt-born. Hence we ſee that the words of Jacob were literally fulfilled, that Ephraim ſhould be before Manaſſeh, Gen. xlviii. 19, 20. Patrick.

15 If mount Ephraim be too narrow for thee.] If that mount, which was given thee for thy poſſeſſion, be too narrow, enlarge thy borders by taking in thoſe wood-lands inhabited by the Jebuſites.

land of the Perizzites and of the giants, if mount Ephraim be too narrow for thee.

16 And the children of Joseph said, The hill is not enough for us: and all the Canaanites that dwell in the land of the valley have chariots of iron, both they who are of Bethshean and her towns, and they who are of the valley of Jezreel.

17 And Joshua spake unto the house of Joseph, even to Ephraim and to Manasseh, saying, Thou art a great people, and hast great power: thou shalt not have one lot only.

18 But the mountain shall be thine; for it is a wood, and thou shalt cut it down: and the out-goings of it shall be thine: for thou shalt drive out the Canaanites, though they have iron chariots, and though they be strong.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The tabernacle is set up at Shiloh. 2 The remainder of the land is described, 10 and divided by lots. 21 The cities of Benjamin.

AND the whole congregation of the children of Israel assembled together at Shiloh, and set up the tabernacle of the congregation there. And the land was subdued before them.

2 ¶ And there remained among the children of Israel seven tribes which had not yet received their inheritance.

3 And Joshua said unto the children of Israel, How long are ye slack to go to possess the land which the LORD God of your fathers hath given you?

4 Give out from among you three men for each tribe: and I will send them, and they shall rise, and go through the land, and describe it according to the inheritance of them; and they shall come again to me.

5 And they shall divide it into seven parts. Judah shall abide in their coast on the south, and the house of Joseph shall abide in their coasts on the north.

6 Ye shall therefore describe the land into seven parts, and bring the description hither to me, that I may cast lots for you here before the LORD our God.

7 But the Levites have no part among you: for the priesthood of the LORD is their inheritance. And Gad and Reuben and half the tribe of Manasseh have received their inheritance beyond Jordan on the east, which Moses the servant of the LORD gave them.

8 And the men arose, and went away: and Joshua charged them that went to describe the land, saying, Go, and walk through the land, and describe it, and come again to me, that I may here cast lots for you before the LORD in Shiloh.

9 And the men went and passed through the land, and described it by cities into seven parts in a book, and came again to Joshua to the host at Shiloh.

10 ¶ And Joshua cast lots for them in Shiloh before the LORD: and there Joshua divided the land unto the children of Israel according to their divisions.

11 And the lot of the tribe of the children

16 Chariots of iron.] That is, armed with scythes, and other cutting instruments of iron. See note on chap. xi. 4.

18 For it is a wood, and thou shalt cut it down.] Or, though it be a wood, thou shalt cut down the trees, and clear the land, that it may afford thee a commodious habitation.

Notes on the Eighteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Shiloh.] A place in the tribe of Ephraim, near Jerusalem.

2 Seven tribes, which had not yet received their inheritance.] No lot had been drawn for them in Gilgal. The reason perhaps was, because the tribes of the house of Joseph were not satisfied with the division begun there, which induced Joshua to stop his proceedings, till he had made a more accurate survey of the whole country: in order to which God removed him to Shiloh, which being situated near the middle of the country, the task might be more easily performed. Patrick.

5 Judah shall abide in their coast, and Joseph, &c.] Notwithstanding this new survey, the tribes were still to remain undisturbed in their possessions, unless it should be found that they had more or less land than was necessary.

10 Joshua cast lots for them, &c.] Masius in his Comment on Joshua observes, that as Jacob and Moses foretold the very soil and situation of every particular country, that should fall to each tribe; so on this division by lot, it accordingly came to pass. To Judah fell a country abounding with vines and pasture-grounds, Gen. xlix. 11. To Asher, one plenteous in oil, iron, and brass, Deut. xxxiii. 24. To Naphtali, one extending from the west to the south of Judea, ibid. To Benjamin, one, in which the temple was afterwards built. Zebulun and Issachar had plenty of sea-ports. Ephraim and Manasseh had a land stored with precious fruits. Simeon and Levi had no particular countries; the former having a portion with Judah, and the other being interspersed among the several tribes. Hence we cannot but acknowledge the divine inspiration in these predictions, and the divine direction in these lots.

11 The lot of the children of Benjamin came up.] God was pleased to order it so, that Benjamin should have the first lot of these of Benjamin came up according to their families: and the coaſt of their lot came forth between the children of Judah and the children of Joſeph.

12 And their border on the north-ſide was from Jordan: and the border went up to the ſide of Jericho on the north-ſide, and went up through the mountains weſt-ward; and the goings-out thereof were at the wilderneſs of Beth-aven.

13 And the border went over from thence toward Luz, to the ſide of Luz, which is Beth-el, ſouth-ward; and the border deſcended to Ataroth-adar, near the hill that lieth on the ſouth-ſide of the nether Beth-horon.

14 And the border was drawn thence, and compaſſed the corner of the ſea ſouth-ward, from the hill that lieth before Beth-horon ſouth-ward; and the goings-out thereof were at Kirjath-baal, which is Kirjath-jearim, a city of the children of Judah. This was the weſt-quarter.

15 And the ſouth-quarter was from the end of Kirjath-jearim, and the border went out on the weſt, and went out to the well of waters of Nephtoah.

16 And the border came down to the end of the mountain that lieth before the valley of the ſon of Hinnom, and which is in the valley of the giants on the north, and deſcended to the valley of Hinnom, to the ſide of Jebuſi on the ſouth, and deſcended to En-rogel,

17 And was drawn from the north, and went forth to En-ſhemeſh, and went forth toward Geliloth, which is over againſt the going-up of Adummim, and deſcended to the ſtone of Bohan the ſon of Reuben,

18 And paſſed along toward the ſide over againſt Arabah north-ward, and went down unto Arabah:

19 And the border paſſed along to the ſide of Beth-hoglah north-ward: and the out-goings of the border were at the north-bay of the ſalt-ſea at the ſouth-end of Jordan. This was the ſouth-coaſt.

20 And Jordan was the border of it on the eaſt-ſide. This was the inheritance of the children of Benjamin, by the coaſts thereof round about, according to their families.

21 ¶ Now the cities of the tribe of the children of Benjamin according to their families were Jericho, and Beth-hoglah, and the valley of Keziz,

22 And Beth-arabah, and Zemaraim, and Beth-el,

23 And Avim, and Parah, and Ophrah,

24 And Chephar-haammonai, and Ophni, and Gaba; twelve cities with their villages:

25 Gibeon, and Ramah, and Beeroth,

26 And Mizpeh, and Chephirah, and Mozah,

27 And Rekem, and Irpeel, and Taralah,

28 And Zelah, Eleph, and Jebuſi, which is Jeruſalem, Gibeath, and Kirjath: fourteen cities with their villages. This is the inheritance of the children of Benjamin according to their families.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The lot of Simeon, 10 of Zebulun, 17 of Iſſachar, 24 of Aſher, 32 of Naphtali, 40 and of Dan. 49 The children of Iſrael give an inheritance to Joſhua.

AND the ſecond lot came forth to Simeon, even for the tribe of the children of Simeon according to their families: and their inheritance was within the inheritance of the children of Judah.

2 And they had in their inheritance, Beer-ſheba, and Sheba, and Moladah,

3 And Hazar-ſhual, and Balah, and Azem,

4 And Eltolad, and Bethul, and Hormah,

5 And Ziklag, and Beth-marcaboth, and Hazar-ſuſah, theſe ſeven, next to the tribe of Joſeph; they two being the only ſons of Rachel, Jacob's beloved wife. Patrick.

24 Gaba.] This city was the birth-place of Saul, and thence called Gibeah of Saul, 1 Sam. x. 26.

Notes on the Nineteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 The ſecond lot came forth to Simeon, even for the tribe of the children of Simeon.] This repetition ſeems to indicate, that though their inheritance was included in that of Judah, yet thoſe cities were not the whole that were given to this tribe, but they had another ſhare by lot. Hence one would think, that the tribe of Simeon ſhould partake of the fate of Judah and Benjamin, and be carried away captive with them: but the tribes that revolted are always called the ten tribes. Wall.

2 Beer-ſheba, and Sheba.] Rather, Beer-ſheba, which is Sheba; for they were only two names for the ſame place.

15 Beth-

6 And Beth-lebaoth, and Sharuhen; thirteen cities and their villages:

7 Ain, Remmon, and Ether, and Aſhan; four cities and their villages:

8 And all the villages that were round about theſe cities, to Baalath-beer, Ramath of the ſouth. This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Simeon, according to their families.

9 Out of the portion of the children of Judah was the inheritance of the children of Simeon: for the part of the children of Judah was too much for them: therefore the children of Simeon had their inheritance within the inheritance of them.

10 ¶ And the third lot came up for the children of Zebulun according to their families: and the border of their inheritance was unto Sarid.

11 And their border went up toward the ſea, and Maralah, and reached to Dabbaſheth, and reached to the river that is before Jokneam,

12 And turned from Sarid eaſt-ward toward the ſun-riſing, unto the border of Chiſloth-tabor, and then goeth out to Daberath, and goeth up to Japhia,

13 And from thence paſſeth on along on the eaſt to Gittah-hepher, to Ittah-kazin, and goeth out to Remmon-methoar to Neah;

14 And the border compaſſeth it on the north-ſide to Hannathon: and the out-goings thereof are in the valley of Jiphthah-el:

15 And Kittah, and Nahallal, and Shimron, and Idalah, and Beth-lehem: twelve cities with their villages.

16 This is the inheritance of the children of Zebulun according to their families, theſe cities with their villages.

17 ¶ And the fourth lot came out to Iſſachar, for the children of Iſſachar, according to their families.

18 And their border was toward Jezreel, and Cheſulloth, and Shunem,

19 And Hapharaim, and Shihon, and Anaharath,

20 And Rabbith, and Kiſhion, and Abez,

21 And Remeth, and En-gannim, and En-haddah, and Beth-pazzez:

22 And the coaſt reacheth to Tabor, and Shahazimah, and Beth-ſhemeſh: and the out-goings of their border were at Jordan: ſixteen cities with their villages.

23 This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Iſſachar according to their families, the cities and their villages.

24 ¶ And the fifth lot came out for the tribe of the children of Aſher according to their families.

25 And their border was Helkath, and Hali, and Beten, and Achſhaph,

26 And Alammelech, and Amad, and Miſheal; and reacheth to Carmel weſtward, and to Shihor-libnath;

27 And turneth toward the ſun-riſing to Beth-dagon; and reacheth to Zebulun, and to the valley of Jiphthah-el, toward the north-ſide of Beth-emek, and Neiel; and goeth out to Cabul on the left hand;

28 And Hebron, and Rehob, and Hammon, and Kanah, even unto great Zidon:

29 And then the coaſt turneth to Ramah, and to the ſtrong city Tyre; and the coaſt turneth to Hoſah: and the out-goings thereof are at the ſea from the coaſt to Achzib:

30 Ummah alſo, and Aphek, and Rehob: twenty and two cities with their villages.

31 This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Aſher according to their families, theſe cities with their villages.

32 ¶ The ſixth lot came out to the children of Naphtali, even for the children of Naphtali, according to their families.

33 And their coaſt was from Heleph, from Allon to Zaanannim, and Adami, Nekeb, and Jabneel unto Lakum: and the out-goings thereof were at Jordan:

34 And then the coaſt turneth weſt-ward to 15 Beth-lehem.] Was not that in the tribe of Judah.

29 The ſtrong city Tyre.] This was not the Tyre ſo famous afterwards, that city not being then built, but another not far from Sidon.

34 Judah upon Jordan toward the ſun-riſing.] It was not near Judah, there being ſeveral tribes between them. The meaning is, that this tribe had a communication with that of Judah, by means of the river Jordan.

Aznoth-tabor, and goeth out from thence to Hukkok, and reacheth to Zebulun on the ſouth-ſide, and reacheth to Aſher on the weſt-ſide, and to Judah upon Jordan toward the ſun-riſing:

35 And the fenced cities are Ziddim, Zer, and Hammath, Rakkath, and Cinnereth,

36 And Adamah, and Ramah, and Hazor,

37 And Kedeſh, and Edrei, and Enhazor,

38 And Iron, and Migdal-el, Horem, and Beth-anath, and Beth-ſhemeſh; nineteen cities with their villages.

39 This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Naphtali according to their families, the cities and their villages.

40 ¶ And the ſeventh lot came out for the tribe of the children of Dan according to their families.

41 And the coaſt of their inheritance was Zorah, and Eſh-taol, and Ir-ſhemeſh,

42 And Shaalabbin, and Ajalon, and Jethlah,

43 And Elon, and Thimnathah, and Ekron,

44 And Eltekeh, and Gibbethon, and Baalath,

45 And Jehud, and Bene-berak, and Gath-rimmon,

46 And Me-jarkon, and Rakkon, with the border before Japho.

47 And the coaſt of the children of Dan went out too little for them: therefore the children of Dan went up to fight againſt Leſhem, and took it, and ſmote it with the edge of the ſword, and poſſeſſed it, and dwelt therein, and called Leſhem, Dan, after the name of Dan their father.

48 This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Dan, according to their families, theſe cities with their villages.

49 ¶ When they had made an end of dividing the land for inheritance by their coaſts, the children of Iſrael gave an inheritance to Joſhua the ſon of Nun among them:

50 According to the word of the LORD, they gave him the city which he aſked, even Timnath-ſerah in mount Ephraim: and he built the city and dwelt therein.

51 Theſe are the inheritances which Eleazar the prieſt, and Joſhua the ſon of Nun, and the heads of the fathers of the tribes of the children of Iſrael, divided for an inheritance by lot, in Shiloh before the LORD, at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation. So they made an end of dividing the country.

CHAP. XX.

1 God commandeth, 7 and the Iſraelites appoint ſix cities of refuge.

THE LORD alſo ſpake unto Joſhua, ſaying,

2 Speak to the children of Iſrael, ſaying, Appoint out for you cities of refuge, whereof I ſpake unto you by the hand of Moſes:

3 That the ſlayer that killeth any perſon unawares and unwittingly, may flee thither: and they ſhall be your refuge from the avenger of blood.

4 And when he that doth flee unto one of thoſe cities ſhall ſtand at the entering of the gate of the city, and ſhall declare his cauſe in the ears of the elders of that city; they ſhall take him into the city unto them, and give him a place that he may dwell among them.

5 And if the avenger of blood purſue after him, then they ſhall not deliver the ſlayer up into his hand: becauſe he ſmote his neighbour unwittingly, and hated him not before-time.

6 And he ſhall dwell in that city until he

47 The coaſt of the children of Dan went out too little for them.] The Hebrew runs thus: The coaſt of the children of Dan went out from them: i. e. they were diſpoſſeſſed of great part of it by the Amorites, who forced them to abandon the valley, and retire to the mountains, Judg. i. 34. Patrick.

49 The children of Iſrael gave an inheritance, &c.] How conſpicuous is the modeſty of this great man! He was content to ſtay for his inheritance till all the land was divided, and to receive his portion as a gift from thoſe he had before ſettled in the promiſed land. Patrick.

51 So they made an end of dividing the country.] That is, the diviſion of the land was completed, and every tribe had their ſettlement appointed to their ſatisfaction.

Notes on the Twentieth Chapter.

Ver. 1 The Lord ſpake unto Joſhua, ſaying.] From the tabernacle; at the door of which he, Eleazar, and the princes, had been making a diviſion of the land. Patrick.

2 Appoint out for you cities of refuge.] It was now a proper time for putting in execution this command of Moſes, as they were now all met together to receive their reſpective portions of land.

ſtand before the congregation for judgement, and until the death of the high-prieſt that ſhall be in thoſe days: then ſhall the ſlayer return and come unto his own city, and unto his own houſe, unto the city from whence he fled.

7 ¶ And they appointed Kedeſh in Galilee in mount Naphtali, and Schechem in mount Ephraim, and Kirjath-arba, which is Hebron, in the mountain of Judah.

8 And on the other ſide Jordan by Jericho eaſt-ward, they aſſigned Bezer in the wilderneſs upon the plain out of the tribe of Reuben, and Ramoth in Gilead out of the tribe of Gad, and Golan in Baſhan out of the tribe of Manaſſeh.

9 Theſe were the cities appointed for all the children of Iſrael, and for the ſtranger that ſojourneth among them, that whoſoever killeth any perſon at unawares might flee thither, and not die by the hand of the avenger of blood, until he ſtood before the congregation.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Eight and forty cities given by lot out of the other tribes unto the Levites. 43 God gave the land and reſt to the Iſraelites.

THEN came near the heads of the fathers of the Levites unto Eleazar the prieſt, and unto Joſhua the ſon of Nun, and unto the heads of the fathers of the tribes of the children of Iſrael;

2 And they ſpake unto them at Shiloh in the land of Canaan, ſaying, The LORD commanded by the hand of Moſes, to give us cities to dwell in, with the ſuburbs thereof for our cattle.

3 And the children of Iſrael gave unto the Levites out of their inheritance at the commandment of the LORD theſe cities and their ſuburbs.

4 And the lot came out for the families of the Kohathites: and the children of Aaron the prieſt, which were of the Levites, had by lot out of the tribe of Judah, and out of the tribe of Simeon, and out of the tribe of Benjamin, thirteen cities.

5 And the reſt of the children of Kohath had by lot out of the families of the tribe of Ephraim, and out of the tribe of Dan, and out of the half-tribe of Manaſſeh, ten cities.

6 And the children of Gerſhon had by lot out of the families of the tribe of Iſſachar, and out of the tribe of Aſher, and out of the tribe of Naphtali, and out of the half-tribe of Manaſſeh in Baſhan, thirteen cities.

7 The children of Merari by their families had out of the tribe of Reuben, and out of the tribe of Gad, and out of the tribe of Zebulun, twelve cities.

8 And the children of Iſrael gave by lot unto the Levites theſe cities with their ſuburbs, as the LORD commanded by the hand of Moſes.

9 And they gave out of the tribe of the children of Judah, and out of the tribe of the children of Simeon, theſe cities which are here mentioned by name,

10 Which the children of Aaron, being of the families of the Kohathites, who were of the children of Levi, had: for their's was the firſt lot.

11 And they gave them the city of Arba the father of Anak, which city is Hebron, in the hill-country of Judah, with the ſuburbs thereof round about it.

12 But the fields of the city, and the villages thereof, gave they to Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh for his poſſeſſion.

13 Thus they gave to the children of Aaron the prieſt, Hebron with her ſuburbs, to be a city of refuge for the ſlayer; and Libnah with her ſuburbs,

14 And Jattir with her ſuburbs, and Eſhtemoa with her ſuburbs,

7 Kadeſh in Galilee, Shechem in mount Ephraim, and Kirjath-arba (which is Hebron) in the mountain of Judah.] Theſe three cities were all ſituated on eminences, ſo that they might be ſeen at a great diſtance; and being diſperſed in ſeveral parts of the country, every one might enjoy the benefit of one or other of them: for Kadeſh was in the north, Hebron in the ſouth, and Shechem between both. Patrick.

8 Bezer in the wilderneſs—Ramoth in Gilead—and Golan in Baſhan.] Theſe cities were aſſigned by Moſes before he died, Deut. iv. 43, but had not their privileges till now. Patrick.

Notes on the Twenty-firſt Chapter.

Ver. 4 The lot came out for the families of the Kohathites.] After the cities were appointed for the Prieſts and Levites, they were divided by lot among the ſeveral families: and the firſt lot came out for the nobleſt family of the tribe of Levi; for Moſes and Aaron were deſcended from Kohath. Patrick.

25 Gath-

15 And Holon with her ſuburbs, and Debir with her ſuburbs,
16 And Ain with her ſuburbs, and Juttah with her ſuburbs, and Beth-ſhemeſh with her ſuburbs; nine cities out of thoſe two tribes.
17 And out of the tribe of Benjamin, Gibeon with her ſuburbs, Geba with her ſuburbs, 18 Anathoth with her ſuburbs, and Almon with her ſuburbs; four cities.
19 All the cities of the children of Aaron, the prieſts, were thirteen cities with their ſuburbs.
20 And the families of the children of Kohath, the Levites, which remained of the children of Kohath, even they had the cities of their lot out of the tribe of Ephraim.
21 For they gave them Shechem with her ſuburbs in mount Ephraim, to be a city of refuge for the ſlayer; and Gezer with her ſuburbs, 22 And Kibzaim with her ſuburbs, and Beth-horon with her ſuburbs; four cities.
23 And out of the tribe of Dan, Eltekeh with her ſuburbs, Gibbethon with her ſuburbs,
24 Aijalon with her ſuburbs, Gathrimmon with her ſuburbs; four cities,
25 And out of the half-tribe of Manaſſeh, Taanach with her ſuburbs, and Gathrimmon with her ſuburbs; two cities.
26 All the cities were ten with their ſuburbs for the families of the children of Kohath that remained.
27 And unto the children of Gerſhon of the families of the Levites, out of the other half-tribe of Manaſſeh, they gave Golan in Baſhan with her ſuburbs, to be a city of refuge for the ſlayer, and Beeſhterah with her ſuburbs; two cities.
28 And out of the tribe of Iſſachar, Kiſhon with her ſuburbs, Dabareh with her ſuburbs, 29 Jarmuth with her ſuburbs, En-gannim with her ſuburbs; four cities.
30 And out of the tribe of Aſher, Miſhal with her ſuburbs, Abdon with her ſuburbs, 31 Helkath with her ſuburbs, and Rehob with her ſuburbs; four cities.
32 And out of the tribe of Naphtali, Kedeſh in Galilee with her ſuburbs, to be a city of refuge for the ſlayer, and Hammoth-dor with her ſuburbs, and Kartan with her ſuburbs: three cities.
33 All the cities of the Gerſhonites, according to their families, were thirteen cities with their ſuburbs.
34 And unto the families of the children of Merari, the reſt of the Levites, out of the tribe of Zebulun, Jokneam with her ſuburbs, and Kartah with her ſuburbs, 35 Dimnah with her ſuburbs, Nahalal with her ſuburbs; four cities.
36 And out of the tribe of Reuben, Bezer with her ſuburbs, and Jahazah with her ſuburbs.
37 Kedemoth with her ſuburbs, and Mephaath with her ſuburbs; four cities.
38 And out of the tribe of Gad, Ramoth in Gilead with her ſuburbs, to be a city of refuge for the ſlayer, and Mahanaim with her ſuburbs, 39 Heſhbon with her ſuburbs, Jazer with her ſuburbs; four cities in all.
40 So all the cities for the children of Merari by their families, which were remaining of the families of the Levites, were by their lot twelve cities.
41 All the cities of the Levites within the poſſeſſion of the children of Iſrael were forty and eight cities with their ſuburbs.
42 Theſe cities were every one with their ſuburbs round about them: thus were all theſe cities.
43 ¶ And the LORD gave unto Iſrael all the 25 Gathrimmon.] The Hebrew ſcribe has erroneouſly ſet down two Gathrimmons: inſtead of that word here, it ſhould probably be Jebatha, as in the Septuagint.

36, 37 Out of the tribe, &c.] Theſe two verſes were originally entirely omitted in the Maſora; though, without them, neither the twelve cities of the Merarites in particular, nor the forty-eight Levitical cities in general, nor the ſix cities of refuge can be made up. The Jews in their late editions have inſerted theſe two verſes; and it is probable they would in more places fill up the ſenſe of ſome more texts out of the Septuagint, if that could be done without acknowledging the imperfection of the Maſora. Wall.

43 The Lord gave unto Iſrael all the land which he ſware to give unto their fathers.] He gave them a right to the whole country, which was accordingly divided among them by lot, and he put them into the actual poſſeſſion of the greateſt part of it. This was exactly conformable to his promiſe; for they not being numerous enough to people the whole country at their firſt coming into it, he never intended to expel the old inhabitants at once, but by degrees. land which he ſware to give unto their fathers: and they poſſeſſed it, and dwelt therein.

44 And the LORD gave them reſt round about, according to all that he ſware unto their fathers: and there ſtood not a man of all their enemies before them: the LORD delivered all their enemies into their hand.

45 There failed not ought of any good thing which the LORD had ſpoken unto the houſe of Iſrael: all came to paſs.

CHAP. XXII.

1 The two tribes and half ſent home. 10 They build an altar of teſtimony in their journey. 11 Contention thereupon.

THEN Joſhua called the Reubenites, and the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manaſſeh,

2 And ſaid unto them, Ye have kept all that Moſes the ſervant of the LORD commanded you, and have obeyed my voice in all that I commanded you.

3 Ye have not left your brethren theſe many days unto this day, but have kept the charge of the commandment of the LORD your God.

4 And now the LORD your God hath given reſt unto your brethren, as he promiſed them: therefore now return ye, and get ye unto your tents, and unto the land of your poſſeſſion, which Moſes the ſervant of the LORD gave you on the other ſide Jordan.

5 But take diligent heed to do the commandment and the law which Moſes the ſervant of the LORD charged you, to love the LORD your God, and to walk in all his ways, and to keep his commandments, and to cleave unto him, and to ſerve him with all your heart and with all your ſoul.

6 So Joſhua bleſſed them, and ſent them away: and they went unto their tents.

7 Now to the one half of the tribe of Manaſſeh Moſes had given poſſeſſion in Baſhan: but unto the other half thereof gave Joſhua among their brethren on this ſide Jordan weſt-ward. And when Joſhua ſent them away alſo unto their tents, then he bleſſed them,

8 And he ſpake unto them, ſaying, Return with much riches unto your tents, and with very much cattle, with ſilver and with gold, and with braſs and with iron, and with very much raiment: divide the ſpoil of your enemies with your brethren.

9 And the children of Reuben and the children of Gad and the half-tribe of Manaſſeh returned, and departed from the children of Iſrael out of Shiloh, which is in the land of Canaan, to go unto the country of Gilead, to the land of their poſſeſſion, whereof they were poſſeſſed, according to the word of the LORD by the hand of Moſes.

10 ¶ And when they came unto the borders of Jordan that are in the land of Canaan, the children of Reuben and the children of Gad and the half-tribe of Manaſſeh built there an altar by Jordan, a great altar to ſee to.

11 ¶ And the children of Iſrael heard ſay, Behold, the children of Reuben and the children of Gad and the half-tribe of Manaſſeh have built an altar over againſt the land of Canaan in the borders of Jordan, at the paſſage of the children of Iſrael.

Notes on the Twenty-ſecond Chapter.

Ver. 1 Joſhua called the Reubenites, and the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manaſſeh.] The war being ended, Joſhua called the two tribes and a half, who had accompanied their brethren as auxiliaries from their poſſeſſions on the other ſide Jordan, and gave them an honourable diſmiſſion. Patrick.

4 Return—unto your tents.] He calls their houſes tents, being a common word uſed for a long time in the wilderneſs to ſignify their habitations.

8 Return with much riches, &c.] Take a friendly leave of your brethren; and, laden with the ſpoils you have gotten in Canaan, return to the land of your inheritance, and let thoſe who ſtayed on the other ſide Jordan, to defend your wives, your children, and your cattle, ſhare with you in the ſpoil you have taken. Patrick.

Joſephus, in the ſpeech which he introduces Joſhua making to the Reubenites, &c. at their parting, concludes thus: — "I "pray you, let no diſtance of place ſet limits to our friendſhip. "The interpoſition of rivers muſt never divide our affections; "for, on which bank ſoever we reſide, we are all Hebrews "ſtill. Abraham was the common father of us all, let our "abode be where it will. It was from one and the ſame God "that all our forefathers received their being, and that God we "are all to worſhip, according to the ordinances and inſtitu- "tions left us by Moſes. So long as we ſtand firm to that re- "ligion, we may be ſure of the favour and protection of that "God for our comfort: but whenever you follow after ſtrange "gods, the God of your fathers will cut you off." Jewiſh Antiquit. lib. 5.

10 A great altar to ſee to.] A large and lofty altar, that might be ſeen at a great diſtance.

12 When

12 And when the children of Iſrael heard of it, the whole congregation of the children of Iſrael gathered themſelves together at Shiloh, to go up to war againſt them.

13 And the children of Iſrael ſent unto the children of Reuben and to the children of Gad and to the half-tribe of Manaſſeh into the land of Gilead Phinehas the ſon of Eleazar the prieſt,

14 And with him ten princes, of each chief houſe a prince, throughout all the tribes of Iſrael; and each one was an head of the houſe of their fathers, among the thouſands of Iſrael.

15 And they came unto the children of Reuben and to the children of Gad and to the half-tribe of Manaſſeh unto the land of Gilead, and they ſpake with them, ſaying, 16 Thus ſaith the whole congregation of the LORD, What treſpaſs is this that ye have committed againſt the God of Iſrael, to turn away this day from following the LORD, in that ye have builded you an altar, that ye might rebel this day againſt the LORD?

17 Is the iniquity of Peor too little for us, from which we are not cleanſed until this day, although there was a plague in the congregation of the LORD;

18 But that ye muſt turn away this day from following the LORD? and it will be, ſeeing ye rebel to day againſt the LORD, that tomorrow he will be wroth with the whole congregation of Iſrael.

19 Notwithſtanding if the land of your poſſeſſion be unclean, then paſs ye over unto the land of the poſſeſſion of the LORD, wherein the LORD's tabernacle dwelleth, and take poſſeſſion among us: but rebel not againſt the LORD, nor rebel againſt us, in building you an altar, beſide the altar of the LORD our God.

20 Did not Achan the ſon of Zerah commit a treſpaſs in the accurſed thing, and wrath fell on all the congregation of Iſrael? and that man periſhed not alone in his iniquity.

21 Then the children of Reuben and the children of Gad and the half-tribe of Manaſſeh anſwered and ſaid unto the heads of the thouſands of Iſrael,

22 The LORD God of gods, the LORD God of gods, he knoweth, and Iſrael he ſhall know, if it be in rebellion, or if in tranſgreſſion againſt the LORD, (ſave us not this day,)

23 That we have built us an altar to turn from following the LORD, or if to offer thereon burnt-offering or meat-offering, or if to offer peace-offerings thereon, let the LORD himſelf require it;

24 And if we have not rather done it for fear of this thing, ſaying, In time to come your children might ſpeak unto our children, ſaying, What have ye to do with the LORD God of Iſrael?

25 For the LORD hath made Jordan a border between us and you: ye children of Reuben, and children of Gad, ye have no part in the LORD. So ſhall your children make our children ceaſe from fearing the LORD.

26 Therefore we ſaid, Let us now prepare to build us an altar; not for burnt offering, nor for ſacrifice:

27 But that it may be a witneſs between us

12 When the children of Iſrael heard of it, &c.] They conſidered it as intended for ſacrifice, and conſequently that they were going to abandon the true religion, which required them to worſhip the Lord alone, and in no other place than that which he himſelf had choſen. Patrick.

13 The children of Iſrael ſent unto the children of Reuben, &c.] Their zeal did not tranſport them ſo far as to fall upon their brethren before they were convinced of the truth of their apoſtacy, and therefore they previouſly ſent a deputation to know the reaſon for their building ſuch an altar.

16 Thus ſaith the whole congregation, &c.] The repreſentatives of the whole people of Iſrael, in whoſe name this embaſſy was ſent.

17 Although there was a plague in the congregation of the Lord.] Which cut off 24,000, Numb. xxv. 9.

19 If the land of your poſſeſſion be unclean.] They imagined the Reubenites, &c. might think their land leſs holy for want of an altar, and ſuch a token of the Divine Preſence as there was in the tabernacle; for an opinion univerſally prevailed among the ancients, that thoſe countries wherein no place was ſet apart for the worſhip of God were unhallowed and unclean. Pat.

Then paſs ye over unto the land of the poſſeſſion of the Lord.] Out of zeal for God's ſervice they were deſirous rather to give up ſome of their own poſſeſſions, than have their brethren fall from their religion. Patrick.

22 The Lord God of gods, the Lord God of gods.] This repetition is intended to ſignify, that they owned no other God but him whom their forefathers worſhipped, by what name ſoever he was called.

27 That they might do the ſervice of the Lord before him.] Have the privilege to come and worſhip God at the tabernacle, and offer ſacrifices.

and you, and our generations after us, that we might do the ſervice of the LORD before him with our burnt-offerings and with our ſacrifices and with our peace-offerings; that your children may not ſay to our children in time to come, Ye have no part in the LORD.

28 Therefore ſaid we, that it ſhall be, when they ſhould ſo ſay to us, or to our generations in time to come, that we may ſay again, Behold the pattern of the altar of the LORD, which our fathers made, not for burnt-offerings, nor for ſacrifices; but it is a witneſs between us and you.

29 God forbid that we ſhould rebel againſt the LORD, and turn this day from following the LORD, to build an altar for burnt-offerings, for meat-offerings, or for ſacrifices, beſides the altar of the LORD our God that is before his tabernacle.

30 And when Phinehas the prieſt, and the princes of the congregation, and heads of the thouſands of Iſrael, which were with him, heard the words that the children of Reuben, and the children of Gad, and the children of Manaſſeh ſpake, it pleaſed them.

31 And Phinehas the ſon of Eleazar the prieſt ſaid unto the children of Reuben, and to the children of Gad, and to the children of Manaſſeh, This day we perceive that the LORD is among us, becauſe ye have not committed this treſpaſs againſt the LORD: now ye have delivered the children of Iſrael out of the hand of the LORD.

32 And Phinehas the ſon of Eleazar the prieſt, and the princes, returned from the children of Reuben, and from the children of Gad, out of the land of Gilead, unto the land of Canaan, to the children of Iſrael, and brought them word again.

33 And the thing pleaſed the children of Iſrael; and the children of Iſrael bleſſed God, and did not intend to go up againſt them in battle, to deſtroy the land wherein the children of Reuben and Gad dwelt.

34 And the children of Reuben and the children of Gad called the altar Ed: for it ſhall be a witneſs between us that the LORD is God.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Joſhua's exhortation before his death, 3 by former benefits, 5 by promiſes, 11 and by threatnings.

AND it came to paſs a long time after that the LORD had given reſt unto Iſrael from all their enemies round about, that Joſhua waxed old and ſtricken in age.

2 And Joſhua called for all Iſrael, and for their elders, and for their heads, and for their judges, and for their officers, and ſaid unto them, I am old and ſtricken in age.

3 ¶ And ye have ſeen all that the LORD your God hath done unto all theſe nations becauſe of you: for the LORD your God is he that hath fought for you.

4 Behold, I have divided unto you by lot theſe nations that remain, to be an inheritance for your tribes, from Jordan, with all the nations that I have cut off, even unto the great ſea weſt-ward.

5 ¶ And the LORD your God, he ſhall expel them from before you, and drive them, from out of your ſight; and ye ſhall poſſeſs their land as the LORD your God hath promiſed unto you.

6 Be ye therefore very couragious to keep and to do all that is written in the book of the 31 This day we perceive that the Lord is among us, &c.] He was overjoyed when he found that the children of Reuben, &c. had not forſaken the God of their fathers.

34 The children of Reuben, and the children of Gad, called the altar Ed.] Inſtead of Ed, it ſhould be thus rendered, called the altar, the altar of witneſs, &c. Several MSS ſupply a word at the end of the verſe anſwering to he, which makes the ſenſe more emphatical, and ſhould be thus tranſlated, The Lord HE is God. Kennicott.

Notes on the Twenty-third Chapter.

Ver. 2 Joſhua called for all Iſrael.] Joſhua, finding the time of his death approaching, called a general aſſembly of the princes and magiſtrates, and as many of the common people as could be got together on this occaſion, and, in a very tender and affectionate manner, exhorted them, in gratitude to the Great Diſpoſer of all things, to a faithful obſervance of his laws; promiſing them all the happineſs they could wiſh, in caſe they obeyed the Lord, and denouncing the greateſt evils, if they turned their backs to his precepts. Stackhouſe.

I am old and ſtricken in age.] He inſinuates to them, that this, in all probability, would be the laſt time he ſhould be able to ſpeak to them, in order to engage their attention more perfectly to what he was going to ſay. He was now in the hundred and tenth year of his age. Patrick.

law of Moſes, that ye turn not aſide therefrom to the right hand or to the left;

7 That ye come not among theſe nations, theſe that remain amongſt you; neither make mention of the name of their gods, nor cauſe to ſwear by them, neither ſerve them, nor bow your ſelves unto them:

8 But cleave unto the LORD your God as ye have done unto this day.

9 For the LORD hath driven out from before you great nations and ſtrong: but as for you, no man hath been able to ſtand before you unto this day.

10 One man of you ſhall chaſe a thouſand: for the LORD your God, he it is that fighteth for you, as he hath promiſed you.

11 ¶ Take good heed therefore unto your ſelves, that ye love the LORD your God.

12 Elſe if ye do in any wiſe go back, and cleave unto the remnant of theſe nations, even theſe that remain among you, and ſhall make marriages with them, and go in unto them, and they to you:

13 Know for a certainty, that the LORD your God will no more drive out any of theſe nations from before you; but they ſhall be ſnares and traps unto you, and ſcourges in your ſides, and thorns in your eyes, until ye periſh from off this good land which the LORD your God hath given you.

14 And behold, this day I am going the way of all the earth: and ye know in all your hearts and in all your ſouls, that not one thing hath failed of all the good things which the LORD your God ſpake concerning you; all are come to paſs unto you, and not one thing hath failed thereof.

15 Therefore it ſhall come to paſs, that as all good things are come upon you which the LORD your God promiſed you; ſo ſhall the LORD bring upon you all evil things, until he have deſtroyed you from off this good land which the LORD your God hath given you.

16 When ye have tranſgreſſed the covenant of the LORD your God which he commanded you, and have gone and ſerved other gods, and bowed your ſelves to them; then ſhall the anger of the LORD be kindled againſt you, and ye ſhall periſh quickly from off the good land which he hath given unto you.

CHAP. XXIV.

1 Joſhua aſſembling the tribes, 2 relateth God's benefits. 14 He reneweth a covenant between them and God. 29 His death.

AND Joſhua gathered all the tribes of Iſrael to Shechem, and called for the elders of Iſrael, and for their heads, and for their judges, and for their officers; and they preſented themſelves before God.

2 ¶ And Joſhua ſaid unto all the people, Thus ſaith the LORD God of Iſrael, Your fathers dwelt on the other ſide of the flood in old time, even Terah the father of Abraham and the father of Nachor: and they ſerved other gods.

3 And I took your father Abraham from the other ſide of the flood, and led him throughout all the land of Canaan, and multiplied his ſeed, and gave him Iſaac.

Notes on the Twenty-fourth Chapter.

Ver. 1 And Joſhua gathered all the tribes of Iſrael, &c.] It is likely that Joſhua, living longer than he expected when he made the foregoing ſpeech to them, called the people together once more, to give them ſome farther advice before he died. The meaning of the words ſeems clearly to be---that when the men of all the tribes were aſſembled in and around Shechem, to receive the laſt commands of their victorious leader; he called the chiefs of all the tribes to him upon Gerizim; where they preſented themſelves before the Lord, and offered ſacrifices on that mountain, which had been before conſecrated by the law and the altar, which Joſhua himſelf had erected there between twenty and thirty years before. Kennicott.

To Shechem.] Or Sychem (called in the New Teſtament Sychar) it ſtood in the narrow valley between mount Gerizim on the ſouth, and Ebal on the north; being built at the foot of the former, and is now called Naploſa. Maundrell, p. 59.

2 On the other ſide of the flood.] It ſhould be rendered, the river, as in the Septuagint, i. e. the river Euphrates.

In old time.] Long before they came from Ur of the Chaldees, Gen. xi. 31.

They ſerved other gods.] It is agreed on all hands, that Terah was an idolater, and lived in the country where the worſhip of images is ſuppoſed to have had its origin; even Abraham himſelf is thought to have been bred up in the ſame way of worſhip. Patrick.

3 I took your father Abraham from the other ſide of the flood.] From that idolatrous country where he was born and educated. This is mentioned as a ſingular obligation on the Iſraelites to adhere unto God, who ſingled out the father of their families, ſo many ages ſince, to be his worſhipper.

Throughout all the land of Canaan.] That is, from Charran to Shechem, (where the Iſraelites were now aſſembled) thence to Beth-el, and afterwards to the ſouth of the land of Canaan.

4 And I gave unto Isaac, Jacob and Esau: and I gave unto Esau mount Seir, to possess it; but Jacob and his children went down into Egypt.

5 I sent Moses also and Aaron, and I plagued Egypt, according to that which I did amongst them: and afterward I brought you out.

6 And I brought your fathers out of Egypt: and ye came unto the sea; and the Egyptians pursued after your fathers with chariots and horsemen unto the Red-sea.

7 And when they cried unto the LORD he put darkness between you and the Egyptians, and brought the sea upon them, and covered them: and your eyes have seen what I have done in Egypt. And ye dwelt in the wilderness a long season.

8 And I brought you into the land of the Amorites which dwelt on the other side Jordan; and they fought with you: and I gave them into your hand, that ye might possess their land, and I destroyed them from before you.

9 Then Balak the son of Zippor king of Moab arose and warred against Israel, and sent and called Balaam the son of Beor to curse you:

10 But I would not hearken unto Balaam; therefore he blessed you still: so I delivered you out of his hand.

11 And ye went over Jordan, and came unto Jericho: and the men of Jericho fought against you, the Amorites, and the Perizzites, and the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and the Girgashites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites, and I delivered them into your hand.

12 And I sent the hornet before you, which drave them out from before you, even the two kings of the Amorites; but not with thy sword nor with thy bow.

13 And I have given you a land for which ye did not labour, and cities which ye built not, and ye dwell in them: of the vineyards and olive-yards which ye planted not do ye eat.

14 ¶ Now therefore fear the LORD, and serve him in sincerity and truth: and put away the gods which your fathers served on the other side of the flood, and in Egypt: and serve ye the LORD.

15 And if it seem evil unto you to serve the LORD; choose ye this day whom ye will serve, whether the gods which your fathers served that were on the other side of the flood, or the gods of the Amorites in whose land ye dwell: but as for me and my house we will serve the LORD.

16 And the people answered and said, God forbid that we should forsake the LORD, to serve other gods.

17 For the LORD our God, he it is that brought us up and our fathers out of the land of Egypt, from the house of bondage, and which did those great signs in our sight, and preserved us in all the way wherein we went, and among all the people through whom we passed.

18 And the LORD drave out from before us all the people, even the Amorites which dwelt in the land: therefore will we also serve the LORD: for he is our God.

19 And Joshua said unto the people, Ye cannot serve the LORD: for he is an holy God: he is a jealous God; he will not forgive your transgressions, nor your sins.

20 If ye forsake the LORD, and serve strange gods, then he will turn and do you hurt, and 4 Jacob and his children went down into Egypt.] They were forced to go down into Egypt, where they suffered a long and cruel bondage.

7 Your eyes have seen what I have done in Egypt.] Their elders, to whom he now speaks, were all of them present, and saw with their own eyes this great and astonishing miracle. Patrick.

9 Balak the son of Zippor king of Moab, arose and warred against Israel.] He did not actually draw out his forces to attack them, but he prepared them, with an intention to drive them from his coasts, if Balaam could have given him any hopes of success, by cursing the people. Patrick.

12 I sent the hornet before you.] See notes on Exod. xxiii. 27, 28. and Deut. vii. 20.

14 Therefore fear the Lord.] i. e. Worship and serve him.

15 If it seem evil unto you to serve the Lord, &c.] He could not conceive that it was possible for them to turn atheists, and have no God at all; and he was unwilling to suppose they would prefer any God to him, who had not only so miraculously supported and defended them, but had now given them a land flowing with milk and honey. Patrick.

19 And Joshua said unto the people, Ye cannot serve the Lord.] What can be more absurd than first to find Joshua exhorting and pressing the people to serve the Lord, and afterwards to find him telling them, Ye cannot serve God? The improper insertion of one small letter in the Hebrew makes all this contradiction. The genuine reading gives this translation; Ye shall not cease, or cease not to serve the Lord; and then the reason is most forcible and conclusive:—Cease not to serve the Lord; FOR he is an holy God, &c. Kennicott.

consume you, after that he hath done you good.

21 And the people said unto Joshua, Nay; but we will serve the LORD.

22 And Joshua said unto the people, Ye are witnesses against your selves that ye have chosen you the LORD, to serve him. And they said, We are witnesses.

23 Now therefore put away, said he, the strange gods which are among you, and incline your heart unto the LORD God of Israel.

24 And the people said unto Joshua, The LORD our God will we serve, and his voice will we obey.

25 So Joshua made a covenant with the people that day, and set them a statute and an ordinance in Shechem.

26 And Joshua wrote these words in the book of the law of God, and took a great stone, and set it up there under an oak that was by the sanctuary of the LORD.

27 And Joshua said unto all the people, Behold, this stone shall be a witness unto us: for it hath heard all the words of the LORD which he spake unto us: it shall be therefore a witness unto you, lest ye deny your God.

28 So Joshua let the people depart, every man unto his inheritance.

29 ¶ And it came to pass after these things, that Joshua the son of Nun the servant of the LORD died, being an hundred and ten years old.

30 And they buried him in the border of his inheritance in Timnath-serah, which is in mount Ephraim, on the north side of the hill Gaash.

31 And Israel served the LORD all the days of Joshua, and all the days of the elders that overlived Joshua, and which had known all the works of the LORD that he had done for Israel.

32 And the bones of Joseph, which the children of Israel brought up out of Egypt, buried they in Shechem, in a parcel of ground which Jacob bought of the sons of Hamor the father of Shechem for an hundred pieces of silver: and it became the inheritance of the children of Joseph.

33 And Eleazar the son of Aaron died; and they buried him in a hill that pertained to Phinehas his son which was given him in mount Ephraim.

---

23 Now therefore put away---the strange gods which are among you.] This is a sufficient evidence that Joshua was divinely inspired; for he saw the secret affection they had to idols. There was no idol worshipped publickly; but he knew that they had gods which they worshipped secretly in their closets. Patrick.

25 Joshua made a covenant with the people.] He renewed the solemn engagement they had before entered into in the time of Moses.

26 He took a great stone, and set it up there under an oak, that was by the sanctuary.] Commentators have been greatly puzzled at the word here rendered by the sanctuary. The ark was not present; and if it had, the oak could not grow in the ark: but it might grow in or upon mount Gerizim, in or upon the holy place or mountain (in sanctuario, in loco sancto); and there Joshua might, with great propriety, take some large stone and set it up as a witness; at the same time making this striking remark---that the stone had heard all the words of the Lord; i. e. all the words of the covenant between God and them; and would remain a witness to declare to all posterity the engagements that lay upon them. Kennicott.

29 Joshua the son of Nun, died.] Josephus, in his character of this great man, tells us, "That he was a man of political prudence, and endued also with a singular felicity of popular "eloquence in expressing his thoughts; brave and indefatigable "in war, and equally just and dexterous in peace; in short, that "he was qualified for all great purposes."

32 The bones of Joseph, which the children of Israel brought up out of Egypt, buried they in Shechem.] This, perhaps, was one occasion for gathering this great assembly together, that they might the more solemnly deposit the bones of that eminent person in the portion of land which his father Jacob had given him, Gen. xlviii. 22, and which they thought more proper than the cave of Machpelah. It appears, that the bodies of the rest of the sons of Jacob, from whom the twelve tribes descended, were also brought into Canaan to be interred, as Josephus relates, and St. Stephen confirms, Acts vii. 16.

Joshua is generally supposed to be the author of this book; and it is expressly said, in the 26th verse of this chapter, that he wrote these words. It is indeed evident, that he did not write the five last verses, which were added by some sacred penman, probably Samuel; but is no objection against his writing the rest of the book, which has been imputed to him by the united suffrages of all antiquity.

THE BOOK OF JUDGES.

THE ARGUMENT.

The Book of Judges contains the history of the Jewish people in the land of Canaan, under the administration of many illustrious persons raised up by God on special occasions, from the death of Joshua till the time of making a king, to judge, that is, to rule the children of Israel, and to deliver them from their oppressions. It is generally supposed to have been written by Samuel and to comprehend about 300 years.

CHAP. I.

1 The acts of Judah and Simeon. 4 Adoni-bezek justly requited. 8 Jerusalem, 10 and Hebron taken.

NOW after the death of Joshua, it came to pass that the children of Israel asked the LORD, saying, Who shall go up for us against the Canaanites first to fight against them?

2 And the LORD said, Judah shall go up: behold, I have delivered the land into his hand.

3 And Judah said unto Simeon his brother, Come up with me into my lot, that we may fight against the Canaanites: and I likewise will go with thee into thy lot. So Simeon went with him.

4 ¶ And Judah went up; and the LORD delivered the Canaanites and the Perizzites into their hand; and they slew of them in Bezek ten thousand men.

5 And they found Adoni-bezek in Bezek: and they fought against him, and they slew the Canaanites and the Perizzites.

6 But Adoni-bezek fled; and they pursued after him, and caught him, and cut off his thumbs and his great toes.

7 And Adoni-bezek said, Threescore and ten kings, having their thumbs and their great toes cut off, gathered their meat under my table: as I have done, so God hath requited me. And they brought him to Jerusalem, and there he died.

8 ¶ Now the children of Judah had fought against Jerusalem, and had taken it, and smitten it with the edge of the sword, and set the city on fire.

Notes on the First Chapter.

Ver. 1 Now after the death of Joshua.] As we read of no person being appointed by Joshua to succeed him in the government, it is probable that every tribe was ruled by their own elders, who were their commanders in the war they made with the Canaanites; which government lasted about thirty years. Stackhouse.

Who shall go up for us against the Canaanites first to fight against them?] Several of the Canaanitish kings remaining still unconquered, the Israelites determined to drive them out; and therefore asked of God which of the tribes should begin the war.

Shall go up.] He shall attack the mountainous country, which was in the lot of his inheritance; according to the prophecy of Jacob, who, after comparing Judah to a lion's whelp, adds, from the prey, my son, thou art gone up, Gen. xlix. 8. Patrick.

I have delivered the land, &c.] All the land belonging to his lot.

4 Bezek.] This city is supposed to have been near Bethlehem.

5 They found Adoni-bezek in Bezek.] He was king or lord of that place, as his name imports.

6 Cut off his thumbs and his great toes.] That he might be rendered incapable of making war for the future; being unable to handle arms from the loss of his thumbs, and to run swiftly from that of his great toes. In those days, to run swiftly was reckoned a notable quality in a warrior.

7 As I have done, so God hath requited me.] He acknowledges the justice of his punishment, having inflicted the same on no less than seventy little kings or princes, whom he compelled to gather their meat, like dogs, under his table.

Jerusalem

9 And afterward the children of Judah went down to fight againſt the Canaanites, that dwelt in the mountain, and in the ſouth, and in the valley.

10 ¶ And Judah went againſt the Canaanites that dwelt in Hebron. Now the name of Hebron before was Kirjath-arba. And they ſlew Sheſhai, and Ahiman, and Talmai.

11 And from thence he went againſt the inhabitants of Debir. And the name of Debir before was Kirjath-ſepher.

12 And Caleb ſaid, He that ſmiteth Kirjath-ſepher, and taketh it, to him will I give Achſah my daughter to wife.

13 And Othniel the ſon of Kenaz, Caleb's younger brother, took it: and he gave him Achſah his daughter to wife.

14 And it came to paſs when ſhe came to him, that ſhe moved him to aſk of her father a field: and ſhe lighted from off her aſs; and Caleb ſaid unto her, What wilt thou?

15 And ſhe ſaid unto him, Give me a bleſſing: for thou haſt given me a ſouth-land; give me alſo ſprings of water. And Caleb gave her the upper ſprings and the nether ſprings.

16 And the children of the Kenite, Moſes' father in law, went up out of the city of palm-trees, with the children of Judah, into the wilderneſs of Judah, which lieth in the ſouth of Arad; and they went and dwelt among the people.

17 And Judah went with Simeon his brother: and they ſlew the Canaanites that inhabited Zephath, and utterly deſtroyed it. And the name of the city was called Hormah.

18 Alſo Judah took Gaza with the coaſt thereof, and Aſkelon with the coaſt thereof, and Ekron with the coaſt thereof.

19 And the LORD was with Judah, and he drave out the inhabitants of the mountain; but could not drive out the inhabitants of the valley, becauſe they had chariots of iron.

20 And they gave Hebron unto Caleb, as Moſes ſaid: and he expelled thence the three ſons of Anak.

21 And the children of Benjamin did not drive out the Jebuſites that inhabited Jeruſalem; but the Jebuſites dwell with the children of Benjamin in Jeruſalem unto this day.

22 And the houſe of Joſeph, they alſo went up againſt Beth-el: and the LORD was with them.

23 And the houſe of Joſeph ſent to deſcry Beth-el. Now the name of the city before was Luz.

24 And the ſpies ſaw a man come forth out of the city, and they ſaid unto him, Shew us, we pray thee, the entrance into the city, and we will ſhew thee mercy.

25 And when he ſhewed them the entrance into the city, they ſmote the city with the edge of the ſword: but they let go the man and all his family.

Jeruſalem.] Jeruſalem appears, from what is ſaid in the next verſe, to have been in the poſſeſſion of the children of Judah. But the ſtrong fortreſs on mount Sion was poſſeſſed by the Jebuſites, who retained it till the days of David.

10 Judah went up againſt the Canaanites that dwelt in Hebron.] This ſhews that the old inhabitants were returned to this place, after it had been taken by Joſhua. Joſh. x. 36.

Sheſhai, and Ahiman, and Talmai.] Theſe were the three ſons of Anak, whom Caleb is ſaid, Joſh. ch. xv. 14, to have driven from Hebron. But we hence learn, that he did not conquer it till after the death of Joſhua.

11 From thence he went againſt the inhabitants of Debir.] Another city that had before been taken by Joſhua in the beginning of the war; but while his army was employed at a diſtance, in reducing the other parts of the country, the Canaanites returned, and again took poſſeſſion of the city.

12 Caleb ſaid, He that ſmiteth Kirjah-ſepher, &c.] See this and the three following verſes in Joſhua, chap. xv. 16, &c.

16 The children of the Kenite, Moſes' father-in-law.] It muſt be remembered, that Moſes invited Hobab the ſon of Jethro (Numb. x. 29.) to accompany him into the land of Canaan; and from hence it ſeems very probable, that he accepted the invitation. Patrick.

Went up out of the city of palm-trees.] i. e. Jericho. They ſeem to have contracted a particular friendſhip with this tribe, ſince they left one of the moſt fertile and delightful ſpots in all Canaan, to ſettle among the families of their favourite tribe.

19 But could not drive out, &c.] The Lord was with Judah in giving him poſſeſſion of the mountainous country, which was what he had promiſed to Moſes, and which promiſe he had afterwards renewed to Joſhua, Joſh. i. 5, 6. But when they were poſſeſſed of their allotted portions, it is probable he ſuſpended his miraculous operations, and let the Canaanites dwell among them, that they might not be too ſecure and inſolent in their proſperity; but be kept in a continual ſtate of care and vigilance, as knowing that if they grew remiſs, their enemies would immediately attempt the recovery of their former poſſeſſions: and that this was God's purpoſe, is plain from the 12th and 13th verſe of the 23d of Joſhua.---Dr. Waterland thinks it ſhould be rendered, He proceeded not to drive out, &c. Scrip. Vind.

24 Shew us, we pray thee, the entrance into the city.] Shew us the weakeſt part of the city, where it may be attacked with the greateſt advantage; they had no reaſon to enquire the way to the gate, that being eaſy enough to be found.

26 And the man went into the land of the Hittites, and built a city, and called the name thereof Luz: which is the name thereof unto this day.

27 Neither did Manasseh drive out the inhabitants of Beth-shean and her towns, nor Taanach and her towns, nor the inhabitants of Dor and her towns, nor the inhabitants of Ibleam and her towns, nor the inhabitants of Megiddo and her towns: but the Canaanites would dwell in that land.

28 And it came to pass when Israel was strong, that they put the Canaanites to tribute, and did not utterly drive them out.

29 Neither did Ephraim drive out the Canaanites that dwelt in Gezer; but the Canaanites dwelt in Gezer among them.

30 Neither did Zebulun drive out the inhabitants of Kitron, nor the inhabitants of Nahalol; but the Canaanites dwelt among them, and became tributaries.

31 Neither did Asher drive out the inhabitants of Accho, nor the inhabitants of Zidon, nor of Ahlab, nor of Achzib, nor of Helbah, nor of Aphik, nor of Rehob:

32 But the Asherites dwelt among the Canaanites, the inhabitants of the land: for they did not drive them out.

33 Neither did Naphtali drive out the inhabitants of Beth-shemesh, nor the inhabitants of Beth-anath; but he dwelt among the Canaanites, the inhabitants of the land: nevertheless, the inhabitants of Beth-shemesh and of Beth-anath became tributaries unto them.

34 And the Amorites forced the children of Dan into the mountain: for they would not suffer them to come down to the valley.

35 But the Amorites would dwell in mount Heres in Aijalon, and in Shaalbim: yet the hand of the house of Joseph prevailed, so that they became tributaries.

36 And the coast of the Amorites was from the going up to Akrabbim, from the rock, and upward.

CHAP. II.

1 An angel rebuketh the people at Bochim. 6 The wickedness of the new generation after Joshua. 14, 20 Their punishment.

AND an angel of the LORD came up from Gilgal to Bochim, and said, I made you to go up out of Egypt, and have brought you unto the land which I sware unto your fathers; and I said, I will never break my covenant with you.

2 And ye shall make no league with the inhabitants of this land; ye shall throw down their altars: but ye have not obeyed my voice: why have ye done this?

3 Wherefore I also said, I will not drive them out from before you: but they shall be as thorns in your sides, and their gods shall be a snare unto you.

4 And it came to pass when the angel of the LORD spake these words unto all the children of Israel, that the people lift up their voice, and wept.

5 And they called the name of that place Bochim: and they sacrificed there unto the LORD.

6 ¶ And when Joshua had let the people go, the children of Israel went every man unto his inheritance to possess the land.

---

26 The man went into the land of the Hittites.] Probably a colony of that people settled in Syria or Arabia.

36 The coast of the Amorites was from the going up to Akrabbim, from the rock, and upward.] Hence we see, that the Israelites suffered a great number of the old inhabitants to continue in Canaan; and it is remarkable, that some of them remained there till after our Saviour's time; for we find mention of the Gergasens, Mat. viii. 28. Patrick.

Notes on the Second Chapter.

Ver. 1 An angel of the Lord came up from Gilgal.] The Jews are generally of opinion, that by this angel we are to understand a prophet, who was sent by God as a messenger, which the word imports: but certainly the person who here reproves the Israelites was something more than a created angel; for who but God can speak in this stile, I made you to go out of Egypt? No prophet, nor any created angel, would have ventured to have used so bold an expression: and therefore Christian interpreters have sufficient reason to conclude, that it was the son of God, who is frequently stiled in scripture the angel of the covenant.

5 And they called the name of that place Bochim.] That is, weepers, because of the doleful lamentations the people then made; some, probably, from reflecting on their sins, and others from the dangers that threatened them.

6 And when Joshua had let the people go.] At the time he dismissed them, after casting lots, and dividing the land among them.

When

7 And the people ſerved the LORD all the days of Joſhua, and all the days of the elders that outlived Joſhua, who had ſeen all the great works of the LORD that he did for Iſrael.

8 And Joſhua the ſon of Nun, the ſervant of the LORD, died, being an hundred and ten years old.

9 And they buried him in the border of his inheritance in Timnath-heres, in the mount of Ephraim, on the north-ſide of the hill Gaaſh.

10 And alſo all that generation were gathered unto their fathers: and there aroſe another generation after them, which knew not the LORD, nor yet the works which he had done for Iſrael.

11 And the children of Iſrael did evil in the ſight of the LORD, and ſerved Baalim.

12 And they forſook the LORD God of their fathers, which brought them out of the land of Egypt, and followed other gods, of the gods of the people that were round about them, and bowed themſelves unto them, and provoked the LORD to anger.

13 And they forſook the LORD, and ſerved Baal and Aſhtaroth.

14 ¶ And the anger of the LORD was hot againſt Iſrael, and he delivered them into the hands of the ſpoilers that ſpoiled them, and he ſold them into the hands of their enemies round about, ſo that they could not any longer ſtand before their enemies.

15 Whitherſoever they went out, the hand of the LORD was againſt them for evil, as the LORD had ſaid, and as the LORD had ſworn unto them: and they were greatly diſtreſſed.

16 Nevertheleſs, the LORD raiſed up judges, which delivered them out of the hand of thoſe that ſpoiled them.

17 And yet they would not hearken unto their judges, but they went a whoring after other gods, and bowed themſelves unto them: they turned quickly out of the way which their fathers walked in, obeying the commandments of the LORD; but they did not ſo.

18 And when the LORD raiſed them up judges, then the LORD was with the judge, and delivered them out of the hand of their enemies all the days of the judge: for it repented the LORD becauſe of their groanings, by reaſon of them that oppreſſed them and vexed them.

19 And it came to paſs when the judge was dead, that they returned, and corrupted themſelves more than their fathers, in following other gods to ſerve them, and to bow down unto them; they ceaſed not from their own doings, nor from their ſtubborn way.

20 ¶ And the anger of the LORD was hot againſt Iſrael; and he ſaid, Becauſe that this people hath tranſgreſſed my covenant which I commanded their fathers, and have not hearkened unto my voice;

21 I alſo will not henceforth drive out any

9 Timnath-heres.] It ſhould be Timnath-ſerah. See Joſhua xxiv. 30.

10 All that generation were gathered unto their fathers.] He means not only thoſe who had ſeen the mighty works of God in Egypt, the Red-ſea, and the wilderneſs; but alſo thoſe who had ſeen the waters of Jordan dried up, the walls of Jericho fall down, the ſun ſtand ſtill at the word of Joſhua, and their enemies deſtroyed by the miraculous hail-ſtorm: for theſe aſtoniſhing works had made ſo deep an impreſſion on their hearts, that moſt of them continued in the ſervice of God while they lived, and kept others in obedience to him. Patrick.

There aroſe another generation after them, which knew not the Lord.] The next generation regarded not the Lord, nor obſerved the precepts of his holy religion: their whole ſtudy was how to ſettle themſelves, on any terms, in their poſſeſſions, by making peace with the Canaanites, whom they ought to have driven out. Patrick.

11 Served Baalim.] The gods of the nations whoſe lands they poſſeſſed, and who were called by this general name, which ſignifies lords; for it muſt be remembered, that the heathens worſhipped a multiplicity of gods. Their gods were great men deified: Baal (in Chaldee Bel) the king of Babel, next after Nimrod, was the firſt that was deified and reputed a god after his death: thence they called all other dæmons by the name of Baalim; which being the general name of the gods of Syria, Paleſtine, &c. there were as many Baals as there were nations. There was a Baal of the Amorites, Moabites, Ammonites, &c. Patrick.

13 Served Baal and Aſhtaroth.] Eſpecially they worſhipped the ſun and moon; ſome by Aſhtaroth underſtand Venus, which they ſuppoſe to have been worſhipped in Canaan.

14 He ſold them.] i. e. He delivered them up to their enemies, who carried away their perſons, and ſold them for ſlaves. This was a juſt puniſhment upon this perverſe people: God had long ſince declared, that if they ſerved the gods of the people that were round about them, they ſhould be ſlaves to thoſe nations whoſe gods they worſhipped. Patrick.

16 The Lord raiſed up judges, &c.] Extraordinary rulers and governors, who led their armies to battle againſt their enemies, and delivered them out of the hands of thoſe that ſpoiled them. Patrick.

17 They turned quickly out of the way.] As ſoon as the judge was dead, who had wrought the deliverance for them, they turned again to their idolatrous courſes.

from before them of the nations which Joshua left when he died:

22 That through them I may prove Israel, whether they will keep the way of the LORD, to walk therein, as their fathers did keep it, or not.

23 Therefore the LORD left those nations, without driving them out hastily; neither delivered he them into the hand of Joshua.

CHAP. III.

1 The nations left to prove Israel. 5 By communion with them they commit idolatry. 8 Of Othniel, 12 Ehud, 31 Shamgar.

NOW these are the nations which the LORD left to prove Israel by them, even as many of Israel as had not known all the wars of Canaan;

2 Only that the generations of the children of Israel might know to teach them war, at the least such as before knew nothing thereof;

3 Namely, five lords of the Philistines, and all the Canaanites, and the Sidonians, and the Hivites that dwelt in mount Lebanon, from mount Baal-hermon unto the entering-in of Hamath.

4 And they were to prove Israel by them, to know whether they would hearken unto the commandments of the LORD, which he commanded their fathers by the hand of Moses.

5 ¶ And the children of Israel dwelt among the Canaanites, Hittites, and Amorites, and Perizzites, and Hivites, and Jebusites.

6 And they took their daughters to be their wives, and gave their daughters to their sons, and served their gods.

7 And the children of Israel did evil in the sight of the LORD, and forgat the LORD their God, and served Baalim, and the groves.

8 ¶ Therefore the anger of the LORD was hot against Israel, and he sold them into the hand of Chushan-rishathaim king of Mesopotamia: and the children of Israel served Chushan-rishathaim eight years.

9 And when the children of Israel cried unto the LORD, the LORD raised up a deliverer to the children of Israel, who delivered them, even Othniel the son of Kenaz, Caleb's younger brother.

10 And the spirit of the LORD came upon him, and he judged Israel, and went out to war: and the LORD delivered Chushan-rishathaim king of Mesopotamia into his hand; and his hand prevailed against Chushan-rishathaim.

11 And the land had rest forty years. And Othniel the son of Kenaz died.

12 ¶ And the children of Israel did evil again in the sight of the LORD: and the LORD strengthened Eglon the king of Moab against Israel, because they had done evil in the sight of the LORD.

Notes on the Third Chapter.

Ver. 1 These are the nations which the Lord left to prove Israel.] These nations were left unsubdued, to prove whether the Israelites would continue to worship the true God, who had done such amazing things for their fathers; or revolt from him, and serve other gods, which neither they nor their fathers knew.

Even as many of Israel as had not known all the wars of Canaan.] Such as were born since the war was ended, and therefore had seen none of the wonderful works of God in the conquest of the land. Patrick.

2 That the generations of the children of Israel might know to teach them war.] Another reason why some of the ancient inhabitants were suffered to remain; for this kept the Israelites from growing sluggish and careless, having powerful enemies surrounding them, to awaken and exercise their courage, and to keep up martial discipline among them; and that they might, at the same time, be induced to have frequent recourse to God for his assistance, by whose power alone their fathers had subdued them. Patrick.

6 They took their daughters to be their wives, and gave their daughters to their sons.] Which was a direct violation of the law of God, Deut. vii. 3, 4.

7 Forgat the Lord their God.] They grew in time so very wicked, that they not only worshipped others gods together with the Lord, but entirely forgot him, and worshipped them alone. Patrick.

Served Baalim, and the groves.] By groves we are to understand the images of their deities placed in the groves. Mr. Pilkington thinks it should be rendered, instead of groves, They served Baalim and Ashtaroth: Baalim being a general name for idols of the male kind, and Ashtaroth for those of the female.

8 King of Mesopotamia.] This country lay between the river Euphrates and the Tigris.

9 The children of Israel cried unto the Lord.] They forsook their idolatrous worship, and returned to the Lord their God, earnestly begging pardon for their transgressions, and imploring his assistance.

10 The spirit of the Lord came upon him.] He had an extraordinary motion from God to take upon him the government of the people; which otherwise he durst not have undertaken.

12 The Lord strengthened Eglon the king of Moab against Israel, &c.] The next enemy who oppressed the children of Israel were the Moabites; for, since they worshipped the gods of the people round about them, it was fit they should be punished by those very people. Patrick.

13 Pos-

13 And he gathered unto him the children of Ammon and Amalek, and went and ſmote Iſrael, and poſſeſſed the city of palm-trees.

14 So the children of Iſrael ſerved Eglon the king of Moab eighteen years.

15 But when the children of Iſrael cried unto the LORD, the LORD raiſed them up a deliverer, Ehud the ſon of Gera a Benjamite, a man left-handed: and by him the children of Iſrael ſent a preſent unto Eglon the king of Moab.

16 But Ehud made him a dagger which had two edges, of a cubit length; and he did gird it under his raiment upon his right thigh.

17 And he brought the preſent unto Eglon king of Moab. And Eglon was a very fat man.

18 And when he had made an end to offer the preſent, he ſent away the people that bare the preſent.

19 But he himſelf turned again from the quarries that were by Gilgal, and ſaid, I have a ſecret errand unto thee, O king: who ſaid, Keep ſilence. And all that ſtood by him went out from him.

20 And Ehud came unto him; and he was ſitting in a ſummer-parlour, which he had for himſelf alone. And Ehud ſaid, I have a meſſage from God unto thee. And he aroſe out of his ſeat.

21 And Ehud put forth his left-hand, and took the dagger from his right thigh, and thruſt it into his belly.

22 And the haft alſo went in after the blade: and the fat cloſed upon the blade, ſo that he could not draw the dagger out of his belly; and the dirt came out.

23 Then Ehud went forth through the porch, and ſhut the doors of the parlour upon him, and locked them.

24 When he was gone out, his ſervants came; and when they ſaw that behold, the doors of the parlour were locked, they ſaid, Surely he covereth his feet in his ſummer-chamber.

25 And they tarried till they were aſhamed: and behold, he opened not the doors of the parlour; therefore they took a key, and opened them: and behold, their lord was fallen down dead on the earth.

26 And Ehud eſcaped while they tarried; and paſſed beyond the quarries, and eſcaped unto Seirath.

27 And it came to paſs when he was come, that he blew a trumpet in the mountain of Ephraim, and the children of Iſrael went down with him from the mount, and he before them.

28 And he ſaid unto them, Follow after me: for the LORD hath delivered your enemies the Moabites into your hand. And they went down after him, and took the fords of Jordan toward Moab, and ſuffered not a man to paſs over.

29 And they ſlew of Moab at that time about ten thouſand men, all luſty, and all men of valour; and there eſcaped not a man.

30 So Moab was ſubdued that day under the 13 Poſſeſſed the city of palm-trees.] Jericho; for though Joſhua had deſtroyed the town, yet, it is probable, fortifications were erected on the ſpot where it ſtood, that they might the better keep that fertile country in ſubjection. Patrick.

15 A man left-handed.] The word that anſwers this expreſſion in the Septuagint ſignifies, a man who uſed both his hands as right hands.

19 The quarries that were in Gilgal.] The Septuagint and Vulgate render it graven images, which is indeed the meaning of the Hebrew word in ſeveral places of ſcripture. Perhaps the Moabites might erect their idols here rather than in any other place, becauſe it had been famous for the preſence of God; and probably it was this affront offered by the Moabites to Jehovah, that inſpired Ehud with the reſolution of revenging it, and delivering his people from oppreſſion. Patrick.

20 Ehud ſaid, I have a meſſage from God to thee, and he aroſe out of his ſeat.] He roſe from his ſeat in reverence to God, whoſe words he ſuppoſed he was going to hear.

22 And the dirt came out.] The Syriac and Arabic verſions ſay, And he went out haſtily. It is not probable that Ehud would have ſtaid ſo long to have ſeen, or that the hiſtorian would have recorded ſuch a circumſtance, as the dung's coming out of the wound. Pilkington's Remarks.

23 Ehud went forth through the porch.] He eſcaped down the privy ſtairs. Shaw.

24 Surely he covereth his feet.] The moſt probable ſenſe of this paſſage is, that he had retired to ſleep, as was uſual in thoſe hot countries, 1 Sam. xxiv. 3.

26 Ehud eſcaped while they tarried.] They waited ſo long, thinking their lord was fallen aſleep, that Ehud had time ſufficient to eſcape.

28 The Lord hath delivered your enemies the Moabites into your hand.] He was aſſured that God, who had aſſiſted him to perform his enterprize, whereby the Moabites were deprived of their chief, would accompliſh what he had begun, and give them a perfect deliverance. Patrick.

hand of Iſrael. And the land had reſt fourſcore years.

31 ¶ And after him was Shamgar the ſon of Anath, which ſlew of the Philiſtines ſix hundred men with an ox-goad: and he alſo delivered Iſrael.

CHAP. IV.

1 Deborah and Barah deliver Iſrael from Jabin and Siſera. 18 Jael killeth Siſera.

AND the children of Iſrael again did evil in the ſight of the LORD when Ehud was dead.

2 And the LORD ſold them into the hand of Jabin king of Canaan, that reigned in Hazor; the captain of whoſe hoſt was Siſera, which dwelt in Haroſheth of the Gentiles.

3 And the children of Iſrael cried unto the LORD: for he had nine hundred chariots of iron; and twenty years he mightily oppreſſed the children of Iſrael.

4 And Deborah a propheteſs, the wife of Lapidoth, ſhe judged Iſrael at that time.

5 And ſhe dwelt under the palm-tree of Deborah, between Ramah and Beth-el in mount Ephraim: and the children of Iſrael came up to her for judgement.

6 And ſhe ſent and called Barak the ſon of Abinoam out of Kedeſh-naptali, and ſaid unto him, Hath not the LORD God of Iſrael commanded, ſaying, Go, and draw toward mount Tabor, and take with thee ten thouſand men of the children of Naphtali and of the children of Zebulun?

7 And I will draw unto thee, to the river Kiſhon, Siſera the captain of Jabin's army, with his chariots and his multitude; and I will deliver him into thine hand.

8 And Barak ſaid unto her, If thou wilt go with me, then I will go: but if thou wilt not go with me, then I will not go.

9 And ſhe ſaid, I will ſurely go with thee: notwithſtanding the journey that thou takeſt ſhall not be for thine honour: for the LORD ſhall ſell Siſera into the hand of a woman. And Deborah aroſe, and went with Barak to Kedeſh.

10 And Barak called Zebulun and Naphtali to Kedeſh; and he went up with ten thouſand

31 Which ſlew of the Philiſtines ſix hundred men with an ox-goad.] The goads uſed in this country were of an extraordinary ſize. Mr. Maundrel tells us, that he meaſured ſeveral, and found them about eight feet long, and, at the larger end, ſix inches in circumference. "They were, adds he, armed at "the leſſer end with a ſharp prickle for driving the oxen, and "at the other end with a ſmall ſpade or paddle of iron, ſtrong "enough for cleanſing the plough from the clay that encum-"bered it." Hence we ſee the goad uſed by Shamgar was a formidable weapon. The authors of the Univerſal Hiſtory interpret this paſſage differently; they ſuppoſe that Shamgar put himſelf at the head of a tumultuary multitude of country people, who were armed, in their ruſtic way, with the implements of tillage; and that Shamgar happened to have an ox-goad in his hand, when theſe ſix hundred Philiſtines fell; not that he killed them all himſelf with that weapon. Vol. II. p. 231.

Notes on the Fourth Chapter.

Ver. 2 Jabin king of Canaan, that dwelt in Hazor.] Jabin was probably a general name of all the kings of this country, like that of Pharaoh among the Egyptians; for the king of Hazor, whom Joſhua ſlew, was called by the ſame name, Joſhua xi.

3 The children of Iſrael cried unto the Lord; for he had nine hundred chariots of iron.] His power was ſo great that the Iſraelites had no hopes of recovering their liberty, but by the help of the Lord.

Twenty years he mightily oppreſſed the children of Iſrael.] Their frequent revolts from God had increaſed his anger, and therefore he puniſhed them the more ſeverely. The Canaanites were the old inhabitants of the land, and hated the Iſraelites for the injury they had done their anceſtors; and therefore exerciſed the moſt cruel oppreſſions on them. Patrick.

4 Deborah a propheteſs, the wife of Lapidoth, ſhe judged Iſrael at that time.] The words prophet and propheteſs in the Old Teſtament ſometimes denote perſons endued with a ſpecial, though not miraculous gifts or graces, for the better underſtanding and explaining the word of God; and of this ſort were the ſons of the prophets, or ſuch as were brought up in the ſchools of the prophets. As therefore we read of no miraculous action that Deborah did, ſhe was, perhaps, only a woman of eminent holineſs, prudence, and knowledge of the holy ſcriptures, by which ſhe was ſingularly qualified to judge the people; that is, to determine cauſes and controverſies among them, according to the word of God. Stackhouſe.

5 She dwelt under the palm-tree of Deborah.] The LXX underſtand it, ſhe ſat under the palm-tree when ſhe adminiſtered judgment, and thence the tree was called by her name.

6 Go, and draw toward mount Tabor.] This is a very remarkable mountain in Galilee, not far from Kadeſh, in the tribe of Zebulun, and in the confines of Iſſachar and Naphtali. It ſtands in the middle of the valley of Zezreel. Joſephus tells us, that the height of this mountain is thirty ſtadia, or furlongs, and that on the top of it there is a beautiful plain of twenty ſtadia in circumference. Whence it appears, how commodious a place this mountain was to be the rendezvous of Barak's forces, ſince it ſtood upon the confines of ſo many tribes, was inacceſſible to the enemies horſes and chariots, and had on the top of it a ſpacious plain, where he might completely marſhal and diſcipline his army. Calmet and Pool.

7 River Kiſhon.] This river has its ſource in mount Tabor, and paſſing along the valley of Jezreel, now called the plain of Eſdraelon, empties itſelf into the Mediterranean ſea. Well's Geography.

Then Jael Hebers wife, took a nail of the tent & took a hammer in her hand, & went softly unto him, and smote the nail into his temples, and fastned it into the ground (for he was fast asleep and weary) so he died — Judges Chap. IV. Ve. 21.

men at his feet: and Deborah went up with him.

11 Now Heber the Kenite, which was of the children of Hobab the father in law of Moſes, had ſevered himſelf from the Kenites, and pitched his tent unto the plain of Zaanaim, which is by Kedeſh.

12 And they ſhewed Siſera, that Barak the ſon of Abinoam was gone up to mount Tabor.

13 And Siſera gathered together all his chariots, even nine hundred chariots of iron, and all the people that were with him, from Haroſheth of the Gentiles, unto the river of Kiſhon.

14 And Deborah ſaid unto Barak, Up; for this is the day in which the LORD hath delivered Siſera into thine hand: is not the LORD gone out before thee? So Barak went down from mount Tabor, and ten thouſand men after him.

15 And the LORD diſcomfited Siſera, and all his chariots, and all his hoſt with the edge of the ſword, before Barak: ſo that Siſera lighted down off his chariot, and fled away on his feet.

16 But Barak purſued after the chariots and after the hoſt unto Haroſheth of the Gentiles: and all the hoſt of Siſera fell upon the edge of the ſword; and there was not a man left.

17 Howbeit, Siſera fled away on his feet to the tent of Jael the wife of Heber the Kenite: for there was peace between Jabin the king of Hazor and the houſe of Heber the Kenite.

18 ¶ And Jael went out to meet Siſera, and ſaid unto him, Turn in, my lord, turn in to me; fear not: and when he had turned in unto her into the tent, ſhe covered him with a mantle.

19 And he ſaid unto her, Give me, I pray thee, a little water to drink; for I am thirſty. And ſhe opened a bottle of milk, and gave him drink, and covered him.

20 Again he ſaid unto her, Stand in the door of the tent, and it ſhall be when any man doth come and enquire of thee, and ſay, Is there any man here? that thou ſhalt ſay, No.

21 Then Jael Heber's wife took a nail of the tent, and took an hammer in her hand, and went ſoftly unto him, and ſmote the nail into his temples, and faſtened it into the ground: for he was faſt aſleep and weary. So he died.

22 And behold, as Barak purſued Siſera, Jael came out to meet him, and ſaid unto him, Come, and I will ſhew thee the man whom thou ſeekeſt. And when he came into her tent, behold, Siſera lay dead, and the nail was in his temples.

23 So God ſubdued on that day Jabin the king of Canaan before the children of Iſrael.

24 And the hand of the children of Iſrael proſpered and prevailed againſt Jabin the king of Canaan, until they had deſtroyed Jabin king of Canaan.

CHAP. V.

1 The ſong of Deborah and Barak.

THEN ſang Deborah, and Barak the ſon of Abinoam, on that day, ſaying,

2 Praiſe ye the LORD for the avenging of Iſrael, when the people willingly offered themſelves.

3 Hear, O ye kings; give ear, O ye princes: I, even I will ſing unto the LORD; I will ſing praiſe to the LORD God of Iſrael.

4 LORD, when thou wenteſt out of Seir, when thou marchedſt out of the field of Edom, the earth trembled, and the heavens dropped, the clouds alſo dropped water.

---

21 A nail of the tent, &c.] The Septuagint has it, a pin of the tent (ſuch as being driven into the ground held the tent faſt) and ſmote the pin into his temples, and it went (through his head) into the ground; and he ſtarted, and his eyes turned dark, and he died.

Notes on the Fifth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Then ſang Deborah and Barak.] It muſt not be ſuppoſed that they performed it alone, but with all the elders of Iſrael, who were called together to ſing it with them.

2 Praiſe ye the Lord for the avenging of Iſrael, when the people willingly offered themſelves.] To revenge the wrongs which Iſrael had ſuffered: the expreſſions of this ſong are ſo lofty and natural, that none of the Greek or Latin poets have equalled them. Deborah begins her ſong with aſcribing the victory to God, acknowledging his wiſdom and power in taking vengeance on their oppreſſors. Patrick.

4 The earth trembled, and the heavens dropped, the clouds alſo dropped water.] Theſe poetical expreſſions denote the general conſternation of all thoſe countries, when they ſaw Sihon king of the Amorites, and Og the king of Baſhan, ſuddenly overthrown, and their kingdoms taken by the Iſraelites. Patrick.

5 The mountains melted from before the LORD, even that Sinai from before the LORD God of Iſrael.

6 In the days of Shamgar the ſon of Anath, in the days of Jael, the highways were unoccupied, and the travellers walked through byways.

7 The inhabitants of the villages ceaſed, they ceaſed in Iſrael, until that I Deborah aroſe, that I aroſe a mother in Iſrael.

8 They choſe new gods; then was war in the gates: was there a ſhield or ſpear ſeen among forty thouſand in Iſrael?

9 My heart is toward the governors of Iſrael, that offered themſelves willingly among the people. Bleſs ye the LORD.

10 Speak ye that ride on white aſſes, ye that ſit in judgement, and walk by the way.

11 They that are delivered from the noiſe of archers in the places of drawing-water; there ſhall they rehearſe the righteous acts of the LORD, even the righteous acts towards the inhabitants of his villages in Iſrael: then ſhall the people of the LORD go down to the gates.

12 Awake, awake, Deborah: awake, awake, utter a ſong: ariſe, Barak, and lead thy captivity captive, thou ſon of Abinoam.

13 Then he made him that remaineth have dominion over the nobles among the people: the LORD made me have dominion over the mighty.

14 Out of Ephraim was there a root of them againſt Amalek; after thee, Benjamin, among thy people: out of Machir came down governors, and out of Zebulun they that handle the pen of the writer.

15 And the princes of Iſſachar were with Deborah; even Iſſachar, and alſo Barak: he was ſent on foot into the valley. For the diviſions of Reuben there were great thoughts of heart.

16 Why abodeſt thou among the ſheep-folds, to hear the bleatings of the flocks? for the diviſions of Reuben there were great ſearchings of heart.

17 Gilead abode beyond Jordan: and why did Dan remain in ſhips? Aſher continued on the ſea-ſhore, and abode in his breaches.

---

5 The mountains melted.] i. e. All the inhabitants of thoſe mountains.

6 In the days of Shamgar---in the days of Jael.] Or, from the days of Shamgar, &c. Jael is here mentioned not as a judge, but as a woman of a valiant ſpirit.

The highways were unoccupied.] Travellers were obliged to ſeek for bye-paths, the highways being rendered unſafe by robbers.

7 The inhabitants of the villages ceaſed.] They fled to fortified towns, and other ſtrong holds.

I aroſe a mother in Iſrael.] As men who govern well are ſtiled fathers of their country, ſo it was proper for her to call herſelf a mother in Iſrael.

8 They choſe new gods.] i. e. The Iſraelites ſerved Baalim and Aſhtaroth; which was the fountain of all their calamities.

Was there a ſpear or ſhield ſeen among forty thouſand in Iſrael?] The Canaanites had taken care to diſarm them.

10 Ye that ride on white aſſes.] There were no horſes in Judæa, but what was purchaſed in other countries, ſo that every one rode on aſſes; but thoſe of a whitiſh colour being highly eſteemed, were uſed only by honourable perſons.

11 They that are delivered from the noiſe of archers in the places of drawing water.] She calls upon the ſhepherds alſo to join in the praiſes of Jehovah every time they came to water their flocks at the wells, where, before this deliverance, the archers, who lurked in the adjacent woods, ſhot their arrows at them. Patrick.

Then ſhall the people go down to the gates.] Every man might now ſafely go down to the gate of his own city, where judgment was adminiſtred.

13 Him that remained to have dominion over the nobles among the people.] The ſmall remnant of Iſrael, who were not utterly diſpirited by the oppreſſion of Jabin, triumphed with Barak over the nobles of Canaan. Patrick.

14 Out of Ephraim there was a root of them againſt Amalek.] The Amalekites were coming to join the army of Siſera, but were oppoſed in their paſſage by a ſmall body of Ephraimites, here called a root. After thee Benjamin, among thy people. Following the example of the tribe of Ephraim, who ſeem all to have followed Barak. Out of Machir. An eminent family in Manaſſeh, ſettled on the other ſide Jordan, which rendered their zeal the more remarkable. Came down governors. Some of the principal perſons of the country. Out of Zebulun they that handle the pen of the writer. Men of letters, who ſtudied and expounded the law; but on this occaſion joined the army under Barak. Pat.

15 Even Iſſachar.] The people of that tribe followed the example of their princes, and were as forward as Barak to march againſt the enemy; for the Hebrew word which we tranſlate alſo, ſignifies as, or like unto.

He was ſent on foot into the valley.] He was ſent down from mount Tabor, by order of Deborah, to fall upon Siſera in the valley.

For the diviſions of Reuben there were great thoughts of heart.] The Reubenites were ſo divided in their counſels, that none of them came to the aſſiſtance of their brethren, which occaſioned great uneaſineſs in the Iſraelitiſh army.

16 Why abodeſt thou among the ſheep-folds, to hear the bleatings of the flocks?] They were more concerned for their cattle, than their religion, laws, and liberties. Patrick.

17 Gilead abode beyond Jordan.] Under the name of Gilead are comprehended the Gadites, who dwelt in that country with the children of Machir.

Why did Dan remain in ſhips?] They regarded nothing but their merchandiſe, while their brethren hazarded their lives in the field.

Aſher continued on the ſea-ſhore.] This tribe alſo bordered on the 18 Zebulun and Naphtali were a people that jeoparded their lives unto the death in the high places of the field.

19 The kings came and fought, then fought the kings of Canaan in Taanach by the waters of Megiddo: they took no gain of money.

20 They fought from heaven: the ſtars in their courſes fought againſt Siſera.

21 The river of Kiſhon ſwept them away, that ancient river, the river Kiſhon: O my ſoul, thou haſt troden down ſtrength.

22 Then were the horſe-hoofs broken by the means of the pranſings, the pranſings of their mighty ones.

23 Curſe ye Meroz, ſaid the angel of the LORD, curſe ye bitterly the inhabitants thereof: becauſe they came not to the help of the LORD, to the help of the LORD againſt the mighty.

24 Bleſſed above women ſhall Jael the wife of Heber the Kenite be, bleſſed ſhall ſhe be above women in the tent.

25 He aſked water, and ſhe gave him milk; ſhe brought forth butter in a lordly diſh.

26 She put her hand to the nail, and her right hand to the workmen's hammer: and with the hammer ſhe ſmote Siſera; ſhe ſmote off his head, when ſhe had pierced and ſtricken through his temples.

27 At her feet he bowed, he fell, he lay down: at her feet he bowed, he fell: where he bowed, there he fell down dead.

28 The mother of Siſera looked out at a window, and cried through the latteſs, Why is his chariot ſo long in coming? why tarry the wheels of his chariots?

29 Her wiſe ladies anſwered her, yea, ſhe returned anſwer to herſelf,

30 Have they not ſped? have they not divided the prey, to every man a damſel or two? to Siſera a prey of divers colours, a prey of divers colours of needle-work, of divers colours of needle-work on both ſides, meet for the necks of them that take the ſpoil?

31 So let all thine enemies periſh, O LORD: but let them that love him be as the ſun when he goeth forth in his might. And the land had reſt forty years.

CHAP. VI.

the Mediterranean, where they continued, in their breaches or creeks, and refuſed to join in the common cauſe of the nation.

18 Zebulun and Naphtali jeoparded their lives unto the death.] They were the only people who unanimouſly deſpiſed life, in compariſon with their religion and the liberty of their country. Patrick.

In the high places of the field.] On mount Tabor, from whence they went down into the plain, with a reſolution to conquer or die.

19 The kings came and fought.] Jabin had ſeveral confederates, who joined their forces with his, to ſubdue the Iſraelites.

They took no gain of money.] i. e. They were ſo enraged againſt the Iſraelites, that they would have ſpared no man's life had they conquered, though ever ſo large a ſum had been offered for his redemption.

20 They fought from heaven.] God fought for the Iſraelites, by ſending thunder, lightning, and hail-ſtones from heaven upon the Canaanites.

The ſtars in their courſes fought againſt Siſera.] The angels of heaven, who are called ſtars, Job xxxvii. 7. Or, the ſtars might be ſaid to fight againſt Siſera, by bringing an abundance of rain, whereby the Kiſhon was ſo high and rapid, as to ſweep away the hoſt of Siſera in attempting to ford it. Shaw.

21 O my ſoul, thou haſt troden down ſtrength.] This is an elegant apoſtrophe to herſelf; whoſe happineſs ſhe applauds, in beholding the enemies of her country vanquiſhed by the commiſſion ſhe gave Barak from God, and by her prayers for his ſucceſs. Patrick.

23 Curſe ye Meroz.] The generality of interpreters underſtand by Meroz, a city near the field of battle, the inhabitants of which refuſed to join Barak againſt the Canaanites. Patrick.

Said the angel of the Lord.] She would not have it thought that this curſe proceeded from her anger, but from the authority of God himſelf, who, by his angel, had denounced it againſt Meroz.

26 She ſmote off his head.] The LXX have it, She nailed down his head; for there is not the leaſt indication of her cutting off his head, but only ſtriking it through.

27 At her feet he bowed, &c.] There is a beautiful ſtanza in Spencer's Fairy Queen, b. 1. ch. xi. ſtanza 54. So down he fell, &c. which is an imitation of this noble paſſage.

30 To every man a damſel or two.] Young virgins were, by the ancients, reckoned the principal part of the ſoldiers prey.

To Siſera a prey of divers colours---of needle-work on both ſides.] Theſe were the richeſt part of the ſpoil, and ſo highly valued, that only the moſt honourable perſons were ſuffered to wear them; hence they ſeem to be appropriated to Siſera, as his part of the ſpoil. Patrick.

31 So let all thine enemies periſh, O Lord.] From hence ſhe takes occaſion to turn her ſpeech to God; beſeeching him, that all his enemies might be diſappointed of their vain hopes. This moſt noble ſong I have endeavoured to tranſlate in Engliſh verſe. See my Poems, p. 99.

Notes on the Sixth Chapter.

Ver. 1 The children of Iſrael did evil in the ſight of the Lord.] After the death of Deborah and Barak, they again relapſed into idolatry.

The

vered them into the hand of Midian ſeven years.

2 And the hand of Midian prevailed againſt Iſrael: and becauſe of the Midianites the children of Iſrael made them the dens which are in the mountains, and caves, and ſtrong holds.

3 And ſo it was when Iſrael had ſown, that the Midianites came up, and the Amalekites, and the children of the eaſt, even they came up againſt them;

4 And they encamped againſt them, and deſtroyed the increaſe of the earth, till thou come unto Gaza; and left no ſuſtenance for Iſrael, neither ſheep, nor ox, nor aſs.

5 For they came up with their cattle, and their tents, and they came as graſhoppers for multitude; for both they and their camels were without number: and they entered into the land to deſtroy it.

6 And Iſrael was greatly impoveriſhed becauſe of the Midianites; and the children of Iſrael cried unto the LORD.

7 ¶ And it came to paſs, when the children of Iſrael cried unto the LORD becauſe of the Midianites,

8 That the LORD ſent a prophet unto the children of Iſrael, which ſaid unto them, Thus ſaith the LORD God of Iſrael, I brought you up from Egypt, and brought you forth out of the houſe of bondage;

9 And I delivered you out of the hand of the Egyptians, and out of the hand of all that oppreſſed you, and drave them out from before you, and gave you their land:

10 And I ſaid unto you, I am the LORD your God; fear not the gods of the Amorites in whoſe land ye dwell: but ye have not obeyed my voice.

11 ¶ And there came an angel of the LORD, and ſat under an oak, which was in Ophrah, that pertained unto Joaſh the Abi-ezrite: and his ſon Gideon threſhed wheat by the winepreſs, to hide it from the Midianites.

12 And the angel of the LORD appeared unto him, and ſaid unto him, The LORD is with thee, thou mighty man of valour.

13 And Gideon ſaid unto him, O my lord, if the LORD be with us, why then is all this befallen us? and where be all his miracles which our fathers told us of, ſaying, Did not the LORD bring us up from Egypt? but now the LORD hath forſaken us, and delivered us into the hands of the Midianites.

14 And the LORD looked upon him, and ſaid, Go in this thy might, and thou ſhalt ſave Iſrael from the hand of the Midianites: have not I ſent thee?

15 And he ſaid unto him, Oh my lord, wherewith ſhall I ſave Iſrael? behold, my family is poor in Manaſſeh, and I am the leaſt in my father's houſe.

16 And the LORD ſaid unto him, Surely I will be with thee, and thou ſhalt ſmite the Midianites as one man.

17 And he ſaid unto him, If I now have found grace in thy ſight, then ſhew me a ſign that thou talkeſt with me.

18 Depart not hence, I pray thee, until I come unto thee, and bring forth my preſent, and ſet it before thee. And he ſaid, I will tarry until thou come again.

19 And Gideon went in, and made ready a kid, and unleavened cakes of an ephah of flour: the fleſh he put in a baſket, and he put the broth in a pot, and brought it out unto him under the oak, and preſented it.

The Lord delivered them into the hand of Midian.] The Midianites were their old enemies, having joined with the Moabites to ſeduce the people to idolatry, when they encamped on the plains of Moab, and were, in a manner, utterly deſtroyed by the Iſraelites, Numb. xxxi. Patrick.

2 Made them the dens, &c.] i. e. They made them their retreat. Dr. Shaw ſays, that a great way on each ſide of Joppa, on the ſea-coaſt, there is a range of mountains and precipices; and that in theſe high ſituations are generally found the dens, the holes, or caves ſo frequently mentioned in ſcripture; and formerly the loneſome retreats of the diſtreſſed Iſraelites.

5 They came as graſhoppers.] It would be more properly rendered, locuſts, which have their very name from the vaſt numbers wherein they come.

8 The Lord ſent a prophet unto the children of Iſrael.] Who this prophet was is not known: God continued to ſend them prophets, to put them in mind of their duty, and to call them to repentance, when they had forſaken him.

11 An angel of the Lord.] It ſeems the Iſraelites had liſtened to the prophet, and begun to reform their ways, on which the Lord ſent his angel to appoint them a deliverer.

14 The Lord looked upon him.] He looked upon him with the eyes of benevolence, promiſed him his aſſiſtance, and bid him be of good courage.

20 And the angel of God ſaid unto him, Take the fleſh, and the unleavened cakes, and lay them upon this rock, and pour out the broth. And he did ſo.

21 Then the angel of the LORD put forth the end of his ſtaff that was in his hand, and touched the fleſh, and the unleavened cakes: and there roſe up fire out of the rock, and conſumed the fleſh and the unleavened cakes. Then the angel of the LORD departed out of his ſight.

22 And when Gideon perceived that he was an angel of the LORD, Gideon ſaid, Alas, O LORD God: for becauſe I have ſeen an angel of the LORD face to face.

23 And the LORD ſaid unto him, Peace be unto thee: fear not; thou ſhalt not die.

24 Then Gideon built an altar there unto the LORD, and called it Jehovah-ſhalom: unto this day it is yet in Ophrah of the Abi-ezrites.

25 And it came to paſs the ſame night, that the LORD ſaid unto him, Take thy father's young bullock, even the ſecond bullock of ſeven years old, and throw down the altar of Baal that thy father hath, and cut down the grove that is by it:

26 And build an altar unto the LORD thy God upon the top of this rock, in the ordered place, and take the ſecond bullock, and offer a burnt-ſacrifice with the wood of the grove which thou ſhalt cut down.

27 Then Gideon took ten men of his ſervants, and did as the LORD had ſaid unto him: and ſo it was, becauſe he feared his father's houſhold and the men of the city, that he could not do it by day, that he did it by night.

28 And when the men of the city aroſe early in the morning, behold, the altar of Baal was caſt down, and the grove was cut down that was by it, and the ſecond bullock was offered upon the altar that was built.

29 And they ſaid one to another, Who hath done this thing? and when they enquired and aſked, they ſaid, Gideon the ſon of Joaſh hath done this thing.

30 Then the men of the city ſaid unto Joaſh, Bring out thy ſon that he may die: becauſe he hath caſt down the altar of Baal, and becauſe he hath cut down the grove that was by it.

31 And Joaſh ſaid unto all that ſtood againſt him, Will ye plead for Baal? will ye ſave him? he that will plead for him, let him be put to death, whilſt it is yet morning: if he be a god, let him plead for himſelf, becauſe one hath caſt down his altar.

32 Therefore on that day he called him Jerubbaal, ſaying, Let Baal plead againſt him, becauſe he hath thrown down his altar.

33 Then all the Midianites and the Amalekites and the children of the eaſt were gathered together, and went over, and pitched in the valley of Jezreel.

34 But the ſpirit of the LORD came upon Gideon, and he blew a trumpet; and Abiezer was gathered after them.

35 And he ſent meſſengers throughout all Manaſſeh; who alſo was gathered after him; and he ſent meſſengers unto Aſher, and unto Zebulun, and unto Naphtali; and they came up to meet them.

36 And Gideon ſaid unto God, If thou wilt ſave Iſrael by mine hand, as thou haſt ſaid,

37 Behold, I will put a fleece of wool in the floor; and if the dew be on the fleece 34 Abiezer was gathered after him.] i. e. The Abiezrites came and offered their ſervice to fight under his banner.

37 If the dew be on the fleece only, &c.] He ſuppoſed that the dew which diſtilled from heaven was a divine gift (as the ſcripture often teſtifies) and therefore deſired of God, that though it commonly falls every where, it might now, by his extraordinary only, and it be dry upon all the earth beſide, then ſhall I know that thou wilt ſave Iſrael by mine hand, as thou haſt ſaid.

38 And it was ſo: for he roſe up early on the morrow, and thruſt the fleece together, and wringed the dew out of the fleece, a bowlfull of water.

39 And Gideon ſaid unto God, Let not thine anger be hot againſt me, and I will ſpeak but this once: let me prove, I pray thee, but this once with the fleece; let it now be dry only upon the fleece, and upon all the ground let there be dew.

40 And God did ſo that night: for it was dry upon the fleece only, and there was dew on all the ground.

CHAP. VII.

1 Gideon's army. 9 He is encouraged by the dream, and interpretation of the barley cake. 24 Oreb and Zeeb.

THEN Jerubbaal, who is Gideon, and all the people that were with him, roſe up early, and pitched beſide the well of Harod: ſo that the hoſt of the Midianites were on the north-ſide of them by the hill of Moreh, in the valley.

2 And the LORD ſaid unto Gideon, The people that are with thee are too many for me to give the Midianites into their hands, leſt Iſrael vaunt themſelves againſt me, ſaying, Mine own hand hath ſaved me.

3 Now therefore go to, proclaim in the ears of the people, ſaying, Whoſoever is fearful and afraid, let him return and depart early from mount Gilead. And there returned of the people twenty and two thouſand; and there remained ten thouſand.

4 And the LORD ſaid unto Gideon, The people are yet too many, bring them down unto the water, and I will try them for thee there: and it ſhall be, that of whom I ſay unto thee, This ſhall go with thee, the ſame ſhall go with thee; and of whomſoever I ſay unto thee, This ſhall not go with thee, the ſame ſhall not go.

5 So he brought down the people unto the water: and the LORD ſaid unto Gideon, Every one that lappeth of the water with his tongue, as a dog lappeth, him ſhalt thou ſet by himſelf; likewiſe every one that boweth down upon his knees to drink.

6 And the number of them that lapped, putting their hand to their mouth, were three hundred men: but all the reſt of the people bowed down upon their knees to drink water.

7 And the LORD ſaid unto Gideon, By the three hundred men that lapped will I ſave you, and deliver the Midianites into thine hand: and let all the other people go every man unto his place.

8 So the people took victuals in their hand, and their trumpets: and he ſent all the reſt of Iſrael, every man unto his tent; and retained thoſe three hundred men. And the hoſt of Midian was beneath him in the valley.

9 ¶ And it came to paſs the ſame night, that the LORD ſaid unto him, Ariſe, get thee down unto the hoſt; for I have delivered it into thine hand.

10 But if thou fear to go down, go thou with Phurah thy ſervant down to the hoſt.

providence, water only his fleece. Some think he choſe a fleece of wool, the better to expreſs how the earth was ſhorn by the Midianites, as the ſheep had been by him. When he begged the dew might fall on the fleece, it was to repreſent the kindneſs of God to him: on the whole ground, to repreſent his favour to all the people. Laſtly, theſe two miracles, oppoſite to each other, diſplay the ſtate of the Jewiſh nation, which was moiſtened with the dew of heaven, (the knowledge of the Almighty) when the reſt of the world was dry; and now deprived of this benefit, when the reſt of the earth is filled with the knowledge of the Lord, as the waters cover the ſea. Patrick.

Notes on the Seventh Chapter.

Ver. 3 Mount Gilead.] Not the Gilead on the other ſide Jordan, but one weſt of it, in the tribe of Manaſſeh.

5 Every one that lappeth water with his tongue, &c.] Commentators have been perplexed to find a probable reaſon for God's making a diſtinction between the ſoldiers who lapped water with their hands, and thoſe who laid themſelves down to drink. But it ſeems, God intending to reduce Gideon's army to a very ſmall number, took this method of performing it: for as the ſeaſon of the year was hot, and the generality of the ſoldiers weary, faint, and thirſty, it was probable that moſt of them would lie down, as indeed they did, and refreſh themſelves with large draughts of water. Patrick.

7 By the three hundred men that lapped will I ſave you, &c.] That all the world might be convinced, it was God, and not man, that cauſed the hoſt of Midian to fly before ſo ſmall a force.

11 After-

11 And thou ſhalt hear what they ſay; and afterward ſhall thine hands be ſtrengthened to go down unto the hoſt. Then went he down with Phurah his ſervant, unto the outſide of the armed men that were in the hoſt.

12 And the Midianites and the Amalekites, and all the children of the eaſt lay along in the valley like graſhoppers for multitude; and their camels were without number, as the ſand by the ſea ſide for multitude.

13 And when Gideon was come, behold, there was a man that told a dream unto his fellow, and ſaid, Behold, I dreamed a dream, and lo, a cake of barley bread tumbled into the hoſt of Midian, and came unto a tent, and ſmote it that it fell, and overturned it, that the tent lay along.

14 And his fellow anſwered, and ſaid, This is nothing elſe ſave the ſword of Gideon the ſon of Joaſh, a man of Iſrael: for into his hand hath God delivered Midian and all the hoſt.

15 And it was ſo, when Gideon heard the telling of the dream, and the interpretation thereof, that he worſhipped, and returned into the hoſt of Iſrael, and ſaid, Ariſe; for the LORD hath delivered into your hand the hoſt of Midian.

16 And he divided the three hundred men into three companies, and he put a trumpet in every man's hand, with empty pitchers, and lamps within the pitchers.

17 And he ſaid unto them, Look on me, and do likewiſe: and behold, when I come to the outſide of the camp, it ſhall be that as I do, ſo ſhall ye do.

18 When I blow with a trumpet, I and all that are with me, then blow ye the trumpets alſo on every ſide of all the camp, and ſay, The ſword of the LORD, and of Gideon.

19 So Gideon and the hundred men that were with him came unto the outſide of the camp in the beginning of the middle watch; and they had but newly ſet the watch; and they blew the trumpets, and brake the pitchers that were in their hands.

20 And the three companies blew the trumpets, and brake the pitchers, and held the lamps in their left-hands, and the trumpets in their right-hands, to blow withal: and they cried, The ſword of the LORD and of Gideon.

21 And they ſtood every man in his place round about the camp: and all the hoſt ran, and cried, and fled.

22 And the three hundred blew the trumpets, and the LORD ſet every man's ſword againſt his fellow, even throughout all the hoſt: and the hoſt fled to Beth-ſhittah, in Zererath, and to the border of Abel-meholah, unto Tabbath.

23 And the men of Iſrael gathered themſelves together out of Naphtali, and out of Aſher, and out of all Manaſſeh, and purſued after the Midianites.

24 ¶ And Gideon ſent meſſengers throughout all mount Ephraim, ſaying, Come down againſt the Midianites, and take before them the waters unto Beth-barah and Jordan. Then all the men of Ephraim gathered themſelves together, and took the waters unto Beth-barah and Jordan.

25 And they took two princes of the Midianites, Oreb, and Zeeb; and they ſlew Oreb upon the rock Oreb, and Zeeb they ſlew at the wine-preſs of Zeeb, and purſued Midian, and brought the heads of Oreb and Zeeb to Gideon on the other ſide Jordan.

---

11 Afterward ſhall thine hands be ſtrengthened.] To ſtrengthen the hands is a Hebrew phraſe to encourage.

19 In the beginning of the middle watch, &c.] A little before midnight: for the eaſtern nations divided the night into three parts called watches; the firſt began at ſix, and continued four hours, the ſecond at eleven, &c. but the Romans afterward divided the night into four watches; and hence we read in the goſpel of the fourth watch, Mat. xiv. 25.

21 They ſtood every man in his place round about the camp.] Not one of the three hundred men ſtirred from his place, but ſtood ſtill without ſtriking a blow, God fighting for them.

All the hoſt ran, cried, and fled] The Midianites fled in the utmoſt confuſion towards their own country.

22 The Lord ſet every man's ſword againſt his fellow.] Being ſuddenly awaked from their ſleep in the middle of the night, and thinking they were attacked by a powerful army, their fears prompted them to conſider every one as an enemy, ſo that they killed one another. Patrick.

25 On the other ſide Jordan.] Septuagint---from beyond Jordan: for they had killed Oreb and Zeeb beyond Jordan, and brought their heads to Gideon, who was on the weſt ſide of Jordan. Wall.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The Ephraimites pacified. 4 Zebah and Zalmunna. 33 The Iſraelites idolatry, and ingratitude.

AND the men of Ephraim ſaid unto him, Why haſt thou ſerved us thus, that thou calledſt us not when thou wenteſt to fight with the Midianites; and they did chide with him ſharply.

2 And he ſaid unto them, What have I done now in compariſon of you? is not the gleaning of the grapes of Ephraim better than the vintage of Abiezer?

3 God hath delivered into your hands the princes of Midian, Oreb and Zeeb, and what was I able to do in compariſon of you? then their anger was abated toward him, when he had ſaid that.

4 ¶ And Gideon came to Jordan, and paſſed over, he, and the three hundred men that were with him, faint, yet purſuing them.

5 And he ſaid unto the men of Succoth, Give, I pray you, loaves of bread unto the people that follow me; for they be faint, and I am purſuing after Zebah and Zalmunna, kings of Midian.

6 And the princes of Succoth ſaid, Are the hands of Zebah and Zalmunna now in thine hand, that we ſhould give bread unto thine army?

7 And Gideon ſaid, Therefore when the LORD hath delivered Zebah and Zalmunna into mine hand, then I will tear your fleſh with the thorns in the wilderneſs, and with briers.

8 And he went up thence to Penuel, and ſpake unto them likewiſe: and the men of Penuel anſwered him as the men of Succoth had anſwered him.

9 And he ſpake alſo unto the men of Penuel, ſaying, when I come again in peace, I will break down this tower.

10 Now Zebah and Zalmunna were in Karkor, and their hoſts were with them, about fifteen thouſand men, all that were left of all the hoſts of the children of the eaſt: for there fell an hundred and twenty thouſand men that drew ſword.

11 And Gideon went up by the way of them that dwelt in tents, on the eaſt of Nobah and Jogbehah, and ſmote the hoſt: for the hoſt was ſecure.

12 And when Zebah and Zalmunna fled, he purſued after them, and took the two kings of Midian, Zebah and Zalmunna, and diſcomfited all the hoſt.

13 And Gideon the ſon of Joaſh returned from battle before the ſun was up.

14 And he caught a young man of the men of Succoth, and enquired of him: and he deſcribed unto him the princes of Succoth, and the elders thereof, even threeſcore and ſeventeen men.

15 And he came unto the men of Succoth, and ſaid, Behold, Zebah and Zalmunna, with whom ye did upbraid me, ſaying, Are the hands of Zebah and Zalmunna, now in thine hand, that we ſhould give bread unto thy men that are weary.

16 And he took the elders of the city, and thorns of the wilderneſs, and briers, and with them he taught the men of Succoth.

17 And he beat down the tower of Penuel, and ſlew the men of the city.

18 Then ſaid he unto Zebah and Zalmunna, What manner of men were they whom ye ſlew at Tabor? and they anſwered, As thou art, ſo were they: each one reſembled the children of a king.

Notes on the Eighth Chapter.

Ver. 2 Is not the gleaning of the grapes of Ephraim better than the vintage of Ebiezer.] This ſeems to have been a common proverb in thoſe days, and uſed in commending the ſmalleſt action of one, as ſuperior to the greateſt of another: as if he had ſaid, theſe ſcattered parties that you have gleaned and picked up at the fords of Jordan, are far more than thoſe that I and my whole hoſt have deſtroyed. Patrick.

6 Are the hands of Zebah and Zalmunna now in thine hand, that we ſhould give bread to thine army.] Firſt take the kings of Midian captive, and then demand bread for thine army. They thought there was nothing of God in this victory, and that he would not be able to perfect it.

11 For the hoſt was ſecure.] They thought themſelves far enough from danger, being at a great diſtance from the field of battle.

16 With them he taught the men of Succoth.] He threſhed and tare them as he had threatened.

18 Reſembled the children of a king.] Hence it appears, that Gideon was of a goodly preſence; carrying greatneſs and majeſty in his aſpect: and that kings took care in thoſe days to match only with graceful perſons.

19 And he said they were my brethren, even the sons of my mother: as the LORD liveth, if ye had saved them alive, I would not slay you.

20 And he said unto Jether his first-born, Up, and slay them. But the youth drew not his sword: for he feared, because he was yet a youth.

21 Then Zebah and Zalmunna said, Rise thou, and fall upon us: for as the man is, so is his strength. And Gideon arose, and slew Zeba and Zalmunna, and took away the ornaments that were on their camels necks.

22 Then the men of Israel said unto Gideon, Rule thou over us, both thou, and thy son, and thy son's son also: for thou hast delivered us from the hand of Midian.

23 And Gideon said unto them, I will not rule over you, neither shall my son rule over you: the LORD shall rule over you.

24 And Gideon said unto them, I would desire a request of you, that ye would give me every man the ear-rings of his prey. For they had golden ear-rings, because they were Ishmaelites.

25 And they answered, We will willingly give them. And they spread a garment, and did cast therein every man the ear-rings of his prey.

26 And the weight of the golden ear-rings that he requested was a thousand and seven hundred shekels of gold; beside ornaments, and collars, and purple raiment that was on the kings of Midian; and beside the chains that were about their camels necks.

27 And Gideon made an ephod thereof, and put it in his city, even in Ophrah: and all Israel went thither a whoring after it: which thing became a snare unto Gideon, and to his house.

28 Thus was Midian subdued before the children of Israel, so that they lifted up their heads no more. And the country was in quietness forty years in the days of Gideon.

29 And Jerubbaal the son of Joash went and dwelt in his own house.

30 And Gideon had threescore and ten sons of his body begotten: for he had many wives.

31 And his concubine that was in Shechem, she also bare him a son, whose name he called Abimelech.

32 And Gideon the son of Joash died in a good old age, and was buried in the sepulchre of Joash his father, in Ophrah of the Abiezrites.

33 ¶ And it came to pass as soon as Gideon was dead, that the children of Israel turned again, and went a whoring after Baalim; and made Baal-berith their god.

34 And the children of Israel remembered not the LORD their God, who had delivered them out of the hands of all their enemies on every side:

35 Neither shewed they kindness to the house of Jerubbaal, namely Gideon, according to all the goodness which he had shewed unto Israel.

CHAP. IX.

1 Abimelech is made king by the Shechemites. 7 Jotham by a parable rebuketh them. 22 Gaal's conspiracy. 56 Jotham's curse fulfilled.

AND Abimelech the son of Jerubbaal went to Shechem, unto his mother's brethren, and communed with them, and with all the family of the house of his mother's father, saying,

2 Speak, I pray you, in the ears of all the men of Shechem, Whether is better for you, either that all the sons of Jerubbaal, which are threescore and ten persons, reign over you, or that one reign over you? remember also that I am your bone and your flesh.

3 And his mother's brethren spake of him

27 Gideon made an ephod thereof.] He was willing to shew them that he did not request the ear-rings for his own use, but to dedicate them to God, by making a monument of his victory. For Ephod, see Exod. xxv. 7.

Israel went thither a-whoring after it.] This seems to have happened after the death of Gideon, when the people began again to return to their idolatrous practices; converting this ephod to the use of Baal, by adorning his priests with it.

33 Made Baal-berith their god.] This deity implies, the god who presides over covenants and contracts, and is the punisher of those who wilfully violate them: though Bochart interprets it Baal of Berith, i. e. of Berytus, a famous city.

in the ears of all the men of Shechem all theſe words: and their hearts inclined to follow Abimelech; for they ſaid, He is our brother.

4 And they gave him threeſcore and ten pieces of ſilver out of the houſe of Baal-berith; wherewith Abimelech hired vain and light perſons, which followed him.

5 And he went unto his father's houſe at Ophrah, and ſlew his brethren the ſons of Jerubbaal, being threeſcore and ten perſons, upon one ſtone: notwithſtanding, yet Jotham the youngeſt ſon of Jerubbaal was left; for he hid himſelf.

6 And all the men of Shechem gathered together, and all the houſe of Millo, and went, and made Abimelech king, by the plain of the pillar that was in Shechem.

7 ¶ And when they told it to Jotham, he went and ſtood in the top of mount Gerizim, and lifted up his voice, and cried, and ſaid unto them, Hearken unto me, ye men of Shechem, that God may hearken unto you.

8 The trees went forth on a time to anoint a king over them; and they ſaid unto the olive-tree, Reign thou over us.

9 But the olive-tree ſaid unto them, Should I leave my fatneſs, wherewith by me they honour God and man, and go to be promoted over the trees?

10 And the trees ſaid to the fig-tree, Come thou, and reign over us.

11 But the fig-tree ſaid unto them, ſhould I forſake my ſweetneſs, and my good fruit, and go to be promoted over the trees?

12 Then ſaid the trees unto the vine, Come thou, and reign over us.

13 And the vine ſaid unto them, Should I leave my wine which cheereth God and man, and go to be promoted over the trees?

14 Then ſaid all the trees unto the bramble, come thou, and reign over us.

15 And the bramble ſaid unto the trees, If in truth ye anoint me king over you, then come and put your truſt in my ſhadow: and if not, let fire come out of the bramble, and devour the cedars of Lebanon.

16 Now therefore, if you have done truly and ſincerely, in that ye have made Abimelech king, and if ye have dealt well with Jerubbaal and his houſe, and have done unto him according to the deſerving of his hands;

17 (For my father fought for you, and adventured his life far, and delivered you out of the hand of Midian:

18 And ye are riſen up againſt my father's houſe this day, and have ſlain his ſons, three-

Notes on the Ninth Chapter.

Ver. 4 Threeſcore and ten pieces of ſilver, out of the houſe of Baal-Berith.] Out of the treaſury of Baal-Berith they gave him ſo many pounds weight of that metal; for ſeventy ſhekels would have been but a mean preſent to make a man a prince, and ſeventy talents a larger ſum than the men of Shechem could give. Patrick.

6 All the men of Shechem and all the houſe of Millo.] That is, all the lords and commonalty of the city; the former being ſignified by the men of Shechem, and the latter by the houſe of Millo.

In the plain of the pillar that was in Shechem.] Rather, in the plain by the oak which ſtood in Shechem.

8 The trees went forth on a time to anoint a king over them.] This is the firſt fable we meet with on record; and hence it appears, that ſuch fictions, wherein the moſt ſerious truths are repreſented, were in uſe among the Jews long before the time of Æſop, or any other author we are acquainted with.

They ſaid unto the olive-tree, Reign thou over us.] By this the Iſraelites well knew that he meant his father Gideon, to whom all the people had offered the kingdom, when he was in a very flouriſhing condition, and had lately triumphed over his enemies.

9 Should I leave my fatneſs, wherewith by me they honour God and man.] God and man are ſaid to be honoured by oil, becauſe it was offered in ſacrifice to God, and fed the lamps of his houſe; and prieſts and kings were anointed with it. Septuagint reads, Wherewith men do honour God.

And go to be promoted over the trees.] The word which is here rendered promoted, is never uſed in that ſenſe, but ſignifies to be moved to and fro, to wander, to ſtagger, to be ſhaken, to be toſſed: the motion of the trees by the wind is remarkably expreſſed by this word, Iſaiah vii. 2. In theſe three paſſages, ver. 9, 11, and 13, it ſhould be tranſlated, Shall I leave, &c. and go to be toſſed upon the trees? then we ſhould have a lively image of the hazards and cares of government: as if the king of trees was to have his throne placed upon the top of the higheſt tree in the foreſt, and be there expoſed to every ſtorm of wind that blowed. Peters on Job.

11 Shall I forſake my ſweetneſs, and my good fruit, and go to be promoted over the trees?] No fruit is more luſcious than the fig, which makes this an apt repreſentation of that content which may be enjoyed in a private life; and cannot, without folly, be exchanged for the trouble and ſolicitudes which every man muſt expect to meet with in the management of public affairs. Pat.

12 Then ſaid the trees unto the vine.] Theſe being all noble trees, ſignified, that better men than Abimelech had refuſed that of which he was ambitious.

13 Which cheereth God and man.] The word which is here tranſlated God, may ſignify kings, God's vicegerents, and therefore the meaning is, kings and ſubjects; high and low.

14 Then ſaid all the trees unto the bramble, &c.] The meaneſt of all trees, fit only for the fire, and intended to repreſent Abimelech, from whom they could expect no benefit; but a great deal of trouble and vexation.

ſcore and ten perſons, upon one ſtone, and have made Abimelech the ſon of his maid-ſervant, king over the men of Shechem, becauſe he is your brother;)

19 If then ye have dealt truly and ſincerely with Jerubbaal, and with his houſe this day, then rejoice ye in Abimelech, and let him alſo rejoice in you:

20 But if not, let fire come out from Abimelech, and devour the men of Shechem, and the houſe of Millo; and let fire come out from the men of Shechem, and from the houſe of Millo, and devour Abimelech.

21 And Jotham ran away and fled, and went to Beer, and dwelt there, for fear of Abimelech his brother.

22 ¶ When Abimelech had reigned three years over Iſrael,

23 Then God ſent an evil ſpirit between Abimelech and the men of Shechem; and the men of Shechem dealt treacherouſly with Abimelech:

24 That the cruelty done to the threeſcore and ten ſons of Jerubbaal might come, and their blood be laid upon Abimelech their brother, which ſlew them; and upon the men of Shechem, which aided him in the killing of his brethren.

25 And the men of Shechem ſet liars in wait for him in the top of the mountains, and they robbed all that came along that way by them. And it was told Abimelech.

26 And Gaal the ſon of Ebed came with his brethren, and went over to Shechem: and the men of Shechem put their confidence in him.

27 And they went out into the fields, and gathered their vineyards, and trode the grapes and made merry, and went into the houſe of their god, and did eat and drink, and curſed Abimelech.

28 And Gaal the ſon of Ebed ſaid, Who is Abimelech, and who is Shechem, that we ſhould ſerve him? is not he the ſon of Jerubbaal, and Zebul his officer? ſerve the men of Hamor the father of Shechem. For why ſhould we ſerve him?

29 And would to God this people were under my hand: then would I remove Abimelech. And he ſaid to Abimelech, Increaſe thine army and come out.

30 And when Zebul the ruler of the city heard the words of Gaal the ſon of Ebed, his anger was kindled.

31 And he ſent meſſengers unto Abimelech privily, ſaying, Behold, Gaal the ſon of Ebed, and his brethren be come to Shechem; and behold they fortify the city againſt thee.

32 Now therefore up by night, thou and the people that is with thee, and lie in wait in the field.

33 And it ſhall be that in the morning, as ſoon as the ſun is up, thou ſhalt riſe early and ſet upon the city: and behold, when he and the people that is with him come out againſt thee, then mayeſt thou do to them as thou ſhalt find occaſion.

34 And Abimelech roſe up, and all the people that were with him, by night, and they laid wait againſt Shechem in four companies.

35 And Gaal the ſon of Ebed went out, and ſtood in the entering of the gate of the city: and Abimelech roſe up, and the people that were with him, from lying in wait.

36 And when Gaal ſaw the people, he ſaid to Zebul, Behold, there come people down from the top of the mountains. And Zebul ſaid unto him, Thou ſeeſt the ſhadow of the mountains as if they were men.

37 And Gaal ſpake again, and ſaid, See, there come people down by the middle of the 20 Let fire come out from Abimelech, and devour the men of Shechem, &c.] This is not a prediction, but a curſe; and, like that of Joſhua, was fully accompliſhed: not by fire properly ſo called, but by his rage and furious revenge, which is fitly compared to fire.

21 Jotham---fled---to Beer] This city ſtood on the northern frontiers of the tribe of Judah, which did not acknowledge Abimelech for king, and therefore Jotham knew he ſhould there meet with protection.

23 God ſent an evil ſpirit, &c.] Permitted the ſpirit of diſcord to break forth between Abimelech and the Shechemites.

28 Who is Shechem?] Who is this Shechemite?

That we ſhould ſerve him?] Why ſhould we ſubmit to this ambitious upſtart, famous for nothing but pride and cruelty to his own brethren? This ſhows that Gaal was a Gentile.

29 I would remove Abimelech. And he ſaid.] The Septuagint reads, I would remove Abimelech, and would ſay to him, Increaſe, &c. Gaal ſaid this, not to Abimelech's face, as the Engliſh imports, but in his abſence at a drunken feaſt he boaſted how he would challenge him. Wall.

land, and another company come along by the plain of Meonenim.

38 Then ſaid Zebul unto him, Where is now thy mouth, wherewith thou ſaidſt, Who is Abimelech, that we ſhould ſerve him? is not this the people that thou haſt deſpiſed? go out, I pray now and fight with them.

39 And Gaal went out before the men of Shechem, and fought with Abimelech.

40 And Abimelech chaſed him, and he fled before him, and many were overthrown and wounded, even unto the entering of the gate.

41 And Abimelech dwelt at Arumah: and Zebul thruſt out Gaal and his brethren, that they ſhould not dwell in Shechem.

42 And it came to paſs on the morrow, that the people went out into the field; and they told Abimelech.

43 And he took the people, and divided them into three companies, and laid wait in the field, and looked, and behold, the people were come forth out of the city; and he roſe up againſt them, and ſmote them.

44 And Abimelech, and the company that was with him, ruſhed forward, and ſtood in the entering of the gate of the city: and the two other companies ran upon all the people that were in the fields, and ſlew them.

45 And Abimelech fought againſt the city all that day, and he took the city, and ſlew the people that was therein, and beat down the city, and ſowed it with ſalt.

46 And when all the men of the tower of Shechem heard that, they entered into an hold of the houſe of the god Berith.

47 And it was told Abimelech, that all the men of the tower of Shechem were gathered together.

48 And Abimelech gat him up to mount Zalmon, he and all the people that were with him; and Abimelech took an ax in his hand, and cut down a bough from the trees, and took it, and laid it on his ſhoulder, and ſaid unto the people that were with him, What ye have ſeen me do, make haſte, and do as I have done.

49 And all the people likewiſe cut down every man his bough, and followed Abimelech, and put them to the hold, and ſet the hold on fire upon them: ſo that all the men of the tower of Shechem died alſo, about a thouſand men and women.

50 Then went Abimelech to Thebez, and encamped againſt Thebez, and took it.

51 But there was a ſtrong tower within the city, and thither fled all the men and women, and all they of the city, and ſhut it to them, and gat them up to the top of the tower.

52 And Abimelech came unto the tower, and fought againſt it, and went hard unto the door of the tower to burn it with fire.

53 And a certain woman caſt a piece of a millſtone upon Abimelech's head, and all to break his ſkull.

54 Then he called haſtily unto the young man his armour-bearer, and ſaid unto him, Draw thy ſword, and ſlay me, that men ſay not of me, A women ſlew him. And his young man thruſt him through, and he died.

55 And when the men of Iſrael ſaw that Abimelech was dead, they departed every man unto his place.

56 ¶ Thus God rendered the wickedneſs of Abimelech which he did unto his father, in ſlaying his ſeventy brethren;

57 And all the evil of the men of Shechem did God render upon their heads: and upon them came the curſe of Jotham the ſon of Jerubbaal.

---

45 Sowed it with ſalt.] By this action Abimelech intended to expreſs his laſting abhorrence of the Shechemites, by wiſhing their city might for ever lie waſte, and be a perpetual deſolation.

53 A certain woman caſt a piece of a millſtone upon Abimelech's head.] Doubtleſs directed by a ſpecial providence of God: the death of Abimelech by a ſtone was the more remarkable, becauſe he had ſlain all his brethren upon one ſtone.

And all to break his ſkull.] To with the word all before it, is old Engliſh or Scotch for altogether. See general rules to Gawin Douglas's Virg. xv.

56, 57 Thus God rendered the wickedneſs, &c.] Theſe two verſes conclude the foregoing narrative with a divine admonition, that no man ſhould preſume to think ſuch things happened by chance; but that God, the righteous judge of all the earth, puniſhed both Abimelech and the men of Shechem according to their deſerts, and made them the inſtruments of each other's deſtruction. Patrick.

CHAP. X.

1 Tola judgeth Iſrael, 3 alſo Jair. 7 The Philiſtines and Ammonites oppreſſing Iſrael, 15 upon their repentance God pitieth them.

AND after Abimelech there aroſe to defend Iſrael Tola the ſon of Puah, the ſon of Dodo, a man of Iſſachar; and he dwelt in Shamir in mount Ephraim.

2 And he judged Iſrael twenty and three years, and died, and was buried in Shamir.

3 ¶ And after him aroſe Jair, a Gileadite, and judged Iſrael twenty and two years.

4 And he had thirty ſons that rode on thirty aſs-colts, and they had thirty cities, which are called Havoth-jair unto this day, which are in the land of Gilead.

5 And Jair died, and was buried in Camon.

6 And the children of Iſrael did evil again in the ſight of the LORD, and ſerved Baalim, and Aſhtaroth, and the gods of Syria, and the gods of Zidon, and the gods of Moab, and the gods of the children of Ammon, and the gods of the Philiſtines, and forſook the LORD, and ſerved not him.

7 ¶ And the anger of the LORD was hot againſt Iſrael, and he ſold them into the hands of the Philiſtines, and into the hands of the children of Ammon.

8 And that year they vexed and oppreſſed the children of Iſrael: eighteen years, all the children of Iſrael that were on the other ſide Jordan, in the land of the Amorites, which is in Gilead.

9 Moreover the children of Ammon paſſed over Jordan to fight alſo againſt Judah, and againſt Benjamin, and againſt the houſe of Ephraim; ſo that Iſrael was ſore diſtreſſed.

10 And the children of Iſrael cried unto the LORD, ſaying, We have ſinned againſt thee, both becauſe we have forſaken our God, and alſo ſerved Baalim.

11 And the LORD ſaid unto the children of Iſrael, Did not I deliver you from the Egyptians, and from the Amorites, from the children of Ammon, and from the Philiſtines?

12 The Zidonians alſo, and the Amalekites, and the Maonites did oppreſs you, and ye cried to me, and I delivered you out of their hand.

13 Yet ye have forſaken me, and ſerved other gods: wherefore I will deliver you no more.

14 Go and cry unto the gods which ye have choſen; let them deliver you in the time of your tribulation.

15 ¶ And the children of Iſrael ſaid unto the LORD, We have ſinned: do thou unto us whatſoever ſeemeth good unto thee; deliver us only, we pray thee, this day.

16 And they put away the ſtrange gods from among them, and ſerved the LORD: and his ſoul was grieved for the miſery of Iſrael.

17 Then the children of Ammon were gathered together, and encamped in Gilead. And the children of Iſrael aſſembled themſelves together, and encamped in Mizpeh.

18 And the people and princes of Gilead ſaid one to another, What man is he that will begin to fight againſt the children of Ammon? he ſhall be head over all the inhabitants of Gilead.

CHAP. XI.

1 Jephthah's covenant with the Gileadites. 30 His vow. 34 He performeth it on his daughter.

Notes on the Tenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 After Abimelech.] Who muſt not be conſidered as a judge, much leſs appointed by God; but an uſurper, who dared to alter the divine government, by making himſelf a king.

There aroſe to defend Iſrael.] We do not find that the Iſraelites had any enemy that oppreſſed them during the life of this judge: but thoſe perſons may juſtly be ſtiled defenders, who preſerve men's liberties from being invaded. He might alſo be ſaid to defend them by reſtoring the worſhip of the true God, and baniſhing the ſervice of idols from their land. Patrick.

Tola---a man of Iſſachar.] A man of no great dignity in the tribe of Iſſachar; but this did not hinder his advancement by God to the higheſt dignity. Patrick.

4 Rode on thirty aſs-colts.] None but the moſt honourable among the Iſraelites rode on theſe creatures, which in the eaſtern countries were very tall and beautiful.

12 The Maonites did oppreſs you.] The Septuagint reads, The Midianites. There is no account of any people called Maonites: the word in Hebrew ſeems to have been miſ-written, Maon for Midian; for they had then lately oppreſſed them. Wall.

16 They put away the ſtrange gods, and ſerved the Lord.] This is the moſt remarkable reformation that we hitherto read of in the hiſtory of the judges; and ſeems to have been ſo ſerious, that they did not relapſe for a long time after into idolatry. Patrick.

NOW Jephthah the Gileadite was a mighty man of valour, and he was the son of an harlot: and Gilead begat Jephthah.

2 And Gilead's wife bare him sons: and his wife's sons grew up, and they thrust out Jephthah, and said unto him, Thou shalt not inherit in our father's house; for thou art the son of a strange woman.

3 Then Jephthah fled from his brethren, and dwelt in the land of Tob: and there were gathered vain men to Jephthah, and went out with him.

4 And it came to pass in process of time, that the children of Ammon made war against Israel.

5 And it was so, that when the children of Ammon made war against Israel, the elders of Gilead went to fetch Jephthah out of the land of Tob.

6 And they said unto Jephthah, Come, and be our captain, that we may fight with the children of Ammon.

7 And Jephthah said unto the elders of Gilead, Did not you hate me, and expel me out of my father's house? and why are ye come unto me now when ye are in distress?

8 And the elders of Gilead said unto Jephthah, Therefore we turn again to thee now, that thou mayst go with us, and fight against the children of Ammon, and be our head over all the inhabitants of Gilead.

9 And Jephthah said unto the elders of Gilead, If ye bring me home again to fight against the children of Ammon, and the LORD deliver them before me, shall I be your head?

10 And the elders of Gilead said unto Jephthah, The LORD be witness between us, if we do not so according to thy words.

11 Then Jephthah went with the elders of Gilead, and the people made him head and captain over them: and Jephthah uttered all his words before the LORD in Mizpeh.

12 And Jephthah sent messengers unto the king of the children of Ammon, saying, What hast thou to do with me, that thou art come against me to fight in my land?

13 And the king of the children of Ammon answered unto the messengers of Jephthah, Because Israel took away my land when they came up out of Egypt, from Arnon, even unto Jabbok, and unto Jordan: now therefore restore those lands again peaceably.

14 And Jephthah sent messengers again unto the king of the children of Ammon;

15 And said unto him, Thus saith Jephthah, Israel took not away the land of Moab, nor the land of the children of Ammon:

16 But when Israel came up from Egypt, and walked through the wilderness unto the Red-sea, and came to Kadesh;

17 Then Israel sent messengers unto the king of Edom, saying, Let me, I pray thee, pass through thy land: but the king of Edom would not hearken thereto. And in like manner they sent unto the king of Moab: but he would not consent. And Israel abode in Kadesh.

18 Then they went along through the wilderness, and compassed the land of Edom, and the land of Moab, and came by the east-side of the land of Moab, and pitched on the other side of Arnon, but came not within the border of Moab: for Arnon was the border of Moab.

19 And Israel sent messengers unto Sihon king of the Amorites, the king of Heshbon; and Israel said unto him, Let us pass, we pray thee, through thy land unto my place.

Notes on the Eleventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 Now Jephthah the Gileadite was a mighty man of valour, and he was the son of an harlot.] Rather, but he was the son of an harlot. Some understand by the word which we render an harlot, a stranger, or one who was not of the seed of Israel; others an hostess, as was Rahab.

3 In the land of Tob.] This country is not mentioned any where else in scripture; probably it was the same with that called Ish-tob, 2 Sam. x. 8, which lay in Syria, and so near the Ammonites, that they hired forces from thence, as well as from other nations, to fight against David. Patrick.

There were gathered vain men to Jephthah.] Men of no property, and therefore glad to join with so valiant a man as Jephthah, under whose conduct they could make incursions into the enemy's territory, and enrich themselves with their spoils.

11 Jephthah uttered all his words before the Lord.] In a solemn prayer, he rehearsed all he had said unto them before God.

12 What hast thou to do with me?] That is, what is the ground of thy quarrel? or, for what reason is this invasion made?

13 Because Israel took away my land when they came up out of Egypt.] This was a mere pretence, the land not belonging to them, but to Sihon king of the Amorites: for, with regard to the country of the Ammonites, God expressly charged the Israelites not to meddle with it, because he had given it to the children of Lot for a possession, Deut. ii. 19. Patrick.

20 But Sihon truſted not Iſrael to paſs through his coaſt: but Sihon gathered all his people together, and pitched in Jahaz, and fought againſt Iſrael.

21 And the LORD God of Iſrael delivered Sihon and all his people into the hand of Iſrael, and they ſmote them: ſo Iſrael poſſeſſed all the land of the Amorites, the inhabitants of that country.

22 And they poſſeſſed all the coaſts of the Amorites, from Arnon even unto Jabbok, and from the wilderneſs even unto Jordan.

23 So now the LORD God of Iſrael hath diſpoſſeſſed the Amorites from before his people Iſrael, and ſhouldeſt thou poſſeſs it?

24 Wilt not thou poſſeſs that which Chemoſh thy god giveth thee to poſſeſs? ſo whomſoever the LORD our God ſhall drive out from before us, them will we poſſeſs.

25 And now art thou any thing better than Balak the ſon of Zippor king of Moab? did he ever ſtrive againſt Iſrael, or did he ever fight againſt them,

26 While Iſrael dwelt in Heſhbon and her towns, and in Aroer and her towns, and in all the cities that be along by the coaſts of Arnon, three hundred years? why therefore did ye not recover them within that time?

27 Wherefore I have not ſinned againſt thee, but thou doeſt me wrong to war againſt me: the LORD the Judge be judge this day between the children of Iſrael and the children of Ammon.

28 Howbeit, the king of the children of Ammon hearkened not unto the words of Jephthah, which he ſent him.

29 Then the ſpirit of the LORD came upon Jephthah, and he paſſed over Gilead and Manaſſeh, and paſſed over Mizpeh of Gilead, and from Mizpeh of Gilead he paſſed over unto the children of Ammon.

30 ¶ And Jephthah vowed a vow unto the LORD, and ſaid, If thou ſhalt without fail deliver the children of Ammon into mine hands;

31 Then it ſhall be, that whatſoever cometh forth of the doors of my houſe to meet me, when I return in peace from the children of Ammon, ſhall ſurely be the LORD's, and I will offer it up for a burnt-offering.

32 So Jephthah paſſed over unto the children of Ammon to fight againſt them; and the LORD delivered them into his hands.

33 And he ſmote them from Aroer even till thou come to Minnith, even twenty cities, and unto the plain of the vineyards, with a very great ſlaughter. Thus the children of Ammon were ſubdued before the children of Iſrael.

34 ¶ And Jephthah came to Mizpeh unto his houſe, and behold, his daughter came out to meet him with timbrels and with dances: and ſhe was his only child; beſides her he had neither ſon nor daughter.

35 And it came to paſs when he ſaw her, that he rent his clothes, and ſaid, Alas, my daughter, thou haſt brought me very low, and thou art one of them that trouble me: for I have opened my mouth unto the LORD, and I cannot go back.

36 And ſhe ſaid unto him, My father, if thou haſt opened thy mouth unto the LORD, do to me according to that which hath proceeded out of thy mouth; foraſmuch as the LORD hath taken vengeance for thee of thine enemies, even of the children of Ammon.

37 And ſhe ſaid unto her father, Let this

27 The Lord the Judge be judge this day between the children of Iſrael and the children of Ammon.] He refers his cauſe to the righteous judge of the whole earth, if they refuſed to liſten to his reaſons, and the conteſt muſt be decided by the ſword; not doubting but that Being, whoſe eyes are too pure to behold iniquity, would decide in his favour. Patrick.

29 The ſpirit of the Lord came upon Jephthah.] God declared his approbation of the people's chuſing him a judge, by endowing him with an extraordinary meaſure of courage and wiſdom, and all other qualities neceſſary to render him fit to be the ruler of his people.

31 ---Shall ſurely be the Lord's, and I will offer it up for a burnt-offering.] The particle which is here rendered and, may more properly be taken in the disjunctive ſenſe, or, as ſome judicious critics, both Chriſtians and Jews, have ſolidly proved. So that it ſhould be rendered, ſhall ſurely be the Lord's, or I will offer it up for a burnt-offering. That is, It ſhall be conſecrated to the Lord, if it be improper for a burnt-offering; or if it be fit for it, actually offered on the altar. Univerſal Hiſtory.

34 His daughter came out to meet him.] To welcome his return, and congratulate him on his victory, with timbrels and with dances.

35 Alas, my daughter---for I have opened my mouth unto the Lord, and I cannot go back.] I have made a vow, which I cannot retract. Probably he told her what it was, though the ſacred hiſtorian has not mentioned it.

36 She ſaid unto him, My father, &c.] A rare inſtance of religion, fortitude, obedience to her parent, and love to her country.

37 Let this thing be done for me.] Grant me one requeſt; it is an innocent one, and not repugnant to the nature of your vow.

Bewail

thing be done for me: Let me alone two months, that I may go up and down upon the mountains, and bewail my virginity, I and my fellows.

38 And he said, Go. And he sent her away for two months. And she went with her companions, and bewailed her virginity upon the mountains.

39 And it came to pass at the end of two months, that she returned unto her father, who did with her according to his vow which he had vowed. And she knew no man. And it was a custom in Israel, 40 That the daughters of Israel went yearly to lament the daughter of Jephthah the Gileadite four days in a year.

CHAP. XII.

1 The Ephraimites, discerned by Shibboleth, are slain by the Gileadites. 7 Jephthah dieth.

AND the men of Ephraim gathered themselves together, and went north-ward, and said unto Jephthah, Wherefore passedst thou over to fight against the children of Ammon, and didst not call us to go with thee? we will burn thine house upon thee with fire.

2 And Jephthah said unto them, I and my people were at great strife with the children of Ammon; and when I called you, ye delivered me not out of their hands.

3 And when I saw that ye delivered me not, I put my life in my hands, and passed over against the children of Ammon, and the LORD delivered them into my hand: wherefore then are ye come up unto me this day to fight against me?

4 Then Jephthah gathered together all the men of Gilead, and fought with Ephraim: and the men of Gilead smote Ephraim, because they said, Ye Gileadites are fugitives of Ephraim, among the Ephraimites, and among the Manassites.

5 And the Gileadites took the passages of Jordan before the Ephraimites: and it was so, that when those Ephraimites, which were escaped, said, Let me go over; that the men of Gilead said unto him, Art thou an Ephraimite? if he said, Nay;

6 Then said they unto him, Say now Shibboleth; and he said Sibboleth: for he could not frame to pronounce it right. Then they took him, and slew him at the passages of Jordan. And there fell at that time of the Ephraimites forty and two thousand.

7 ¶ And Jephthah judged Israel six years: then died Jephthah the Gileadite, and was buried in one of the cities of Gilead.

8 And after him Ibzan of Beth-lehem judged Israel.

Bewail my virginity.] It was accounted the greatest misfortune, among the Israelites, to die without issue; therefore she desired a time to bewail her fate, on the solitary mountains.

39 She returned to her father, who did with her according unto his vow.] This passage has given occasion to a great controversy among commentators, whether Jephthah really offered his daughter for a burnt-offering, or consecrated her to the service of God. From the note on the 31st verse it appears, that she was not sacrificed, but devoted to the Lord. It is indeed evident, that his vow, in many cases, could not have been executed; for suppose a dog, an ass, or any other unclean animal, had first met him, could he have offered it up for a burnt-offering unto the Lord? such sacrifices being absolutely forbidden by the law of Moses. And can it be supposed that God, who had so often declared that human sacrifices were abominations to him, would have suffered a daughter of Israel to have been offered upon his altar? Besides, if Jephthah was obliged to offer his daughter, who should be employed in that work? Should the priests? They were ordered to do every thing in their power to deter men from committing this abominable practice. Should the magistrates? They well knew such sacrifices were forbidden by God himself. Should Jephthah perform this inhuman office? Surely those who can conceive him capable of such a task, must, at the same time, think him as void of common sense as of natural affection. Patrick.

She knew no man.] A strong proof that she was not sacrificed; for the sacred historian himself here tells us, that after the vow was performed, she knew no man. Patrick.

40 The daughters of Israel went yearly to lament the daughter of Jephthah.] The Hebrew word which we render lament, signifies also to talk with, and to praise. If we take it in the former sense, it demonstrates that she was not sacrificed; if in the latter, the sense will be, that they went yearly to praise the virtue of Jephthah's daughter. If it should be asked, why the continuing of a virgin was considered among the Israelites as the greatest misfortune? the answer is, they placed their greatest happiness in children, and all flattered themselves that the Messiah would come from their seed.

Notes on the Twelfth Chapter.

Ver. 3 I put my life in my hands.] I exposed myself to very great danger.

4 Jephthah gathered all the men of Gilead, and fought with Ephraim.] When he found it was impossible to pacify them by persuasive arguments, he had recourse to arms. Patrick.

6 Say now Shibboleth.] The word Shibboleth signifies not only an ear of corn, but floods of water: so the test they put them to was this, to bid them say, let me pass over the water. The pronunciation of words of the same language varies greatly in different parts; therefore it is no wonder that the Ephraimites could not pronounce the word in the same manner as the Gileadites.

9 And he had thirty ſons, and thirty daughters whom he ſent abroad, and took in thirty daughters from abroad for his ſons: and he judged Iſrael ſeven years.

10 Then died Ibzan, and was buried at Beth-lehem.

11 And after him, Elon a Zebulonite judged Iſrael, and he judged Iſrael ten years.

12 And Elon the Zebulonite died, and was buried in Aijalon in the country of Zebulun.

13 And after him, Abdon the ſon of Hillel a Pirathonite judged Iſrael.

14 And he had forty ſons, and thirty nephews, that rode on threeſcore and ten aſscolts: and he judged Iſrael eight years.

15 And Abdon the ſon of Hillel the Pirathonite died, and was buried in Pirathon in the land of Ephraim, in the mount of the Amalekites.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Iſrael is in the hand of the Philiſtines. 2 An angel appeareth to Manoah's wife. 8 The angel appeareth to Manoah. 15 Manoah's ſacrifice, whereby the angel is diſcovered. 24 Samſon is born.

AND the children of Iſrael did evil again in the ſight of the LORD; and the LORD delivered them into the hand of the Philiſtines forty years.

2 ¶ And there was a certain man of Zorah, of the family of the Danites, whoſe name was Manoah; and his wife was barren, and bare not.

3 And the angel of the LORD appeared unto the woman, and ſaid unto her, Behold now, thou art barren, and beareſt not: but thou ſhalt conceive and bear a ſon.

4 Now therefore beware, I pray thee, and drink not wine, nor ſtrong drink, and eat not any unclean thing.

5 For lo, thou ſhalt conceive, and bear a ſon; and no rafor ſhall come on his head: for the child ſhall be a Nazarite unto God from the womb: and he ſhall begin to deliver Iſrael out of the hand of the Philiſtines.

6 Then the woman came and told her huſband, ſaying, A man of God came unto me, and his countenance was like the countenance of an angel of God, very terrible: but I aſked him not whence he was, neither told he me his name.

7 But he ſaid unto me, Behold, thou ſhalt conceive, and bear a ſon; and now drink no wine nor ſtrong drink, neither eat any unclean thing: for the child ſhall be a Nazarite to God from the womb to the day of his death.

8 ¶ Then Manoah intreated the LORD, and ſaid, O my LORD, let the man of God which thou didſt ſend come again unto us, and teach us what we ſhall do unto the child that ſhall be born.

9 And God hearkened to the voice of Manoah; and the angel of God came again unto the woman as ſhe ſat in the field: but Manoah her huſband was not with her.

10 And the woman made haſte, and ran, and ſhewed her huſband, and ſaid unto him; Behold, the man hath appeared unto me, that came unto me the other day.

11 And Manoah aroſe, and went after his wife, and came to the man, and ſaid unto him, Art thou the man that ſpakeſt unto the woman? and he ſaid, I am.

12 And Manoah ſaid, Now let thy words come to paſs. How ſhall we order the child? and how ſhall we do unto him?

13 And the angel of the LORD ſaid unto Manoah, Of all that I ſaid unto the woman let her beware.

14 She may not eat of any thing that cometh of the vine, neither let her drink wine or ſtrong drink, nor eat any unclean thing: all that I commanded her let her obſerve.

15 ¶ And Manoah ſaid unto the angel of the LORD, I pray thee, let us detain thee, un-

9 Thirty ſons and thirty daughters] A numerous iſſue was conſidered as a peculiar bleſſing, and ſeems to be mentioned as an evidence that he was highly favoured by God. Patrick.

Notes on the Thirteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 The Lord delivered them into the hand of the Philiſtines forty years.] This is the ſixth oppreſſion, and the longeſt they ever yet lay under.

5 The child ſhall be a Nazarite.] See Numb. vi.

He ſhall begin to deliver Iſrael.] Samuel compleated the deliverance of Iſrael, and put an end to this forty years tyranny by his famous victory at Eben-ezer, 1 Sam. vii. 13.

til we ſhall have made ready a kid for thee.

16 And the angel of the LORD ſaid unto Manoah, Though thou detain me, I will not eat of thy bread: and if thou wilt offer a burnt-offering, thou muſt offer it unto the LORD. For Manoah knew not that he was an angel of the LORD.

17 And Manoah ſaid unto the angel of the LORD, What is thy name, that when thy ſayings came to paſs, we may do thee honour?

18 And the angel of the LORD ſaid unto him, Why askeſt thou thus after my name, ſeeing it is ſecret?

19 So Manoah took a kid, with a meat-offering, and offered it upon a rock unto the LORD. And the angel did wonderouſly, and Manoah and his wife looked on.

20 For it came to paſs, when the flame went up toward heaven from off the altar, that the angel of the LORD aſcended in the flame of the altar. And Manoah and his wife looked on it, and fell on their faces to the ground.

21 (But the angel of the LORD did no more appear to Manoah and to his wife.) Then Manoah knew that he was an angel of the LORD.

22 And Manoah ſaid unto his wife, We ſhall ſurely die, becauſe we have ſeen God.

23 But his wife ſaid unto him, If the LORD were pleaſed to kill us, he would not have received a burnt-offering and a meat-offering at our hands, neither would he have ſhewed us all theſe things, nor would, as at this time, have told us ſuch things as theſe.

24 ¶ And the woman bare a ſon, and called his name Samſon. And the child grew, and the LORD bleſſed him.

25 And the Spirit of the LORD began to move him at times in the camp of Dan, between Zorah and Eſhtaol.

CHAP. XIV.

1 Samſon deſireth a wife of the Philiſtines. 10 His marriage feaſt, 12 and riddle. 19 He ſpoileth thirty Philiſtines.

AND Samſon went down to Timnath, and ſaw a woman at Timnath of the daughters of the Philiſtines.

2 And he came up and told his father and his mother, and ſaid, I have ſeen a woman in Timnath of the daughters of the Philiſtines: now therefore get her for me to wife.

3 Then his father and his mother ſaid unto him, Is there never a woman among the daughters of thy brethren, or among all my people, that thou goeſt to take a wife of the uncircumciſed Philiſtines? And Samſon ſaid unto his father, Get her for me; for ſhe pleaſeth me well.

4 But his father and his mother knew not that it was of the LORD, that he ſought an occaſion againſt the Philiſtines. For at that time the Philiſtines had dominion over Iſrael.

5 Then went Samſon down, and his father and his mother, to Timnath, and came to the vineyards of Timnath: and behold, a young lion roared againſt him.

6 And the Spirit of the LORD came mightily upon him; and he rent him as he would have rent a kid, and he had nothing in his hand: but he told not his father or his mother what he had done.

7 And he went down, and talked with the woman; and ſhe pleaſed Samſon well.

8 And after a time he returned to take her, and he turned aſide to ſee the carcaſe of the 18 After my name, ſeeing it is ſecret?] Rather, it is wonderful. This is a proper ſtile for Jehovah, whoſe eſſence we muſt admire, but cannot comprehend. Hence we learn this was the Meſſiah himſelf, whom Iſaiah calls wonderful, Iſaiah ix. 6.

19 Manoah took a kid, with a meat-offering, and offered it upon a rock unto the Lord.] He laid it upon the rock, as upon an altar, to be offered to the Lord.

The angel did wonderfully.] i. e. He brought, in all probability, fire out of the rock; for we read of no fire brought by Manoah, and yet there was a flame, in which the angel aſcended up to heaven. Patrick.

25 In the camp of Dan, between Zorah and Eſhtaol.] There was no army of the Danites encamped in the place where Samſon diſplayed his valour; but this is the name of a place, in the Hebrew Machanedan, (the camp of Dan) where probably Samſon lived. See chap. xviii. 12. where we find an account of an expedition of the Danites, which, though placed after, really happened before this tranſaction of Samſon. Patrick.

Ver. 1 Samſon went down to Timnath.] A city in his own tribe; now probably in the hand of the Philiſtines, who at this time oppreſſed the Iſraelites, and made them tributaries; but this did not hinder a commerce being carried on between them. Patrick.

lion: and behold, there was a ſwarm of bees, and honey in the carcaſe of the lion.

9 And he took thereof in his hands, and went on eating, and came to his father and his mother, and he gave them, and they did eat, but he told not them that he had taken the honey out of the carcaſe of the lion.

10 ¶ So his father went down unto the woman, and Samſon made there a feaſt: for ſo uſed the young men to do.

11 And it came to paſs when they ſaw him, that they brought thirty companions to be with him.

12 ¶ And Samſon ſaid unto them, I will now put forth a riddle unto you: if ye can certainly declare it me within the ſeven days of the feaſt, and find it out, then I will give you thirty ſheets, and thirty change of garments;

13 But if ye cannot declare it me, then ſhall ye give me thirty ſheets, and thirty change of garments. And they ſaid unto him, Put forth thy riddle, that we may hear it.

14 And he ſaid unto them, Out of the eater came forth meat, and out of the ſtrong came forth ſweetneſs. And they could not in three days expound the riddle.

15 And it came to paſs on the ſeventh day, that they ſaid unto Samſon's wife, Entice thy huſband, that he may declare unto us the riddle, leſt we burn thee and thy father's houſe with fire; have ye called us to take that we have? is it not ſo?

16 And Samſon's wife wept before him, and ſaid, Thou doſt but hate me, and loveſt me not: thou haſt put forth a riddle unto the children of my people, and haſt not told it me. And he ſaid unto her, Behold, I have not told it my father nor my mother, and ſhall I tell it thee.

17 And ſhe wept before him the ſeven days, while their feaſt laſted: and it came to paſs on the ſeventh day, that he told her, becauſe ſhe lay ſore upon him: and ſhe told the riddle to the children of her people.

18 And the men of the city ſaid unto him on the ſeventh day before the ſun went down, What is ſweeter than honey? and what is ſtronger than a lion? And he ſaid unto them, If ye had not ploughed with my heifer, ye had not found out my riddle.

19 ¶ And the Spirit of the LORD came upon him, and he went down to Aſhkelon, and ſlew thirty men of them, and took their ſpoil, and gave change of garments unto them which expounded the riddle. And his anger was kindled, and he went up to his father's houſe.

20 But Samſon's wife was given to his companion, whom he had uſed as his friend.

CHAP. XV.

1 Samſon is denied his wife. 3 He burneth the Philiſtines corn. 9 He is bound by the men of Judah, and delivered to the Philiſtines. 14 He killeth them with a jaw-bone.

BUT it came to paſs within a while after, in the time of wheat-harveſt, that Samſon viſited his wife with a kid; and he ſaid, I will go in to my wife into the chamber, But her father would not ſuffer him to go in.

2 And her father ſaid, verily I thought that thou hadſt utterly hated her; therefore I gave her to thy companion: is not her younger ſiſter fairer than ſhe? take her, I pray thee, inſtead of her.

11 They brought thirty companions.] Her friends, out of reſpect to him, brought this great number of bride-men, to honour his nuptials: though ſome think they came by way of guard, if he ſhould attempt any diſturbance; of which they fancy the Philiſtines were afraid when they ſaw he was a man of ſuch extraordinary ſtrength and valour. Patrick.

14 Out of the eater came forth meat, and out of the ſtrong came forth ſweetneſs.] The oppoſition is manifeſt in the firſt part of the riddle, but not in the ſecond; for weakneſs is oppoſed to ſtrength, not ſweetneſs, whoſe oppoſite is bitterneſs. But Bochart has obſerved, that thoſe two words are ſometimes confounded: for in the Arabic language the word mirra, which implies ſtrength, comes from marra, which ſignifies to be bitter; and the word acer in Latin, ſignifies both a ſharp and a valiant man; and is alſo, by the beſt authors, applied to the lion. And therefore the antitheſis of the words is this: Food came from the devourer, and ſweetneſs from that which is eager or ſharp, i. e. violent or fierce. Patrick.

14, 15 They could not in three days. And on the ſeventh, &c.] The Septuagint reads, on the fourth day, &c. which is certainly right; for it is ſaid, ver. 17. ſhe wept the reſt of the ſeven days: if they did not threaten her till the ſeventh day, there was no time for weeping. Wall.

19 He went down to Aſhkelon.] A city of the Philiſtines, on the coaſt of the Mediterranean.

Notes

3 ¶ And Samſon ſaid concerning them, Now ſhall I be more blameleſs than the Philiſtines, though I do them a diſpleaſure.

4 And Samſon went and caught three hundred foxes, and took fire-brands, and turned tail to tail, and put a fire-brand in the midſt between two tails.

5 And when he had ſet the brands on fire, he let them go into the ſtanding-corn of the Philiſtines, and burnt up both the ſhocks, and alſo the ſtanding-corn, with the vineyards and olives.

6 Then the Philiſtines ſaid, Who hath done this? and they anſwered, Samſon the ſon in law of the Timnite, becauſe he had taken his wife, and given her to his companion. And the Philiſtines came up, and burned her and her father with fire.

7 And Samſon ſaid unto them, Though ye have done this, yet will I be avenged of you, and after that I will ceaſe.

8 And he ſmote them hip and thigh with a great ſlaughter. And he went down and dwelt in the top of the rock Etam.

9 ¶ Then the Philiſtines went up and pitched in Judah, and ſpread themſelves in Lehi.

10 And the men of Judah ſaid, Why are ye come up againſt us? and they anſwered, To bind Samſon are we come up, to do to him as he hath done to us.

11 Then three thouſand men of Judah went to the top of the rock Etam, and ſaid to Samſon, Knoweſt thou not that the Philiſtines are rulers over us? what is this that thou haſt done unto us? and he ſaid unto them, As they did unto me, ſo have I done unto them.

12 And they ſaid unto him, We are come down to bind thee, that we may deliver thee into the hand of the Philiſtines. And Samſon ſaid unto them, Swear unto me that ye will not fall upon me your ſelves.

13 And they ſpake unto him, ſaying, No: but we will bind thee faſt, and deliver thee into their hand: but ſurely we will not kill thee. And they bound him with two new cords, and brought him up from the rock.

14 ¶ And when he came unto Lehi, the Philiſtines ſhouted againſt him: and the Spirit of the LORD came mightily upon him, and the cords that were upon his arms became as flax that was burnt with fire, and his bands looſed from off his hands.

15 And he found a new jaw-bone of an aſs, and put forth his hand and took it, and ſlew a thouſand men therewith.

16 And Samſon ſaid, With the jaw-bone of an aſs, heaps upon heaps, with the jaw of an aſs have I ſlain a thouſand men.

17 And it came to paſs when he had made an end of ſpeaking, that he caſt away the jaw-bone out of his hand, and called that place Ramath-lehi.

18 And he was ſore athirſt, and called on the LORD, and ſaid, Thou haſt given this great

Notes on the Fifteenth Chapter.

Ver. 4 Samſon went and caught three hundred foxes.] The commentators have been very ingenious in contriving how Samſon ſhould take ſuch a large number of foxes, which are allowed to be the moſt cunning of all animals; but they have not hit upon any plauſible method: by the diſmiſſing of one ſingle letter, and ſubſtituting the proper one in its place, the obſcurity is elucidated: inſtead of ſchualim, we ſhould read ſchoalim, which properly ſignifies ſheaves; and ſanab, which we tranſlate tail, ſignifies the utmoſt part of any thing whatſoever: we may therefore ſuppoſe that Samſon ſet fire to three hundred ſtanding ſhocks of corn, by laying two ſheaves between each ſhock to make a communication, and by putting fire immediately to the ends of thoſe intermediate ſheaves. See Lamy, Dr. Gregory, Sharp, and Kennicott.

6 Burnt her and her father with fire.] Several MSS read, burnt her and her father's houſe: which reading is confirmed by the Syriac and other verſions. Kennicott.

8 He ſmote them hip and thigh.] It is not eaſy to explain the meaning of this expreſſion. The Chaldee paraphraſt interprets it, he ſmote both horſemen and footmen, the one reſting on their legs, and the other on their thighs, as they ſat cloſe to their horſes: but others ſuppoſe, that he ſmote them on their legs and thighs, as they endeavoured to fly from him. Patrick.

The rock Etam.] A ſtrong place in the tribe of Judah, being acceſſible only by one path, and that not wide enough for two men to paſs a-breaſt, and therefore eaſily defenſible.

12 Swear unto me, that ye will not fall upon me yourſelves.] He does not upbraid them for their baſe cowardice; but conſents to their deſign, provided they would ſolemnly engage not to hurt him themſelves, being unwilling to ſhed the blood of his brethren; which would doubtleſs have happened, had they attempted any thing againſt him. Patrick.

15 Slew a thouſand men therewith.] The Philiſtines were doubtleſs aſtoniſhed to ſee the cords fall ſo ſuddenly from his hands, and he himſelf advancing with the greateſt fury towards them: but the whole muſt be aſcribed to the power of God, who can increaſe our powers to what degree he pleaſes, and enfeeble the ſpirits of thoſe who oppoſe his deſigns, that they ſhall have no power to help themſelves.

deliverance into the hand of thy ſervant; and now ſhall I die for thirſt, and fall into the hand of the uncircumciſed?

19 But God clave an hollow place that was in the jaw, and there came water thereout; and when he had drank, his ſpirit came again, and he revived. Wherefore he called the name thereof En-hakkore, which is in Lehi unto this day.

20 And he judged Iſrael in the days of the Philiſtines twenty years.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Samſon carrieth away the gates of Gaza. 4 Delilah, corrupted by the Philiſtines, enticeth him; 15 and overcometh him. 21 The Philiſtines put out his eyes. 23 The manner of his death.

THEN went Samſon to Gaza, and ſaw there an harlot, and went in unto her.

2 And it was told the Gazites, ſaying, Samſon is come hither. And they compaſſed him in, and laid wait for him all night in the gate of the city, and were quiet all the night, ſaying, In the morning when it is day we ſhall kill him.

3 And Samſon lay till midnight, and aroſe at midnight, and took the doors of the gate of the city, and the two poſts, and went away with them, bar and all, and put them upon his ſhoulders, and carried them up to the top of an hill that is before Hebron.

4 ¶ And it came to paſs afterward, that he loved a woman in the valley of Sorek, whoſe name was Delilah.

5 And the lords of the Philiſtines came up unto her, and ſaid unto her, Entice him, and ſee wherein his great ſtrength lieth, and by what means we may prevail againſt him, that we may bind him to afflict him: and we will give thee every one of us eleven hundred pieces of ſilver.

6 And Delilah ſaid to Samſon, Tell me, I pray thee, wherein thy great ſtrength lieth, and wherewith thou mighteſt be bound to afflict thee.

7 And Samſon ſaid unto her, If they bind me with ſeven green withs that were never dried, then ſhall I be weak, and be as another man.

8 Then the lords of the Philiſtines brought up to her ſeven green withs which had not been dried, and ſhe bound him with them.

9 Now there were men lying in wait, abiding with her in the chamber. And ſhe ſaid unto him, The Philiſtines be upon thee, Samſon. And he brake the withs, as a thread of tow is broken when it toucheth the fire. So his ſtrength was not known.

10 And Delilah ſaid unto Samſon, Behold, thou haſt mocked me, and told me lyes: now

19 God clave an hollow place that was in the jaw, and there came water thereout, &c.] Lehi, which ſignifies a jaw-bone, is here the proper name of a place, and doubtleſs had its name from this prodigy of valour performed by Samſon with the jaw-bone, and the miraculous fountain which God cauſed to burſt out of the ground, to allay his hero's thirſt. The paſſage therefore ſhould have been rendered, and God clave a hollow place, which was in Lehi: modern travellers inform us, that in the ſuburbs of Eleutheropolis, in all probability the ancient Lehi, the fountain which flowed on this occaſion is ſtill remaining, and called to this day the fountain of the jaw.

Notes on the Sixteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Gaza.] This city was ſituated between Raphia and Aſhkelon, near the ſouthern extremity of the Promiſed Land. Calmet.

2 And they compaſſed him in.] They did not beſet the houſe, but ſet a guard at the gate, in order to ſeize him as he went out of the city.

3 Took the doors of the gate of the city, and the two poſts, and went away with them, bar and all.] He did not ſtay to break open the gates; but plucked the poſts out of the ground, with the doors hanging, faſt barred, upon them. This action ſo aſtoniſhed the guards, that they had no power to follow him. Patrick.

To the top of an hill that is before Hebron.] The Septuagint and Vulgate have it, That looketh towards Hebron: for it is not probable that he carried them to Hebron, which was near twenty miles diſtant from Gaza.

4 He loved a woman in the valley of Sorek, whoſe name was Delilah.] Sorek was a place in the land of Judah, famous for choice wines, from whence the ſpies brought a bunch of grapes, for a ſample of the fruitfulneſs of the land. Whether Delilah was a woman of Iſrael, or one of the daughters of the Philiſtines, the ſacred hiſtorian has not told us. However this be, her whole behaviour ſpeaks her a mercenary woman, who would do any thing for money; and accordingly Joſephus calls her a common proſtitute of the Philiſtines. Patrick and Pool.

5 We will give thee every one of us eleven hundred pieces of ſilver.] By pieces of ſilver is generally underſtood ſhekels; ſo that the whole ſum amounted to five thouſand five hundred ſhekels, or about three hundred and forty-three pounds fifteen ſhillings of our money. Howell's Hiſt.

6 Delilah ſaid to Samſon, Tell me, I pray thee, wherein thy great ſtrength lieth.] In all probability ſhe had ſome other diſcourſe with him, before ſhe ventured to aſk him this queſtion. Very likely ſhe extolled his wonderful deeds, and then artfully deſired him to tell her how he came to excel all other men in ſtrength. Patrick.

tell me, I pray thee, wherewith thou mighteſt be bound.

11 And he ſaid unto her, If they bind me faſt with new ropes that never were occupied, then ſhall I be weak, and be as another man.

12 Delilah therefore took new ropes, and bound him therewith, and ſaid unto him, The Philiſtines be upon thee, Samſon. And there were liers in wait abiding in the chamber. And he brake them from off his arms like a thread.

13 And Delilah ſaid unto Samſon, Hitherto thou haſt mocked me, and told me lyes: tell me wherewith thou mighteſt be bound. And he ſaid unto her, If thou weaveſt the ſeven locks of my head with the web.

14 And ſhe faſtened it with the pin, and ſaid unto him, The Philiſtines be upon thee, Samſon. And he awaked out of his ſleep, and went away with the pin of the beam, and with the web.

15 ¶ And ſhe ſaid unto him, How canſt thou ſay, I love thee, when thine heart is not with me? thou haſt mocked me theſe three times, and haſt not told me wherein thy great ſtrength lieth.

16 And it came to paſs, when ſhe preſſed him daily with her words, and urged him, ſo that his ſoul was vexed unto death;

17 That he told her all his heart, and ſaid unto her, There hath not come a raſor upon mine head; for I have been a Nazarite unto God from my mother's womb: if I be ſhaven, then my ſtrength will go from me, and I ſhall become weak, and be like any other man.

18 And when Delilah ſaw that he had told her all his heart, ſhe ſent and called for the lords of the Philiſtines, ſaying, Come up this once; for he hath ſhewed me all his heart. Then the lords of the Philiſtines came up unto her, and brought money in their hand.

19 And ſhe made him ſleep upon her knees: and ſhe called for a man, and ſhe cauſed him to ſhave off the ſeven locks of his head; and ſhe began to afflict him, and his ſtrength went from him.

20 And ſhe ſaid, The Philiſtines be upon thee, Samſon. And he awoke out of his ſleep, and ſaid, I will go out as at other times before, and ſhake my ſelf. And he wiſt not that the LORD was departed from him.

21 ¶ But the Philiſtines took him, and put out his eyes, and brought him down to Gaza, and bound him with fetters of braſs; and he did grind in the priſon-houſe.

22 Howbeit, the hair of his head began to grow again, after he was ſhaven.

23 ¶ Then the lords of the Philiſtines gathered them together, for to offer a great ſacrifice unto Dagon their god, and to rejoice: for they ſaid, Our god hath delivered Samſon our enemy into our hand.

24 And when the people ſaw him, they praiſed their god: for they ſaid, Our god hath delivered into our hands our enemy, and the deſtroyer of our country, which ſlew many of us.

25 And it came to paſs, when their hearts were merry, that they ſaid, Call for Samſon, that he may make us ſport. And they called for Samſon out of the priſon-houſe; and he made them ſport. And they ſet him between the pillars.

26 And Samſon ſaid unto the lad that held him by the hand, Suffer me that I may feel the pillars whereupon the houſe ſtandeth, that I may lean upon them.

27 Now the houſe was full of men and women: and all the lords of the Philiſtines were there: and there were upon the roof about three thouſand men and women, that beheld while Samſon made ſport.

28 And Samſon called unto the LORD, and ſaid, O LORD God, remember me, I pray thee, and ſtrengthen me, I pray thee, only this once, O God, that I may be at once avenged of the Philiſtines for my two eyes.

---

13 After this verſe there is plainly a verſe omitted, which the Septuagint has ſupplied—Seven locks of my head with a web, and faſten them with a pin unto the wall; then ſhall I be weak, and be as another man. And it came to paſs when he ſlept, that Delilah took ſeven locks of his head, and wove them with a web; and faſtened them with a pin, &c.

21 He did grind in the priſon-houſe.] Before the invention of wind or water-mills, men made uſe of hand-mills, to grind their corn withal; probably in this priſon where Samſon was confined, there was a public mill for that purpoſe.

23 Dagon their god.] The word Dagon ſignifies a fiſh; and hence the idol is generally repreſented in the ſhape of a woman, with the lower parts of a fiſh. Patrick.

30 And Samſon ſaid, Let me die with the Philiſtines. And he bowed himſelf with all his might; and the houſe fell upon the lords, and upon all the people that were therein. So the dead which he ſlew at his death were more than they which he ſlew in his life.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Micah reſtoring the ſtolen money to his mother, ſhe maketh images. 7 He hireth a Levite to be his prieſt.

AND there was a man of mount Ephraim, whoſe name was Micah.

2 And he ſaid unto his mother, The eleven hundred ſhekels of ſilver that were taken from thee, about which thou curſedſt, and ſpakeſt of alſo in mine ears, behold, the ſilver is with me; I took it. And his mother ſaid, Bleſſed be thou of the LORD, my ſon.

3 And when he had reſtored the eleven hundred ſhekels of ſilver to his mother, his mother ſaid, I had wholly dedicated the ſilver unto the LORD, from my hand, for my ſon, to make a graven image and a molten image: now therefore I will reſtore it unto thee.

4 Yet he reſtored the money unto his mother: and his mother took two hundred ſhekels of ſilver, and gave them to the founder, who made thereof a graven image and a molten image: and they were in the houſe of Micah.

5 And the man Micah had an houſe of gods, and made an ephod, and teraphim, and conſecrated one of his ſons, who became his prieſt.

6 In thoſe days there was no king in Iſrael, but every man did that which was right in his own eyes.

7 ¶ And there was a young man out of Beth-lehem-judah, of the family of Judah, who was a Levite, and he ſojourned there.

8 And the man departed out of the city from Beth-lehem-judah, to ſojourn where he could find a place: and he came to mount Ephraim to the houſe of Micah, as he journeyed.

9 And Micah ſaid unto him, Whence comeſt thou? and he ſaid unto him, I am a Levite of Beth-lehem-judah, and I go to ſojourn where I may find a place.

10 And Micah ſaid unto him, Dwell with me, and be unto me a father and a prieſt, and I will give thee ten ſhekels of ſilver by the year, and a ſuit of apparel, and thy victuals. So the Levite went in.

29 Samſon took hold of the two middle pillars on which the houſe ſtood.] The ingenious reader will be pleaſed to ſee the thoughts of the great Sir Chriſtopher Wren on this famous fabrick, which will give a more diſtinct idea of it than the conjectures of commentators who are not ſuch competent judges.—"In conſi-" dering what this fabrick muſt be, that could at one pull be " demoliſhed, I conceive it was an oval amphitheatre, the " ſcene in the middle, where a vaſt roof of cedar-beams, reſt-" ing round upon the walls, centered all upon one ſhort archi-" trave, that united two cedar pillars in the middle; one pillar " would not be ſufficient to unite the ends of at leaſt one hun-" dred beams that tended to the centre; therefore, I ſay, there " muſt be a ſhort architrave reſting upon two pillars, upon " which all the beams tending to the centre of the amphithe-" atre might be ſupported. Now, if Samſon, by his miracu-" lous ſtrength preſſing upon one of theſe pillars, moved it " from its baſis, the whole roof muſt of neceſſity fall." Parentalia, p. 359.

30 Let me die with the Philiſtines.] It has been doubted by many, whether Samſon was not guilty of ſelf-murder: but if it be conſidered that God raiſed him up as a ſcourge to the Philiſtines, and a judge and defender of Iſrael, he might devote his life to the public good, and the deliverance of his own people. And this purpoſe was in ſome meaſure anſwered; for the Philiſtines were ſo terrified and humbled at this cloſing ſcene of Samſon's ſtrength and courage, that when his brethren came to take away his body, to inter it in the burying-place of his father, they met with no moleſtation whatſoever.

Notes on the Seventeenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 There was a man of mount Ephraim, whoſe name was Micah.] When this tranſaction happened, and likewiſe that of the Danites and Benjamites, is not agreed on by commentators; but inſerted here by the ſacred hiſtorian, that he might not interrupt the thread of the narrative relating to the hiſtory of the whole nation.

5 An houſe of gods.] It ſeems to have been Micah's intention to make an imitation of the houſe of God at Shiloh.

Teraphim.] See note on Gen. xxxi. 19.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The Danites ſend five men to ſeek out an inheritance. 27 They win Laiſh.

IN thoſe days there was no king in Iſrael: and in thoſe days the tribe of the Danites ſought them an inheritance to dwell in; for unto that day all their inheritance had not fallen unto them among the tribes of Iſrael.

2 And the children of Dan ſent of their family five men from their coaſts, men of valour, from Zorah and from Eſhtaol, to ſpy out the land, and to ſearch it; and they ſaid unto them, Go, ſearch the land. Who when they came to mount Ephraim, to the houſe of Micah, they lodged there.

3 When they were by the houſe of Micah, they knew the voice of the young man the Levite: and they turned in thither, and ſaid unto him, Who brought thee hither? and what makeſt thou in this place? and what haſt thou here?

4 And he ſaid unto them, Thus and thus dealeth Micoh with me, and hath hired me, and I am his prieſt.

5 And they ſaid unto him, Aſk counſel, we pray thee, of God, that we may know whether our way which we go ſhall be proſperous.

6 And the prieſt ſaid unto them, Go in peace: before the LORD is your way wherein ye go.

7 Then the five men departed, and came to Laiſh, and ſaw the people that were therein, how they dwelt careleſs, after the manner of the Zidonians, quiet and ſecure; and there was no magiſtrate in the land, that might put them to ſhame in any thing: and they were far from the Zidonians, and had no buſineſs with any man.

8 And they came unto their brethren to Zorah and Eſhtaol: and their brethren ſaid unto them, What ſay ye?

9 And they ſaid, Ariſe, that we may go up againſt them: for we have ſeen the land, and behold, it is very good: and are ye ſtill? be not ſlothful to go, and to enter to poſſeſs the land.

10 When ye go, ye ſhall come unto a people ſecure, and to a large land: for God hath given it into your hands: a place where there is no want of any thing that is in the earth.

11 And there went from thence of the family of the Danites out of Zorah and out of Eſhtaol ſix hundred men, appointed with weapons of war.

12 And they went up, and pitched in Kirjath-jearim, in Judah: wherefore they called that place Mahaneh-dan, unto this day; behold, it is behind Kirjath-jearim.

13 And they paſſed thence unto mount Ephraim, and came unto the houſe of Micah.

14 Then anſwered the five men that went to ſpy out the country of Laiſh, and ſaid unto their brethren, Do ye know that there is in theſe houſes an ephod, and teraphim, and a graven image, and a molten image? now therefore conſider what ye have to do.

15 And they turned thitherward, and came to the houſe of the young man the Levite, even unto the houſe of Micah, and ſaluted him.

16 And the ſix hundred men appointed with 12 Micah conſecrated the Levite.] A ſtrange preſumption in them both; Micah could pretend to no authority to conſecrate; and the Levite was incapable of executing the prieſt's office, not being of the ſeed of Aaron. But ſuch was the confuſion of thoſe times, for want of a judge, that Micah's ſuperſtition had no bounds; and the Levite's poverty and ambition induced him to accept of the proffered preferment. Patrick.

13 Seeing I have a Levite for my prieſt.] He thought the Levite had more right to the office than his own ſon, and therefore would be more acceptable to God. Hence it is evident, that he did not intend to forſake the Lord; but his mind was ſo blinded, that he miſtook one ſmall benefit for a ſufficient ſign of his favour, when he was guilty of ſo many heinous offences againſt the Divine Majeſty. Patrick.

Notes on the Eighteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 The tribe of the Danites.] Rather, a family of the Danites.

An inheritance to dwell in.] Being ſtraightened by the old inhabitants of Canaan, they ſought for a commodious ſettlement in ſome other part of the country.

their weapons of war, which were of the children of Dan, ſtood by the entering of the gate.

17 And the five men that went to ſpy out the land, went up, and came in thither, and took the graven image, and the ephod, and the teraphim, and the molten image: and the prieſt ſtood in the entering of the gate, with the ſix hundred men that were appointed with weapons of war.

18 And theſe went into Micah's houſe, and fetched the carved image, the ephod, and the teraphim, and the molten image. Then ſaid the prieſt unto them, What do ye?

19 And they ſaid unto him, Hold thy peace, lay thine hand upon thy mouth, and go with us, and be to us a father and a prieſt: is it better for thee to be a prieſt unto the houſe of one man, or that thou be a prieſt unto a tribe and a family in Iſrael?

20 And the prieſt's heart was glad, and he took the ephod, and the teraphim, and the graven image, and went in the midſt of the people.

21 So they turned and departed, and put the little ones and the cattle and the carriage before them.

22 And when they were a good way from the houſe of Micah, the men that were in the houſes near to Micah's houſe were gathered together, and overtook the children of Dan.

23 And they cried unto the children of Dan. And they turned their faces, ſaid unto Micah, What aileth thee, that thou comeſt with ſuch a company?

24 And he ſaid, Ye have taken away my gods which I made, and the prieſt, and ye are gone away: and what have I more? and what is this that ye ſay unto me, What aileth thee?

25 And the children of Dan ſaid unto him, Let not thy voice be heard among us, leſt angry fellows run upon thee, and thou loſe thy life, with the lives of thy houſhold.

26 And the children of Dan went their way: and when Micah ſaw that they were too ſtrong for him, he turned and went back unto his houſe.

27 ¶ And they took the things which Micah had made, and the prieſt which he had, and came unto Laiſh, unto a people that were at quiet, and ſecure: and they ſmote them with the edge of the ſword, and burned the city with fire.

28 And there was no deliverer, becauſe it was far from Zidon, and they had no buſineſs with any man; and it was in the valley that lieth by Beth-rehob. And they built a city, and dwelt therein.

29 And they called the name of the city Dan, after the name of Dan their father, who was born unto Iſrael: howbeit the name of the city was Laiſh at the firſt.

30 And the children of Dan ſet up the graven image; and Jonathan the ſon of Gerſhom, the ſon of Manaſſeh, he and his ſons were prieſts to the tribe of Dan, until the day of the captivity of the land.

31 And they ſet them up Micah's graven image, which he made, all the time that the houſe of God was in Shiloh.

CHAP. XIX.

1 A Levite going to Beth-lehem to fetch his wife,
16 an old man entertaineth him at Gibeah.
22 The Gibeathites abuſe his concubine to death.

AND it came to paſs in thoſe days, when there was no king in Iſrael, that there was a certain Levite ſojourning on the ſide of mount Ephraim, who took to him a concubine out of Beth-lehem-judah.

30 And the children of Dan ſet up the graven image.] This is the firſt account we meet with of an idol being ſet up in any city, to be reſorted to by all the inhabitants.

The ſon of Gerſhom, the ſon of Manaſſeh.] Gerſhom was the ſon of Moſes; and there are ſtrong reaſons for believing, that the word here was at firſt Moſes and not Manaſſeh. St. Jerom has expreſſed it Moſes, and ſo the Vulgate reads it. Kennicott.

Until the day of the captivity of the land.] By the captivity of the land, is here meant the time when the ark of God was taken by the Philiſtines: and we find that this capture is in ſcripture ſtiled a captivity: He forſook the tabernacle of Shiloh, the tent which he placed among men: and delivered his ſtrength into captivity, and his glory into the enemies hand, Pſal. lxxviii. 60, 61.

31 All the time that the houſe of God was in Shiloh.] i. e. All the time the judges governed the people; for though they were zealous reformers, their authority, it ſeems, did not reach this country, where idolatry lurked till the ark of God was taken, and the Divine Shechinah no longer reſided in Shiloh. Patrick.

Notes on the Nineteenth Chapter.

Ver. 1 A concubine.] i. e. A wife of the ſecondary ſort, without ſuch ſolemn eſpouſals, or a dowry as thoſe called wives had.

2 And his concubine played the whore againſt him, and went away from him unto her father's houſe to Beth-lehem-judah, and was there four whole months.

3 And her huſband aroſe, and went after her to ſpeak friendly unto her, and to bring her again, having his ſervant with him, and a couple of aſſes: and ſhe brought him into her father's houſe; and when the father of the damſel ſaw him, he rejoiced to meet him.

4 And his father-in-law, the damſel's father retained him; and he abode with him three days; ſo they did eat and drink, and lodged there.

5 And it came to paſs on the fourth day, when they aroſe early in the morning, that he roſe up to depart: and the damſel's father ſaid unto his ſon-in-law, Comfort thine heart with a morſel of bread, and afterward go your way.

6 And they ſat down, and did eat and drink both of them together: for the damſel's father had ſaid unto the man, Be content, I pray thee, and tarry all night, and let thine heart be merry.

7 And when the man roſe up to depart, his father-in-law urged him: therefore he lodged there again.

8 And he aroſe early in the morning on the fifth day to depart: and the damſel's father ſaid, Comfort thine heart, I pray thee. And they tarried until afternoon, and they did eat both of them.

9 And when the man roſe up to depart, he and his concubine and his ſervant, his father in law, the damſel's father, ſaid unto him, Behold, now the day draweth towards evening, I pray you tarry all night: behold, the day groweth to an end, lodge here, that thine heart may be merry; and to-morrow get ye early on your way, that thou mayeſt go home.

10 But the man would not tarry that night, but he roſe up and departed, and came over againſt Jebus, which is Jeruſalem: and there were with him two aſſes ſaddled, his concubine alſo was with him.

11 And when they were by Jebus, the day was far ſpent, and the ſervant ſaid unto his maſter, Come, I pray thee, and let us turn in unto this city of the Jebuſites, and lodge in it.

12 And his maſter ſaid unto him, We will not turn aſide hither into the city of a ſtranger, that is not of the children of Iſrael; we will paſs over to Gibeah.

13 And he ſaid unto his ſervant, Come and let us draw near to one of theſe places to lodge all night, in Gibeah, or in Ramah.

14 And they paſſed on and went their way; and the ſun went down upon them when they were by Gibeah, which belongeth to Benjamin.

15 And they turned aſide thither, to go in and lodge in Gibeah. And when he went in, he ſat him down in a ſtreet of the city: for there was no man that took them into his houſe to lodging.

16 ¶ And behold, there came an old man from his work out of the field at even, which was alſo of mount Ephraim; and he ſojourned in Gibeah: but the men of the place were Benjamites.

17 And when he had lift up his eyes, he ſaw a wayfaring man in the ſtreet of the city: and the old man ſaid, Whither goeſt thou? and whence comeſt thou?

18 And he ſaid unto him, We are paſſing from Beth-lehem-judah, toward the ſide of mount Ephraim; from thence am I: and I

It is certain, ſuch perſons were really wives; and it was adultery in any one to lay with them but thoſe who had married them. Patrick.

2 Played the whore againſt him.] The Alexandrin copy of the Septuagint and Aldus's edition have---was angry with him: neither the LXX nor Vulgate have any thing of fornication. Wall.

11 Let us turn in unto this city of the Jebuſites, and lodge in it.] This was the city of Jeruſalem, which had been taken by the children of Judah; but the Jebuſites ſtill kept poſſeſſion of the ſtrong fort of Sihon till the days of David, from whence the children of Judah and Benjamin could not drive them out.

12 We will not turn aſide---into the city of a ſtranger.] Poſſibly this affair happened before the children of Judah had taken Jeruſalem: however that be, the Levite refuſed to lodge among idolaters.

To Gibeah.] A city poſſeſſed by the tribe of Benjamin.

15 There was no man that took them into his houſe.] The inhabitants of Gibeah had loſt all notions of humanity; even the ancient hoſpitality, or cuſtom of entertaining ſtangers, was quite aboliſhed.

16 There came an old man from his work out of the field.] This man, who was himſelf only a ſojurner, ſhewed that compaſſion for the ſtrangers which the wealthy inhabitants had denied.

went to Beth-lehem-judah, but I am now going to the houſe of the LORD; and there is no man that receiveth me to houſe.

19 Yet there is both ſtraw and provender for our aſſes; and there is bread and wine alſo for me and for thy handmaid, and for the young man which is with thy ſervants: there is no want of any thing.

20 And the old man ſaid, Peace be with thee; howſoever, let all thy wants lie upon me; only lodge not in the ſtreet.

21 So he brought him into his houſe, and gave provender unto the aſſes: and they waſhed their feet, and did eat and drink.

22 ¶ Now as they were making their hearts merry, behold, the men of the city, certain ſons of Belial, beſet the houſe round about, and beat at the door, and ſpake to the maſter of the houſe, the old man, ſaying, Bring forth the man that came into thine houſe, that we may know him.

23 And the man, the maſter of the houſe, went out unto them, and ſaid unto them, Nay, my brethren, nay, I pray you, do not ſo wickedly; ſeeing that this man is come into mine houſe, do not this folly.

24 Behold, here is my daughter, a maiden, and his concubine; them I will bring out now, and humble ye them, and do with them what ſeemeth good unto you: but unto this man do not ſo vile a thing.

25 But the men would not hearken to him: ſo the man took his concubine, and brought her forth unto them; and they knew her, and abuſed her all the night until the morning: and when the day began to ſpring they let her go.

26 Then came the woman in the dawning of the day, and fell down at the door of the man's houſe, where her lord was, till it was light.

27 And her lord roſe up in the morning, and opened the doors of the houſe, and went out to go his way: and behold, the woman his concubine was fallen down at the door of the houſe, and her hands were upon the threſhold.

28 And he ſaid unto her, Up, and let us be going: but none anſwered. Then the man took her up upon an aſs, and the man roſe up, and gat him unto his place.

29 And when he was come into his houſe, he took a knife, and laid hold on his concubine, and divided her, together with her bones, into twelve pieces, and ſent her into all the coaſt of Iſrael.

30 And it was ſo, that all that ſaw it ſaid, There was no ſuch deed done nor ſeen from the day that the children of Iſrael came up out of the land of Egypt unto this day: conſider of it, take advice, and ſpeak your minds.

CHAP. XX.

1 The Levite in a general aſſembly declareth his wrong. 8 Their decree. 26 The Benjamites are deſtroyed.

THEN all the children of Iſrael went out, and the congregation was gathered together as one man, from Dan even to Beer-ſheba, with the land of Gilead, unto the LORD in Mizpeh.

24 Behold, here is my daughter, a maiden, and his concubine, &c.] We have a ſimilar example in Lot, ſee Gen. xix. 8, who, like this inhabitant of Gibeah, offered his daughters to the men of Sodom, to preſerve inviolate the laws of hoſpitality.

26 Fell down at the door.] She fell down dead, through grief and ſhame.

28 The man took her up upon an aſs---and gat him unto his place.] He was doubtleſs perſuaded, that thoſe who were guilty of ſo baſe and inhuman an action would not ſcruple to take away his own life, if he made any complaint.

29 Divided her---into twelve pieces.] That every tribe might have a part, Benjamin not excepted; among whom it was to be hoped, there were ſome who deteſted ſo foul a crime, and had courage to puniſh the curſed authors of it. Patrick.

30 There was no ſuch deed done from the day that the children of Iſrael came up out of Egypt.] They not only condemned the fact, but were highly incenſed at it, as a crime exceeding all that had ever been heard of ſince they were a people.

Notes on the Twentieth Chapter.

Ver. 1 The congregation was gathered together, as one man, from Dan even to Beerſheba.] i. e. All Iſrael on both ſides of Jordan. But the inhabitants of Jabeſh-gilead, together with the Benjamites, muſt be excepted, who ſeem to have had no ſenſe of their wickedneſs. They were doubtleſs ſummoned as well as their brethren, but neglected to join them. Patrick.

In Mizpeh.] The Mizpeh here mentioned ſtood on the confines of Judah and Benjamin. It was very conveniently ſituated for a meeting of all the people, who often aſſembled there in future times. It was not far from Shiloh, ſo that they could eaſily conſult the Divine Majeſty on any occaſion.

the assembly of the people of God, four hundred thousand footmen that drew sword.

3 Now the children of Benjamin heard that the children of Israel were gone up to Mizpeh. Then said the children of Israel, Tell us, how was this wickedness?

4 And the Levite, the husband of the woman that was slain, answered and said, I came into Gibeah that belongeth to Benjamin, I and my concubine, to lodge:

5 And the men of Gibeah rose against me, and beset the house round about upon me by night, and thought to have slain me: and my concubine have they forced, that she is dead.

6 And I took my concubine, and cut her in pieces, and sent her throughout all the country of the inheritance of Israel: for they have committed lewdness and folly in Israel.

7 Behold, ye are all children of Israel; give here your advice and counsel.

8 ¶ And all the people arose as one man, saying, We will not any of us go to his tent, neither will we any of us turn into his house.

9 But now, this shall be the thing which we will do to Gibeah; we will go up by lot against it:

10 And we will take ten men of an hundred throughout all the tribes of Israel, and an hundred of a thousand, and a thousand out of ten thousand, to fetch victual for the people, that they may do, when they come to Gibeah of Benjamin, according to all the folly that they have wrought in Israel.

11 So all the men of Israel were gathered against the city, knit together as one man.

12 And the tribes of Israel sent men through all the tribe of Benjamin, saying, What wickedness is this that is done among you?

13 Now therefore deliver us the men, the children of Belial, which are in Gibeah, that we may put them to death, and put away evil from Israel. But the children of Benjamin would not hearken to the voice of their brethren the children of Israel:

14 But the children of Benjamin gathered themselves together out of the cities unto Gibeah, to go out to battle against the children of Israel.

15 And the children of Benjamin were numbered at that time out of the cities twenty and six thousand men that drew sword, beside the inhabitants of Gibeah, which were numbered seven hundred chosen men.

16 Among all this people there were seven hundred chosen men left-handed: every one could sling stones at an hair-breadth, and not miss.

17 And the men of Israel, beside Benjamin, were numbered four hundred thousand men that drew sword: all these were men of war.

18 And the children of Israel arose, and went up to the house of God, and asked counsel of God, and said, Which of us shall go up first to the battle against the children of Benjamin? and the LORD said, Judah shall go up first.

19 And the children of Israel rose up in the morning, and encamped against Gibeah.

20 And the men of Israel went out to battle against Benjamin: and the men of Israel put themselves in array to fight against them at Gibeah.

21 And the children of Benjamin came forth out of Gibeah, and destroyed down to the ground of the Israelites that day twenty and two thousand men.

22 And the people the men of Israel encouraged themselves, and set their battle again in array in the place where they put themselves in array the first day.

23 (And the children of Israel went up and wept before the LORD until even, and asked counsel of the LORD, saying, Shall I go up again to battle against the children of Benjamin my brother? and the LORD said, Go up against him.)

---

13 The children of Benjamin would not hearken to the voice of the children of Israel.] They seem to have been as unanimous in the defence of this wickedness, as the rest of the tribes were in their endeavours to have it punished.

16 Seven hundred chosen men left-handed.] Seven hundred is mentioned ver. 15, and therefore seems here to be redundant. The present German Jews, who are supposed to be of the tribe of Benjamin, are most of them left-handed.

23 And asked counsel of the Lord.] The phrase here used, upon both these consultations, of asking counsel of the Lord, often means no more than consulting their grand council or sanhedrim, with the high-priest at their head. Psalmanazar, p. 264.

24 And the children of Iſrael came near againſt the children of Benjamin the ſecond day.

25 And Benjamin went forth againſt them out of Gibeah the ſecond day, and deſtroyed down to the ground of the children of Iſrael again eighteen thouſand men: all theſe drew the ſword.

26 ¶ Then all the children of Iſrael and all the people went up, and came unto the houſe of God, and wept, and ſat there before the LORD, and faſted that day until even, and offered burnt-offerings and peace-offerings before the LORD.

27 And the children of Iſrael enquired of the LORD, (for the ark of the covenant of God was there in thoſe days, 28 And Phinehas the ſon of Eleazar, the ſon of Aaron, ſtood before it in thoſe days,) ſaying, Shall I yet again go out to battle againſt the children of Benjamin my brother, or ſhall I ceaſe? And the LORD ſaid, Go up: for to-morrow I will deliver them into thine hand.

29 And Iſrael ſet liers in wait round about Gibeah.

30 And the children of Iſrael went up againſt the children of Benjamin on the third day, and put themſelves in array againſt Gibeah as at other times.

31 And the children of Benjamin went out againſt the people, and were drawn away from the city; and they began to ſmite of the people, and kill as at other times, in the high-ways, of which one goeth up to the houſe of God, and the other to Gibeah in the field, about thirty men of Iſrael.

32 And the children of Benjamin ſaid, They are ſmitten down before us as at the firſt. But the children of Iſrael ſaid, Let us flee, and draw them from the city unto the high-ways.

33 And all the men of Iſrael roſe up out of their place, and put themſelves in array at Baal-tamar: and the liers in wait of Iſrael came forth out of their places, even out of the meadows of Gibeah.

34 And there came againſt Gibeah ten thouſand choſen men out of all Iſrael, and the battle was ſore: but they knew not that evil was near them.

35 And the LORD ſmote Benjamin before Iſrael: and the children of Iſrael deſtroyed of the Benjamites that day twenty and five thouſand and an hundred men: all theſe drew the ſword.

36 So the children of Benjamin ſaw that they were ſmitten. For the men of Iſrael gave place to the Benjamites, becauſe they truſted unto the liers in wait which they had ſet beſide Gibeah.

37 And the liers in wait haſted, and ruſhed upon Gibeah; and the liers in wait drew themſelves along, and ſmote all the city with the edge of the ſword.

38 Now there was an appointed ſign between the men of Iſrael and the liers in wait, that they ſhould make a great flame with ſmoke to riſe up out of the city.

39 And when the men of Iſrael retired in the battle, Benjamin began to ſmite and kill of the men of Iſrael about thirty perſons: for they ſaid, Surely they are ſmitten down before us as in the firſt battle.

40 But when the flame began to ariſe up out of the city with a pillar of ſmoke, the Benjamites looked behind them, and behold, the flame of the city aſcended up to heaven.

41 And when the men of Iſrael turned again,

25 Eighteen thouſand men.] In theſe two battles they deſtroyed forty thouſand men, a much greater number than the Benjamites had in their whole army. It has been aſked, why the Iſraelites, in ſo juſt a cauſe, were defeated in two battles, eſpecially as they had aſked counſel of God? To which it may be anſwered, that though they had ſent to the houſe of God to aſk which of the tribes ſhould go up firſt, and alſo whether they ſhould again attack the Benjamites; yet they had never aſked whether an enterprize of that nature would be pleaſing to God, or not. The truth is, they preſumed upon his protection and aſſiſtance; and the vaſt ſuperiority of their forces made them confident of ſucceſs. But ſurely, they ſhould have aſked whether God had decreed the deſtruction of their brethren; for to attack one of the tribes of Iſrael, without the approbation of Jehovah, who was the king of Iſrael, was an act of rebellion againſt him. But ſuppoſing the grounds of the war juſtifiable, why might not God take this opportunity of puniſhing the Iſraelites by the hand of their brethren, for their tame permiſſion of more enormous crimes than thoſe they endeavoured to chaſtiſe? Did not they ſuffer ſpiritual adultery among them, at the very time they were ſo hot upon puniſhing carnal? The whole tribe of Dan had fallen into idolatry; but the rulers of Iſrael were ſo far from puniſhing it, that they connived at their apoſtacy: and therefore God thought proper to make uſe of the Benjamites as ſcourges, to puniſh their baſe connivance; for the wonderful wiſdom of God's providence frequently employs the paſſions of men to fulfil his purpoſes, by making one wicked ſet of men the inſtrument of puniſhing another. Stackhouſe.

the men of Benjamin were amazed: for they saw that evil was come upon them.

42 Therefore they turned their backs before the men of Israel unto the way of the wilderness; but the battle overtook them: and them which came out of the cities, they destroyed in the midst of them.

43 Thus they inclosed the Benjamites round about, and chased them, and trode them down with ease, over-against Gibeah toward the sun-rising.

44 And there fell of Benjamin eighteen thousand men: all these were men of valour.

45 And they turned and fled toward the wilderness unto the rock of Rimmon: and they gleaned of them in the high-ways five thousand men; and pursued hard after them unto Gidom, and slew two thousand men of them.

46 So that all which fell that day of Benjamin were twenty and five thousand men that drew the sword: all these were men of valour.

47 But six hundred men turned and fled to the wilderness unto the rock Rimmon, and abode in the rock Rimmon four months.

48 And the men of Israel turned again upon the children of Benjamin, and smote them with the edge of the sword, as well the men of every city, as the beast, and all that came to hand: also they set on fire all the cities that they came to.

CHAP. XXI.

1 The people bewailing the desolation of Benjamin, 16 advise them to surprize the virgins that danced at Shiloh.

NOW the men of Israel had sworn in Mizpeh, saying, There shall not any of us give his daughter unto Benjamin to wife.

2 And the people came to the house of God, and abode there till even before God, and lift up their voices and wept sore;

3 And said, O Lord God of Israel, why is this come to pass in Israel, that there should be to-day one tribe lacking in Israel?

4 And it came to pass on the morrow, that the people rose early, and built there an altar, and offered burnt-offerings and peace-offerings.

5 And the children of Israel said, Who is there among all the tribes of Israel that came not up with the congregation unto the LORD? for they had made a great oath concerning him that came not up to the LORD in Mizpeh, saying, He shall surely be put to death.

6 And the children of Israel repented them for Benjamin their brother, and said, There is one tribe cut off from Israel this day.

7 How shall we do for wives for them that remain, seeing we have sworn by the LORD, that we will not give them of our daughters to wives?

8 And they said, What one is there of the tribes of Israel, that came not up to Mizpeh to the LORD? and behold, there came none to the camp from Jabesh-gilead to the assembly.

9 For the people were numbered, and behold, there were none of the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead there.

10 And the congregation sent thither twelve thousand men of the valiantest, and commanded them, saying, Go and smite the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead with the edge of the sword, with the women and the children.

11 And this is the thing that ye shall do, Ye shall utterly destroy every male, and every woman that hath lien by man.

12 And they found among the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead four hundred young virgins that had known no man by lying with any Notes on the Twenty-first Chapter.

Ver. 3 One tribe lacking in Israel?] When the Israelites fury against Benjamin was abated, and they began to consider seriously of what they had done, how they had almost totally destroyed one of the tribes of Israel, and bound themselves by an oath never to marry their daughters to the poor remains of it, which must prove the extirpation of the whole; the joy and triumph of their late victory was turned into mourning and bitter lamentation. Stackhouse.

10 Smite the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead with the sword, women and children.] The massacre of the people of Jabesh-gilead, without ever sending to know the reason of their absenting themselves from the war, was a cruel expedient to extricate the Israelites from the difficulty, in which their superstitious observance of an unlawful oath had involved them, and is a shocking instance of the iniquity and barbarity of those times: for surely, to slay the innocent with the guilty, to put the women and children to death, is the very height of injustice and cruelty. Stackhouse.

male: and they brought them unto the camp to Shiloh, which is in the land of Canaan.

13 And the whole congregation ſent ſome to ſpeak to the children of Benjamin that were in the rock Rimmon, and to call peaceably unto them.

14 And Benjamin came again at that time; and they gave them wives which they had ſaved alive of the women of Jabeſh-gilead: and yet ſo they ſufficed them not.

15 And the people repented them for Benjamin, becauſe that the LORD had made a breach in the tribes of Iſrael.

16 ¶ Then the elders of the congregation ſaid, How ſhall we do for wives for them that remain, ſeeing the women are deſtroyed out of Benjamin?

17 And they ſaid, There muſt be an inheritance for them that be eſcaped of Benjamin, that a tribe be not deſtroyed out of Iſrael.

18 Howbeit, we may not give them wives of our daughters: for the children of Iſrael have ſworn, ſaying, Curſed be he that giveth a wife to Benjamin.

19 Then they ſaid, Behold, there is a feaſt of the LORD in Shiloh yearly in a place which is on the north-ſide of Beth-el, on the eaſt-ſide of the high-way that goeth up from Beth-el to Shechem, and on the ſouth of Lebonah.

20 Therefore they commanded the children of Benjamin, ſaying, Go and lie in wait in the vineyards:

21 And ſee, and behold, if the daughters of Shiloh come out to dance in dances, then come ye out of the vineyards, and catch ye every man his wife of the daughters of Shiloh, and go to the land of Benjamin.

22 And it ſhall be when their fathers or their brethren come unto us to complain, that we will ſay unto them, Be favourable unto them for our ſakes: becauſe we reſerved not to each man his wife in the war: for ye did not give unto them at this time, that ye ſhould be guilty.

23 And the children of Benjamin did ſo, and took them wives according to their number, of them that danced, whom they caught. And they went and returned unto their inheritance, and repaired the cities, and dwelt in them.

24 And the children of Iſrael departed thence that time, every man to his tribe, and to his family, and they went out from thence every man to his inheritance.

25 In thoſe days there was no king in Iſrael: every man did that which was right in his own eyes.

19 There is a feaſt of the Lord in Shiloh yearly.] All the three great feſtivals were to be obſerved at the place where God had ſettled his habitation, which was now at Shiloh, where the people aſſembled to praiſe God, and to feaſt one with another. The feaſt here meant was that of tabernacles, which was a time of great joy, becauſe they had newly gathered their vintage: it was alſo the only ſeaſon wherein the Jewiſh virgins were allowed to dance. Patrick.

22 For ye did not give unto them at this time, that ye ſhould be guilty.] It might more properly be rendered, Becauſe ye did not give unto them at this time, ye are to blame. Pilkington's Remarks.

23 And the children of Benjamin---took them wives according to their number.] Whatever may be ſaid in juſtification of the Benjamites, the elders of Iſrael, who gave them this counſel and authority, had doubtleſs no right to diſpoſe of the children of other perſons, without their conſent and approbation. The rape of the Sabines is uſually produced as a piece of hiſtory parallel to this; but it ſhould be remembered that Romulus, in whoſe reign it happened, was one of thoſe princes who accounted every point that contributed to the eſtabliſhment of his dominions, not only lawful, but glorious; and that every thing ceaſed to be a crime, when once it became neceſſary for reaſons of ſtate: whereas the rulers of Iſrael either had, or ſhould have had different notions. They were governed by God, whoſe throne is eſtabliſhed in righteouſneſs; and certainly ſhould have contrived ſome other means of eſtabliſhing a diminiſhed tribe, than thoſe violent methods of rapes and forced marriages. Stackhouſe.

25 In thoſe days there was no king in Iſrael: every man did that which was right in his own eyes.] The ſacred hiſtorian has here aſſigned the beſt reaſon for all the abuſes committed in this and the preceding chapters. It was owing to this want of authority that men committed many horrid actions, which were not publickly allowed. This was the cauſe of Micah's idolatry, of the Benjamites abominable luſts, and of the enormous things done by the Iſraelites. And this ſhould teach us to be very thankful for the authority that is ſet over us, in order to prevent us from committing ſuch enormous actions.

THE BOOK OF RUTH.

THE ARGUMENT.

This Book is a ſort of an Appendix to that of Judges, and therefore properly placed here. It has its title from the perſon whoſe ſtory is principally related: Who, out of affection to her mother-in-law and her religion, left her country and kindred, to live in the land of Iſrael in a poor and mean condition. It is very probable, that the ſame perſon who wrote the book of Judges was alſo the author of this, viz. Samuel. This tranſaction is ſuppoſed to have happened in the days of Shamgar, the third judge, i. e. about 120 years after Joſhua. The hiſtory concludes with the genealogy of David, from Pharez the ſon of Judah, that it might evidently appear the Meſſiah ſprung from that tribe, according to the famous prediction of Jacob.

CHAP. I.

1 Elimelech driven by famine into Moab, dieth there. 6 Naomi returning home, 14 Ruth accompanieth her.

NOW it came to paſs in the days when the judges ruled, that there was a famine in the land. And a certain man of Beth-lehem-judah went to ſojourn in the country of Moab, he and his wife and his two ſons.

2 And the name of the man was Elimelech, and the name of his wife Naomi, and the name of his two ſons Mahlon and Chilion, Ephrathites of Beth-lehem-judah. And they came into the country of Moab, and continued there.

3 And Elimelech Naomi's huſband died: and ſhe was left, and her two ſons.

4 And they took them wives of the women of Moab; the name of the one was Orpah, and the name of the other Ruth: and they dwelled there about ten years.

5 And Mahlon and Chilion died alſo both of them; and the woman was left of her two ſons, and her huſband.

6 ¶ Then ſhe aroſe with her daughters in law, that ſhe might return from the country of Moab: for ſhe had heard in the country of Moab how that the LORD had viſited his people in giving them bread.

7 Wherefore ſhe went forth out of the place where ſhe was, and her two daughters in law with her: and they went on the way to return unto the land of Judah.

8 And Naomi ſaid unto her two daughters in law, Go, return each to her mother's houſe: the LORD deal kindly with you, as ye have dealt with the dead, and with me.

9 The LORD grant you that ye may find reſt, each of you, in the houſe of her huſband. Then ſhe kiſſed them. And they lift up their voice and wept.

Notes on the Firſt Chapter.

Ver. 1 Beth-lehem-judah.] There were two places of the name of Beth-lehem; one in the tribe of Judah, and the other in that of Zebulun.

4 They took them wives of the women of Moab.] This was abſolutely forbidden by the Jewiſh law, unleſs the women were proſelytes to the true religion.

8 Go, return each to her mother's houſe.] She was deſirous that they ſhould accompany her no farther, but return to their parents, with whom it was the cuſtom for widows to dwell.

15 Thy

10 And they ſaid unto her, Surely we will return with thee unto thy people.

11 And Naomi ſaid, Turn again, my daughters: why will ye go with me? are there yet any more ſons in my womb, that they may be your huſbands?

12 Turn again, my daughters, go your way; for I am too old to have an huſband. If I ſhould ſay, I have hope, if I ſhould have a huſband alſo to night, and ſhould alſo bear ſons;

13 Would ye tarry for them till they were grown? would ye ſtay for them from having huſbands? nay, my daughters: for it grieveth me much for your ſakes, that the hand of the LORD is gone out againſt me.

14 ¶ And they lift up their voice, and wept again: and Orpah kiſſed her mother in law; but Ruth clave unto her.

15 And ſhe ſaid, Behold, thy ſiſter in law is gone back unto her people, and unto her gods: return thou after thy ſiſter in law.

16 And Ruth ſaid, Intreat me not to leave thee, or to return from following after thee: for whither thou goeſt, I will go; and where thou lodgeſt; I will lodge: thy people ſhall be my people, and thy God my God.

17 Where thou dieſt, will I die, and there will I be buried: the LORD do ſo to me, and more alſo, if ought but death part thee and me.

18 When ſhe ſaw that ſhe was ſtedfaſtly minded to go with her, then ſhe left ſpeaking unto her.

19 So they two went until they came to Beth-lehem. And it came to paſs when they were come to Beth-lehem, that all the city was moved about them; and they ſaid, Is this Naomi?

20 And ſhe ſaid unto them, Call me not Naomi, call me Mara: for the Almighty hath dealt very bitterly with me.

21 I went out full, and the LORD hath brought me home again empty: why then call ye me Naomi, ſeeing the LORD hath teſtified againſt me, and the Almighty hath afflicted me?

22 So Naomi returned, and Ruth the Moabiteſs her daughter in law with her, which was returned out of the country of Moab. And they came to Beth-lehem in the beginning of the barley-harveſt.

CHAP. II.

1 Ruth gleaneth in the fields of Boaz. 4 He taketh knowledge of her, 8 and ſheweth her favour.

AND Naomi had a kinſman of her huſband's, a mighty man of wealth, of the family of Elimelech; and his name was Boaz.

2 And Ruth the Moabiteſs ſaid unto Naomi, Let me now go to the field, and glean ears of corn after him in whoſe ſight I ſhall find grace. And ſhe ſaid unto her, Go, my daughter.

3 And ſhe went, and came, and gleaned in the field after the reapers: and her hap was to light on a part of the field belonging unto Boaz, who was of the kindred of Elimelech.

4 ¶ And behold Boaz came from Beth-lehem, and ſaid unto the reapers, The LORD be with you: and they anſwered him, The LORD bleſs thee.

15 Thy ſiſter-in-law is gone back unto her people, and unto her gods.] Hence it appears, that Orpah was not a convert to the Jewiſh religion, but ſtill continued to worſhip the gods of her country. This, however, did not hinder her from loving her huſband while he lived, and retaining an affection for her mother-in-law after his death.

17 The Lord do ſo to me, and more alſo, if ought but death part thee and me.] She determines that death only ſhould ſeparate her from her mother-in-law; and not that neither in every reſpect, for ſhe would lie in the ſame ſepulchre with her: and this ſhe confirms with a ſolemn imprecation on herſelf, that worſe might befal her than any thing Naomi could ſuffer, if ſhe did not faithfully adhere to her. Patrick.

19 All the city was moved about them, and they ſaid, Is this Naomi?] The people came to ſee her; but, from the great change in her countenance and dreſs, could ſcarce believe it was the ſame Naomi which formerly was their neighbour.

20 Call me not Naomi, call me Mara.] She was deſirous her name ſhould be conformable to her condition; the former ſignifies proſperity, and the latter bitterneſs, or grief.

21 The Lord hath teſtified againſt me, and the Almighty hath afflicted me?] God is ſaid to teſtify againſt perſons, when he paſſes their ſentence incurred by their tranſgreſſions, and to afflict, when he executes it.

Notes on the Second Chapter.

Ver. 2 After him, in whoſe ſight I ſhall find grace.] Either ſhe did not know, that poor ſtrangers had an equal right with the poor of Iſrael to glean after the reapers: or, her modeſty would not ſuffer her to challenge it as a right; but, on the contrary, to acknowledge it as a favour.

4 The Lord be with you.] This is the firſt time we meet with this religious ſalutation, which we afterwards find was familiar, and continued even to the time of our bleſſed Saviour, when the angel ſaluted the bleſſed Virgin after this manner, Luke i. 28. Patrick.

5 Then ſaid Boaz unto his ſervant that was ſet over the reapers, Whoſe damſel is this?

6 And the ſervant that was ſet over the reapers anſwered and ſaid, It is the Moabitiſh damſel that came back with Naomi out of the country of Moab:

7 And ſhe ſaid, I pray you let me glean, and gather after the reapers amongſt the ſheaves: ſo ſhe came, and hath continued even from the morning until now, that ſhe tarried a little in the houſe.

8 ¶ Then ſaid Boaz unto Ruth, Heareſt thou not, my daughter? Go not to glean in another field, neither go from hence, but abide here faſt by my maidens.

9 Let thine eyes be on the field that they do reap, and go thou after them: have I not charged the young men that they ſhall not touch thee? and when thou art athirſt, go unto the veſſels, and drink of that which the young men have drawn.

10 Then ſhe fell on her face, and bowed herſelf to the ground, and ſaid unto him, Why have I found grace in thine eyes, that thou ſhouldeſt take knowledge of me, ſeeing I am a ſtranger?

11 And Boaz anſwered and ſaid unto her, It hath fully been ſhewed me all that thou haſt done unto thy mother in law ſince the death of thine huſband: and how thou haſt left thy father and thy mother, and the land of thy nativity, and art come unto a people which thou kneweſt not heretofore.

12 The LORD recompenſe thy work, and a full reward be given thee of the LORD God of Iſrael, under whoſe wings thou art come to truſt.

13 Then ſhe ſaid, Let me find favour in thy ſight, my lord; for thou haſt comforted me, and for that thou haſt ſpoken friendly unto thine handmaid, though I be not like unto one of thine handmaidens.

14 And Boaz ſaid unto her, At meal-time come thou hither, and eat of the bread, and dip thy morſel in the vinegar, and ſhe ſat beſide the reapers: and he reached her parched corn, and ſhe did eat, and was ſufficed, and left.

15 And when ſhe was riſen up to glean, Boaz commanded his young men, ſaying, Let her glean even among the ſheaves, and reproach her not.

16 And let fall alſo ſome of the handfuls of purpoſe for her, and leave them that ſhe may glean them, and rebuke her not.

17 So ſhe gleaned in the field until even, and beat out that ſhe had gleaned: and it was about an ephah of barley.

18 And ſhe took it up, and went into the city. And her mother in law ſaw what ſhe had gleaned. And ſhe brought forth and gave to her that ſhe had reſerved, after ſhe was ſufficed.

19 And her mother in law ſaid unto her, Where haſt thou gleaned to day? and were wroughteſt thou? bleſſed be he that did take knowledge of thee. And ſhe ſhewed her mother in law with whom ſhe had wrought, and ſaid, The man's name with whom I wrought to day is Boaz.

20 And Naomi ſaid unto her daughter in law, Bleſſed be he of the LORD, who hath not left off his kindneſs to the living and to the dead. And Naomi ſaid unto her, The man is near of kin unto us, one of our next kinſmen.

7 She tarried a little in the houſe.] In the tent, which was pitched in the field for ſuch as were weary to refreſh themſelves.

12 The Lord recompence thy work, &c.] He conſidered her leaving all that was dear to her in the world, to become a worſhipper of the true God, as a very noble act of faith and virtue. Under whoſe wings, &c.] This metaphor ſeems to be taken from the cherubims, who ſpread their wings from one ſide of the holy place unto the other, upon which the Divine Majeſty ſat. Patrick.

13 Though I be not like unto one of thine handmaidens.] I am born in a country by no means remarkable for virtue and goodneſs, and therefore far beneath one of thy meaneſt ſervants. Patrick.

14 At meal-time come thou hither, and eat of the bread, and dip thy morſel in the vinegar.] Under the word bread is comprehended proviſion in general, with which they had vinegar for ſauce, it being very cooling and refreſhing in hot ſeaſons. It is very ſurpriſing how the ancient Jews came to apply theſe words to the kingdom of the Meſſiah, and to his ſuffering condition here in this world. The fact is however certain: the Midraſch upon this paſſage makes the words, come thou hither, to ſignify, come to thy kingdom; and the morſel dipt in vinegar, to denote the reproaches and ſufferings of Chriſt: which is an argument, that they expected their Meſſiah would be expoſed to ſuch ſufferings as our bleſſed Saviour actually endured; who ſays, in the pſalmiſt, They gave me vinegar to drink, lxix. 21. Patrick.

17 About an ephah of barley.] An ephah is ſeven gallons, two quarts, and about half a pint, wine meaſure.

18 Gave her that ſhe had reſerved, after ſhe was ſufficed.] i. e. Ruth brought what ſhe had left when ſhe was feaſted with the reapers, and gave to her mother-in-law.

21 And Ruth the Moabiteſs ſaid, He ſaid unto me alſo, Thou ſhalt keep faſt by my young men, until they have ended all my harveſt.

22 And Naomi ſaid unto Ruth her daughter in law, It is good, my daughter, that thou go out with his maidens, that they meet thee not in any other field.

23 So ſhe kept faſt by the maidens of Boaz to glean unto the end of barley-harveſt, and of wheat-harveſt; and dwelt with her mother in law.

CHAP. III.

1 By Naomi's inſtruction, Ruth lies at Boaz's feet. 8 Boaz acknowledgeth the right of a kinſman.

THEN Naomi her mother in law ſaid unto her, My daughter, ſhall I not ſeek reſt for thee, that it may be well with thee?

2 And now is not Boaz of our kindred, with whoſe maidens thou waſt? Behold, he winnoweth barley to night in the threſhing-floor.

3 Waſh thy ſelf therefore, and anoint thee, and put thy raiment upon thee, and get thee down to the floor: but make not thy ſelf known unto the man, until he ſhall have done eating and drinking.

4 And it ſhall be when he lieth down, that thou ſhalt mark the place where he ſhall lie, and thou ſhalt go in, and uncover his feet and lay thee down: and he will tell thee what thou ſhalt do.

5 And ſhe ſaid unto her, All that thou ſayeſt unto me I will do.

6 And ſhe went down unto the floor, and did according to all that her mother in law bade her.

7 And when Boaz had eaten and drank, and his heart was merry, he went to lie down at the end of the heap of corn: and ſhe came ſoftly, and uncovered his feet, and laid her down.

8 ¶ And it came to paſs at midnight, that the man was afraid, and turned himſelf: and behold, a woman lay at his feet.

9 And he ſaid, Who art thou? and ſhe anſwered, I am Ruth thine handmaid: ſpread therefore thy ſkirt over thine handmaid; for thou art a near kinſman.

10 And he ſaid Bleſſed be thou of the LORD, my daughter: for thou haſt ſhewed more kindneſs in the latter end than at the beginning, inaſmuch as thou followedſt not young men, whether poor or rich.

11 And now my daughter, fear not: I will do to thee all that thou requireſt: for all the city of my people doth know that thou art a virtuous woman.

12 And now it is true, that I am thy near kinſman: howbeit there is a kinſman nearer than I.

13 Tarry this night, and it ſhall be in the morning, that if he will perform unto thee the part of a kinſman, well; let him do the kinſman's part: but if he will not do the part of a kinſman to thee, then will I do the part of a kinſman to thee, as the LORD liveth: lie down until the morning.

14 And ſhe lay at his feet until the morning: and ſhe roſe up before one could know another. And he ſaid, Let it not be known that a woman came into the floor.

15 Alſo he ſaid, Bring the veil that thou haſt upon thee, and hold it. And when ſhe held it, he meaſured ſix meaſures of barley, and laid it on her; and ſhe went into the city.

21 Thou ſhalt keep faſt by my young men] The word which we render young men, ſignifies all young people in general, and particularly the maidens, to whom he bid her keep cloſe, verſe 8. Patrick.

Notes on the Third Chapter.

Ver. 4 Uncover his feet, and lay thee down.] This deſign of Naomi's ſeems, at firſt ſight, not very modeſt; but as it had no other intention than what was agreeable to the law of God, it proſpered accordingly.

7 He went to lie down at the end of the heap of corn.] Such was the ſimplicity of theſe early times, that the moſt wealthy perſons looked after their own buſineſs, both at home and in the field. Theſe threſhing-floors were covered at top, to keep off the rain; but open on all ſides, to give a free paſſage to the wind for winnowing the corn. They ſeem, however, to have been ſhut up at night, to prevent robbers from entering them, and ſtealing the corn and inſtruments of huſbandry, which were commonly left there.

10 Bleſſed be thou of the Lord, my daughter, &c.] He was ſo far from being incenſed at her boldneſs, that he wiſhes her all kinds of happineſs, commending her true kindneſs both to her mother and her huſband, which was now more evident than before, by her endeavours to preſerve his name and family.

15 Bring the veil thou haſt upon thee.] Dr. Shaw thinks this veil

16 And when she came to her mother-in-law, she said, Who art thou, my daughter? and she told her all that the man had done to her.

17 And she said, These six measures of barley gave he me; for he said to me, Go not empty unto thy mother-in-law.

18 Then said she, Sit still, my daughter, until thou know how the matter will fall: for the man will not be in rest, until he have finished the thing this day.

CHAP. IV.

1 Boaz calleth into judgement the next kinsman. 6 He refusing the redemption, 10 Boaz marrieth Ruth.

THEN went Boaz up to the gate, and sat him down there: and behold, the kinsman of whom Boaz spake, came by; unto whom he said, Ho, such a one, turn aside, sit down here. And he turned aside, and sat down.

2 And he took ten men of the elders of the city, and said, Sit ye down here. And they sat down.

3 And he said unto the kinsman, Naomi, that is come again out of the country of Moab, selleth a parcel of land which was our brother Elimelech's

4 And I thought to advertise thee, saying, Buy it before the inhabitants, and before the elders of my people. If thou wilt redeem it, redeem it: but if thou wilt not redeem it, then tell me, that I may know: for there is none to redeem it besides thee; and I am after thee. And he said, I will redeem it.

5 Then said Boaz, What day thou buyest the field of the hand of Naomi, thou must buy it also of Ruth the Moabitess, the wife of the dead, to raise up the name of the dead upon his inheritance.

6 ¶ And the kinsman said, I cannot redeem it for my self, lest I mar mine own inheritance: redeem thou my right to thy self; for I cannot redeem it.

7 Now this was the manner in former time in Israel concerning redeeming, and concerning changing, for to confirm all things; a man plucked off his shoe, and gave it to his neighbour: and this was a testimony in Israel.

8 Therefore the kinsman said unto Boaz, Buy it for thee: so he drew off his shoe.

9 And Boaz said unto the elders, and unto all the people, Ye are witnesses this day that I have bought all that was Elimelech's, and all that was Chilion's and Mahlon's, of the hand of Naomi.

10 ¶ Moreover, Ruth the Moabitess, the wife of Mahlon, have I purchased to be my wife, to raise up the name of the dead upon his inheritance, that the name of the dead be not cut off from among his brethren, and from the gate of his place: ye are witnesses this day.

11 And all the people that were in the gate, and the elders said, We are witnesses. The LORD make the woman that is come into thine house like Rachel and like Leah, which two did build the house of Israel: and do thou worthily in Ephratah, and be famous in Bethlehem.

veil was something like what the Arabians now wear, called a hyke, which serves for a complete dress by day, and for a covering by night: it is usually about six yards long, and five or six foot broad.

Notes on the Fourth Chapter.

Ver. 1 Up to the gate.] Where the judges determined causes.

3 Naomi---selleth a parcel of land, which was our brother Elimelech's.] He calls him their brother, because he was a near kinsman; and mentions Naomi's return out of the country of Moab, to intimate, that her poverty obliged her to sell the inheritance her husband had left her. Patrick.

5 Thou must buy it also of Ruth, &c.] There are here some errors in the original, which when corrected by authentic MSS and versions, will make the translation run thus: Then said Boaz, On the day thou takest the land of the hand of Naomi, thou must also take Ruth the Moabitess. Kennicott.

6 I cannot redeem it for myself, lest I mar mine own inheritance.] He had already a wife and family, and therefore was apprehensive that this marriage might be attended with many inconveniencies.

7 Now this was the manner in former time in Israel, &c.] This seems to have been only a custom that had long prevailed, when men redeemed lands which had been alienated, or put another into possession of them. Patrick.

A man plucked off his shoe, and gave it to his neighbour: and this was a testimony in Israel.] A sufficient evidence, that he transferred all his right unto the person to whom he delivered his shoe. The reason of this custom is plain, it being a natural indication that he resigned his interest in the land by giving the other his shoe, on which he used to walk in it, that he might enter and take possession of it himself. This ceremony was different from that mentioned Deut. xxv.

11 Do thou worthily in Ephratah, and be famous in Beth-lehem.] These are two different names for the same place, where Boaz and Ruth both lived, and who they prayed might be a shining example of virtue to the inhabitants of that city.

12 And let thy houſe be like the houſe of Pharez, whom Tamar bare unto Judah, of the ſeed which the LORD ſhall give thee of this young woman.

13 So Boaz took Ruth, and ſhe was his wife: and when he went in unto her, the LORD gave her conception, and ſhe bare a ſon.

14 And the women ſaid unto Naomi, Bleſſed be the LORD, which hath not left thee this day without a kinſman, that his name may be famous in Iſrael.

15 And he ſhall be unto thee a reſtorer of thy life, and a nouriſher of thine old age. For thy daughter-in-law, which loveth thee, which is better to thee than ſeven ſons, hath born him.

16 And Naomi took the child, and laid it in her boſom, and became nurſe unto it.

17 And the women her neighbours gave it a name, ſaying, There is a ſon born to Naomi; and they called his name Obed. He is the father of Jeſſe, the father of David.

18 Now theſe are the generations of Pharez: Pharez begat Hezron,

19 And Hezron begat Ram, and Ram begat Amminadab,

20 And Amminadab begat Nahſhon, and Nahſhon begat Salmon,

21 And Salmon begat Boaz, and Boaz begat Obed,

22 And Obed begat Jeſſe, and Jeſſe begat David.

12 Like the houſe of Pharez.] All the Beth-lehemites derived their origin from Pharez, whoſe family was very illuſtrious in Iſrael.

17 They called his name Obed.] That is, a ſervant, intimating, that he was appointed to take care of Naomi in her old age.

He is the father of Jeſſe, the father of David.] This book ſeems to have been written principally for the ſake of this genealogy, it being neceſſary to trace the family to its origin, as the Meſſiah was to ſpring from it; and accordingly it is traced, in the following verſes, from Pharez, the grandſon of Jacob, to David.

THE FIRST BOOK OF SAMUEL,

OTHERWISE CALLED

The First Book of the KINGS.

THE ARGUMENT.

The two Books of Samuel are public Hiſtories of the tranſactions under the two laſt judges Samuel and Eli; and under the two firſt kings, Saul and David, comprizing the compaſs of about 100 years. The Jews in general, with great probability, aſſert, that the four and twenty firſt chapters were written by Samuel himſelf, and the reſt by the prophets Nathan and Gad; which aſſertion they found on this paſſage in 1 Chron. xxix. 29.---Now the acts of David the king, behold they are written in the book of Samuel the ſeer, and in the book of Nathan the prophet, and in the book of Gad the ſeer. The books of Samuel and Kings being a continued hiſtory of the reigns of the kings of Iſrael and Judah, are therefore called the firſt, ſecond, third and fourth books of Kings.

CHAP. I.

1 Elkanah and his two wives. 9 Hannah's prayer. 19 Samuel is born, 24 and preſented to the Lord.

NOW there was a certain man of Ramathaim-zophim, of mount Ephraim, and his name was Elkanah, the ſon of Jeroham, the ſon of Elihu, the ſon of Tohu, the ſon of Zuph, an Ephrathite.

2 And he had two wives; the name of the one, was Hannah, and the name of the other Peninnah: and Penninah had children, but Hannah had no children.

3 And this man went up out of his city yearly, to worſhip and to ſacrifice unto the LORD of hoſts in Shiloh. And the two ſons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, the prieſts of the LORD, were there.

4 And when the time was that Elkanah offered, he gave to Peninnah his wife, and to all her ſons and her daughters, portions.

5 But unto Hannah he gave a worthy portion: for he loved Hannah; but the LORD had ſhut up her womb.

6 And her adverſary alſo provoked her ſore, for to make her fret, becauſe the LORD had ſhut up her womb.

Notes on the Firſt Chapter.

Ver. 1 Now there was a certain man of Ramathaim-zophim.] It is called Ramah, ver. 19. The title of Zophim, a watch-tower, ſeems to be added, from its having an high place or tower, where watchmen were placed in time of war.

4 He gave to Peninnah his wife, and to all her ſons and her daughters, portions.] i. e. Parts of the peace-offerings, which belonged to him that offered them, except the fat, and the breaſt and right ſhoulder; whereby they had communion with the Lord, by partaking with him of his ſacrifice. Patrick.

5 Unto Hannah he gave a worthy portion.] Or a double portion, in token of his extraordinary reſpect and kindneſs to her.

6 Her adverſary provoked her ſore.] i. e. Peninnah was wont to deride her for being barren.

7 And as he did ſo year by year, when ſhe went up to the houſe of the LORD; ſo ſhe provoked her: therefore ſhe wept, and did not eat.

8 Then ſaid Elkanah her huſband to her, Hannah, why weepeſt thou? and why eateſt thou not? and why is thy heart grieved? am not I better to thee than ten ſons?

9 ¶ So Hannah roſe up after they had eaten in Shiloh, and after they had drank. Now Eli the prieſt ſat upon a ſeat by a poſt of the temple of the LORD.

10 And ſhe was in bitterneſs of ſoul, and prayed unto the LORD, and wept ſore.

11 And ſhe vowed a vow, and ſaid, O LORD of hoſts, if thou wilt indeed look on the affliction of thine handmaid, and remember me, and not forget thine handmaid, but wilt give unto thine handmaid a man-child, then I will give him unto the LORD all the days of his life, and there ſhall no raſor come upon his head.

12 And it came to paſs as ſhe continued praying before the LORD, that Eli marked her mouth.

13 Now Hannah, ſhe ſpake in her heart, only her lips moved, but her voice was not heard: therefore Eli thought ſhe had been drunken.

14 And Eli ſaid unto her, How long wilt thou be drunken? put away thy wine from thee.

15 And Hannah anſwered and ſaid, No, my lord, I am a woman of a ſorrowful ſpirit: I have drank neither wine nor ſtrong drink, but have poured out my ſoul before the LORD.

16 Count not thine handmaid for a daughter of Belial: for out of the abundance of my complaint and grief have I ſpoken hitherto.

17 Then Eli anſwered and ſaid, Go in peace: and the God of Iſrael grant thee thy petition that thou haſt aſked of him.

18 And ſhe ſaid, Let thine handmaid find grace in thy ſight. So the woman went her way, and did eat, and her countenance was no more ſad.

19 ¶ And they roſe up in the morning early, and worſhipped before the LORD, and returned, and came to their houſe to Ramah: and Elkanah knew Hannah his wife, and the LORD remembered her.

20 Wherefore it came to paſs, when the time was come about, after Hannah had conceived, that ſhe bare a ſon, and called his name Samuel, ſaying, Becauſe I have aſked him of the LORD.

21 And the man Elkanah, and all his houſe, went up to offer unto the LORD the yearly ſacrifice, and his vow.

22 But Hannah went not up: for ſhe ſaid unto her huſband, I will not go up until the child be weaned, and then I will bring him, that he may appear before the LORD, and there abide for ever.

23 And Elkanah her huſband ſaid unto her, Do what ſeemeth thee good; tarry until thou have weaned him; only the LORD eſtabliſh his word. So the woman abode, and gave her ſon ſuck until ſhe weaned him.

24 ¶ And when ſhe had weaned him, ſhe took him up with her, with three bullocks, and one ephah of flour, and a bottle of wine, and brought him unto the houſe of the LORD in Shiloh. And the child was young.

25 And they ſlew a bullock, and brought the child to Eli.

26 And ſhe ſaid, O my lord, as thy ſoul liveth, my lord, I am the woman that ſtood by thee here, praying unto the LORD.

27 For this child I prayed: and the LORD hath given me my petition which I aſked of him.

28 Therefore alſo I have lent him to the LORD as long as he liveth; he ſhall be lent to the LORD. And he worſhipped the LORD there.

---

14 Put away thy wine from thee.] He ſeems to bid her go to bed and ſleep.

16 A daughter of Belial.] A perſon of an infamous character, regarding neither God nor man.

20 Samuel.] Is contracted from Saul-meel, aſked of God; a name ſhe choſe to give him, to put him in mind that ſhe had obtained him from God by ardent prayers.

23 Only the Lord eſtabliſh his word.] Or, the Lord eſtabliſh his work, i. e. perfect what he hath begun, by making the child grow till he was fit to attend on his ſervice.

28 I have lent him to the Lord.] Verſe the 11th ſhe ſays, I will give him to the Lord: the original word is capable of the ſame ſignification, and ſhould be tranſlated alike in both places.

CHAP. II.

1 Hannah's ſong. 12 The ſin of Eli's ſons. 18 Samuel's miniſtry. 27 A prophecy againſt Eli's houſe.

AND Hannah prayed and ſaid, My heart rejoiceth in the LORD, mine horn is exalted in the LORD: my mouth is enlarged over mine enemies: becauſe I rejoice in thy ſalvation.

2 There is none holy as the LORD: for there is none beſide thee: neither is there any rock like our god.

3 Talk no more ſo exceeding proudly? let not arrogancy come out of your mouth: for the LORD is a God of knowledge, and by him actions are weighed.

4 The bows of the mighty men are broken, and they that ſtumbled are girded with ſtrength.

5 They that were full have hired out themſelves for bread: and they that were hungry ceaſed: ſo that the barren hath born ſeven: and ſhe that hath many children is waxed feeble.

6 The LORD killeth, and maketh alive: he bringeth down to the grave, and bringeth up.

7 The LORD maketh poor, and maketh rich: he bringeth low, and lifteth up.

8 He raiſeth up the poor out of the duſt, and lifteth up the beggar from the dunghil, to ſet them among princes and to make them inherit the throne of glory: for the pillars of the earth are the LORD's, and he hath ſet the world upon them.

9 He will keep the feet of his ſaints, and the wicked ſhall be ſilent in darkneſs: for by ſtrength ſhall no man prevail.

10 The adverſaries of the LORD ſhall be broken to pieces: out of heaven ſhall he thunder upon them: the LORD ſhall judge the ends of the earth? and he ſhall give ſtrength unto his king, and exalt the horn of his anointed.

11 And Elkanah went to Ramah to his houſe: and the child did miniſter unto the LORD before Eli the prieſt.

12 ¶ Now the ſons of Eli were ſons of Belial; they knew not the LORD.

13 And the prieſts cuſtom with the people was, that when any man offered ſacrifice, the prieſt's ſervant came, while the fleſh was in ſeething, with a fleſh-hook of three teeth in his hand:

14 And he ſtruck it into the pan, or kettle or caldron, or pot: all that the fleſh-hook brought up, the prieſt took for himſelf. So they did in Shiloh unto all the Iſraelites that came thither.

15 Alſo before they burned the fat, the prieſt's ſervant came and ſaid to the man that ſacrificed, Give fleſh to roaſt for the prieſt: for he will not have ſodden fleſh of thee, but raw.

16 And if any man ſaid unto him, Let them not fail to burn the fat preſently, and then take as much as thy ſoul deſireth; then he would anſwer him, Nay; but thou ſhalt give it me now: and if not, I will take it by force.

17 Wherefore the ſin of the young men was very great before the LORD: for men abhorred the offering of the LORD.

18 ¶ But Samuel miniſtred before the LORD, being a child, girded with a linen ephod.

19 Moreover his mother made him a little

Notes on the Second Chapter.

Ver. 1 Hannah prayed, and ſaid.] This little hymn is an inſtance how far ſuperior ſeveral parts of ſcripture are to the fineſt compoſitions of the heathen writers: here we have the trueſt ſublimity of language, the boldeſt and juſteſt metaphors of poetry, and the moſt exalted ſtrains of devotion.

4 Are girt with ſtrength.] Girdles were a principal part of the military habit among the ancients, and are here elegantly tranſlatad to ſignify ſtrength, or warlike power: hence the apoſtle, among his ſpiritual armour, exhorts the Epheſians to be girt about with truth.

5 The barren hath born ſeven.] Hannah here foretels the great increaſe of the church; for the word ſeven ſignifies a multitude.

8 The pillars of the earth are the Lord's, &c.] The earth is the work of his hands, and upheld by his power.

10 Unto his king.] To David, who was anointed by God in the room of Saul.

Exalt the horn of his anointed.] This was literally fulfilled in David, who, by the help of his God, triumphed over all his enemies, and was the moſt eminent type of the great King of all, the Lord Chriſt; to whom theſe words in the fulleſt ſenſe belong, whoſe dominion is an everlaſting dominion, and his kingdom that which ſhall not be deſtroyed. It is remarkable that the word Meſſiah, anointed, occurs here for the firſt time in the ſacred writings; ſo that though ſeveral had before propheſied of him, Hannah was the firſt that mentioned him by name. Patrick.

12 The ſons of Eli were ſons of Belial.] Very wicked men.

21 The

coat, and brought it to him from year to year, when she came up with her husband to offer yearly sacrifice.

20 And Eli blessed Elkanah and his wife, and said, The LORD give thee seed of this woman, for the loan which is lent to the LORD. And they went unto their own home.

21 And the LORD visited Hannah, so that she conceived and bare three sons and two daughters. And the child Samuel grew before the LORD.

22 Now Eli was very old, and heard all that his sons did unto all Israel: and how they lay with the women that assembled at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

23 And he said unto them, Why do ye such things? for I hear of your evil dealings by all this people.

24 Nay, my sons: for it is no good report that I hear: ye make the LORD's people to transgress.

25 If one man sin against another, the judge shall judge him: but if a man sin against the LORD, who shall intreat for him? notwithstanding they hearkened not unto the voice of their father, because the LORD would slay them.

26 And the child Samuel grew on, and was in favour both with the LORD and also with men.

27 ¶ And there came a man of God unto Eli, and said unto him, Thus saith the LORD, Did I plainly appear unto the house of thy father, when they were in Egypt in Pharaoh's house?

28 And did I choose him out of all the tribes of Israel to be my priest, to offer upon mine altar, to burn incense, to wear an ephod before me? and did I give unto the house of thy father all the offerings made by fire of the children of Israel?

29 Wherefore kick ye at my sacrifice and at mine offering, which I have commanded in my habitation, and honourest thy sons above me, to make your selves fat with the chiefest of all the offerings of Israel my people?

30 Wherefore the LORD God of Israel saith, I said indeed, that thy house and the house of thy father should walk before me for ever: but now the LORD saith, Be it far from me; for them that honour me I will honour, and they that despise me shall be lightly esteemed.

31 Behold, the days come that I will cut off thine arm, and the arm of thy father's house, that there shall not be an old man in thine house.

32 And thou shalt see an enemy in my habitation, in all the wealth which God shall give Israel: and there shall not be an old man in thine house for ever.

33 And the man of thine, whom I shall not cut off from mine altar, shall be to consume thine eyes, and to grieve thine heart, and all the increase of thine house shall die in the flower of their age.

34 And this shall be a sign unto thee that shall come upon thy two sons, on Hophni and Phinehas; in one day they shall die both of them.

35 And I will raise me up a faithful priest, that shall do according to that which is in mine heart and in my mind: and I will build him a sure house; and he shall walk before mine Anointed for ever.

---

21 The child Samuel grew before the Lord.] Not only in stature, but also in wisdom and virtue; of such unspeakable benefit is it to instil into the minds of children an early sense of God and religion, which will continue with them to the end of life, and constantly improve as they increase in years Pat.

23, 24 Why do ye such things?] This reproof is given in the language of an indulgent father, not that of a zealous judge; who ought to have punished them for such notorious crimes as they were guilty of, in a very severe and exemplary manner. Patrick.

25 They hearkened not unto the voice of their father, because the Lord would slay them.] Or, as the words may be better rendered, They did not hearken to their father, wherefore it pleased the Lord to slay them: or, They hearkened not---though the Lord threatened to slay them for their disobedience.

27 There came a man of God, &c.] Who this prophet was is not known.---It is the safest way to own our ignorance of what the sacred historian has not thought proper to discover to us. Calmet.

31 I will cut off thine arm.] The Septuagint has it, Thy seed, and the seed, &c.

32 Thou shalt see an enemy in my habitation.] Rather, as in the margin, thou shalt see the affliction of the tabernacle, which he did; for he saw the tabernacle deprived of its glory, the ark of the Lord, and lived to hear that it was taken by the Philistines. Patrick.

There shall not be an old man in thine house for ever.] There shall not one of thy seed be promoted to any dignity. Patrick.

36 And it ſhall come to paſs, that every one that is left in thine houſe ſhall come and crouch to him for a piece of ſilver and a morſel of bread, and ſhall ſay, Put me, I pray thee, into one of the prieſts offices, that I may eat a piece of bread.

CHAP. III.

1 How the word of the LORD was firſt revealed to Samuel. 11 God telleth Samuel the deſtruction of Eli's houſe.

AND the child Samuel miniſtered unto the LORD before Eli. And the word of the LORD was precious in thoſe days; there was no open viſion.

2 And it came to paſs at that time, when Eli was laid down in his place, and his eyes began to wax dim, that he could not ſee;

3 And ere the lamp of God went out in the temple of the LORD, where the ark of God was, and Samuel was laid down to ſleep;

4 That the LORD called Samuel. And he anſwered, Here am I.

5 And he ran unto Eli, and ſaid, Here am I; for thou calledſt me. And he ſaid, I called not; lie down again. And he went and lay down.

6 And the LORD called yet again, Samuel. And Samuel aroſe, and went to Eli, and ſaid, Here am I; for thou didſt call me. And he anſwered, I called not, my ſon; lie down again.

7 Now Samuel did not yet know the LORD, neither was the word of the LORD yet revealed unto him.

8 And the LORD called Samuel again the third time. And he aroſe, and went to Eli, and ſaid, Here am I; for thou didſt call me. And Eli perceived that the LORD had called the child.

9 Therefore Eli ſaid unto Samuel, Go, lie down: and it ſhall be, if he call thee, that thou ſhalt ſay, Speak, LORD; for thy ſervant heareth. So Samuel went and lay down in his place.

10 And the LORD came, and ſtood and called as at other times, Samuel, Samuel. Then Samuel anſwered, Speak; for thy ſervant heareth.

11 ¶ And the LORD ſaid to Samuel, Behold, I will do a thing in Iſrael, at which both the ears of every one that heareth it ſhall tingle.

12 In that day I will perform againſt Eli all things which I have ſpoken concerning his houſe: when I begin, I will alſo make an end.

13 For I have told him, that I will judge his houſe for ever for the iniquity which he knoweth: becauſe his ſons made themſelves vile, and he reſtrained them not.

14 And therefore I have ſworn unto the houſe of Eli, that the iniquity of Eli's houſe ſhall not be purged with ſacrifice nor offering for ever.

15 And Samuel lay until the morning, and opened the doors of the houſe of the LORD. And Samuel feared to ſhew Eli the viſion.

16 Then Eli called Samuel, and ſaid, Samuel my ſon. And he anſwered, Here am I.

17 And he ſaid, What is the thing that the LORD hath ſaid unto thee? I pray thee, hide it not from me: God do ſo to thee, and more alſo, if thou hide any thing from me of all the things that he ſaid unto thee.

18 And Samuel told him every whit, and hid nothing from him. And he ſaid, It is the Notes on the Third Chapter.

Ver. 1 Samuel miniſtered unto the Lord before Eli.] He performed ſuch ſervices at the tabernacle as Eli directed him.

The word of the Lord was precious in thoſe days; there was no open viſion.] Precious implies ſcarce. Whatever revelations God might think proper to impart to ſome pious perſons privately, there was, at this time, none publickly acknowledged for a prophet, unto whom the people might reſort to know the mind of God.

4 Called Samuel.] By an audible voice out of the tabernacle.

5 He ran unto Eli, and ſaid, Here am I, for thou calledſt me.] Perſuaded that Eli had called him, he ran to know his pleaſure.

6 And the Lord called yet again, Samuel. And Samuel aroſe, &c.] He knew that they only were in the tabernacle, and therefore concluded that Eli alone muſt call him.

7 Samuel did not yet know the Lord, &c.] He was ignorant of the manner in which God revealed his mind unto the prophets.

8 The Lord called Samuel again the third time, &c.] This repetition of the voice induced Eli to conclude that it was the Lord; by this means he was diſpoſed to give credit to what Samuel ſhould tell him, as an oracle of God. Patrick.

12 When I begin, I will alſo make an end.] When I begin, I will not deſiſt till all my threatnings are fulfilled. For the whole was not accompliſhed till Abiathar was deprived of the prieſthood, when the family of Eli loſt its dignity and honour. Patrick.

18 It is the Lord: let him do what ſeemeth him good.] The foregoing ſentence, pronounced by an artleſs child, who did not know the voice of the Lord till he inſtructed him, was much more

LORD: let him do what ſeemeth him good.

19 And Samuel grew, and the LORD was with him, and did not let none of his words fall to the ground.

20 And all Iſrael, from Dan even to Beer-ſheba, knew that Samuel was eſtabliſhed to be a prophet of the LORD.

21 And the LORD appeared again in Shiloh: for the LORD revealed himſelf to Samuel in Shiloh by the word of the LORD.

CHAP. IV.

1 The Iſraelites are overcome by the Philiſtines.
10 The ark is taken, and Eli's ſon's ſlain.
12 Eli hearing the news, breaketh his neck.

AND the word of Samuel came to all Iſrael. Now Iſrael went out againſt the Philiſtines to battle, and pitched beſide Eben-ezer: and the Philiſtines pitched in Aphek.

2 And the Philiſtines put themſelves in array againſt Iſrael: and when they joined battle, Iſrael was ſmitten before the Philiſtines: and they ſlew of the army in the field about four thouſand men.

3 And when the people were come into the camp, the elders of Iſrael ſaid, Wherefore hath the LORD ſmitten us to day before the Philiſtines? Let us fetch the ark of the covenant of the LORD out of Shiloh unto us, that when it cometh among us, it may ſave us out of the hand of our enemies.

4 So the people ſent to Shiloh, that they might bring from thence the ark of the covenant of the LORD of hoſts, which dwelleth between the cherubims: and the two ſons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, were there with the ark of the covenant of God.

5 And when the ark of the covenant of the LORD came into the camp, all Iſrael ſhouted with a great ſhout, ſo that the earth rang again.

6 And when the Philiſtines heard the noiſe of the ſhout, they ſaid, What meaneth the noiſe of this great ſhout in the camp of the Hebrews? and they underſtood that the ark of the LORD was come into the camp.

7 And the Philiſtines were afraid: for they ſaid, God is come into the camp. And they ſaid, Wo unto us; for there hath not been ſuch a thing heretofore.

8 Wo unto us: who ſhall deliver us out of the hand of theſe mighty Gods? theſe are the Gods that ſmote the Egyptians with all the plagues in the wilderneſs.

9 Be ſtrong, and quit your ſelves like men, O ye Philiſtines, that ye be not ſervants unto the Hebrews, as they have been to you: quit your ſelves like men, and fight.

10 ¶ And the Philiſtines fought, and Iſrael was ſmitten, and they fled every man into his tent: and there was a very great ſlaughter; for there fell of Iſrael thirty thouſand footmen.

11 And the ark of God was taken; and the two ſons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, were ſlain.

12 ¶ And there ran a man of Benjamin out of the army, and came to Shiloh the ſame day with his clothes rent, and with earth upon his head.

13 And when he came, lo, Eli ſat upon a ſeat by the way-ſide, watching: for his heart trembled for the ark of God. And when the man came into the city and told it, all the city cried out.

---

more terrible to Eli than the meſſage before delivered by the prophet, and deeply affected him; for he here humbly acknowledges the juſtice of God, and ſubmits to his ſentence with a truly penitent heart. Patrick.

Notes on the Fourth Chapter.

Ver. 1 The word of Samuel came to all Iſrael.] The revelation of God's will, which had been very ſcarce among them in former days, now grew more plentiful.

Pitched beſide Eben-ezer.] This place is here mentioned prophetically; for it had not this name till about twenty years after, when Samuel totally defeated the Philiſtines here. It lay on the north borders of Judah, not far from Mizpeh.

8 Who ſhall deliver us out of the hand of theſe mighty Gods?] The words which we render mighty Gods, are, by Theodoret, tranſlated the ſtrong God, which better agrees with the preceding exclamation, God is come into the camp.

9 That ye be not ſervants to the Hebrews, as they have been to you.] The Iſraelites had been kept in ſlavery by the Philiſtines all the time of Eli, and of Samſon, who ſeems to have been in the time of Eli, Judges xiii. 1. Wall.

12 With his clothes rent, and with earth upon his head.] This was the manner of expreſſing the greateſt calamities, and uſed by other nations beſide the Hebrews. Thus Virgil repreſents Latinus in diſtreſs:

> His royal robes the reverend monarch rent:
> In wild deſpair, with furious hands he ſpread
> A cloud of duſt o'er all his hoary head. Pitt.

13 Eli ſat upon a ſeat by the way-ſide.] He had, probably, cauſed a ſeat to be placed for him by the ſide of the gate of the city, that he might hear any tidings from the army, eſpecially any thing that concerned the ark.

14 And when Eli heard the noiſe of the crying, he ſaid, What meaneth the noiſe of this tumult? and the man came in haſtily, and told Eli.

15 Now Eli was ninety and eight years old; and his eyes were dim, that he could not ſee.

16 And the man ſaid unto Eli, I am he that came out of the army, and I fled to day out of the army. And he ſaid, What is there done, my ſon?

17 And the meſſenger anſwered and ſaid, Iſrael is fled before the Philiſtines, and there hath been alſo a great ſlaughter among the people, and thy two ſons alſo, Hophni and Phinehas, are dead, and the ark of God is taken.

18 And it came to paſs when he made mention of the ark of God, that he fell from off the ſeat backward by the ſide of the gate, and his neck brake, and he died: for he was an old man, and heavy. And he had judged Iſrael forty years.

19 And his daughter in law, Phinehas' wife, was with child near to be delivered: and when ſhe heard the tidings that the ark of God was taken, and that her father in law, and her huſband were dead, ſhe bowed her ſelf and travailed; for her pains came upon her.

20 And about the time of her death, the women that ſtood by her, ſaid unto her, Fear not; for thou haſt born a ſon. But ſhe anſwered not, neither did ſhe regard it.

21 And ſhe named the child I-chabod, ſaying, The glory is departed from Iſrael. Becauſe the ark of God was taken, and becauſe of her father in law, and her huſband.

22 And ſhe ſaid, The glory is departed from Iſrael: for the ark of God is taken.

CHAP. V.

1 The Philiſtines bring the ark into the houſe of Dagon. 3 Dagon falleth down. 6, 9, 12 They are ſmitten with emerods.

AND the Philiſtines took the ark of God, and brought it from Eben-ezer unto Aſhdod.

2 When the Philiſtines took the ark of God, they brought it into the houſe of Dagon, and ſet it by Dagon.

3 ¶ And when they of Aſhdod aroſe early on the morrow, behold, Dagon was fallen upon his face to the earth before the ark of the LORD. And they took Dagon, and ſet him in his place again.

4 And when they aroſe early on the morrow morning, behold Dagon was fallen upon his face to the ground before the ark of the LORD: and the head of Dagon and both the palms of his hands were cut off upon the threſhold; only the ſtump of Dagon was left to him.

5 Therefore neither the prieſts of Dagon, nor any that come into Dagon's houſe, tread on the threſhold of Dagon in Aſhdod unto this day.

6 ¶ But the hand of the LORD was heavy upon them of Aſhdod, and he deſtroyed them, and ſmote them with emerods, even Aſhdod and the coaſts thereof.

7 And when the men of Aſhdod ſaw that it was ſo, they ſaid, The ark of the God of Iſrael ſhall not abide with us: for his hand is ſore upon us, and upon Dagon our God.

8 They ſent therefore, and gathered all the lords of the Philiſtines unto them, and ſaid,

18 His neck brake, and he died.] Eli, though too indulgent a father, was not ſo affected at the death of his ſons, and the ſlaughter of the people, as at hearing that the ark of God was taken. This was a ſtroke too heavy for him to bear: he ſunk under it, dropped from his ſeat, and expired.

21 She named the child I-chabod.] That is, inglorious; for the reaſon given in the text, the glory is departed from Iſrael.

Notes on the Fifth Chapter.

Ver. 2 The Philiſtines—brought it into the houſe of Dagon.] It was a cuſtom among the ancient heathens to carry in triumph the gods of ſuch nations as they had vanquiſhed. Thus Iſaiah propheſies, that Cyrus would treat in this manner the gods of Babylon: Bel boweth down, Nebo ſtoopeth; their idols were upon the beaſts and upon the cattle---and themſelves are gone into captivity, Iſaiah xlvi. 1, 2. Patrick.

3 Behold, Dagon was fallen, &c.] They found him lying in the moſt humble poſture before the ark of the Lord, acknowledging the God of Iſrael to be above all gods. Patrick.

4 The head of Dagon, &c.] Probably Dagon was placed on ſome pedeſtal or altar, from whence he was now thrown down. Thus Jehovah ſufficiently ſhewed, that there was no god beſides him. The Philiſtines, however, were ſo bigoted to their fooliſh deity, that, inſtead of deſpiſing him for not being able to defend himſelf, they even reverenced his threſhold, conſidering it as conſecrated by having touched the idol. Patrick.

Wherefore she went forth out of the place where she was, & her two daughters-in-law with her: & they went on the way, to return unto the land of Judah.

Ruth, Chap. I. ver. 7.

What ſhall we do with the ark of the God of Iſrael? and they anſwered, Let the ark of the God of Iſrael be carried about unto Gath. And they carried the ark of the God of Iſrael about thither.

9 ¶ And it was ſo, that after they had carried it about, the hand of the LORD was againſt the city with a very great deſtruction: and he ſmote the men of the city both ſmall and great, and they had emerods in their ſecret parts.

10 Therefore they ſent the ark of God to Ekron. And it came to paſs, as the ark of God came to Ekron, that the Ekronites cried out, ſaying, They have brought about the ark of the God of Iſrael to us, to ſlay us and our people.

11 So they ſent and gathered together all the lords of the Philiſtines, and ſaid, Send away the ark of the God of Iſrael, and let it go again to his own place, that it ſlay us not, and our people: for there was a deadly deſtruction throughout all the city; the hand of God was very heavy there.

12 ¶ And the men that died not, were ſmitten with the emerods: and the cry of the city went up to heaven.

CHAP. VI.

1 The Philiſtines counſel how to ſend back the ark. 10 They bring it on a new cart to Beth-ſhemeſh. 19 The people ſmitten.

AND the ark of the LORD was in the country of the Philiſtines ſeven months.

2 And the Philiſtines called for the prieſts and the diviners, ſaying, What ſhall we do to the ark of the LORD? tell us wherewith we ſhall ſend it to his place.

3 And they ſaid, If ye ſend away the ark of the God of Iſrael, ſend it not empty; but in any wiſe return him a treſpaſs-offering: then ye ſhall be healed, and it ſhall be known to you why his hand is not removed from you.

4 Then ſaid they, What ſhall be the treſpaſs-offering which we ſhall return to him? they anſwered, Five golden emerods, and five golden mice, according to the number of the lords of the Philiſtines: for one plague was on you all, and on your lords.

5 Wherefore ye ſhall make images of your emerods, and images of your mice that mar the land; and ye ſhall give glory unto the God of Iſrael: peradventure he will lighten his hand from off you, and from off your gods, and from off your land.

6 Wherefore then do ye harden your hearts, as the Egyptians and Pharaoh hardened their hearts? when he had wrought wonderfully among them, did they not let the people go, and they departed?

7 Now therefore make a new cart, and take two milch-kine, on which there hath come no yoke, and tie the kine to the cart, and bring their calves home from them:

8 And take the ark of the LORD, and lay it upon the cart: and put the jewels of gold, which ye return him for a treſpaſs-offering, in a coffer by the ſide thereof; and ſend it away, that it may go.

9 And ſee, if it goeth up by the way of his own coaſt to Beſh-ſhemeſh, then he hath done us this great evil: but if not, then we ſhall know that it is not his hand that ſmote us: it was a chance that happened to us.

10 ¶ And the men did ſo: and took two milch-kine, and tied them to the cart, and ſhut up their calves at home:

11 And they laid the ark of the LORD upon the cart, and the coffer with the mice of gold and the images of their emerods.

12 And the kine took the ſtraight way to 12 The men that died not, were ſmitten with the emerods, &c.] Some were ſtricken with the peſtilence, as ſoon as the ark came thither; and others lingered under intolerable pains, which made them cry out in an inexpreſſible manner. See Deut. xxviii. 27. Probably emerods is a contraction of hemorrhoides, or pyles.

Notes on the Sixth Chapter.

Ver. 4 Five golden emerods, and five golden mice.] All nations were formerly of opinion, that the gods, when angry, could only be appeaſed with honorary gifts; and it was alſo cuſtomary among them to conſecrate ſuch monuments of their deliverance to them, as repreſented the evils from which they had been delivered, or the members which had been diſordered. Calmet.

5 Images of your mice, &c.] Their country was infeſted by mice, which had eaten their corn, and other fruits of the earth.

Ye ſhall give glory unto the God of Iſrael.] They acknowledge him to have been the inflicter of theſe plagues, and to have power to remove them.

12 The kine took the ſtraight way to the way of Beth-ſhemeſh.] Though they had no viſible director, they took the ſtraight road to Beth-ſhemeſh without the leaſt deviation, lowing all the way they went after their calves that had been taken from them, and the way of Beth-ſhemeſh, and went along the high-way, lowing as they went, and turned not aſide to the right hand or to the left; and the lords of the Philiſtines went after them unto the border of Beth-ſhemeſh.

13 And they of Beth-ſhemeſh were reaping their wheat-harveſt in the valley: and they lifted up their eyes, and ſaw the ark, and rejoiced to ſee it.

14 And the cart came into the field of Joſhua a Beth-ſhemite, and ſtood there, where there was a great ſtone: and they clave the wood of the cart, and offered the kine a burnt-offering unto the LORD.

15 And the Levites took down the ark of the LORD, and the coffer that was with it, wherein the jewels of gold were, and put them on the great ſtone: and the men of Beth-ſhemeſh offered burnt-offerings, and ſacrificed ſacrifices the ſame day unto the LORD.

16 And when the five lords of the Philiſtines had ſeen it, they returned to Ekron the ſame day.

17 And theſe are the golden emerods which the Philiſtines returned for a treſpaſs-offering unto the LORD; for Aſhdod one, for Gaza one, for Aſkelon one, for Gath one, for Ekron one:

18 And the golden mice, according to the number of all the cities of the Philiſtines belonging to the five lords, both of fenced cities, and of country villages, even unto the great ſtone of Abel, whereon they ſet down the ark of the LORD: which ſtone remaineth unto this day in the field of Joſhua the Beth-ſhemite.

19 ¶ And he ſmote the men of Beth-ſhemeſh, becauſe they had looked into the ark of the LORD, even he ſmote of the people fifty thouſand and threeſcore and ten men. And the people lamented, becauſe the LORD had ſmitten many of the people with a great ſlaughter.

20 And the men of Beth-ſhemeſh ſaid, Who is able to ſtand before this holy LORD God? and to whom ſhall he go up from us?

21 And they ſent meſſengers to the inhabitants of Kirjath-jearim, ſaying, The Philiſtines have brought again the ark of the LORD; come ye down, and fetch it up to you.

CHAP. VII.

3 The Iſraelites, by Samuel's means, ſolemnly repent at Mizpeh. 9 Samuel praying, the Philiſtines are diſcomfited.

AND the men of Kirjath-jearim came, and fetched up the ark of the LORD, and brought it into the houſe of Abinadab in the hill, and ſanctified Eleazar his ſon to keep the ark of the LORD.

2 And it came to paſs, while the ark abode in Kirjath-jearim, that the time was long; for it was twenty years: and all the houſe of Iſrael lamented after the LORD.

3 ¶ And Samuel ſpake unto all the houſe of Iſrael, ſaying, If ye do return unto the LORD with all your hearts, then put away the ſtrange gods and Aſhtaroth from among you, and prepare your hearts unto the LORD, and ſerve him only: and he will deliver you out of the hand of the Philiſtines.

4 Then the children of Iſrael did put away Baalim and Aſhtaroth, and ſerved the LORD only.

5 And Samuel ſaid, Gather all Iſrael to Mizpeh, and I will pray for you unto the LORD.

6 And they gathered together to Mizpeh, and drew water, and poured it out before the LORD, and faſted on that day, and ſaid there, to whom they would doubtleſs have returned, had not they been under the guidance of an higher power, which conducted them forward to the land of Judah. Patrick.

14 The cart came into the field of Joſhuah a Beth-ſhemite, &c.] Another miraculous particular, that the kine, as ſoon as they came to Beth-ſhemeſh, which was a city of the prieſts, ſhould ſtop, and refuſe to go any farther. Patrick.

19 He ſmote of the people fifty thouſand and threeſcore and ten men.] The words in the Hebrew are, he ſmote of the people threeſcore and ten men, fifty thouſand men; which the learned Bochart has thus very naturally explained, he ſmote threeſcore and ten men, fifty out of a thouſand.

Notes on the Seventh Chapter.

Ver. 1 The men of Kirjath-jearim came and fetched up the ark of the Lord.] If it be aſked, why they did not carry the ark of the Lord to Shiloh, its ancient ſeat? it may be anſwered, that the Philiſtines had deſtroyed that place; and the tabernacle, on the death of Eli, was removed to Nob, where it remained till the death of Samuel. Patrick.

6 Drew water, and poured it out before the Lord.] This paſſage, in the moſt probable ſignification, in the Eaſtern manner of expreſſion denotes the higheſt degree of grief and contrition: and thus the Chaldee paraphraſe interprets it; They poured out their

We have ſinned againſt the LORD. And Samuel judged the children of Iſrael in Mizpeh.

7 And when the Philiſtines heard that the children of Iſrael were gathered together to Mizpeh, the lords of the Philiſtines went up againſt Iſrael. And when the children of Iſrael heard it, they were afraid of the Philiſtines.

8 And the children of Iſrael ſaid to Samuel, Ceaſe not to cry unto the LORD our God for us, that he will ſave us out of the hand of the Philiſtines.

9 ¶ And Samuel took a ſucking-lamb, and offered it for a burnt-offering wholly unto the LORD. And Samuel cried unto the LORD for Iſrael; and the LORD heard him.

10 And as Samuel was offering up the burnt-offering, the Philiſtines drew near to battle againſt Iſrael: but the LORD thundered with a great thunder on that day upon the Philiſtines, and diſcomfited them, and they were ſmitten before Iſrael.

11 And the men of Iſrael went out of Mizpeh, and purſued the Philiſtines, and ſmote them, until they came under Bethcar.

12 Then Samuel took a ſtone, and ſet it between Mizpeh and Shen, and called the name of it Eben-ezer, ſaying, Hitherto hath the LORD helped us.

13 So the Philiſtines were ſubdued, and they came no more into the coaſt of Iſrael. And the hand of the LORD was againſt the Philiſtines all the days of Samuel.

14 And the cities which the Philiſtines had taken from Iſrael were reſtored to Iſrael, from Ekron even unto Gath, and the coaſts thereof did Iſrael deliver out of the hands of the Philiſtines. And there was peace between Iſrael and the Amorites.

15 And Samuel judged Iſrael all the days of his life.

16 And he went from year to year in circuit to Beth-el, and Gilgal, and Mizpeh, and judged Iſrael in all thoſe places.

17 And his return was to Ramah: for there was his houſe: and there he judged Iſrael: and there he built an altar unto the LORD.

CHAP. VIII.

1 By the occaſion of the ill government of Samuel's ſons, the Iſraelites aſk a king. 10 The manner of a king.

AND it came to paſs when Samuel was old, that he made his ſons judges over Iſrael.

2 Now the name of his firſt-born was Joel; and the name of his ſecond, Abiah: they were judges in Beer-ſheba.

3 And his ſons walked not in his ways, but turned aſide after lucre, and took bribes and perverted judgement.

4 Then all the elders of Iſrael gathered themſelves together, and came to Samuel unto Ramah,

5 And ſaid unto him, Behold, thou art old, and thy ſons walk not in thy ways: now make us a king to judge us like all the nations.

6 But the thing diſpleaſed Samuel, when they ſaid, Give us a king to judge us. And Samuel prayed unto the LORD.

7 And the LORD ſaid unto Samuel, Hearken unto the voice of the people in all that they ſay unto thee: for they have not rejected thee, but they have rejected me, that I ſhould not reign over them.

10 The Lord thundered with a great thunder, &c.] The Philiſtines propoſed to fall upon the Iſraelites at a time when they were gathered together before the Lord, and probably deſtitute of arms. But God ſoon convinced the uncircumciſed army, that in his hands are the iſſues of life and death, by attacking them with that artillery which it is impoſſible to reſiſt, or avoid. Thus Homer repreſents Jupiter as terrifying the Grecian army with thunder and lightning:

Jove from Ida's top his horrors ſpreads;
The clouds burſt dreadful o'er the Grecian heads;
